THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, JANUARY 6, 1920 — NO. 30

SHORT COURSE BRINGS MANY NEW STUDENTS

OVER 250 MEN HAD ENROLED AT 3 O'CLOCK YESTERDAY

CANNOT GET ENOUGH ROOMS

Short Courses Consist of Work in Agriculture and Engineering — Registration Started Monday Morning

Nearly 250 new students had enroled in the new short courses by 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, according to figures from the registrar's office.

Will Last Eight Weeks

The new courses are to last eight weeks and will consist of work in the agriculture and engineering divisions. The new students began to arrive on all trains as early as Friday of last week, altho registration did not start until yesterday at eight o'clock.

Can't Get Rooms

Many of the men have said that they found it a difficult matter to secure rooming places, but it is probable that the matter will be adjusted soon.

No definite figures nor facts can be given now in regard to the new short courses as the work of registration is but partly completed.

"THE GARRYING OF THE GHOST"

AGGIE PROFESSOR HAS POEM IN BIG MAGAZINE

N. A. Crawford, Professor of Journalism, Is Both Editor and Poet —Reflects Well on the College

Skill in newspaper writing and editing seem to combine with creative literary genius in at least one member of the faculty at the college. That member is N. A. Crawford, professor of journalism, whose latest poem, "The Carrying of the Ghost," has just appeared in "Poetry" for January.

The poem is an artistic interpretation of a part of the burial ceremony of the Mes-qua-kie Indians.

"It is the best indian poem I have read," was the comment passed upon it by Emanuel Carnevali, associate editor of "Poetry," as he placed it in his magazine side by side with poems by Edwin Ford Piper, Alfred Kreymborg, Mary Austin, and William H. Simpson. Professor Crawford's writings reflect great literary credit upon the college. Braithwaite's "Anthology of Magazine Verse" annually contains a number of poems by Professor Crawford, and the editors of The New Republic, Midland, Monthly, Contemporary Review, Reedy's Mirror, and Poetry have published his writings from time to time.

"HURRAH FOR THE K.S.A.C."

MAGAZINE PRAISES DR. HOLTON'S WORK

Says Aggie College Has Developed a Department of Education That Will Do Some Fine Work

A circular letter from Prof. Edwin D. Holton of the department of education, was published with a "Hurrah for K. S. A. C." in the Christmas issue of the Kansas School Journal. This letter was sent out to the teachers and farmers in the state to get material for a course in citizenship for the high schools of Kansas.

The following is a part of the article published in the Journal: "We take off our hats to the department of education of the Kansas State Agricultural college. Long have we prayed that the time would come when the people themselves would take more personal part in the affairs of our schools and that our teachers, conversely, would interest themselves in the affairs of the working world for entrance into which they are, often blindly, attempting to train our future citizens.

"A general awakening is overdue, for industrial and educational problems have never before so urgently demanded our most serious consideration as they do just now, nor were industrial and educational problems ever before so bound into one."

Aggie Coeds Making Most They Can of Leap Year Devices

To the coeds of K. S. A. C.—
A man apiece and sometimes more.
May the new year have in store.
Six dates a week with love and cheer,
Fill the days of this leap year.

Girls, opportunity knocks for you but once every four years. Take advantage of the kindness and get ready for a busy year in the land of romance.

New year, leap year, ladies' year. What an ideal situation for the co-eds, what a critical crisis for the men.

The Aggie co-eds need no urging. Wednesday night they made bold New Year resolutions. Thursday morning they started forth to wreck the peaceful mind of man. They are trying the tactics of the vamp. No, not the usual demure little would-be vamps of the hill: but bold dangerous leap year vamps.

The dime stores have completely sold out their stock of electric curlers and non dandruff rats, or in other words hair stuffings. Lips sticks and bootle boxes were sold by dozens. Already the campus is scented like a Mary Garden flower bed.

Statistics show that 30 girls, who two days ago were pinless and ringless have even now accumulated those much desired jeweled accessories.

There is already a bad epidemic of spring fever among the women students and spring fever in January is a bad symptom, according to Doctor Seiver. But then leap year comes so seldom.

ONLY IGNORANT ARE BOLSHEVIKI

AIMS TO OVERTHROW ALL GOVERNMENT, HOLTON SAYS

Dean Holton Favors Students Self-Governing Association—Wants All to Take Interest in It

Obeying the will of the group was the definition of democracy given by Dean Edwin L. Holton in an address given at the chapel hour Thursday on "Democracy and Bolshevism." Dean Holton gave a clear exposition of both democracy and bolshevism as the two leading forms of modern government.

"Bolshevism aims to overthrow all government,' he said. "It is a rule by a minority of ignorant radicals, who are as bad as German autocrats. Many of the present ills of the world are caused by the teaching of radical bolshevik doctrines."

Dean Holton at the conclusion of his address spoke very favorably of the plan of the Students' Self-Governing association and urged that every student take interest in the movement.

SHAKESPEARIAN ACTOR WILL TALK TO STUDENTS

Classes in English Will Be Dismissed on Wednesday.

Norman Hackett will speak to all English classes in the Social Center hall from 1 to 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. His talk will be on, "The Modern Stage and Its Development." All English classes will be dismissed during these two hours so that students may attend the lecture.

Mr. Hackett is a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity of the University of Michigan. He was for some time a Shakespearian actor but is now playing a part in the play, "Tea For Three," which will be shown at the Marshall Theater Wednesday night.

We Thank You

They tell us that our stuff is bunk—not even worth the ink, t'would do more good inside a trunk and stored beneath the sink. They say our style is old and weak and feeble in the knees; the thoughts expressed, they think, bespeak a new kind of disease. No wonder that our pocket-book is flat and sore in need, for what guy but a low down crook would take coin for such feed? Nobody with good common sense, such subjects would embellish, why don't we rave with some pretense, of saying something foolish? We thank the kind and grateful soul who would our sonnets bury. We'd like to have him try our role, he mightn't be so airy. This making jingles by the yard, is no soft occupation. You labor long, you labor hard, without remuneration.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN BY COLLEGE BAND

PROFESSOR WHEELER'S FIRST CONCERT SINCE WAR

DIRECTED BAND IN FRANCE

Music of Several of the Numbers Was Arranged by Professor Wheeler —44 College Men in Band

The band concert, which the college band is to give Saturday night, will be the first concert Professor Wheeler has conducted since the Chateau Thierry drive of 1918 in which his band of 35 was depleted to ten members.

Professor Wheeler and his band were famed throughout France for their gallant work in the face of the most terrible danger. Colonel Westfall, who was Professor Wheeler's commanding officer cited the band which Professor Wheeler conducted as the best in the service in France. But Professor Wheeler when questioned about his band only smiles and says:

"Oh I didn't do much."

While in France Professor Wheeler suffered shell shock and for some months he was in a hospital for treatment. While in the hospital, Professor Wheeler, in order to keep his mind from his army experiences wrote, from memory, the orchestrations of four operas. The music of several of the numbers to be given Saturday were arranged for the band by Professor Wheeler.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Delta Zeta Open House

The members of the Delta Zeta sorority will keep open house this week, from Wednesday afternoon until Sunday afternoon at their new residence, 1111 Bluemont.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. David Corwin Bice of Des Moines, Iowa, the new chaperone of the sorority, will be the guest of honor. From 3:30 until 4:30, the house mothers of other sororities and fraternities, the patronesses of Delta Zeta, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Mrs. W. M. Jardine, and Miss Araminta Holman, who has been resident chaperone this fall, will be entertained. From 4:30 until 5:30 Wednesday afternoon the house will be open to all members of the faculty.

Thursday and Friday afternoons, and Thursday and Friday evenings until nine o'clock the members of the various sororities and fraternities of the college will be entertained. Saturday evening a Housewarming dance will be given.

Sunday afternoon the house will be open to general callers, and those who have been unable to attend at other hours are invited to call.

Martin-Wilhoit

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Helen Marie Martin of Kansas City, Kan., to Mr. John Wilhoit of St. George on August 26 at Clinton, Mo. Mrs. Wilhoit has been teaching in the Clay Center high school this winter. Mr. Wilhoit has been a student at the University of Kansas. Mr. Wilhoit, who is the nephew of Dr. J. C. Wilhoit of Manhattan will be remembered here chiefly for his participation in the attempt to paint up the campus before the K. U. game this fall. Mr. Wilhoit was one of the K. U. prisoners who were exhibited at the pep meeting before the K. U. game.

Gonssery-Payne

Word has been received of the marriage of Amos Payne, former student of the college, and Mademoiselle Suzanne Gonssery of France. The wedding announcement was written in French.

Mr. Payne and his wife are on their way to America. Mr. Payne was a lieutenant in aviation and had a fine war record. He returned to this country several months ago. After being discharged and spending a few weeks with his parents he returned to France. Mr. and Mrs. Payne will live in Manhattan.

New Year Reception

The Methodist members of the faculty, as well as the Methodist teachers in the city schools were delightfully entertained Thursday evening at a get acquainted reception given at the Knostman home by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Knostman and Professor and Mrs. R. R. Price. The object of the reception was to give Reverend and Mrs. McClelland and Dr. and Mrs. John Maclean an opportunity to meet all the Methodist members of the faculty.

Pi Phi House Dance

The members of the Pi Beta Phi sorority entertained with a dance Friday evening at their chapter house, 1409 Fairchild. Twenty-five couples attended the party, which was chaperoned by Mrs. Requa, the Pi Phi house mother, and Mrs. Sargent, the chaperon of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. Punch was served during the evening. Out of town guests were Miss Lois Hanna of Towanda, Miss Jean Hanna of Clay Center and Miss Lucile Richards of Kansas City.

Sigma Nu Dinner Guests

The following persons were dinner guests of the Sigma Nu fraternity Sunday: Miss Lola Brandt, Miss Irene Shoemaker, Miss Maurine Aspey, Miss Elsa Ann Brown, Miss Annette Perry, Miss Rita Bondurant, Miss Alice Mitchell, Miss Nell Robinson, Miss Ruby Crocker, Miss Dorothy Mill, Mrs. Emma Meade, Mrs. Mill of Boulder, Colo., Mr. Neal Anderson of Junction City, Mr. Carl Miller of Belleville, and Mr. Herman Schemonski of Belleville.

Society Program

The Ionian Literary society had a leap year program Saturday afternoon. Anne Lorimer read a paper on "The Effect of Leap Year on New Year's Resolutions." Miss Bernice Meyers sang accompanied by Doris Howenstine. Marjorie Simpson, Frances Whitmire, and Ione Leith gave a stunt, "A Leap Year Matrimonial Bureau." Ursula Senn edited the "Leap Year Oracle."

Announce Engagement

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Mabel Thresher of Jetmore, and Mr. John L. McNair of Holmdel, New Jersey. The marriage will take place early in the spring.

Miss Thresher is a graduate of Washburn college and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thresher of Jetmore. Mr. McNair is a former student of K. S. A. C.

New Year's Party

The Misses Marie and Marguerite Hammerly entertained a few friends Thursday evening at their home, 323 Denison avenue. Music, games, and candy making furnished the entertainment of the evening. The guests were Miss Dora Cate, Miss Abbie Furneaux, Miss Minnie Freeman, Mr. Warren Crabtree, Mr. Theodore Bayer, and Mr. S. D. Bayer.

Newman Club

Miss Mildred Halstead entertained the members of the Newman club Sunday evening at her home 1027 Houston street. A short business session was held, after which the evening was spent with music and games. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening by the hostess.

Deibler-Clark

Miss Erma Louise Deibler and Mr. Frank Lester Clark were married Wednesday night at twelve o'clock at the Methodist parsonage, the Rev. J. M. McClelland officiating. The bride is a Manhattan girl, and Mr. Clark, who is a farmer of Riley attended high school and college here.

Box Social

The Good Fellowship Christian Endeavor class of the Congregational church held a box supper Friday evening at the church parlors. The affair was a very informal one. The evening was spent playing games.

EDITED CHINESE PAPER OVERSEAS

BUT HE IS NOW BACK ATTENDING K. S. A. C.

Phillip Young from this School and Daniel C. Fu of William Jewell Used Zinc Etching Printing Method

The modern Chinese journalist, bespectacled, hair closecropped, and garbed in European dress, has hopes of standing in the Hall of Fame with that illustrious oriental ancestor of his, the first printer.

Just as that ancient gentleman was the first to employ movable type in the newspaper business, so his descendants, American educated Chinese, claim the distinction of being the first to publish a newspaper of any considerable circulation without employing type.

The editors of this unique publication, the Chinese Weekly, were students of Missouri and Kansas colleges when America went into the war. They volunteered as Y. M. C. A. secretaries for work among coolie laborers in France. The newspaper which they brought out was the only publication printed in Chinese that circulated in Europe during the war. Ten thousand copies gladdened the hearts of homesick coolies each week for nearly a year.

The first number appeared December 15, 1918, thus beating by almost a year the New York publications which, in order to appear, recently were forced by a printers' strike to resort to the expedient employed by the ingenious Chinese.

The orientals grin and call it "dandy scoop."

Daniel C. Fu, a graduate of William Jewell college, was editor of the Chinese Weekly. Phillip Young, a graduate of the Kansas State Agricultural college, was associate editor. Now that most of the coolies are in their homeland, the paper has suspended publication. Fu and Young are back in the states, Young taking agriculture at the Kansas college and Fu, special work toward a Master's degree at Chicago university. They will return to China as educators when they have completed their own education.

The process they used is probably known to most readers of current periodicals. It was used by the Literary Digest and other New York publications during the recent strike of the typographical union. Instead of typing the original copy, as these publications did, the Chinese editors naturally were obliged to make the original in the "long hand" of their language. This was photographed and from the photograph were made the zinc etchings.

Prof. F. L. Thomson was called to his home in Hyattsville, N. Y., on account of the illness of his mother.

Miss French, instructor in home economics, spent Christmas vacation at her home in Kansas City.

FIGHT GAMES WITH FUNSTON THE WEEK END

TWO PRELIMINARY MEETS FOR AGGIE QUINTET

FIRST VALLEY GAME JAN. 16

Freshmen Are Showing up Well, Coach Clevenger Says—Season Tickets Are Good for the Funston Games

Two games are scheduled for the Aggie basketball quintet, this week, one game on Thursday evening at Camp Funston, and one game at Nichols gymnasium on Saturday afternoon when the Camp Funston team plays a return game. That is the program for this week, according to Coach Z. G. Clevenger. These games are preliminary ones and are being scheduled so that the coaches may get a line on the material on hand.

Many Trying Out

There are many men trying out for the positions on the teams, among them the four remaining members of last year's championship team, and others. The two Cowells, Jennings, Bunger, Hinds, Fred Williams, and Bill Martin who has not been here since 1917, Fullington and Knostman who are old men, all these are fighting for positions. Wnter, who has been sick may get an opportunity to show his prowess. Clevenger thinks that the showing made in the two Funston games will largely determine the starters in the first valley conference games on January 16-17 when the Grinnell team comes to Manhattan for two contests.

Freshmen Are Good

The present freshman team is perhaps one of the strongest in the college history, with an endless amount of material. Those who have made the best showing to date are Smith, Fogel, Kuykengall, the two Bradleys and Byran from the Colorado school of mines, as well as two of our own home heroes, Wareham and McKee of the Manhatan high school. Coach Clevenger stated that in Smith and Fogel, he had the two most promising basketball men in the valley.

Coach Adolph Schulz is back from his eastern trip. When asked by a reporter to relate some of his experiences for publication, he promptly declined, saying that he had a cold.

The season tickets are good for the Funston games, altho no game with them is scheduled on the books.

GIRLS GET NEW PRACTICE RULES

BASKETBALL COACH TO CHOOSE THE TEAMS

Tournament Is Being Arranged— Games Will Be Played after School Hours and on Saturdays

A new system of practice has been arranged for the girls' basket ball tryouts.

Instead of each class meeting for individual practice once a week, various teams with specified names will be arranged by the basket ball coach. These teams will be picked regardless of the girl's classification or playing ability.

A tournament will then be arranged which will begin Tuesday of next week. These games will be played after school and on Saturdays. During the games the players' ability will be carefully observed and at the end of the tournament the class teams will be chosen. Passing grades are required for the girls on the teams.

Dean A. A. Potter is in St. Louis presiding over the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Prof. E. F. Ferrin, visited several breeders in the northeastern part of the state in the interest of the animal husbandry department last week.

LATIN-AMERICAN HISTORY

Mexico and South American history are just as important a study at this time as any history of England or America. Especially at this time of our trouble with Mexico it seems that the study of this state, its growth and development through the year, would be interesting to many more students in college.

There is a course offered in the general science division as an elective, which deals with this history. It is called Pan-American, or Latin American History. This is a comparatively new course in college, has only been offered the last year and a half. But every one who has chosen this subject says that it is the most interesting and beneficial history they have ever studied.

Professor James is the instructor and he says that as long as this has been given there have never been more than 18 persons enroled in one class. At present there are nine enroled in the class.

NO AFTERNOON DANCES

Many students perhaps have not yet learned of a ruling which was passed by the student affairs' committee last October. According to the ruling, there can be no matinee dances. Students attending dances in the afternoon are violating the college rules.

One Date Every Six Weeks Was Limit In The Year 1879

How would the Aggie girl like to be tied down the way the girls were in 1879? Would she live?

It is highly probable that she would go on existing just the same as heretofore, because forty years ago—back in 1879—the girls at Christian college were under such a rule, and many of them lived to enjoy a full life. According to Mrs. Sallie C. Robinson, 809 College avenue, who was graduated from Christian college in 1879, the girls of her day had just as good times as those of 1919.

When Mrs. Robinson attended Christian forty years ago the regulations of the school permitted a girl to have an engagement with a man—to "have company," it was called then—every sixth Saturday night. An engagement then meant a very different event from a date now. When a young man decided to call on a girl out at Christian he first sent her a very formal note stating that "Mr. Smith would like very much to call on Miss Jones next Saturday evening." And formal this note had to be, for it was read by the president of the college.

The young lady in question would then reply with a stiff, "Miss Jones would be very glad to see Mr. Smith next Saturday night at 8 o'clock." Thereupon the president of the college would send young Smith a permit to make the call. On the appointed time the lad would be ushered into the main parlor of the college, and would be allowed to spend an hour and a half with Miss Jones, and perhaps twenty other couples likewise engaged. During the time Dr. J. K. Rogers, president of the school, would be present to make several little speeches to the guests. At 9:30 all company promptly left.

POPULARITY CONTEST CAUSING EXCITEMENT

But the Collegian Was Right and so Sale of Books Doesn't Count

Many of the students are at sea as to how the popularity contest for the Royal Purple is to be conducted this year. The last issue of the Collegian stated that the contest was not to be connected with the sale of books, and now many students are receiving advertising folders stating that votes are to be given for all money turned in to the Royal Purule. The management states that the reason for this conflict is because the folder was printed before it was decided to change the method of electing the most popular girl.

All organizations wishing space in the class book must notify Ike Gatz, organization editor, before January 15. Space in the book this year will be $15 a page, and any organization taking two pages will be given one page free for snap shots.

The window opposite the post office will be open every afternoon this week and next for the collection of sophomore dues. All sophomores must have their pictures taken at the Royal Studio by January 10.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS FOR KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Reporters Making Hot Boxes on New Typewriters

The journalism department has purchased five new typewriters. Of course the stenos and professors got most of them, but the Collegian practice room received the cast offs of the professors and aforesaid stenos and these machines (typewriters not the stenos) are much better than the Collegian had before.

The Collegian is considering the repairing of the present practice room. If new chairs, tables, shelves, cases, and desks are purchased as has been proposed, it will mean an expenditure of about $300.

The Triangle class resumes on Sunday its discussion of "Religion and Science." Prof. P. J. Newman will address the class on "Geology and the Bible Story of Creation" at 11:15 a. m. Sunday, Congregational church.

Prof. A. M. Paterson, of the animal husbandry department, left for Peabody, where he will attend the Homan sheep sale.

An Ounce of Prevention
A Pound of Cure

Good health is a thing which we all envy. Have you got it? You old students can easily see the "old zip and pep" in the Short Course men which you had when you hit K. S. A. C. You remember your hearty feeling, your ability to study, your craving for excitement. When you came to K. S. A. C. you left something behind. Don't you think is the thing you are lacking? Some of your friends have decided upon their eating place because of its cleanliness and healthfulness.

Some have given the matter little thought, except from a standpoint of economy, whether true or false. You old students want the "old pep," the "old fight." You new men want to keep in trim. The one best way; buy a meal ticket while stopping for good clean food at

PRIZE MANUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

A short story, written by Dorothy Shartel Finley, carried her over the rough places and gained her a place in Quill club. This story was printed in the magazine "American Motherhood."

FOUR CHERRY SUBMARINES

Glen Woodward sat on the edge of his bed as the fast approaching dusk made the corners of the room vague and shadowy. He looked thoughtfully from the pair of lavender sox he had just put on to a tie of the same shade on the dresser, then to a magazine rack in the corner. The object there which held his attention was a large catalogue of wireless apparatus. He was thinking of how many things he might have bought for the money he had spent for the sox and the tie.

There was a revolutionary influence at work in Glen's life. Until a few weeks ago nothing had interested him excepting football and things connected with his radio club. This influence had caused him to take an unprecedented interest in his looks much to his mother's astonishment. The cautious slipping of bundles to his room, and suspicious lathery splashes on the wall of the bath room caused her to believe too, that he was shaving.

"I can't understand Glen at all. He has cleaned his teeth and brushed his hair every day for a week without being told," she confided to her husband after Glen had gone, much dressed up, and leaving behind him a veritable breeze of odors made up of shaving soap, tooth paste and talcum powder.

"Just plain case of girl," mumbled Mr. Woodard through his cigar without looking up from his newspaper.

"But it can't be, he is too bashful to look at a girl."

"You mean—was too bashful. You didn't think it would last always, did you?"

Mrs. Woodward looked puzzled. This new phase of Glen's was disconcerting and she was unable to cope with such changes in her bashful son. Slowly a resolve formed in her mind; she would talk to Mrs. Wood, the mother of Glen's chum. Mrs. Wood who had four sons seemed to meet every change and situation with assurance and knowledge. She saw a "feller's side of it, too" as Glen had once said.

The father was right. It was a plain case of girl, and the girl was Wilma Howard. A blue eyed, dainty looking girl with quantities of yellow fluffy hair; just the kind to appeal to a big, athletic boy. She giggled often but her giggle was perhaps a little less shrill than other girls', which partly justified its frequency.

The one boy in the sophomore class, whom Glen had never been able to tolerate, because of his noseglasses, smoothly brushed hair, and popularity with the girls, he now envied and tried to emulate. And to make matters worse this Randall Parrish was devoted to Wilma at present, and carried her books from school with all the assurance of a society man.

No amount of brushing had any effect on Glen's mop of reddish brown hair. It persisted in standing up as though each hair were trying to proclaim to the world that it was an individual and did not belong to the whole.

All [illegible] speeches and bows practiced at home in front of a mirror deserted him when Wilma smiled. He had known her from the third grade up, had pulled her hair, thrown snowballs at her, and had in fact, carried scars from scratches given him in return. So his embarrassment was a puzzle to him if not to her.

The evening on which his dressing up had caused an outburst from his mother he was taking Wilma to the movies.

The day before on a page of paper taken from his loose leaf note book, amid many scrolls and flourishes he penned this message:

"Marguerite Clark is at the Rex tomorrow night. Want to go? Yours truly, Glen Woodward."

With a show of careless indifference he dropped the note on her desk as he strolled over to the dictionary He looked up words enough to write a whole story before he could screw up the courage to go back for his answer, and then he was so embarrassed, the chances were he would have bolted past without the answer if Wilma had not slipped it into his hand. Holding it behind his geometry he read with a flushed face:

"Well, I should say so, if mother will let me. I'll phone you after supper this evening."

He proceeded to show his joy by poking paper down the back of the boy in front of him, throwing chalk at some of the girls, and otherwise disturbing the room.

"Hey, Glen, does the radio club meet with you tonight?" called Herbert Wood Friday evening after school as Glen started to walk home with Wilma, awkwardly pushing his wheel.

"Nothin' doin'. I've something else on," answered Glen.

"Oh, gosh! He makes me sick. Old Glen gone batty over a yellow haired girl," was the reply, in a voice loud enough for anyone near to hear.

When Glen was dressing he carried on imaginary conversations with Wilma always paying her the most graceful compliments, but as he neared her home he became more and more nervous, Why had he asked her to go to the movies, instead of just for a walk? Anyhow he figured if they walked slowly the theater would be dark by the time they went in.

Wilma met him at the door all smiles.

"Come in until I get my hat and then I'll be ready."

"Thanks, I'll wait here on the porch," he said with an unaccountable dislike to facing her mother whom he knew almost as well as his own.

He felt as he walked down the street as though he must have two hearts; the one that kept turning flip-flops in his left side, and the one it took so much swallowing to keep out of his throat. If he only had his wheel. It provided something for hands to do.

Wilma chattered gaily all the way about football, lessons and school affairs. She looked very pretty in her blue smocked dress and white hat. Glen gradually forgot his embarrassment and his fear of the lighted auditorium and talked naturally.

Marguerite Clark as Prunella did not get his undivided attention. How could he keep his thoughts on the pictures when there was such a wonderful creature by his side. He had a wild idea of reaching over and taking her hand in the dim light, but it required more nerve than he could manage. He brushed against her arm occasionally to be sure it was not all a dream.

"Wasn't she too sweet for words? I am simply crazy over her," enthused Wilma as they left the theater.

The Olymphia looked very inviting as they neared it with its brilliant lights and countless mirrors. The tinkle of ice mingled with the whir of the electric fans and gay laughter offered great inducements to enter.

"What do you say if we go in and have something?" Glen tried to make his tone as casual as if it were an everyday thing for him to take a girl to an ice cream parlor.

"I'd love to. Just so I get home before ten, mother simply has fits if I don't."

They found an empty table in the corner and were just getting settled when Wilma saw two of her special chums making their way down the aisle between tables.

"Oh, joy, there's Helen and Pauline, let's have them over here."

"Sure thing, call them over," and Glen felt much less conspicuous when after much trilling, waving and giggling they took the chairs at their table.

"I must look a fright," giggled Helen. "I wept barrels over Pierrette's troubles."

"Well, I'll tell the world I'm simply crazy over Marguerite Clark," sighed Pauline. She wore her hair in imitation of the actress, and tried continually to get someone to tell her she looked like her favorite.

"What will you all have?" asked Glen when the waitress placed the card before him.

"I'll take a cherry submarine. I simply adore them," answered Wilma.

"So will I," was the general chorus, so the order called for four submarines. Even the giggles were silent for a short time after they were served.

"Isn't this grand?" asked Pauline.

"I'll say it is," chimed in Helen.

"I dearly love it, I could simply live at the Olymphia," and Wilma smiled at Glen in a way to make that young man feel as though he could pick up the entire place and carry it home for her.

Suddenly a horrible knowledge took possession of him, he almost choked on the cherry he had in his mouth. He knew he did not have enough money to pay for four cherry submarines. Helen and Pauline might pay for their own but he must offer to pay for all, and they would accept with alacrity—he knew girls. What would he do, oh, what would he? Black despair settled down upon him as the waitress placed the check by his place and he saw they were all four on the one check.

He had wild thoughts of walking nonchalantly past the desk and saying, "Just charge it to me, I'll settle later," but he did not know the cashier. He also knew the manager did not allow anything charged.

He was disgraced forever. He looked around for some of the boys

The Smaller Drives—and Goodyear Belts

The smaller drives enforce their own peculiar demands on transmission belting. And the value of a belt depends directly on its ability to serve the particular demands of its drive and to work efficiently with relation to the entire machine.

This belt efficiency extends upward and outward from the smallest drive through the largest operations, and the modern farmer recognizes it as a definite factor in the cost of his power production.

Because The Goodyear Klingtite did away with belting troubles on the main drive of his separator, Oscar Nygaard, of Cannon Falls, Minn., had the blower, shaker, and auger drives equipped with Goodyear Klingtites, specified in proper length, width and plies to the special duties required of them.

The similarly satisfying experience of many others has resulted in some makers of separators standardizing on Goodyear Klingtite equipment for their every drive. At high speeds or low, on small, flat-flanged, or crowned surfaces, these Goodyear Klingtites hold the pulley, deliver the power, wear evenly and long, and are proof against moisture.

The operating economy of Goodyear Klingtite Belts as a factor in farm power is made a special study in the Goodyear Farm Encyclopedia. Students and teachers of agriculture will be furnished copies on letter request to the Mechanical Goods Department, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

Leap Year Party

An unusually interesting party was given Friday evening at the Methodist annex by the members of the Epworth League. The affair was in the nature of a leap year party. A program consisiting of readings by Mr. Barber and musical selections by the Methodist quartette was given. At the close of the evening the girls served their "dates" refreshments consisting of cocoa and sandwiches.

There are lots of people on the hill who like to be in pretty fix: for instance, the co-eds in their new party dresses.

Doctors are pretty slick: they talk about paying their visits when in reality its their visits that're paying them.

Sweetening one's coffee is generally the first stirring event of the day.

A certain young lady of our acquaintance used a rather unique plan in applying for the position of wife. She asked the young man of her affections—who, by the way, wore his hair parted prettily in the middle and plastered down firmly to his head—if it wouldn't be nice to have some one who could make the salad dressing he used on his hair.

The Salina Evening Herald says that it does not mind if girls use talcum powder but they don't like the idea of substituting it for the good old fashioned soap and water bath.

A freshman girl inspecting for the first time the new and invaluable student directory, was heard exclaiming with great concern:

"My stars, I didn't know that there were so many deceased profs on the faculty! Why just look, Johnnie, there's Prof. Blank and Prof. ABC and—why—a whole bunch of 'em!"

"Deceased? Why, what in the world are you talking about? Those guys are not deceased, they're married' Those asterisks in front of their names mean to indicate they're married. Deceased! Huh!"

"Well, now you just back up a little, Johnnie, I don't know that there's so very much difference between being deceased and being married from what I've been able to observe," said the freshman girl haughtily.

Professor Sewell left for Chicago last week where he will do post graduate work at the University of Chicago.

PRIZE MANUSCRIPT WRITTEN FOR QUILL

he knew. The only one was Randall Parrish with a crowd of girls. He felt he would rather die than to ask him for help, for he could hear Randall telling it all to Wilma the next day as a huge joke.

If the floor would only open up and let him through! He considered all the possibilities. He would let the to see him with ht hr etelegrls??tu girls go ahead and perhaps Helen and Pauline would stop and pay theirs. If not he would have to throw himself on the mercy of the girl at the desk. If she refused!—He could think no further. It seemed as tho the world would surely end for him. The fellows would hear of it and he would be guyed forever.

He took time to place the menu card erect in its place, he carefully arranged the chairs in order, dropped his hat under the table and rescued it. As he straightened up he saw the three girls go laughing and chattering past the cashier without so much as a glance in that direction. He might jump through the window, faint away, break a glass and cut his hand, anything! He started to the front, but he could scarcely move, his feet seemed weighted and his limbs paralyzed.

Suddenly he heard his name called from a table near, turning he saw Mrs. Wood, mother of Herbert, smilingly beckoning to him.

Knowing Glen's bashfulness so well she had been a little surprised to see him with the three girls, and had enjoyed watching him. She soon sensed however, the fact that something besides bashfulness was troubling him. Watching him as much as she could without drawing the attention of others to him she began to suspect what was wrong. His desperate glances at the cashier confirmed her suspicions.

She surprised the other ladies at her table, especially Mrs. Lory at whose place the check lay, by reaching out her hand for the check and saying hurriedly in a low tone:

"Please, Mrs. Lory, let me have the check. I will explain later. Oh, hurry."

Hastily taking a bill from her purse she called; "Glen, come here a moment please. We are in a hurry so will you pay our check as you go out?" Handing him the check and money, she added in a low tone as he stooped over her;

"Never mind the change. Leave it in the morning when you stop for Herbert!"

She turned from the radiant understanding look of the boy to the amazed faces of her companions, and her voice trembled with joy and thankfulness that she had understood and been able to help as she said:

"My, my, that alone pays for all the thought I've spent on boys!"

CAMPUS STYLES

Well, Christmas is over and you can surely tell it for all the girls are wearing new barpins, yellow beads, or little bunches of play-like flowers on their left chests, like we told you about once, 'member?

Lots of the men are bearing evidences of having received their share of Christmas dainties too. Gaily striped silk shirts, wild looking sox, ferocious neckties, and apologetic mufflers go to make up the new adornment of the masculine persons about the campus these days.

Not a few girls came back to college after the Christmas recess proudly wearing the significant gem on the important finger. The society editor of this newspaper will hardly be able to restrain the glad tidings until the appointed time. The girls are all so bashful you know, and the men when you ask them for the official announcement for publication say that the girl knows all about it and the reporter had better see her. Showers and announcement luncheons are in order now, which means more joy for the society editor.

Boys, boys, if you must powder your necks for goodness' sake do it before you put your coats on. Because, doncahknow it leaves an awfully whitish look all over your shoulder. We have noticed this a number of times when going through Main hall behind a young man who aspires toward beauty.

It is said by the sages that a muffler does much to alleviate the distressed condition of powder on coat collars, also.

"The Brown Bull!"
Next will be "The Purple Slip" or maybe "The Lavendar Kimonee."

Several of the boys' papas gave 'em new winter coats with real fur collars on. The boys'll be carrying muffs and wearing kilted petticoats next.

Shoes! Shoes! Shoes! Wanted! Wanted! Wanted!

Girls, let's get together and boycott the shoe manufacturers unless they make shoes that are fit to wear. A woman doesn't have to be a Chinese princess nor an Egyptian duchess to have crippled feet any more—all she has to do is to go out and try to buy a new pair of shoes. Let's have a campaign on the hill for real common sense shoes that you can walk and dance in with some degree of comfort.

We went to Kansas City during the Christmas holiday and tried to learn to do our hair a new way but it was all in vain. The coiffurettes are regular bolsheviks; what they know they know about hair fixing and your life isn't worth the living when you're in their clutches unless you'll consent to have your hair fixed up so that you look like a Hopi Indian. So we bought five new hair pins—one with make-believe diamonds in — and every night we are experimenting before our long suffering mirror; and it may be that we'll break loose with our hair "did" a new way before long. Beware!

Low shoes, wool sox! La! La!
Lucile.
Pneumonia and a larger check from father—

The neck cut low, the skirt up high,
Oh isn't style an awful lot of bother.
Take heart, fair one, the day will come
When all these worldy things will cease.
Low shoes, wool sox, low cuts and high
Will fade away for you will be at peace!

FUN AND WORK FOR MEN IN A SUMMER CAMP

OVER 240 MEN WILL DO R. O. T. C. WORK THIS YEAR

AGGIES ARE READY TO TRY

Camps this Year Will Be Run on an Entirely Different Basis Than They Have Been in Former Years

There are 119 men in the first batallion of the R. O. T. C. and 123 men in the second batallion, ready to go to summer camp if that camp is held at Presidio, San Francisco. It is doubtful if the war department would send men from this part of the country to a camp so far away, if it were not for the fact that there would be about three times as many men attend there than there would if the camp was held at some place near home.

Will Have Fun Too

Colonel Terrill said that in all probabilities the camps this year will be run on an entirely different principle. The plan is to have the camps in localities where the natural attractions are great and where the facilities for entertainment are good. The men will drill and have classes in the morning and about one hour of lecture or recitation in the afternoon and then they will have the rest of the day to themselves.

Men attending the summer camps will be furnished board clothing, and transportation.

Nine Camps Considered

The camps under consideration by the war department are Camp Custer, Mich., Ft. Snelling, Minn., Camp Taylor, Ky., Camp Lee, Va., Camp Devens, Mass., Camp Funston, Kans., Ft. Logan, Colo., Camp D. A. Russel, Wyo., and Camp Presidio, Calif.

There was a conspicuous lack of enthusiasm over Camp Funston as a desirable place to hold the camp during the summer.

ALL VALLEY FEARS AGGIES

TEAMS LOOK TO SEVEN CHAMPIONSHIP K.S.A.C. PLAYERS

Freshman Squad Is Getting Better Every Evening on Its Team Work and Has Been Showing Varsity Good Fights

Aggie basket ball men have been busier than ever this week. They are developing a whirlwind type of play which is sure to place the Aggies at the top in the Missouri Valley. Other Valley schools fear the Aggies more than any other team. Seven letter men who have been on championship teams is enough to frighten any team.

Forwards who romp down the court like Hinds, Bunger, and Jennings can always be depended upon. Slim Fullington can hold his own with any center in the Valley. Shorty Cowell and his younger brother play a good game at guard. Bill Knostman, another member of the '17 championship squad, is a good all around man on the basket ball court, but will probably be seen in action at a guard position. Ship Winters has been working out the past week also.

The freshman squad is getting together better on its team work and Herschel Scott has a team he can be proud of. Their work against the Varsity has been improving and is very encouraging.

DONS "CITS" AND RETURNS TO FRANCE FOR HIS FIANCEE

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Payne resolved to be exceptions to the general rule. Mrs. Payne, who was Mademoiselle Gonssery, a French girl, promised to become Mr. Payne's war bride if he would wait until the war was over so she could see him in "cits." So Mr. Payne came home, got demobilized, bought an outfit of American clothes and returned for his fiancee. And now they are on their way back home —Mr. Payne's home, and Mrs. Payne's, too, now.

The wedding was solemnized in December. The announcement, engraved in French, was received by Mr. Payne's Manhattan friends last week.

Mr. Payne attended the agricultural college during the school year 1916-1917. He was in the air service during the war.

KANSAS ENGINEERING SOCIETY TO MEET HERE JANUARY 20-22

The Kansas Engineering society will meet in Manhattan January 20 to 22. All the engineers in private work, public utility, and corporation, numbering more than 100, will attend the meeting. Problems confronting engineers in the state will be discussed. Big men in the engineering profession from all over the country will talk.

Dean A. A. Potter of the college is president of the society. Manhattan men who are on committees are: J. D. Walters, A. J. Groesbeck, W. B. Wendt, Roy A. Seaton, and L. E. Conrad. The meeting probably will be held at the college. Last year the convention met at Topeka.

TWELVE COLOR TEAMS CHOSEN

Interesting Program Is Now Being Worked Out

Class Teams Are To Be Picked After the Tournament Games Are Played —Admission Is Free to all Games

Arrangements have been completed for the "color" tournament in girls' basketball, which begins Tuesday, January 6 and closes February 21. There are twelve teams, each designated by an individual color.

The purpose of the tournament is to provide an opportunity for each girl who has signed up for basketball to play on a team. The class teams will not be picked until after the tournament games, which are to be used as a basis for the selections.

There will be twelve games a week, two on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday, respectively, and four on Saturday, two in the main gym and two in the women's gym. In all, there will be 66 games. Admission is free to all games.

The team colors and captains for each are as follows:

COAL MINERS TO DIG SHINS NOW

NICHOLS WILL BUZZ WITH EXCITEMENT TONIGHT

Five Piece Jazz Orchestra Will Make Aggies Work Their Feet the Same As They Worked the Shovels at Pittsburg

The coal miners from K. S. A. C. are through digging coal but tonight they will dig shins. They are to have a real honest to goodness dance with the music furnished by a five piece jazz orchestra.

The dance is to be given in Nichols gymnasium and every Aggie who went to the coal mines is urged to be there—with the necessary dancing partner. The miners have invited a number of their friends to attend the hop so it promises to be a fairly good sized shin dig.

C. L. Turley was called to Topeka Tuesday on business.

Sam Simpson returned Tuesday from Salina where he spent the week.

John Richardson, who has been attending the Virginia military institute has been visiting Chandler Nelson at the Beta Theta Pi house.

Norman Hackett, starring in "Tea For Three," was a caller at the Beta house Wednesday afternoon.

L. B. Mickel, a representative of the Kansas City Star, was a dinner guest at the Beta house Wednesday evening.

Harold Zimmerman, who was injured during the Beta-Manhattan high school basketball game, is able to be out again.

Two hundred sheep of the animal husbandry department topped the Kansas City sheep market Wednesday, bringing a price of 18½ cents per pound. Prof. A. M. Paterson marketed the sheep.

PHYSICAL WORK FOR TEACHERS

FAIRER SEX OF FACULTY TO TAKE GYM TRAINING

Will Give Faculty Women a Chance to Get Together and Have Good Time—First Meeting January 14

Some of the women of the faculty are organizing a physical education class among the women members of the faculty and the wives of the men on the faculty. This class will meet every Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the girls' gymnasium.

The object is to give an opportunity for the faculty to get together, have a good time, and get acquainted. There have been no definite plans but they intend to have a combination of floor work, basketball, swimming, and other things along that line. The first meeting will be on Thursday, January 14, in the girls' gym. The plan for the year's work will be talked of and the class organized.

FARM AND HOME WEEK AT COLLEGE IN FEBRUARY

Interesting Program Is Now Being Worked Out

Arrangements are being made by the agricultural division for an interesting and instructive farm and home week, to be held at the college the first part of February.

C. S. Ball, in charge of the cereal investigation of the United States department of agriculture, will give a talk on co-operative association.

Eyes Injured by Acid

Royce Baldwin freshman in journalism, came near losing his eyesight when a test tube of sulfuric acid, which he was heating over a Bunsen burner, exploded in his face in chemistry laboratory Tuesday. He was temporarily blinded by the acid and had difficulty in finding his way to the water faucet where he applied first aid treatment. Later, he was attended by Doctor Siever and no serious consequences are expected.

Walter J. Rogers has returned from Cleveland where he attended the Alpha Tau Omega congress.

FUNSTON FIVE MEET AGGIES SATURDAY

GAME BEGINS AT 4:30 IN THE AFTERNOON

IS PRACTICE GAME FOR TEAMS

Does Not Count in Valley Contest But Home Men Are Anxious to Carry Away First Game on Home Court

The second Aggie basketball game of the season will be played Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the Nichols gymnasium. This game is really a preliminary practice game to get the team in good trim for the Valley mixups.

The line up for the game is as follows: Forwards, G. W. Hinds, H. L. Bunger; guards, Ship Winter, Bill Martin; centers, G. S. Jennings; substitute forwards, Fred Williams, Bill Knostman, and Arthur Quinlan.

The season basketball ticket includes the Funston game Saturday. The seat reservations for the season are going rapidly. Only a few on the north and south sides are left. The reservation ticket for the games costs $1.50.

Coach Clevenger advises anyone who hasn't obtained his reserved seat to do so at once.

BAND CONCERT TICKETS READY

ON SALE AT CO-OP, PALACE, AND BY MEMBERS OF BAND

Several Members of Marine, Which Was Stationed At Philadelphia,, Will Play at Concert

Tickets for the band concert to be given Saturday evening at 8 o'clock may be purchased either today or tomorrow at the Co-op book store, the Palace drug store, or from any of the members of the band.

The band will be assisted by Professor Lovejoy, who will give a vocal solo, "Myself When Young" from the Persian Garden" cycle by Lisa Lehman.

There are several members of the marine band, which was stationed at Philadelphia during the war doing recruiting work, who will play at the concert tomorrow evening.

"IT'S A WONDER YOU MEN ARE ABLE TO WALK AT ALL"

Colonel Terrell Says Present Styles of Shoes Are Harmful

"With the prevailing style of shoes for sale in this town and the kind of shoes worn by some of you students, it is a wonder to me that you can walk at all."

So said Colonel Terrell Tuesday during the regular drill period of the second batallion. The weather was unfit for outdoor drill and so the period was taken up by a foot lecture by Colonel Terrell. He said that many students were trying to get excused from drill because of corns and bunions and other foot troubles. He explained in detail the methods of curing foot troubles in the army, the method of fitting shoes in the army, and showed the many advantages of the army last.

NO MILITARY WORK DURING FINAL EXAMINATION WEEK

But Tests Will Be Given Men Week Early, Colonel Terrell Says

Colonel Terrell has announced that there will be no military work during the week of final examinations. This is so arranged in order that students may devote all of their time to the academic work. All examinations which are to be held in the classes of military science at the close of the semester will be held during the week preceding the week for the regular examinations.

FIRST GRAD. OF PRINTING HERE

VISITED JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT FOR DAY

Worked On Old Student Herald, First Paper Published at the College—Is Traveling for United Press

The first student to graduate from the printing course at K. S. A. C. visited the college several days this week.

L. B. Michel graduated in 1910 before the journalism course was founded. There were no organized classes in any of his subjects. He would merely report to some professor and would be told to go and "cover" the campus to see what news he could find.

With pencil in hand Michel started out over the same old cinder walks—for cement and street cars were missing in those days. There wasn't even any Aggieville. He did not have a large territory from which to get news for you may know there were fewer buildings than we have now.

Mr. Michel worked on the staff of the Student Herald, the paper preceding the Collegian. He served as editor of society, athletics, and of the editorial column as well as being business, circulating, and advertising manager, for at that time journalism students were scarce at this college.

Mr. Michel is here in behalf of the United Press. He has been traveling out of New York and Washington for this association but his headquarters have been changed to Kansas City.

Attended Science Meeting

Several members of the zoology department attended the meeting of the Aemerican Association for the Advancement of Science which took place last week at St. Louis.

Doctors Ackert, Harman, and Brown presented papers before the American society of zoologists. Earl G. Morton also attended the meetings.

Dr. Ackert was elected a member of the executive council of the American Microscopical society.

C. F. Laude, '19, of Omaha, was a a week end guest at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Verle Austin of Irving visited over the week end with his brother, Lynn, student in the college. Mr. Austin was one of the students from K. U. who was down here on a painting expedition.

Donald Eibert and Harold Eibert of Lincoln, Nebraska, were Sunday guests at the Acacia house.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cramer of Gardner, were guests at the Acacia house Friday.

The freshmen of the Delta Delta Delta sorority were Sunday dinner guests of the Acacia fraternity.

Sunday 7:30 p. m. Congregational church, Des Moines convention report. President Jardine and others will speak.

Week end guests at the Tri Delt house included Miss Pauline Richards, Miss Fanny Belle Beggs, Miss Gladys Hoffman, and Miss Adelaide Seeds.

Rev. and Mrs. D. H. Fisher were Sunday dinner guests at the Tri Delt house.

COLLEGIAN TO RUN MAGAZINE SECTION SOON

FORTY PAGE SPECIAL WILL CONTAIN QUILL MANUSCRIPTS

2,000 COPIES TO BE SOLD

First Time that Quill Club Has Had Opportunity to Publish Its Writings—Out in About Four Weeks

The Kansas State Collegian will publish a magazine section, which will contain short stories and other articles written for the Quill club, national honorary organization of writers. The special section will be issued some time in February.

The magazine will have forty pages, forty per cent advertising. It will contain nothing but articles which were written by Quill club members. The purpose and work of the organization will also be explained.

This is the first time that the Quill club has had an opportunity to publish its manuscripts. Lately the Collegian has run three of the stories but this special section will have all of the best manuscripts. The magazine will be out in about four weeks and it is hoped that 2,000 copies can be sold.

EIGHT WEEKS' COURSE OPENS

115 STUDENTS ENROLED IN FARMERS' SHORT COURSE

While 180 Men Will Take Engineers' Short Course—Increases College Enrolment Considerably Now

One hundred and eighty men enroled in the engineers' short course which opened here Monday, January 5. There were 115 men who enroled in the farmers' short course.

Most of these new students are Kansas men who have come to get intensive training in many lines of agricultural work in a period of eight weeks.

The subjects given are primarily practical, consisting of livestock production, dairying, soil management, grain crops production, horticulture, farm management, poultry raising, beekeeping, and others, bringing the student into actual contact with farm conditions and products.

ANOTHER FROSH MEETING FAILED

BUT FIRST YEAR MEN WILL TRY AGAIN ON JANUARY 13

Pictures To Be Taken for Class Book —Dues Must be Paid, Class Hike To Be Planned, and Other Things Waiting

The freshman class has had a second unsuccessful meeting. At the first of the year that class met but due to Bolshevist actions on the part of many, the meeting was adjourned. Last Wednesday night a meeting was called and only six attended.

So now another meeting is set for January 13, at four in the afternoon. Every freshman should be there to help decide some important questions.

The pictures are to be taken for Royal Purple, class dues must be paid, plans must be formulated for a hike, and other questions are to be settled at this meeting.

Civil Service Examinations

Notices of civil service examinations to be held during the month of January have recently been posted on the college bulletin boards. These examinations are for government positions in argiculture, engineering, chemistry, and physics, and pay from $1,000 to $3,000 per pear.

AGGIE HOG FAMILY IS PEACEFULLY RESIDING IN NEW $10,000 RESIDENCE

The hog family at the Kansas State Agricultural college inherited ten thousand dollars from last year's state legislature and is now living in a new home which was purchased with the money, having such modern conveniences as hot air heat, electric lights, water works including bath, and a well furnished office for the janitor.

The new home is one hundred and fifty-two feet by forty feet at the greatest width. A monitor roof and sunshine windows provide plenty of sunlight. Twelve acres of alfalfa surrounding the swine barn provide pasture for the growing pigs. This is fenced in acre lots arranged in such a way that one central lane leads to the barn.

There is a central two story section, from which extend two wings fifty feet long and one story in height.

THOSE SHIFTERS

Are inventions of today the result of laziness? Were the inventions of the past generations the result of laziness? Was James Watt too lazy to manipulate by hand the valves on the steam engine and so made their operation mechanical? Was the modern carrier in the department store invented because the clerks were too lazy to carry the goods?

It is the opinion of one our worthy professors on the hill that the inventions of the past and the present are inventions of laziness. What do you say?

Perhaps the "shifter" organization has something to do with either laziness or inventions. There seems to be no doubt in the minds of some that the shifters are inventors—Oh la, la, Lucile. If all were shifters the fun would be o'er!

MONEY PLENTIFUL

American prosperity has created a semi-vacuum in the marts of trade. A few years ago goods were plentiful, but money with which to buy them, scarce; now conditions are reversed.

This is particularly noticeable in the automobile market. So many people are now able to afford gas wagons that it is not always a question of which make the customer will choose, but which one he can get. Frequently he is not able to get any car at all without a long wait for his turn.

This has created an abnormal demand for automobile trimmers and repairmen also for repair and replacement materials. Old cars must be revamped and made to do until new ones may be had. New tops; new curtains; new window lights; repainting and revarnishing; new mechanical parts; anything to make the battle scarred veteran look like a young blood and prevent proud madame from labelling hubby a tightwad because he doesn't get a brand new chariot.

There is a fly even in the repair ointment, for leather is very scarce and high in price, but old friend science has come to the rescue with pyroxylin coated fabrics which look exactly like hide leather to renew worn out seat cushions and backs; rubber coated goods to replace or repair old tops; leather renewer to touch up bare spots on tops and upholstery; auto enamel to make the body anew a thing of beauty and a joy—forever? Well, let's hope not.

And the same principle is true in everything else. Right here in K. S. A. C.—have you noticed that every Tom, Dick, Harry is wearing fur collars? The demand for fur collars is so great that the store keepers have memorized, "No, we have none in stock but it may be that we will have some in within the next few days."

We can do anything in laundry, cleaning or repairing. A. V. Laundry.

Miss Alta Hepler, '19, visited here last week. She is teaching this year in high school in Carlyle.

The Willard Chemical society will have a meeting on Monday, January 12, at 7:30 in C 27. All those interested in chemistry are asked to attend. This is the meeting that was postponed from December 8 on account of the coal shortage.

W. O. McCarty and L. Warlick will give a dance Friday night in the girls' gymnasium, for the Elkhart club. Prof. W. S. West will be the chaperon.

Ninety new automatic watering bowls are being installed in the diary barns. Dairymen say that this will increase the milk production of the herd.

The Douglas and Wright County Jersey association of Missouri bought a bull calf for $250 of the college dairy herd this week. It is to be used in building up the herds owned by these two counties.

The Browning literary society had a Leap Year meeting Saturday afternoon. The roll call was answered by New Year's resolutions, then Mamie Grimes as affirmative, and Hettie Carris as negative gave a debate: "Resolved that New Year's Resolutions are Beneficial." Miss Lee Winters gave an impromptu speech, "1920." The last was a stunt given by Jewel Sappenfield and Lulu Diest. It showed the action between the Browning and Athenian Grand Opera company and was representing the "Fatal Leap."

Prof. W. A. Lippincott, of the poultry husbandry department, made a trip to St. Marys Wednesday to confer with the president of the St. Marys college on the installation of a poultry plant that will accommodate 2,000 laying hens.

A. W. Beeler, '16, and Mrs. Beeler spent Christmas vacation at the home of Mr. Beeler's parents in Manhattan.

Dean Holton of the educational department, is starting a new Sunday school class for boys at the Methodist church. The text of the lessons will be along the lines of democracy and Christianity.

William Tuttle, '19, has accepted an offer from a real estate company to manage a large pineapple plantation in Hawaii, for which place he sailed on January 2. After graduating from the agronomy department last spring, Mr. Tuttle was an instructor in the soils department of the University of California.

PRIZE MANUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

Miss Sue Carmody wrote a poem and one short story for Quill club when she gained her membership to the organization. Here is the poem that she wrote:

THE FLYING MAN

I met a soldier man today,
A flying-man was he,
He told me tales until I thought,
A-dreaming I must be.
Of "tail-spins," "curves" and "eights" he spoke
Of "solo-fields" and mud,
And how the wind will catch a plane
And send it down ka-thud!

He told me, too, of rotten flights,
Of what a game they play,
In making war with aeroplanes
In this new-fangled way.
His teacher sure must be a man
Of very level head,
He only says when down they crash
"Say guy—is your brain dead?"

He told me of "ground-school" days,
He spoke of "shafts" and "rudders"
And "ten buck goggles," "pin-head lieuts."
At thoughts of which one shudders.
The Major though was "one good scout,"
"He's always on the square,"
So said the tall and clean-cut one
Who wars up in the air.

He told me too of how the Huns
Had wished they'd ne'er been born,
"For when we got across the pond
They sure pulled in their horns.
We flew above 'em ten miles high
And showed that old man Bill,
That when he met with us airmen,
He'd surely get his fill!"

Oh, airmen big and brave and strong,
God speed you on your way,
May "tailspins", "curves" and "eights" and such
Do everything you say.
Our prayers are for you night and day,
Our hearts they are as one,
Our love it follows everywhere,
God bless you, everyone!

SCANDAL COLELGIAN

We understand that when a certain Alpha Delta Pi leaves town for a few days that Harold Woodard takes this opportunity to entertain his lady friends from K. U.

One of the members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has been carrying a small piece of limberger cheese in his pocket for several weeks. He uses this instead of moth balls.

Professor Crawford has written a poem, "The Carrying of The Ghost." Now we understand that far away look in his eye. He is in communion with the spirit world. Some of the young ladies of the college thought that he was merely in love.

One of the members of the Sig Alph fraternity lost a portion of his front tooth in his initial engagement of the New Year. How does the other party look?

There is a girl in school who invariably says "excuse me" when she means "pardon me."

Miss Jamie Cameron and Miss Velma Meserve assisted the registrar in enroling the short course students during the fifth and six hours Monday afternoon. President Jardine loaned them pencils and paper. They received 50 cents an hour for their services.

The Kappas are going to give a charity ball in order to get enough money to buy the required hair nets which are used in making the new hair dress called, "Bushy Benny Bobbs."

Do you know that there is a dark spot under a stairway in the basement of Anderson hall? Well, there are some chairs there and dates have been taking advantage of the time, place and condition lately.

The Delta Zetas lost their chimes this week. Wonder where they went. Perhaps the Kappa Sigs have some new ones.

A certain Sigma Nu drove his Ford out near the river bank the other night, and regardless of the zero weather, stayed there for a number of hours.

A certain Kappa Sig is engaged. While home on the Christmas vacation he became acquainted with another girl and now it's a rose between two thorns.

New Fratority Is Being Organized By Boys and Girls

The only social organization to which both boys and girls may belong is the new fratority which is being organized. You will notice that even the name implies good fellowship and lasting bondage. The first part of the name, of course, refers to the boys and the second part to the girls. This is just opposite to the way things work when a couple gets married—the boy keeps the last name then.

"Shifters' is the name of the new fratority. The organization has spread like wildfire in the past two days. It has its secrets and it principles. It may be related to the Bolsheviki or to the I. W. W., but the members say it is the best thing that has hit the school for a long time.

"Shifters" is a national organization. The Sig Alph Shifters held a chicken dinner party at the Pines Sunday evening. Everywhere the name "Shifters" is being talked about.

More members may be taken in this week.

Were on Program

Geo. A. Dean, professor of entomology, Dr. Tanquary, associate professor of entomology, J. W. McCollock, associate entomologist, E. G. Kelly, extension entomologist, and Wm. P. Hayes, assistant entomologist attended the annual meeting of the American Association of Economic Entomologists.

They all were on the program, Professors J. W. McCollock and W. P. Hayes each giving two papers.

Dr. J. H. Merrill's paper was sent and read at the meeting as he was unable to be there.

Arthur Crocker and W. Richardson of Muskogee, Oklahoma, were dinner guests at the Beta house Sunday.

J. E. Edgerton of Concordia was a guest at the Acacia house Saturday.

OTHER COLLEGES

K. U. taxidermists recently had the task of mounting a 1,000 pound brown bear which was killed by Dr. John Outland of Kansas City, a former K. U. student, during a hunting trip in Alaska.

An overcoat shortage is the latest peril which is threatening university of Missouri students. Columbia clothing dealers attribute the shortage to the fact that most of the boys are selling their old army overcoats and buying new ones.

K. U. has launched its millon dollar memorial campaign. The committee in charge of the campaign has decided upon the erection of a student union building and an athletic stadium as a memorial. The campaign was officially launched at a recent convocation at which one of the university freshman was awarded a distinguished service cross for bravery in France. The memorial is for the 127 university men and two university women who gave their lives in the war.

The unmarried members of the faculty at Iowa State recently staged a coasting party and taffy pull.

A certain K. U. professor has decided that the Bible may be true after all since he has discovered in Genesis "a logical description of the development of the solar system." This description, he declares agrees with the theory which has been worked out by astronomists, geologists, and biologists.

Authorities at Iowa State declared that the cost of eating at that school is three cents less per meal than at near by schools.

The sopohomore girls at the University of Washington have decided to carry swagger sticks.

At least half of the students at K. U. must possess a singular lack of curiosity in regard to where the other half of the student body lives. At a recent date only 700 student directories had been purchased by the students. It is necessary to sell 1,000 books to pay printing expenses.

At a recent smoker which the engineering students at the University of Washington held, cigarette holders in the form of little pipes were given to the guests. The University of Washington paper, in speaking of the smoker says: "The armory might be taken for a pool hall this morning as the hundreds of cigarette stubs left by the many present verify this fact."

Oklahoma university is installing oil burners.

It has been estimated that the working students at the University of Missouri earn $1,500 a month.

The landladies at Indiana university have agreed to a new system of grading rooms. Rooms with single beds and cross ventilation will be marked A rooms. Those with double beds and cross ventilation will be B. rooms; ventilated from one side only but with single beds will be graded C and those with double beds D. The less desirable places will be graded E.

Journalism Men Make Excellent Soldiers for U. S.

Of the 2,700 students of the college who went to war, there was a large representation from the department of industrial journalism. Printers and writers, typo men, and linotype operators, all were represented in Sam's army. And here is the reason so many of them made such excellent soldiers:

They were of the right "type" of man.

They are born "leaders."

They "stick" to the job.

They adhere to "rules."

They are good at "setting up" exercises.

They excell when it comes to a "chase."

They don't take things for granted; they must have the "proof."

They are generally of very good "form."

If they are taken prisoners it does not faze them. They are used to "lock ups."

When the call to battle is signaled, they can "make ready" very quickly.

They fear not cold steel, as they are used to "cuts."

They are very "plane" fellows.

And as "doughboys" they can make excellent "pi."

Three of the college professors have been placed on the programs at the different churches during Prayer week. They are W. H. Andrews at the Congregational church Tuesday evening, C. O. Swanson at the Methodist church Wednesday and R. R. Price at the United Presbyterian church Friday evening.

Floyd Pattison of Mannsfield, Mass., arrived last week to handle the industrial and engineering subjects of the home study department. Mr. Pattison graduated in '12 from this college. He takes the place Mr. Fenton left in the fall to take up freshman engineering work.

Dr. R. R. Price has been made superintendent of the college department at the Methodist church.

R. J. Kinzer, of Kansas City, secretary of the American Hereford Breeders association, and formerly professor of animal husbandry in the agricultural college, visited at the animal husbandry department last week.

FEATURE NIGHT FOR SOCIETIES

ORATORICAL CONTEST IS ANNUAL STUNT OF YEAR

Society Members Are Now Working on Orations—Tryouts Will be Held by Each Society Soon to Choose the Orators

The college literary societies will have their annual big feature night February 28, when they put on their intersociety oratorical contest. The manuscripts of all the orations will be in the hands of the judges January 27.

The oratorical contest always means a big time for all the literary societies on the hill. It is when every society member goes to the auditorium feeling confident that his society is going to win.

In 1916 the contest was won by Leo Moser, who represented the Athenian society, with an oration on the immigration problem. Stella Blain of the Ionian society won second place in this contest. Several members of each society are working on orations now. A tryout of each society will be held some time soon to determine who their orator for this year will be.

Calendar May Be Changed—Want 13 Months Each Year

Mathematicians, algebraic, geometric, trigonometric, and arithmetical are having a calculetic conference somewhere or other these days, to determine whether it would not be a good thing to change our present calendar month's length to a uniform scale, having 28 days in each month. In this same revision of time, space, and Christmas days, the changing of the 12-month year to a 13-month year is being considered.

A 13-month year would mean that there would be a thirteenth day of a thirteenth month and in about another hundred years there'd be another thirteenth year and if that wouldn't be enough thirteens to end a world with, you win!

Having 13 months would mean a revision of the college term or semester schedule and sure as anything it would work out that we'd have seven sets of finals instead of only two as is our happy condition at the present.

If we have a 13-month year it will mean giving the landlady another check for a room that was so cold that even the words "hot" and "warm" in the dictionary are found to have icicles attached to them.

And if we have a thirteenth month what in the world would we call it? It wouldn't be so bad to try to learn the name of the new month in English but remember the poor struggling students who are taking French, German, and Spanish—how different the word would be in the language being studied. In view of the fact that we have two months which answer present to the Christian name of "May" and "August" we might name the thirteenth month, "Genevieve" or "Napoleon" but on the other hand would it not be fitting in this great day of the advancement of free verse to call the unlucky month "Amy Lowell" or "Edgar Lee Masters?"

There is some comfort in the thought that if there are only to be twenty-eight days in the new month system that our money may go a little further for there will surely be two or three days less in each month in which to spend it.

WAS THE FIRST MAN IN 35TH DIVISION TO RECEIVE WOUND

Edward Shaffer, who is this year a freshman in the industrial journalism course at the Kansas State Agricultural college, holds the honor of being the first man of the 35th division to be wounded in action in France.

Shaffer enlisted early in the war and was assigned to duty with Company E, 137th infantry. After a period of training at Camp Doniphan, Oklahoma, he went overseas and almost immediately went into action.

He received severe shrapnel wounds in the breast when his outfit was fighting near Villers-Bretoneaux, on observation duty with the British forces. He was in a hospital near Rouen for many weeks.

He joined his outfit in the Alsatian trenches, and was with the 35th at St. Mihiel, going into the Argonne. On the third day of the big drive he was wounded. An explosive shell hit both legs. Shaffer was in a number of hospitals following this but was finally allowed to go back to his company. He later was transferred to the headquarters company of the 137th infantry and was mustered out with that unit at Camp Funston.

Six Dances In One Week Isn't Bad For One College Boys

"You know Jimmy, this doesn't seem like a school week at all."

"Why not, Bill, haven't you been studying?"

"Yes, I've studied alright, but there were six dances this week, a New Years celebration and numerous other things. Every noon I've danced in Anderson hall so I'd like to know where there is any time left to study."

"Well, Bill, New Years comes but once a year so cheer up, finals are only two weeks off."

Professor and Mrs. Calderwood were Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Joe Sweet, '17, has received a commission as captain in the regular army. Mr. Sweet took graduate work at Wisconsin university after his graduation here.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor of the Collegian: During the past week I have wandered through Anderson Hall at noon. On several occasions a goody number of couples were amusing themselves and onlookers by dancing. While there is a pianist present everything goes O. K. But at times there is a shortage of musicians and then the dancing is all off. Would it not be a good thing if some organization, person or even the college undertook to place in the recreation center a victrola with an amplified soundbox? If this were placed there, the dancing could go on whether or not there was anybody there who could, or would, play the piano. Will not somebody take this under consideration?—One Interested.

Dear Editor: — The increasing amount of drowsiness in class rooms has inspired the writer to record a few observations. The professors are prone to attribute these drowsy spells to too many hours spent with some fair damsel and in some cases the professor's intuition is correct but in many cases another explanation is due. The writer believes that better ventilation is needed. The majority of the buildings were erected before the modern ventilating systems were in vogue, therefore some other means must be provided. To go into a class room that has been occupied by about forty students the previous hour and find all the windows closed tightly is not only unpleasant to the olfactory nerves but is not conducive to good health and a receptive mind.

As the writer is not an expert heat and ventilating engineer his suggestions may be considered absurd but in order to instigate more valuable suggestions we recommend that a few windows be kept open slightly all the time in order that the room will not be chilled at any time and yet a constant supply of fresh air be provided.—Give Us Air.

Dear Editor:—We have noted with pleasure the increasing amount of space given to debate in the Collegian. However we believe that Aggie students do not fully appreciate the value of debate work nor the advantages K. S. A. C. is offering in this line of work. K. S. A. C. outranks the majority of the schools in the west in the encouragement of debating.

Most college students will sooner or later have occasion to confer with directors, commissioners, financiers, or the public in general in regard to promoting some enterprise. Debate trains the talker to meet any argument as it is presented, a situation which approximates the thing found in all conferences. Why wouldn't a regular course in debating be a good thing?—A Student.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Baerfind—Grandfield

The announcement has just been made of the marriage of Myrtle Baerfind, teacher of domestic science in Minneapolis, to Clarence Grandfield. They were married December 23 at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Grandfield were both students here at the college, graduating in 1917. They were popular in school activities at that time.

They spent Christmas vacation with Mr. Grandfield's parents at Maize and then went to Washington, D. C., where they will make their home.

Announce Engagement

The engagement of Miss Ruby Canady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Canady of Mulvane, to Mr. Glenn H. Mills of Ottawa, Ill., was announced at the home of Miss Canaday, December 31. The announcement was made at a pretty evening party. The wedding will take place February 5.

Miss Canady attended college here last year. She was a sophomore in home economics and was secretary of the sophomore class the first semester. Miss Canady was also prominent in Y. W. C. A. work.

Men Go On Hikes

Colonel Terrill is encouraging more men to go on hikes and hunting expeditions during the winter in order to become accustomed to the outdoor life. He said that all of the equipment of the military department that could be used by these parties would be available for the men.

Church Banquet

Approximately 25 students attended the board meeting and banquet of the Christian church Tuesday evening. A number on the program was furnished by each church department. The college students of the Young Peoples society put on a farce.

Sunday Tea

Iota Psi entertained at tea Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith and Miss Winifred Bartholf. Mrs. Smith and Miss Bartholf are patronesses of Iota Psi.

Announce Pledging

Iota Psi announces the pledging of Miss Edith Miller of Council Grove, Miss Helene Bentley of Cooper, and Miss Maurine Ames of Moline.

Sigma Nu Dinner Guests

Mr. Norman Hackett and Miss Mildred Evans, who played the leading parts in the production of "Tea for Three," were the dinner guests of the Sigma Nu fraternity the evening of their appearance here. Mr. Hackett is a University of Michigan grauate, and a member of Theta Delta Chi.

Company "H" Wins

Company H has the best drilled squad, the best drilled cadet, and the second best "Cock-fighter" in the second battalion. This was the decision reached by Captain Davidson after carefully judging the contests.

Evening Bridge

Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis entertained Tuesday evening at their home, 532 North Fourteenth. The evening was spent at bridge. A two course luncheon was served by the hostess. There were four tables, the guests including only college people.

Entertain for Alpha Delts

The patronesses of Alpha Delta Pi gave a buffet supper for the girls Thursday evening from five until seven, at the home of Mrs. Alden Huse, 1020 Leavenworth. The patronesses include: Mrs. A. H. Bressler, Mrs. Alden Huse, Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. Mont Green, and Miss Jessie Machir.

Societies Will Play

A play, which has not as yet been selected, will be given this spring, probably in March, by the literary societies of the college. The play will be coached by Mrs. Bowman.

The tryouts for the play will be held at 1 p. m. January 17 in Professor Emerson's office in the old Ag building.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY ,JANUARY 13, 1920 — NO. 32

AGGIE COACH GOES END OF SCHOOL YEAR

"GERMANY" SCHULZ HAS OFFERED HIS RESIGNATION

CAME HERE IN YEAR 1916

Clevenger-Schulz Combination Has Produced Two Winning Conference Basketball Teams—Had Charge of Track

A. G. (Germany) Schulz has resignd as assistant athletic director of the Kansas State Agricultural college. The resignation is to take effect at the close of the present school year.

Coach Schulz 'id not give a reason for his actio. He does not care to disclose his plans for the future.

Produced Winning Teams

The Clevenger- Schulz combination, the coaching staff that has produced two conference basketball championships, one track championship and a tie for one conference football championship, thus comes to an end. Z. G. Clevenger, athletic director, and Coach Schulz came to the Aggies in 1916. The first year their football team tied for Valley laurels in football. The next year, and again in 1919, their basketball teams were first in Valley basket ball, taking second place in 1917. Last year the Aggie track team won the Valley championship.

Coach Schulz has had full charge of track, assisting Clevenger in football and basketball. He coached the freshman basketball team.

Football's Greatest Center

Schulz was Walter Camp's choice as all-American center for all time. He played that position with Michigan university three years, graduating in '08. He was a football assistant under Yost when elected to his position with the Kansas Aggies in 1916.

"Owing to the fact that physical education requirements at the college have been extended to all freshmen and sophomores it has become necessary to increase the number of coaches and instructors in the department," President W. M. Jardine said today. "It was planned to add a coach to the personnel of the department next year. Coach Schulz's resignation will make it necessary to add two new coaches to the staff. Neither has been selected to date.

Clevenger Will Not Coach

"The duties of the athletic director at the college have more than doubled in the last few years. Professor Clevenger will be obliged to devote the major part of his time to his duties as head of the department of physical education in which 1,500 men and women students will receive instruction. In addition to football, basketball, track, and baseball, the curriculum of the department now includes boxing, gym work, swimming, and wrestling. It will be impossible for him to attend to the coaching of teams in addition to his important duties as head of the department. For this reason it is planned to elect a head coach and an assistant coach to the department.

"Professor Clevenger requested several months ago that he be relieved of coaching duties. At that time he was persuaded by the athletic board to continue under existing conditions during the school year 1919-1920."

PEP COMMITTEE TO GIVE DANCE

COMMUNITY HALL HOP FOR STUDENTS ON JANUARY 27

War Work Committee to Turn Hall Over to Students but Dances Governed By Committee's Rules

A big all-student dance will be given at the community hall on January 27 by the pep committee. A five piece orchestra from Lawrence will furnish the music.

The community hall, which is under the rules of the Manhattan War Work committee of which Miss Dorothy Mill is the head, will be turned over to the use of the college. But the regular rules practiced at the community house will stay in effect.

This is the first college dance to be given in the community house and since it comes just at registration time a large crowd is expected. The dance is given for the benefit of the pep committee.

QUILL CLUB WILL HAVE ITS BANQUET ON NEXT THURSDAY

Banquet Is Held in Honor of William Caxton, First English Printer

The Quill club, professional fraternity for writers, will hold its annual banquet next Thursday evening at the Gillett hotel. The banquet is given in honor of William Caxton, the first English printer.

There are 12 members in the club who joined this fall so that it will be the first Quill banquet they have attended. In former years, the annual banquet was given in honor of Gutenberg, German printer, but from now on it will be in honor of Caxton.

COMPETING FOR THE $50 PRIZE

TWENTY ORGANIZATIONS SELLING ROYAL PURPLES

All Orders for Royal Purples Must be Placed by January 17 as Business Manager Must Place Printing Order

More than 20 organizations of the college are competing for the $50 prize offered by the Royal Purple to the organization selling the highest number of books. A prize of $25 will be given as second prize, and $15 as the third prize.

The contest will close Saturday, January 17. All orders for books must be in the hands of the business manager by that time so an order can be placed with the printers.

The chairman of the selling committee of each organization is asked to notify A. W. Wilcox, box 369, Saturday, January 10, of the number of books sold by his organization, so as to decide on the contest.

IGNORANCE IS MAIN REASON

GOES HAND IN HAND WITH BOLSHEVISM, JARDINE SAYS

ABOLISHES PRIVATE PROPERTY

President Jardine Gave History of Bolshevism — Originated from Radicals Who Established Schools in Russia

"The Student Volunteer convention held at Des Moines last week was the greatest that I have ever attended," said President Jardine when he addressed student assembly last Friday.

"It was an inspiration to be there," he continued. "It was good to be with 8,000 students who were there to see what they could learn to fit themselves for better service and to meet such issues as Bolshevism.

President Jardine gave a history of Bolshevism and explained how it originated from the doctrines of early radicals who established their schools in Russia.

"It is essential that we educate ourselves so that we may fight such ideas with intelligence. We must eliminate ignorance. Ignorance is what put Russia where she is today."

The following are some of the provisions of the Bolshevist government of Russia as stated by President Jardine:

Abolishment of private property holdings.

Abolishment of church property rights and placing the church under government control.

Suppression of private and denominational schools.

Repudiation of the Russian national debt.

Denial of free speech and press.

All printing and advertising to be under national control.

Courts to be made up of persons from the uneducated class.

Denial of vote to all except the workers who do not employ labor.

Young Freshman Visited the Alpha Delta Pi Cook Last Wednesday Evening

"Lordy Boy! What do you want in here?"

This was the exclamation that greeted Rocky Bryan, a member of the student council, when he entered the cook's room at the Alpha Delta Pi house Wednesday evening.

Well to be exact and start at the beginning the student council was holding its annual meeting around the round table at 1115 North Eleventh street. Now Rocky got to feeling low when he thought a good drink of the city water would revive his spirits and his interest in the meeting.

So he ambled out to the kitchen sink for a little life reviver. That was all right and proper but when Rocky turned off the lights, he always was an economical chap, he strayed from the path.

The door to the cook's room, which adjoins the kitchen, and the door to the council meeting room look just alike in the dark. But that's all the poor freshie remembers.

The next thing he knew he was greeted with those awful words "Lordy Boy! What do you want in here?"

Now Rocky didn't want any thing, but replied in a trembling voice,

"I only wanted a drink Ma'am, only a drink."

AGGIES SCORE 124 POINTS IN FIRST GAMES

OVERWHELMING DEFEAT FOR FUNSTON FIVE

VISITORS MADE BUT 15 POINTS

Next Two Games Will be Played With Grinnell on Friday and Saturday of This Week

The Aggie basketeers began their season by winning a two-game victory over the Camp Funston five last Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon. The first game ended with a score of 57 to 10, and the second was a still greater defeat for the army, the score being 67 to 5.

All Played Well

The game Saturday afternoon was played on Nichols gymnasium court. Captain Hinds led the quintet in the old time champion style.

Last year men, E. Cowell, Bunger, and Jennings played true to their old reputation. Bunger tossed the ball through the ring in five out of six free throws. Jennings made. 16 points in three-fourths of the game. E. Cowell played a whirlwind game at guard. Warren Cowell sprung a surprise by adding six points to the score in the first half and showing that he has the basketball ability of his brother, Shorty. Bill Knostman featured in the second half by adding 16 points to the score.

Friday and Saturday the quintet will have a chance to show championship playing against the team from Grinnell college.

SOCIAL CENTER IS REST ROOM

NOT TO BE USED AS DANCE HALL DURING DAY

But Social Functions May be Given in the Evenings—Dean Van Zile and Doctor Holtz Have Charge

To the Students and Faculty: Now that the social center in Anderson hall is practically completed and equipped, it seems desirable to issue the following statement at this time:

In making over this room and designating it as the social center, our first purpose has been to provide a meeting place for students and faculty and a place where they might entertain their friends and guests. To this end the room was equipped with easy chairs, divans, tables, rugs, and draperies. Our second purpose has been to provide a suitable place for holding evening functions such as receptions, dancing parties, and mixers.

The social center was not intended to be used for dancing parties thru the day. Occasional dancing by a few persons might not have been objectionable, but the extent of the practice the last few days has made it impossible to use the room as a place to rest and to entertain guests.

It is therefore necessary to ask students to refrain from using the hall for dancing thru the day, except where special permission is granted under exceptional circumstances.

Dean Mary P. Van Zile will act as hostess of the social center, assisted by Doctor Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., as host.

Those having charge of preparing the social center for an evening function will have access to the room at five o'clock unless special permission is granted for earlier use.—W. M. Jardine, president.

MINSTREL SHOW BIG FEATURE

EX-SERVICE MEN PLANNING BOX SOCIAL FOR FEBRUARY 14

Modern Costumes Art to be Tabooed —Prize Will be Given to Couple That Has Most Unique Outfit

The most unique box social of the season will be given about February 14, in the social center by the ex-service men's club of the college.

The girls' organizations of the college are being asked to cooperate in making it one of the biggest affairs of the season. A minstrel show will be given. Those who have had experience in a minstrel are asked to report to Donald Thayer, chairman of the program committee.

Modern costumes are to be tabooed. Every one is asked to dress in some ancient costume. A prize will be offered to the couple having the most unique costumes. A prize will also be offered for the best box. Every one is asked to start preparation now.

FORMER K. S. A. C. MEN HAVE REUNION IN CHICAGO

Meet with Dean Potter and Talk over Experiences

During Dean Potter's visit to Chicago recently a number of the engineering alumni of K. S. A. C. took this opportunity to get together. The alumni and Dean Potter met at the Manhattan hotel and had dinner, after which they went to the Auditorium hotel and enjoyed several hours of talking over personal experiences and recent happenings at the college.

The alumni present were John Schaefle of the General Electric company; H. G. Schultz, '19, and Jesse A. Cooke, '19, of the Commonwealth Edison Light and Power company; Harold E. Rowe and F. Y. Linn of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company; and E. R. Cook, '12, W. A. Lathrop, '14, Victor Whiteside, '14, D. C. Tate, '16, Horace A. Williams, '17, and Thornton Foreman, '19, all of the Western Electric company.

WILL BE BACK JAN. 24.—AGGIE STUDENTS TO GET BETTER MUSIC

That good music that we heard at Johnny's on Saturday afternoon and night, January 3, is coming back.

This orchestra, consisting of five pieces, will give better music than has been enjoyed by Aggie dancers this year. The pep and enthusiasm shown at last Saturday's dance when over 400 persons shouted for more, shows how the students regard this orchestra.

The first student dance at which this orchestra will play will be given Saturday night, January 24. This dance comes on the day school closes for the first semester.

The five men of the orchestra are all musical artists. All are from Lawrence. They are: Dick Fox, piano; Kenneth Bates, saxophone; Tim Mickey, banjo; Ashbey Kirkpatric, violin; and Frank Roark, traps.

MISS KIMMEL RECEIVES PRAISE FROM MICHIGAN

Paper Says Aggie Teacher's Voice Is Superb

To go back to the "old home town" and find it more appreciative than ever of one's talent was the experience of Miss Katherine Kimmel of the music department when she spent her Christmas vacation in Battle Creek, Mich.

While in Battle Creek Miss Kimmel sang at the midnight service of the Episcopal church and assisted with the Christmas music at the Congregational church. The Battle Creek Inquirer has this to say in regard to Miss Kimmel's musical ability.

"Among the contraltos, chief interest perhaps attended the appearance of Miss Katherine Kimmel. Owing to the fact that she is a member of the faculty at Manhattan, Kansas, her voice is seldom heard here. Miss Kimmel has developed a greater resonance of voice than ever before and her rendition of 'He Was Despised and Rejected' was superb."

K. FRATERNITY SELLING TICKETS

TO CANVASS ALL FACULTY MEMBERS TODAY AND TOMORROW

Tickets Will Be Sold in Main Hall Thursday and Friday—Seats To Be Reserved at Athletic Office

The K. fraternity men are carrying on a basket ball ticket selling campaign this week.

Today and tomorrow they will canvass the faculty members. Every building on the hill will be visited not a professor can escape being interviewed.

Thursday and Friday the boys will sell tickets in Main hall. Anyone wishing to have seats reserved may do so by going to Coach Clevenger's office.

MORE NAKED TRUTH

Another scandal sheet has made its appearance on the college campus. But this time it was a scandal sheet that is a degredation to the students for it gives outsiders a wrong view of K. S. A. C.

The person who wrote the scandal sheet evidently had an abnormal mind for no person with good common sense of decency would write such articles as the "Naked Truth" contained.

It is a pity that Aggie students should daily have to rub elbows with this person who issued the paper. If we knew that person, he would certainly be scorned by all self-respecting students, but as it is we must meet him every day and give him a smile that should be a kick.

It is hoped that the editor of this sheet will be found. And when he is pointed out, there should be only one thing left for him to do—and that is to leave school before he is expelled.

Mrs. George Robertson and son, Vernon, of Washington, Kansas, arrived Friday for a week end visit with Miss Ada Robertson at the Delta Zeta house.

Professors Gates, Davis, and Melchers returned Saturday from St. Louis, where they attended a meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Science.

Doctor Emmerson will speak at vespers Thursday afternoon.

CONSTITUTION IS SUBMITTED A THIRD TIME

SELF-GOVERNING ASSOCIATION TO BE RECONSTRUCTED

VOTED ON FRIDAY, JANUARY 16

All Organizations Are Urged to Study Constitution and be Ready to Act on It Next Friday

All organizations and groups are urged to study and discuss the self-governing constitution, proposed by the student council, and be ready to act on it at the student assembly on Friday, January 16.

Any questions in regard to the constitution that any group or individual may have can be referred to a member of the student council or to Professor Emerson, Dean Kent, or Professor Brainard.

Preamble

This constitution and by-laws are adopted for the purpose of placing the control and advancement of student interests and activities in the hands of the student body itself, with the firm belief that this arrangement will cause an increased self-control, resulting in higher ideals and better cooperation, and that officers of sufficient wisdom and maturity can be found so that appeal to college authorities shall be unnecessary.

Article I—Membership and Dues

Section 1. All students enroled in the registrar's office under any department of the college shall be eligible for membership.

Section 2. All students desiring to become members of the association shall pay a membership fee of two dollars ($2.00) which shall include a one dollar and a half ($1.50) yearly subscription to the Kansas State Collegian, the official student paper, and fifty cents (.50) dues in the association. (b) Present subscribers to the Kansas State Collegian shall pay twenty-five cents (.25) for membership in the student association for the remainder of the 1919-20 school year. (c) Non-subscribers shall pay one dollar twenty-five cents ($1.25); one dollar (1.00) for the Collegian and twenty-five cents (.25) dues for the association for the remainder of the 1919-20 school year. (d) Special dues to include admission to student activities may be fixed for any one semester or year by a favorable vote of two-thirds of the members enroled at the time of voting. Such action shall be taken at the time of the annual election in the fall or at the mid-year business meeting. (e) Dues may be reduced or remitted in special cases by unanimous consent of the members of the executive council present at any regular business meeting of the council. (f) The moneys of the association shall be held in trust by the business office of the college, subject to payment by the order of the proper authorities of the association.

Section 3. No person shall be admitted as a voting member of a subsidiary organization sending representatives to the executive council as hereinafter provided unless such person is a member of the association.

Article II—Meetings

Section 1. The executive council of the previous year shall meet on the second Wednesday after the opening of classes in the fall and organize for the purpose of making up the membership roll and arranging for the regular business meeting of the association.

Section 2. A regular business meeting of the entire association shall be held on the third Wednesday after the opening of classes in th fall, for the nomination of officers for that year, to arrange for the time of the election of the president and vice president and to transact any other business that may lawfully come before the association.

Section 3. A mid-year business meeting of the entire association shall be held on the second Wednesday after the opening of classes for the second semester. Other meetings shall be held upon the call of the president, a majority of the execu-

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?

What is the matter with the college, the city, the state, and the United States these days?

The United States is in the same condition as all other countries. Perhaps this will help:

Too many diamonds, not enough alarm clocks.

Too many silk shirts, not enough blue flannel ones.

Too many pointed-toed shoes, and not enough square-toed ones.

Too many serge suits and not enough overalls.

Too much decollete and not enough aprons.

Too many satin-upholstered limousines and not enough cows.

Too many customers and not enough producers.

Too Much oil stock and not enough savings accounts.

Too much envy of the results of hard work and too little desire to emulate it.

Too many desiring short cuts to wealth and too few willing to pay.

PRIZE MANUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

A narrative exposition, entitled "Qualification of a Journalist," won Milton Eisenhower membership in Quill club. The article is too long to publish in the regular edition of the Collegian. But here is a lyric poem which he has written for Quill:

OH, TO DIE

Oh grave that seems so friendly,
Oh God, who hast the key,
Please let me enter thither,
For I am want to die.

Oh why, when life is worthless,
When all one's friends are gone,
And time is not worth living,
Oh why can one not die?

When graves appear so homelike,
So cozy and so warm,
When earth seems like a mother,
Oh why can one not die?

When college friends get tiresome,
Unreal and out of place,
When laughter turns to sorrow,
Oh why can one not die?

'Tis said that only old men,
Who live so many years,
Get tired of all about them,
And wish that they might die.

'Tis said that only those men,
For whom success has waned,
Become so tired and lonesome,
And wish that they might die.

'Tis said that bright young fellows,
Whose lives are full of cheer,
Should eat and sleep and chatter,
And should not wish to die.

'Tis told by many people,
That we were born in sin,
That we should live and prosper,
And should not wish to die.

They add that life's long problem,
Is bett'ring oneself for God,
That we should look to the Maker,
And fit ourselves to die.

They say that death is pleasure,
When one's prepared to go,
That life has all been written,
And set when each should die.

Then what should one as I do,
When scorned by all my friends,
Yet know that God has said it,
And know I can not die.

My sin was but a small one,
Compared to that of Jim's,
Now Jim has want for laughter,
But I have want to die.

My mother's scold is silent,
My dad's face shows no scorn,
Yet both, I know, are hurt so,
That now I wish to die.

Success has spread before me,
And fame is at my door,
And yet I dare not open,
For I am want to die.

With home and friends put from me,
And sin upon my face,
I must not take the pleasures
That mock my wish to die.

Oh grave that seems so friendly,
Oh God who hast the key,
Please let me enter thither,
For I am want to die.

tive council, or a written petition of 100 of the members of the association.

Section 4. Notice of all regular and called meetings shall be published in the official paper at least one week before the date of the meeting.

Section 5. Ten per cent of the members of this association shall constitute a quorum.

Article III—Officers

Section 1. The officers of this association shall be a president and a vice president elected by the association, and a secretary and a treasurer elected by the executive council as hereinafter provided.

Section 2. The president shall be chosen from those members of the association who have been enroled in the college for at least two full semesters. The vice president shall be chosen from those members of the association who have been enroled in the college for at least two full semesters and who are not candidates for graduation that year.

Article IV—Election of Officers

Section 1. The time for the election of the president and vice president of the association shall be fixed at the first business meeting of the year. These officers shall be chosen by vote of all members of the student association at the general election held at the time so fixed. Voting shall be by ballot. The polls shall remain open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Section 2. Candidates for the office of president and vice president shall be nominated at the first business meeting of the school year. If more than two persons are nominated for either office, a primary election to select the final candidates shall be held. The two persons receiving the highest number of votes for each office shall be the final candidates for that office.

Section 3. The primary election shall be held not less than two days after the first regular business meeting of the year and not less than two days before the time fixed by the association for the final election.

Section 4. For the primary election voting shall be by ballot. The polls shall remain open from 8:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Article V—Executive Council

Section 1. Membership. The executive council of the Student Self-governing association shall consist of eighteen members who shall hold their offices until their successors are elected and qualified. The membership shall be as follows: The president and vice president of the association. Two members from each of the college classes; one from the literary society council; one from the men's Pan-Hellenic; one from the women's Pan-Hellenic; one from the men's athletic council; one from the women's athletic council; one from the Y. W. C. A. cabinet; one from the Y. M. C. A. cabinet; and one from the school of agriculture. All members above mentioned except the president and vice president shall be elected by the organizations which they represent at the first meeting of these organizations following the regular annual fall meeting of the association. The juniors and seniors shall re-elect at least one of the persons representing them the previous year.

Section 2. Organizations. (a) The president and vice president of the student association shall be the president and vice president of the executive council and shall perform such duties as may be required by this constitution and by-laws and such as usually pertain to those offices. (b) The secretary of the executive council shall be chosen by that body from among its members and shall also act as secretary of the student association and perform the usual duties pertaining to that office. (c) The treasurer of the student association shall be selected by the executive council. He shall perform his duties as outlined by the executive council and shall make a report to the entire association at the regular fall and mid-year meetings.

Section 3. Powers and Duties. The executive council shall be the supreme governing council of the student association. Its quorum shall consist of fifteen members and any action taken by a majority vote of the council at any regular or called meeting shall be binding on the entire association except when a referendum is taken. Regular meetings of the council shall be held once a month at such time as the council may decide. Other meetings may be called by the president or on petition of six members. Publication in one issue of the official student paper at least one full day before the meeting shall be sufficient notice of the meeting.

Article VI—Initiative

Section 1. Special meetings for the purpose of initiative, referendum, and recall shall be called upon written petition of 40 per cent of the members of the student association, providing the specific purpose of the meeting shall be embodied in the petition.

Section 2. Initiative. (a) Any member or committee of the association may initiate legislation by presenting it in writing to the executive council. If after 30 days the council refuses to pass or act upon the proposition, it may be brought before the association as above provided. (b) Any member of the association may propose legislation at any meeting of the association which when passed by a majority of those present shall become effective subject to the approval of the executive council.

Section 3. Referendum. Any action of the executive council may be annulled by vote of the association at any regular meeting or at special meetings as provided in Section 1 of this article.

Section 4. Recall. (a) The president or vice president of the association may be recalled as provided in Section 1 of this article. A vote of 60 per cent of the membership of the association shall be necessary to recall an officer. In case of the recall of an officer his successor shall be chosen as in regular election. (b) The other members of the executive council shall be subject to recall by action of the organizations by which they were chosen.

Article VII—Committees

Section 1. There shall be standing committees on discipline, finance, social affairs, calendar, school spirit or pep, points and Collegian board. Other temporary or standing committees may be provided for from time to time as occasion demands.

Section 2. All chairmen of committees shall be appointed by the executive council. Each chairman shall then submit a list of members desired for his committee, which list shall be ratified by the executive council.

Section 3. Discipline Committees. The discipline committee shall consist of five members composed of at least one member from each college class. (a) The committee shall investigate the needs of the student body and recommend legislation to the executive council. (b) They shall provide means for informing all members as to rules and regulations and shall endeavor to enforce same by all legitimate means. (c) They shall sit as a court for determining the facts in cases brought before them and the chairman of the committee shall determine the penalty and the time and conditions of infliction. But an appeal may be taken from either the decision of the court or the penalty imposed to the executive council. The vote of the council shall be binding except by veto of the faculty council as hereinafter provided.

Section 4. Finance committee. The finance committee shall make up the budget of expenses of the association and recommend to the executive council a distribution of funds to the various departments. The finance committee in cooperation with the president of the college shall provide for the keeping and auditing of all accounts.

Section 5. The social affairs committee. The committee on social affairs shall recommend to the executive council regulations concerning the social life of the students and shall refer to the discipline committee any cases where rules are violated.

Section 6. The calendar committee shall prepare a calendar of student affairs in advance for each semester endeavoring as far as possible to prevent conflicting dates. It shall be the duty of any group or organization of students to secure the approval of the calendar committee for the date of any proposed student affair or event.

Section 7. The school spirit committee shall cooperate with other agencies in welcoming and looking after new students and visitors; in advertising the college to prospective students and in developing active support for general student activities.

Section 8. The committee on Kansas State Collegian, the official paper, shall have control of the publication and distribution of the official paper of the student association and shall appoint all necessary officers and arrange all plans in connection therewith. The head of the journalism department shall be a member of this committee. The Collegian shall be published in the plant of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Article VIII—Faculty Approval

All actions of the executive council, or committees, or the entire association shall be considered valid and binding upon all students unless they shall be disapproved by the faculty and president by the following procedure. (1) The secretary of the executive council shall send a certified copy of each action of the council or student association, at once, to the secretary of a faculty committee on student affairs. (2) In case of disapproval of any act the secretary of the faculty committee on student affairs shall send written notice to the president of the student council of the disapproval and the reasons therefor. (3) A joint session shall then be called of the faculty committee on student affairs and the executive council of the student association for the purpose of effecting a compromise. (4) In case no agreement can be decided upon, the matter shall be referred to the president of the college, whose decision shall be final.

Artcile IX — Adoption and Amendment

Section 1. After the adoption of this constitution all student committees, boards, council organizations, etc., now in operation shall continue to function until such time as the executive council or the association by proper action shall displace such committee, board, council organization, or other body and provide that the duties formerly delegated to them shall be performed by committees appointed under this constitution.

Section 2. This constitution or by-laws may be amended by a two-thirds vote of those present at any meeting of the association called for such purpose provided notice has been given of the meeting at least two weeks in advance and provided that the proposed amendment has been published in two issues of the official paper of the student association

Section 3. Amendments may be proposed by the executive council when a majority of the council favors such action. Any member of the student association may propose amendments which shall be presented in writing to the executive council. If the proposed amendment receives a majority approval of the council it shall then be placed before the student association in the regular manner.

Article X

Section 1. The constitution, by-laws, and all legislation enacted under this constitution shall be available in pamphlet form. All amendments and new rules shall be printed in the Kansas State Collegian at least once each semester of the year in which they are enacted.

MARSHALL THEATRE
FRIDAY NIGHT, JANUARY 16

In "Poor Mama!" Miss Friganza poses as an unmarried woman to numerous admirers, although the author has made her out a widow with five children. Her endeavors to prove herself unemcumbered by progeny make for the nucleus of a plot which is said to be riotously funny.

The book was written by Elmer Harris, co-author of "Canary Cottage" and "So Long, Letty," while the catchy song numbers are the work of Jean Havez.

Included among the musical hits are: "Under the Syrian Sky," "The Silver Lining," "If You Love Me Close Your Eyes," "The Movie Alphabet," and "Eyes."

Manager Thomas O'Day has given the roly-poly comedienne an excellent supporting cast. One of the features of the production is an exceedingly jazzy jazz orchestra.

VOL. XXVI | KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 16, 1920 | NO. 33

HAVE THREE HOURS' DRILL IN MILITARY

THE DEPARTMENT CHANGES ITS PLANS FOR NEXT SEMESTER

DRILL ALL ON ONE DAY NOW

Will Also Have Machine Gun Platoon —Bayonet Work To Be Started Colonel Terrel Announces

Beginning with the second semester many changes are to be made in the military department. There will be three hours of drill instead of the two hours, as at present.

The first battalion will drill on Monday morning from eight to eleven, and the second battalion will drill from one to four. Combining the drill periods in this manner and the addition of an extra hour will enable the rookies to have field tactics and to work out field problems.

Have Bayonet Work

There will be bayonet work and practice on the target range. Everyone will be given work on the target range just as soon as the weather will permit.

Machine Gun Platoon

In addition to this new work there will be organized a machine gun platoon in each battalion with fifty men in each platoon. The Browning and the Colt machine guns will be available for this use. Colonel Terrell desires that all ex-service men, who have had experience in machine gun work, enroll in this course next semester, so that they may be used as instructors for the men who have had no experience.

TWO PRIZES ARE TO BE AWARDED

TEN DOLLARS OFFERED FOR BEST PUMP HOUSE PLAN

Sophomore Architects to Work on Problem—House Will Be Made of Stone and Will Cover Area of 200 Square Feet

A prize of $10 will be awarded for the best plans for a pump house to be erected over the new wells at the main east gate of the campus on Bluemont avenue. Five dollars will be offered for the second best plans.

The new wells were driven this fall near the old wells and the pump house that has been standing near the Bluemont entrance for many years. It is the plan to cover the wells and pumping machinery with a small house which will add to the beauty of the campus.

This is a problem for the sophomore architects alone and the only requirements necessary are that it must be made of stone, have an area of 200 square feet, and the plans must be handed in by the end of the semester so that they may be judged.

GLEE CLUB WILL GIVE VAUDEVILLE

EIGHT ACTS OF SNAPPY ENTERTAINMENT TO BE PRESENTED

Girls' Glee Club Will Assist Boys in Staging Monologues, Quartettes, Dancing, and Hawaiian Acts

Eight acts of snappy vivacious vaudeville will be staged Friday, January 30, by the men's glee club under the direction of Prof. A. L. Lovejoy. The vaudeville is being put on by the men's glee club, but the members of the girls' glee club are assisting. The talent which has shown up in the two clubs, assures a clever performance.

The majority of the acts to be given have been patterned after acts which have proven popular on regular vaudeville circuits. One of the acts to be given, "The Maids of Killarney" is original with the music department here. The nature of the acts ranges from dancing, monologues, quartets, and singing bands, to an unusually attractive Hawaiian act in which Mr. Tseu, the Hawaiian member of the glee club, will take an important part. The management also promises a minstrel act that is different. The acts are from seven to twenty minutes in length.

A sixteen piece orchestra, under the direction of Professor Wheeler will accompany the vaudeville acts.

ORANGE BASKTEBALL TEAM IS AHEAD IN TOURNAMENT

Elven Teams Chosen by Chance—Games to Continue Through February

The Orange team has won all the games it has played so far in the girls' color team basketball tournament. It now stands in the lead.

There are eleven teams. All of the teams were chosen by chance. The tournament has been going a short time and will continue through February.

The girls for the regular basket ball teams will be chosen from the players on these color teams. The girls are taking a great deal of interest in these games.

SOCIETIES WILL GIVE PLAY SOON

TRYOUTS TO BE HELD SATURDAY BETWEEN ONE AND FOUR

Mrs. Bowman Has Charge of the Tryouts and Will Direct the Play —All Literary Members Urged to Try

There is to be an intersociety play given by representatives of all the literary societies in college. The name of the play has not been decided upon yet and the date has not been set.

The tryouts will be held Saturday, January 17, from 1 to 4 o'clock in Professor Emerson's office. Mrs. Bowman has charge of the tryouts and will direct the play when the characters are chosen .

Miss Irene Graham is the chairman of the intersociety play committee.

LEGION TO TAKE S. A. T. C. MEN

NEW ORDERS FROM HEADQUARTERS INCLUDE STUDENT SOLDIERS

All Aggies Who Were in the Training Corps Should Join the Manhattan Post of the American Legion

Former members of the Student Army Training Corps are eligible to membership in the American Legion, according to information given out by national headquarters. Men upon entering the S. A. T. C. were enlisted in active service of the United States army and subject to all regulations of the war department and designated by the war department as being in the military service of the Government; hence their eligibility to the American Legion.

All Aggie men who were in the S. A. T. C. should join the Manhattan post of the American Legion at once. The Legion is getting into student and town activities and everyone who was in the army should be anxious to belong to the organization.

MILITARY MEN WILL HAVE SOME PARTIES

Battalions Will Elect Lady Sponsors for Social Work

There will be more social affairs in the military department during the next few weeks than there have been in the past. Each company will elect several lady sponsors who will form a committee that will cooperate with the men in arranging for the various social affairs.

The second battalion is planning to have a battalion dance the first of next semester.

Miss Helen Rannells was a dinner guest at the Pi Phi house Sunday.

Aggie Co-eds Make Cameras Click at General Pershing

"Don't make them stand back, I want to get over by these pretty girls," said General Pershing as he smiled at the group of Aggie co-eds who were eagerly trying to push through the crowd to get a picture of him.

The guard had been having difficulty keeping the crowd back at the Funston station to see the general. At the words of the general the girls crowded forward.

The group of college girls were near the car that was to take General Pershing to the zone to see the review. He walked up to them and talked.

"Do you want to take my picture? Well I guess I can stand it if you can." He laughed and then stood while the cameras clicked.

"Write your names on the picture and send it to me." He waved at the girls and was gone.

PROMOTION IN R.O.T.C. SOON

MORE OFFICERS AND HIGHER RANKS ARE NEEDED

Changing of Work and Forming of Machine Gun Unit Necessitates Addition of More Officers— Two Vacancies To Be Filled at Once

During the next few weeks many promotions are to be made in the R. O. T. C.

The reorganization of the work for next semester and the forming of the machine gun unit will necessitate the addition of more officers than have been needed in the past and also officers of higher rank than are in the organization at present.

Among the promotions that may be expected are the following: one lieutenant colonel, three captains, several first and second lieutenants and noncommissioned officers.

Two captains will graduate this semester, making two vacancies which will have to be filled immediately. It will pay all those who aspire to promotion, to keep on their toes in the next few weeks.

AGGIE CENTER HAS WITHDRAWN TO ENTER BUSINESS

Fullington, Star Center on Champion Team in 1917

Aggie basket ball followers missed "Slim" Fullington Saturday when the Aggies met the Army. "Slim" was a member of the championship team in 1917. After serving in the army he had returned to K. S. A. C. and was booked to play center with the Aggie quintet this year. But "Slim" has withdrawn from school to enter business.

His withdrawal will probably cause a change in lineup for future games. However, Coach Clevenger is fortunate in having two other centers who can fill "Slim's" shoes.

STOCK JUDGING EXPERT TO GIVE LECTURE TO STUDENTS

All Agriculturists Are Urged to be Present

B. H. Rawly assistant chief of the United States bureau of animal industry, will give an address in the stock judging pavilion of the college next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Rawly is a national authority on the dairying industry. He is also known throughout the country as an exponent of live stock production. All students in agriculture are especially urged to attend this lecture.

To Deliver Addresses

President W. M. Jardine will give two addresses before the council of administration of the Kansas State Teachers' association, Friday and Saturday of this week.

His address before the general session is "Bolshevism and the Attitude Schools of Technology Should Assume Towards It." His address before the board of education session is entitled "How Shall the Supply of Teachers for Our Schools be Maintained?"

Andrew Axline spent the week end in Wichita.

AGGIES READY FOR GRINNELL IN CAGE FIGHT

FIRST CONFERENCE GAMES TODAY AND TOMORROW

HAVE LAST YEAR'S PLAYERS

Aggie Baskeball Followers Look to the Games with Grinnell as Fair Test of Their Quintet's Skill

Aggie basketball followers are not willing to take the score which their quintet piled against the army team last week as a fair test of skill, but are waiting to see results of the first Missouri Valley games of the season when Grinnell college will meet K. S. A. C. on the Nichols court Friday and Saturday evenings.

The Aggie five that will line up against Grinnell will be the same that carried away honors last year—with the exception of Clark. Aggies are inclined to believe that Clark was the mainstay of the team. A game against a strong opponent will show whether their dope is right or not.

In the line up Friday evening Hinds and Bunger will take their positions as forwards, Jennings at Center and the Cowell athletes, Everett, and Warren, as guards.

SATURDAY NIGHT STUDENTS'DANCE

GIVEN IN RECREATION HALL BY STUDENTS' COUNCIL

Admission To Be Only Large Enough To Cover Expenses—Wheelers' Orchestra Will Furnish The Music

Every Saturday night a students' dance will be given in the college recreation hall. The students' council will have complete charge of these weekly dances.

The exact amount of admission which is to be charged has not been decided upon. However the council president said that the charges would be only large enough to cover the actual expenses.

Johnnie Harrison will still have the regular Saturday evening dances as usual. By having two places for the students to dance on Saturday evenings, there will be plenty of room for every one.

The music is to be furnished by Wheeler's five piece orchestra.

TO SEND ORATOR TO DES MOINES

ORATORICAL CONTEST OF PI KAPPA DELTA THERE

Local Chapter Decided to Hold a Tryout for Their Orators on February 15—Held April 1

This college will be represented at the oratorical contest of the Pi Kappa Delta, debating fraternity, at its national convention which will be held at Sioux City, Iowa, from March 30 to April 1.

The local chapter decided to hold a tryout for its orators February 15. Several members are already working on orations and competition to be the representative orator will be keen. The representative orator will also probably be a member of the debate team which will go to Ames during the same week for the dual debate between Ames and K. S. A. C.

Mr. Shorthorn is Ready for Every Good Bargain Sale

Oh Mr. Shorthorn have you bought those tickets yet?

Yes, there are more advertising agents on this campus than good sense. They peddle their goods with the schrewdness of Ikie, the Jew.

All the Vets and the A. H. men have tickets to sell, even the Betas are selling, at a bargain, reserved seats to the Beta Pig dinner. For any loyal hearted Aggie would hate to have his brother, Mr. Shorthorn, get left out on any of the campus side shows of imagination.

Now, Brother Hayseed can only be with us for a few weeks and he must be initiated into the realms of higher learning. This bunch of Shorties have a nice fat bank roll which they are using to educate themselves socially as well as mentally.

They have bought tickets to gym labs, campusology side shows, chapel, the state beanery and the Beta Pig dinner.

They are not stingy, they have bought tickets for everything. Theirs is to be a broad well rounded education. Their motto is see it all in 48 days.

DELTA TAU IS IN LEAD NOW

OVER HALF OF FRATERNITY BASKETBALL IS PLAYED

Some Games Have Been Mighty Good —Several Varsity Players Are on Teams—Large Crowds Attend

Approximately half of the fraternity basketball schedule has been played. The exceptional brand of basketball played and the enthusiasm shown speaks well for Aggie basketball pep.

Unusually large crowds have witnessed the games, some of which have rivaled Varsity games in their spectacular features. Several Varsity players who have not yet won their letters and some freshman Varsity men appear on the line-ups of various teams. The team standing is as follows:

Delta Tau	1000
Kappa Sig	750
Pi Kap	750
Beta	666
Alpha Psi	500
Sig Eps	333
Sig Alphs	250
Acacia	000

COLLEGE TEAM TO STOCK SHOW

JUDGING MEN WILL ENTER CONTEST AT DENVER

Horlacher, Guilbert, Pearson, Thompson, Neal, and Welsh Are Making Trip—Seven Teams Compete

The college stock judging team left last night for Denver where the men will enter the stock judging contest of the Western National Stock show, to be held next Saturday.

The team is composed of W. R. Horlacher, H. R. Guilbert, N. Pearson, K. B. Thompson, P. E. Neal, and I. G. Welsh. With the exception of Horlacher and Guilbert this is the same team that represented the college at the International Stock show at Chicago last December. The team will compete with the teams of about six other colleges. Among these will be the team from Texas A. and M,. which took first place at the International.

AGGIE TEACHER HAS THREE POEMS IN 1919 MAGAZINE

Prof. N. A. Crawford Is Again Named by Big Publication

Three poems by N. A. Crawford, professor of journalism, appear in William Stanley Braithwaite's "Anthology of Magazine Verse for 1919." The three peoms selected by Braithwaite, typical of the best modern free verse, are "Trees," "In the Key of Blue," and "Comrades and Lovers, Rest Not," the last being a complete, majestic intepretation of Whitman. The "Anthology" also contains a brief biographical note concerning Professor Crawford.

Attended Banquet

Prof. E. L. Holton, Prof. J. W. Searson, Dean H. L. Kent, and Prof. W. H. Andrews attended te annual meeting and banquet of the Kansas School Masters' club which was held in Topeka Thursday evening. They will also attend the sessions of the council of administration.

EDITORS OF NAKED TRUTH SUSPENDED

SCANDAL SHEET WAS PUT OUT BY TWO MEN

DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE GOT'EM

Some Stories in the "Naked Truth" Gave Outsiders Wrong View of College—Wasn't Good Ethics

The college disciplinary committee yesterday called the editors of the "Naked Truth," the scandal sheet which made its appearance on the campus last Saturday, up "on the carpet." Today they were expelled by Pres. W. M. Jardine.

The paper was edited by two men, one a sophomore and one a senior. A good scandal sheet with takeoffs on the faculty has never been opposed by the college, but this sheet showed poor judgement on the part of the editors and it gave outsiders a wrong impression of K. S. A. C.

The suspension of these men from the college should be a warning to all who have ever done things that are not in accordance with college ethics.

FROSH TO HAVE MIXER IN GYM.

MEETING OF FIRST YEAR STUDENTS STARTED THINGS

To Have Individual Pictures in Class Book Instead of Group Picture as Has Been Done Before

The freshmen finally had a successful meeting.

It was held Tuesday evening. The class decided to have individual pictures taken for the Royal Purple instead of the group picture that the freshmen have always had before.

The first year students will have a big mixer on January 27, probably in the gymnasium if it is possible to get in between semesters.

AMERICAN LEGION PUTTING ON MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Every Man Who Doesn't Get a New Member to be Fined a Dollar

The Pearce-Kellar post of the American legion is going to have an oyster stew. The post has been divided into two equal teams with Arthur Brewer and Roy A. Seaton as captains. The team obtaining the largest number of new members will be entertained by the losing team. All members who do not get at least one new member will be fined one dollar which will go into the general fund.

POPULAR ONES CHOSEN JAN. 19

NO NOMINATIONS TO BE MADE FOR POPULAR GIRLS

Election Will Last Two Days—Every Person Who Buys a Royal Purple Will Be Given One Vote In Contest

The popularity contest for the Royal Purple will be held Monday and Tuesday, January 19 and 20. Every person who buys a Royal Purple will be given one vote in the contest.

In order to eliminate politics as far as possible, the staff has decided that there will be no nominations. Each person is asked to cast his vote for the girl he considers the most popular girl in college. The six girls receiving the highest number of votes will have their pictures in the popularity section of the class book.

The Royal Purple will give a popularity ball at the community house January 23. At this ball the winners of the contest will be announced.

FOR THE BAND

The band concert given at the auditorium Saturday evening displayed not only the ability of the band, and of the director, Prof. Harold Wheeler, but also theattitude of the students this year toward all activities of the college.

The musical organizations of the college must, necessarily, put in a lot of hard work in order to obtain the finish and excellence of technique shown by the band at the concert Saturday. The support of the student body is a great incentive to further endeavor. The concerts will all be given as early in the evening as possible so that they will not conflict with other social engagements.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Birthday Party

Miss Marion Harrison and Miss Josephine Perry gave a surprise birthday party for Miss Katherine Kimmel, Thursday evening. The guests were entertained at three tables of cards, then refreshments of hot fudge sundae and birthday cake were served.

Freshmen A. T. C. Entertain

The freshmen of the Alpha Theta Chi fraternity entertained the senior members last Friday evening. The seniors were escorted to the show, and while they were there the freshmen prepared refreshments which were enjoyed by all upon their return. E. F. Stalcup, member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, gave a short talk.

Social Club

The Social club held its first meeting since November, Monday afternoon at three o'clock in the recreation hall in Anderson. A program consisting of a group of songs of Mrs. E. B. Keith and Mrs. Riddlebarger, and a group of piano numbers by Miss Alma Bauersfeld were given. Refreshments of cakes, tea, and mints were served during the afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. Harold Simonds, Mrs. J. E. Ackert, Mrs. L. E. Call, Mrs. F. F. Frazier, Mrs. F. E. Alder, Mrs. M. W. Furr, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. J. S. Hughes, Mrs. Olson, and Dr. Jean Bogert. The Social club is an organization of faculty ladies.

Exchange With Missouri

The K. S. A. C. herbarium, which is in charge of Dr. F. C. Gates, has recently established exchange relations with the Missouri botanical gardens at St. Louis. This is an important step in the establishment of the herbarium here, as heretofore the exchanges have been made almost entirely with individual collections.

Acacia Initiation

Saturday afternoon at the Masonic hall the Acacia fraternity held initiation ceremonies for Dean A. A. Potter and Dr. J. E. Kammeyer.

Seven O'clock Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. G. L. Tetrick entertained with a seven o'clock dinner, Sunday evening. Covers were laid for Miss Margaret Enlow, Miss Elizabeth Greenleigh, Miss Helen Rahe, Miss Frances Deacon, Miss Irene Conroy, and Miss Lillian Grubbe.

Sunday Dinner Guests

Sunday was brother day at the Iota Psi house. The guests were Paul Dakin, Emmet Graham, Herbert McClelland, Harold Hoots, and Dudley Bentley.

Chemical Society Met

The Willard Chemical society met Monday evening at 7:30 in C 27.

Dr. H. H. King gave an interesting and instructive talk on "The Surface Tension," and Percy Cocherill read a paper on "Match Making." After the program a business meeting was held to elect the new officers for the coming term. They are as follows: President, Claire Downing; vice president, Sam I. Thackery; secretary, Gladys Hartly; treasurer, Nelson Anderson; marshal, Bill Forney. After this the meeting adjourned till the second Monday in February.

Theta Chi Gamma Dinner

Theta Chi Gamma, honorary general science fraternity, entertained with a dinner party at the Pines Tuesday evening. Covers were laid for the following guests: Miss Lee Winter, Miss Marcia Seeber, Miss Marvel Merillat, Miss Clementine Paddleford, Miss Myra Scott, Miss Grace Gish, Miss Mabel Troutfetter, Miss Ione Leith, Miss Margaret Armantrout, and Miss Marguerite Hammerly.

Norman Hem and Chuck Shafstoff of Lawrence were week end guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Mrs. J. E. Miller of Salina, spent the week end at the Pi Phi house with her daughter, Marguerite Miller.

Miss Hendricks and Miss Gilbert were dinner guests at the Pi Phi house Thursday.

Miss Louise Avery of Wichita, was a dinner guest at the Pi Phi house Saturday.

Miss Ruth Sankey of the library spent the week end at her home in Lawrence.

Tuesday dinner guests at the Iota Psi house were Miss Kneeland, Miss Ling, Miss Kimmel, and Miss Sullivan.

"First Hand Impressions of the Kansas Coal Strike" by Walter Burr, Sunday 7:30 p. m., Congregational church. 1t

The college section of the Methodist Sunday school will have its picture takn, Sunday morning during the Sunday school hour. All members are asked to be present.

A smoker will be given at the community house, Friday evening, January 16, at 8 o'clock for all vocational men. Be there men and get acquainted with the other fellows. Refreshments will be served.

Prof. H. W. Cave was in Wichita the first of the week investigating the death of some cattle, supposedly due to eating spoiled silage.

Prof. W. E. Peterson of the dairy department, was in Miltonvale Wednesday, conducting farmers' institute.

Prof. F. W. Atkinson of the dairy department was in Council Grove Thursday, on college business.

Miss Lorna Boyce, former student in college who has been visiting in Manhattan, has returned to her home.

Miss Irene Dean, Y. W. C. A. secretary, returned Friday from Des Moines, Iowa, where she attended the student convention and also a Y. W. staff conference.

AGGIE KNOCKOUTS

The domestic science department picked up a stray cat a few days ago, and the second day it developed agonizing pains. A later examination showed the cause to be acute indigestion.

PRIZE MANUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

One man, Wayland Dunham, submitted a motion picture scenario to Quill. The name of it is "The Call of the Mountains." Mr. Dunham wrote the play several years ago. It was accepted and was produced, Alice Brady taking the leading part. The picture show came to Manhattan. The scenario, which occupies nearly 30 typewritten pages, is too long to run in the Collegian but the synoposis follows:

THE CALL OF THE MOUNTAINS

Arnold Bushman, the private seccretary of C. A. Gaynor, president of a large furniture house in New York, is sent west by the company to inspect a proposed lease of standing timber. At a party given in his honor the evening preceding his departure, he gains the hand of Margaret Stonehart, a haughty society beauty whom he thinks he loves. But she cares only for his money and social position.

Arriving at Timberdale, the western town near which the timber is located, he immediately starts on his tour of inspection. In the heat of the day, not used to hard manual labor and the excessive heat of the west, he succumbs to a sun stroke.

He is found by Alice Brandon, a mountain maiden and is taken to the house of her father, an old trapper. Here the battle for life or death is fought and won.

When convalescent, a new life opens up to this handsome young easterner. A great decision stands before him. He must either accept true love or go back to the old life of tinsel and social whirl: Which?

He realizes that Alice loves him; he knows he is attracted by her; yet the sacrifice is too great, he can't leave a life of success and brilliant social career for the love of a crude uncultured mountain maiden.

Rather than acquaint Alice with his decision he slips away in the night, leaving behind his note of farewell. Hers was the grief no one can describe.

But Arnold is spoiled to the east. Everything seems so artificial, so unreal, so false, the memory of Alice, the call of the mountains, and the cry of the wilderness haunts his soul.

On the evening of his return, at a masquerade ball, Arnold gets to see Margaret Stonehart as she really is. Very scantily dressed as a ballet dancer, she becomes intoxicated and takes such liberties with her companion that Arnold who is watching from his door, interferes, pulls off his mask and angrily rebukes her.

The shock of seeing Arnold when she had thought him to be miles away, brings her to her senses and in a mad frenzy, she screams into his face; tears off his ring; hurls it at him and rushes out of the room.

Arnold, disgusted with the whole thing, leaves for his home. On the way the vision of Alice in her lonely mountain home appears to him. He sees her eyes, red from crying, her cheeks wet with tears shed for him and her lips calling him back to the mountains and to her. He at last hears the call of true love and after writing a brief note to Gaynor, stating that he had lost his heart in the mountains, he starts west.

Gaynor understands and in consideration of Arnold's valuable service appoints him field manager of the company with his headquarters at Timberdale.

In the west, Arnold loses no time in finding Alice and telling her of his love. Undying love coupled with the news of Gaynor's appointment brings supreme happiness to two hearts that once beat far apart.

FARMERS WIN FIRST VALLEY B. B. GAMES

GRINNELL QUINTET DEFEATED TWICE BY AGGIES

FIRST GAME WAS 32 TO 5

Iowans Played in Second Game of Series and Home Men Only Won by a Small Margin of Five Points

The Aggie five won the two game series with the Grinnell quintet, last week. In the Friday game the visitors were defeated by a score of 32 to 5. In the second game the Aggie triumphed by a score of 20 to 15.

The attendance at both games was a surprise, all available space being taken. Promptly at 7:30 the whistle blew and the contest was on.

The First Game

The first few minutes of play were sufficient to show the Aggie superiority. The Clevenger combination got the ball from the tip off and by spectacular floor work soon advanced the ball under the Aggie goal where an Aggie forward dropped it in. This performance was repeated time after time.

The speed with which the Aggies passed, twisted, tossed, and dribbled thrilled the crowd. The uncanny way an Aggie man always appeared to grab the ball baffled the Iowans. The Clevenger style of basketball remained unsolved during the first game.

The Second Game

In the second game the Grinnell five started off with a rush, Evans, a Grinnell forward, throwing a basket in the first few minutes of play. The fast Iowa boy threw another from the middle of the court soon afterwards which kept Grinnell in the lead until the Aggie combination staged a spurt which gave them the lead.

The lineup:

The First Game

AGGIES	G	FT	F

ALPHA ZETA HAS 27 CHAPTERS

AGRICULTURAL FRATERNITY MAY GET NEW CHAPTERS

J. H. Parker, National Secretary of Honorary Agricultural Fraternity, Is Visiting Other Chapters

John H. Parker, who is national secretary of the Alpha Zeta fraternity, left Thursday night to visit the agricultural colleges at Ft. Collins, Colo.; Corvallis, Oregon; Pullman, Wash.; Moscow, Idaho; and Bozeman, Montana.

The trip will be made for the purpose of inspecting chapters already established and meeting with groups of students who are petitioning for chapters. The Alpha Zeta is a national honorary agricultural fraternity. There are twenty-seven chapters in state agricultural colleges and state universities of the United States.

The Kansas chapter was established 10 years ago. It was represented this year at the national conclave, at Chicago, by E. S. Lyons of the active chapter and Mr. Parker who is the national secretary.

AN INDEPENDENT COLLEGIAN.

The Kansas State Collegian does not come under the jurisdiction of the Student Self-governing association. The paper will continue to be governed by the Collegian board, the members of which are elected by subscribers of the paper.

This means that no one but a subscriber will have any say as to the paper's policy in either its editorial or business management. The editor still has the right to accept or refuse any article of news, as he sees fit.

The price of the Collegian next year will probably be twice the amount it would have been had every student been required to subscribe. The price will be at least $2.50. To one who belongs to the S. S. G. A. and subscribes for the Collegian, the total will be at least $3.00 whereas it would have been only $2 as proposed in the original constitution.

As was originally planned the Collegian would have been controlled by the S. S. G. A.

But the paper is glad to remain an independent organ. A college paper should be set off for its individuality and no paper could be individual and be controlled by the students. The Collegian this year has printed every piece of news that is worthy of a place in its columns and it will continue to do so with a discretion that will preserve its individuality.

BOXING ELECTED A MAJOR SPORT

NATIONAL COLLEGIATE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION PROMOTES ART

Captain Davidson Urges Men to Enrol in His Classes Early so That He May Have Them in Trim for Bouts

The National Collegiate Athletic association, which was in conference recently, adopted boxing as a major college sport and have set about to promote the fistic art of self defense in every way possible.

All men who expect to be in Aggie boxing squads next semester are requested to report to Capt. L. C. Davidson, boxing instructor.

Captain Davidson desires that the men enrol early so that he may have them in fighting trim for bouts to be staged soon. The squad will work out from four to six o'clock in the afternoon. New classes for the beginners will be organized and will meet in the afternoon also.

TO HAVE EXAMINATIONS FOR FIELD INSPECTION

Candidates Must Have Had Five Years Experience

E. C. Praxton in charge of the crop estimate work in Kansas, for the U. S. department of agriculture, spent Tuesday in Manhattan with the members of the agriculture department.

He spoke before the Klod and Kernel club on the subject, "Crop Estimates in Kansas." Mr. Praxton stated that if congress makes appropriations asked for that there will be civil service examinations given next July for positions in state field agents work. The candidate must have had five years farm experience, must be a graduate of an agricultural college with special training in statistical methods and must be 25 years old.

There will be no vesper services this week because of final examinations.

Even Old Dog Pi Sits and Mourns Because He's Shut up by a Scarlet Fever Sign

We were out last night,
But we won't go out no more
Cause Mr. Scarlet Fever sign
Is resting on our door.

The Pi Kappa Alpha harmony team was heard early Monday morning chanting this melody from the attic of the fraternity infirmary.

One week of man's cooking and man company will likely have the rest of them in bed. Baked beans and Mullegan Gulosh get tiresome when served three times every 48 hours for seven days. Even poker has been known to lose its charm.

Old Pi sits on the step and mourns, as only a dog knows how. For he too is quarantined. He can't even go down to Aggieville for a little spree with his dog pals.

The gang's all there penned up together, with the exception of Ross Smith. He's there too, only out of sight, tied up in a blanket and tucked into the guest room bed, for he is the cause of the trouble. He is the unlucky one that Mr. Scarlet fever germ lighted on.

The Pi K's are now sending out S. O. S. calls to all the sorority houses for pink rose buds, condolence notes, divinity, serenades, and midnight sneak dates. Of course they are not expecting the latter, it was only added for old time's sake.

Sunday night closed their fun in the realm of ladies. For one week they will live in nerve racking fraternal brotherhood behind the confining walls of their infirmary.

AGGIE TEAM TAKES FIRST AT CONTEST

JUDGING MEN TAKE THREE CASH PRIZES

K. B. THOMPSON IS HIGH MAN

Also Won Two Trophies out of Three —Took Three Cash Prizes—All of Five Aggies Among First Eight Placed

The Aggie stock judging team won first at the National Western Stock show held at Denver on January 17, by securing 3,427 out of a possible 5,000 points.

Nebraska placed second, Colorado third, and Wyoming fourth. K. D. Thompson, a member of the Farmer team, was high point man. All of the five men on the Kansas team placed among the first eight in the following order: Phil Neal, fourth; W. R. Horlicker, sixth; H. R. Guilbert, seventh; Nevil Pearson, eighth.

The Aggies took two out of the three trophies offered, and also won three cash prizes.

The success of the team is partly due to Prof. F. W. Bell who has faithfully coached the boys. The team took second at the International Swine Show at Des Moines and third at the International Stock Show at Chicago where 18 teams were entered. Professor Bell was with the Texas Agricultural college for a number of years and produced winning teams there.

BETTER ENGLISH IS NEWEST FAD

STUDENTS TRYING TO ABOLISH USE OF SLANG

Foreigners Say Americans Are Spoiling the English Language by Using Slang Phrases and Made Up Expressions

A campaign has been started among some of the students to abolish the use of slang and bad English among the students. No more will "ain't," "gee," and other common slang words be heard among this group of students, if the plan adopted proves a success.

Members of the group who use slang or bad English will be fined 25 cents or more according to the seriousness of the offense.

This campaign is similar to movements in many of the colleges all over the country and should be pushed by all of the students. The English language is one of the hardest languages to master. Foreigners coming to this country are astonished to see Americans degrading it by the use of slang phrases.

IONIANS TOOK THE $25 PRIZE

PI PHI PLACED SECOND FOR $15 PRIZE

Royal Purple Contest Closed—Ball Will Be Given for Girls Who Win Popularity Contest—Are Voting Today

The Ionian literary society made 226 points in the Royal Purple contest, winning first prize of $25. The Pi Beta Phi sorority placed second with 142 points, winning the $15 prize.

The standing of the other competing organizations is as follows: Alpha Beta, 118; Alpha Delta Pi, 105; Eurodelphian, 80; Browning, 64; Franklin, 39; Newman, 37; Athenian, 28; Phi Delta Tau, 27; Delta Delta Delta, 16; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 15; and Philomathian, 6. The Delta Zeta and Kappa Kappa Gamma reports were incomplete when the report was made to the Collegian Monday.

The names of the girls winning in the popularity contest will be announced at the popularity ball to be given January 23 at the community house. Music will be furnished by the K. U. orchestra.

H. R. Quinn of Aurora, Nebr., was a week end guest at the Alpha Psi house.

Clayton Smith and Leo Ptacek returned Friday from Lawrence.

Miss Trix Knight of Greenleaf, spent the week end at the Delta Zeta house.

Ted Knox spent several days at his home in Frankfort.

TOAST IS FOR BREAKFAST SO MEMBERS OF QUILL WERE ROASTED AT BANQUET

Toast is for breakfast. Roasts are for banquets.

At least the members of Quill were roasted instead of being toasted, at the William Caxton banquet, given Thursday evening in the Gillett hotel.

Some were roasted so thoroughly that they felt over done; others were only slightly scorched.

Milton Eisenhower was well cooked, dished up, and served with a white sauce of, " Why can't I die?"

Miss Ada Rice's new black switch was singed and her love for roast was completely killed. Miss Polson's yellow hair became a blaze, and the toast-mistress scorched Professor Crawford's thin silky eyebrows.

Clementine Paddleford had her highly colored vocabulary burnt to small bits of nothing. Professor Davis, the far famed woman hater, was reavealed in his true form as a ladies' man. His wife being present, it is likely that his roast finished browning on the way home.

Mr. Moore, the wizard of the pencil, refused to have his faults even parboiled, so he remained away as usual. But every one else was there, even the wild Irishman from Indiana. She took her scorching as calmly as a Saturday bath.

After everyone had been served a portion of the roast and the banquet was over, they bowed their heads, and with their eyes wishfully looking at their empty plates, they repeated reverently, these words:

Dear Lord reduce the price of things,
Get the profiteers by the collar;
So next year we may banquet here,
For one round silver dollar.

S. S. G. A. ACCEPTED AT SPECIAL MEETING

CONSTITUTION PASSED WITH A FEW AMENDMENTS

THE COLLEGIAN IS KEPT OUT

Dues to Association Will Be 50 Cents Each Year—Collegian Is Not Governed By S. S. G. A.

The constitution of the Student Self-governing association published in the Collegian last Tuesday, was adopted with a few changes and amendments at a mass meeting of the students in the college auditorium Friday morning.

Whether or not K. S. A. C. shall be self governed now rests with the faculty, pending adoption of the constitution by that body.

Active interest was the keynote of the meeting Friday morning. Under the constitution, as adopted, practically all student activities were taken into the fold with the exception of the Collegian which was virtually left out in the cold to shift for itself as it has done heretofore.

The constitution was adopted by articles, each section being discussed in order. Section two of article one was amended to read, "50 cents dues for membership in the Student Self-governing association," leaving out the clause, "$1.50 yearly subscription to the Kansas State Collegian." Section one of article four was amended to read, "two members from the literary society council," and "K fraternity," instead of "men's athletic council."

It was moved by the students that in article seven, section one, the words "Collegian board" be stricken out, and that "the legislation of all standing committees shall be subject to the approval of the executive council," be substituted for the original clauses of section eight.

It was ruled at the meeting that any place in the constitution where the words "official paper" were used the words "Kansas State Collegian" should be substituted.

Nominate Officers

An enabling act was passed after the constitution was adopted and to further aid in putting self government into effect, at such time as the acuity may adopt the constiution. Nomination of candidates for president and vice president of the association were made. For president Claude Hutto, Glen Hoffines, Oscar Steanson, and Earl Frost were nominated, and Ray Watson and Oscar Steanson for vice president.

ADVISORS TAKE DUTIES OF DEAN

ENGINEERS HAVE NEW SYSTEM FOR WATCHING STUDENTS

Students Must See Advisors About Changing Assignments or Courses Before Going to the Dean on the Matter

A letter from Dean A. A. Potter to the members of the faculty gives the results of votes taken by the heads of the engineering division on December 22. He writes, that "for the purpose of assisting our students in maintaining higher standards of scholarship," they have voted as follows:

The number of assigners for engineering students be increased so that as nearly as possible we can have one assigner for every 25 students.

The assigners are to act as advisors upon all matters vital to the students whom they assign. If a student is having difficulty with his studies, if he decides to change his assignment or his course, he will go to his advisor before going to his dean. The dean's office will inform the advisors when students are falling down in their studies.

This notice will be printed on cards and distributed to the students at the time they receive their assignments. Their assigners' names and office numbers will appear on the card. The list of the assigners for the second semester is also attached.

COLLEGIAN HAS CHANGED STAFF

RALPH FOSTER IS NEW BUSINESS MANAGER

Takes Position Immediately—Editorial Staff Changed Only Slightly—Paper Has Largest Circulation

Ralph Foster, senior in industrial journalism, was elected business manager of the Kansas State Collegian for the remainder of this year at a meeting of the Collegian Board last Friday afternoon.

Ordinarily the business manager holds the position for a full school year but Mr. Foster was elected to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Lindley Binford. Mr. Foster is a good man for the job. He was assistant editor of the paper the first part of this year, is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, is president of the Aggie Press club and is interested in other student affairs. His election will mean a good boost for the Collegian.

Milton Eisenhower will continue to hold his position as editor-in-chief the remainder of the year. The staff of assistants has been only slightly changed. The names of the five best reporters will also be run, the names being changed from time to time as the editor sees fit.

NEW SIDEWALK ON THE CAMPUS

NEW GATE WILL BE ERECTED AT SOUTHEAST CORNER

Students from South End of Town Will Not Have to Go Thru Aggieville or Anderson Hall to Go to School of Ag

Preparations have been made and construction will soon begin on a fine new sidewalk on the campus. Beginning at the junction of Fourteenth street and Anderson avenue, the walk will go north across the campus, curving to the west and joining the five forks "where all roads meet."

There will be a new gate, similar to the south entrance gate. Several fine old maple trees had to be taken out in order to construct the new walk, but it will be much worth while to students from the south end of town as they will not find it necessary to go thru Aggieville nor take the Anderson hall route in order to get to the school of Ag, the horticulture or Waters hall.

Forty-two head of sheep were shipped to Denver Thursday by the animal husbandry department, where they will be exhibited at the Western National Stock show, to be held there January 17 to 24.

Collegian Will Have Subscription Campaign

The Kansas State Collegian will have a subscription campaign for the second semester. The paper will cost $1.25 for the remainder of the year for students in the college and will cost $1.50 for each mail subscription.

On registration day subscriptions may be given upon leaving the gym. Subscriptions may be mailed to the business manager or taken to him personally in the basement of Kedzie hall.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Student Newspaper of the Kansas State Agricultural College

Published Every Tuesday and Friday of the College Year.

Entered at the Postoffice of Manhattan for transmission through the mails as second class matter.

Address all communications regarding stories, etc., to the editor of the Collegian and all letters in regard to advertising and subscription rates to the business manager.

A GROWING CLASS

Prof. R. R. Price's Sunday school class of college girls at the Methodist church is evidently a "growing concern." The average attendance of girls at this class for the month of October was 94. November had one very stormy Sunday and one Thanksgiving vacation Sunday, but counting these two Sundays the average attendance for this class was 102.

The new year starts with a marked improvement in attendance, the average number of girls actually present in this class for the three Sundays of January is 170. Last Sunday this class was photographed by O. W. Holt at the church. This class is planning to entertain the other college classes of the Methodist Sunday school at the college social center hall on the last Friday evening fo February. This promises to be a large party, for there are two other classes of college girls, besides two classes of college men, and Attorney Clammer's class of college men last Sunday reached a total attendance of 142.

MIDDLETON WILL RETURN JAN. 29

METROPOLITAN BASS-BARITONE HAS RECOVERED MUSIC AND VOICE

Mr. Middleton Has Had His Voice Treated—Rumored That He Has Taken a Course in Memory Lessons

Arthur Middleton, the Metropolitan bass-baritone, who came to Manhattan November 24, but did not linger long on account of a bad voice and a lost music bag, will come again January 29. This time, so the management of the Artist's course promises, Mr. Middleton will bring both his voice and his music along.

Mr. Middleton went to Kansas City after leaving Manhattan in November, and had his voice treated. Whether or not he also took a course in memory lessons is not known, but the management feels assured that he will not forget again. His voice is now in excellent condition.

THREE HUNDRED COLLEGE STUDENTS ATTEND M. S. S.

Methodists Boast of Largest College Attendance in Their Church

There were nearly 350 students and instructors of the college, in attendance at two classes of the First Methodist church Sunday school last Sunday. The Methodists proudly boast of the largest representation of the college in their church.

There were 174 students in Prof. R. R. Price's young ladies' class, while Attorney Clammer mustered 142 college men into his. Immediately after the services, three large group photographs were made of the two classes, together and separately.

The young ladies' class will entertain the young men's class, at the college social center in February.

Clifford Kniseley, former student who has been engaged as a truck salesman in Montana, will re-enter college next semester.

R. S. Short of Salina, visited his son, Mac Short, at the Beta Theta Pi house Wednesday.

Milton Labadie of Pawhuskie, Okla., is a guest at the Beta Theta Pi house. Mr. Labadie attended school here last year and intends to enrol the second semester.

Benny Wenn was a week end guest at the Delta Tau house.

G. B. Bailey spent the week end in Abilene.

Miss Elizabeth Boone of Junction City spent the week end at the Tri Delta house.

Fred Lewis, an ensign in the U. S. navy, was a week end guest at the Delta Tau house.

The Kansas Engineering society will meet at the college on January 20 and 21.

Cramming Time

Once more the melancholy days, when students have to cram and dig in books a thousand ways, to slide thru that exam. No longer can we ditch our trig., till sometime after while; it's time to get right down and dig, a few facts to compile. That chemistry and English quiz., sit heavy on our brain; why didn't we get down to bizz, and save this awful strain? Why didn't we use common sense, enough to learn our stuff? Why were our bloomin' heads so dense, to think that we could bluff? A few less moving picture shows, a few less rolls of dice; if only we had sensed these woes, things would be sitting nice. But now we come, mid tears and gloom, to test what we have learned; to trials that decide our doom; the zero grades well earned.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor:—The final examinations are here this week. The temptation to cheat will be great and there will doubtless be a lot of it going on.

However, it should not be. The ideals of this institution should be so high that no cheating or petty larceny or anything of that sort should be seen.

But we must face the facts. Those who cheat are not only cheating themselves, but they are lowering the standards and the morals of the institution. The fact is that there is entirely too much of this kind of work being done on the hill. It should be stopped. It is time something is done about it. The majority, the saner part, of the student body can stop it if they will. The writer is of the opinion that an awakening of the consciences is necessary and should be shown soon. Let every one open his eyes.—Interested.

Dear Editor:—This is Leap Year! And all the men are taking advantage of this year that comes only once in four years. If you don't believe this statement just take a look in the recreational hall some noon. The poor girls seeking some distraction and recreation after a long old morning of boresome studies, wander into this hall. But there are no chairs for them, they must stand up in the corners or sit on the edge of the platform, on tables, or anything else of like uncomfortableness, while the men sit calmly in the becushioned chairs chatting with one another to their heart's content.

Oh well this is leap year, the only year in which the men can enjoy themselves and why not let them, even if it is rather uncomfortable for us at times.—A Co-ed.

Dear Editor:—Some of the esteemed reporters and society observers on the Collegian staff have been giving much space to ladies' styles, fads, gossip, social questions, and general eccentricities, but have entirely forgotten and disregarded the other side of the question. Thus, one would gain the impression that there was no such animal as mere man. But I want to say that without man there would be no scandal gossip for the women, no styles for them to discuss, and no diamonds to ornament the ring finger on the left hand. The esteemed Collegian has devoted much space to the fact that so many women on the hill are wearing the fatal stone on the fatal finger. I say fatal because I speak from experience and know all too well that it will be fatal for both contracting parties. But what I want to emphasize is the fact that the man part has to suffer for the stone and therefore should be given more credit for it. Any woman can wear one if she has a chance but if it were not for man there would be no diamonds. Another point. Women are not the only people that do the corresponding. Men write letters too. If you will go over to the post office and watch the letters that are mailed to women out of town you will be convinced that even mere man is human. Therefore, Mr. Editor, I suggest that your society writers give more space to man; give man credit for what man does. —Eccentric Unmarried Student.

COLLEGE ENROLMENT HAS NOW REACHED 2,835

Entrance of Short Course Men Causes Jump in Enrolment

The K. S. A. C. enrolment has now reached 2,835. This is an unusual record even for K. S. A. C. and is one to be envied. It is probable that by the end of the next semester the enrolment will have reached 3,500. The entrance of the short course men always causes a jump in the enrolment. This year the additional number of men taking vocational training has been added to the usual courses.

The beginning of next semester will undoubtedly see a farther rise in the enrolment.

"It would be impossible for us to handle our present milk route except with a pneumatic-tired truck. Our Goodyear Cord Tires have delivered mileages up to 13,500 to date over bad gravel, rocks and chuck holes. With them, we serve more farmers than we could with the slow solid tires."—Harry E. Hughes, Dairy Farmer and Truckman, Hughes, Ohio

THIS statement describes hauling conditions such as many farmers find can be counteracted most effectively with the perfected pneumatic truck tire.

Rural users note that hauling on the cushioning pneumatics means not only a saving of time and brawn, but also important protection of equipment and loads, shrinkable, perishable, and breakable.

They particularly observe the effect of Goodyear Cord construction, developed during recent years, which makes possible pneumatic tire mileages comparing very favorably with those of solid tires.

In addition to reporting that pneumatic-tired trucks pave the way for the general motorization of farm work, they list mileages of Goodyear Cord Tires, on trucks, as ranging from 15,000 to past 40,000 when given proper care.

Accurate information furnished by farmers and other rural haulers, showing how they improve their methods and incomes with pneumatic-tired trucks, can be obtained from the nearest Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station or by writing to The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, at Akron, Ohio.

SOONERS COME TO PLAY FIRST VALLEY GAME

FARMERS AND OKLAHOMANS MEET TONIGHT AND SATURDAY

AGGIES PREPARE FOR FIGHT

All Men Are in Excellent Condition For Contests—Bunger Still Limping But Is Able to Shoot the Goals

Benny Owen's basketball five will tangle with the Aggie basketball tossers Friday and Saturday evenings. This will be Oklahoma's first Missouri Valley contest. Since the Sooners have just been admitted to the conference, Oklahoma is almost an unknown quantity in Missouri Valley basketball circles.

No dope is yet available on the Sooner five but they will undoubtedly fight hard to make a good showing in their initial appearance in the Valley conference.

Strengthening Team

Coach Z. M. Clevenger has been strengthening the weak points brought out in last week's contests. The splendid showing against Grinnell in the first game was a surprise to some Valley dopesters. It is possible that the team will spring even a greater surprise after this week's hard practice and coaching.

Bunger is still bothered with his lame ankle but that doesn't seem to affect his basket tossing ability. All the other men are in good shape for the week end contests.

SOCIETIES TO HOLD CONTEST

WINNING ORATOR TO RECEIVE $25 AND GOLD MEDAL

Orations not to Exceed 1,200 Words in Length—Manuscripts Must be in Hands of Judges by January 27

The college literary societies will hold their annual oratorical contest in the college auditorium, February 28.

The winning orator will receive a prize of $25 and a gold medal. The orator taking second place in the contest will receive a prize of $15 and a silver medal. The orator taking third place will receive a $10 prize and a bronze medal.

Each of the eight college literary societies will be represented by one orator. The orations shall not exceed 1,200 words in length, and the manuscripts must be in the hands of the judges by January 27.

Several members of each literary society are writing orations. Tryouts will be held in each society to determine who the representative contestants will be. Several of the societies have already held their tryouts and selected their orators; the remainder will probably do so this week.

BROWN BULL IS AFTER CARTOONS

NEED AT LEAST SIX GOOD SKETCHES OF COLLEGE LIFE

Anyone Can Get Joke into Magazine Providing the Joke Is Good and Contains no Scandal—Published by Sigma Delta Chi

The Brown Bull, the magazine which will appear in the near future, has commenced pawing about and is anxious to break from his pen and rush around the campus for the first time.

But the magazine can not be published until some good cartoons are secured. The editors, Ralph Foster and Milton Eisenhower, are looking for about six more good cartoons. They should be handed in promptly as the magazine must be published early next month.

Any one can get a joke into the Brown Bull—providing the joke is a good one. There will be no "rough stuff" in the magazine. It is a publication of humorous articles but all scandal is left out. Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, is responsible for the magazine.

TO STUDENTS

Schedules are now available for use in the library, offices of of the deans, and office of the registrar. A limited number are for sale at the college post office at 10 cents per copy.

Make out your assignments as far as possible ready for the O. K. of the assigner on Tuesday, January 27.

Do not forget your fee receipt.

KEDZIE GETTING REMODELED NOW

RUNNING RACE WITH ANDERSON FOR IMPROVEMENTS

New Steam Tables For Cafeteria, Store Room Moved to Basement and Porch Glassed in—7,000 Fed Each Week

Kedzie hall is running Anderson a lose second in the matter of remodeling and improvement. The school year has seen several radical changes in the arrangement of the building. Among them are the installation of double steam table service in the college cafeteria, which has made it possible for twice as many people to be fed during the noon meal hour, the changing of the cafeteria store room to the basement of the building and the enlargement and glassing-in of the porch on the west end of the cafeteria dining room.

The latest improvement has been effected by the removal of the storeroom to the basement. The room formerly occupied by the cafeteria stores is now being remodeled and will be furnished as an office for Miss Mary Ward, cafeteria director.

Nearly 7,000 persons are fed during the week at the cafeteria and many have expressed the wish that the college cafeteria would be open on Sunday.

GIVE POINTERS TO LEGION MEN

REGULAR ARMY COLONEL TO ADDRESS EX-SERVICE MEN

Will Talk about War Risk Insurance, Unpaid Travel Fees, Bonus, Vocational Training, Clothing, Etc.

Through the efforts of the Pierce-Kellar post of the American Legion, Col. J. E. Sloan of the regular army has been secured to address ex-service men at the community house, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He will talk on questions pertaining to the war risk insurance, its renewal by men discharged from the service, travel pay which has never been received, bonus, vocational training, clothing, victory buttons, and the French memorial booklet.

There have been many recent changes in the war risk insurance measures, and in the compensation paid to disabled and partially disabled men. Colonel Sloan will explain these. He will also explain how the government has arranged for the renewal of government policies by ex-service men.

GOBS OF THE COLLEGE TO HAVE DANCE IN ANDERSON

Will Doll Out in Their Blue Uniforms with Flat Hats

The gobs of the college are to have a dance. It is the first sailor dance given this year and every man in the college who was in the navy has been invited. The men will wear their blue suits and flat hats.

The dance is to be given in the social center room on January 27. Wheeler's orchestra will furnish the music.

ENGINEERS OF TWO STATES IN NEW BODY

LEADING EDUCATORS IN ENGINEERING ARE MEMBERS OF CLUB

DEAN POTTER VICE PRESIDENT

Aim of the Society Is to Bring Together Men Interested in Engineering—Has Helped Raise Standards of Engineering Education

The Kansas-Nebraska section of the society for the promotion of engineering education was formed at a meeting in the engineering building last night.

K. S. A. C. has the honor of having Dean A. A. Potter as vice president of the entire society and R. A. Seaton as secretary of the Kansas-Nebraska section.

Aims Are High

The aims of the society are to bring together men who are interested in engineering education. The society has helped to raise the standards of engineering education in this country beyond that of many other professions.

This society was the first and apparently, after 26 years, is the only one in the world for the promotion of engineering education. The membership has increased from 156 members, at the time of its formation, to 1,505 in 1919.

GIRLS' TEAMS PLAY OFF TIE

ORANGE AND WHITE TO BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Final Game Will be Played Tomorrow in the Gymnasium—One Team Is Still Undefeated

The orange and white teams, the leading basketball teams in the girls' color tournament, will play off the tie next Saturday at 5 o'clock in the gymnasium.

The two teams tied in the game they played last Saturday. The orange team so far is undefeated. Eva Gwin is captain of the orange team and Edna Chapin is captain of the white team. A great deal of enthusiam has been shown over these color tournament games.

Y. W. AND Y. M. ARE READY TO HELP STUDENTS AGAIN

Registering, Finding Rooms, and Other Things Done by Ys

The two college organizations, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., are ready to help new students find rooms, register, or anything else that is puzzling to a newcomer.

The students have shown a great deal of interest in the college Ys the first semester and it is believed that the activities of the organizations will cover even a larger field the second semester.

VOCATIONAL MEN GETTING FREE MEDICAL ATTENTION

Dentist Work and Minor Operations Being Given Now

Vocational men are receiving free medical attention for all ailments or injury whether it was received while they were in the service or after being discharged. Some of the men are having dental work done. A few minor operations, as removing tonsils, will be made at the close of the semester.

SUBSCRIBE NOW TO SAVE MONEY

CAMPAIGN FOR COLLEGIAN FOR SECOND SEMESTER

Will Cost $1.25 for Remainder of Year and Price Will Not be Lowered Later—$1.50 For Mail Subscriptions

The Collegian will have a subscription campaign for the second semester. It is the last chance to get the student paper for a full period at the regular price.

The paper will cost $1.25 for the remainder of the year and the price will not be lowered for any shorter length of time. A mail subscription will cost $1.50. A table will be placed just outside the gymnasium during registration and every non-subscriber should sign his name to the list.

The Collegian should have a larger list of subscribers among the students—you can help out.

ELKHARTS WON CHAMPIONSHIP IN Y. M. C. A. GROUP

Did not Lose a Game—Were in Six Contests

The Elkhart club, 723 Moro, took the championship among the clubs of the basketball games in the Y. M. C. A. tournament. They played six games with the different clubs of the college and won all of them. The last game, played with the Miami County club, decided the championship. The names of the contesting teams and the scores follow:

Elkharts, 57.....Glenwood, 3
Elkharts, 18.....Co-op, 15
Elkharts, 29.....Lonestar, 18
Elkharts, 26.....Y. M. C. A., 24
Elkharts, 26.....Bomerang, 17
Elkharts, 21.....Miami Co., 14

W. E. Blaziur, in charge of the student wiring class at Kansas university, and T. M. Mott also of Kansas university, visited the student wiring department of this college this week. They came in the interest of Sigma Tau.

MECHANICAL MASCOT, PRODUCT OF K. S. A. C. SHOPS, MAKES ENVIABLE DISTANCE RECORD

This little motor car, designed and manufactured by students of the Kansas State Agricultural college, has traveled a distance equal to that of the earth's circumference several times over and has been inspected by more than a million persons, yet today is in just as good repair as when it first took the road.

All of which illustrates the efficacy of printers' ink. The story and picture of the "Mechanical Mascot" has been published in technical, farm, and daily papers the country over. Poy Lim, the Chinese student seen in the picture, has been its demonstrator in all the millions of miles it has traveled since it first came out last spring.

Poy Lim says he saw a motto the other day which he likes:

Early to bed and early to rise,
Work like hell and advertise.

ENROLMENT TO START TUESDAY NEXT WEEK

BEGINS AT EIGHT TUESDAY AND CLOSES AT ELEVEN WEDNESDAY

MAKE OUT OWN ASSIGNMENTS

First Semester Closes at Eleven O'clock Tomorrow — A Record Enrolment Is Expected for the Second Semester

Registration for the second semester will start at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning and will last until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. Monday, which comes between semesters, will be a holiday.

School will close at 11 o'clock tomorrow. This gives the students two and a half days beore enroling for the second semester.

Prepare Own Assignments

Due to the fact that there will be less than a day and a half for the entire enrolment, students have been asked by the registrar to prepare their own assignments. This will save a great deal of time. It is expected that many new students will be coming to college the second semester and they, of course, can not prepare their own assignments. For this reason, regular students are urged to cooperate with the registrar.

Specials See Deans

All persons who wish to enrol as special students must see their deans before going to the assigners. The engineering division has a new system. In that division the students must go to advisors before consulting with the dean.

A record enrolment for the second semester is expected.

SHIELDS GIVES THE BEST TALK

FIRST SPEAKER FROM EIGHT SECTIONS TAKING EXTEMPO SPEAKING

J. O. Brown and I. O. Call Tied for Second Place—Judges of Contest Were Professors Crawford, Conover, Burns, and Peine

The last of a series of contests held o determine the best extemporaneous speaker from the eight sections taking extemporaneous speaking under Dr. J. G. Emerson, occurred on Monday of this week.

O. J. Shields, a student in agriculture, won first place with a speech on the subject of "Mexico."

J. O. Brown, senior in agriculture, and I. O. Call, student in general science, tied for second place. Mr. Brown's subject was "Agricultural Missions," and Mr. Call talked of "America and the Immigrant."

The judges for the contest were Professor Crawford, Professor Conover, Professor Burns, and Professor Peine.

ORAL ENGLISH NEW ELECTIVE

OTHER SUBJECTS ARE TO BE OFFERED NEXT SEMESTER

Argumentation, Debate, Debate Squad Work, Oral English and other Studies Are Added to Curriculum

That the students of this college may have an opportunity to increase their ability to speak convincingly, Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the English department, has added to the regular course four electives which will be taught next semester.

These subjects are: Oral English, These subjects will all be taught by first hour; argumentation, debate and debate squad work by appointment. Professor Burns. He has had a great deal of experience in public speaking and debate work, which makes him well fitted to manage the work.

"The ability to talk convincingly to one man, or to a group of men, is a valuable asset to any college graduate. This is especially true of men who are taking up agriculture or engineering work," says Professor Searson.

SIGMA TAU HAS NEW MEMBERS

KENNETH SHIDELER AND D. F. McHIGH PLEDGED

Professional Engineering Fraternity Has Not Been Especially Active Past Two Years but Is Coming to Front Again

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, has announced the pledging of Mr. Kenneth Shideler, junior in civil engneering, and Mr. D. F. McHigh, senior in electrical engineering.

Sigma Tau has not been particularly active here during the past few years but this year the society has been making some real progress. Sigma Tau is one of the most important of the professional fraternities and should, in view of the fact that the K. S. A. C. engineering division is one of the best in the United States, be one of the most influential organizations on the hill.

Juniors and seniors who show marked ability in engineering are chosen for membership in the society. Mr. P. L. Fetzer is president of the organization this year.

Don Pedro, Captive Mexican, Comes To College to See Hobe

A captive Mexican is held in custody by one of the students of the college. The Mexican, Don Pedro by name, is from Nogales, Sonora, Mexico and was captured September 30. He is very large and was a dangerous enemy.

Don Pedro, like a great many other Mexicans caught over the border, was on a raid. Don Pedro was conducting a raid against the United Ants of Arizona. He was captured by Miss Eugenia Fairman, a former student and instructor at K. S. A. C.

The captive Mexican is a tarrantula and was sent to Manhattan by Hobart Fairman. "Hobe" has fully recovered from the injuries received in the Aggie-Funston game and expects to return to school next semester.

ELEVEN ARE CHOSEN IN THE DEBATE TRY-OUTS

EIGHT GIRLS AND THREE BOYS WERE SUCCESSFUL

Men Debaters Will Work on Mexican Question—Prof. O. H. Burns Has Already Put the Squads to Work

Eight boys and three girls were successful in the recent debate tryouts. They were F. H. Bayer, J. O. Brown, V. V. Cool, Ellis Kimble, O. J. Shields, G. R. Schroll, C. D. Guy, and J. H. Moyer; Miss Opal Seeber, Mrs. Elizabeth Winter, and Miss Luella Sherman.

The men debaters will work on the Mexican question for the pentangular debate. The girls will also debate this same question for the girls' triangular debate.

Prof. O. H. Burns, debate coach, is well pleased with the material he has to work with for these debates. He has already started the squads to work. They are receiving one hour a week lecture work for voice culture, and two hours a week for classroom work on thought and composition.

WHERE'S OUR TALENT

With due apologies to the out-of-town orchestras that have furnished excellent music for Aggie dances, it has occurred to a number of K. S. A. C. students that it isn't quite the thing to do to go out of town for dance music.

There is a great deal of musical talent right here in the college. If these people are not able to produce the proper kind of dance music, then the department should see to it that they learn how.

But it should not be necessary to go out of town to get the talent—especially to K. U., a school that has always been a rival of K. S. A. C. Let's get down to brass tacks, men. There's Johnny who is good on the violin, Mike is dandy on the piano and Pete can't be beat on the saxophone. Jerry is the best ever on the traps, and my, but Jack is good on the traps.

If these men can't turn out dance music, the department of music in the college should be willing to see to it that they get the proper instruction.

Come on, let's see if we haven't just as good dance music ability as the next one.

PHOTO PLAY FOR THE SHORT COURSE MEN

TO BE SHOWN IN AUDITORIUM THIS AFTERNOON

Pictures Are Primarily for Benefit of Short Course Students but Anyone Interested Is Welcome to Attend

The third engineering photoplay will be shown at the auditorium on Friday afternoon at 4:15.

These photoplays are interesting and instructive, showing modern methods of farming. They are produced by the International Harvester company, the Avery company, and the Emerson-Brantingham company, and are shown under the direction of farm engineering at the college.

They are primarily for the benefit of the short course men but are worth while to anyone interested in modern farming methods. So far they have been well attended.

WILL GIVE PRIZES TO THE GOOD WRITERS

STUDENT PAPER HAS CONTEST FOR BEST STORIES

Feature Stories and Editorials Draw Money—Journalist with Largest Number of Inches Gets Prize, Too

Over $30 in prizes will be given to students who write for the Collegian. For the period ending at Christmas, students received $33 in prizes from the Collegian.

The money will be divided as follows: For the largest number of inches in the paper, $10; for the best feature story, $8; for the best editorial, $7.50; for the best human interest story, $7.50.

Only persons taking Collegian practice are eligible for the first prize but anyone in school may try for one of the other three prizes, or all of them if he wishes.

CHAMPION CLUB GIRLS WILL GIVE DEMONSTRATION HERE

To be a Novel Feature of Farm and Home Week, February 2 to 7

All-star demonstration teams of Kansas canning and breadbaking clubs will be a feature of this year's Farm and Home week program, February 2 to 7, never before seen in Manhattan.

These all-star selections were members of the team that won honors at the Topeka and Hutchinson fairs. They were selected as the best individual demonstrators in the state by judges at the Wichita fair. The government and state pay their expenses to Manhattan for the big week. While there they will give some of the most interesting numbers on their programs.

The members of the canning team are Jennie Mellor, Waverly, Coffey county; Hulda Schwin, Leavenworth, Leavenworth county; Ida Welter, Perry, Jefferson county.

The members of the breadbaking team are Mary Chilcott, Jewell City, Jewell county; Stella Heywood, Bennington, Ottawa county; Minnie Gossman, Sterling, Rice county.

Aggie Back from France

A. Wilcox Foster, who was selected from this college as one of six men to work with the French Cattle commission, has returned to Manhattan and will reenter college next semester. While on the trip Mr. Foster toured France, Belgium, and Germany with the ship's superintendent and his party.

Boys, if you are in need of actual expense money, write to Box 8, Ottawa, Kansas. 35-tf

Y. M. C. A. TO CONSIDER MEMBERSHIP QUESTION

Taken up at Regular Thursday Vesper Service

The question of membership basis is being taken up for study by the Y. W. C. A. cabinet girls who expect to present the question to the association soon as a part of the regular Thursday vesper service.

The proposed change of membership is to be one of the most important questions to come up before the national Y. W. C. A. convention which will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, next April. The K. S. A. C. association expects to send a delegate to this meeting.

T. J. Brown, Hutchinson, who is attending the Kansas Engineers' association, is a guest at the Beta house.

Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house were Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Miss Grace Hesse, and Mr. George Harah.

Delta Zeta Dinner Guests

Mr. L. P. Whitehead and Miss Trixe Knight were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday.

College Club Dinner Guests

A dinner in honor of Capt. H. J. Robinson, who is stationed at Camp Funston with the 80th field artillery was given at the College club Sunday. A musical program was given following the dinner. The guests included: Prof. and Mrs. W. L. Latshaw, Doctor and Mrs. Leinhardt, Prof. and Mrs. J. A. Calderwood, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shubert, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Haymaker, Dr. Mary Harman, Prof. L. E. Melchers, and Miss Izil Polson.

Web-Euro Program

The members of the Webster and Eurodelphian literary societies held a joint meeting at their hall Saturday. The members of the societies who attended the Students' Volunteer convention gave reports at this meeting. The music for the evening consisted of a piano solo by J. E. Beyer, a violin solo by Miss Doris Mell, and several selections by a mixed quartet, the members of which were Miss Ruth Rathbone, Miss Mabel Ginter, H. Karnes, and E. Means.

Entertain Cabinet

Miss Irene Dean, college secretary of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the girls of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile Sunday evening. Mrs. Van Zile gave a short talk on her impressions of the Des Moines conference.

Announce Pledging

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity announces the pledging of Mr. Earl Preston of Russell, freshman in electrical engineering.

For Former Graduate

Mrs. A. J. Mack, 1512 Poyntz avenue, entertained Tuesday afternoon and evening in honor of her sister, Mrs. Probst, who graduated here in Mrs. C. M. Scott of Arkansas City. Mrs. Phobst, who graduated here in 1913 will be remembered as Miss Marguerite Scott.

Dinner Guests

Tuesday dinner guests at the Phi Delta Tau house were Mr. M. Q. Blosser, and Mr. Lloyd Blosser.

Chi Omega Guests

Monday dinner guests at the Chi Omega house were Mrs. R. I. Throckmorton, Mrs. George Anderson, and Miss Annette Perry.

Thursday evening Miss Ruby Mills was a dinner guest at the Chi Omega house.

LEGION IS CONDUCTING MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

LOSING TEAM WILL PAY FOR OYSTER SUPPER

Overseas Men, Gobs, S. A. T. C. Birds, Red Cross Nurses, Camp Funston Stickers, Dry Land Sailors, and Others Eligible

"Join the American Legion."

This phrase is on the lips of nearly every ex-service man of the college as soon as he meets one of his buddies who is not an American Legion member. Overseas men, gobs, leathernecks, dry-land sailors, Camp Funston statues, S. A. T. C. men, and Red Cross nurses are all receiving calls from their former pals, in an endeavor to get more members for the Legion.

This state of affairs is the result of the membership campaign now being put on by the Pierce-Keller post of the American Legion. And why shouldn't the men work when it will cost the losing side an oyster supper? And most any buck will conquer his pride and try to get some poor professor in the legion rather than pay a dollar fine for not getting a new member.

The members of the post are divided into two groups with the two vice-commanders, Prof. R. A. Seaton and Mr. Brewer, in charge of the groups. The losing side will treat the winners to an oyster supper.

Some of the late popular songs. "When My Baby Smiles at Me," "Tell Me Why," "My Isle of Golden Dreams," "Oh by Jingo." Ask to hear them. Kipp's Music Store. 35-2t

Miss Lola Sloop, '19, who has been teaching in Pratt county this year, has returned to her home to remain the rest of the winter.

Neal D. Bruce spent Monday and Tuesday at his home in Marquette.

Open for Dances, Etc., on Request

DEAR OLD HEN

Well, Hen, I feel real virtuous tonite so I will write you and try to spread the benefit of same. The reason that I feel virtuous is that I have been to S. S. at the M. E. ch. today and had my picture taken. I am going to buy a copy of that picture and send it to you when they get some finished. You might let my folks see it if they want to know if you hear from me. I will mark myself with an X so you will know me. I supose you will know me but you may not because I am having my hair cut a new way now which is not to have it cut at all. You know the way—just like the K. U. boys we saw at Bigtown during Xmas vacation. It is the cheapest way to have your hair cut I know and besides its classy and sort of sets you apart from the proletariats or proletariates, I don't know which is the correct way to spell it, but proletariats are any body that is below you in the social scale.

I think that when I get my hair trained to fall over my ears and not tickle them I will be pretty good fraternity material, Hen. I have got all the rules of conduct down pretty pat now and I'd not be surprised if they start rushing me pretty soon. I am getting so that I can hang around the canteen that Kittell runs and kid with the girls for as much as half an hour at a time and get out without buying anything more than a coke. When you take a girl to the canteen, Hen, you don't say what'll you hav you say what kind of a coke do you want. Another thing you got to watch, Hen, is not to be too polite to any girls you don't know are sorority girls. If you don't know a girl the proper thing to do is to let the door slam instead of holding it open for her if she is more than 1 ft. behind you. But the most important thing of all is to get by with anything that you can. If you can find a way to get around doing what the teachers want you to you are clever, even if it takes a little more time and effort to get out of doing it than it would take to fall for the prof's line of bunk and do it as he says. I guess I've figured out all the essential points Hen, and I am about ready for 'em to come and get me, but I tell you right now I won't pledge to the Sigma Nus because their lawn's too big with spring as close as it sems to be today.

I might be able to write you more Hen but my soph. roommate is having his voice cultivated here at the music department. His voice is getting cultivated alright, but my hearing is awfully harrowed at times. I envy that man, Hen, now don't think that I mean his voice for I don't. He has an awful voice. But I admire his nerve. He will stand right here in this room and sing with the window open so anybody that goes by can hear him. He's been singing as I write and it is too much—much too much.

Well Hen, I must stop this and figure out a line to throw for my profs tomorrow as I haven't been studying much since I discovered that it is the proper thing to get by instead of studying. I am sure glad that I am not handicapped like G. Washington by being unable to tell a lie.—Your friend, Jack Brennan.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1920 — NO. 35

IRENE GRAHAM THE POPULAR COLLEGE GIRL

WINS FIRST IN THE ROYAL PURPLE CONTEST

FIVE OTHER CO-EDS CHOSEN

Mildred Arends, Elizabeth Circle, Ernestine Biby, Gladys Bushong, and Marguerite Bondurant also Placed in Popularity

After a week of mad scrambling, harassed managers, and class politics, the six most popular girls in the Kansas State Agricultural college have been chosen.

Peace reigns again, in partnership with Miss Irene Graham, queen of the popular girls. The other five most popular girls chosen were: Miss Mildred Arends, Miss Elizabeth Circle, Miss Ernestine Biby, Miss Gladys Bushong, and Miss Marguerite Bondurant.

Royal Purple Contest

Every college student, who bought a Royal Purple, was allowed one vote in the contest. Over 100 girls were voted on. The six with the largest number of votes were chosen as the most popular Aggie co-eds. The result of the contest was announced at a popularity ball given in the community hall last Friday night.

Miss Graham In School Activities

The six co-eds selected are designated as the Royal Purple popular maids. Miss Irene Graham, who won first place, is one of the best liked girls in the school. She is a member of the Iota Psi sorority, the Forum, which is a debating club, and the Ionian literary society. She is also a member of the students' council, intersociety council, and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet.

Miss Mildred Arends, who won second place is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, the students' council, and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and is a senior in the home economics course.

Miss Elizabeth Circle, a senior in home economics, is a member of the Zeta Kappa Psi sorority, of the Ionian literary society, and Forum. She is also president of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Ernestine Biby, a senior in home economics, is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, the purple masque, and the Eurodelphian literary society.

Miss Gladys Bushong is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority and the Browning literary society. She is a junior in general science.

Miss Marguerite Bondurant is a member of the Chi Omega sorority and is a sophomore in the home economics course.

Ted Knox returned to his home in Frankfort and will not be in school until next fall.

FRESHMEN HERE ARE FAR FROM BEING MERE INFANTS

But Arizona Freshmen Say They Are over 4,500 Years Old

The University of Arizona claims that it is 11,365 years old. This age is compiled from the registrar's office. The seniors are 1,372 years old with an average of 23 1-2 years. The juniors have a total of 1,978 years and an average of 21.42. The sophomores sum a total of 3,338 with an average of 21.42, while the freshmen, the greenest, are the oldest with 4,677 years to their credit. Figuring that way, we are far from infants.

ENGINEERS TO ORGANIZE NOW

GET CHAPTER OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF ENGINEERS

All Engineers and Architects Are Eligible—Civil Engineers Already Have Sufficient Number to Form

Civil engineering students have applied to the American Association of Engineers for a chapter to be established at K. S. A. C. Already a sufficient number of civils have applied for membership to warrant the establishment of a chapter here.

All engineering students and architects are eligible for membership and can hand in their application to Prof. M. W. Furr of the civil engineering department. If the chapter is established here it will be the first student chapter in the state.

The American Association of Engineers has a membership of 9,500 including men from all branches of the engineering profession. The object of the organization is to raise the standard of ethics of the engineering profession and to promote the economic and social welfare of engineers.

K. S. A. C. GIRL TO SEE EDITORS

MRS. NICHOLS, '15, INTERVIEWS EASTERN MAGAZINE EDITORS

She Will Spend a Week Doing Editorial Work on a Book of Cooking and Dietetics Which the Delineator Is Getting Out

Mrs. Floyd B. Nichols will leave Monday on a trip to New York and Philadelphia where she will remain about three weeks.

In Philadelphia she will be in consultation with editors of the Ladies' Home Journal; and in New York with the Pictorial Review, Delineator, and Good Housekeeping. She will spend about a week doing a special editorial work on a book of cooking and dietetics which the Delineator company is getting out.

In New York Mrs. Nichols hopes to get in touch with persons at Columbia university in regard to plans for the national milk campaign to be held in April. Mrs. Nichols is chairman for Kansas of the work which the Association of Collegiate alumnae will do in the campaign.—Topeka Capital.

Mrs. Nichols, who was before her marriage Miss Nell Beaubien, graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1915.

There's lots of things that you should know and lots of places you could go, that wouldn't take a lot of dough, just watch your own Collegian. It doesn't cost a million bones, to get your copy for half a year; not even must you stand in line while chilly winds caress your spine, to get your own Collegian. Just send one dollar plus twenty-five, addressed to the business manager and the whole world is yours.

GETS ROOMS FOR AGGIE VISITORS

Y. M. C. A. AND Y. W. C. A. TO WORK TOGETHER

It Is Expected That at least 1,500 Persons Will Visit College During Farm and Home Week

Housing the persons who will visit K. S. A. C. during Farm and Home week, one of the biggest annual events of the college, has this year become so much greater a problem that it has been turned over to the college Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., who with the city Chamber of Commerce, will work out a better system of room assignment than has heretofore been possible.

The Y. W. C. A. is trying to find rooms for the younger girls who will attend the Farm and Home week meetings with older college girls in an attempt to relieve the congestion which always comes at this time. The "doubling up" process is being left entirely to the generosity of the college girls, who will communicate with Miss Dean if they are willing to make room in their room for one or more of these younger girls.

The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium will be turned into a dormitory where 100 boys will be cared for during the week. Approximately 100 boys are expected and the general belief is that practically the same number of girls will be here at that time.

Estimates of the attendance at Farm and Home week this year range from 1,500 to 3,000 persons, but in any event it is safe to say that the attendance this year will greatly outnumber the attendance of other years.

Miss Doris Bachelor spent the week end at her home in Belleville.

Mrs. James Sterling of Clay Center, visited her daughter, Miss Mildred Sterling over the week end.

Miss Ruth Lambertson and Miss Elithe Kaull spent the week end in Kansas City.

Miss Josephine Sullivan spent the week end at her home in Wamego.

Miss Doris Crandall spent the mid term vacation visiting Miss Bernice Spence at Hansen.

Miss Isabel Hamilton visited over the week end at her home in Wichita.

Halford Moody of Junction City, visited over the week end with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He will reenter school the second semester.

Increases in salary ranging from $400 to $600 have been awarded to teachers in the University of Oklahoma. The raise becomes effective July 1, 1920.

AGGIES GO FORWARD TO VALLEY TITLE

ADD TWO MORE BASKET VICTORIES TO LIST

TAKE FOUR VALLEY GAMES

Total Victories Number Six While So far the Farmers Have not Suffered a Single Defeat

The Aggies continued their march to the Missouri Valley basketball championship by defeating the Oklahoma five in the two game series by 37 to 18 and 26 to 14 scores. It was the Sooners' first appearance in Valley basketball.

A large and enthusiastic crowd attended both games and were rewarded by seeing two fast and spectacular fights.

Team Work Good

Bunger was high point winner in both games but the Aggies had trouble in making their attempts at goals during the second game. The Aggie team work was a great improvement over the previous games. The substitutes showed up well, Williams making two long goals in the few minutes he was in the second game. Knostman is also good on the baskets, piling up two to his credit in the first game.

The Sooner captain, Boyle, was out of the game on account of being behind in his school work. Despite this fact Benny Owen's cage men put up a much better game than the one sided score would indicate. In the first game they were handicapped in not being familiar with the size of the court. Oklahoma has a well balanced team but the Aggies' fast style of play was their undoing.

TO MEET TIGERS THIS WEEK END

GAMES WILL PROBABLY DECIDE VALLEY CHAMPIONSHIP

Student Body Can Help by Giving Farmer Quintet a Rousing Send-Off—Is First Game on Foreign Court

The Aggie cage men will play their first game on a foreign court next week end when they go against the Missouri Tigers at Columbia. Missouri has won six conference games already this season.

All dope points to an Aggie-Tiger struggle for the title. Missouri has always been the Aggies' strongest competitor. If the Aggies can take a game from the Missourians on this trip it would brighten the chances of Coach Clevenger's men materially. It would almost mean another Aggie championship. K. S. A. C. students are as much interested in annexing Missouri Valley honors as the team.

One way the student body can help is to send the basketball five away with rousing rally and a display of fight and pep that will make their blood tingle until after the games are over.

HORTICULTURE IS SHORT TEACHERS

THREE LEAVE DEPARTMENT THIS SEMESTER

Simonds, Pratt, and Doerner Leave —Go to Other Colleges as Instructors in Horticulture and Floriculture

The horticultural department of the college is to lose three instructors at the beginning of this term.

A. M. Doerner, who has been instructor in the horticultural department for the past three years, has accepted a position as assistant professor of landscape gardening at the state college at Pullman, Wash. Prof. and Mrs. Doerner left Friday night for Pullman.

H. A. Pratt, assistant instructor in horticulture and foreman of the college green houses, is going to Cornell where he will accept a position as assistant in floriculture. Mr. Pratt came here two years ago from the Agricultural College of Massachusetts. He will leave for Cornell tomorrow afternoon.

Harold Simonds, extension horticulturist, will leave February 1, to act as manager of a farm near Kansas City.

SPECIAL COURSE IN DAIRY WORK

PRESENT SHORT COURSE MEN WILL ENROL IN IT

Prof. J. B. Fitch Offering Two Weeks' Course in Dairy Husbandry—Place Men in Good Paying Positions

Prof. J. B. Fitch is offering a special two weeks' course in dairy husbandry during the last two weeks of the present short course. This course is for men who want to fit themselves for the position of milk tester.

These positions are paying $100 a month and expenses. The duties of the milk tester are to test milk and keep a record of amount of milk produced and the amount of feed fed during the time when tested.

At present there are a dozen vacancies to be filled and as the pay is good a great many short course men will probably take advantage of this opportunity to step into a good paying position.

Miss Marvel Merillat spent the vacation at Belleville.

At the University of Southern California, the Varsity and freshmen football teams were to be supernumeraries in a film featuring Jack Dempsey as a football hero. The "hero" failed to show up and the hero's record is thus delayed.

S. S. G. A. IS APPROVED BY THE FACULTY

IS NOW OFFICIAL GOVERNING BODY OF COLLEGE

PRESIDENT JARDINE FOR IT

Nominations Have Already Been Made for President and Vice President—Will be Elected in Near Future

The Students' Self governing constitution was approved late Monday afternoon by the faculty and President W. M. Jardine. A representative of the state board of administration was also present at the meeting when the constitution was approved.

Now Official Body

The association is now the official governing power of the agricultural college. Nominations have already been made for president and vice president. They will be elected by popular vote in the near future.

NEW MEN FOR AG FRATERNITY

ALPHA ZETA PLEDGES TEN UPPER CLASSMEN

All Professional Fraternities Are Becoming Active in the Agricultural College—Some New Honoraries

Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity, has pledged ten new men. In order to become a member of Alpha Zeta one must be an upper classman and must have done some exceptional work in agriculture.

The new pledges are: Morris Evans, Topeka, senior in agronomy; G. J. Ikenberry, Quinter, senior in agronomy; K. D. Thompson, Densmore, senior in animal husbandry; G. M. Drum, Garber, Mo., junior in animal husbandry; R. H. Lush, Altamont, junior in dairy husbandry; Paul C. Manglesdorf, Atchison, junior in agronomy; J. F. Brown, Toronto, junior in animal husbandry; L. H. Reyburn, Leavenworth, junior in animal husbandry; K. S. Quisenberry, Newton, sophomore in agriculture; S. J. Gilbert, Arkansas City, sophomore in agriculture.

Professional fraternities are becoming exceptionally active in the college this year. They are doing more in the way of advertising the school and at the same time raising the standard of work in the school, than any other class of organizations. Several new fraternities, one honorary for girl general science students and another honorary for all students who make exceptional grades in any department, are being formed.

The psychology department of the University of Kansas is mourning the death of some baby rats during the Christmas vacation.

CHINESE PAPER EDITED BY PHILIP YOUNG A SENIOR IN AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

The above cut shows a portion of the front page of the Chinese paper which was printed for Chinese soldiers in France. It was put out by the Y. M. C. A. and Philip Young, a senior in this college, was assistant editor of the paper.

Mr. Young was the only Chinese Y. M. C. A. worker in the group with which he associated.

The editors of the paper found some difficulty in printing their first edition as there was no Chinese type in France. But they sat down and wrote the paper in long hand. This was photographed and a zinc etching made from the photograph. This process of printing was later used by the Literary Digest during the recent printers' strike.

All of the Popular Girls Had a Queer Little Thrill As Names Were Announced

"Well for heaven sake," and that was all she said.

Her mouth was wide open, her face was as white as the sheets on wash day, her blue eyes gazed in amazement at the board on which was written, "Irene Graham — first place."

This is the way Irene looked and acted, when it was announced at the popularity ball that she was the most popular co-ed.

Now when Mildred Arends saw that she too was one of the six, she acted the part of the up-to-date girlie. She looked demurely down at her blue satin, and remarked to her partner.

"I thank my lucky stars that I borrowed this dress this evening, it looks better than my old blue one."

The fellow who said, "girls have forgotten how to blush," ought to have been there when Elizabeth Circles' name appeared on the popular list. She turned as red as a base burner and some say even her hair turned slightly pink. This blush wasn't a fake either—it was a real one of a lasting variety.

Ernestine, seeing her name, turned to her partner and with the Biby smile said, "see whom you have with you."

"I never dreamed of such a thing. It must be a mistake," that was all Gladys Bushong had to say.

Marguerite Bondurant smiled, opened her dorine, took out her puff, and calmly powdered her nose.

Six girls, each one different, each one a popular Aggie maid, and still the men claim, "Girls are all alike."

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Kappa Sigma Dance

The freshman members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity entertained the senior members with a dancing party Friday evening in Recreational hall. The Beta orchestra furnished the music for the dancing. Punch and wafers were served throughout the eveing. Prof. and Mrs. A. M. Doerner, Prof. and Mrs. W. F. Pickett, and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Evans were the chaperons of the evening.

Delta Tau House Dance

The members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity gave a dance Monday evening at their chapter house, 1224 Fremont. Punch was served during the evening to about 15 couples. The Finn-Strother orchestra played for the dance. Mrs. Bessie Birdsall, the Delta Tau house mother, chaperoned the party.

Dance at Community House

The senior sorority members gave an informal dance at the community house Monday evening. An orchestra composed of members from Shaffstalfs' and Maupin's orchestra played for the dancing. Punch and wafers were served during the evening to the 50 couples in attendance. The chaperons were Miss Dorothy Mills, Prof. A. E. Westbrook, and Prof. A. L. Lovejoy.

Bridge Party

Mrs. Harry Umberger, 1739 Fairchild, entertained Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. T. J. Talbert. The afternoon was spent at bridge. There were seven tables. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decoration of roses and carnations.

The Acacia fraternity announces the pledging of Frank Linn, of Manhattan.

Dinner Guests

Tuesday dinner guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house were Mr. Earl Chappel, Mr. Frank Hoath, and Mr. Dale Simondson.

Mr. Shannon Brown was a dinner guest at the Alpha Delta Pi house Thursday.

Miss Headrick was a dinner guest at the Kappa house Sunday.

Miss Juanita Weist was a dinner guest at the Alpha Delta Pi house Friday.

School of Ag. Meeting

There will be a general School of Agriculture meeting at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, January 27, in the college auditorium. All School of Agriculture students be present. 1t

Dinner Party

Miss Clementine Paddleford entertained with a dinner party Monday evening at her home, 1017 Poyntz. American beauty roses were used as a centerpiece. A four course dinner was served. The guests included Miss Evelyn Glenn, Miss Helen Lawrence, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Loren Van Zile, Frank Hoath, Lloyd Zimmerman, and Harold Woodard.

Engagements Announced

An occasion of unusual significance was a dinner party given at the hostesses' apartment Saturday evening to a group of the younger college faculty members, by Miss Josephine Perry, Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Marian Harrison, and Miss Mary McDonald.

The strains of D'Hardelot's "Because" led the guests to the dining room. Tall candles and a profusion of flowers centered interest in the fairy figure at the head of the table. The fairy held in her outstretched arms, two beautiful diamond rings. The engagement of Miss Doris Bugbey to Mr. Wiley B. Wendt, and of Miss Alice Lloyd Jones to Mr. Sidney Makepeace Wood of New York City, was then announced.

Miss Bugbey is a member of the faculty of music at K. S. A. C. and is prominent in musical and social life on the hill. Mr. Wendt is an associate professor of applied mechanics in the division of engineering.

Miss Alice Lloyd Jones is assistant professor of home economics education at the college here and is well known throughout the state for her work in this field.

Mr. Sidney Makepeace Wood, a New York business man, is president of the Landon Manufacturing company. Miss Lloyd Jones and Mr. Wood will probably be married about the first of May and will make their summer home at Long Beach, L. I.

The guests at the dinner were: Mrs. E. W. Fishback, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Florence Hunt, Miss Florence Hefzer, Prof. W. B. Wendt, Prof. R. W. Conover, Prof. C. D. Christoph, Mr. Jules Robert, and Prof. Arthur Peine.

OUT WEST

Did you ever live in the west?

Out in the west where one prairie follows another, to be broken only here and there by a small clump of sage brush? This is the land of opportunity, the land of sociability, the land of life.

Here you may meet a man who lives ten miles from you, and yet you know him just as well as if he were your next door neighbor.

"But what about the towns out west?" you ask. "Is it the same?"

The friendliness of these little towns can not be imagined. One has to live in one to appreciate them. Can you think of a place in the east, in this day of selection, cliques, and clubs, where the whole town would be invited to a party?

This is just what happens in the west. If your best girl comes to make you a visit, and your home or the hotel will not accommodate the crowd, you will most certainly have an out-of-door affair rather than slight any of the young folks of the community.

In such a place your name stands for some certain thing—and you live up to that thing. Everybody knows you. You know everybody, and life is worth while.

PRIZES AMOUNTING TO ONEHUNDRED DOLLARS TO BE GIVEN

All Persons Who Did Not Win a Prize Last Year Are Eligible to Enter Contest—Tri-K Pushes It

The Klod and Kernel club will hold its second annual grain judging contest the first week of April. Prizes to the amount of $100 will be awarded and it is expected that this second contest will be bigger and better than ever before.

Several enterprising seed companies in the middle west have been given an opportunity to contribute premiums to the contest, and already some of them have signified their intentions to do so.

All persons who did not win a prize last year are eligible to enter the contest. The Tri-K urges all students to try out. Last year there were 250 who took advantage of the judging contest.

There will be classes in small grain, wheat, barley, and oats, to place. Classes of corn and sorghums, as well as identification of grain damages, will make an interesting and profitable contest.

Everybody is talking about those good eats and drinks at the College Canteen at all hours. 1t

Miss Gladys Hoffman, who has been teaching in Riley, spent the week end visiting at the Tri Delta house.

Shannon Brown has gone to Bennington where he will teach science in the high school until next fall when he will return to K. S. A. C.

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

The Scandal Collegian was forced to suspend publication for a few issues because of the illness of the society editor, Miss Ima Tattletail.

We don't know who they were, but the editor of this sheet has it authentically that several college students attended a dance at Camp Funston one Sunday night.

Professor Price's Sunday school class has increased to an attendance of 170. He certainly must have promised a few more trips to Kansas City.

President Jardine is out of town. During his absence the paper will take the liberty of saying that the cowboys in Wyoming thought his address on "How to Bake Beans" was splendid and now they are thinking of attending K. S. A. C. in a body.

Professor Davis has made this statement, "Good slogan for a coal dealer—Own Your Own Lump of Coal." Judging from the number of lumps in Davis' cellar we would conclude that he had robbed the coal dealer—or a number of his friends.

The Pi Kas are glad to be quarantined as it gives them a chance to study for the final examinations.

But the Alpha Deltas sort o' miss their week end dates.

Saying nothing of the Kappas who almost got quarantined too.

But then measles and scarlet fever are only distantly related.

"Shifters" is a dead organization now. But say, how many of you folks are A. P. O.'s? All wishing to join mail one dollar to "U. Findout," Scandal Collegian office, in care of the Kansas State Collegian.

OTHER COLLEGES

Since the Ag men and the engineers at Iowa State college were so successful in having a day set aside for their respective divisions, the home economics department will now try the same stunt. They will present clever exhibits and original ideas.

The semi-centennial celebration of the founding of Iowa State college, will be held at commencement time, this year.

Oklahoma U. will try the honor system in that school, if plans which are being worked out now succeed.

After an examination of 900 freshmen at Harvard, the examiners learned that 43 per cent have had their tonsils removed, 9.5 per cent have parted with their appendices, 11 per cent were unable to swim, 80 per cent do not stand or walk correctly, and 37 per cent wear glasses.

Freshmen who enter Purdue U. will not be required to have credits in foreign language, in the future, but may substitute more vocational work.

A society for the promotion of creative arts of the University of Kansas has been organized. It will be known as the Nevin chapter and will include representatives from the music, art, and literature departments of the university.

Forty journalism students of Kansas university took charge of the Topeka Capital recently and edited one day's paper. The advertising men also looked over the Capper publications.

Two silver cups will be awarded by the manager of "Judge" for the college in America which wins the wits contest. The contest will be conducted as a track meet and any college student will be eligible. Pictures, poems, articles, and jokes will be submitted and paid for, the article submitted to count so many points towards the alma mater. This contest number of Judge will appear in March.

Nebraska university is trying to get back into the Missouri valley conference, from which she was expelled because she wanted to play a football game in Omaha, last season.

The new number of the "Sour Owl," K. U.'s well-known humorous magazine will appear on January 26 without any scandal. Scandal sheets, in the Kansas colleges, seems to have fallen suddenly into disfavor.

There are at least two cases of the dreaded sleeping sickness in the University of Missouri. Another student is suspected of having it. The disease is a result of toxic poisoning from flu.

Kansas university students are facing a serious problem in being unable to secure suitable rooming places in Lawrence. All the houses near the campus are holding up for exorbitant prices.

The Y. M. C. A. of Indiana university pulled one stunt over the eyes of old H. C. L. They served a ten cent bean supper to 150 active workers in the Y. at the cafeteria.

George Nettles, all- valley tackle in 1917 and 1919, was elected captain of the 1920 Jayhawker football squad at the annual banquet. Arthur Lonbborg was the only competitor.

Harlan Thomson, former editor of the University Daily Kansan and night editor of the Kansas City Star, has written a playlet which is being presented at the Orpheum, in Kansas City.

Sixty-eight students of the University of Oklahoma were paid $2.00 a day for cutting wood during the recent fuel shortage.

The juniors and seniors of Washburn college are "seeing the birdie" while having their faces put on paper for the 1920 "Kaw" yearbook.

Wint Smith who kicked that field goal in the K. U.-Aggie game last fall is sergeant at arms in the Kansas legislature.

Fifteen seniors in civil, electrical, and mechanical engineering at Oklahoma U. will leave about January 25 on an inspection trip through power plants and factories in Kansas City, Chicago, and intermediate points.

Robbers walked into the Phi Delta fraternity house at Iowa State college recently and picked up five gold watches, about $125 in cash, fountain pens, silver pencils, and other jewelry.

Alarm Clocks Have Healthy Lungs In The Early Morning

Alarm clocks have the funniest rings to 'em. If you don't believe it, just walk up 16th street from Leavenworth to the gym gate any morning, anytime between 6:15 and 7 o'clock.

Not every mortal can lie in bed until the breakfast bell rings. Some of us have to get out at least an hour earlier, in order that the rest of the world may eat waffles and bacon at 7:15. And in traveling to the college from our little two-by-twice we hear the alarms go off.

At the Acacia house there generally can be heard two, about six seconds apart. They ring in a tone not unlike the fire bell of Chicago. In a house across the street from the aforementioned abode, live a bunch of girls and their alarm clock sounds like the gently tinkling sounder used on the stage in "Mable's Sweetheart."

At the Sig Alph house there is one clock which echoes like the eruption of San Fransuvious. It rings loud enough to raise the dead. Two seconds later can be heard a heavy thud on the floor, indicative, evidently, that the sleeper has ariz.

Judging from the noise of the alarm clocks, it might be a good thing to suggest that anyone having a grudge against anyone else might send them a clock, patterned after any of the ones mentioned in this story.

There is certainly nothing the matter with the lungs of the clocks that are located on 16th street. They belong with the "thundering thousand" of football days and when we go to K. U. again, they would be a helpful addition to the special train's equipment.

O. A. Hindman, '18, is in a U. S. hospital in Biltmore, North Carolina, for an operation resulting from an injury received while he was in the army. He expects to be discharged in two or three months.

Dr. H. W. Brubaker, who has been unable to meet his classes for several weeks on account of illness, is back this week and able to conduct his classes.

C. A. Wallerstedt, E. E. '17, is now located at Allentown, Pa., with the Atlas Portland Cement company. He is at present engaged in designing safety appliances for the factory, which will run over $100,000 in cost.

Andy Axline spent the week end in Wichita.

Clayton Griffith spent the week end in Kansas City.

Ralph Hixson has been called to his home at Hiawatha by illness.

Miss Elizabeth Adams of Maple Hill and Miss Wilmia Roark of Topeka, spent the week end visiting at the Pi Phi house.

Miss Louise Adey of Wichita, visited at the Delta Delta Delta house over the week end.

Miss Gladys Scott spent the mid term vacation visiting at the Tri Delta house at Lincoln, Nebr.

Miss Rowena Turner spent the mid term vacation visiting Miss Lucile Halleck at Abilene.

DEAR OLD HEN

Dear Hen: Seein' as how this here Jack of yours hain't writ to you for a long time, I wanta right you and let you know that he hain't conductin' hisself like no gentleman should and that ain't no joke 'cause I sees him nearly every day and each time I sees him I says to myself that he's showin these here Aggie girls too much sport and haint playing true blue to his girl back in Spiveyville. But gal, howdy, I'm here to tell ya, this here Jack has got to let up on some of hisn foolishness or he's gonna get kicked outa school.

Well, sir, the othern night he went to a house called the Alpha Belts or Delts, I don't know which, and when he was interdused to his date he makes a big bow and kisses the gal on the hand—just as he used to do you in Spiveyville. Well, sir, I guess he didn't do it as gracefully as he used to cause that there girl hauled off and batted him up the side of one eye and then called fer the bouncer but let me tell you old Jack beat the bouncer to the door and that ain't no joke.

'Nuther thing too. This here Jack o yourn joined the shifters the other day and it cost him somethin' like $5 and that ain't no joke cause this mornin' Jack couldn't pay his landlady his rent and the landlady lowed as that wasn't no joke neither and so she calls fer another bouncer and Jack plays the funny guy again and beats it to hisn room. He locked his door, packed all hisn things and droped 'em out the window after which he followed and that ain't no joke.

Anuther thing, Hen. They're goin to publish a magazine called "Brown Bull" up here and when Jack hears about it he gets real humerus like and says to a fellow he doesn't know at all and he says he lowes as how it'll be full of bull alright and it happens as how this here other fellow was the editor of the magazine and now Jack is spending most of his time at the butcher shop and that ain't no joke.

Now listen, Hen, this letter is just ritten to you to let you know how Jack is standin and that he hain't doin you and Spiveyville rite by not riten to you and I hopes you crawls his frame for doin it and that ain't no joke.—A friend in need or indeed.

Glee Clubs Are Now Preparing for That Warbling Vaudeville

Deep mystery enshrouds the vodvil performance which the glee club is to put on January 30. It is known that the boys' glee club is to be assisted by the girls' glee club, but just what part in the proceedings the girls will play has not yet been discovered. Even the girls won't talk about that.

Of course, it is not unlikely that there will be some feminine warblers in the "Maids of Killarney" act. As for the act which Professor Lovejoy, who is directing the performance, says is going to be the big hit of the evening—the combination of a boy soprano and buck and wing dancer—well who knows what that will be? Who ever heard of a boy soprano? That part sounds as if the performer might be a member of the girls' glee club in disguise. But then who ever heard of a girl buck and wing dancer? So nobody knows—but everybody's guessing.

The glee club members will have the vodvil tickets for sale this week and all of next week. Tickets may also be purchased at the Co-op Book Store or at the Palace Drug store.

SHORT COURSES ARE PROVING PRACTICAL

PROFESSOR SAYS THEY ARE MOST EARNEST MEN ON HILL

Besides the Laboratory and Recitation Work, the Men Will Have a Number of Lectures by Members of Faculty

The new farmers' and engineers' short course that started with a large attendance on January 5 is proving practical, according to instructors.

Prof. W. H. Sanders, of the farm machinery department, says, "they are the most earnest men on the hill." The students, by intensive application to the work, which includes practically all laboratory work, are getting something that will be much worth while when their eight weeks' course is done. Besides the laboratory and recitation work, a series of lectures has been arranged.

Among those who will lecture are Dean Farrell and Dean Potter, Prof. J. W. Searson, Walter Burr, and President W. M. Jardine.

Boys, if you are in need of actual expense money, write to Box 8, Ottawa, Kansas. 35-tf

COLLEGIAN HAS A STRAW VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

ALL COLLEGE STUDENTS ARE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE

PARTY MAKES NO DIFFERENCE

But Only Votes Cast on Official Collegian Ballot Will be Accepted —Used to Prevent Graft in Votes

The 1920 political campaign at the Kansas State Agricultural college will be formally started on Tuesday, February 3, when the Collegian will conduct a "straw" nomination for presidential candidates.

A ballot box will be placed in Anderson hall to receive the ballots. There will be no age qualifications, but in order to vote, one must use the official ballot printed in the Collegian. Fill out the blank, stating your choice for presidential nominee, either party, and sign your name, to prevent fraudulent voting. The results of the straw vote will be published in the Collegian.

Every student should take advantage of this opportunity to express his choice for president. Show your interest in the real issue.

Miss Newsy Amazed— Money and Cafeteria Check Don't Balance

The slim young journalist helped herself generously to a knife and fork, two kinds of spoons, and all of the other essential equipment which accompanies a good cafeteria dinner.

Slowly she wound her way past the eats, taking plentifully of all the good things offered. At last, seated, napkined, and ready to preceed, she glanced carelessly down at her lunch check.

"Great Scott! forty-five cents," she exclaimed "and I only have twenty."

Her fork dropped jarringly, that first bite of spaghetti slid slyly off the fork, down the side of the soup bowl and into the whey.

But a journalist is quick to think, and not contrary to the rule so was this Miss Newsy. It wasn't too late to return the stuff. She hadn't eaten it yet. So she gathered up her salad, two kinds of dessert and the pork chop, and started back to begin again.

"Here," she said, to the girl at the check stand, "give me another ticket with smaller figures on it. My pocketbook and that check don't seem to hitch. I'll have to wait for dessert, until I get another check from Farm and Home Mechanics."

Dr. Merritt, Prof. Haymaker and All Of Them Celebrate

You have been bawled out, held up, held down, bull dozed, black jacked, walked on, cheated, mooched, and quizzed on every subject that is taught on the hill.

You have written term papers, taken term tests, on every imaginable theme. Liberty bonds, wood alcohol, baby bonds, bonds of matrimony, mother's pensions, state tax, dog tax, war tax, syntax, men's relief corps, woman's relief corps, and stomach relief are only a few of the vital questions you have viewed from every phase and angle.

Doctor Merritt, who is naturally a wee bit tired, celebrated with the best of them, and took his wife out two evenings in succession. Even Prexy got together a little trio and stepped forth to see the Sooners play croquet.

The Pi Kaps, being rather low in funds after the week's confinement to nosy poker, had a line party all by themselves to the Marshall. Girls are expensive things, especially on Saturday night. Therefore, they were eliminated as unnecessary luxuries.

The Sigma Phi Eps had one of their little stag parties with Daddy Macarthur to chaperon, and the Kappa Sigs staged a moonlight dance by the aid of floor lamps, in the recreational hall.

It was a wonderful week end. Even Professor Haymaker felt inspired to be hilarious and he bundled young son into a market basket and stepped out to the games.

Today is Tuesday. It's all over and you are back at the grind. The yellow flunk slips are carelessly arriving. Your new assignment is speckled with first hours. Golden school days are looking mighty brassy.

Roosevelt's Glasses

Ex-president Roosevelt was awkward and stupid as a boy until he suddenly discovered that he could not see as well as other boys.

He tells us that glasses changed his career.

Most backward children have defective eyesight. No boy or girl can do well in school who cannot see distinctly. With correctly fitting glasses nine out of every ten improve immediately in school work.

Success in school promises success in later life. Have your child's eyes examined at the first indication of trouble.

IF IT PLEASES THE COURT

You say you can't be pleased in ready to wear clothes. WHO TOLD YOU?

You've never had to have a Pullman seat rebuilt to fit you, HAVE YOU?

Your tooth paste wasn't compounded especially for your teeth WAS IT?

You've never turned down a piece of home made bread—kicked at running to a fire—yawned at a Douglas Fairbanks picture or stormed at seeing your name in the Society Column, HAVE YOU?

You are just a regular, good fellow, AREN'T YOU? No better or worse than the average— ISN'T THAT RIGHT?

Your friends wear READY clothes and look well DON'T THEY? So would you if you tried on the right kind. WILL YOU?

That last question is so important that we are going to ask it again. MAY WE?

Will you drop in the next time you are passing? There's no harm in trying on a few coats, IS THERE? All right, then, WHEN CAN WE EXPECT YOU?

PRIZE MANUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

One short article written for Quill club was by Mrs. Dorothy Finley, author of "Four Cherry Submarines," which was published in the Collegian several weeks ago. Here is another of her stories:

A pot of red geraniums in a window brings back memories of many happy childhood vacations spent at grandpa's on the farm.

It calls to mind a large roomy kitchen with its white pine floor covered through the center by a strip of hit or miss rag carpet. The white dimity curtains were tied back at the sides of the windows, and the red geraniums lent their color to the outside as well as to the room. A big old wooden rocker with red oil-calico covered cushions stood near the black shiny stove. A big gray cat always was asleep in the chair.

Through the open door one caught a glimpse of the pantry. Oh, the memories of that pantry, with its stone cooky jar placed low enough to be within reach of the smallest boy. That cooky jar must have possessed magic qualities, for it was never empty. Long rows of pumpkin and mince pies stood on the shelves ready for the next day's Thanksgiving dinner when the children would all be there.

A big wood box stood behind the stove, and grandpa always brought in an armful of wood every time he came in from the barn.

It is around the sitting room that the fondest memories cling. After the evening work is all done, and grandma has tied her white apron over her gray and black print dress, she lights the big lamp on the center table.

Grandpa piles the logs high in the broad fire place, pulls his big chair near and reads his paper or the family Bible. Or perhaps he looks at the almanac to see what the weather will be like for Thanksgiving.

Before long the steel rimmed spectacles are pushed up onto his forehead and he falls into a doze.

Grandma's mending drops to her lap as she gazes into the fire thinking of the morrow. The children and grandchildren will all be there for dinner. The big turkey is hanging on the porch all ready for the stuffing. All the other fixings are ready. After the evening shadows fall they will all sit around the fire place as in childhood and tell stories and sing songs. Grandma will slip out and bring in great plates of apples, doughnuts, and pitchers of cider.

Grandfather starts out of his doze and declares it must be late. He winds the big weight clock, puts out the cat and fixes the fire for the night.

Grandma puts away her work, and takes the turkey wing from the mantle to brush up the ashes, so everything will be orderly.

By 9:00 o'clock silence has settled down over the white house.

Many years have passed since the dear old couple have passed on, but these memories are very real. A feeling of sympathy comes over one for the man or woman who has no such memories.

To Address Tri-K Club

An address that will be of interest to all agricultural students will be delivered to the Tri-K club on the evening of February 4 in Waters' hall. Mr. Warburton, of the United States department of agriculture will give an account of the work done in the cereal investigation office.

Breakfast too, now being served at the College Canteen. 1t

HAS A RECORD REGISTRATION THIS SEMESTER

REGISTRATION STOPS AT 11 O'CLOCK TOMORROW

TAKE FEE CARDS TO ENROL

All Who Can Are Urged to Fill out Their Own Assignment Slips as the Time for All to Enrol Is Very Short

Enrolment for the second semester started at 8 o'clock this morning. Students were gathered at the auditorium by 6 o'clock in the morning in order to get a small number tag for the registration.

It is expected by the committee on enrolment that there will be a record number of students in school this semester. Many new students are entering and it takes much more time for them to complete their registration than it does the students who were here the first semester.

In order to prevent further confusion, the committee on enrolment wishes to remind all students to bring their fee receipts with them. And the committee also wants all, who can, to fill out their own assignment cards before they start registering.

The doors will close at 11 o'clock tomorrow so everyone must be on hand before that time.

The Graceful Five Prove Farmers Are Not Awkward Type

Farmers are not graceful. They are as awkward as pet mice. This is the opinion of our university brothers.

But the poor deluded brothers down the Kaw, will likely change their minds when they meet the Farmers' graceful five in basketball.

Every man is as graceful as the statue of liberty. Now there is Jennings, tall and slim, a perfect seven feet of gracefulness. He can give the most artistic springs into the air and tip the ball right into Shorty's hands.

Of course Shorty doesn't look exactly graceful, with all those bunches of muscle over his arms; but as one of the girls said, he has to be doing double neck speed down the court to look aesthetic. So when you look at Shorty Cowell, try to get a birds-eye-view, when he is on the wing.

Hinds has often been dubbed the Aggie monkey, for he can leap, twist, run, and jump with the agility and grace of our biological ancestors. He is little; but always up and coming.

Now Shorty Cowell's baby brother has the grace of the whole Cowell family, except for a wee bit donated to Shorty. He can play a whole game and not even his hair gets mussed up. He looks just as calm and dignified as a vogue fashion plate and you just bet young Shorty, too, knows how to play the game.

Bunger isn't of the slim sweet sixteen type, like Jennings, but still he looks very well. It's hard to realize that Bunger is such a good looking fellow until you see him dolled up in his play clothes, then you realize, he was built for basketball. He can do forty per down the court, push his opponents over the side lines, or throw them off over his left shoulder, then take a curved ascent into the air and the ball drops through the basket.

Occasionally Knostman steps into the game and shows them how to stand and balance on one finger or one toe. Freddie, too, gets in now and then. Next year he is going to be a second Hinds; for when it comes to monkey shines, he is full of them.

Our brothers down the Kaw have likely heard of the three graces; well K. S. A. C. can boast of more than that, for we have seven.

Paul Jeffcoat, member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, has reentered school.

Have you enrolled in canteen lab? Basement of Anderson hall. Classes continuous from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. Everybody invited. 1t

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Yes, there is going to be one, just for the benefit of the girls and for the amusement of the fellows.

It will appear once a week, starting in Friday's issue. It will contain beauty hints, cupid receipes, and answers to any questions the perplexed co-ed may wish to ask.

All questions must be directed to Madam Marie Beauchamp, care of the Collegian. Now just a word about this French dame. The head of the journalism department has hired her, fresh from Paris, for the sole purpose of conducting Mi Lady's Collegian column.

Girls this is the opportunity of a life time. She will answer any question on any subject. All questions should be sent in early in the week in order that the Madam may have time to meditate before giving her answers, for the Friday issues.

Conserve Your Sight

IMMEDIATE AND CAREFUL ATTENTION should be given to the first indication of eye trouble. You are fortunate if you have found it unnecessary to wear glasses, but indeed unfortunate if you have neglected to do so when it is really urgent. By correcting a slight error in your sight today you will save a multitude of troubles later on in life.

CROWDER'S

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1920 — NO. 37

START FARM-HOME WEEK ON TUESDAY

OVER TWO THOUSAND WILL VISIT THE COLLEGE

HAVE FORTY SPECIALISTS

Six State Associations Will Meet at College During the Week—Short Course in Cream Station Work Offered

Farm and Home week will start next Tuesday and will last until February 7. It is expected that more than 2,000 persons will attend and so college students and towns people are making arrangements to entertain the guests for the week.

Farm and Home week has been called a clearing house of agricultural ideas. It is the farmer's university—the farmer's, his wife's, and their children's, for the program incorporates matters of interest to father, mother, sons, and daughters.

Six Associations Meet

Six state associations will meet at Manhattan during the week. The Kansas Crop Improvement association, of which Fred G. Laptad, Lawrence, is president, will hold its annual conference February 4. The Kansas State Dairy association, of which George Lenhert, Abilene, is president, is scheduled for the same day. The Kansas Horse Breeders' association, of which D. F. McAlister, Topeka, is president, also will meet on the fourth. The Kansas Sheep Breeders' association, of which A. L. Stockwell, Larned, is president, will meet February 3. The Kansas Shorthorn Breeders' association, of which Paul Salter, Wichita, is president will meet February 5, and the Kansas Duroc Jersey Breeders' association, of which L. L. Humes, of Glen Elder, is president, will meet February 6.

Allen and Waters Come

Governor Allen and Dr. H. J. Waters, former president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, are among the prominent speakers scheduled.

A complete short course for cream station operators and a complete short course for commercial beekeepers will be offered during the week.

NEW STUDENTS THIS SEMESTER

BUT MANY OF FIRST SEMESTER STUDENTS STOPPED

Registration Ended Wednesday Noon—Figures of Enrolment Can Not be Given until Registrar Has Compiled Figures

Registration for the second semester closed at noon Wednesday. The final figures of enrolment can not be given until the records are all completed, but the figures are not as high as was expected.

The enrolling for this semester took nearly a day's less time than the first semester did. This was due to the fact that practically all the students had their assignments made out before going "through the mill."

A number of new students came for the second semester and a number of the first semester students did not return. No definite information can be given until the registrar's office has compiled all the figures.

MIDDLETON FAILS TO APPEAR FOR POSTPONED PERFORMANCE

Sudden Attack of Influenza Prevents Opera Singer from Coming

Arthur Middleton, metropolitan opera baritone, who was scheduled to appear in a postponed recital here last evening, failed to appear a second time.

When Mr. Middleton was here the first time he was in bad voice and also had lost his music. But this time he has the influenza. The sickness came on him suddenly while he was giving a selection at the University of Missouri. He fell on the stage and was rushed to the hospital.

No plans have been made for his appearance here at a later date.

Miss Leah McIntyre of Topeka, and Miss Barbara Murray of Ash Grove, Mo., both members of the Delta Zeta sorority, have entered college for the second semester. Both Miss McIntyre and Miss Murray are seniors in the division of home economics.

John McIntyre of Topeka, was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Monday evening.

Miss Ethel Roop spent the week end at her home in Wakefield.

Miss Geraldine Noffsinger spent the week end with relatives in Topeka.

Miss Mae Pagels spent the week end at her home in Beatrice, Nebr.

CENSUS TAKERS COUNTING HEADS

COLLEGE STUDENTS MAY BE ENUMERATED TOO

Students Working Their Way Thru School or Those Who Have Not Been Counted Elsewhere Should be Listed Here

The 1920 census, which is being taken all over the country, will soon be completed in Manhattan. College students who are working their way thru school or who know that they have not been counted elsewhere, should be counted in the census here.

All college students who wish to be counted in this census should telephone or call personally at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The census this year should be accurate as the estimated census for the next ten years will be based on the 1920 figures.

VOTE FOR ONE IS ONLY ORDER

ANY COLLEGIAN SUBSCRIBER MAY HELP CHOOSE PRESIDENT

Politicians, Come Forward and Prove that You Have Some Pep and Interest in the Questions of the Day

Come on, you politicians, show what a lot of pep there is in the Kansas Ag college in the choice of presidential candidates. Remember, it does not make any difference now whether you are masculine or feminine, because this election is open to all who use the official ballot printed in the Collegian.

Dig out your Tuesday's issue, clip the ballot and put it in the ballot box in Anderson Hall on Monday or Tuesday. Name any candidate you please, disregard party lines if it is necessary, but use the common sense usually accredited to college students.

There should be at least ten names on the Grand Old Party list; nearly as many on the Bourbon ticket some Socialists and Independents and maybe a Red or two. There are fifteen hundred names on the Collegian subscription list and there should be as many ballots cast. If the college students are not already voters they will be soon. Therefore, they should show their interest in up-to-date politics, and the Collegian Presidential Straw election will give them an opportunity to do so.

STUDENT IN COILEGE WINS PRIZE FOR WRITING STORY

Warren E. Crabtree Gets Second Place in Better Farming Contest

Warren E. Crabtree, senior in agriculture in the Kansas State Agricultural college, won the second prize offered by Better Farming for the best agricultural feature story submitted by a college student.

Mr. Crabtree's article deals with the use of the tractor and of horses on the prairie farms of the middle west. It was written last spring in the class in agricultural journalism taught by John M. Gleissner. The article is illustrated with photographs by the author.

He Leaves Fiancee Here To Experiment With Grasshoppers

"Prince Lochinvar rode out of the west—leaving his intended bride to watch over the grasshoppers." This is the way the poem would have been written if the characters had been scientific folk.

For a true scientist, be it known to the uninitiated, realizes that "love's young dream" can be dreamed 'most any old time, but grasshopper experiments wait for no man or his wedding day.

So when Lochinvar, the scientist, receives a call from another college and rides into the east, he does not sling his fiancee over his saddle horn, but leaves her behind with her grasshoppers and his best wishes for a successful experiment. Being of a scientific mind, this Lochinvar realizes the importance of finding out which food is most nutritious for grasshoppers.

K. S. A. C. has the honor of possessing two scientists who have the above mentioned scientific attitude—or at least K. S. A. C. did have them, for one of them belonged to the department which has recently lost three members. The feminine scientist is still here—she belongs to that department which—oh, well what department would you naturally expect to find experimenting with grasshoppers and such?

ROYAL PURPLE WANTS SNAPS

EVERYONE IS ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE A PICTURE

All Organizations That Buy Two Pages Will be Given One Page Free for Snapshots—Must be in by February 15

Every person in college is going to have a chance to contribute snap shots to the Royal Purple. A box will be placed in Anderson hall next week and every student in college is asked to drop in at least one snap shot. If you have a joke write it on the back of the picture.

Each organization taking two or more pages in the class book will be given one page free for snap shots. These pictures should be turned in by February 15 to W. E. Crabtree, editor of the snap shot section. He will assist any person from the organization in mounting the pictures. All organization pictures must be taken at the Royal Studio by February 15.

SENIOR IN JOURNALISM DIED TUESDAY MORNING

Was Popular Among Students—Member of Professional Fraternities

Mrs. Laura Shingledecker Neale, a senior in industrial journalism, died Tuesday morning at her home across the Kansas river. The funeral services were held at the A. S. Neale home at 1642 Fairchild Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Neale was a popular young woman among the college students. She was a member of Quill, professional fraternity of writers, and of Theta Sigma Chi, professional journalistic fraternity for women. She was also active in a number of other organizations.

Mrs. Neale would have been graduated from the college this year.

Ship Winter and Jack Hill spent the week end at their homes in LeCompton.

Leslie Edmonds was a Saturday dinner guest at the Acacia house.

Sunday dinner guests at the Acacia house were Miss Mildred Arends, Miss Madge Caston, Miss Louise Dawson, Miss Bess Curry, Miss Marguerite Bondurant, and Miss Grace Merrilat.

Prof. R. W. Conover was a Wednesday dinner guest at the Acacia house.

The Bible study committee of the ministerial association urges all new students to attend a Bible class in the church of their choice. Each church has courses that will be of great benefit to those who will attend. No student is fully trained for life who has not a living knowledge of the Book of books.

EIGHT ACTS OF VAUDEVILLE TO BE PRESENTED

EVERY ACT IS BIG SUCCESS IN ITSELF

TONIGHT IN THE AUDITORIUM

Starts at Eight Sharp—One Act Is Surrounded with Mystery While Others Are to Contain Fancy Dancing

The vodvil performance, which has been engaging the attention of Prof. A. L. Lovejoy and the glee club for so long a time, will actually "break forth" this evening at eight sharp in the college auditorium.

Given in Acts

The first act is to be a mild one, so that the shock may be broken gently. It is to be a selection, or selections from the orchestra.

The second act is Ham, the Prologue. Now prologues seem to be rather uncommon things, but as nearly as this sheet can make out, prologues are to the stage what soup is to the menu. Considering that, it seems funny that the prologue is Ham, doesn't it?

The Appolo club, 24 trained college men, comes next. Vodvil audiences are used to trained seals, trained lions, trained most everything else, but trained college men will indeed be a novelty.

Stewart and Knapp come next with a bit of action and song. Some folks have been hinting around that this is the act in which the boy soprano and buck and wing dancer are to make his, her, or their appearance.

The Hawaiian Serenaders are fifth, with T. E. Tseu playing the stellar role. Mr. Tseu is a native Hawaiian and an expert on the steel guitar.

When the White Hussars come on the stage the audience will at last have an opporunity to settle the weighty question of whether or not girls can play in a Hussar band.

The Maid of Killarney act claims to be a flower esipode. Just what this means nobody seems to know, but it sounds interesting anyhow.

And last, but far from least comes the Minstrel act which Hap O'Brien, who is the ring leader of the affair, claims is superior even to the far famed Chi Omega minstrels.

MONEY GOES TO EX-SERVICE MEN

TO BE GIVEN IN FORM OF SCHOLARSHIPS

Fund Is Not for Vocational Men, Dr. A. A. Holtz Explains—Committee of Three to Award the Scholarships

"This fund is to be used in aiding ex-service men, not vocational men, in obtaining an education," Dr. A. A. Holtz said in explaining the formation of an educational fund in possession of the Y. M. C. A. This money was left over from the war drives.

The aid will be given to the ex-service men in the form of scholarships of $50 to $500 each. These scholarships will be administered by a committee of three, one member to be appointed by the Chamber of Commerce, one by the Y. M. C. A. and one by the president of the college.

FARM MAIDS TAKE DANCING

NEW COURSE BY MISS BOND PROVES INTERESTING

Interpretative Dancing Is New Subject for K. S. A. C.—50 Girls Who Took it First Semester Have Enrolled Again

The 50 farmer maids who started the interpretative dancing course last fall have all enrolled for the advance work in the course.

The course is entirely new in the college and was really started in the fall by Miss Edith Bond as an experiment. But the girls are so pleased with the work that she has decided to teach an advanced class in the course this semester.

The course is not to teach dances but to teach dancing. It is a training of the muscles. Complete mastery of the muscles must be obtained in order that the dancer may relax or contract them at will.

Beside the training of the muscles the course gives to the girls a greater appreciation of music. It also gives a self assurance and poise which can never be lost after it is once obtained.

STUDENTS' FIRE LOSS IS HEAVY

ROOMERS AT 1019 MORO BURNED OUT

Co-operative Boarding Club Loses Grocery Supply—Cooper, the Barber Is Most Concerned About Phonograph

Ten college students are out of luck and out of rooms because of the disastrous fire that nearly destroyed Joe Cooper's home at 1019 Moro, yesterday morning.

The ten roomers lost heavily because most of them were away from home when the fire started. But the heaviest loss was to the 30 college students who were operating a co-operative boarding club at the house. Nearly $300 worth of groceries stored in the cellar for the students' use, was destroyed. The roomers lost much in books, clothing, etc.

Joe Cooper, who lived in the house, is the owner and operator of the college barber shop in Anderson hall. He was not informed of the fire until it was practically over. When told of his loss, the first thing he exclaimed was,

"Did they save the Victrola?"

TECHNICAL WORK NOT ONLY THING

OLDEST ENGINEERING TEACHER ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Says It Isn't What One Studies but How the Studying Is Done That Determines Success after Leaving College

It isn't what one studies but how it is studied that determines one's success after leaving college, is the idea as expressed by Dr. Ira O. Baker, professor of civil engineering of the University of Illinois, in an address at student assembly Thursday.

Oldest Veteran of Engineering

Doctor Baker has taught engineering for over 45 years and this gives him the distinction of being the oldest veteran of his profession. He is the father of Prof. C. F. Baker of this college.

"It isn't the quantity of facts that we may learn," Doctor Baker continued, "that makes us successful. It is the manner in which we can apply our knowledge that makes us big men and women."

Directed to All Students

Doctor Baker's address was primarily to engineers, but he made it touch every student in college.

A student should aspire to more than mere technical education. He should have a large perspective of what he can do with his knowledge. Resuts of investigations carried on in the engineering field show that only 25 per cent of the success of engineers depends upon their technical knowledge. The remaining 75 per cent of success is due to such characteristics as integrity, initiative, common sense, efficiency, executive ability, and social qualities.

Harold Sebring spent the week end at his home in Gardner.

Allen Coles of Seneca, was a week end guest at the Acacia house.

Willard Howe, Charles M. Haughton, and Hobart Fairman, of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, have reentered college.

Thomas Constable and Harry Nelson spent the week end at their respective homes in Minneapolis and Bennington.

ORATORS ARE CHOSEN FOR THE CONTEST

FINAL TRYOUTS FOR CONTEST WERE HELD

TO BE GIVEN FEBRUARY 28

Floyd Hawkins, E. Hartman, Miss Biby, Miss Sappenfield, Miss Cate, J. O. Brown, M. A. Graham, and C. S. Howard Contestants

The final tryouts for the orators, who will take part in the annual intersociety oratorical contest have been held and the orators chosen. The contest will be held February 28.

The Hamilton literary society will be represented by Floyd Hawkins with an oration entitled "The Autocracy of the Classes and the Masses."

The Webster literary society has chosen Ernest Hartman for its orator with an oration on the labor problem.

Miss Ernestine Biby will represent the Eurodelphian society. Her oration will be on the immigration problem.

Miss Blanche Sappenfield was chosen as the Browning orator. Her subject will be "Labor's Might or Labor's Right."

Miss Dora Cate is the representative orator for the Ionian society and her oration is entitled "The Challenge of Peace."

Mr. J. O. Brown will represent the Alpha Beta literary society and his oration is entitled, "The Consumer's League."

The Athenian literary society will be represented by M. A. Graham, whose oration is entitled "The New Industrial Order."

The Franklin literary society has chosen C. S. Howard to be its representative orator. The subject of his oration is "Law and Order."

Competition to be the representative orators of the different literary societies has been keen among the members this fall. Several of the students who have won places have been working on the orations since the last contest.

FARMERS GO TIGER HUNTING

AGGIES MEET MISSOURI IN BASKETBALL TONIGHT

Dual Contest Today and Tomorrow Will Probably Decide the Missouri Valley Championship for This Year

The Farmer quintet left last night for Columbia where they will meet the Tigers in a dual basketball game Friday and Saturday of this week.

The men have gone with the thought that these two games will practically decide the Valley championship for basketball. For two years the Tigers and Aggies have battled for the top position. This year neither team has suffered a defeat.

Aggies Are Fast

The large number of scores that the Aggies have piled up in their six games show that they are efficient in making the baskets. The Farmers have made over 235 points already this season. Their opponents have made less than 60 points.

The game at Missouri university will start with Bunger and Hinds at forward, Cowell brothers on guard, and Jennings at center. Knostman and Williams and several others will be there ready to jump into the game at any minute.

John E. Tillotson, member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity has gone to New York where he will enter Columbia university the second semester. Mr. Tillotson intends to take up advertising in the school of business.

Marshall P. Wilder spent the week end in Topeka.

R. C. Nichols spent the week end in Topeka.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1920

TO MRS. NEALE

In the death of Laura Shingledecker Neale, who was a student of the college, there is felt by all who had the privilege of claiming her as a friend, a profound loss.

She was what we all would like to be, always a true friend and always jolly. She had a cheery hello for every one and was always ready with a witty remark or a good joke.

She was never idle for a minute of the day. Along with her college studies she worked part of the time as a stenographer. During the first two years of her college work she supported herself and a younger sister.

Although Laura was always busy she had time to give to her friends. She was interested in many things and took part in numerous college activities.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE DID

Students in the agricultural college, should be more than interested in what the Kansas state legislature did in its special meeting. The measures, which were passed, will affect every student in the college sometime. The session was a marked contrast to the regular session of 1919 in which the house and senate seemed to take a particular delight in strangling the governor's pet schemes.

But practically every measure that Governor Allen asked for was passed. Here is what the legislature did:

Established the court of industrial relations.

Abolished the public utilities commission.

Turned all utilities powers and duties over to industrial court.

Gave industrial court power to regulate packing houses and stock yards.

Enacted an anti-syndicalism law, modeled on Oregon statute.

Made possible 50 per cent increases in salaries of public school teachers.

Created state free employment bureau.

Appropriated $50,000 for the national guard.

Broadened life insurance laws, but didn't touch compensation act.

Increased salaries of supreme court justices and district judges.

Increased salaries of a number of state employees.

Killed Richard J. Hopkins' anti-profiteering bill.

Killed attorney general's municipal ice plant and fuel yard measures.

Killed Simpson anti-profiteering bill.

Enacted fifty local measures, mostly increasing tax levy limits and salaries.

Protected Pottawatomie Indians from mescal.

Appropriated $325,000.

Extended official recognition to the split infinitive.

Registration Simple If You Know How To Change The Numbers

"All those having numbers below 150, come in."

Jim went forward. He acted indifferent, handed the man number 144, and entered the door. Then he smiled.

"I'm sorta glad that alarm clock didn't go off after all. Here I was going to get up at 5 o'clock but made it at 7:30 instead. I drew number 644, changed it to 144 and here I am."

But Jim wasn't the only one who changed his number. When the doorkeeper counted his slips at the end of the first day's registration, he found that 300 persons had gone in with numbers under 100. Here's a chance for some one to make a riddle. How can 300 persons go in under 100 numbers if each person has a separate and different number? Answer—they don't.

Argonne Signer is Not Enthused Over System Of Signing

"The registration system here is much more rigid than any red tape line I ever went through in the army," one of the ex-service men who is taking vocational work in the college, said to me today. "There's nothing like accuracy, you know," I broke in. "You wouldn't go back to the army, would you?"

"No sane man would I was mighty glad to get out of the army. Believe me the peaceful life here on the hill is quite different from the Argonne battle. Why, the most exciting thing I've seen on this campus was the ducking of the freshmen and the president made them stop that.

"I like to see the R. O. T. C. men drill. It rather reminds me of the days when I was in the ranks, plodding along with my feet sore and tired. I'd like to see some of these fellows get over there in a trench with the mud up to their knees. They'd last about ten minutes.

"But these assigners certainly give me a pain. They act as if they were generals and we were buck privates coming to ask for a furlough. When I registered the first semester, one guy treated me as if I didn't know a thing. Told me I didn't need this and that, I should take some other fool thing. They ought to consider that I know my own mind and know what I want to take.

"I tell you, boy, this registration isn't any joke. In the army I went through the red tape when I went in and then again when I was discharged, but here you have to go through line after line twice every year for the full four years. Ye Gods!"

OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS FOR ROYAL PURPLE

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

Did any of you notice the funny couple at Tuesday's dance. The man was a foot taller than the girl yet he stooped until his cheek came close to hers. The man's position reminded one of an ostrich of the human variety.

Wonder if the Kappas are going to do any altruistic work this year?

Wonder why so many students are rushing for classes under Doctor Merritt? Gladys Peterson is taking eight hours' work under him.

Professor Haymaker has purchased a larger market basket.

The Betas are buying second hand books for the second semester while the Sig Alphs are swiping new ones.

In a recent hand-to-hand encounter with his landlady, Karl Quisenberry, assistant in agronomy, was severely injured. The two had had harsh words about the payment of a board bill and the cook struck Quisenberry with a can opener.

A certain Pi Ka is getting restless because his fraternity brothers have "kidded" him considerably about putting out his pin.

The Ionians may have won first in the Royal Purple selling contest but look who helped them. But the Hamilton claim that they did it merely to "help a sister by." We are inclined to believe, however, that they did it for about $25.

Here is a model lead from a story written for the class in argicultural journalism: How the farmer can make easy money is a problem that has been solved by Mr. Alex Krug, formerly of Russell. Mr. Krug used to be a carpenter but becoming encumbered by a family of considerable size, he considered that financial remuneration through this enterprize was not sufficient for a future outlook and hence turned his attention to what he considered scientific farming.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady: Is it sensible for a college girl to wear silk hose and low shoes in January?—Jamie.

Yes, it is quite proper. In fact college girls these days are not supposed to be sensible, so it is entirely in order for girls to wear silk hose and low shoes in January, providing that said girls are good looking and have only one pair of shoes to wear. And further providing that the girls are immune from influmonia and pneuenza.—Mi Lady.

Dear Madam: I know this column is supposed to be for the girls; but just this once I would like to have a hearing. To begin with I might just as well say I am a boy and a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. To get down to brass tacks, this is what I want to know: If a fellow has his pin out on a high school girl, should he ask for it back just because his frat brothers think he is rocking the cradle? She is an awful nice little girl and I hate to hurt her feelings. If you can, answer this right away, because I may want to be looking for another girl.—Puzzled Zeke.

Dear Zeke: No don't ask for the pin back. If the boys do make life miserable for a while just remember that even high school girls grow up in time. It would hurt the little girl's feelings too, for likely she is mighty proud of her college frat pin —Mi Lady.

Mi Lady: I've been invited to the freshman Pan Hellenic. Now, it is formal for girls but not for boys. It is also a leap year party; the girls are going to take the boys in the taxis this time. Shall I send my girl flowers?—Woody.

Dear Woody: "Say it with flowers." This idea of girls putting on a leap year party is fine but you have never seen one who wasn't tickled to death whenever a boy sent her some flowers. However, if you don't send flowers there is always the excuse that you couldn't get any that were good enough for her or that she asked you so late that the flower shop couldn't fill your order. But it's safer for you to send the flowers.

Dear Lady Mine: If you were a little freshman about seventeen years old and a fraternity pledge asked you to go to a dance called Pan Hell, would you go? I would like to accept the invitation because I like that boy, even if he did get taken in by a frat. I don't know what to do. I belong to the Methodist church, and I don't know whether my folks would approve of my going to a dance with such a wicked name. I always did want to go to a rough dance sometime. Now I have the chance, would you go if you were me?—Laura.

Dear Deluded One: Pan Hell, is the nick name for Pan Hellenic. The dance will be a lovely affair, with dozens of chaperons. It will be perfectly safe and tame. You must go by all means and be sure to wear your prettiest dress.—Mi Lady.

REGULAR STUDENT DANCE IN ANDERSON SATURDAY

Special Five Piece Orchestra for Music

The regular student dance will be given Saturday evening in the recreational hall, starting at 8:30.

A special 5-piece orchestra will furnish the music. The only charge made for these dances is an assessment sufficient to cover actual expenses. The admission usually is about 55 cents each.

Dr. J. R. Macarthur and Paul L. Fetzer went to Kansas City between semesters to attend the John McCormack concert.

Conserve Your Sight

IMMEDIATE AND CAREFUL ATTENTION should be given to the first indication of eye trouble. You are fortunate if you have found it unnecessary to wear glasses, but indeed unfortunate if you have neglected to do so when it is really urgent. By correcting a slight error in your sight today you will save a multitude of troubles later on in life.

With New Clothes Like These A Sale Is Superfluous

The only thing that can be said in defense of the January Sale is that it cleans house of undesirable numbers.

We never invite anything but the best, so with us, a sale is about as unnecessary as an elevator in a bungalow.

Ground floor, rock bottom prices at the start of the season.

At this time of year, instead of worrying about back numbers, we are initiating new members.

Today for example:

Young men's new Belted Suits that are so new that you can almost feel the heat from the tailor's goose. At $40 there is nothing in the city or in a sale that will compare with them for beauty, brawn or bargains.

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1920 — NO. 38

POSTPONE THE ANNUAL FARM FESTIVAL NOW

PRESIDENT JARDINE DELAYS OVER 2,000 VISITORS

President States That He Does Not Wish to Expose the Students to the Disease—Date to be Announced Later

The annual Farm and Home Week festival, which was scheduled to start yesterday and to last until the seventh, has been postponed. This will change the plans of more than 2,000 persons who had planned to attend.

The postponement isindefinte, due to the influenza epidemic which started here the latter part of last week. President Jardine, in making the postponement of the festival, said that he did not wish to expose the students to any further dangers.

The date of the Farm and Home Week will be announced as soon as the flu is under control in the state.

ORAL LANGUAGE MUST BE GOOD

ENGINEERS SHOULD PAY MORE ATTENTION TO ENGLISH

Prof. I. O. Baker Says That Engineers too Often Neglect Their English and so Spoil Their Big Chances for Success

"The ability to speak and write clear and forceful English is the most valuable asset of an engineering student," declared Prof. Ira O. Baker, of the University of Illinois, to the engineering students last Thursday.

"This accomplishment is generally neglected by the engineering student," the speaker continued "because he is so ambitious. He wants to succeed as an engineer so he takes only engineering subjects. When he does have to take English he generally does it half-heartedly because he does not think it practical.

"To gain the ability to write and speak clearly and forcefully you must, first of all, have the desire to do so. You must watch your oral language in ordinary conversation. Beware of slang; it is a discredit to you and generally denotes an impoverished vocabulary. Watch your oral recitation. Be careful in written quizzes and examinations. Finally, if you can possibly work it in, take a course in public speaking."

Athenian Elects

The Athenian Literary society elected at its meeting Saturday evening the following officers for the spring semester: Calvin J. Medlin, president; W. W. Fetrow, vice president; Ray Ferree, recording secretary; C. H. Howe, corresponding secretary, Guy M. Brown, treasurer; Ray Knox, marshal; C. E. Hutto, critic; and Arthur Collum, prosecuting attorney.

Thursday dinner guests at the Pi Phi house were Miss Helen Rannels, Miss Judith Craig, Miss Ruth Briggs, and Miss Hazel Olson.

TO AVOID INFLUENZA

Stay away from the fellow who coughs, sneezes or spits.

Don't use public drinking mouth.

Don't put fingers in your mouth.

Dont use public drinkink cups.

Wash your hands before eating, or before handling food which another person must eat.

Pour boiling water on all dishes or eating utensils in the home.

Open the windows of the school room and home, but only on one side of the room at one time—avoid draft.

Keep the feet warm and dry, and avoid undue exposure to cold fatigue.

Live simply.

BRUCE WILSON GETS CALL TO WASHINGTON AS EXPERT

Consults Concerning the Preparation of Exhibits

Bruce Wilson, assistant in cooperative experiments, K. S. A. C., who prepared the composite Kansas farm exhibit shown at state and national fairs this year, has been called to Washington to consult with the Department of Agriculture concerning the preparation of exhibits.

The composite Kansas farm, which occasioned considerable comment at the International Soils Products exposition in Kansas City and the International Livestock exposition at Chicago, represented in realistic form, pasture, forest, orchard and all crops in proportion to the number of acres statistics show an average Kansas farm would contain.

WILL SPRING AT JAYHAWK NEXT

MEET OLD OPPONENTS ON HOME COURT THIS WEEK END

Comparative Scores on Missouri Games Give Aggies no Advantage but Other Games Place Farmers Ahead

The Aggie Wildcat is anxiously awaiting the week end basketball contest, for revenge is sweet. The Jayhawker Bird from Lawrence will invade Aggieville at that time and the local men are confident of victory. K. U.'s jinx on the football field has not affected basketball contests and the Aggies have repeatedly shown their superiority on the indoor court.

Comparative scores of the M. U.-K.U. game and the Aggie-M. U. would not indicate much advantage for the Farmers but comparative scores of other games give the Clevenger machine much the better of the dope.

K. U. will undoubtedly come prepared to put up one of the hardest fights of the season but the Aggies will also be prepared. All the men are in good condition after their trip and the hard training grind will begin again on the first practice of the week.

TWO GIRLS TO TAKE SIX PHYS. TRAINING SUBJECTS

Agnes Handlin and La Tona Rohrer Have Signed up for Everything

There are two girls in the school who don't dislike physical training, for they have signed up for every subject taught in that department.

Miss Agnes Handlin and Miss La Tona Rohrer have each taken six physical training subjects for this spring semester, along with their other college work. They have enrolled for physical training, swimming, basketball, folk dancing, interpretative dancing, and aesthetic dancing.

Mrs. F. E. Engle of Beatrice, Nebr. visited Miss Margaret Dowell Wednesday.

Searson to Head Aurthors' Club

Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the English department, was elected president of the Kansas Authors' club at the annual banquet held in Topeka Friday, January 13. K. S. A. C. persons elected to membership were: Miss Ada Rice, Miss Clementine Paddleford, Mrs. Bernard Ulrich, Dr. J. R. Macarthur, Prof. R. W. Conover, Walter Burr, C. E. Rogers, and H. A. Moore. Prof. N. A. Crawford, who with J. W. Searson left Friday morning to attend the banquet gave one of the most interesting talks of the evening upon the subject: "Poetry of the Middle West."

Lincolns Elect Officers

The Lincoln literary society has elected the following officers for the second semester: President, William E. Machenda; vice president, Edwin Hedstrom; recording secretary, B. J. Miller; corresponding secretary, Edwin Glover; treasurer, Randall C. Hill; critic, Ruel V. Barrington; marshall, Mr. Bannan; chairman board of directors, Earl R. Honeywell; Chairman of program committee, Otis J. Gould.

Three Boys Shake In Their Boots For They Must Explain

Time: Ten o'clock Thursday evening.

Place: Side window Delta Zeta house.

All else—a slight noise and a mighty bad odor.

The Delta Zeta house mother was awakened suddenly by a slight noise in the parlor. She listened carefully and then distinctly heard the careful raising of a window. She went to the parlor but saw nothing.

Soon after she had retired, the noise started again and this time she awoke to find a strong odor of something burning filling the house. She rushed to the parlor again and found some carbon-bisulphide near one of the windows.

The police were immediately notified and investigation started. There was little trouble in locating the three men who played the trick. But the police have said nothing to the three boys who were guilty. The men will have to go to the Delta Zeta house mother and explain. This conversation was overheard today:

First boy, "I think we'd better go over and explain. And believe me I'm thru playing jokes on fraternities."

Second boy, "I hate to go because we may be recognized as the ones who played that joke last year."

Third boy, "I think it's up to you two fellows to do the explaining. I bought the stuff and you pulled the trick. Now I'd like to know how I'm connected with it. Besides I'm afraid to face that girl who was on the porch."

VODVIL SHOW WAS SUCCESS

A. L. LOVEJOY AND H. P. WHEELER DESERVE CREDIT

Auditorium Was Packed to Receive Three Hours of Solid Entertainment That Pleased Everybody

The college auditorium was packed last Friday night. The audience waited impatiently for the raising of the curtain that would reveal the mystery which had enveloped the glee club vodvil ever since the bill boards told that it was coming.

If the deafening applause that greeted each number, and the intense interest that held every one for three hours may be taken as indications, no one was disappointed in the least degree. For once realization was greater than anticipation.

Much commendation is due A. L. Lovejoy as the producer of this pleasing entertainment, and Harold P. Wheeler, as the director of the orchestra. The Appollo club was assisted by the Saint Cecelia club in several of the numbers and as the Maids of Kilarney these Saint Cecellia lassies made the Flower Episode the most beautiful of the vodvil numbers.

Stiff Butler And Footman Were A Little Too Much

"Ca'd please."

"Give me my pocketbook, Helen. Where is my card? Oh, there it is. Helen, pick up that nickel I dropped. Well, for heavens sake, what is the matter with me? I've dropped my handkerchief. There's the card. Call Mr. Reynolds if you please."

"And Mr. Guilbert. Jamie, where is my powder puff?"

Leap year parties, where the girls call at the men's fraternity houses, are fine things but the Sig Alphs were a little too well prepared for the girls. The taxis were met by a stiff footman, garbed in a beautiful blue uniform. After they were over their first surprise, the girls proceeded to the house where they lightly tapped the knocker.

The door was opened quickly each time by a butler, dressed in an evening suit. His greeting was always the same, "Ca'd please."

One young maiden gasped and said, "Why, I left mine at home." While another exclaimed, "Call my date, please." But such parties only come once every four years so why not make the most of them?

INFLUENZA IS AGAIN AMONG THE STUDENTS

MORE THAN 25 CASES REPORTED IN SCHOOL

NO SERIOUS CASES AS YET

Everyone Can Help Check the Epidemic by Keeping Handkerchief Handy Whenever He Sneezes or Coughs

Influenza has broken out among the college students again this year. At present there are about 25 cases reported.

A Surprise to Students

The influenza epidemic is a big surprise to most Aggie students because they thought that there wasn't a case on the hill. The "flu" is coming later this year than it did last. During December last year, it was estimated that over 50 per cent of the students had the sickness and only six out of the 1,500 died.

Is Not Serious

The cases this year are not so serious as they were last year. The temperature of most of the students has not gone above 101 degrees. Since physicians have gained control of the epidemic before it had a large start, it is believed that it will not spread this year as it did last.

However, students can help greatly in holding down the disease. Do not sneeze or cough unless you have a handkerchief handy. Use all the rules of personal sanitation. Gargle your throat every day with something prescribed by a physician. Watch yourself carefully and report to a physician if you have any symptoms of illness.

Miss Ann Wilson is visiting in Towanda.

Miss Madeline Dean was a guest at the Pi Phi house Thursday and Friday.

Willard Howe spent the week end at his home near Garrison.

Albert Metz, former student and member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, has reentered college.

Mr. T. Reid of Lawrence, was a week end visitor in Manhattan.

Mr. Chattan A. Powers of Kansas university, was in Manhattan for the week end.

Miss Ethel Roop left Saturday for her home in Wakefield. Miss Roop will not be in college this semester.

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday were Mr. Reid and Mr. Powers of Kansas university, Miss Dorothy Hadley of Topeka, and Miss Kate Sumners of Manhattan.

Mr. Clyde Lucas of Kansas City, spent the week end in Manhattan. He came to attend the freshmen girls' Pan Hellenic dance Saturday night.

Miss Helen Neiman of Whitewater, has enrolled in school this semester. Miss Neiman is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Miss Doris Bachelor is ill at her home in Belleville.

Miss Louise Rathman has withdrawn from school and will attend Oklahoma university next semester.

Harold Hoots, junior in agronomy, left Saturday evening for Norman, Okla., where he will enter the University of Oklahoma. He will specialize in geology.

Roy Weinheimer visited Thursday and Friday with friends at Blue Rapids.

Sam Simpson has withdrawn from college and is now at his home in Salina.

Charles Wallace of Winfield was a week end guest at the Delta Tau house. Mr. Wallace is attending school at the Kansas university.

Ed. Mueller made a week end visit at his home in Washington.

Dr. C. F. Layton of Republic visited at the Delta Tau Delta house last week end.

Harold Bedell, a Sigma Phi Epsilon at Nebraska, was a week end guest at the Sig Ep house.

Miss Bernice Fuller, faculty member in the English department, will speak at Vespers Thursday afternoon.

Here Comes Loretta

There is one girl in school who hates her middle name. It is sufficient to say that her first name is Sue and her last name begins with a C. Perc, the slueth, went to the registrar's office and found her middle name. Nelson then wrote this poem:

Loretta Oh Loretta,
It's seldom that I've met a
Smiling maiden like Loretta.
Loretta, I must get a
Song or poem for you, Loretta.
I used to sing of death, Loretta,
But now, Loretta, I will bet a Quarter that I'll praise Loretta.
Yes, all my songs shall praise
Loretta.

(No Loretta ,Rosalie did not tell your middle name.)

HAVE PLEDGING IN FRATERNITIES

SECOND SEMESTER RUSH WEEK WAS QUIET

Organizations Pledged at Four O'clock Saturday Afternoon—More Announcements Given Later

Fraternity rush week for the second semester was rather quiet this year. Pledging services were held at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. All of the fraternities are not ready to announce the names of their new pledges.

The following pledges are announced:

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Mr. Harry K. Wareham of Manhattan.

Mr. George Wood of Anthony.

FARMERS CAN ONLY TIE FOR VALLEY LEAD

AGGIES LOSE TO TIGERS IN TWO VALLEY FIGHTS

21 TO 19 AND 33 TO 19

Home Team Outclassed Missourians in First Game On Friday but Tigers Staged a Come-back on Saturday

The best the Aggies can do now is to tie the Missouri Valley championship in basketball, as they lost two consecutive games to the Tigers last Friday and Saturday. The scores were 21 to 19 and 33 to 19 respectively.

Although they were played off their feet by the fast floor work, except in a few minutes of the last half, the Missouri Tigers emerged Friday night with a long end of the score after a fast, clean game.

Aggies Nearly Won

The work of Bunger and Jennings, nearly won the game for the Farmers. Ruby, Tiger guard, alone played up to standard for the Missourians. Figuring in nearly every defensive play that stopped short the Aggies, Ruby bore the brunt of the offense that had to fight fast to get thru the Kansas defense.

No Substitutions

Bunger threw 9 out of 16 free throws the first night. Both teams failed repeatedly in open shots from the field. The Aggies were somewhat handicapped by the strange field. No substitutions were used.

The team work of the Farmers the second night was not as good as it was the previous evening. The Tigers also staged a come-back that almost swept the Aggies off their feet.

The home team will meet the Missourians in two games here the last of the season, and these games will decide whether or not the Farmers tie for the Valley championship.

Paul Jeffcoat spent the week end at his home in Abilene.

Ben Price of Reading spent the week end at his home.

Franklin Boone and A. C. Barnard of Lawrence were dinner guests at the Beta house Friday evening.

Ralph Van Trine of Abilene was a guest at the Beta house Sunday.

M. A. Durland spent the week end in Minneapolis.

WILL JUNIORS AND SENIORS BATTLE FOR LAYING OF ENGINEERING COR. STONE

Since the construction work on the new engineering building has been progressing rapidly, interested students are beginning to wonder where the corner stone will be placed. And some of the older classmen and alumni are curious to know if the old time class rivalry and strife will be revived when the new corner stone is formally dedicated.

Heretofore, when a new building was erected at the Kansas StateAgricultural college, the senior class arranged to put its official date mark on the building. The junior classes have always opposed these actions, with the result that much antagonism ensued.

When the auditorium was completed in 1904, the class of '04 had nearly finished the corner stone. It had been cut beautifully and was ready for the letters. But one dark night some husky junior engineers brought steel drills and red paint, and and came near ruining the senior stone. They bored holes over the entire surface and filled the holes with the red paint.

The old school of agriculture was the scene of the most excitement, however. Four different times the juniors removed the senior class stone, even after it had been covered by four feet of solid rock wall. Therefore, the vigilance committee stationed a nightwatchman at the construction works to prevent further hindrance to the work. But this did not "faze" the juniors. On another dark night,several fearless third year students, with strong backs and weak minds, proceeded to the new building where they eluded the night watch, removed the massive and much coveted senior class stone, took it to the southern limits of Manhattan and dumped it into the Kaw river.

SADDLE AND SIRLOIN CLUB NOW IS BLOCK AND BRIDLE

Disbands to Become a Part of National Organization of A. H. Men

The Saddle and Sirloin club which was organized at the Kansas State agricultural college in 1914 has ceased to be. Its membership has been incorporated into the new national organization called the Block and Bridle.

In nearly all agricultural colleges there are honorary organizations among the animal husbandry students in the interest of livestock. To make these organizations more effective, members of the organizations from Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas met in a room at the Stock Yards inn at Chicago last month to form a national organization, which is known as the Block and Bridle. The four states named are the charter members of the national organization. Only junior and senior students enrolled in the animal husbandry course may become members of the local organization.

The officers of the national organization of the Block and Bridle are J. V. Morris, Missouri, president; J. D. Montague, Kansas, vice president; J. R. Mills, Iowa, secretary and treasurer.

And thus the aim for which all animal husbandry students are working—"More and Better Livestock"—was given a big impetus at the International Livestock exposition at Chicago this fall.

Members of the local organization at Kansas State Agricultural college are: A. Axline, Pratt; E. A. Billings, Maple Hill; J. F. Brown, Toronto; S. D. Capper, Ames; W. E. Crabtree, Scott City; D. L. Denniston, Manhattan; Blanche French, Manhattan; Harold Garver, Abilene; G. A. Gingrich, Clay Center; H. R. Guilbert, Wallace; F. H. Gulick, Winfield; W. C. Hall, Coffeyville; Clara Higgins, Manhattan; Frank Hoath, Anthony; W. R. Horlacker, Colby; C. L. Howard, Oakley; D. M. Howard, Hutchinson; J. H. Kerr, Kinsley; E. D. McCollum, Bogard, Mo.; D. Z. McCormick, Zeandale; R. R. McFadden, Manhattan; J. D. Montague, Anthony; J. H. Moyer, Hiawatha; J. J. Moxley, Osage City; J. B. Myers, Milton; P. E. Neale, Manhattan; C. A. Newell, Matfield Green; R. D. Nichols, Manhattan; Chas. Nitcher, Hardy, Nebr.; Reeves Osborne, Burrton; Merton Otto, Riley; N. Pearson, Manhattan; O. R. Peterson, Caney; B. R. Petrie, Pratt; W. S. Robinson, Towanda; O. Steanson, Manhattan; T. T. Swenson, Lindsborg; K. D. Thompson, Densmore; Mark Upson, Sabinal, Texas; Ray Watson, Wichita; F. G. Welch, Hartford; H. B. Willis, Manhattan; H. S. Wise, Wichita; H. S. Woodard, Glen Elder.

Wanted—Chemist: A young man for inspector in a large concern manufacturing alfalfa and mixed feeds. It is necessary to make chemical tests. Preference given K. S. A. C. students. A good salary and opportunity. Make application to V. S. Bentley, 121 N. Eighth street, city.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Dear Milady—

I am a poor little co-ed here at the Denver University. I wish you would do what you can to please influence our dean of women, Miss Shuler. Just think, she has positively prohibited us from using powder puffs here, saying that shiny noses are more natural than artificial noses are. And she says that we wear out the rugs standing in front of the mirror. And she says that men watch and think it is not dignified.

Isn't that just horrid? I hope you will sympathize with us and do all in your power to make her withdraw her outrageous ruling. Please let me hear from you right away, for relief must come. Yours very hopingly.

Miss Colorado Columbine, 1920 Leapyear street, Denver.

Miss Colorado Colombine: Powder your noses and faces, too, girls. Nothing is so provoking to a man as to see himself, and that's surely what he'd do if you didn't use powder. Perhaps your daen of women has a motive in her madness. She may have worn out the rug in front of her mirror and so does not wish to use it. The unpowdered noses of a number of girls would afford her a new means of telling whether or not her own powder was on straight. Just imagine yourself going to a dance and not having any powder. Why, half the pleasure a man gets out of dancing is to go home afterwards and find dainty powder marks on his right shoulder. And if you were to stop using powder after having dobbed it on for a number of years, your sweetheart would not know you. And you surely remember Solomon's advice to a young man on that point: "Deliver thyself from the strange woman, even from the stranger who flattereth with words."—Mi Lady.

Mi Lady: Is a girl supposed to be engaged to a man when she wears his fraternity pin.—Helen L.

Dear Helen L.: At K. S. A. C. you are almost married in the eyes of the world when you adorn your blouse with the little glass eyed frat pin. If you happen to have one and are not serious in the matter, never wear it except under the hem of your skirt, unless you are with the man. Then be careful and always keep your coat over it.—Mi Lady.

Dear Madame: "Oh Baby!" is coming to town this week. Would you think it proper for an innocent little freshman to go?—Longingly Brownie.

Dear Brownie: I have seen "Oh Baby," and to be plain it is a little wild, especially in costumes. But in college a girl should try to get a well rounded education and see some poor things along with the good. Yes I would advise you to go for one can get some clever Frenchy ideas for bathing suits. Then too, never before have the eyes of mortals, especially college students, beheld such an assemblance of delectable femininity. Yes you be sure and go, for you might miss something good. —Mi Lady.

STAGE NOTES

"Who are the two clever little girls dressed as clowns?" the inquisitive lady in the audience inquired, as the two harlequins of the vodvil seated themselves on either side of the curtain.

"Isn't she the dearest thing, such a sweet smile." The lady raved on and on as she gazed admiringly into the grinning paint splashed face of Grover Simpson.

"The other is just as graceful and so demure looking," she exclaimed as Albert Heusner, with a stiff bent arm, saluted the audience.

The curtain went up at this point in the conversation and the two harlequins were forgotten.

"I might be your once in a while," sang the blonde man at the piano. The first notes of the chorus had barely ended when a sweet sixteen was heard to exclaim:

"Why it is Russell Knapp, I didn't know he had the nerve to look so devilish at any girl."

The freshman maid was surprised to see the dignified Russell dancing around pretty Maude Stuart, as he sang that tantalizing air.

Russell had forgotten that he had ever in his life been self conscious. He danced and sang with the ability of a professional vaudeville charmer.

But who could help being at home with the beam of Maude Stuart's smile square upon him? Russell knows that smile has wonder working qualities and if you don't believe it, just ask him.

Morgan can pose well enough in a flower episode, called his last flirtation; but that is one of the things Morgan will never have in reality.

No he expressed it all when he said:

"This farewell stuff is a darned poor part of me. I never say good bye forever. I'm one of these guys that always come back."

Black Davy, the boy soprano, was a scream, everyone said so. Almost lost his number 60 trousers. He did the hoe down with the agility of a flee on a hot griddle. Oh Davie Davis!

Tseu showed the Aggie girls what can be done in the way of a dance down in Hawaii.

"Isn't he clever," "Oh see him wiggle," "I'll bet he has seen that done lots of times," and other stray statements of admiration were heard floating about the auditorium as the Hawaiian boy did the latest Hula wiggles.

The girls all fell for the dancer and seeing it is leap year, he may find himself being escorted to a movie every night during the new term.

The Apollo club all looked mighty dressed up; but what we are wondering is how much did it cost to rent all those dress suits.

The boy who threw the hydrogen sulfide into the Delta Zeta house was seen leaving the auditorium when Marian Clarke sang "I hava de rock."

They Want Your Services

During 1918-19 we received official requests from employers in 43 states and four foreign countries for 6,534 teachers. These were for all sorts of positions from Kindergarten to state university. If you want a position with the most progressive and best paying employers you must use the same service they use when in need of teachers. Experienced and inexperienced teachers needed in all lines of school work. Better write for interesting booklet "Forward or Backward" today. No enrollment fee necessary when registering with this association. We recommend only when asked to do so. This is why the best employers ask for our professional services. IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

McDowell Club Reception

The members of the McDowell club gave a reception from four to five-thirty Friday afternoon in the recreational hall. The students enrolled in the music department were guests of the club, which is an honor society of the women students and teachers of the music department. Refreshments of orange ice and wafers were served to the 300 guests who were entertained during the afternoon. The members of the club are: Miss Alma Bauersfeld, Miss Alice Rice, Miss Helen Colburn, Miss Pearl Hoots, Miss Bess Curry, Miss Vina Braelton, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Ling, Miss Leffler, and Miss Hannen.

Barnes-Carter

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Edra M. Barnes of Topeka and Mr. Victor C. Carter of Hiawatha, both former K. S. A. C. students. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's mother in Topeka. Mr. and Mrs. Carter will make their home on a farm near Hiawatha.

Announcement Party

A very pretty announcement party was given Wednesday evening at the F. A. Dawley home, 303 North Fourteenth, in honor of Miss Helen Dawley. A wishbone, for which the guests were asked to hunt, held the following announcement: "Mrs. F. A. Dawley wishes to announce the engagement of her daughter Helen, to Mr. Leland G. Alford, the wedding to take place September 2, 1920."

Miss Dawley will graduate from K. S. A. C. this semester from the home economics course. Mr. Alford graduated in 1918 from the electrical engineering course. He is now in Chicago.

The guests included: Miss Edith Haines, Miss Blanch Sappenfield, Miss Elizabeth Circle, Miss Irene Dean, Miss Marjorie Simpson, Miss Irene Miller, Miss Hettie Carris, Miss Luella Morris, Miss Frances Whitmore, Miss Dora Cate, Miss Marie Hammerly, Miss Elva Price, Miss Marguerite Hammerly, Miss Lelia Meeker, Miss Edna Wilkin, Miss Winifred Elder, Miss Alma Wilkin, Miss Florence Winkler, Miss Ada Robertson, Miss Margaret Gillet, Miss Leah McIntyre, Miss Lenore Wolfe, Miss Gladys Addy, Miss Mildred Thompson, Miss Adah Songer, Miss Grace Gish, Miss Vera Cates, Miss Irene Graham, Miss Abbie Furneaux, Miss Violet Andre, and Miss Margaret Hulse.

Emmett Graham, Myron Cassidy, and Y. E. Tseu were guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sigma Phi Delta Initiation

Sigma Phi Delta held formal initiation Friday night for T. G. Fletcher, junior in flour mill engineering and W. E. Dickerson, junior in civil engineering.

Freshman Girl's Pan Hellenic

The members of the freshman girl's Pan Hellenic gave their annual dancing party Saturday evening in Harrison's hall. Shoffstall's and Maupin's 5-piece orchestra furnished the music. The hall was beautifully decorated with streamers in the colors of all the sororities. The streamers were draped over the windows and about the orchestra platform. A fountain was placed in the center of the hall. Punch was served to the dancers thruout the evening. The chaperons were Mrs. S. V. Ricker, house mother of the Tri Delta sorority; Mrs. D. C. Bice, the Delta Zeta house mother; Mrs. Requa, the Pi Beta Phi house mother; and Mrs. Miller, the Kappa Kappa Gamma house mother. The dance was a leap year party, the girls calling for their dates.

Co-op Club Entertained

Mrs. Leland Sinderson entertained the members of the Co-op club at dinner Tuesday at her home, 821 Osage. There were 24 guests present.

Loyalty Club Party

The members of the Girl's Loyalty club entertained Friday afternoon from four until six in the recreational hall. The afternoon was spent in games and dancing. A stunt was given by members of the Ionian literary society. Refreshments of apples were served to 175 girls. The chaperones were Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Miss Edith Bond, Miss Winifred Bartholf, Miss Avis Blain, Miss Vera McCoy, and Miss Grace Hesse.

Merillat-Vincent

Frineds of Miss Grace Merillat and Donald Vincent will be surprised to learn of their marriage June 28, 1919. Mrs. Vincent is a sophomore in K. S. A. C. and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. and Mrs. Vincent are visiting Mrs. Vincent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Merillat in Topeka.—Clay Center Republican.

Phi Delta Tau Dance

The members of the Phi Delta Tau fraternity entertained with a dancing party Saturday evening at their chapter house, 1447 Anderson. Twenty couples danced. Punch was served thruout the evening. The fraternity house was beautifully decorated in fraternity colors, purple and brown. Mrs. Roark, the house mother, chaperoned. The Finn-Strother orchestra furnished the music for the dancing.

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, ~~THURSDAY~~ FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1920 — NO. 39

JAYHAWKS TO BE PICKED BY THE WILDCATS

FARMERS MEET JAYHAWKERS IN TWO GAMES

REGULAR TEAM TO START

Spurred on by Defeats at Missouri University, Aggies Are Prepared to Put up Stiffest Fight of the Season Tonight

Spurred on by two defeats at the hands of the Missouri Tigers, the Kansas Aggies have practiced hard the past week and have developed team work and a basket throwing system that will be a big surprise to the Kansas Jayhawkers here Friday and Saturday evening.

Chance For Title

The Wildcats still have a chance to win the Missouri valley championship and the games with the Jayhawkers will practicallly be the decisive game. The results of the K. U.-Tiger and Aggie-Tiger games give the Farmers no advantage but comparative scores in other games indicate that the Wildcats have the better team.

Start Regular Team

Friday evening's game will start with Bunger and Hinds at forward, Jennings at center, and the Cowell brothers at guard. Bunger and Jennings have shown up this season as two of the best basket tossers in the valley. The Cowell brothers put up a defense that makes the opponents try their cages from the center of the court. Hinds is always on his toes ready to fight.

The stinging defeat in football that the Aggies received from the Jayhawks is still remembered and the Aggie basketeers, three of whom were football men, will try to turn the tables. The Aggie five could not be in a better condition or a two-game series that will probably decide the conference championship.

CAFETERIA IS DOING BETTER

CAFETERIA SEATING AND SERVING CAPACITY IS ENLARGED

New Steam Table Has Been Added—Heating Apparatus Installed on the Porch

The cafeteria has been enlarged and remodeled and now serves from 1,000 to 1,100 people daily. The heavy enrolment of last semester made a larger serving and seating capacity necessary.

A new steam table has been added which doubles the serving capacity. The porch which could be used only in favorable wheather has been glassed in and a heating apparatus installed. This makes a large, pleasant room with a seating capacity of 140.

A basement has been added under the porch and fitted and furnished as a store rooom. This is a more convenient and desirable place for a store room than the old one. The former store in the front of the building is being remodeled and furnished as an up to date office.

FIFTY BEE MEN FOR LECTURES

PROMINENT SPEAKERS AT MEETINGS

Postponement of Farm and Home Week Did Not Prevent the Holding of Three Days' Meetings

In spite of the postponement of Farm and Home week and the resulting absence of many of the out-of-town speakers, approximately 50 Kansas bee men attended the lectures given here this week under the supervision of the college apiary department.

It was expected that when the other features of Farm and Home week were postponed the lectures for the beekeepers would suffer the same fate. But some of the speakers had failed to receive notice of the postponment and about 50 beekeepers arrived in Manhattan Monday, so it was decided to give as many of the lectures as possible in three days. The course clossed Wednesday afternoon.

Speakers who gave their lectures at the meeting as planned, included Dr. E. F. Phillips, who is in charge of the bee work for the department of agriculture; Dr. E. D. Ball, professor of entomology at Iowa State college; and G. S. Demuth, who is connected with the department of agriculture here.

Y. W. PLEDGERS SHOULD PAY UP

BOTH SECOND AND FINAL PAYMENTS ARE DUE

Window Opposite Postoffice Will be Open all Day Wednesday to Get Members' Payments

Owing to the fact that college closed before the date set for the second payment of the Y. W. C. A. pledges, both the second and the final payment will be due Wednesday, February 11. It is hoped that on this date all of the girls who made pledges to the Y. W. last fall will pay up.

The window opposite the post office will be open all day Wednesday and some member of the finance committee will be there to receive the payments.

SEND BALLOTS TO COLLEGIAN

STRAW NOMINATIONS FOR PRESIDENT READY

First Attempt to Get Vote for President Proved Failure but New Method Found

The first straw vote for president, which was to be conducted by the Collegian, proved a failure as a means of cheating developed. But the college paper has found a new plan to conduct the vote.

Clip the following ballot, vote for your choice, then mail it in an envelope addressed to the Collegian, in care of "For Straw President."

The first ballot published in the Collegian is no longer valid. Only the following ballot may be used; everybody who is a subscriber of the paper is urged to take part in the election:

COLLEGE Y. WAS ON THE JOB DURING REGISTRATION WEEK

Helped Men Find Rooms and Gave Several Employment

The Y. M. C. A. is doing its usual usual, last week in helping the new men, who had come in for the second semester, get started in their college life.

Some of the men could not find places to room. Places were secured for them. Others wanted steady work to aid them in defraying their expenses. The employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. found several of the new men permanent employment.

The Y. M. C. A. is dong its usual valuable work for the college this year. The Y. is always foremost in all movements or activities that will help in making K. S. A. C. a better and more prosperous institution.

Hottentot Anklets And Colored Cheek Plumes To Be Worn

Hottentot anklets and colored cheek plumes are the latest turn of Dame Fashion.

In Paris, Aggie co-ed, you would be a back number unless around your slim or fat little ankels were circlets of highly colored ostrich tips, attached to silken bands of contrasting color. These bands then should be buckled tightly around the ankle and fastened with precious stones.

But the K. S. A. C. girlies are not slow in starting the latest fads, and it is likely by the time spring has really landed here for good, hottentot anklets will be the rage. Why shouldn't they be, hottentot hair dress is very much in vogue.

Perhaps all cannot afford tailor made ostrich plumes; but the farmer maids have no cause to worry, for they can use feathers from the backs of the first spring fries. For the dark eyed lassie, Rhode Island Red feathers would be exquisite.

Hottentot anklets are not the only new Frenchy thing for cheek plumes hold an enviable position in feminine adornment. They are ordinarily worn with the hat; but certain devotees of originality have conceived the idea of wearing one or two cheek plumes with evening dresses, as ear-rings.

The cheek plume is an ostrich tip, bird of paradise spray or rooster tail, all according to the size of your bank roll. This is attached to the hat band by a silken cord, chain of platinum, or a shoe string. It falls straight down close to the face, covering ears and cheeks and falling over the shoulder. It is usually dyed the most brilliant hues, scarlet, tango orange, and peacock blue being the tones most in favor.

The Aggie man should kiss good bye to the memory of the old fashioned girl. For she is dead. The springtime will bring a new co-ed, dressed in a short sleeveless costume. She will be stockingless and around her fat or slim ankle, which ever it is, will be chicken feather anklets. The carefully powdered cheek will be hidden behind the bird of paradise spray or the rooster tail.

She will no longer be a farmer's maid, even the Kansas City papers will address her differently, for she will be a Paris creation.

What do you suppose the students council and the dean of women will say?

WYOMING LAND TO BE OPENED

FIVE THOUSAND ACRES OF LAND TO BE OPENED MARCH 5

Applications for Water Rights Will be Received from February 28 to March 5—Water Furnished Three Years on Rental Basis

Secretary Lane announces that 5,000 acres of public land of the North Platte, Nebr.-Wyo., irrigation project will be opened to entry on March 5 at 9 a. m.

Applications for water rights will be received from February 28 to March 5, inclusive, at the office of the Project Manager at Torrington, Wyo.

Water will be furnished for three years on a rental basis, and the initial payment of $5.10 per irrigable acre required with each application covers the cost for the full period at the minimum rate.

Descriptive literature and terms are obtainable by request from Statistician, U. S. Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., or Project Manager, Mitchell, Nebr.

One week later another drawing will be held at Powell, Wyo., for opening of lands on the Shoshone project.

Debate Rally

The Intersociety council will give a rally Saturday evenin in the home economics rest room in the interest of debate activity. The purpose of the rally is to stir up interest for the debate to be given February 21. During the first part of the evening a pep meeting will be conducted. Later a mixer will be held and games and other forms of entertainment will be enjoyed.

ENROLMENT IS EQUAL TO THE FORMER BEST

OVER 3,320 STUDENTS REGISTERED IN COLLEGE

ONLY 2,400 THIS SEMESTER

Increase Due to Good Advertising That the College Has Done—Not as Many Here as Were Expected

The total enrolment this year, including the last summer school but excluding all duplications in registration is as large as the highest record previously made. The only other year that equaled this one was in 1917-18.

Over 3,320 are registered in the college. Of these only 2,400 enrolled the second semester.

These figures are considerably less than was expected.

The increase in enrolment is partly due to the splendid advertising that the college has been sending out. The journalism department has worked out a system of advertising so that every paper in the state is running some college news.

BIG MEN AND WOMEN NEEDED

AGRICULTURAL CENTER TO BE AT CHICAGO

Noted Zoologist and Entomologist Says That Future History of Agriculture is to be Made in Mississippi Valley

The future history of the agriculture of America is going to be written in a setting of the rolling prairie plains of the Mississippi valley, in the opinion of Dr. E. D. Ball, zoologist and entomologist of the Iowa State college, as expressed in an address to the student assembly at K. S. A. C. Tuesday morning.

Chicago the Center

"If one wishes to live in the center of population in a generation from now he must live in Chicago," said Dr. Ball "for Chicago and the Mississippi valley are to be the future center of the food producing area of the world.

Man Central Figure

"The foundation of agriculture is not in the crop, the soil, the stock, or the market. It is in the man, the exceptional man. The future of Kansas and other agricultural states of the Mississippi valley will be in the hands of a few men. Possibilities of the future will be carried out by men of broad training and broad outlook. Great future improvement depends upon the development of big men and women."

STORY CONTEST TO BEGIN NOW

THE CONTEST IS OPEN TO ALL STUDENTS OF THE COLLEGE

Manuscripts Must be at Least 2,000 Words in Length and Must Not Exceed 15,000 Words.

The annual Quill club short story contest, which is open to all students of the college, will close April 15. All manscripts must be submitted to Professor Crawford on or before that date.

The manuscripts must be at least 2,000 words in length, and must not exceed 15,000 words. All manuscripts should be typewritten and written on only one side of the paper. Any student in college is eligible to compete in this contest. All Quill club members are compelled to submit a story.

A gold medal is offered by Professor Searson as a prize to the winner of the contest.

Orville B. Burtis, '16, was a Tuesday dinner guest at the Delta Tau Delta house.

HOLD YOUR HORSES!

The esteemed University Kansan, our contemporary paper down the Kaw, has seen fit to belittle and underestimate the real fighting quality of the Aggies' basketball quintette. In a recent sport article in that paper the writer has said that the Jayhawks are confident of winning both games on the Aggie court this week end. They have the dope figured out that the Jayhawk team made a better showing against Missouri than the Aggies did, and therefore they would clean up on the Aggies. Already the Jayhawk bunch is figuring on being the real championship contenders.

"By winning the two games at Aggieville, the Jayhawks will eliminate the Aggies from the race, and will be in position to fight it out with Missouri for the championship honors." Thus says the Kansan.

Confidence is a great thing to have, if taken in moderation. But there is a Jayhawk team down the Kaw that had better wait until after Saturday night to talk about championships. They seemed to little realize that the Aggies had a lot of opposition and adverse conditions to contend with when they went to the University of Missouri. And altho they were twice defeated they showed what a lot of fight there was in them. In the first game it was conceded that the Aggies outplayed their opponents.

When the Jayhawks come to K. S. A. C. they, too, will find what kind of a quintet Coach Clevenger has. When they go home to Lawrence they will be welcome to squeal all they please for they will have had the hardest fight of the season. They will know what Aggie fight means. Then we shall see who will be the contenders in the Valley race.

Prof. A. E. Westbrook was a dinner guest at the Beta house Monday evening.

S. D. FLORA TO SPEAK TO CLUB

WILL TELL HOW HE PREDICTS THE KANSAS WEATHER

Will Speak in the Home Economics Rest Room Monday Evening—All Students and Faculty Members Invited

S. D. Flora, who has been predicting Kansas weather for years at Topeka, is going to tell the Science club how he does it. Mr. Flora, who is government meteorologist, will speak on "Kansas Weather and Climate" in the home economics rest room at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening.

The lecture, which will be under the auspices of the Science club, will be open to faculty and students.

ELKHART TEAM WINS IN GAMES

MIAMI COUNTY MEN COME OUT SECOND IN TOURNAMENT

All Games Were Played in Y. M. C. A. Gym.—Four Games Required Extra Time to Play Off Tie

In the recent club basketball tournament which closed a couple of weeks ago, the Elkhart club won first place and the Miami county men won second place in the tournament.

All the games were played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and a great deal of interest and enthusiasm was shown. Four games required 5 extra minutes to play off the tie.

The Lone Star club was handicapped in a part of their games, by having some of their players in the coal fields. The Y. M. C. A. dormitory team made a poor showing at first; but finished strong at the end of the tournament. The Boomerang club showed up well in all of the games that they played.

Following is the final standing of the teams:

	Won	Lost	Per.
Elkhart	6	0	1000
Miami county	5	1	833
Y.M.C.A. "Dorm"	3	3	500
Co-op	2	4	333
Lone Star	2	4	333
Bomerang	2	4	333
Glenwood	1	5	162

MEN'S ADVISOR IS NEW OFFICE FOR DR. HOLTZ

MOVES INTO ROOM IN RECREATIONAL CENTER

WILL HELP MEN STUDENTS

"I Hope to Get Better Acquainted with the Students after I Move into My New Office, "Holtz Said

Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the college Y.M.C.A., will move into his new office in the recreational hall in Anderson today. Doctor Holtz will be known as men's advisor. He is enthusiastic in his work and is anxious to aid the students in every possible way.

Definite Hours

His office hours will be from 10 to 12 in the mornings, and from one to three in the afternoons all college days except Saturday.

To Help Students

"I hope to get better acquainted with the students after I move into my new office," said Doctor Holtz yesterday, " I will be there to aid the men in any way possible and to be at the service of any and all agencies which are fostering activities for the expansion of K. S. A. C. or building up a greater spirit of loyalty on the part of the student body for the college."

Websters Elect

The Webster Literary society elected the following officers at its meeting Saturday evening: President, A. C. Ramsey; vice president, Charles Thresher; recording secretary, Ernest Lahr; corresponding secretary, T. L. Bayer; treasurer, J. D. Cunningham; critic, L. F. NEW MILITARY SCHEDULE NOW

HAVE MACHINE GUN BATTALIONS, TOO

New System Eliminated Great Deal of Work for Commanding Officers—Three Hours a Week

Many changes have been made in the military department this semester. There are about 350 men enrolled. The old system of drilling on four days a week has been abandoned, and the drill is all on Monday now.

Old System Deficient

Under the old system, where the drill periods came on Tuesdays and Thursdays for one battalion, and on Wednesdays and Fridays for the other battalion, it was hard for the cadet officers to get good work from the men as they did not have time for much but the calling of the roll.

Eliminates Work

The new system is going to be better for all in the department. It will eliminate work for the officers in charge, Captain Terrell and Captain Davidson, and will also give the cadet officers an opportunity to get results from their work. With three hours for drill they can repeat the various parts of the work until it is thoroughly in the minds of the men.

Have Machine Guns

There is going to be a machine gun company this semester. The work will be under the direction of Morton Stigers. Mr. Stigers, who was an officer of the marine corps, has had considerable machine gun work, and understands it thoroughly.

The machine gun men will have their theoretical work on Fridays The most of the work will be on the heavy Browning machine and the light Browning machine gun. A little work will possibly be started on the Colt machine gun.

DEMOCRACY?

Democracy is nothing new. Our ancestors had it in a much purer form than we have it now. But that is no cause for our abusing it.

K. S. A. C. has always been noted for its democratic spirit but whether or not that spirit is growing better or worse is a question for debate.

Evevything possible should be done to keep down rivalry between fraternity men and women and non-fraternity men and women. The freshmen certainly showed poor spirit when they managed to have two social affairs in one evening, one for fraternity and the other for everyone, supposedly.

The freshman girls' Pan Hellenic was planned months ahead and everyone knew that it would be last Saturday evening. Yet the freshman class held a so-called mixer in the gymnasium on the same evening. The people who planned the mixer knew what they were doing—they knew that they were having a so-called mixer at which there would be no fraternity freshmen. Such a thing as this should be kept out of school because rivalry among different members of one class is a serious thing.

Those who planned the mixer certainly must have had some particular grievances against other members of their class or they never would have staged a mixer when everyone could not attend. And what is so peculiar, the mixer was originally advertised for Tuesday evening, yet with no explanations, was postponed until Saturday evening. Is the freshman president or the class as a whole responsible?

Colorado Aggies' Glee club will start on April 9 for a two-weeks' tour of twelve Colorado towns. The club consists of twenty-five men. As a preliminary they will present a two-act opera for the student body of their own college.

Boys: If you are partially dependent upon your own earnings, and in need of expense money—you should write to F. L. Williams & Son, farm, farm loans, insurance, collections, educational, Ottawa, Kan. tf

Edwin O. Adee, '19, who recently received his appointment as assistant engineer of Hamilton county, is visiting a few days with his brother and sister who are enrolled in the college. Adee is carrying one hand in a bandage as the result of an encounter with a Ford.

DR. J. H. BURT PRESIDENT VETERINARY ASSOCIATION

Elected Unanimously at Meeting in Emporia

Dr. J. H. Burt, of the veterinary partment was elected president of the Kansas Veterinary Medical association at its annual meeting held in Emporia. There was a large attendance and Doctor Burt was unanimously elected.

Other members taking part in the program were Doctor Muldoon, Doctor Harwood, and Doctor Dykstra. The next annual meeting will be held in January, 1921, in Salina.

G. A. Russell has accepted a position as assistant county engineer of Geary county at a salary of $2,400. Mr. Russell is a civil engineer, graduate of 1920 class.

L. W. Roberts, civil engineer graduate of last semester, has accepted a position as field engineer with Black & Veach of Kansas City. He will be detailed on highway work.

The senior class of the Nebraska Wesleyan have issued a senior edition of the university paper.

Miss Nita Ellsworth of Formosa will spend the week end with her brother, Vernon Ellsworth, freshman in engineering.

COLLEGE DAIRY BARNS ARE INTERESTING PLACES TO GO

Men in Department Are Well Acquainted With All Animals

They know the name, pedigree, milk, and butterfat production of every cow in the K. S. A. C. dairy. Who are they? They are the men who are intimately connected with the dairy department of this college.

Any sudent here may profitably spend vacation time between 4 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon at the college dairy barn in company with these men who control the dairy herd.

Here one sees the sleek Holsteins, Jerseys, Ayrshires, and Guernseys at their evening meal. Milking is also in progress.

These animals are fed a carefully balanced ration, aiming to produce the highest possible flow of milk.

H. E. Barnes, graduate of civil engineering last semester, has been employed by the county commissioners of Riley county to make special investigations, surveys, and reports on Riley county roads.

Miss Mildred Sterling, junior in home economics, attended the automobile show in Kansas City Monday and Tuesday of this week.

William H. McClure, a former Kansas university student, now living at Republic, will spend the week end visiting friends in Manhattan.

George Y. Blair, '19, of Mulvane, is visiting this week at the Delta Tau Delta house. He will spend Wednesday and Thursday visiting friends in Leavenworth.

Dr. David T. Wooster, '18, of Marysville visited Tuesday and Wednesday at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Earl Bruce has returned from a visit with his parents in Wichita.

Belts That Earn Winter Profits

The economy of modern farming insists on the full employment of every season and the maximum use of power facilities. "Holing up" for winter, with little activity except for feeding the stock and doing odd chores, is farm practice that has vanished before the urgency of present-day production.

Investment in power machinery, higher-priced labor, increasing land values, all set a premium on efficient management and confront the farmer with the same problems of output and turnover that the factory manager knows. Fortunately, the farm commands both self-sustaining resources in a degree unknown to other industries, and the same facilities that are available for shop and mine and mill.

Important in the varied uses of mechanical power on the farm in winter—wood sawing, feed grinding, corn shelling, cream separating, water pumping, the work of the lighting and heating unit—is the nature of the belting used. Belts that need breaking in, that require dressings, that stretch so as to compel engine resetting, that wear unevenly and wear out quickly, take the profit out of the work and run up the cost of production.

Goodyear Klingtite Belts are establishing records for efficiency on well-managed farms the country over. They come ready for immediate service—need no breaking in. Holding the pulleys with the grip of a friction surface, they deliver full power and require no dressing. Waterproof, they work flexibly, and without stretching amid the changing atmospheric conditions of winter—dry cold, snow, and sudden thaw. Unstitched, they wear uniformly and last longer than belts that cannot compare with them in efficiency.

A special study of belt function on the modern farm is set forth in the Goodyear Farm Encyclopedia. Students and teachers of agriculture will be supplied with copies on request to the Mechanical Goods Dept. of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, O.

LOOK IN A MIRROR

Are there any lines between your eyes? If so, ask yourself the question, "Why?"

Many people have a constant scowl caused solely by eyestrain. This is often so disfiguring that it doesn't matter how attractive the person otherwise appears—the scowl spoils it all.

In most cases scowls can be "smoothed" out by relieving the eyestrain.

If you have any symptoms of eyestrain you should let us examine your eyes at once. Don't wait until ugly lines appear between the eyes.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Announce Pledging

The Pi Beta Phi sorority announces the pledging of Miss Ruth Briggs of Hope, Ark.

Luncheon Guests

Miss Helen Rannels, and Miss Ann Cockrel were luncheon guests at the Pi Phi house Tuesday.

Lewis-Erskine

The marriage of Miss Edna Lewis and Mr. Ralph C. Erskine took place Wednesday evening, December 10, at Saint Andrews Episcopal church, Fort Pierce, Fla., the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Lewis is a graduate of Stetson university, and a member of the Tri Delta sorority. Mr. Erskine graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1916. He was prominent in student activities, being a member of the Acacia fraternity, and the Scarab. He was at one time business manager of the Collegian. Mr. and Mrs. Erskine will make their home at Edgerton.

For Miss Mill

Mrs. Edward Fishback entertained at the College club Sunday in honor of Miss Dorothy Mill, who is leaving soon for her home in Boulder, Colo. The guests were: Miss Dorothy Mill, Mrs. Mill of Boulder, Colo.; Mrs. Emma Hahn, Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Miss Edith Willman, Miss Florence Heizer, Miss Vera McCoy, and Miss Doris Bugbey.

Buffet Supper

Prof. and Mrs. L. A. Fitz gave a buffet supper Sunday evening at seven o'clock at their home 1014 Houston. Their guests included: Prof. and Mrs. B. L. Remick, Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Melchers, Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Hamilton, Mrs. J. H. Parker, Miss Elizabeth Rothermel, Miss McKittrick, and Miss Ward.

Card Club

Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Bell entertained their card club Thursday evening at their home, 916 Osage. The tally cards and decorations, in which the color scheme of pink and white carried out, were very original. Sweet peas were used in the decorations. A luncheon was served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

Pan Hellenic Meeting

The Women's Pan Hellenic met Thursday evening at the Delta Zeta house. The members were entertained at the house for dinner.

Misscellaneous Shower

Miss Alice Mustard and Miss Mabel Adams gave a miscellaneous shower January 26 at the home of Miss Mustard, for Miss Hazel Olson, in honor of her approaching marriage to Mr. Merle R. Brown of White City.

The guests were Miss Edna and Miss Alma Wilkins, Miss Bertha and Miss Lucia Biltz, Miss Grace and Miss Hazel Gardner, Miss Alma and Miss Emma Stutz, Miss Geneva Adams, Miss Faye Powell, Miss Belle Hagans, Miss Agnes Erickson, Miss Mary Johnston, Miss Mary Mustard, Miss Faye Williams, Miss Pearl Day, and Mrs. Ethel Olson of Dwight, Miss Lillie Lehman of Junction City, Miss Hortense Slavens of Neosho Falls, and Miss Fern Williams of Chicago.

Dinner Guests

Mr. Smalley and Mr. Warburton, who are connected with the department of agriculture at Washington, and who are in town for a few days were the dinner guests of Prof. and Mrs. L. E. Call Wednesday evening.

Bethany Circle Meeting

Miss Ruth Willis was hostess to the Bethany Circle members Tuesday evening at her home, 930 Fremont. A mock initiation was held for the pledges, who are to be formally initiated next week. Refreshments were served to 28 guests.

Announce Pledging

Beta Theta Pi fraternity announces the pledging of Mr. Harold Smiley of Topeka, a freshman in general science.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady: I am a pledge of the "We are It" sorority and after ten years of wishing that I might be a moderately plump little Miss, with nice fat arms and ankles, I have obtained my desire. In fact I have more than my wish. To be truthful I have had my wish, and twenty pounds to boot. Tell me, Mi Lady, what can I do to bring back the good old skinny days.—Maude.

Dear Plump Little Maude: Have you never heard of the cure for all evils? Let me introduce you to Mr. Heinz' 57 varieties. Take your choice for every variety is guaranteed to do the work.—Always Helping, Mi Lady.

Mi Lady: Is it perfectly proper for me to accept a date with a clever looking professor with a dear little mustache? He is an English professor, and at times rather dignified, but I believe he could be very interesting if one got well acquainted with him. He has asked me to go to dinner Sunday night. Now do you suppose I had better go or not? I suppose though Miss H. will be jealous and she is my English teacher so perhaps I had better not accept.—Brown Eyes.

Dear Brown Eyes: Yes, Miss H. would likely flunk you in English and make life miserable for you in general. She has a terribly jealous disposition. You had better not consider oing. Then, too, the man is not as much of a flirt as he pretends to be. I had a date with him last week and he is actually as dry and as tame as some of the chemistry profs.—Mi Lady.

Miss Ann Cockrel is spending the week visiting Miss Marian Quinlan.

Prof. C. E. Ried went to Athol, Friday to advise the citizens of that community concerning an electric lighting system which they are planning to install.

A. J. Walker has accepted a position in St. Joseph, Mo., as branch manager of the Swift plant there.

AGGIES STILL LOOK TO THE CHAMPIONSHIP

HAVE FIGHTING CHANCE FOR VALLEY TITLE

KANSAS AND AGGIES EVEN

Two Contests Here Last Week End Give Farmers One Victory and Jayhawks One—Lacked Team Work First Game

The Aggies still have a fighting chance to tie for Valley championship in basketball since they won one of the games with the Jayhawkers here last week end. To tie for the title the Aggies must not lose another game this season and the Tigers must lose one game previous to the two with the Farmers here the last of the season.

Lost First Game

The home five met with defeat in their first game with the Kansans. This was due to poor team work and lack of pep.

In the second game the Aggies with regained pep and team work, came back at the Kansas five by more than doubling the visitors' score, the final points standing 26 to 12.

Off from the First

Bunger started the scoring by tossing a basket in the first half minute of play. The Aggies' scoring machine continued thruout the first half, which ended 14 to 4 in the Farmers' favor. In this period Jennings made two spectacular baskets from the center of the field. The Cowell brothers put up a stiff defense that forced the Kansans to try their throws from the center of the court.

Urlaub was Kansas' best offensive man. He made their four points in the first half and four more in the second. The Aggies continued their excellent floor playing and basket tossing, the game ending with the score 26 to 12.

Coach Clevenger used no substitutions the first game. Knostman substituted for Bunger the last two minutes of play in the second game.

EIGHT SOCIETIES HAVE BIG RALLY

FIRST PEP MEETING FOR DEBATE EVER HELD

Dr. J. R. Macarthur, Prof. J. W. Searson, and Professor Burns Gave Short Addresses

Over 300 students from the eight literary societies of the college met in the domestic science rest room Saturday evening after the basketball game for the first debate rally ever held at K. S. A. C.

This college has been sending out teams to debate other western colleges for several years. These debates have been encouraged and promoted almost entirely by the college literary societies but never until Saturday night had they been together in one big body to have a rousing pep meeting for debate and oratory.

Dr. J. R. Macarthur was the first speaker on the program. He is the national president of the Pi Kappa Delta honorary debating fraternity, a local chapter of which is located at K. S. A. C.

Professor Searson gave a good talk upon the history of debate here and the value of a debate training to the average college student. Professor Searson has been connected with debate at this college for a number of years and has seen debate work here grow from infancy to one of the largest activities of the college.

Professor Burns followed on the program with a short speech of appreciation to the societies and debaters for the good work done by them in debate this fall. He also praised the excellent work which is being done by the girl debaters who will take part in the first intercollegiate debate this year, which will be held February 21.

Ila Knight spent the week end at her home in Jamestown.

Browning Elects

The Browning Literary society has elected the following officers for the second semester: President, Vera Cates; vice president, Lucretia Schoeler; recording secretary, Ada onger; corresponding secretary Gladys Addy; treasurer, Charlotte Russell; prosecuting attorney, Gladys Hartley; marshal, Margaret Hawbaker; assistant marshal, Mollie Moser; critic, Mabel Bentley; pianoist, Lelia Newkirk; Collegian reporter, Luella Sherman; chorister, Bessie Cole.

The following members were initiated Saturday: Ramona Abram and Alfreida Hempker.

NEW MEMBERS FOR FRATERNITY

VOMEN'S JOURNALISTIC HONORARY HAS PLEDGES

heta Sigma Phi Becoming Active—One Senior, Three Juniors, and One Special Pledged

Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic fraternity for women, announces the pledging of five journalism students. They are: Miss Clementine Paddleford, junior; Ione Leith, junior; Enola Miller, special; Blanche Lea, junior; Mable Bentley, enior.

Theta Sigma Phi has been inactive most of this year due to the fact hat only one member, Miss Dora ate, of the local chapter was attending school. But from now on these six journalism students will start action. 'Tis rumored that they intend o publish a magazine called "The urple Kimona."

Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional fraternity in journalism, will work with Theta Sigma Phi in making the journalism department in K S. A. C. the biggest and best in the west.

OVER HUNDRED CASES OF FLU

COLLEGE STUDENTS ARE NOT SERIOUSLY ILL, HOWEVER

Worst Trouble Is that Sufficient Room Can Not Be Secured—Use College Infirmary

There are more than 100 cases of influenza among college students, according to reports from Dr. C. M. Siever's office. The situation is well in hand and there are but few cases of serious illness.

The difficulty seems to be in getting help eonugh to take care of the cases. All the local hospitals are filled and the health authorities are endeavoring to arrange for the opening of the college infirmary on the orth end of the campus. This has been used only for a pest house but t is expected that it will be turned nto an emergency flu hospital soon

Many other emergency hospitals re being provided for. Doctor Siever thinks that the authorities are ble to cope with the situation.

NEW COURSE IN CURRENT LITERATURE IS OFFERED

Twelve Are Taking the Work—Several Are Instructors

A course in current literature is being offered this semester by Prof. R. W. Conover. There are now 12 persons in the class, several of whom are instructors.

Among the topics that the class will study are: newest forms of the novel, the new poetry problems of modern writers and national influences. The class will also review the verse of both English and American poets.

Clifford S. Rude, graduate student and assistant in entomology and zoology, left Saturday for Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college, where he has accepted a position as assistant state apiarist. He will be associated with Dr. M. C. Tanquary in his new work there.

Dr. C. F. Layton, '18, who is now located at Republic, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting with friends in Manhattan.

Faculty Ladies, the New Year and Cupid Co-operate in Work

The faculty ladies, especially the younger ones, are living up to all Mr. Cupid had hoped for. Just one month of the new year has passed and already two faculty engagements have been announced.

For years, about 30 of them, Wiley B. Wendt has walked alone with a masculine mathematician for a pal. Occasionally he did take in a show with one of the butterflies of the feminine world. But on these occasions the poor Professor found himself practically tongue tied.

What he wanted to say he simply couldn't. But the new year has changed him. All that is necessary as a prerequisite for a diamond ring on a maiden's finger has been said. Of course there is no telling who said it.

Miss Alice Lloyd Jones is also wearing a diamond placed on her finger by a descendant of William Makepiece Thackeray, at least that is what Miss Heizer says, and she ought to know. She also claims that Miss Jones told her the man in the case, who by the way is from New York, did all of the talking himself. But you never can tell when it's leap year.

Miss Denny, the ruler of the grasshoppers, has owned her big sparkler for a long time; but it was the new year that brought the inspiration to leave the hoppers and try the life of a bungalow. Just whose idea this was it is hard to say. It may have been his—but it sounds suspicious for Miss Denny, seeing it's leap year.

GIVE NEW PLAY FESTIVAL WEEK

STUDENT CAST WILL GIVE HOBBLE'S "DADDIES"

Production Is Now Running in London—Author, Native of Kansas, Gives Permission for First Non-Metropolitan Peformance Here

Through the efforts of Dr. J. G. Emerson, head of the public speaking department, the Kansas State Agricultural college gets the first non-metropolitan presentation of John L. Hobble's play, "Daddies," which has had a long and successful run in New York City. It is now being successfully presented at the Strand theater in London.

The play will be given here in Festival week by a student cast, under the auspices of the Purple Masque.

Is a Belasco Production

"Daddies" is under control of David Belasco, and arrangements for its complimentary presentation in Manhattan were made through agreement of the management and the author. It has not been released for stock production and has been given only in the largest cities.

Mr. Hobble, the author, is a Kansan by birth. He has in college a nephew, T. F. Hobble, of the division of veterinary medicine, who greatly assisted Professor Emerson in securing consent for the production of the play.

Author May Visit College

The author of the play will come to Manhattan if possible for the Festival week. In a letter to Professor Emerson he writes:

"I need not tell you that I feel honored that Manhattan, of my home state, should select the play as the one to be produced at the festival. If possible I shall come to see it."

DR. R. C. SMITH IS THE NEW ENTOMOLOGIST HERE

Takes Doctor Tanquary's Place in College

Dr. Roger C. Smith has come to take Doctor Tanquary's place in the entomology department. Dr. Smith received his A. B. degree at Miama university, master of arts degree at Ohio State university and doctor of philosophy at Cornell in 1917. For one year Doctor Smith was associate lecturer of natural history at the public museum in Milwaukee. Before coming here he was in the bureau of entomology at the Charlottesville, Virginia, station.

PRESIDENT OF S.S.G.A. TO BE VOTED ON ELECTION WEDNESDAY FROM EIGHT UNTIL FIVE O'CLOCK

VOTING TO BE DONE IN MAIN

Twenty-five Cent Dues Must be Paid Before Voting—Two Nominees Receiving Highest Number of Votes will be Candidates

The primary election to select the two candidates for president of the Student Self Governing association will be held Wednesday, February 11, from 8:00 to 5:00 o'clock. The voting will be done at the window opposite the post office. The only requirement to vote is the payment of the 25 cents dues, which entitles the voter to membership in the association.

The nominees for president are Claude Hutto, Glen Hoffhines, Earl Frost, and Oscar Steanson. The two nominees receiving the highest number of votes will be the candidates for the general election to be held Friday, February 13. The poles will be open from 8 to 5 in the afternoon.

The candidates for vice-president, to be elected at the general election, are Ray B. Watson and Oscar Steanson.

Students failing to vote at the primary can pay the 25 cent dues and vote at the general election.

ANNUAL CONTEST IS FEBRUARY 28

TICKETS WILL BE GIVEN OUT FOR SALE FEBRUARY 21

The Eight Literary Societies Will Take Charge of the Ticket Selling Campaign

That the twentieth annual oratorical contest, to be held February 28 at the college auditorium, will be the biggest and best ever held at K. S A. C. is the opinion of the oratorical board which has charge of promoting the contest this year.

The tickets this year will be given out to the eight college literary societies on February 21. Every member of the societies will assist in selling the tickets. Each society selling over 100 tickets will receive ten per cent of the cash receipts; in addition to this, the society selling the most tickets over 100 will receive a prize of $10.00. The second prize of $5.00 will be awarded to the society selling the second largest number over 100. The price of the tickets will be 25 cents each.

He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

TEXTILE LAB. IS ALMOST FINISHED

LABORATORY IS FOR USE OF ALI STUDENTS FROM EVERY DEPT.

It Is Equipped for Testing of Fabrics, Physically, Microscopically, and Chemically—Students Can Now Work Independently

"Our aim is not to prepare for the manufacture of textile materials,' said Miss Emma F. Fecht, when speaking of the new textile laboratory which is nearing completion "but to make better consumers and buyers."

The laboratory is for the use of all students from any department in college. Each student has the privilege of working independently and will be directly responsible for her success or failure. With the group work in the past the student often had to accept poorly managed experiments, owing to the lack of time and equipment.

The laboratory is splendidly lighted and is equipped for the testing of fabrics physically, microscopically, and chemically.

Leonard Morris of Paxico, a freshman last year in animal husbandry, was a week end guest at the Delta Tau Delta house. Mr. Morris is teaching in the high school at Paxico this winter.

Ralph St. John, '16, of Alma, who is now teaching in the high school at that place spent the latter part of the week visiting friends in Manhattan and attending the vocational conference at the college.

George Blair, '19, who is doing county agent work at Leavenworth, visited this week at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Lee King, sophomore in general science, was a Thursday evening dinner guest at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Better Watch Your Step Aggie Men For Co-Eds Are After Other Love Letters

The postman's whistle, a pink envelope, a whiff of perfume. She tears the letter open and reads, "Dear Little Popular Co-ed."

This is the daily experience these days of the six popular Aggie co-eds. Young admirers from all over Missouri and Kansas are wasting boxes of pink stationery on which they pour out their heart yearnings in violet ink, to their choice of the popular maids.

Gladys Bushong seems to have bewitched the largest number of high school and college fellows; for every mail brings a letter. The first one she received began:

"Dear Gladys: I saw your picture in the Kansas City Post and I fell in love with it at first sight. If you will only send me your picture I will be glad to send you one of myself. I am twenty, not half bad looking. I have black hair,black eyes, and a girl's complexion, fancy that. My disposition is almost ideal and my position amounts to almost $30 a week. Please consider me eligible for a letter and a two cent stamp. Yours in Kansas City.—L. Bennet.

Marguerite Bondurant received a lively one from a fellow in Hanover, Missouri. The letter began: "Dear Bonny Du Rant, of course I am an imp of Satan to even consider writing to one of the popular co-eds," etc.

Irene, Elizabeth, Mildred, and Ernestine have all been getting little pink and blue scented notes. Just how many of these letters have been answered no one can say exactly.

Ernestine declares she would answer them all if there was any chance of having a keen date with some good looking fellow.

Mildred Arends has ordered another dozen pictures of herself. Evidently she has enlarged her picture mailing list. Gladys Bushong's correspondence has increased so much that her father bought her a new typewriter last week end.

Elizabeth declares she can't be bothered. Marguerite is passing her letters around to the Chi Omega sisters. The whole sorority is helping her lure the young devils on—at least to the point where they will send their pictures.

Who said the fun of being a popular girl ended with the popularity ball?

COLLEGE PLAY TO BE GIVEN FEBRUARY 20

PURPLE MASQUE TO PRESENT COHEN'S DRAMA

CHARACTERS ARE CHOSEN

Will be Given in College Auditorium—Setting Is Lonesomest Place on Earth in Dead of Winter

Friday, February 20, the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity will stage in the college auditorium George Cohen's popular play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate." The play is given under the direction of Miss Florence Heizer of the English department.

The setting of the play is the lonesomest place on earth, a summer resort in the dead of winter. An excellent cast has been selected for the production. The leading man is Wm. Haney, who will play the part of Will Howell Magee. Miss Gertrude Ramsey will play the leading feminine role, taking the part of Miss Mary Norton. Floyd Works will play the part of Mayor Caragan, a crooked politician. The cast has spent a great deal of time on the play, and a big success is assured.

Tickets will be on sale next week by members of the Purple Masque, and seats may be reserved February 19 and 20 at the Co-op book store and at the downtown Palace drug store.

FRESHMAN GIRLS TO GIVE EXHIBIT

250 GIRLS HAVE TURNED IN ARTICLES FOR DISPLAY

Among the Articles on Display Are Block Patterns Adapted to Materials for House Furnishings

An exhibition of the work done by freshmen girls in the applied art department is being given this week and for the next two weeks. Every girl who was in the classes last semester has one or more articles on display, worked out in leather, wood, or a fabric.

The aim of the design course is not to train designers but to develop the appreciation of color, form and arrangement as applied to clothing and house furnishings. Among the articles on display are block patterns adapted to materials for house decoration, clothing, tooled leather, and certain woods. The display is one of the finest that has been given in the history of the department, more than 250 girls having turned in work on their last semester's training.

In addition to the student's work which is attracting a great deal of interest there are two paintings by Birger Sandzen of Lindsborg.

Hawaiian Serenade In Afternoon Is New Feature For Frats

A Hawaiian serenade. That is something new for the women's fraternities to receive. Right in the day time, too.

Of course you have all heard the old time one a. m. serenade when the boys gather under the sleepinng porch and sing,"I Love You Truly", or "All Hail." But the Sig Alphs went on an afternoon serenade. Mr. Tseu, who starred in the Hawaiian act of the vodvil, was the main feature.

Tseu played his Hawaiian guitar, ukelele, and sang songs in both English and Hawaiian. One boy, we withhold his name from publication as it would embarrass him to see it in print, did the hula dance—much to the delight of all the girls.

And what is so funny is that half the girls are now trying to imitate this famous hula dancer. Perhaps they are planning an afternoon serenade, too.

Fairchild Hall Is A Good Imitation Of The Catacombs

"And now I wouldn't be afraid to go into the catacombs alone, for I am sure that I could find my way out."

This speech of assurance was made by a journalism student who was recently assigned to get a story from a Prof. located in a remote section of Fairchild's second story. When asked why she felt so sure that the intricacies of the catacombs held no terrors for her, she replied.

"Well I guess you've never been upstairs in Fairchild." When told that her hearers were as ignorant of Fairchild as the home economics students are of the cow barns, the embryo reporter continued:

"Well I went blithely up that round stairway on the west side and went into an office to ask where I would find the professor. The instructor told me that the office of the man I sought was just two doors from around the corner from room 65. My informant seemed to doubt my ability to find room 65, but feeling assured that I could I started off.

"At first I seemed to have struck a blind alley. But I felt sure that there must be more to the building than just the tower part so I kept on, and finally found that by going through an empty class room I could get to another dark hall.

"There I seemed to be stopped again. But there was a court and I could see a hall on the other side of it, so I tried a few more doors and got into another hall—not the one on the other side of the court, however. I never did know what happened to that one.

"I hunted around for several more minutes but I just couldn't find that professor's office. I rushed into a recitation room where a lecture was in progress, and into a laboratory where they were cutting up cats. Finally I found an empty recitation room and it led to the office which I sought.

"And do you know, that I actually managed to get out the same way I came in. That is why I don't fear the catacombs."

AGGIE PROFESSOR HEADS KANSAS AUTHOR'S CLUB

Is Widely Known as Writer, Editor, And Educator—In Publicity Work for National Government During Recent War

Another honor came to the Kansas State Agricultural college last Friday, when one of its faculty members was elected president of the Kansas Authors' club at the annual meeting in Topeka. J. W. Searson, head of the department of English and one of the most popular men on the hill, is the man to whom this honor fell.

Author of Successful Books

Professor Searson has been connected with the college for 10 years, and is well known in literary and educational circles both within and without Kansas. He is author of "Studies in Reading," a series of readers commended by educators as the best so far published, and of other works. He is one of the three editors of the American School, a journal devoted to educational supervision.

During the war Professor Searson was in publicity work for the federal government at Washington, D. C. He edited National School Service, a magazine designed to show how the schools might be of aid to the nation in the emergency and later.

Other Aggie Folk in Club

At the meeting of the Kansas Authors' club N. A. Crawford, professor of industrial journalism, was reelected vice president for the Fifth district. Professors Searson and Crawford made addresses at the annual dinner of the club.

Several persons connected with the college were elected to membership in the club: Dr. John R. Macarthur, R. W. Conover, and Miss Ada Rice, of the department of English; Prof. C. E. Rogers, of the department of industrial journalism and printing; E. L. Holton, dean of the summer school; Walter Burr, of the rural service department; Mrs. Bernard Ulrich, former student; and Miss Clementine Paddleford and H. A. Moore, students in industrial journalism.

Miss Florence Heizer of the English department was unable to meet her classes the latter part of last week on account of illness. Other members of the department taught her classes.

Miss Fuller left Friday evening for her home in Topeka. She spent the week end with her father who has been ill for some time.

Miss Olga Waller, who has been the guest of Miss Hedrick of the library, left Thursday for her home in Kewanee, Ill.

Miss Garnet Grover was a week end guest at the Alpha Phi house in Topeka.

Mr. Ensil Litchfield of South Dakota visited his sister Miss Lois at the Delta Zeta house the first of the week.

Miss Minnie Freeman has withdrawn from college and will attend Emporia normal next semester.

Miss Marian Traynor and Miss Florence Bingham, both from Kansas university have enrolled in college this semester.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM TO FRONT

TEAM HAS PLACED NEAR THE TOP IN ALL THE CONTESTS

The Team Won at Least Once Over Every Other Team That Competed with Them

"Who put K. S. A. C. on the map? Professor Bell."

This is what the A. H. students are saying. And why shouldn't they? He coached one of the best stock judging teams in this part of the country the last year. The team won at least once over every other team that competed with them more than one time. Then too they took first place at the National Western Stock show at Denver.

But this is not all that they have done. At the National Swine show at Des Moines last October, the team took second in the Stock Judging contest, losing to Missouri. The team took third in the contest at the International Stock show at Chicago last October. They were beaten by the Texas and Nebraska teams at this contest, eight teams competed.

Besides winning first place at the Western National Stock show at Denver the team also won a silver loving cup and $185 in cash prizes. All of the members of the team placed among the first eight high men. J. B. Thompson took first place, and was also the best judge of breeding stock.

The men who were on these teams were: D. M. Howard, G. F. Welch, J. D. Montague, N. Pearson, J. B. Thompson, D. E. Neal, W. R. Horlacher, and H. R. Gilbert. Prof. F. W. Bell, who coached the teams, said that this was the best bunch of men that he has ever trained. Mr. Bell was formerly coach of the Texas judging team, which was one of the best judging teams in the country, and it is due mainly to the work that he has done that the team has made such an excellent record.

Harold McGinley will spend the remainder of this week in Kansas City.

Orin W. Hinshaw and Ernest Laude are ill at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Formal

The members of Kappa Kappa Gamma gave their annual formal party Friday evening at Elk's hall. The hall was beautifully decorated in the Kappa colors, light and dark blue. The hall was lighted by floor lamps shaded in the fraternity colors. Palms, flowers, and ferns were banked between the floor lamps, and in the center of the hall was a fountain banked with palms, ferns, and ophelia roses. The Kuhn and Chaquette orchestra of Kansas City furnished the music for the dancing. An ice course was served during the intermission. A special feature of the party was a solo dance given by Miss Helen Clark, a Kappa from Kansas City. The party ended with a carnival dance. The chaperones were: Mrs. Winifred Miller, Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Mr. and Mrs. George Southern, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Colt, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hessin. Out of town guests included: Miss Mostelyn Hambric of Wichita, Miss Arlene Hibarger of Wichita, Miss Irene Seery and Miss Nell Gunn from the K. U. chapter, Miss Ruth Martin of Junction City, Miss Adelaide Lutz of Oklahoma City, Miss Alamorine Campbell of Lincoln, Neb., Miss Helen Clark of Kansas City, and Miss Alma Hoffman of Enterprise.

McElroy-Cleary

Miss Gertrude McElroy and Corporal Michael Cleary of Camp Funston were married Thursday evening at the home of the bride's mother in Manhattan, the Rev. Drury Hill Fisher officiating. Before the ceremony Miss Marjorie Etzold played Lohengrin's wedding march: Corporal and Mrs. Cleary were attended by Miss Mabel Murphy as maid of honor and Mr. Fordyce as best man. Mrs. Cleary attended K. S. A. C. during 1916 and 1917. Corporal Cleary is stationed with Company B., 10th field signal battalion. They will make their home in Manhattan.

Newman Club Dance

The members of the Newman club gave a leap year dance in the home economics hall Friday evening. The Valentine idea was carried out by the red shaded lights, and the decorations of red streamers and hearts. Music for the dancing was furnished by Unsheid's four piece orchestra. About 25 couples attended the party which was chaperoned by Miss Edith Bond, Miss Vera McCoy, Miss Grace Hesse, and Miss I'Shell.

Society

Elkhart Dance

The members of the Elkhart club gave a dance in the recreational hall Friday evening. The music for the dance was provided by a four piece orchestra. About 40 couples danced. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Clover, Prof. E. S. West, and Miss Hurd.

Miss Alice Lloyd Jones was the guest of honor at a bridge party given at the home economics practice house, Thursday evening by Mrs. E. F. Fishback, Miss Florence Heizer, Miss Grace Hesse, Miss Vera McCoy, and Miss Doris Bugbey. Miss Lloyd Jones leaves soon for the east where her marriage to Mr. Wood will take place early in the spring. The guests were: Miss Dora Otto, Miss Edith Bond, Miss Edith Willman, Miss Marian Williams, Miss Mary Wooster, Miss Vina Brazelton, Miss Ethel Ling, Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Trail, Miss Josephine Perry, Miss Marian Harrison, Miss Mary McDonal, Miss Winifred Bartholf, Miss Elsie Smith, and Miss Edith Hedrick.

Lathrop-Bennett

Miss Lillian Lathrop, who graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1916, and Mr. Richard Bennett were married Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother in Manhattan. The wedding was a quiet one, only immediate relatives being in attendance. Mrs. Bennett was prominent in school activities while in college. She was a member of Quill club and of the Eurodelphian literary society. Mr. Bennett is a graduate of Washburn. He is employed at the Manhattan State bank. The couple will make their home in Manhattan.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1920 NO. 41

KANSAS AND IOWA AGGIES BATTLE HERE

REGULAR FARMER FIVE WILL START GAME

AMES MEN ARE WELL TRAINED

While Visiting Team Has Lost All Its Games this Season, the Men Are Good Players and Will Show Aggies Good Fight

Tonight the Kansas Aggies and the Iowa Aggies will bring forth their hoes and rakes and see who can make garden the faster.

The Kansas Farmers have so far proved themselves faster in covering the ground and in getting the crop, but there is always a chance for a surpirse.

Friday night Hinds, Bunger, E. Cowell, Jennings, and W. Cowell will start the game. Williams is almost fully recovered and may play in one of the games with Ames. Knostman can always be counted on and Willhoite will be on the job.

While the Ames five has not won a game this year, the team is by no means a poor one and the two game series here will be good.

The Aggie freshman squad deserves a great deal of credit for the work the men have put in this season.

FORMER AGGIE HEAD TO K. U.

DR. H. J. WATERS MAY BE NEW CHANCELLOR

Is Now Editing Weekly Kansas City Star—No Definite Information Given as Yet

While no definite information has been given out by the State Board of Administration, considerable rumor has gone out that Dr. H. J. Waters, former president of the agricultural college, will be the new chancellor of the University of Kansas.

The Abilene Reflector, which is edited by Charles M. Harger, prints editorially the following:

"What is said to be straight dope from Lawrence is that Dr. H. J. Waters, formerly of the agricultural college, but now editor of the Weekly Kansas City Star, is to be the new chancellor of the university. If anybody kin, Doctor Waters kin."

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Alpha Theta Chi announces the pledging of Mr. Otto R. Coburn of Preston, freshman in electrical engineering.

Dinner Guests

Miss Alice Lloyd Jones and Prof. R. W. Conover were Sunday dinner gusets at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Dinner Party

Miss Avis Blain, 343 North 14th, entertained at dinner Sunday evening in honor of the birthday anniversary of Miss Edith Bond. The color scheme of red and white was carried out by red and white sweet peas, which were used as a centerpiece for the table. The guests were: Miss Edith Bond, Miss Grace Hesse, Miss Marian Williams, Miss Vera McCoy, and Miss Winifred Bartholf.

Dinner guests at the Chi Omega house Wednesday evening were Doctor Mary Harmon, and Miss Annette Perry.

SENIOR CLASS TO HAVE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

First Class Students to Choose Their Leaders Tuesday

The senior class election will be held all day Tuesday in Anderson hall. The nominees for president are: K. D. Thompson, L. A. McGrath, and Floyd Hawkins. Two nominations were made for vice president but there is only one name on the other positions. Every senior is urged to vote.

Miss Fuller of the English department has been in Topeka all week on account of illness.

SEND QUARTER FOR MAGAZINE "BROWN BULL"

WILL BE PRINTED AS SOON AS CUTS ARE HERE

Is First Humorous Magazine Ever Published at the Agricultural College—To be Sold at Canteen

"Brown Bull? Say, when is it coming out?"

Yes, that's what everyone wants to know. Well, the first Brown Bull will be out just as soon as the cuts of the cartoons get here and that will be in the near future.

The first issue of the Brown Bull is to be a 28 page, full size magazine, with a three color cover design. It is the first humorous magazine ever published at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

Subscriptions for the magazine are being taken now. Only 1,000 copies will be printed the first time so all who want a copy reserved, should send a quarter to Milton Eisenhower, circulation manager, Brown Bull. The magazine will be saved for those who subscribe now. Of course they will be sold at the canteen, too, but it is best to get in the subscriptions early.

GLIMPSES INTO THE BROWN BULL MAGAZINE

The Brown Bull is K. S. A. C.'s first humorous magazine. It is to contain nothing but good clean jokes, all of which can be read at the breakfast table. Such jokes as the following will be run—not these, of course:

Frat Member to Pledge—"Congratulations, old man."

Pledge—"Same to you."

Two worms were eating in dead earnest—Poor Earnest.

Tough—"I haven't paid a cent for dentist's bills in the last six years."

Rough—"So the dentist tells me."

Fatima—"Joe Cool thinks he's pretty tough, doesn't he?"

Camel—"Yeh, he always washes his teeth with a whiskey flavored toothpaste before he goes out."

Kike—"That was a great dance. I hope I made an impression on that girl."

Ike—"I guess you did. She's been limping ever since."

Alva—"As far as I can see, there is no harm in girls wearing short sox."

Jack—"No, not as far you can see."—Punch Bowl.

Son—"What made you marry mother?"

Dad—"Are you beginning to wonder too?"—Widow.

George Drumm has returned from a dairy inspection trip to Wichita.

AGGIES ARE NOW THIRD IN RACE

TIGERS ARE FIRST IN CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT

Washington Is Still Second—Aggies Have Chance for First Place—Ames at Bottom

The Aggies stand third in the Valley fight for the basketball championship. They stand a good chance to win the title, too. Two victories this week end would place them above Washington; second, if that team were to lose its week end series.

The standing of the Valley teams is as follows:

Team	W	L	Pct.
Missouri	10	0	1,000
Washington	8	2	.800
Aggies	5	3	.675
Kansas	3	3	.500
Drake	1	6	.142
Oklahoma	0	2	.000
Grinnell	0	4	.000
Ames	0	6	.000

Vaccination for pneumonia, influenza, and other diseases may be taken at the office of the college physician. There is no charge. Persons who take the vaccination are lowering the danger of an epidemic among college students.

MISS HARDMANN WILL PLAY HERE

THIRD NUMBER OF ARTIST SERIES TO BE VIOLIN RECITAL

Miss Hardmann Is Probably Foremost Woman Violinist in America—Has Made Tour With Sarah Bernhardt

The third number of the All Star Artist's Course, a violin recital by Miss Florence Hardmann, will be given at the college auditorium, Monday, February 23.

Miss Hardmann is, since the death of Maud Powell, probably the foremost woman violinist in America. Miss Hardmann is a native of Ohio, and has had a great deal of experience in the concert field.

FLORENCE HARDMANN

She accompanied Sousa's band on a tour of the United States in 1911 and was strongly urged by Mr. Sousa to accompany the band on its world tour, but as she had decided to go to Europe for study, she left the band in 1912, studying in Europe until forced to leave on account of the war.

After her return from Europe Miss Hardmann made an extended tour with Madame Sarah Bernhardt. Miss Hardmann and Madame Bernhardt were booked for a tour of South America, but the tour was cancelled when the United States entered the war. She has lately returned from a second tour with Sousa's band, and will be engaged in concert work until the end of the season.

Miss Hardmann will be accompanied by Mr. Stewart Wille, one of America's most prominent painists.

MORE MEN TAKE R.O.T.C. WORK

BUT ENROLMENT IN REGULAR DRILL HAS DROPPED 100

Over Twenty-five Per Cent of the Men Were Found to Have Physical Defects of Some Kind

There has been an increase in the number of men who are taking the advanced course in the R. O. T. C. The total number of men, who are taking drill, however, is less this semester than it was the first semester. There were 500 men enrolled before and at present there are about 400 listed.

There are four rifle companies and two machine gun platoons.

There were only three men who were found physically unfit for the drill, which is required by the college.

Twenty-five per cent of the men were found to have defects which would make them undesirable for officers and therefore ineligible for the R. O. T. C. These defects would not disqualify them for first line service.

Mrs. W. G. Mays spent several days the first of the week in Topeka with her son.

Y Men Sick Visitors

Represeentatives of the Y. M. C. A. were welcome visitors at the rooms of men students who were ill last Sunday. Each of the students were given one pint of ice cream. An official sick list, which numbered 36, was secured from Doctor Siever Sunday morning and the visits made during the afternoon.

CADET COMPANIES TO HAVE PICTURES TAKEN MONDAY

Every Cadet Is Asked to Come Dressed in Uniform if Possible.

Pictures of the cadet companies for the class book will be taken Monday. Every cadet is asked to come dressed in a uniform if possible. Students who were drilling last semester and are not drilling this semester may come and attach themselves to some company next Monday in order that their pictures will appear in the Royal Purple.

EX-SHOOTERS TO THROW A DANCE

SATURDAY EVENING IN RECREATIONAL HALL

All Ex-Service Men Are Urged to Join Club—Dues of $1.50 Must Be Paid

The Ex-Service Men's club will hold its first social function of the year Saturday evening in the recreational hall.

It is hoped that this first social function of the club will be attended by every ex-service man on the campus. Every ex-service man is eligible to membership in the club. Those who joined last semester will not have to pay any dues this year. Those who do not belong to the club may join by sending $1.50 to W. J. Rogers, adjutant, or by paying this amount at the door Saturday evening.

The following officers have been elected for this semester: Commandant, Captain Humphreys; vice commandant, Don Thayer; adjutant, Walter J. Rogers; finance officer, Mr. Hayes; historian, W. A. Karlowski; master of arms, Rowe Mather.

TIGER COACH IS NOT BOASTING

SAYS BOTH AGGIES AND WASHINGTON HAVE CHANCE

Holds Down Enthusiasts Who Say Tigers Have Already Won Valley Basketball Championship

The following article is taken from the Evening Missourian:

Atheltic Director W. E. Meanwell is busy right now explaining to Columbians and sport followers in general just why Missouri's basketball arm cannot be raised in proclamation of a Valley championship.

"Missouri has not won, nor cinched a Valley championship," said Doctor Meanwell today. "I see the man every day who doesn't even know that we have another game with the Aggies. Kansas and Washington are both possible champions. If we lose two games out of any of the series remaining with Kansas, the Aggies or Washington we can, with certain bad breaks in other games be crowded out of the running."

Attention of the Missouri rooters may be called to the fact that Washington is always a possibility in any sport. Washington does not play the Aggies and for that reason the Kansas farmers have one good chance left against the Tigers. In addition Missouri must play the Aggies two games on the Manhattan floor and this, according to the Tiger coach, is worth twelve points to the Kansas team. Missouri meets in rapid succession Oklahoma, Kansas, Washington, and the Aggies. Drake plays here Friday and Saturday of this week. Defeat at the hands of Drake would be among the most tragic events on record.

Donald Droll of Alta Vista was a visitor at the Sigma Phi Delta house over Monday and Tuesday.

WOOD CHOSEN AS PRESIDENT BY STUDENTS

STRAW VOTE ELECTS WAR HERO TO HIGHEST POSITION

WAS NEARLY UNAMINOUS

Collegian Campaign Proves that Kansas Man Is Favorite in Agricultural College—Hoover, McAdoo, and Pershing Mentioned

Major General Leonard Wood was almost unanimously elected to the position of president of the United States in a straw vote taken by the Collegian.

Over 94 per cent of the total number of votes cast, were in favor of General Wood. This shows the popularity of the Kansas war hero with the agricultural college students.

Three other men were named in the election. Herbert Hoover stood second with 3 per cent of the total number of votes, W. G. McAdoo received 2 per cent, and General Pershing 1 per cent.

Other colleges in the west have had straw votes for president and so far General Wood has had the preference.

FLU EPIDEMIC IS DECREASING

STUDENTS ARE RETURNING TO SCHOOL NOW

Only Few New Cases Are Reported to College Physician—Situation Worse in Parts of State

The influenza epidemic has been partially checked in the college. Dr. C. M. Siever, college physician, reported this morning that the students who have been ill, are returning to school and that there are very few new cases reported.

However, the disease is spreading in the state. Yesterday over 3,440 new cases were reported while the previous day over 4,000 new cases were reported.

Schools at Topeka and in other towns are closed. The agricultural college will not be closed, however.

Arthur Gadberry and Frank Swarner, students of K. S. A. C., went to Emporia Friday afternoon to attend a dance given by the American Legion.

Gordon Redman of Kansas City, is back in school after an absence of almost two weeks.

R. E. Lofink, '16, and W. R. Essick, '18, were Thursday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

The school of agriculture basketball team will play the Concordia high school team in Nichols gymnasium Saturday afternoon, February 14. The game will be called at four-thirty.

Mr. Sidney Eberhart was a Tuesday dinner guest at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house included Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Colt, Mrs. Norris of Wichita, and Miss Helen Clark of Kansas City.

The Lincoln and Philomathian Literary societies will hold a joint debate in the Lincoln hall Saturday evening. The question for debate is: Resolved that the United States should adopt a system of compulsory military training.

Mrs. Bowman of the public speaking department is ill with the flu in Leavenworth where she was called on account of the illness of her husband. Her classes have been dismissed this week.

E. S. Bacon is attending the Veterinary Medical association at Kansas City this week.

Miss Marguerite Edelblute spent the week end visiting at the Chi Omega house at K. U.

Miss Ruth Robinson spent the week end at her home in Towanda.

EVERYBODY OUT

Tonight and tomorrow night the Aggies will play the Ames five.

Why did the Farmers lose the first game to K. U. ? Partly because the crowd had no pep. The second evening, even with the odds against the home five, there was a great deal more enthusiasm than was shown the first night.

So you see, the thing that is needed is pep. Come out everybody, root for the Aggies. If we are losing, yell louder. We must win the two games tonight and tomorrow night.

Dope favors us. We are almost confident of victory. But that should not stop the pep. Come on, let's give Jay Raw!

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

"Keep on the walks." For years this has been preached to the college students at K. S. A. C. ; but still they persist in taking short cuts, zigzag here and there at various places over the campus.

Notice the ugly hard beaten paths which are beginning to show up. Short cuts to the auditorium, to the hort building, and to the gym are becoming more than mere paths. These short cuts are becoming hard beaten trails which a few of the thoughtless students travel daily.

Get up a little earlier in the morning, and walk around by the walk to that first hour class. If you care at all for the way the campus looks this spring keep off the grass.

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

Elizabeth Brown was seen walking home from school all by herself yesterday. Has Joe got the flu?

Mildred Sterling has packed her low pumps away and is wearing shoes. Now we know spring is here.

Milton is now parting his hair just a little to the left of the former center crease. Do you like it, girls? He wants to know.

If the Sigma Nu's don't stop eating so many doughnuts their profits will be a minus quantity.

Rosalie Elizabeth Dickens may be seen any spring afternoon, sitting near the cedar by the auditorium, writing spring melodies.

Miss Denney is down on the Collegian staff since the grasshoppers have had so much publicity. She claims it isn't fair to the poor dumb animals.

What does Pete Knight keep in the pockets of his car?

Frank Roark likes the girls, especially is he fond of the maid with the roadster. It's so handy donchano.

It's awful hard on the profs. to have the flu. But its sorta handy when you get out of a hard class or two.

Professor Davis says his classes remind him of a bunch of pigs because they answer all his questions with grunts.

Who had a date for Women's Pan-Hellenic with Rosy Van Zile? Shame on you ,Rosy, to break a date just to get married.

Walter Law is still shadowing one of the journalism co-eds.

Donald Blocksome of the Kappa Sigma house has written twice to Mi Lady asking her if dreams ever come true. But Mi Lady doesn't know for sure.

Miss Christy Christman, when filling out her student's record for the annual, wrote after fraternities, Alpha Theta Chi preferred.

We wonder who the twelve fat men were who have been joy riding on the hand car? Be careful, boys, imagine your fate if you met the galloping goose on a wicked curve.

Mr. Rogers has enjoyed the past week, as he has been spending a few days at home with the flu and his wife.

President Jardine has begun hoeing his garden for the spring crop of onions. Last spring he planted twelve long rows.

Since a little Chi Omega left school, Gallagher has been singing, "Bring Back Those Wonderful Yesterdays." She may come back Mr. Gallagher, so just keep up the music.

M. P. Olson, who has been ill with influenza for several days, is reported much better.

WALTER BURR

—Tramp Printer, Editor, Social Worker

"Walter Burr is a man who understands the farmers better than they understand themselves."

B. Needham, state master of the grange made this statement at the war conference at Topeka. People believe it because a farmer said it.

WALTER BURR

No wonder it is so. Burr always has been in close touch with country life. His father was a country minister who moved from Illinois as a home missionary to a coal mining section of Wyoming.

This was a disastrous move financially so the son started out to seek his fortune at 12 years of age as apprentice in a print shop. The next six years he followed the life of an old time tramp printer along the Union Pacific in Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, and Utah.

These were the days of the homesteader. Printing consisted largely of land notices. The court work was principally land cases or cases dealing with land problems. He made a specialty of lawyers' briefs put out when court was in session.

Ran a Country Paper

At 18 he worked his way back to southwestern Iowa, where he ran a country newspaper for a year and a half. As editor and leader of a social group he discovered his educational limitations. He resolved to enter college. At 20 he entered Knox college, with no preliminary work except what he had obtained at night schools. Here he followed a special course for five years, then took advanced work at the University of California.

He then took up settlement work, first in San Francisco, then in Kansas City, and Chicago. In Armourdale, Kansas City, his work was connected with the detention home and the juvenile court. During the two years there he had in all 200 boys living in his home for different periods. It is interesting to note that he left San Francisco on account of the fire and Kansas City because of the flood.

Learns from the Farmers

Working close to the life of the slums, through fire and flood and earthquake he decided that the great problem of a prosperous and wholesome national life could not be solved in the city. The situation must be dealt with at its source. So, after a year in Chicago, he came to Kansas to help in the great socializing movement of developing a community spirit in country communities.

Since that time his name has become known all over Kansas. If a country community wants to organize a rural high school, revive a church, build a school house or start a lecture course, they call on Walter Burr to help them plan their campaign.

The secret of his understanding of farm conditions is shown in a quotation from his address "Safe-guards" to the state farm bureau delegates recently assembled at Manhattan.

"For the past six years, in undertaking to give whatever voice or influence I may have to the service of farmers I have sought to get instructions from the farmers themselves. The element from whom such instructions have been sought is not the reactionary nor the revolutionary, but the same central group mid-way between these two."

Miss Golda Rader, '18, who has been teaching in Atwood, is now at her home in Manhattan. The Atwood schools are closed because of the flu epidemic.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor Collegian—Breakfast may become more popular at a certain K. S. A. C. fraternity house, for lovers of hen fruit, if a plan they have recently originated produces the expected results. Instead of many of the members snoring peacefully through first hour, they will create a wild commotion each morning in order to get to breakfast on time.

A few days ago one of the seniors became quite indignant over the fact that so many of the men were prone to misuse the words, lay, lie, laid, sit, sat, and set. He suggested as a remedy that any member or pledge who butchered the English language by the misuse of the above words be required to buy the house one egg for each offence, eggs being more or less connected with these words. A resolution to this effect was adopted. When enough eggs have accumulated they will be served for breakfast.

Some of the freshmen are worrying over the new move. One of them expects to start a poultry farm in the near future. Others are planning to keep a small flock of chickens in the yard back of the fraternity house. At any rate, there will undoubtedly be an improvement in both English and breakfast.—A Member.

Dear Editor—We need a large clock on Anderson hall. Why not a campaign to persuade the authorities to have a large clock similar to the one on the court house. Then we could hear the clock strike if we were not where we could see it. There isn't a clock in the library any more and I am sure Miss May gets tired of students rushing up to the postoffice window to steal a glance at her little alarm clock sitting on the shelf.

It seems that we might bring enough pressure to bear on the matter to secure a clock if we would spread enough propaganda and talk clocks every time we went to one of our high dignataries' classes. Let us all boost for a clock on Anderson hall.—A Student.

Editor of the Collegian—Having been a member of the college band for over two years I feel free to explain and criticize the performance of the members at the basketball games, especially that of Friday, February 6.

The question before each game has been "Will enough band instruments be here to carry a good tune?" If enough of these were present there was little cause for complaint. However last Friday night there was not a solo or first cornet player present, and only one solo clarinet during the entire evening. The men who were present were willing enough to play anything, but without cornets and clarinets, "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here" is as much out of the question as trying to play football without any backfield.

However it is a lamentable state of affairs whereby the college band, an organization which once inspired pep and college spirit, is hampered and at times completely balked by lack of interest of less than a dozen men, who being especially talented, have extra responsibilities.—A Band Member.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady: It is in your capacity of home missionary to the needy that now appeal to you. I had the good fortune to be in the high graces of a certain young lady. In fact I was so high in her good graces that she recently took advantage of the year and proposed to me. In my confusion I accepted. She now wears my Woolworth diamond and my Forum pin. I have just realized what I have done. I don't want this girl hanging on to my coat tail, how shall I get release?—Hob O. Boe.

Dear Hob O. Boe: If you don't want the girl hanging on to your coat tail, cut the tail off. A new suit will only cost you 75 bucks, whereas girl hanging to your coat tail the remainder of your life will cost you about 75,000 bucks.—Mi Lady.

DEAR OLD HEN

Dear Hen:—I would have written you sooner, Hen, but I have been celebrating the good results of the finals the last week and taking out a assignment for next semester. Of course I didn't have anything much to celebrate with, but that gave me a good chance to pull some stuff that goes great up here—telling the fellows how much the Consitutional Amendment and the Volstead Act did to take all the sunshine out of my life. That goes good even if I haven't ever been outside of Spiveyville in my life. I would have some mighty good stuff if I had been in the S. A. T. C., too, because I would be able to do like the rest of them and beat the overseas veterans to it with a thrilling account of the weary days I spent on hospital duty, or going out to drill 1½ hours every morning. But I'll get by all right. I always yell out "How do you get that way," whenever I can't think of anything else to say. Besides I bought me a oilcloth coat the other day.

Well, Hen, I got out an assignment for next semester, and I like it pretty well, but I couldn't get a few things that I wanted. My roommate told me about them, and they are good practical courses. They are offered by Professor Kittel and Professor Cooper down in the basement of Anderson hall. Professor Kittell's course is Soda Sociabilities and Prof. Cooper's course is Barber shop Bull. I would like to take those courses because they are practical and Professor Kittell and Professor Cooper seem to be the only profs. on the hill that make money enough to wear silk shirts. I like the Wareham mattinee lecture, too.

I have a good mind to take out an elective in Journalism Practice this semester, Hen. I got some good advice on it the other day. A fellow asked me could I run, jump, swim, play basketball, or sing and I told him no and he asked me could I write, draw, or was I witty or clever or original and I said no and then he asked me did I like music and I told him I could dance to it all night and he said that he thought that my only chance would be with the Collegian.

Well, Hen, I got to stop now as it is about time to fix my hair before I go to bed. My roomate has bought some Bandoleen to make our hair lie back like the rest of the boys. He also got some good hair tonic and our room always has a aroma of hair tonic around it now about as strong as the smell of moth balls at a fraternity formal. Off windowshine, Hen.—Jack.

OTHER COLLEGES

Washburn's journalism class had a unique examination recently, when the instructor took them down to the state house. They "covered" the meeting thoroughly and then wrote stories from their notes.

Grinnell is much exicted over a triangular shooting affair that involved three men students. The theory is that the three were staging a performance to scare some girls, but the thing was more realistic than planned for, since one man was shot. But the men have not been found as yet.

Ohio State university is planning to play their chimes at stated intervals in honor of their fallen heroes.

LEAP YEAR BARGAINS

I am a Pi Kappa Alpha, mighty short; but awful funny, I mean witty. I have a long nose of the Roman variety; but you forget the nose when you see my brown eyes. They call me a landmark around this college but that doesn't hurt my feelings, for I am getting a lot of knowledge. I'm a leap year bargain for some rather short little girl. I'm a million dollar man marked down to $99.25. That is my present bank account.—Shorty J.

I am a college professor, with a wicked eye, a liberal purse, and lots of good looking clothes. I'm quite a kidder and am an all around sport. Spend loads of good money on my lady friends. I wear a soft black hat and a green neck tie. Look me up early in the season for I'm quite the demand. Bargains don't last forever. Yours on the Bargain Counter.

His hair is parted in the middle and plastered carefully into place with Mahdeen and this is brushed lightly with brilliantine. Back of his right ear, which by the way has been chewed by something, rests a pencil, for he is one of the leading pen pushers in the journalism course. He is now making enough money along with his school work to just about keep some little lass in silk hose. If you want a man and want to get him quick, here is your chance; because at present he is in love with no one. His eyes always dance in anticipation of a new date. For further information write to Mi Lady.

I am the Delta Tau acrobat, small and some say handsome. I have a keen sense of humor, which would likely amuse you. My hair is real wavy and black. I am marked down from $25 to 25 cents. Isn't poker an awful game from some angles?—G. H.

DO YOU KNOW?

Do you know the young fellow who works for $25.00 a week and who is wearing a new winter suit that cost $85.00.

Do you know the housewife who is ashamed to be seen with a market basket on her arm, or to carry home a brown paper bundle?

Do you know the manufacturer who, when the price of raw material and overhead goes up 5 per cent and the cost of labor advances an equal amount, adds 25 per cent to the price of his goods?

Do you know the girl working for $18.00 a week who is buying and wearing a $350.00 fur coat.

Do you know the man who lets a "fresh" clerk sneer him into buying a $15.00 hat for fear he'll seem "cheap" when he can buy a satisfactory hat for $7.00?

Do you know the man who has traded his war saving stamps or liberty bonds for the promise of 100 per cent profit in a stock company by a dishonest promoter?

Do you know the married couple who do not think enough of their children to teach them to save by buying war saving stamps?

Do you know the person who lets the desire of the moment destroy the results of days and weeks of thrift and savings?

Do you know the person who thinks it is not necessary to save?

Do you know the man who says that the government savings securities, liberty bonds, war savings stamps and treasury savings certificates are too slow or to small or too old fashioned for his investments? —The Round-Up (N. M. State).

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1920 — NO. 42

K. S. A. C. TO SEND MEN TO CAMP CUSTER

CAMP IS OF SIX WEEKS' DURATION

FROM JUNE 17 TO JULY 28

Attendance Is Voluntary and Men do Not Oblige Themselves to Any Military Service by Taking Training

Camp Custer, Mich., which is located near Battle Creek in the lakes region of the state, is the camp which members of the R. O. T. C. of this school will attend next summer, according to an announcement of the war department. The camp is of six weeks' duration, from June 17 to July 28.

Is Voluntary

Attendance at the camp is voluntary and the men who attend the camp do not obligate themselves to any military service.

Among the subjects to be taught are: hygiene, sanitation, map making, physical training, constitution of the United States, how to live in the open field, scouting, rifle shooting, machine guns, democratic citizenship, patriotism, and Americanism. The government pays railroad fare, clothes, board, and lodging. The object of the camp is to train men to be officers of the United States army in the case of any future war.

ROBIN HOOD TO BE GIVEN

Students May Reserve Seats Early Through Professor Lovejoy

Robin Hood, Maid Marian, and all of the merry men of the Greenwood are to appear in Manhattan Tuesday, February 24.

The opera, "Robin Hood," in which so many of the Greenwood folk make their appearance, is probably DeKoven's greatest masterpiece, and is undoubtedly one of America's greatest comic operas. It is put on here by the Dunbar company.

Prof. A. L. Lovejoy, who is a personal friend of Mr. Dunbar, the producer of the play, has made special arrangements for the college students so that they can make their reservations earlier than would ordinarily be possible. Students who subscribe for their seats from Professor Westbrook or Professor Lovejoy will be allowed to make their seat reservations at the Marshall on Thursday.

Long Trousers Were Newer To Him Than The Strange Campus

A little boy, clad in his first long trouser suit, came to Manhattan the other day to attend the Farm and Home week events. He was the representative of the boys' club of Jefferson county and was being sent here through the courtesy of the Bankers' association of that place.

Fully aware of the dignity of his position he had pinned on his coat lapel an immaculate white badge on which were printed the words "Official Delegate."

Having arrived in Manhattan he boarded a street car to come out to the college, only to discover in a few minutes that his journey from Jefferson county to attend Farm and Home week was, to a great extent, in vain. One of the members of the extension department saw and recognized the purple and white badge, and was obliged to break the news to him, that the great annual event had been postponed on account of the influenza epidemic.

Disappointment and silence were the first expressions which evidenced the great loss that the postponement of the demonstration week meant to the lad. Then tears. For in spite of the dignity of the first pair of long trousers and the stiffness of the white collar and the real necktie the boy was, after all, a little boy at heart.

Further questioning on the part of the extension department member revealed that the boy had been sent here by the bankers of the county because he had raised the best corn and pig litter.

He told his questioner that his trip to Manhattan this year was but the second time in his life that he had been on a train for he lives many miles out in the country in Jefferson county.

His companion suggested that he spend a few days here visiting at the college, assuring him that there were many interesting things to see.

When he started across the campus and saw for the first time the great array of large white buildings his great interest deepened into awe, which he expressed in the following words:

"All these buildings! Why, I didn't s'pose there'd be more than one or two buildings! I've got a friend here who's studying electrical engineering. He's awful smart I'll tell you. Maybe I'll come here someday, but I gotta get a good start first. This is different than I thought it would be."

Orin W. Hinshaw, post graduate student of last semester, and a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, spent a few days of last week at his home in Eureka. He left Friday for El Paso, Texas, where he will be engaged in horticultural inspection work for the government.

TO CHANGE THE RIFLE RANGE NOW

CALVES IN ANIMAL HUSBANDRY ARE IN DANGER

Wild Marksmen Must Be Careful Until New Site Is Found—Look for Bigger Appropriation

Next Monday, range work and field training will start in earnest, A survey of the proposed new target range is now being made by men of the department. The present range is too close to the animal husbandry department and it is feared that some wild marksman might possibly bring the life of some promising young calf to a premature ending. The new range will be much better and will be far enough away so that it will no interfere with the animal husbandry department.

In the past, not much money has been appropriated by the state for this purpose and it is hoped that a long felt need will be met in the next appropriation bill.

Chickens Can Attract Attention If Men Can't—Here's How

"It is said that the chickens displayed by the Websters, in the auditorium last night, entirely reconciled the colored element toward that society."

This is not the story of a chicken stealing party put on by the Websters and colored people, but is the account given by the Student Herald of February 5, 1908, of the Websters' action at the oratorical contest of the night before.

It was the seventh annual oratorical contest, and as has always been the custom, each society was allowed a few minutes for demonstration. The societies always take full advantage of this opportunity to display the enormous amount of pep which they always store up for the event. It seems that the Webs at this particular contest resorted to chickens to secure the attention of the audience. How they got them is not explained.

But whether the Webs or any other society resort to chickens, ducks, geese, or monkeys, to attract attention, the demonstration at this year's contest will certainly be good. Many people attend the oratorical contests as much to witness the demonstrations as to hear the orations. And they will not be disappointed this year for every society member is forgetting his dignified manners this week and practicing yells with barbarous enthusiasm.

Fraternity Pledges Must Pass Through the Valley Of Hades for Seven Days

A week of Hell—fraternity and sorority pledges don't have to wait for life in the next world to participate in the joys and sorrows of the brimstone wilderness. The senior members of their Greek brotherhoods and sisterhoods of love have arranged this little matter for them.

Hell on earth is no uncommon occurrence in an up to date college. The dear little pledges who come to college to wear the pin are looking at those tin pledge buttons with suspicious eyes; for where they lead the pledge must follow, even into hell.

They realize that before they can be initiated into the realms of love eternal with their senior members, they must pass through the valley of Hades. Just keep your eyes open Aggies and watch them pass through.

Overalls and kitchen aprons are the appropriate costumes for the young fashion plates of the college. Little Mr. and Miss Muchmoney are learning a few practical hints about dishwashing, window cleaning, and floor waxing. Yes, the scrawny pledges even understand the joys of being a traveling school library.

It's a good thing the dear mothers can't see their darlings in the awful days of hell week, or they would forever condemn the fraternal world.

AMES BASKET TOSSERS LOSE TO AGGIE MEN

FARMERS TAKE TWO GAMES SERIES HERE

37 TO 20 AND 27 TO 21

Jennings, Aggie Center, Played His Best Game of Season—Iowans Set Nine Point Lead in Second Game

The Aggie five cleared another Missouri valley hurdle by defeating the Ames basket tossers by scores of 37 to 20 and 27 to 21 last week end. The visitors were far outclassed in the first game, although at times they offered some stiff resistance.

Jennings, Aggie center, played his best game of the season. He led the Aggie scorers and played a good defensive game.

Innes, White, and Paige played a star game for the visitors. Innes, center, is good on both defensive and offensive play. Paige led in the offensive play. The Ames rally at the beginning of the second half brought the score almost to a tie before the Aggies started again.

Tumbling Was Feature

Between halves Coach Lorenz and his tumbling proteges gave an exhibition to Aggie sport lovers. It was quite evident that K. S. A. C. has some talent along this line also.

Set Nine-Point Lead

Ames put up a stiff resistance thruout the second game. They piled up a score of nine points before the Aggies were able to score a point. With this lead the Aggies were forced to play a consistent game the remainder of the playing time. Bunger and the Cowell brothers did the best scoring for the Aggies.

Captain Davidson staged a three round bout between halves. The contestants were chosen from one of Captain Davidson's boxing classes.

BRAZILIAN BREEDERS WANT KANSAS HOGS

Thirty Addit'onal Duroc Jerseys Are Ordered

From the land of the equator comes the order for more Kansas hogs.

A few months ago some hogs were shipped to a stockman down in Brazil, from the Kansas experiment station. They were sent by express to New York where they were loaded on ships sailing for Brazil.

This week another order was received from a stockman in Sao Paulo, Brazil, stating that he wants 25 Duroc Jersey gilts and 5 head of boars if he can get as good stock as those of the first shipment.

The men in charge of the swine herd say they can fill the order.

SPEED UP WORK ON THE ENGINEERING BUILDING

Expect to Employ Fifty to Seventy-five Men

Work on the new engineering building is to be rushed through just as soon as the weather conditions permit full resumption of work. At present only a few men are being employed but the superintendent of construction plans to work from 50 to 75 men in the near future.

All the material for outside construction and most of that for the inside is on the grounds. The foundation is completed and about one half of the basement concreting is finished. The building when completed will be 234 by 50 feet, four stories high, including the basement.

The basement will contain a large washroom and locker room, dynamo laboratory, auto chassis room, armature winding room, vault, and equipment rooms. The second and third stories will be occupied by offices and class rooms while the fourth story will contain drafting rooms and class rooms.

BOXING SQUADS IN TOURNAMENT

MEET EVERY EVENING FOR HALF HOUR PRACTICE

Some Recognition Will Be Given to Men Who Take Part in These Boxing Bouts

The boxing squads are preparing for a tournament, which is to be held some time during the year. The squad meets every evening from 4:30 to 5 o'clock.

College recognition will probably be given to boxing in this institution. It is not known yet just what form this recognition will take but the men who win boxing championships will be decorated in some manner.

Arrangments have been made so that men who are taking physical education, may receive their credit by taking two hours of training on the boxing squad a week.

DOPSTERS LOOK TO K. U. BATTLE

GAMES WITH SOONERS THIS WEEK END

While Aggies Stand Higher in Title Race, Jayhawks Have Good Chance on Lawrence Court

The Aggie five will go to Lawrence to play the Kansas men a two-game return series Wednesday and Thursday of next week. This Friday and Saturday the Farmers and Sooners will battle on the Oklahoma court.

There seems to be little doubt about the two games with the Oklahomans, but Aggies dopsters are looking forward to the two games with K. U. with a great deal of anxiety. While the standing of the home five is much better than K. U.'s, yet the Jayhawks defeated the Aggies one game on the Manhattan court.

The games are bound to be hard fought ones. A large crowd will probably attend the games at Lawrence.

TIGERS STILL IN FIRST POSITION

AGGIES HAVE WON SEVEN GAMES AND LOST THREE

Washington Holds Second Place—Kansas University Stands Fourth and Drake Is Fifth

The Tigers still stand first in the race for the Missouri Valley title. Washington remains in second position while the Aggies are holding on to third base.

Standing of the teams, unofficial, Missouri Valley conference, February 17:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Missouri	12	0	1.000
Washington	10	2	.832
KANSAS AGGIES	7	3	.700
Kansas University	3	3	.500
Drake	1	8	.111
Oklahoma	0	4	.000
Grinnell	0	4	.000
Ames	0	8	.000

DROP SNAP SHOTS INTO BOX IN ANDERSON HALL

Every Student Is Asked to Contribute Snap Shots for the Royal Purple

A box has been placed in Anderson hall and every student now has a chance to contribute some snap shots for the Royal Purple.

The Royal Purple management has placed an order for 1300 books this year, and report that the price of the book will be $4.50. Fifty extra copies were ordered and those wanting books may secure them by sending a check to A. W. Wilcox, treasurer of the Royal Purple.

AGGIE STOCK JUDGING TEAM ENDS SEASON WITH AN ENVIABLE RECORD

They are brain workers, not athletes, yet they brought as much glory to the Purple of the Kansas Aggies as any athletic team ever did. These young men carried the name of K. S. A. C. to all parts of the world by winning high honors in national and international stock shows during the season just closed. The team took second at the National Swine show, Des Moines; third at the International Livestock show, Chicago; and first at the Western National Stock show, Denver. The members of the team are, reading from right to left; top row: P. E. Neale, Manhattan; Nevels Pearson, Manhattan; F. W. Bell, coach; K. D. Thompson, Densmore; J. D. Montague, Anthony. Bottom row: F. G. Welch, Emporia; W. R. Horlacher, Colby; H. R. Guilbert, Wallace. D. M. Howard, Coldwater, although a member of the team, was not in the picture on account of illness.

PRESIDENT OF S. S. G. A. IS EARLE FROST

WINS BY ONE POINT OVER HUTTO

WATSON MADE VICE PRESIDENT

Total Number of Votes Cast in Election Was 249—Council Urges Association to Elect Representatives at Once.

Earle W. Frost of Blue Rapids, senior in general science and well known track man, is president of the Student Self Governing association. He was elected Friday by a majority of one vote over Claude E. Hutto of Manhattan, also a general science senior. The vote was: Frost, 125; Hutto, 124.

Ray B. Watson of Wichita had a long lead in the result of the balloting for vice president. He received 172 votes to 75 cast for Oscar Steanson of Oklahoma City, Okla. Watson is a junior in agriculture, and, like President Frost, a track man, Surprise was expressed by many at the small number of votes cast in the election. The total was 249.

A larger number—256—was cast in the primary Wednesday, at which Frost and Hutto were nominated. The candidates for president eliminated in the primary were Glen Hoffhines and Oscar Steanson, who was also a vice presidential candidate.

The council, which is the governing body of the association, comprises the officers elected Friday and members chosen by the organizations named in the constitution of the association. These organizations have been urged to elect their representatives at the earliest possible date in order that the council may be fully organized.

W. A. DILL FROM K. U. LECTURES

Spoke on the Newspaper and the Farm—Editor Must Keep the Farmer in Mind when Writing a Story

The farm is just around the corner from the newspaper office, is the opinion of Professor William A. Dill, of the journalism department at Kansas university, who spoke to students in journalism at K. S. A. C. Thursday.

"Communities in the United States where there is no interest in the farm are few", said Professor Dill. "The newspaper editor must keep the armer in mind when writing a story for his paper. The great bulk of newspapers in this country are printed in small cities. They are close to the soil and what affects the farmer affects the newspaper."

The many sources of news among the farmers were pointed out by the speaker. The proceedings of the farmers' organizations are always sources of news. Experiments carried on by the farmers are of great general interest.

For Y. M. C. A. Men

All the pledges for Y. M. C. A. that are now due can be paid at the window opposite the post office all day Wednesday. All who have made pledges for the work please remember to stop at the window and pay up and get a receipt.

A. L. McCauley, a freshman in electrical engineering, returned Wednesday morning from Wichita, where he spent two days attending the tractor show. He and his brother purchased a tractor for use on their farm.

Fred. S. Merrill, vice president of the Central States Orchard company, was here Monday to renew old acquaintances. Mr. Merrill was formerly assistant professor of horticulture here. He was on his way to Wichita.

H. Scott of the animal husbandry department, will leave about February 20 for California where he will go into business.

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE?

Of all the ages of the world, this is the best.

Today is the one big challenge. Today we are living.

Why not, then, make it the best of which we are capable?

The students of this college were in favor of student rule or they would not have sanctioned it recently. Yet at present there is less than one-tenth of the students who have been interested enough to pay their dues and become members of the association. This fact became known when only 249 votes were cast for president of the Student Self Governing association. There were 256 votes polled at the primary.

This surely shows a poor school spirit and a lack of interest on the part of K. S. A. C. men and women.

Don't stand still. Don't pull. Get behind this movement and push.

Small Unimportant Lieutenant Is Now A Hero "Shave Tail"

All the heros did not go overseas to help lick the brutal Hun. There are some unfortunate sojers who had to stay on this side, and thus did not have an opportunity to show their prowess. Of these, the Kansas State Agricultural college has its share. One small, insignificant looking lieutenant has redeemed himself for being a "shave tail."

It happened this way: When chapel was over, the usual crowd made its way to Anderson hall. Some one had turned on a great amount of pressure on the water system and the fountain was overflowing. A great steam of water was pouring over the edge of the fountain and Joe Cooper and Elmer Kittell appeared on the scene, and both seemed distressed for fear that they would be drowned out. Everyone was excited. Everybody shouted for everybody else to do something and nobody got anything done.

" 'Phone for Geaugue," said one man in the crowd who seemed to have some presence of mind. Elmer was prompt to do so. Meanwhile the water was running all over Anderson Hall, that is, the hall part of the hall.

Something serious might have happened if a few senior Ag men had not happened by just at that time. One small smiling man with an air of bravado took in the situation at a glance. He saved the day.

But what did he do? Did he turn off the water? No. Did he sit on the fountain? No, no. Well what did he do?

Why he took off his rubber hat put it on top of the spouting fountain and thus put a stop to the would be flood disaster.

While astonished, admiring onlookers stood by with wonderment. "Heroic, fine, wonderful," said they in unison.

Lost: Tan velvet bag somewhere between business section and 930 Bluemont. Bag had beadwork across top, and contained bill, small change, and other articles, including card with name Doris Bachelor. Finder please return to Collegian office. 1t

O. W. Hinshaw left Friday for El Paso, Texas, where he has accepted a position with the Federal horticultural board, doing plant quarantine work. Mr. Hinshaw was graduated from the general science course of K. S. A. C. in 1919. He has been doing apiary work for the college this fall and winter. Mr. Hinshaw is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Madame Bernhardt Was Liberal With Her Loving Kisses

Miss Florence Hardmann, who will give a violin recital at the college auditorium February 23, has had many unique experiences during her career on the concert stage.

One of the most pleasing of Miss Hardmann's tours was the one taken with Madame Sarah Bernhardt. Madame Bernhardt was greatly charmed with Miss Hardmann's performances and as Miss Hardmann came off the stage, the Madame would meet her in the wings.

"The Madame always kissed me and thanked me for the inspiration that I had given her," Miss Hardmann says in relating her experience.

Glen Case has returned from a tour of the western part of the state which he made in the interest of the college glee club.

Miss Elsie Smith is ill with the influenza.

Mr. Walker, Mr. Wilcox, and Mr. Hapslinger of Concordia, were week end guests at the Acacia house.

Hamp-Io Program

The Hamilton and Ionian literary societies held a joint program at their hall Saturday evening. The program was impromptu. The demobilization of the Hamilton service flag was conducted by Mr. Oscar Steanson and Miss Ruth Harding.

Vesper services Thursday will be in charge of the high school girls. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Entertain for Pledges

The Delta Zeta pledges were guests of honor at a dinner given at the chapter house Thursday evening by the older members of the fraternity. The color scheme of rose and green was used in the decorations. Pink candle shades were used on the table candles, and attractively decorated place cards added to the general effect. During and following the dinner different numbers of a comedy program were presented, the principals appearing in costume. Those who took part in the program were Ada Robertson, Lois Litchfield, Madge Locke, Garnet Grover, Pauline Clarke, Dorothy Hadley, Leah McIntyre, Izil Polson, Opha Babb, and Marian Clarke.

Women's Pan Hellenic Formal

One of the prettiest parties ever given in college circles was the annual spring formal given at the Community house Friday evening by the members of Women's Pan Hellenic. The decorating which was unusually unique and artistic was done by W. Z. Coy of Topeka. A color scheme of red and white was carried out by red and white festoons which hung from the lights of the room. Lattice work and red shaded lights were also used.

Punch was served throughout the evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by Kuhn's five piece orchestra from Kansas City. The chaperones included all of the fraternity and sorority house mothers as well as Dean Mary P. Van Zile. Miss Gertrude Conroy and Miss Clementine Paddleford were the committee for making arrangements for the dance.

The members of Pan Hellenic include: Miss Ada Robertson and Miss Madeline Locke from Delta Zeta, Miss Ruby Crocker, and Miss Alice Rice from Chi Omega, Miss Louise Dawson and Miss Ernestine Biby from Pi Beta Phi, Miss Gertrude Conroy and Miss Faye Young from Delta Delta Delta, Miss Clementine Paddleford and Miss Josephine Sullivan from Alpha Delta Pi, and Miss Marvel Merrilatt and Miss Isabel Hamilton from Kappa Kappa Gamma.

A number of fraternity and sorority alumni attended the party.

WASHBURN, K. S. A. C., AND OTTAWA TO QUARREL

ONE TEAM GOES TO OTTAWA

Affirmative Team Stays Here — Will Meet Washburn Trio in Auditorium—Triangular Was Postponed from Last Semester

The Aggie co-eds will hold their annual battle with co-eds of Washburn and Ottawa tomorrow evening. The event is the annual triangular debate between Washburn, Ottawa, and K. S. A. C. The affirmative team will debate Washburn at the auditorium at 8:00 tomorrow evening. The question to be debated is, "Resolved: that the United States should establish a protectorate over Mexico.

The program which has been arranged is as follows: Piano solo, E. R. Domoney; debate, affirmative team and Washburn; reading, R. T. Sandow; Judges' decision.

The girls on the negative team are: Miss Christene Cool, Miss Gladys Addy, and Miss Mable Bentley. This team will go to Ottawa. The affirmative team which will debate Washburn at the auditorium tomorrow is composed of the following girls: Miss Ella Stinson, Miss Lucretia Sholer, and Miss Irene Graham.

This debate was to have been held before the end of last semester but was postponed on account of the coal shortage.

PI KAPPA DELTA FRATERNITY TO HAVE CONTEST

Dr. J. R. Macarthur, National President, Will Attend—Local Chapter to Elect Delegate Soon

The local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national debating fraternity, will send a representative to the Pi Kappa Delta oratorical contest to be held at Sioux City, Iowa, April 1. There will probably be more than 20 orators take part in the contest. A tryout for the representative from this chapter will be held in the near future.

The contest is to take place at the national convention of Pi Kappa Delta, April 1 to 3. Dr. J. R. Macarthur, who is national president of Pi Kappa Delta, is planning to go to the convention. The three men on the Ames debate team will probably go to the convention as the date of the Ames debate is April 3.

CHAPEL PROGRAM FURNISHED BY THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Program Rather Short Owing to Illness of Several Members

The program for chapel Tuesday was furnished by the music department. The program was rather short owing to the illness of several members of the department.

The first number was by the orchestra. This was followed by two numbers by the mixed quartette. Miss Leffler gave two piano solos.

In a short talk to the students Professor Westbrook stated that Arthur Middleton would try to give his recital here on March 15. Professor Westbrook also said that through the efforts of Professor Emerson and himself the San Carlo opera company will be here for one day only. The company will probably be here on March 25.

For Judging Teams

Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Mrs. F. D. Farrell, and Mrs. C. W. McCampbell were hostesses at a delightful banquet at the Gillette hotel Wednesday evening. The banquet was held in honor of the stock judging team, the dairy judging team, and the respective coaches of those teams. The guests of the evening were President W. M. Jardine, Dean F. D. Farrell, Prof. and Mrs. F. W. Bell, Professor and Mrs. Fitch, Professor and Mrs. Cave, P. E. Neale, K. D. Thompson, H. R. Guilbert, D. M. Howard, J. D. Montague, W. R. Horlacher, F. G. Welsh, Mr. Anderson, N. Pearson, and Prof. C. W. McCampbell.

A five course dinner was served. President Jardine was toastmaster for the evening. Short talks were given by the toastmaster, Dean Farrell, Professor Fitch, Professor Bell, Professor Cave, K. D. Thompson of the stock judging team, and Mr. Anderson of the dairy judging team.

AGGIES INVITED TO A WOLF HUNT

SPECIAL INVITATION TO MEN TAKING MILITARY WORK

Students Desiring to Go Will be Excused from Military Science Saturday Morning

On Saturday, February 28, Zeandale is to have a big wolf hunt in which any students or citizens of Manhattan may participate. An especial invitation was given to the men taking military work in the college. All students who have classes in military science on Saturday will be excused, if they want to go on this wolf hunt.

Trucks and cars will be provided to take the men to the scene of the drive. Everyone must be on the line and ready to start by 11 o'clock. Shotguns will be used exclusively with no shot larger than No. 4. There will be plenty of rabbits to furnish amusement when the wolves are scarce.

Any girls who want to attend are cordially invited.

Seaton to Washington

Prof. R. A. Seaton, who is in charge of the testing of road materials for federal aid roads in Kansas, will leave today for Washington, D. C., to attend the conference of testing engineers for the various state highway departments. The purpose of the conference is to fix standard methods of procedure in testing and standard requirements for materials for use in federal aid roads.

O. L. Norton, who was graduated from the school of agriculture at the end of last semester has just returned to Manhattan from a dairy testing trip for the college. He leaves soon for Oswego where he will conduct a test for the dairy association.

EIGHT COLLEGE SOCIETIES ARE INTO CONFLAB

ANNUAL CONTEST FOR SUPREMACY IS SATURDAY

BEGINS PROMPTLY AT EIGHT

C. S. Howard, Floyd Hawkins, B. Sappenfield, D. Cate, M. A. Graham, J. O. Brown, E. Biby, and E. Hartman Are the Contestants

Everything is in readiness for the annual fight for supremacy in oratory between the eight college literary societies. The contest will be held in the auditorium Saturday evening, February 28, at 8 o'clock.

The Franklin literary society has chosen C. S. Howard as its representative orator. The subject of his oration is "Law and Order." Howard is a senior in agriculture and is a member of Block and Bridle, honorary agricultural fraternity.

The Hamilton literary society will be represented by Floyd Hawkins with an oration entitled "The Autocracy of the Classes and the Masses." Mr. Hawkins is a senior in journalism, member of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, president student council, president Y. M. C. A., member of the pep committee, Scabbard and Blade, and Pi Kappa Delta.

Miss Blanche Sappenfield will represent the Browning society. Her subject will be "Labor's Might or Labor's Right." Miss Sappenfield is a senior in general science. She is president of Zeta Kappa Psi, and is a member of the Forum and W. A. A. She is also a member of the Purple Masque, dramatic fraternity. Miss Sappenfield is a K debater and an excellent student, having won junior honors in general science, last year.

Miss Dora Cate is the representative orator of the Ionian society and her oration is entitled "The Challenge of Peace." Miss Cate is a senior in journalism. She is a K debater, member of Zeta Kappa Psi, the Forum, Theta Sigma Phi, Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and the Royal Purple staff.

The Athenian literary society will be represented by M. A. Graham, whose oration is entitled "The New Industrial Order." Mr. Graham is a sophomore in journalism, is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, the Collegian board and is a K debater.

J. O. Brown will represent the Alpha Beta literary society. His oration is entitled "The Consumers' League." Brown is senior in animal husbandry. He i active in the college Y. M. C. A.

Miss Ernestine Biby will represent the Eurodelphian scoiety. Her oration is on the Immgiration Problem. She is a senior in home economics. Miss Biby is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority and the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity.

The Webster literary society has chosen Mr. Ernest Hartman as its orator. His oration is on the labor problem.

FORM CHAPTER OF THE A. A. E.

IS SECOND ORGANIZATION IN THE STATE

American Association of Engineers Open to all Who Are Connected with Engineering Profession

K. S. A. C. is to have the second Kansas chapter of the American association of engineers.

National officers have demanded a list of the temporary officers and a copy of the constitution and by-laws. A meeting of the members was called last Tuesday and the following officers were elected: president, Prof. L. E. Conrad; vice president, Prof. E. F. Frazier; secretary, Prof. M. M. Furr; treasurer, Guy Shelley.

The civil engineering society went into the American association of engineers almost as a body and were the first to inquire about a chapter being established here. The electrical and mechanical engineers and architects are also eligible. Already quite a number have applied for membership and membership cards have been granted to about 40. A membership of 20 is necessary to warrant the establisment of a chapter. Prof. M. M. Furr can give any information concerning the association.

Don D. Ballou gets to take a free trip to K. U. to see the basketball game between the Aggies and K. U. The T. N. K. boarding house where he stays raised enough money to pay for a round trip ticket; then the members drew numbers to see who should go. Don Ballou was the lucky one.

Rex Guipre spent the week end in Kansas City.

Just a Soliloquy by One Dog Who Enjoys His Fraternity Life

I am the fraternity "pup". Monarch of all I survey, I lie here tonight on my accustomed spot—the fireplace hearth. In the dying embers I see visions of my puppyhood days, when I first came to the "gang." Pledged in the beginning as truly as any freshman, I have at last reached that stage of dogdom that entitles me to the ranking of a senior.

I remember, as a mere puppy, the entitles me to rankas a senior. "working over," I received as a pledge from the older members, when I so far forgot my manners as to howl at night and persist in grabbing the postman and the grocery boy, when they made their daily visits. Long since have I made my friends. But woe be unto any their acquaintance, and count them stranger that attempts to enter my castle, either by day or by night.

As a chaperon on hikes, I am muchly in demand, for tho I have eyes that see and ears that hear, my tongue speaks not. A greater virtue than this hath no man—or woman. The peak of my enjoyment comes at the evening meal, when I share with the hikers, the "eats," as we all sit around the fire.

I still suffer punishment in the way of a weekly bath, administered by a pledge or a freshman. A bath is really not so bad after all, for I do enjoy a roll in the dirt afterwards.

But I must stop my dreaming, for the patter of bare feet on the way to the sleeping porch above has ceased. I know the last weary student has hit the hay and so must I.—The Fraternity Pup.

FOUR PROFESSORS GO TO SUPERINTENDENT'S MEETING

The college play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," will be given in the auditorium tonight. Tickets are being reserved at the Co-op book store in Aggieville and at the Palace drug store down town. A packed house is expected this evening.

Miss Heizer, Coach

Miss Florence Heizer, coach, secured the costumes for the play from Kansas City. The play, which was written by George Cohan, promises to be one of the best Purple Masque plays ever given here.

The characters of the play have worked untiringly in the preparation for its presentation and the success for tonight is assured.

The leading man of the cast is William Haney, who plays the part of Will Howell Magee. Miss Gertrude Ramsey plays the part of Mary Norton and Floyd Works takes the part of Major Caragan, a crooked politician.

The following is the complete cast for the play: Mary Norton, Gertrude Ramsey; Mrs. Rhodes, Renna Rosenthal; Mrs. Quinby, Catherine Fox; William Howell Magee, William Haney; Mr. Hayden, Mr. McConnell; Band, Merton Swanson; Mayor Cargan, Floyd Works; Lou Max, Harold Leyton; Peters, the Hermit, Mr. Sconce; Mr. Quinby, Cecil Wilson; Owner of Baldpate, Wayland Dunham; Policeman, H. W. McCelland; Cops, Earnest Gilbert, and P. C. Manglesdorf.

VIOLIN RECITAL MONDAY NIGHT

MISS HARDMANN GREATEST WOMAN VIOLNIST IN AMERICA

Has Studied Both in the United States and in Europe—Recived Highest Praise of Critics

Miss Florence Hardeman, an American violinist with an international reputation will give a recital, as the next number of the All Star Artist course, at the college auditorium February 23. Miss Hardeman will be accompanied by Mr. Stewart Wille.

Miss Hardeman, although a comparatively young women, is, since the death of Maud Powell, probably the greatest woman violinist in America. She has studied the violin both in the United States and in Europe, and has won the highest of praise from American critics.

Mr. Stewart Wille, the pianist who will accompany Miss Hardeman, is one of the most noted in his field.

K. S. A. C. STUDENT VICTIM OF INFLUENZA PNEUMONIA

Veryl W. Simons of Howard Died Tuesday Morning—Was Freshman in Civil Engineering at K.S.A.C.

Veryl W. Simons, of Howard, died of pneumonia, at the student hospital, Kansas State Agricultural college, Tuesday morning.

Mr. Simons first had a case of influenza and was taken from his rooming place to the student hospital and while he was there the influenza developed into pneumonia which caused his death. Mr. Simons was a freshman in civil engineering. A brother, V. F. Simons, a sophomore in industrial chemistry, is attending school here.

This is the first death this year among the students as the result of the influenza epidemic and no other serious cases have developed.

G. S. Douglas, '16, is visiting at the Sigma Phi Delta house this week.

FRIDAY, FEBRAURY 20, 1920.

LET OUT, YE VOICES!

All persons who find it difficult to keep their voices toned down at the dinner table will find a great deal of satisfaction in listening to the Aggie orators.

Oratory is one student activity that has been almost neglected by the student body as a whole. It is with the hope that a keen interest may be stimulated towards debate and oratory that a large part of this issue of the Collegian is devoted to these two activities.

THE NEW ORATORY

Oratory presents itself to the present college generation under something of a cloud. It has acquired a reputation that is longhaired and short sighted.

It is true that orator of thirty years ago pictured a hillside of daisies, or a sky full of star-set diadems. Before the war, it had come up to modern surroundings with clinging tendrils of traditional flower and blossom eloquence still green upon it, and since the war we have come to associate it with advocacy and propagandism, forced persuasion, and premature conviction.

Hence, we have Mr. Bryan, a sudden impulse, and a vote. We also have oil stocks and chapel tickets and a constantly increasing faith in Arthur Middleton.

That the public is demanding and receiving a new kind of oratory is shown by the fact that what were formerly "departments of oratory and elocution," we note by our college catalogues are now simply "departments of public speaking." This concession would seem to indicate that we are growing tired of eloquence and want straight talk. We now read our oil stock contracts ourselves before we sign them. We refuse to buy chapel tickets and our faith in Arthur Middleton "sorter" wavers.

The new oratory will rid itself of the cheap and sensational. It will prove itself sensible enough to be practical, condescending enough to be ingratiating and humorous; clever enough to be insinuating and diplomatic; dignified enough to maintain its essential integrity.

Oratory of this type will always be listened to by all classes of intellectually and emotionally susceptible people and it deserves cultivation by the students of K. S. A. C. The contest a week from Saturday night, we feel sure, will show that the new oratory will satisfy an enlightened public.

STUDENTS TRAINED IN PUBLIC SPEAKING LEAD IN MEETINGS

Every Delegate to Students Council Should be an Effective Talker

"The 'Ayes' have it!" announced the chairman of the student assembly after a vote following a forceful speaker in favor of the measure.

In student assemblies, those trained in public speaking and debating are naturally the leaders, a debater presided, and debaters spoke on the questions presented in the recent student mass meetings to consider the self-government plan. Many who wanted to speak, but who had not had speaking practice, remained silent. They voted, but they could not persuade others to vote with them.

The new system puts a premium upon skill in debating. Every delegate to the council should possess this skill. To persuade the student body of the righteousness of a proposed measure will require a knowledge of facts, clearness in presentation, sincerity, and earnestness—the essentials of real debating and effective public speaking.

The clear cut, effective speaker has the best chance to win the fight. If he is for a measure, the "ayes" will have it. If he is against a proposed action, the "noes" will have it. According to the law of averages, his side wins.

Charley Wallace returned this week to Lawrence where he is attending Kansas university.

Maurice Laine spent the week end at his home in Herington.

The Service of an Electrical Research Laboratory

The research facilities of the General Electric Company are an asset of world-wide importance, as recent war work has so clearly demonstrated. Their advantages in pursuits of peace made them of inestimable value in time of war.

A most interesting story tells of the devices evolved which substantially aided in solving one of the most pressing problems of the war—the submarine menace. Fanciful, but no less real, were the results attained in radio communication which enabled an aviator to control a fleet of flying battleships, and made possible the sending, without a wire, history-making messages and orders to ships at sea. Scarcely less important was the X-ray tube, specially designed for field hospital use and a notable contribution to the military surgical service. And many other products, for both combatant and industrial use, did their full share in securing the victory.

In the laboratories are employed highly trained physicists, chemists, metallurgists and engineers, some of whom are experts of international reputation. These men are working not only to convert the resources of Nature to be of service to man, but to increase the usefulness of electricity in every line of endeavor. Their achievements benefit every individual wherever electricity is used.

Scientific research works hand in hand with the development of new devices, more efficient apparatus, and processes of manufacture. It results in the discovery of better and more useful materials and ultimately in making happier and more livable the life of all mankind.

Some of the General Electric Company's Research Activities During the War:
Submarine detection devices
X-ray tube for medical service
Radio telephone and telegraph
Electric welding and applications
Searchlights for the Army and Navy
Electric furnaces for gun shrinkage
Magneto insulation for air service
Detonators for submarine mines
Incendiary and smoke bombs

Averys Are the Tractors with the "Draft-Horse" Motor and "Direct-Drive" Transmission

WHEN you get an Avery you get a tractor with a motor especially built for tractor work, and exclusively for Avery Tractors It is built like a draft-horse for the kind of work a tractor must do. Powerful, heavy duty, low speed—does not race under light loads or stall under heavy pulls.

It is a horizontal opposed motor improved and perfected with many exclusive Avery features. Its length distributes the weight properly between the front and rear wheels. Its narrow width makes possible a narrower tractor with less side draft. Also a short, heavy, practically unbreakable crankshaft—requires only two main bearings—always in perfect alignment—quickly adjustable with an ordinary socket wrench.

It is built with five-ring pistons, thermo-siphon cooling system, valves-in-the-head, renewable inner cylinder walls, and gasifiers that turn the kerosene or distillate into gas and burn it all.

Because of its low speed the power of the Avery "Draft-Horse" Motor is delivered through giving "Direct-Drive" in high, low, reverse, or in the belt. The belt pulley is mounted right on the motor crankshaft. You get a larger percentage of the power developed by the Avery "Draft-Horse" Motor at the drawbar, and all the power in the belt.

These and other big features make Avery Tractors run steady, economically and last a long time. These are some of the reasons why Avery owners are buying their second, third, fourth and even sixth Avery Tractors. They are easy to operate, even by the inexperienced. Avery prices are based upon the big output of three large Avery factories and the low selling cost of the complete Avery Line.

The Avery Line

includes tractors for every size farm. Six sizes, 8-16 to 40-80 H. P., with "Draft-Horse" Motors and "Direct-Drive" Transmissions. Two small tractors, Six-Cylinder Model "C" and 5-10 H. P. Model "B." One and two row Motor Cultivators, "Self-Lift" Moldboard and Disc Plows, Listers and Grain Drills, "Self-Adjusting" Tractor Disc Harrows. Also roller bearing Threshers, Silo Fillers, etc.

AG. MEN MUST LEARN TO TALK

GRADUATE JUDGED BY HIS SPEAKING ABILITY

Knowledge of a Subject Not Sufficient—Should be Able to Put It Across to the Public

College graduates in agriculture often find a lack of training in public speaking a great handicap in their work after leaving college. This is the opinion of a large number of graduates in this course who have lacked training in public speaking.

They have found that no matter whether they enter commercial work, scientific, research, teaching, or farming, the ability to express one's thoughts effectively and forcibly is a valuable asset.

When an agricultural graduate leaves college he is judged largely by the impression he can make on others by his speech. Persons who have considerable knowledge of a subject but can not effectively put it across to the public, often get less desirable positions, than others who may know less about the same subject, yet are able to put their thoughts into effective wording.

When an agricultural college graduate returns to his home community his friends and neighbors expect him to be able to make a good speech. He is called upon to talk at grange meetings, meetings of associations of breeders, and other farmers' gatherings. If he is unable to take advantage of these opportunities, he not only loses his chances for rural leadership, but is also in an embarrassing situation.

The department of debate, public speaking, and oratory at this college afford men the opportunity of getting this training before they graduate and Ag. men, especially, should take advantage of it.

Welcome Spring

It is a balmy springy day as I compose this blithesome tune. The last cold snap has gone its way to bless some land beyond the moon. I don my cap and checkered jeans, tie my cravat in grand array, begin to figure ways and means to spend in ease this wondrous day. I pat my back and shout, "at last, no coal to haul, no fires to make." I've had enough of winter's blast, I'd rather sizzle, boil or bake. I used to rave at summer days and say, "by George, I'd rather scoop in the pete a hundred ways than drown in sweaty lather." I turn the handle of the door to saunter out among the boys. My wife steps up and says, "no more do you waste time in useless joys. The garden lot is yet to plow, the front yard gate is squeaking, we need a new shed for the cow, the kitchen roof is leaking, the chickens need a brand new roost, the apple trees need trimming, 'tis now I need a little boost, it's time you were beginning." It seems there's always something waiting to do when you are through, no matter what you've just been slating there sure is plenty left to do. They talk about the silver linning that's in a cloud, what e'er it's hue, but I'm about half way inclining to see the dark side in it, too.

LECTURE METHOD DOES NOT PLEASE STUDENTS

Seniors Assert They Get Most from Class Discussions

Kansas State Agricultural college seniors don't believe in the lecture method of instruction.

In an article in School and Society, Prof. Edwin L. Holton, of the department of education, gives this as one of the results of an investigation made with seniors in this college. He found what 128 of them, representing all the divisions, thought about the methods of instruction used.

The seniors compared the lecture method, the discussion method, and the laboratory method by ranking the methods in the order of their importance. The method that helped most was ranked 1, the second in importance 2, and the one that helped least 3. The following condensed tabulation of the data indicates how the seniors ranked the methods as each "fixed most permanently in mind the facts, principles, or ideals presented in the courses" during the four years of college work:

Method	Rank
	1st	2nd	3rd
Lecture	18	32	78
Discussion	74	38	16
Laboratory	36	58	34
Total	128	128	128

According to Professor Holton, these data make a fairly strong case against the lecture method. They support strongly the method of teaching by means of problems or questions discussed by the class under the guidance of the teacher.

"It would be impossible for us to handle our present milk route except with a pneumatic-tired truck. Our Goodyear Cord Tires have delivered mileages up to 13,500 to date over bad gravel, rocks and chuck holes. With them, we serve more farmers than we could with the slow solid tires."—Harry E. Hughes, Dairy Farmer and Truckman, Hughes, Ohio

THIS statement describes hauling conditions such as many farmers find can be counteracted most effectively with the perfected pneumatic truck tire.

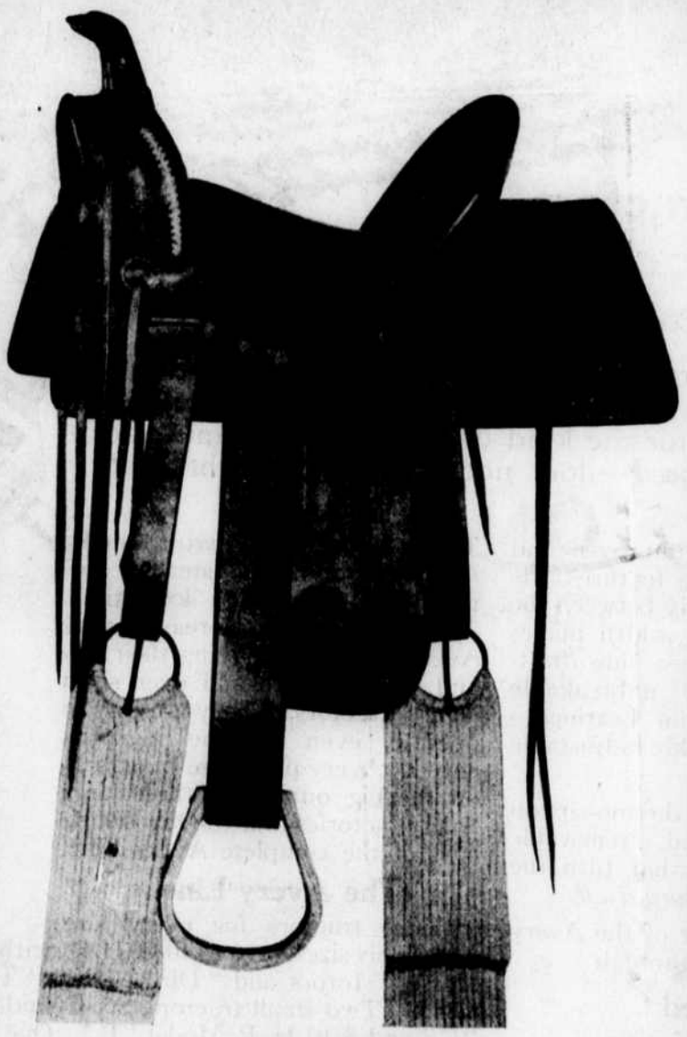

Rural users note that hauling on the cushioning pneumatics means not only a saving of time and brawn, but also important protection of equipment and loads, shrinkable, perishable, and breakable.

They particularly observe the effect of Goodyear Cord construction, developed during recent years, which makes possible pneumatic tire mileages comparing very favorably with those of solid tires.

In addition to reporting that pneumatic-tired trucks pave the way for the general motorization of farm work, they list mileages of Goodyear Cord Tires, on trucks, as ranging from 15,000 to past 40,000 when given proper care.

Accurate information furnished by farmers and other rural haulers, showing how they improve their methods and incomes with pneumatic-tired trucks, can be obtained from the nearest Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station or by writing to The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, at Akron, Ohio.

FIRST CONTEST 19 YEARS AGO

ALPHA BETA WON FIRST INTER-SOCIETY CONTEST IN 1901

Many Difficulties Were Encountered before The First Contest Was Finally Started

The first intersociety contest held at K. S. A. C. took place in March, 1901, and was won by a representative of the Alpha Beta society.

There were only four societies on the hill at that time, Alpha Betas, Websters, Ionians, and the Hamiltons. Many difficulties were encountered by these four societies before the first contest was finally started: but after the first trial in the new activity, the society members went ahead in their work with much enthusiasm until today the oratorical contest is the crowning event of the year.

It has come to be all that the pioneers of 1901 hoped for. In speaking of the first oratorical contest, the Student Herald says:

"Since this first contest of 1901, the societies have met once every year to determine which was the most skilled in oratory. From the first encounter of four societies, the contest has grown until eight societies are regularly represented. The standing of the eight societies and the number of first prizes won, is as follows: Hamiltons, 5; Athenians, 4; Ionians, 4; Alpha Betas, 3; Websters, 2; Franklins, 1; Eurodelphians, 0; Brownings, 0.

Mrs. J. B. Fitch and Mrs. J. H. Parker entertained their card club Saturday evening at the Parker residence, 1809 Leavenworth. There were five tables.

Joint Program

The Lincoln and Philomathian literary societies held a joint program in their hall Saturday evening. The principal event of the evening was a debate between the two societies on the question, "Resolved: That the System of Universal Military Training Should be Adopted by the United States." The Philomathian society was represented by Miss Christie Hepler, Miss Grace Foltz, and Lula Johnstone. The Lincoln society, which won in the debate, was represented by Mr. William E. Mackender, Mr. Edwin Hedstrom, and Mr. Randall C. Hill.

County Club Dance

The members of the Washington County club gave a party in the girls' gymnasium Friday evening. The evening was spent with games and dancing. Refreshments of sandwiches and apples were served. The party, which was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Durham, and Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Carlson, was attended by about thirty persons.

OTHER COLLEGES

The enrollment for the second semester at the University of Kansas totaled 3,501. Of these 171 were new students.

Ottawa university will soon have a new $100,000 science hall. The work on the new building has begun.

Eighty-one answered the first call for polo practice at Cornell. Games have been scheduled with West Point and Yale.

Flannel shirts and corduroys will be worn hereafter at Idaho university by male juniors and seniors for economy and comfort.

The Married Students' association of Michigan Agricultural college, which has been inactive for some time, will be revived again.

Timothy Cloran, head of the department of romance languages at Oregon university, has instructed 16,300 classes without missing one.

"Contour" is the name of a new honorary civil engineering society recently founded at Purdue university. The purpose is about the same as other honorary societies.

The University of Washington baseball team will be sent to Japan during the summer of 1920.

R. T. Simpson, world's record holder for the high hurdles, will coach thetrack squad at University of Missouri, his Alma Mater.

"Malteaser" is the name of the new comic magazine to be published by the Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalism fraternity of Grinnell college.

Minnesota has decided to erect a $400,000 football stadium modeled after the Yale bowl, with a seating capacity of 60,000.

In 1914 there were 34,075 students in the 21 universities of Italy. Of these, only 6,106 were women.

Miss Minnie Fankhouser is again able to be out, after a week's illness with influenza. Miss Fankhouser was at the college infirmary.

Bryan Perrault, freshman in agriculture, returned Monday from a visit with his brother at Clyde.

Leo Clark, sophomore in engineering, spent the first of the week with relatives at his home in Chapman.

F. G. Welch, senior in animal husbandry, will spend the week end in Topeka, visiting with friends and attending to business matters.

Miss Corinne Richards, freshman in home economics, returned Tuesday evening from a short visit with relatives in Kansas City.

The "Pierce-Keller" post, of the American Legion in Manhattan has decided to continue the membership drive till March 1 instead of ending February 15.

Miss Velva Rader and Miss Mae Siefkin were dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Sunday.

Miss Hazel Avery, freshman in home economics, has withdrawn from college.

Miss Elza McGraw is unable to attend classes this week on account of illness.

STATE TOUR BY AGGIE WARBLERS

WILL GIVE AT LEAST FIVE PERFORMANCES

Pratt, Kingman, Wichita, and Possibly Salina and Abilene will be Visited—Alumni to Help

The college men's glee club will give a number of vodvil performances on its five day tour in the state which will begin March 2.

The glee club will first go to Pratt where it will give the first performance of the tour. On March 3, the men will go to Kingman and on March 4 to Wichita. No definite arrangements have been made for any appearances after that date, but the glee club will probably give one performance at Salina and possibly one at Abilene.

Prof. A. L. Lovejoy and Professor Wheeler will accompany the club.

Alumni of the college, who are now living near any of these towns, have been asked to cooperate with the glee club in making this tour a success.

It is Done Without Pushing the Broom Or Waiting Tables

That students can make their way through college, belong to a fraternity, and not push a broom or wait on tables has been demonstrated by one more student who is now attending K. S. A. C.

This student was discharged from the army last summer, and did not decide to come to school until about two weeks after the beginning of the first semester. He could not attend school unless he had a job to pay the major part of his expenses.

All of the good worms had been taken by the early birds and so the outlook for school was not very promising. Within three days after his arrival here he landed a job carrying papers which netted him $30 per month. Three weeks passed and he left the paper job to take up one which was not only more desirable but paid $45 per month.

Through no fault of his own he was thrown out of a job at the beginning of the second semester. Again he was faced with the necessity of getting work or leaving school.

Undaunted he called on one business man after another. Just a week from the time he lost his $45 job he started working for a business firm in Manhattan at a beginning salary of $65 per month, amounting to $5 for eight hours work. The same student is carrying 19 hours of work on the hill and making E's in quizzes.

Miss Martha Shaler of Topeka, spent the week end visiting her brother, Paul Shaler. Miss Shaler is a student of the liberal arts department at Washburn.

The short course basketball team won their fourth consecutive victory Monday night, defeating the Manhattan Highs by a score of 24 to 13.

T. R. Gill had charge of the school of agriculture office work for three days last week, during the absence of Miss Marjorie O'Neil.

Miss Fanny Schofield has returned to school after a week's absence on account of the flu.

Tuesday evening dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Bana Bramwell, Dudley C. Bentley, and L. C. Fields.

C. H. Craeul, who has been ill with inflammatory rheumatism, has returned to school.

W. J. Overton has returned to school after an absence of two weeks on account of illness.

GRAND FAIRFAS SHOWING HERE

LIFE-LIKE BULL IS MADE OF KAFIR SEEDS

Brought Here by Former Aggie Student—Designer Is Taking Vocational Agriculture Now

The attention of Aggie students has been attracted this week by the appearance of Grand Champion Brummel Fairfas, well known Hereford bull, in Anderson hall.

Some of the co-eds have been so attracted by the appearance of the Grand Champion that it has taken much persuasion to convince them that Brummel Fairfas is only a portrait composed of some glue and a few handsful of kafir seed.

From a short distance, the portrait, which is the work of C. D. Eberwein, a student in the Lawrence high school, resembles an oil painting, but closer examination reveals the fact that the animal is composed of many varieties of kafir skillfully blended.

Mr. Eberwein, who produced the picture, is one of the many Kansas high school students who are enrolled in the vocational agriculture courses under the supervision of Dean H. L. Kent. The picture was first exhibited at the Lawrence high school agricultural exhibit, and was later sent to K. S. A. C. by John Stockebrand, '15, who is teaching agriculture at Lawrence.

The school of agriculture basketball team will play the Farmers' short course team in Nichols gymnasium next Thursday evening. The game will begin at 7:15.

Prof. E. A. Stewart of the physics department has been sick with influenza for several days.

Miss Mabel Baxter who has been ill with influenza has resumed her work in the college library.

Miss Mona Volgeman is ill with the influenza this week.

Miss Wilma Orem made a business trip to Kansas City last Saturday.

SCHOOL OF AG. LICKS WAMECO

AG. MEN OUTPLAY WAMEGO THROUGH ENTIRE GAME

The Final Score Stood 31 to 21—Messing and Mohlman Were High Point Winners

The school of agriculture basketball team swept the Wamego quintet to defeat in a game played on the Wamego court Tuesday afternoon.

The school of agriculture started out fast in the first half, and held down the Wamego forwards, at the same time allowing Messing and Mohlman to slip down the court and ooze in a basket or two. The Wamego forwards were completely smothered by the two school of agriculture guards, Captain Theiss and Sumner.

At the end of the first half the score was 19 to 8 in favor of the Ags. In the second half Wamego came back strong and the final secre stood 31 to 21 in favor of Coach Haymaker and his five.

Credit for Tuesday's victory can be given to no one man. The entire team played in good style. The guards, Theiss and Sumner, came in for a good deal of credit on account of the way they smothered opposition. Kohler, Wamego's center, was high point man, getting 6 field goals. Messing and Mohlman were high point winner for the school of agriculture team.

MAY HOLD STUDENT DAIRY JUDGING CONTESTS SOON

Dairy Association Elects Officers for Semester

The dairy association, which is an association of dairy students and students interested in dairy work at the college, elected the following officers at their regular meeting last week: R. H. Lush, president; W. R. Stewart, vice president; H. H. Nelson, secretary-treasurer; and Linn Copeland, marshal.

The organization is planning extensive work for this spring. They expect to hold several student dairy judging contests during the semester.

Miss May McMann and Miss Gladys Green left Wednesday for their homes in Marysville, after a few days' visit in Manhattan.

Miss Gladys Graybill, special in music, will spend the week end in Topeka, visiting relatives and friends.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1920 NO. 44

TRY TO KEEP BOXING ON A SOUND BASIS

WANT COLLEGE RECOGNITION OF THIS SPORT

HAVE "K" FOR THE BOUTERS

Athletic Council in Near Future Will Decide Whether Another Phase of Athletics Will Be Accepted

For some time the college has been trying to get boxing recognized as a legitimate part of athletics at this institution. It is expected that the athletic council will pass judgment on it soon.

Among other suggestions for encouraging boxing at K. S. A. C. is the following list of awards: That college recognition be given to the contestants as follows:

"K", six inch, white on purple field.

College monogram, "K. S. A. C.", three inch, white on purple field,

Class Numeral

The class numeral, as, "1920", three inch, white on purple field.

That the "K" be given to the holders of two boxing monograms, at least one of which shall have been to the winner of a championship.

Have Monogram

That the monogram be given to the winner of a championship or to the holder of two class numerals.

That the class numerals be given to the runner-up or second best in each weight class.

That during the year in which intercollegiate bouts are held the above shall be null and void in so far as applying to the college "K" and that no numerals or monograms awarded during such a year shall apply toward the college letter.

All Can Compete

That competition be open to all students regularly enrolled and in good academic standing and who shall have completed one semester.

It is also recommended that wrestling be recognized by the school by an identical system and that other sports, such as swimming, interclass games, etc., be recognized in a similar manner, with the possible exception of the "K."

JUNIORS WIN INDOOR MEET

THIRD YEAR MEN MAKE 51 POINTS IN INDOOR TRACK

Freshman Team Gives Big Surprise by Winning Second in Contest—Made 36 Points

The annual indoor interclass meet which was held Monday evening was won by the juniors. The points were: juniors 51, freshmen 36, seniors 21, and sophomores 16.

Was Fast Meet

It was the fastest interclass meet held here for some time. The showing of the freshmen was a surprise and they pushed the varsity entries in almost every event. Several varsity men were withheld from the meet in order that they might be in perfect condition for the K. U. meet.

Jack Evans, captain, and Cliff Gallagher, juniors were individual point winners with Hope, freshman, a close second. There were several tied events due to the keen competition.

The Summary

30 yard low hurdles—Gallagher, first; Hope, second, R. C. Henre, freshman, third; Metz, junior, fourth.

880 run—Clapp, sophomore, first; M. R. Henre, freshman, second; Means, sophomore, third.

440 yard dash—Turner, first; Shaw, second; Evans, third; Granfield, freshman, fourth.

Two mile—Knight, sophomore, first; Langdon, junior, second; Cunningham, freshman, third; and R. C. Henre, fourth.

Shot put—Billings, senior, first; Wilder, senior, second; Butcher, senior, third.

High jump—Winters, junior, first; Frost, senior, second; Wilder, Constable, freshman, tied for second.

Relay—Turner, Winters, Drum, and Evans, juniors, first.

Broad Hat, Silver Star, and a Long Overcoat Told It

Did you see the sheriff from one of our western Kansas counties on the campus Wednesday morning? He wore a broad brimmed Stetson and a long overcoat. Decorated with a silver star and "six-shooter," he was a typical representative of the old time sheriff. No, he was not in search of any of the Aggie students.

"Just looking the college over between trains," was his answer in response to a question as to his business here.

DEBATERS WIN FROM OTTAWA

BUT AFFIRMATIVE TEAM LOSES TO WASHBURN

Negative Team of Each School Placed First—Ottawans Entertained Aggie Team

The negative team of the Aggie girl debaters won the unanimous decision of the judges at Ottawa university on Saturday evening, February 21. The affirmative team, which remained at home, lost to Washburn at the same time.

The question debated was "Resolved that the United States Should Establish a Protectorate over Mexico." This was the first debate of the season and is known as the girl's triangular debate, the schools participating being Ottawa, K. S. A. C., and Washburn. Each negative team of the three schools won the unanimous decsion at each place.

The girls' team at Ottawa put up a real fight, and were strong in both argument and delivery, but failed to meet the Aggies girls' argument that the establishment of a protectorate would involve the United States in a war with Mexico.

After the debate the Ottawa team entertained in honor of the K. S. A. C. team in the rooms of the Y. W C. A.

The team from K. S. A. C. was composed of Christine Cool, Captain; Gladys Addy, and Mable Bentley. They were accompanied by Miss Lola Sloop, who held the girl's scholarship in debate last year.

The affirmative team here presented a strong case, but was unable to win over Washburn's team. The members of the affirmative team were Miss Irene Graham, Miss Lucretia Scholar and Miss Ella Stinson, captain.

Short Course Dance

The short course students gave a dance Saturday evening in the girls' gymnasium. Music was furnished by a four piece orchestra. The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Durham and Prof. and Mrs. S. C. Salmon. Refreshments were served at the canteen. From eight to nine, before the dancing began the following program was given: Song by the Lincoln literary society male quartette; piano solo by Mr. E. R. Domeny; instrumental duet by Mr. H. L. Collums and Mr. E. E. Huff; solo dance by Miss Agnes Handlin; vocal solo by Mr. F. H. Gulick; reading by Mr. Lloyd Sandow; and a reading by Miss Rowena Thornburg.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Initiation

Sigma Phi Epsilon held formal initiation services Sunday afternoon for Mr. Gilbert V. Harper of Calista, Mr. Lloyd C. Granfield of Maize, Mr. Ernest A. Laude of Humboldt, and Mr. Donald A. Yandall of Dodge City.

Aggie Pigs Grunt Approval When Broadway's Favorite Tosses Kiss to the Family

"Hogs are the most interesting things in the world. I love them," said Miss Fritzi Scheff, the Austrian singer, as she looked in to the neat cemented hog pens at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"I wish I had been born and raised on a farm. How I hate the stage," she exclaimed in a soft Austrian brogue. "I wasn't made for it. I'd like to give away my costumes, don an apron, and be a farmerette."

Only a few minutes before Fritzi Scheff had been smiling and singing behind the footlights at the Marshall theatre. She was starring in Broadway's favorite musical comedy, "Glorianna," which came to Manhattan, Saturday, due to Topeka's theaters being closed.

Immediately after the afternoon's performance, Miss Scheff slipped into her red squirrel coat, and declared she was going to steal a few minutes to visit the agricultural college.

"Now I don't want to see the buildings," she said, "just the barns, horses, cows, and most of all the hogs."

As she looked over the doors into the individual hog pens, where some of the best purebred hogs of Kansas were making themselves at home, her brown eyes sparkled, her dainty jeweled hands gave an impatient gesture. "Oh, hang the stage, how I wish I could come here to school for at least one year and study scientific farming.

"I had my college education in Vienna, Austria. There I was taught sewing and dry subjects like that. There was nothing like this in Austria."

Miss Scheff explained that she had a two acre farm near Waterbury, on which she raised cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens, dogs, and cats.

"Of course it is not a paying farm," she added, 'only sort of a play farm for me. But some day I'll have a real farm. Most people say, why Scheff, you are too old; but I'm not. When I came from Austria in 1902 I wasn't as old as some folks think. I was just a great big kid. I'll never be too old to run a farm."

She stopped, glanced at her small gold wrist watch, and exclaimed in dismay, "It's almost 6 o'clock. I must go back now."

She pushed the tan feathered turban farther down over her dark red hair, her brown eyes looked wistfully at the long rows of hog houses.

"I wish I owned them," she said.

Again she looked over the side of the pen, threw one of her favorite kisses to the little pig family, then she was gone.

The pigs looked after her, and grunted their approval of Broadway's favorite Austrian singer.

Kansas university has received a loan fund of $50,000 from the late Frank C. Miller of Kansas City. The fund will be used for needy students.

Clay F. Laude of Omaha, Nebr., was a Sunday visitor at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

The Popular Aggie Girl

Miss Irene Graham

Miss Irene Graham, a junior, is the most popular girl in college. She was so voted at a general election recently. Miss Graham is a member of the Iota Psi fraternity, Forum, student council, Y. W. C. A. committee, Ionian literary society and the intersociety council, and is a "K" debater.

TUMBLERS WILL SHOW OFF NEXT

GIVE EXHIBIT AT AGGIE-MISSOURI GAMES

Eight Men, Practicing under H. A. Lorenz, Learning To Do Acrobatic Stunts

Some of the advanced members of the physical training class put on a clever exhibition of "tumbling" and " elephant" vaulting between halves at the Aggie-Ames game.

These men are working out every night, in the Nichols gymnasium preparing for an exhibition of their work at the Aggie-Missouri games.

The men who are putting on this work are: F. L. Foval, Maurice Bradley, J. C. Maurer, P. H. Cunningham, A. Aydelotte, L. Leach, and F. W. Hurst.

Under the skillful coaching of H. A. Lorenz these men are doing wonderful things, and their exhibition alone is worth the price of the game.

CARPENTRY IS POPULAR HERE

BUILD GARAGES WHICH ARE SOLD TO RESIDENTS

Big Army Trucks Transport Finished Product to Owners—All Practical Instruction

Sixteen men, who are enrolled in carpentry at K. S. A. C., are building a number of small, substantial buildings, which are to be used as garages.

The splendid weather has permitted considerable outside work which is a pleasant change from the indoor work of last semester. The best of materials are being used and the men who construct the buildings consider that their finished products will be used by some person who desires a well constucted piece of workmanship.

The finished buildings, when sold, are transported to their new homes on the big army trucks belonging to the college.

TWO BITS WILL GET YOU INSIDE

ORATORICAL CONTEST TO BE SATURDAY NIGHT

Four Snappy Stunts Will Be Given by the Eight Literary Societies

For two bits you can not only hear eight good orations but you may also see four snappy stunts, given by the literary societies at the auditorium next Saturday night. The contest begins at 7:30 sharp.

All the orators have been working hard on their speeches this week.

Have Four Stunts

Besides the eight orations, four snappy stunts will be given at this contest. The Alpha Beta and Franklin societies will give a stunt called "The Zero Hour." Whether this is the hour before they go over the top to victory or in anticipation of defeat, is not revealed, but this will be revealed Saturday night.

The Athenian-Brownings will put on a stunt entitled "An Old Sweetheart." The "Of Mine" which generally accompanies this expression has, in this case, been left off. Probably "There's a Reason" for more things than grapenuts.

The name of the Web-Euro stunt is "A Bit of China." What kind of a plot this title hides, has not been revealed, but that it will be a good display of Web-Euro originality is not doubted.

The last stunt, which will be put on by the Hamp-Ios, is entitled "1920." The chairman of the program committee was asked to choose between this and a question mark for the title of the stunt.

Important W. A. A. Meeting

Every member of W. A. A. is urged to be at the gym tonight promtly at 5 P. M. for the meeting in order to elect a member of the Student Self Governing association.

MEET IN NICHOLS GYMNASIUM FRIDAY NIGHT

AGGIES HAVE STRONG TEAM

K. U. Also Has Good Group of Track Men Back—Admission to Meet will be Fifty Cents

The annual indoor track meet with K. U. is to be held in Nichols gymnasium Friday evening, February 27.

The Jayhawkers have a strong team and are out to revenge the 54 to 42 defeat of last year. The Bradley brothers, well known in Missouri Valley track circles, are back. Haddock, who gained a reputation in the A. E. F. games at Paris, will be another strong man on the K. U. squad.

The remarkable showing of some of the newer men in the interclass meet and the work of the older men would warrant the Aggies in being optimistic. Gallagher, Evans, Turner, and Neely will probably be used for the dashes. Gallagher and Metz are the Aggie entries in the hurdles but several other men are showing up well and this week's tryouts may cause a change. Clapp and Means are the Aggie halfmilers. Beckett and Green are out for the mile. Knight and Langdon are the Purple and White representatives in the two mile. Frost is the Aggie pole vaulter and high jumper. Billings and Butcher are the Aggie weight men.

Admission for the meet will be fifty cents with no reserved seats. Basketball books will not admit one to the meet.

COLLEGE PLAY IS A SUCCESS

WILLIAM HANEY TAKES LEADING PART WITH SKILL

Miss Florence Heizer has Characters Well Prepared for the Presentation—Audience Is Pleased with Play

The college play, "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which was given in the auditorium Friday night was a success.

The play was of a superior type, being written by George Cohan. The splendid presentation was largely due to Miss Florence Heizer's able coaching.

The characters were well prepared for the presentation. The leading man, William Haney, who played the part of Will Howell Magee took his part with the ease of a professional actor.

Ruth Rudolph, a Kansas university girl, who took the housekeeper's course here last term, received many compliments for her skill in playing the part of the blackmailer.

Miss Gertrude Ramsey, who played the part of the young newspaper reporter, handled her part with grace and finish.

George Sconce who played a very difficult part, in that of the hermit, was unusually clever in adding a touch of humor as well as pathos to the acts.

As the crowd left the auditorium after the play many were heard to say, "it was a good play, I liked it."

Leroy Leiter visited in Salina over the week end.

WANT MONEY FOR STUDENT LENDING FUND

TAG DAY WILL BE HELD ON MARCH 3

DEAN VAN ZILE HAS CHARGE

Many Students Must be Refused Loans this Year Unless a Large Amount is Raised by Subscription

A tag day for the purpose of raising money for the student loan fund will be held March 3 by the members of the Girl's Loyalty club. Dean Mary P. Van Zile is in charge of the plans for the tag day.

The student loan fund was founded by H. J. Waters, former president, and has since been added to by bequests from alumni and other interested persons. This year, on account of the unusually high prices, there have been more than the ordinary number of requests for loans, and the fund has become so depleted that unless additional contributions are made, many students must be refused loans. The tag day has been adopted as a means to replenish the fund.

The minimum price to be charged for a tag is twenty five cents, but it is hoped that as many as possible will contribute more than the required amount.

TESTING ROAD MATERIAL HERE

K. S. A. C. LABORATORIES BUSY WITH CONCRETES

Cooperating With Kansas Geological Survey in Making Test of All Available Material

In the road material testing laboratories of the agricultural college there are continually being made testings of samples of sand, gravel, stone, and miscellaneous materials for use in constructing Kansas hard surfaced roads. Several county officials are assisting in determining available local materials for bridges and roads.

The laboratory is co-operating with the Kansas geological survey in making a survey and test of all the available road building materials in the state. Only a small part of the state has been covered so far; probably not over 15 percent.

It is expected that the work in the laboratories will be increased as the amount of hard surfacing throughout the state progresses. At present the Kansas highway commission has been petitioned for 1,263 miles of hard roads with an estimated cost of $46,691,254 which is twice the amount available from federal aid. The past year has witnessed the beginnings of activities in the actual construction of hard roads in Kansas under the federal aid road act. Ten counties in the state have already begun work on the new roads.

CONVENTION TO BE HELD HERE

LIVESTOCK FEEDERS TO MEET ON MARCH 20

To Discuss Results from Feeding 100 Head of Steers, 240 Hogs, 576 Lambs

A livestock feeders' convention will be held by the experiment station of the college on March 20. At this meeting will be presented and discussed the results from feeding 100 head of steers, 240 head of hogs, and 576 head of lambs.

In previous years the work has been directed toward the feeding of cattle but this year the results from feeding hogs and sheep will be included.

The Block and Bridle club will serve lunch to those attending the convention.

STUDENT LOAN FUND

Do you know there are a number of students who are practicing the most severe economy in order to remain in school?

There are students to whom the loan of $25 means an opportunity to be able to complete the work of this year.

Everyone knows expenses have increased considerably over preceding years and many of our self-supporting students have found it difficult to keep expenses down to the estimates they had believed would be sufficient.

There are students who have no parents and no friends in position to lend them even a moderate sum. It is for students of this class that loan funds have been provided.

For the first time since Dr. H. J. Waters founded the loan fund, the committee is faced with the necessity of not being able to help worthy students.

Most of our students are prosperous. Most of them come from homes of abundance. There are hundreds of students who by a little denial of pleasure for a few days could save a sufficient amount to make a very creditable contribution to the loan fund. A few picture shows or even a dance ticket contributed to the loan fund might mean a better meal for some student who has to count his pennies and has to make a very careful estimate when viewing the cafeteria bill of fare.

The committee is asking the students to observe a benefit day for the loan fund.

Few know of the very small loans which are made by this committee. The money is loaned at interest and every dollar given increased slowly and it is hoped that the fund will keep growing in proportion to the needs of the students.

Possibly no one on the campus has a dollar that he could not easily spend but a little sacrifice from now until the third of March would mean much in helping worthy students who depend upon their own resources and are making a brave struggle to remain in college.

THE "SMILING COLLEGE"

What's the use of frowning when there's so much to grin about? Didn't you ever notice that the fellow with the cheery smile for everyone is the popular man? You can't help liking him better than the fellow with the gloomy brow and pessimistic voice.

Why not incorporate the idea into the school that for the right kind of spirit a school needs a lot of smiling faces and friendly voices to boost it along? Surely it would cost very little to limber up our faces, and it would help the cause immensely. Just think what an advertisement to strangers the "smiling college" would be. We would not need to neglect our friends or our studies to keep up the smiling spirit, for it would really help them along. So let's have a smile instead of a frown. We're normally happy, and it's worth while.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Dear Mi Lady: I am a young professor in the botany department with a special interest in mere argument. Not long ago I met a young woman with a nature quite like my own. Now I might like this girl if she were not such a liar and so conceited about her good looks. Can you suggest anything that may assist me in helping her to overcome her greatest fault? I am highly respected in this community and I do not wish my good name to be maligned.
—Ernie

Dear Ernie: If I were you I would put this most undeserving young thing out of my life. I know who she is and I warn you that she has many other evil ways of which you know not as yet. She rouges and says "ouch" when she gets mad, 'neverything. In short she is a very rough character and it seems to me that no botany professor should have acquaintances other than the daughters of ministers, book agents, and traveling printers.—Mi Lady.

Dear Mi Lady: I am a young girl with ambitions to become engaged to a fraternity man. I think they're just grand. About two weeks ago I was sure I had one landed and he turned me down for a girl not nearly so keen as I am simply because I insist on living up to my art by wearing a blue and tan striped waist with a dark blue and yellow skirt. Do you think there are just as nice fraternity men on the hill as those who part their hair in the middle and smooth it down with Valspar?—Enola.

Dear Little Girl: I'd say they're the nicest, but you never can tell. So watch your step and learn to pedal. It is so refreshing to meet a young girl with such firm convictions concerning art, and striped personal matter is certainly to be considered; but let me advise, kindly of course, that you avoid green neckties. —Mi Lady.

Dear Mi Lady: I am a freshman girl who was pledged last semester to the best sorority on the hill on the strength of the fact that I could make better earbobs than anybody else. A new girl entered school this semester who can outdo the greatest achievments in that line that I could ever hope to attain. I am so worried; what shall I do? —Bobbsy.

Dear Bobbsy: Cultivate the acquaintance of the girl. I know who she is and she has atrocious table manners, but if you will take her out to lunch and talk about the psychic phenomena of most anything she will go into a trance and will tell you all about her secret formula and your success will be settled for ever and aye. —Mi Lady.

For Kappa Sigma

The members of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority entertained the members of the Kappa Sigma fraternity Saturday evening between the hours of six and eight, with an informal dance. Punch was served.

Rooms at Park Place

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Dundas, who are experienced rooming house people, have just made a deal for this property at 418 North Eleventh street, and are having it overhauled, papered, and cleaned throughout and will be ready Wednesday to take men students or men and their wives as roomers. This house is strictly modern and very convenient to college, which furnishes a good chance for many students to get closer to their work, at very reasonable rates, which will be $1 to $1.50 per week each, for two in a room. Board close at reasonable rates. 1t

GET AMMUNITION TO FILL ARMORY

HAVE FOUR AUTOMATIC RIFLES AND TWO BROWNINGS

Military Department Will Soon be Able to Practice Its Theoretical Principles

The military department will soon receive the ordnance supplies that it has been expecting for some time.

The following is a list of some of the articles that are on the way: 17,000 rounds of ammunition for the Colt machine gun; 130,000 rounds of .22 caliber ammunition for use in the gallery; 144,000 rounds of ammunition for the 1903 model rifle; two Browning machine guns; four automatic rifles.

The ammunition used in the rifle will also be used in the machine gun and the automatic rifles.

With the arrival of these articles, the department will be able to go ahead with the work which has heretofore been theoretical.

OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHERS FOR ROYAL PURPLE

PRIZE MAUSCRIPTS WRITTEN FOR QUILL

Mable Bentley wrote a humorous article for Quill, honorary organization of writers, 'Tis rumored that the following has some personal experiences of Miss Bentley's envolved:

The tragedy of my life began, I firmly believe, when the nurse made the fatal announcement, "It's a girl!" and even yet I feel certain that had the opposite announcement been made, life would have been much happier and brighter for me.

For then mother would never have needed to run me down when she wanted to comb my matted curls, and she wouldn't have whipped me when I cut them off. There would have been no need to send me to bed without my supper because I slid down the barn roof off into space as successfully as my brothers, for it would have been perfectly proper then. The fact that I could dangle head downward for hours with my feet securely wrapped around a rafter would never then have caused her any embarrassment, or me a scolding, for boys are not supposed to be very far removed from the monkeys.

I don't suppose had I been a boy mother would have been so mortified when I hung the dish towel to dry from the top of the 15-foot gate post, and most assuredly there wouldn't have been any objection to my picking a chicken while seated comfortably astride the ridge pole of our story and a half house. You see company was coming and we were going to have chicken for dinner. It fell to my lot to unfeather the chicken, and also to keep an outlook for the early arrival of the guests. The guests arrived too early, and discovered me in the afore mentioned position, twixt earth and sky, and the sight shocked mother so that she gave me a free lecture that night.

I think I never was quite reconciled to being a girl until I got to the beau stage. But then new tragedies began. A man is the most unreasonable being the Lord ever invented. He will declare his life is ruined forever when he is refused, and then, instead of going off and dying of a broken heart he marries some other girl in two weeks time and acts as if he had forgotten all about the girl he was so desperately in love with. It was the supreme desire of my life to have a man die because he loved me in vain, and the nearest I ever came to being happy was when one fellow who had eaten some of my fresh baked bread proposed on the spot. When I refused him he declared he would end his life that night.

The next morning the man rode up to our door and called for his mail—we kept a small post office—and said as I handed it out to him, "By the way, come up to the wedding Sunday, me and Nettie is going to be married, we just planned it up last night. It's a good thing you turned me down."

That is the way all my love affairs have ended. If I accepted one, it ended just the same way, he married the other girl, and lived ridiculously happy ever after.

Once I thought fame might bring me joy. So I determined to be a writer. I wrote a lot of things and began to send them off. The way those manuscripts came back at me reminded me of a game of tennis, where they keep the ball going back and forth in the air. I'd fire out a story, next day it was back, and finally they kept coming back so thick and fast it got to seem more like a snow balling match with me pitted against all the publishers.

Finally one day I got a letter in a strange handwriting, and I tore it open. It held a torn and battered check. The letter was from a woman who said her children had opened my letter and torn this check, but she got one of the pieces with my name on it and sent the piece back to me. I sent it in, but they said they had decided not to pay anything for that article I had sent, now, as it was really punker they had thought in the first place, and they had only used it as filler anyhow.

People do not like tragedies, but I like them in books. When I was eleven years old I had read everything in the house, and none of the books ever turned out just right, so finally I decided to write a story myself and bring it to the right kind of a conclusion. I got a five cent pencil tablet and wrote and wrote until I saw it was about full and I would have to hurry up with my conclusion. So I got all those people on a train, every mother's son of them, and then at a critical moment when the train was going at full speed, I plunged it over a bluff 3,000 feet high, into the unending eternity of a still, quiet lake, and as the waters closed over the seething mass, the sorrows of "Myra, or the Prairie Maid," were forever ended.

Mother remarked when she read the book that it would have been enough to have dumped them over the bluff without drowning them too, but I didn't have any more paper left to describe any funerals. Besides they didn't have any friends left to bury them, anyhow.

Sister laughed when she read my production until the tears came, so I knew my tragedy was a failure, and I took it out and buried it in an old tea kettle, and there it remains until this day, silently waiting the return of one whose life is a never ending, monotonous round of unvictorious tragedies.

NO MYSTERY IN EYEGLASSES

The eyes have a lens system with which they focus objects far and near.

In defective eyes this focal power is more or less limited.

Our system of fitting lenses to focus objects near and far and thus relieve defective eyes, is an exact science.

Our facilities plus our experience enable us to make and adjust those glasses which will help your eyes most.

Beta Pig Dinner

Gamma Epsilon chapter of Beta Theta Pi entertained with its eighth annual pig dinner, Saturday evening, February 21. The party was given at Harrison's Hall.

The downstairs was draped in pink and blue streamers, and at the place of each lady there was a bud vase containing an American beauty rose. A five course dinner was served, and during the dinner the time honored custom of kissing the pig's head was religiously carried out.

A six piece orchestra headed by Charles Shofstall, furnished music during the dinner and for the dance.

The hall upstairs was decorated in streamers of pink and blue and floor lamps, with shades of the fraternity colors, furnished the light. Lattice work, covered with flowers, surrounded the orchestra pit. Palms and plants were banked around the sides of the room.

Sixty-five couples were present. Included in the list of guests are the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop Fielding, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Patterson, Dr. and Mrs. C. W. McCampbell, Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Merritt, and Mrs. Mamye McLeod of Manhattan, Harry Robinson, Miss Berdinire Gardanier, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pyle, Miss Elizabeth Buckley and Miss Mary Miner of Salina, Mr. Andrew Sharpe and Miss Avis Jenkins of Council Grove, Findley Ross, Max Huston and Walter Innis of Wichita, Joe Putt and Miss Josephine Wilson of Lincoln, Nebr., Mr. and Mrs. Paul McIntyre and Clayton Smith of Pawhuska, Okla., Frank Oyster, Miss Hazel Winkler, George Bailey, Victor Tomlinson, Dan Harrison, Duke Carpenter of Kansas university, Miss Iris Arnold, Miss Margaret Remesmeyer, Leo Ptacek and Ted Ptacek of Emporia, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Zeigler, Edward Nellis, and Alfred Cole of Topeka.

Sigma Phi Epsilon Dance

The members of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity gave their annual winter dance at the recreational hall Friday evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Delta Tau orchestra from K. U. The hall was decorated in the fraternity colors of purple and red. The dance was attended by forty couples. The chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, and Prof. and Mrs. J. P. Calderwood. Invited guests included Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Josephine Perry, Prof. W. B. Wendt, Prof. Arthur Peine, and Prof. R. W. Conover. THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1920 — NO. 45

RECOGNITION TO WRESTLING AND BOUTING

ATHLETIC BOARD ADOPTS THEM AS MAJOR SPORTS

ATHLETIC K IS GIVEN

Colleges All over Country Have Adopted These Sports so Aggies will Be in Line for Some Contests

At a meeting of the athletic board Monday evening, college recognition was given to boxing and wrestling.

Class numerals are to be given to the first and second best in each weight class. The holder of two class numerals will receive the monogram, K. S. A. C. In turn the holder of two monograms will be awarded the "K."

Have Eight Classes

The men will be required to put in a minimum of fifteen hours on the squad before they will be allowed to compete in any weight class. Before any weight class can be considered there must be six or eight men in that particular class.

The weight classes are as follows: Paperweight, 108 pounds; Bantamweight, 115 pounds; Featherweight, 123 pounds; lightweight, 133 pounds; welterweight, 144 pounds; middleweight, 158 pounds; commission, 175 pounds; heavy, 175 pounds and over.

Others Are Active

Colleges all over the country are adopting boxing as a major sport and the Aggies should be in on the ground floor when intercollegiate bouts take place. In order for the plan to be a sucess there must be a large number try out for the squad.

ROOKIES TAKING TARGET PRACTICE

FIRST OF $75,000 IN SUPPLIES IS HERE

Remainder of Shipment Will Be Here the First Part of Next Week Real Work Started

The first shipment of military supplies has arrived and the remainder is on the way.

After months of weary waiting the military department received the targets and the target frames for the new range which is to be built next year. This is the first part of $75,000 worth of supplies which are on the way to this school.

Real target practice for the rookies started Monday morning. It was the first real shooting on the range which has been done this semester.

TWO MILLION BY BOLSHEVIKI

PROPAGANDA IN UNITED STATES COSTS THAT MUCH

Doctor Loveland Says Labor Problem Is Storm Center of World— Divided in Three Classes

Two million dollars is being spent every thirty days on Bolshevist propaganda in the United States, declared Dr. Frank L. Loveland of Topeka, who addressed the student assembly Tuesday morning on the subject, "One Hundred Percent Americanism."

"The Reds," said Dr. Loveland, "base their proclamations on the theory that all the world's wealth has been produced by manual labor. There never was a baser lie.

Three Systems of Labor

"The labor problem is the storm center of the world. There have been in the world three great systems of labor. The first system was that of slavery. Next came the feudal system. It was Prussian feudalism that brought on the war.

"The third labor system is the wage system. Under this regime came the inventions of the 19th century. Capital got hold of the inventions and formed corporations, monopolies, and trusts that held labor in their power.

Labor Learned Its Power

"Labor learned its power during the war because it brought this country through safely. Since the armistice was signed we have had more strikes than we had in the ten previous years.

"The challenge today is for young men and women to come to their feet and swear new allegiance to the constitution of this country. The challenge is for the student body of the country to study deeply the things that threaten to throw America into an abyss such as that of Europe."

ORANGE PROVE BEST PLAYERS

REDS LOSE TO ORANGE BY SCORE OF 33 TO 12

Reds Win Scond Place in Tournament and Yellows Take Third Place

The girls' basketball color tournament ended Tuesday evening after a hard fought game between the Orange and Reds, who had tied for first place. In Tuesday's game the Orange team won 33 to 12. The Yellow team won third place.

Miss Eva Gwinn was captain of the victorious Orange team. The other members of the team were: May Abbott, Harriette Betz, Eleanor Brown, Helen Dawley, Mary Fitzgerald, Lucille Gramse, Angie Howard, Faith Martin, Dorothy Mosely, Helen Shelhaus, Verna Smith, and Martha Walker.

Edith Wheatley was captain of the Reds who won second place. The other players were as follows: Christine Cool, Belle Hagans, Ola Holland, Agnes Howard, Susie Kyle, Helen Priestly, Ruby Pruitt, Margaret Shrader, Ethel Smith, and Florence Stauffer.

The Yellow team winning third place had as its captain Anna Neal. The other players were Agnes Ayers, Florence Banker, Neola Barrows, Frances Casto, Inez Coleman, Bernice Hoke, Myrtle Johnson, Jessie Newcomb, Cecile Paine, Ellen Pennell, Frances Taylor, and Imogene Warner.

AGGIE ORATOR TO SIOUX CITY

M. A. GRAHEM TO REPRESENT K. S. A. C. IN CONTEST

Pi Kappa Delta Convention to be Held at Same Time—Goes First of April

M. A. Grahem, sophomore in industrial journalism, has been chosen as the orator to represent the K. S. A. C. chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity, at the annual contest which will take palce at Sioux City, April 1. The national convention of Pi Kappa Delta will be held at that time.

There will be a large number of colleges and universities represented as there are over 25 chapters of Pi Kappa Delta in the United States. Mr. Grahem is an able representative for the school.

GIVE RECITAL MONDAY NIGHT

APPOLO CLUB TO APPEAR BEFORE GOING ON TOUR

Chamber of Commerce Is Backing the Club's Appearance in the College Auditorium

The Chamber of Commerce of Manhattan has induced the Appollo club to give a recital at the college auditorium on Monday night, March 1, before starting on their tour.

The admission will be 50 cents.

Mr. Arnold L. Lovejoy will direct and the glee club will be assisted by Miss Helen Hannen, violinist, and Miss Bess Curry, soprano.

BETTER HOMES INSTITUTE TO BE HELD HERE—OMICRON NU MEMBERS BEHIND IT

A Better Homes institute is to be held at the college auditorium from March 8 to 12.

Almost every girl feels dissatisfaction with her home surroundings. But in most cases she stops with the diagnosis of the faults of her home, and knows nothing about the cure.

The programs to be given by the Better Homes institute are built on constructive, instead of merely critical lines. How to remedy, rather than how to pick flaws, will be the keynote of the discussions.

The institute, which will be conducted by Mr. Hunt Cook, and Professor Hemenway, who are sent out by the Art institute of Chicago, consists of exhibits, lectures, and demonstrations in all of which the keynote of practicability is accentuated. Eight programs will be given during the five days of the institute.

The institute has been brought to K. S. A. C. largely through the personal efforts of Miss Araminta Holman of the applied art department. The members of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics fraternity, are behind the institute, and the ticket sale will be under their direction.

Former Aggie Dies

Mrs. Etta Carlson Murphy,'09, died at her home in Manhattan on February 17 of pneumonia following influenza. She leaves a husband, Mr. J. C. Murphy, and three children, all of whom were ill of the influenza at the time of her death.

Dr. Jesse Frey, '13, and wife Louisa Dyer Frey, with their two children, are planning to return to Kansas the last of May. They will drive from their home in Sacramento, Cal., in their car and hope to reach here in time for commencement.

Carl Simpson of Tulsa, Okla. has enroled in school this semester. Mr. Simpson has been attending the University of Pennsylvania the last two years. He is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

LOAN FUND FOR NEEDY STUDENTS

TAG DAY NEXT WEDNESDAY SHOULD BE SUCCESS

Money Is Not Given Away, but Is Invested by Committee—Fund Is Growing

A quarter from your pocket will help put a needy student thru school. The price you pay for your tag next Wednesday is not given away. It is invested. Here is what happens to every quarter that goes into the Student Loan fund.

The money is kept working, and what is greatly more important it grows.

The first loan was made June 3, 1916, and since that time 69 loans have been made to students.

The Henry Jackson Water's fund consists largely of royalties from Dr. Waters' book "Essentials in Agriculture" and amounts to more than $2,127. To date the loans amount to $3,803.

This loan fund has been increased by $98.00 interest on money loaned at 5 per cent. Already $1,738 has been repaid.

The balance of the fund, February 24, at the last meeting of the committee, was $160, and applications for loans considerably exceeded this amount.

The alumni fund is composed of life memberships of the members of the alumni.

In lieu of one dollar per year it is possible for an alumnus to make a payment of twenty dollars to the loan fund and this loaned at 5 per cent pays the dues of the association for one year.

To date 80 life memberships have been paid and 21 others have made payments toward life memberships. This fund amounts to $1,755. From this amount $3,465 has been loaned and something like nearly $2,000 has been repaid.

L. A. Dubbs, '17, is spending a week in Manhattan and will remain for the oratorical contest.

Dr. C. F. Layton, '18, of Republic, visited friends in Manhattan Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Wm. K. Charles, senior in industrial journalism, will spend the week end in Kansas City attending to business matters.

Warren and Everett Cowell will spend the week end visiting their parents in Clay Center.

L. B. Bate spent the week end with his parents in Wichita.

Miss Iris Arnold and Miss Margaret Ramseyer were week end guests of Miss Katherine Kinman.

WRITERS WILL COMPETE FOR LARGE PRIZE

FESTIVAL WEEK TO HAVE ORIGINAL PLAY

$200 TO BEST DRAMATIST

To Establish New Precedent at K. S. A. C. by Having Festival Play Written by Aggie Student or Professor

Aggie pencil pushers, whether long haired, short haired, or bobbed haired, humble, noted, or notorious, will greet spring this year, not with a soulful sonnet inscribed to the village queen, but with drama.

Turn It Out

The drama may be in the form of comedy or tragedy, or both, and the dramatist may be either an Aggie student or a professor. The really important requirement is that the dramatist possess sufficient wherewithal to purchase a ream of paper and a sharp pencil with which to turn out the Festival Week play for 1921.

A play written by K. S. A. C. talent has never been produced during Festival Week. Beginning with 1921, it is hoped that a precedent of producing a Festival Week play, written by an Aggie, may be inaugurated.

It is in order that such a precedent may be established that the Festival Week management has offered $200 as a cash prize for the best play by a K. S. A. C. student or professor.

The contest will close January 1, 1921, and on or before that date quadruplicate manuscripts must be in the hands of the judges. Plays submitted must be original, and must contain at least two acts, and not more than four. The play must take at least two hours for production. The contestants are asked to accommodate the settings of their plays to the facilities which the auditorium affords. No other restrictions are made as to the time, place, or setting of the play.

In case the prizes are awarded for one act plays, $100 will be given for the best play, $60 for the second best, and $40 for the third best.

Contrary to former notices, basket ball books will admit the holders to the K. U.-Aggie track meet tonight. There are no reserved seats.

Wm. L. Martin, junior in animal husbandry, left yesterday for Chicago where he will attend the western conference of Delta Tau Delta. He will return the first of next week.

Duke Carpenter, who has been spending several days at the Beta house, returned Wednesday to Lawrence where he is enroled in school.

Mrs E. M. Curtis, '90, of Kansas City is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ben Sweet in Manhattan.

"Chief" Hauke, a former student here and member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, visited over the week end at the S. A. E. house.

"Roll Your Own" Is Motto Followed by Sensible Aggie Co-ed

When the fact that women smoke is brought close to home, so close in fact, that one of our most promising young co-eds is convicted on circumstantial evidence, the news comes rather in the nature of a severe shock. You don't believe it? Well, just listen to this and then use your own judgment.

Not so long ago, this young co-ed was sitting in one of the Aggieville shine parlors having a mirror put upon her dainty shoes. This young lady, black of hair, beautiful of face, expressive of eyes, willowy of form, and a wonderful follower of the dance, was rudely interrupted.

"Say,—, give me a smoke, will you?" was a rather rude and embarrassing question put to her by a red headed freshman. He also plays on the freshman basketball team.

"Oh-h— I — What — Why, I haven't any," she finally managed to say.

"Oh, come on, be a sport," said the red head, and proceeded to put his hand into the pocket of her skirt. He pulled out a full package of Bull Durham and a book of cigarette papers.

The truth and nothing but the truth is this. The only extenuating circumstance we can see is the fact that she is sensible and is rolling her own.

GIRLS SELECTED FOR BASKETBALL

GAMES TO BE PLAYED MARCH 10, 17, and 24

Thirty-five Girls Chosen from the 160 Competing for Places—Games to be Played in Mens' Gym

The girls' class basketball teams were chosen Wednesday afternoon by Miss Edith Bond, Miss Avis Blaine, and Miss Ethel Bartholf. Thirty-five girls were chosen from the 160 girls competing for places.

The interclass games will be played at 7 o'clock in the men's gymnasium on the evenings of March 10, 17, and 24. The basketball girls and the W. A. A. girls will sell tickets for these games. The tickets are to be sold for 25 cents.

The girls who have been chosen for the various class teams are as follows:

Freshman—Ethel Smith, Mary Fitzgerald, Lillian Rommel, Faith Martin, Mary Betz, Helen Priestly, Catherine Corey, and Catherine Horner.

Sopohmore—Irene Drake, Agnes Handlin, Edna Chapin, Sue Unruh, Helen Cooper, Luella Sherman, Hazel Wilson, Clara Evans.

Junior—Grace Turner, Harriet Klaver, Clementine Paddleford, Gladys Bushong, Helen Sloan, Eva Gwin, Corrine Thiele, Ruth Willis, Florence Banker, and Gladys Flippo.

Senior—Gladys Wheatley, Dora Grogger, Anna Neal, Bertha Gwin, Grace Gish, Florence Mirick, Jo Meldrum, Alta Conrow, Loverne Webb, and Ruth Ghormley.

VIOLIN CONCERT WAS A SUCCESS

MISS HARDMANN'S RECITAL WAS WELL RECEIVED

Mr. Wille, Accompanist, Gave Piano Solos That Were Appreciated by the Audience

Miss Florence Hardmann and Mr. Stewart Wille, who gave a concert at the auditorium Monday evening, were well received and displayed ability as great as their audience had been led to expect.

Miss Hardmann has marked talent, and it was easy for her hearers to believe that she is considered the greatest woman violinist in America. Miss Hardmann possesses not only musical ability, but a great deal of personal magnetism.

Mr. Stewart Wille, who accompanied Miss Hardmann and gave a number of piano solos, was also heartily approved of by the audience.

WORLD FORUM TO MEET HERE APRIL 2 TO 4

DR. A. A. HOLTZ HEADS THE COMMITTEES

EIGHT SPEAKERS ON THE LIST

Discussions of Present Industrial and Social Problems to Be Conducted — Meet Mornings and Evenings

Discussion on the present industrial and social problems of the day by persons who have studied the conditions thoroughly, will be the main purpose of a series of meetings to be held in the college auditorium April 2, 3, and 4. The gatherings are called the World Forum.

Dr. A. A. Holtz the Head

Dr. A. A. Holtz, Y. M. C. A. secretary, is working in connection with the city chamber of commerce, the Y. W. C. A., the rotary club, and other organizations in making the meeting a success.

Among the numerous questions to be answered, by persons who know, are: What is the cause of the unrest in the country, what are the actual conditions in Mexico, where are the needs for agriculturalists, etc.

Meet Three Days

Meetings of the World Forum will be held in the mornings and evenings all three days. A union meeting will be held Sunday night with the combined choirs of all churches taking part.

Good Speakers, Too

Among the eight speakers, of which the team will be composed, is Bishop O'Connell of Denver. He is one of the most forceful orators in the country. He was one of the three men sent by the government to study the recent steel strike at Gary, Ind. Bishop O'Connell is an authority on steel conditions in this country.

Dr. Allen Foster, pastor of the Marcyel Baptist church in Brooklyn will be another speaker. He is recognized as one of the most forceful speakers in greater New York..

Other speakers will be announced later.

BASKET FIGHTS WITH K. U. MEN

AGGIE FIVE GOES TO LAWRENCE THIS WEEK END

Wildcats Only Have Chance for Third Place in Conference after Defeats by Sooners

The Wildcats and Jayhawkers are fighting it out here and there this week end. The Aggie quintet travels to Lawrence to fight out the Kansas championship and third place in the Missouri Valley, and the K. U. speedsters travel to Aggieville to run it out for the Kansas indoor track title and a good start on the Missouri Valley track title.

The Aggie victories at the beginning of the season kept their percentage high despite their recent reverses. By winning the K. U. series the K. S. A. C. five will keep their name near the top in the Missouri Valley title race.

The Aggie basket tossers are feeling down on their luck after their recent defeats by the Sooners. The Aggies lost the first game by a score of 28 to 26 and the second 28 to27.

Give Free Innoculation

Dr. C. M. Siever, college physician, received a serum to be given for the prevention of pneumonia, following influenza.

Vaccines have been given previous to this for which a small sum was charged, but this supply of serum received from the state is administered free of charge to any student. Three doses are given three days apart. The innoculation rarely makes the arm sore.

WE DON'T THINK SO

"That question is ambiguous, unnecessary, and extraordinary," as a lawyer would say in sustaining his objection to a certain question asked a witness by the prosecution. The same objection can be raised in regard to the question asked on the south bulletin board of Anderson hall.

The question is printed in red ink on a small card and reads as follows, "March 15?" It is answered "Hell, yes."

But to come back to the objection. The question is ambiguous in the first place because, as one student said, "We do not know whether it applies to the Middleton concert or Rough Neck day." It is unnecessary in the second place because the lamp of experience has taught us that Middleton will not appear when scheduled and that the Rough Necks always do. It is extraordinary in the third place to expect Middleton to remember his music, and for the Rough Necks to forget their "sad" clothes.

OUR MUSIC INSTRUCTORS

Comparatively few persons know of the work done by the faculty of the music department aside from the regular college activities. Yet it is often times these outside activities which gain a reputation for the college.

For several years, the choral union at Clay Center has been directed by Prof. A. E. Westbrook, and the town's appreciation of his direction is clearly shown by an article in the Clay Center Dispatch-Republican, written after the choral concert given at Clay Center February 18.

"Much of the success of the concert, of course, is attributable to the masterly and inspiring leadership of Professor Westbrook. He never appeared to better advantage than last night. As a conductor he is in a class by himself, and is able to achieve unusual effects from a group of singers."

The Republican also speaks in the highest terms of the solo work done by Prof. A. L. Lovejoy, Mr. H. A. O'Brien, Miss Katherine Kimmel, and Miss Bess Curry.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT

"Jud, do you reckon if we had all those medals in our barn, that our cows would give any more milk?"

This remark, coming from an old farmer who, with his son, was visiting the various agricultural buildings of K. S. A. C., was overheard by a Collegian reporter. The old man had been very interested in the fine stock owned by the college but seemed particularly fascinated by the medals they had won.

His eyes sparkled when he came to one trophy case which was literally filled with blue and red ribbons, denoting winners of prizes by the stock of the K. S. A. C. farms. He read every word on the ribbons to his son who seemed to be as interested as his father.

If more such farmers over the state would show as much interest and pride in the achievments of K. S. A. C. along agricultural lines, as this lone man did, there would be no question as to the increase in the enrolment of the agricultural courses. With such fine stock on which to experiment, the students who attend K. S. A. C. have many more advantages than when they have to experiment with inferior animals.

Miss Hazel Winkler of Kansas university returned to Lawrence Monday evening after a week end visit at the Chi Omega house.

Mrs. Lyle Hoag Jordan, Miss Fleta Jordan, of Ionia, and Miss Marian Van Horn of Topeka, were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Saturday evening.

WOLF HUNT TO BE STAGED AT ZEANDALE TOMORROW

Colonel Terril Making Plans for Girls, too

Arrangements for the wolf hunt at Zeandale next Saturday are almost complete and it is hoped that there will be about 500 hunters on the line.

Each wolf hunt that has been held at Zeandale has been a success with never less than seven wolves as victims.

Colonel Terril is making plans to take all of the girls of the college who have ambitions as huntresses.

Miss Nell Robinson of Wakefield spent Friday and Saturday at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Prudence Stanley of Topeka spent Friday in Manhattan visiting at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Edith Ralston a former student of K. S. A. C. returned to Wichita Sunday after a week end visit at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Marian Van Horn of Topeka and Mr. Claude Beckett, of Eldorado, were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday.

Miss Marian Van Horn, of Topekka, was the week end guest of Miss Renna Rosenthal.

Miss Clara Fiem, of Hutchinson, has accepted a position with the extension department. She came last week to assume her new duties.

Ralph Wareham was a Sunday dinner guest at the Sig Alph house.

Tommy Edwards, of the Beta Tau chapter, was a week end visitor at the Kappa Sigma house.

Roy E. Carr, Oakley, a former student here, was a week end visitor at the Kappa Sigma house. Mr. Carr stopped off on his way home from the tractor show at Kansas City.

Miss Greta Gramse, '19, of Perry, spent the week end at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Miss Eleanor Brown is ill and unable to attend classes.

Miss Ruth Garvin spent the week end at her home in Lawrence.

Miss Mabel Claire Steele of Topeka spent the week end at the Tri Delt house.

Robert Spratt spent the week end in Axtell.

Freshman Students Wonder How Artist Splashes on Paint

Freshman students learn lots of things when they come to college but not many of them ever dreamed of having to write a theme on the subject of art, particularly paintings in oils. English teachers found out some interesting things about art last week after the assignment to classes on the two Sandzen paintings which are on exhibition in the applied arts department. A quotation from one of the reports follows:

"Now I wonder what that artist is trying to portray? He surely has it when it comes to splashing daubs of paint and making it look like something from a distance. Gee, isn't it ugly and frightful when you are near it?

"I'll bet he had to walk a couple of miles in order to see what he was doing or perhaps he just closed his eyes and went at it, but even with field glasses turned wrong end to, he couldn't get that good an effect. He might have used one of those Chinese blow-guns though, and instead of using darts just put in a wad of goo. However the boy's right there when it comes to painting air.

"Why honestly, I felt as if I were back in the mountains again—the coloring in that sky and the ruggedness of the mountains.

"The name of the artist again please, madame? Yes, I have seen them—I may come back again this afternoon. For the love of Mike, Fred, let's go. Good day, Madam, surely we shall return!"

In the above case it wasn't for art's sake but for the sake of a G on a theme paper, evidently.

FARMER TALK

The black eyed boxers you see on the campus give one proof that the Aggies fight.

One consolation, in talking by wireless telephone to another planet is that you can tell the people what you think of them without danger of them coming over and licking you.

"Hell Week" is just the scientific name for house cleaning.

If Wood is of presidential timber he should make a few good planks for the Republican platform.

A freshman saw "A perfect 36 chorus" advertised and went to the show expecting to see 36 women.

The way to clean up the Bolsheviki is to let them keep on till they get themselves into hot water.

The ne'er-do-well is usually the strongest believer in luck.

President Wilson can retire as a cabinet maker.

We often wonder why they put the "i" on the end of taxi.

A man always feels like a duck on a desert in the neighborhood of a ribbon counter.

Praise is another stimulant which is hard to get.

The railroad lost a woman's trunk and it took a few days to find it. Now she is suing the company because the clothes are out of date.

Red letter days aren't nearly as good as some days that bring white letters.

The funniest things always seem to happen at the times you are not supposed to laugh.

If someone does something brilliant, that you had planned to do, just a little ahead of you, at whom do you get mad?

Men sometimes think they are good looking until the barbers try to sell them something.

DEAR OLD HEN

Dear Old Hen: I am feeling pretty low tonight Hen so I guess I'll write you and tell you some of the things a fellow must do to get a place in the public eye here at college, and I guess it's the same way at home or any place else.

It seems that it is always good policy to enrol in the journalism department up here the first thing for as far as I can observe the fellows in that department and their friends seem to have a way that is queer and even peculiar of bobbing up in the collums of the press with great regularity.

One of the best ways to be your own publicity man and still feel that it is all for the good of the cause is to be a promoter. It doesn't matter much what it is you are promoting. A play, a Beat K. U. Club, a county club, or a publication are all good. Of course some promoters like the fellows that promote student dances, which do not yield profits, according to the college rules, do not crave publicity. They are usually modest, self-effacing fellows who do it in order that the students may enjoy themselves. But most promoters simply cannot function properly without oodles of publicity. A preliminary announcement comes first, quoting the manager at oportune moments which bob up on an average of one o. m. to the paragraph. Next comes a series of stories with a personal touch that are designed to set the campaign—and the campaigner—before the public. The best bet of the series is a final account of the manager's efforts, the main details of said efforts supplied by the manager. After this the manager retires from the center of the calcium to seek after something else to promote.

Of course the two methods I have mentioned are the most consistent and time-honored ways of keeping your deathless fame in a well-jazzed condition, but a fellow can obtain a passing glance from the giddy throng by adopting the spectacular. The eccentric style of dancing of some of the society idols is all that keeps them in the limelight; in fact eccentric behaviour of any kind will gain one a unique position.

Learning to throw a wicked line is part of a fellow's education, Hen, and the opportunities up here are as numerous as flowers are reputed to be in springtime. You must come up here to school next year and help me promote something.—Yours as long as I kick.—Jack.

Miss Ila Knight was a dinner guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house Sunday.

NO MYSTERY IN EYEGLASSES

The eyes have a lens system with which they focus objects far and near.

In defective eyes this focal power is more or less limited.

Our system of fitting lenses to focus objects near and far and thus relieve defective eyes, is an exact science.

Our facilities plus our experience enable us to make and adjust those glasses which will help your eyes most.

EIGHT SOCIETIES READY FOR ORATORICAL CONTEST

Only Those Who Arrive at the Auditorium Early Can be Sure of Getting a Seat

Only those who arrive early at the oratorical contest, which is to be held at 7:30 tomorrow night at the college auditorium, will be able to find seats.

The ticket selling contest between the literary societies has met with remarkable success. The Websters won first place by selling 208 tickets, the Hamiltons took second with 132, and the Eurodelphians third with 99. The other societies followed in close succession. Altogether, over 755 tickets have been sold during the first three days of this week.

Tickets will again be on sale today and tomorrow in Main hall and at the Co-op Book store and the Palace Drug store down town.

APOLLO CLUB IS READY FOR TOUR

WILL GIVE FOUR CONCERTS DURING TRIP

Programs Are Given Under Auspices of High Schools —Is Concert, Not a Vodvil

The college glee club, under the direction of Prof. A. L. Lovejoy will start Monday on the concert tour over the state.

Tuesday the club will give a concert at Pratt, and Wednesday at Kingman. Thursday a concert will be given at Wichita, and Friday the club will appear at Peabody. All of the concerts are being given under the auspices of the high schools of the various towns.

A straight glee club concert, not the vaudeville performance staged recently, will be given by the club on its trip. Miss Helen Hannen will accompany the club as violinist, and Miss Bess Curry as soloist.

Miss Gladys Taylor is ill with influenza at her home in Chapman.

Merton Otto and Russel Knapp were dinner guests at the Pi Beta Phi house Thursday.

Miss Mary Miner was a week end guest of Miss Marguerite Miller.

Miss Theo Thompson was a week end guest at the Pi Beta Phi house.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Dance this Afternoon

The Girls' Loyalty League will have its second dance of the year this afternoon. It will be held in the recreation hall in Anderson and will be under the supervision of the freshmen girls' committee. Admission is ten cents. All college girls are invited.

For Miss Sloop

Mrs. Mollie Moser, Miss Lee Winter, and Miss Mamie Grimes will give a china shower Saturday afternoon from 2:30 until 4:30 in honor of Miss Lola Mae Sloop, whose marriage to Mr. Ross Keys will take place March 10.

Web-Euro Party

The Eurodelphian and Webster literary societies held a leap year party Saturday evening, February 14, in the home economics hall. A program, consisting of a debate, games, a mock wedding, and addresses by the new presidents of the societies, was given. The question for debate was: "Resolved That Men Look Forward to Leap Year More Than Women Do," and a number of interesting views on the subject were presented by prominent members of both societies.

Big Sister Party

All of the K. S. A. C. Big Sisters and Little Sisters will be entertained Tuesday afternoon in the recreational hall from 4:00 until 5:30. There will be a short program given, including talks by Miss Jessie Machir and Miss Grace Derby.

Delta Tau Dinner

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity entertained with a dinner party Tuesday evening in honor of their basketball team which won the interfraternity championship this winter. The cup was presented by the team captain to the fraternity. Guests were Dudley Bentley, L. C. Fields, Neal Alleman, Frank Roark, and Lee King.

After Theater Supper

Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Colt gave a supper party Tuesday evening after the Robin Hood performance, at their home, 731 Poyntz. Their guests were Mr. Ralph Dunbar and Mr. Harry Longstreet of the Robin Hood company, Prof. A. E. Westbrook, and Prof. A. L. Lovejoy.

Dinner Guests

Mr. William Haney and Mr. Paul Evans were Sunday dinner guests at the H. E. Smith home.

DAILY WORK IS PLEASURE POTTER SAYS

CHOOSE PROPER LIFE'S WORK IS DEAN'S ADVICE

ADVOCATES GOOD ENGLISH

A. A. Potter, Dean of Engineering Division, Extends Personal Greetings to All K. S. A. C. Students

Successful men do not derive their greatest pleasure from play, but from their work, is the statement made by A. A. Potter, dean of the engineering division. In a personal greeting to Aggies, he says:

"I beg to extend to you greetings and best wishes. The members of the faculty are your friends and as such are always ready to aid you in your work and to help you overcome any difficulties which may arise. The dean of the division is your special adviser and you can expect sympathetic consideration from him on all matters, personal as well as those pertaining to your studies.

Do Your Best

"Cultivate concentration and diligence in getting what you are after; do not be satisfied with accomplishing things half way; reduce lost motion to a minimum; and remember that the more you do the more you will fit yourself to do.

"Very few engineering students have any conception of what the engineering profession really is. The selection of a profession, a life work, is a serious matter. Select such a course of study as will lead you after graduation to daily work, the performance of which will give you satisfaction. Successful men do not derive their greatest pleasure and satisfaction from avocations or play, but from their daily work. The book of 'Addresses to Engineering Students' by Waddell and Harrington should be in the hands and in the mind of every student, who now pursues or expects to pursue an engineering course. These addresses will aid you in understanding the prerequisites for success in engineering.

Use Good English

"In conclusion I wish to urge every K. S. A. C. engineering student to practice good English usage at all times. No matter how proficient you may be in the details of the engineering profession, an imperfect knowledge of English will bar you from success.—Sincerely,

A. A. POTTER,
Dean Division of Engineering, K. S. A. C."

A. A. Potter, Dean of the Division of Engineering

Laura M. Smith, '95, of Mena, Arkansas, informs us that her husband, Fred Smith, '95, who has been in poor health for the past two years, is now practically recovered. Her eldest daughter, Miriam, has been in war work in Washington, D. C., for the past two years and her eldest son, Dean, is with the United States Coast and Geodetic survey and expects to make a trip to Alaska this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Smith express much interest in the coming reunion of the class of '95.

Kansas Bureau Meets

The annual meeting of the Kansas Farm bureau was held in the veterinary building Friday, February 27.

E. H. Cunningham of Ames, gave an address on the progress of the Iowa Farm bureau and J. C. Mohler of the Kansas board of agriculture addressed the evening meeting. The executive meeting was held the morning of February 28.

J. C. Wheeler, assistant editor of the Kansas Farmer and Farmers' Mail and Breeze, is here for the first annual meeting of the Kansas State Farm bureau.

VALLEY CONTEST TO BE HELD HERE

ORATORS TO TRY FOR MISSOURI VALLEY HONORS

Tryouts to be Held on March 10—Manuscripts Must Not Exceed 1,700 Words

All students of the college who are orators are urged to enter the tryout for the Missouri Valley oratorical contest which is to be held March 10. Those who wish to enter must hand their names to Prof. J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking, by March 6.

The contest is not confined to literary society members but is open to any regularly enrolled student in the college. The only limitation to the orations is that they shall not exceed 1,700 words.

This is an annual contest between colleges and universities in the Missouri valley. It was not held last year on account of so many schools being closed. It is to be held this year at the college auditorium, at K. S. A. C.

Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Theta Chi house were Prof. Wylie B. Wendt, Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Marcia Seeber, and Miss Aleph Christman.

C. C. McPherson spent the week end in Marysville.

Regular Vesper services will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The discussion will be "What do you know about the Alternate—Basis?"

CONSTRUCTING NEW BUILDING FOR ENGINEERS

TO HAVE FRONTAGE OF NEARLY 400 FEET

ADDS TO PRESENT WING

Engineering Equipment and Building Will Be Valued at More Than Half Million—Machines Worth Quarter Million

Construction on the new engineering building at K. S. A. C. is well under way. The total value of the engineering building, including the new part, the old wing, the farm machinery, and other laboratories is more than a third million dollars. The equipment is worth more than a quarter million.

All of the departments of engineering with the exception of farm engineering will be housed under one roof. The entire structure, including the shops, will make one of the largest educational plants, under one roof, in the country.

Frontage of 400 Feet

The new addition to the engineering building will have a frontage of 250 feet facing south and will join on to the present mechanical engineering laboratories, making a total frontage of nearly 400 feet. The central part will be 120 by 60 feet, having three stories and a basement. The west wing will be 116 by 50 feet, having two stories and a basement and being symmetrical with the present wing which is of the same size.

A Dynamo Laboratory

The present wing will house the laboratories of steam engineering, gas engineering, strength of materials, hydraulics, road materials, fuels, refrigeration, heating and ventilation. The officers of the departments of applied mechanics, machine design, and steam and gas engineering will be located in the present wing.

The basement of the new addition will house the electrical laboratories including a dynamo laboratory, electrical measuring instruments, illumination, telephony, and electrical repairs. A part of the basement will be devoted to students' locker rooms, wash rooms, and for the housing of civil engineering instruments. On the first or main floor of the new addition will be located the offices of the dean of the division of engineering who is also director of the engineering experiment station, the departments of electrical engineering and civil engineering. Several class rooms also will be located in this part of the building.

The second floor will be devoted to drafting rooms and class rooms for the various engineering departments. In the space over the front entrance will be an engineering library. On the third floor will be located the drafting rooms, class rooms, and offices of the department of architecture.

To Be Fireproof Building

In the original plans which were drawn by the state architect, it was planned to have an auditorium with a seating capacity of 500; also additional laboratories for electrical engineering and for the instruction in automobiles. The high cost of construction made it necessary to eliminate this part of the central section.

The new addition will be absolutely fireproof of steel and concrete construction. All of the floors will be of concrete except those used in offices, class rooms, and drafting rooms, and these will be covered with a wood top. The wiring will be arranged so that the various laboratories and class rooms can be used for experimental work without having to make complicated electrical connections.

The front entrance to the central part will be quite elaborate and will give a certain artistic effect to the otherwise plain exterior.

Still Use Barracks

While this building will be of immense value in overcoming the present crowded conditions it will not take care of the increased enrolment in engineering and use will have to be made of the temporary barracks until adequate appropriations are available to complete the building.

Future plans contemplate the extension of the west part to the north for about 200 feet and the addition of a north wing to the rear of the central section.

The addition will be completed early in the summer in order that the various laboratories, drafting rooms, and class rooms can be used at the opening of the 1920 school year.

LIVE, RATHER THAN EXIST, ONE ADVISES

GRADUATE WARNS AGAINST SPECIALIZING

GET A BROAD EDUCATION

College Student Has Plenty of Time to Specialize after He Leaves School, A. E. Hopkins Says

A. E. Hopkins, '16, in an article published in an engineering journal, advises college engineers to get a broad education and not to specialize until they leave college. He says:

"The tendency on the part of the majority of engineering students in our colleges is too much toward specialization in college.

Get All Subjects

"Before reaching the junior year most of us know in a general way something of the work that we wish to follow after leaving school. With that in mind we are too prone to think that many of the subjects in the course of study are unnecessary and could profitably be omitted. Conditions in the industrial world soon show us that this is a mistaken idea.

"Of all professions, none requires a broad general knowledge more than engineering if one is to be of

He Couldn't Tarry Even for a Ticket— Why, He Had a Quiz

There was nothing so exciting last week in Anderson hall as the sale of tickets for the oratorical contest.

In the corridor a large army of pretty co-eds were constantly on the lookout for some prospective passerby. If one could get through Anderson hall without being questioned, that guy must be exceptionally "soapy."

One afternoon just 12 minutes to one, a foreign student pushed the door and walked into Anderson hall with something earnest in his head, as shown by his manner of walking. When he reached the doorway of the Recreation hall, his way was suddenly cut in by a ticket agent.

"Have you bought a ticket yet for the oratorical contest?" said the "white faced" co-ed thrusting a ticket right in front of that student.

Knowing nothing of what happens, that foreign student was stupefied for a moment. But finally he said, "Dah Mosi koo nan, ngo yiu hyao kao!" That is to say "Great Miss Moses, I have quiz!"

Might Have Been A Good Dancer If He'd Had a Chance

One of the happiest men in college is a student who worked and earned all his college expenses, board, room, clothes and all—up to his senior year. A loan is making it possible for him to get something of the social life now and he has a chance to go to the games and the concerts and might even join a literary society if sufficiently urged. If he had been able to borrow a little as a junior he might have learned to dance.

Fletcher Speck visited in Kansas City over the week end.

Clifford Myers is able to attend classes again after an absence of several days on account of illness.

Miss Ruth Blair, '19, of the Lindsborg high school, was in Manhattan for the oratorical contest. She represented the Ionian Literary society in the contest last year.

The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will cooperate in giving an all college mixer, Saturday evening, March 6, in the Nichols gymnasium. All college students are invited.

FARMERS ARE VICTORS OVER JAYHAWKERS

GALLAGHER WAS HIGH POINT MAN IN MEET

Aggies Find Victory in Dual Meet with University Easy by Leading K. U. Five by 20 Points

The Aggies defeated K. U. in a dual track meet here last Friday evening, 52 1-3 to 32 2-3. The meet was fast and closely contested despite the one sided score. The meet was attended by a large crowd.

Electrical Laboratory in Engineering Building

Broke Two Records

Aside from winning the meet, two records were broken when Jack Evans made the 30 yard dash in 3 1-5 seconds, and Jack Frost broke his previous record in the pole vault which was 11 feet 3 inches, by clearing the bar at 12 feet.

Beckett Disqualified

Beckett completed the mile run for the Aggies in 4:48 minutes, but was disqualified for touching a K. U. man in passing him.

Gallagher was high point man for the Aggies by winning a first place in the high hurdles, and a first in the lows, and also placing second in the 30 yard dash.

Aggies Took Relay

The relay, the last and most exciting event of the evening, was won by the Aggies. The time was 3:45 minutes. Turner started the race for the Aggies, making better time than the following three men, Neely, Gallagher, and Evans. However, the time of each man was nothing slow for the race ended with the Aggies 15 yards in the lead.

Great applause arose from the spectators as Billings of the Aggies hurled the shot 40 feet, 10 3-4 inches. Several K. U. men, who are to attend an Illinois meet in the near future due to their good records, were not able to equal the Aggie man's record.

Tie High Jump

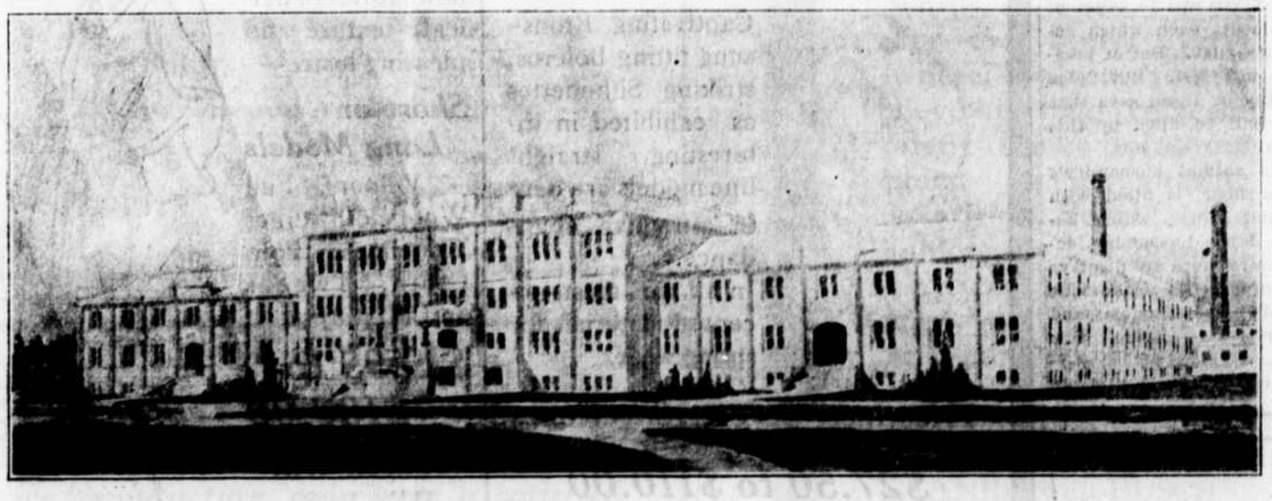

The high jump was an event in which the two Aggie men, Frost and Winters, and the K. U. man Bradley could not show the other up. Each cleared the bar 5 feet 9 1-4 inches, but none of them could make it better. The result was a tie.

SOILS INSTRUCTOR TO CONDUCT EXPERIMENTS IN CALIFORNIA

Herschel Scott Leaves K. S. A. C. After Teaching Six Months

Herschel Scott, who has been instructor in soils for the last six months at this institution, has resigned to accept a position with the Union Sugar company of Betteravia, Calif. Mr. Scott will investigate for this company the soil requirements of the sugar beet in California, and will start experiments to determine the most practical way of increasing the yield of sugar beets.

Mr. Scott is a graduate of the University of Kentucky. He came to this institution in the year 1915 as a fellow in soils. He completed the work for his degree of master of science in agriculture, specializing in soils, in 1917. For two years he served as first lieutenant in the army and was with the A. E. F. in France for over a year.

HOME ECONOMICS STUDENTS TO OPEN PRACTICE TABLES

Meals Will Cost Thirty-five Cents Each

The practice tables in the dietetics department are to be opened again. From March 2 to 27, meals will be served Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. From March 27 to April 24, meals will be served daily except Sundays.

Meals are served at 12 o'clock and cost 35 cents. Men attending these meals may act as host if they wish.

All who wish to reserve places at the tables should leave word with Doctor Bogert, L 43.

Hens Cackle and Dogs Howl in This Modern Aggie Zoo

How many Aggie students have ever visited the north barracks on the campus? And of these how many realize the diversity of uses to which it is put? And that it represents more departments than any other building on the campus? Not very many.

In the east end the zoology department, under the direction of Dr. J. E. Ackert, has a flock of white Leghorn chickens. They are good enough to be worthy of the poultry department, as they lay eggs both day and night. Unfortunately, each chicken is killed and its intestines removed and examined for parasite worms, before much of an egg record can be made. But Doctor Ackert's experiments will be of immeasurable value to the coming generations of poultry, and the poultry feeders.

In the next compartment there are several nutritive experiments being conducted by Dr. J. S. Hughes of the chemistry department. However, the only experiment so far is starving a dog for ten days. As the ten day period is almost up the poor mongrel is making the room resound with cries of hunger, thereby lowering the egg production of the zoology department's chickens.

The next division belongs to the bacteriology department, but the veterinary department seems to join in causing misery to old rabbits and stunted guinea pigs. From the appearance of these guinea pigs one would think that they too were under Doctor Hughes' supervision in the starving experiment.

In the middle of the barracks is Dr. H. L. Ibsen's assortment of guinea pigs of various shades, colors, hair, and eye, all of which go to make up the allelmorphic series which he is observing in his hereditary studies. There are 30 cages of eight compartments each which accommodate 1,000 pigs. But at present there are only 250. But "pigs is pigs" and Doctor Ibsen says that all the cages will be filled by this time next year.

West of the animal husbandry's pigs the lower floor is filled with grain, hay, and straw, which belongs to the dairy husbandry department. Upstairs there are displays of grain and forage crops, obnoxious weeds and seeds. The agronomy and botany departments divide this space.

So with at least eight departments directly interested in this one building, who dares to suggest that the barracks be torn down as they are no longer useful? It is at least useful as a curiosity shop.

Away from home and broke, eh? Well, that is no crime. Better write to F. L. Williams, Ottawa, Kan. He was that way, once, himself. tf.

Girls Who Call Off Dates At Last Hour Ought to Be Bumped

The date that he has been looking forward to, and counting on for three weeks, has been called off at the last minute, because she is not feeling well. He slams the receiver on the hook, so that his fraternity brothers all know something is wrong.

"What's trouble, Hap; did she break your date?"

To hide his chagrin, he tries to appear unconcerned over the matter.

"No," says he, "she's sick."

"Old stuff," cry his comrades. "Don't let her feed you that line. That's what they all say."

"I saw her in class today," says one.

"She told me the same thing once," says another.

Seeing that it is no use trying to keep the matter private, the rejected suitor proceeds to unload his mind upon the subject of women in general and "dates" in particular. He dwells at great length on how long he has had the date and how he has planned all day on dancing.

With a sudden inspiration, he vows by something unprintable, that he'll have a date anyway, and rushes away to the phone. He calls all the girls hat he knows well and a few that he does not know so well, but it is no use. He receives the same polite refusal in each case, "I'm sorry, but I'm busy."

By this time the "stags" have all left for "downtown." It is too late to go anywhere, and he is left alone in a cold, cold world and a still colder house. Napoleon on the island of St. Helena could not have been more desolate and lonely.

Have you heard Dardenella? We have it on record, player roll, and sheet music. Kipp's. 2t

Y. M. C. A. NOW HAS MANY CALLS FOR MEN TO WORK

Several of the Jobs Offered Are of Permanent Nature

During the last few days there have been many calls at the Y. M. C. A. for men to do work of various types, several of the jobs being of a permanent nature. At the present time Dr. Holtz has been unable to fill many of these requests and he desires that anyone wishing work would see him at his office in the recreation room in Anderson hall.

GRADUATES LOOK TO ALMA MATTER

CHICAGO MEN MEET WITH DEAN A. A. POTTER

Old Time Aggies Enjoy Time with Their Former Dean—Have Dinner There

During Dean Potter's visit to Chicago in November, a number of the engineering alumni of K. S. A. C. took the occasion to get together. The alumni and Dean Potter met in the Mandarin Inn and had dinner, after which they went to the Auditorium hotel and enjoyed several hours talking over personal experinces and recent things which had happened at the college.

The alumni present were: John Schaefle of the General Electric company; H. G. Shultz, '19, and Jesse A. Cooke of the Commonwealth Edison Light and Power company; Harold E. Rowe, F. Y. Lim of the Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company; and E. R. Cooke, '12, W. A. Lathrop, '14, and Thornton Foreman, '19, all of the Western Electric company. They departed at a late hour, with a renewed interest in their Alma Mater.

PEARCE GIVES DON'TS FOR MEN

LONG LIST OF RULES FOR DRAFTSMEN COMPILED

Theory and Practice, Making and Drawing, and Calculations Are Treated

A positive suggestion is generally considered better than a negative one, but there are times when a "Thou shalt not" serves to focus attention on a bad practice that other wise might not be thought undesirable. From this point of view, a series of "Don'ts for Draftsmen" has been found valuable and has commanded wide attention.

From the hundreds that have been published, the following are chosen by C. E. Pearce, assistant professor of machinery design, as being of particular interest, and are classified under appropriate headings:

Theory and Practice

Don't scoff at theory.

Don't despise accepted practice.

Don't be given to snap judgment; have some foundation upon which to base your opinions.

Don't accept matters of opinions when matters of fact can be clearly shown.

Don't start a job until all the requirements and available data are secured and digested.

Don't balk at an excursion into the unknown.

Don't hesitate to make some original investigations.

Making the Drawing

Don't save ink,—heavy lines and bold figures are the thing.

Don't forget the value of free-hand sketching; it is a great aid towards securing a mental picture of what is required.

Don't forget that it is easier to rub out lines on paper than to change iron and steel.

Don't forget that the draftsman can save his employer more money with less exertion than a machinist can.

Calculations

Don't work without a slide rule.

Don't go into needless refinement or figures.

Don't forget that most calculations at best are approximations.

Don't trust to the eye for proportions of important parts,—calculate them.

Don't impose implicit faith in figures whn things look out of proportion—you may have made an error in calculation or a wrong assumption somewhere.

Don't perform extended trigonometrical calculations, when scaling a layout is sufficiently accurate and quicker.

Don't be without one or two good papers bearing on your work.

Don't destroy technical publications; save at least the articles in which you are interested and file them in some way so that you can find the ones for which you are looking.

NEED THE CIVIL ENGINEERS NOW

DEPARTMENT HERE HAS MORE CALLS THAN IT CAN ANSWER

Good Wages Are Being Paid Too—Aggies Get Responsible Positions

During the last two years there has been such a great demand for civil engineers that the department here is able to supply only a portion of the men needed.

Work in Summer

Last summer all the available engineering students were placed in responsible positions. One of last year's graduates, who is now a resident engineer in highway work, is receiving a salary of $225 a month.

G. A. Murray ater completing one year's work in civil engineering took up a responsible position with the Rexroad Engineering company, of Hutchinson, and had charge of the field party on the preliminary survey for federal aid highway improvement.

Many Men Work

The following positions were held by undergraduates during the summer of 1919:

L. R. Miller and Lloyd Roberts were employed by Black and Veatch consulting engineers of Kansas City. Both of these men were in charge of preliminary surveys for the federal aid work and inspection of municipal improvements.

C. Beckett was employed by the city of Eldorado in the improvement of the city sewage system, and the installation of the sewage treatment plant.

Mr. Shelley was assistant to the city engineer of Wichita.

J. F. Grady was employed by the Rexroad Engineering company of Hutchinson as resident engineer in highway location work.

Only the Choice Jobs

The civil engineering department is already receiving calls for engineers for spring construction work. The present output will not be sufficient to meet the demand and only the choice positions will be considered.

OTHER COLLEGES

Phi Pi Kappa is the name of the new local professional fraternity organized recently in the school of education at Oklahoma university. The chapter is composed of educators from the faculty, graduate school, seniors, and juniors.

The fifty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Kansas State Normal school was commemorated last Friday.

Miss Margaret McMillan won the 1920 Sooner beauty contest at the Oklahoma university. The contest was conducted to stimulate sales for the year book.

University of Oregon students plan to give the professors a taste of their own medicine at the end of the school year. The students will send grade cards to the wives of the professors. H, M, and P are the grades proposed with no reference to the publicity or standing.

Fire destroyed thousands of dollars worth of R. O. T. C. equipment at the university of Missouri recently. The athletic bleachers were also damaged.

Hard cider was praised as the feature which made a recent dance at Coe college the most poular social function ever held.

Eighteen instructors at the University of Missouri held a meeting to endorse Herb Hoover as a candidate for president.

Old Grads Back

Many old grads and ex-students attended the oratorical contest held at the college auditorium Saturday, February 28.

Among those who marched with the Hamps were: "Doc." Wagner, '98, of Stockdale; Arthur Boyer, '18, Prof. J. D. Parsons, of the engineering department; E. W. Cudney, '07; Prof. L. A. Fitz, head of the milling department; and Dean Harry Umberger, of the extension division.

Those noticed with the Ionians were: Mrs. Sara Chase Yost, 19; Madge Thompson Hawkins, '17; and Miss Velma Carson, '19.

J. O. BROWN IS FIRST IN THE GABBERS' FEST

TAKES PRIZE FOR THE ALPHA BETA SOCIETY

Floyd Hawkins Placed Third—Four Lively Stunts Given Between the Eight Orations

Nearly every seat in the auditorium was filled last Saturday night at the 20th annual inter-society oratorical contest. The opinion of everyone was that it was one of the closest and best contests held for several years.

Three Prizes Awarded

The first prize, a gold medal and $25, was awarded to J. O. Brown who represented the Alpha Beta literary society. His oration was entitled "The Consumers' League."

M. A. Grahem won the second prize, $15 and a silver medal, with an oration entitled "The New Industrial Order." He represented the Athenian literary society. The third prize, of $10 and a bronze medal, was won by Floyd Hawkins, representing the Hamilton literary society. The subject of his oration was "The Autocracy of the Classes and the Masses."

Four Stunts Pleased

Interspersed between the eight orations were four lively stunts which were enjoyed by everyone present. The Alpha Beta and Franklin societies put on a stunt called "The Zero Hour." This stunt showed the difficulties sometimes encountered by the young man who, in the middle of the night, tries to elope with his girl and finds the path to her window guarded by an irate ather and a vicious dog, and how much he would like the friendly shelter of a near-by tree.

The second stunt entitled "An Old Sweetheart" was put on by the Athenian-Browning societies. They portrayed in pantomime, the characters of the poem "An Old Sweetheart of Mine." The following stunt was also a pantomine entitled "A Bit of China" and was put on by the Webster-Eurodelphian societies. It showed modern methods of making love in China.

The last stunt was put on by the Hamilton-Ionian societies and was called "1920." It was an imitation of some of the members of the faculty at a leap year party. The characteristics of some of the faculty members were cleverly portrayed and a good laugh was afforded everyone in the audience.

The girl orators in the contest Saturday night were coached by Mrs. Bowman of the public speaking department. Doctor Emerson, head of the public speaking department, coached the men in delivery.

Many Engineers are As Wild and Sporty As Vets Try to Be

We wouldn't be a dirty vet,
Still less an A. H. Swain;
We came to college to get wise,
Not to carry an ugly cane.

The engineers dwell upon this theme loud and long. They claim that they are men of brains, that to them college is a mighty serious proposition.

But this would-be studious brotherhood cannot fool us, we know where they while away the study hours. Now take Shorty Joss, sure he is an engineer, yet studies are only a sideline with Shorty. Week ends when Shorty is supposed to be buried in a book of hydraulics, he is usually resting his tired bones on an upholstered davenport, somewhere in Topeka.

Sigma Nu Pike puts on an air of knowledge; but he is not so wise. Well he is pretty wise on some subjects, but engineering doesn't count here.

Some of the engineers are really as wild and sporty as the vets try to be. For instance, Lester Gfeller got up a real case early this fall; Lloyd Zimmerman had eighteen dates in one week; Shideler has already picked out his future Mrs. H. K.; Rothweiler has broken an engagement, and Dean Potter has bought his first dress suit. Oh, that's not half of the things that could be mentioned; but we must tell you about Roy Breece.

Last summer Roy was working in Chicago, and there he met one of these keen little stenographers, like you see in the movies. Roy, like any good Aggie, made it a point to get acquainted. Well that was easy, so like a real sport, he asked for a date.

The young lady declared she loved the water and a swimming date was immediately planned. "I'll be ready immediately after dinner. Now don't forget to come." she said with a sweet little smile.

At twelve thirty, Roy all dressed up in his Kansas palmbeach trousers, and carrying his bathing suit in a sack under his arm, knocked at the fair one's door.

She answered the door in person, dressed in a long sleeved apron.

"Well, for heaven's sake! After dinner in Chicago means sometime about seven in the evening," was the sweet one's greeting.

"I came from Kansas where we eat dinner at noon and supper at night. How in the deuce did I know people in Chicago go swimming in the dark." After having his say the young engineer hastily beat it. He doesn't like dates very well anyhow.

The engineers are not as studious as they try to make the world believe. They are all sowing their wild oats along the way, just like their brother vets.

DEAN POTTER A WORLD FIGURE

ENGINEERING HEAD IS RECOGNIZED LEADER

Has Built Up K. S. A. C. Division from Enrolment of 272 to 550 in Seven Years

"So engineering also is taught here?"

That was a question frequently heard from visitors of the Kansas State Agricultural college half a dozen years ago. Nowadays it more often is:

"I'm anxious to go through the engineering buildings and shops of which I have heard so much."

There has been much talk of the rapid strides engineering education has taken at the college in the last few years—and much to occasion such talk.

The division has more than doubled in enrolment since the school year 1913-1914.

Record Number This Year

This year there are approximately 550 students taking engineering subjects exclusively, besides over 400 students of other divisions taking part time work in engineering. The engineering enrolment for the year 1913-1914 was 272.

It was the smallest division, excepting general science, in 1913-1914, home economics leading with 724 and agriculture coming second with 555. The latter have held their own—a good normal enrolment for war years—but engineering has forged forward to the place it deserves in the land grant college of the state of Kansas.

International recognition of the division has come in the form of international recognition of its head. A glance through the pages of Engineering Education, bulletin of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, strikingly emphasizes this. A. A. Potter is announced as first vice president of the society. He was chairman of two committees and a member of no less than five additional committees at the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the society at John Hopkins university last June. The September bulletin publishes an article by Dean Potter.

Called a Human Dynamo

How has he done it?

His students swear he is the squarest man "on the hill."

The faculty, both of the engineering and other divisions, regard him as a dynamo of energy.

Engineering alumni are fond of him because he is ever thoughtful of their welfare.

And here is what W. M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college said of him recently:

"Dean Potter undoubtedly is the best engineering teacher in America."

President Jardine calls him a teacher. Outsiders will be surprised to learn that he actually teaches several courses in power engineering in addition to his numerous administrative duties, his obligations to the public in the form of addresses and special articles for the press, and his thousands of little kindnesses, things outside the routine of duty, done in the name of charity.

While the need of additional room and equipment for the engineering division has largely been met by recent appropriations, there still is insufficient money for an ample engineering faculty. Every member of the division is overworked.

But Dean Potter takes more than an average college professor's load, and runs his job as dean in addition to it.

Department of Architecture Now Becoming More Popular With Students

In 1903 the department of architecture was organized at the Kansas State Agricultural college under the supervision of Prof. J. D. Walters. A four year course in architecture was offered. It was closely related to engineering.

Baker at Head

In 1917 Professor Walters became Professor Emeritus and Prof. C. F. Baker of Chicago was secured to head this department. Up to the time of acceptance of the position at the Kansas State Agricultural college, Mr. Baker was in active architectural practice. He came here full of new ideas for an up-to-date architectural department and with the aid of Prof. F. C. Harris and Prof. S. A. Smith, he reorganized the course, laying great emphasis on architectural design.

The courses in architecture are offered not only to provide for the fundamental training necessary for the practice of architecture, but also to give the student a facility and working knowledge which will be of immediate value to him upon graduation.

Throughout the course the instruction by lectures, recitations and drafting room practice is fully amplified and expanded by a free use of the equipment of the department of architecture.

Within the department is located a good working library of the standard architectural works and leading professional magazines, together with the collections of lantern slides and photographs, to all of which the students have easy access. Placed about the amply lighted and well equipped rooms is a generous collection of plaster casts, including important examples of architectural fragments and ornaments of historical monuments. On the walls of the drawing rooms, where they are constantly before the student, are hung selected examples from the department's collection of original drawings, including specimens of both academic and current professional work. From time to time the exhibit is changed.

At frequent intervals men actually engaged in the practice of architecture are invited to talk to and to advise the students. During the junior and senior years, each student is expected to make a visit to one or more of the large neighboring cities, thus enabling him to acquaint himself with the representative work of the profession as well as with the operations and processes involved in the conduct of allied professions and industries.

Drafting Room in Architecture

The course as now outlined is becoming more popular each year as shown by the increase in enrolment in this department. Its worth has also been recognized by the college, the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, and the Kansas Society of Architects.

The Chamber of Commerce offered a prize to the sophomores for the best design of a swimming pool to be constructed in the city park. The college has offered a prize to the sophomores for the best design of a pump house to be constructed on the campus. Besides these the Kansas Society has offered a yearly prize to both juniors and seniors, but the design has not been chosen as yet.

ENGINEERS WILL BE BIGGEST MEN OF FUTURE IS FORECAST

Dr. Frank Crane, in an article in the Chicago Daily News, says that the engineer is to be the big man of the future. His article is printed here by permission.

The man of the future will be the engineer.

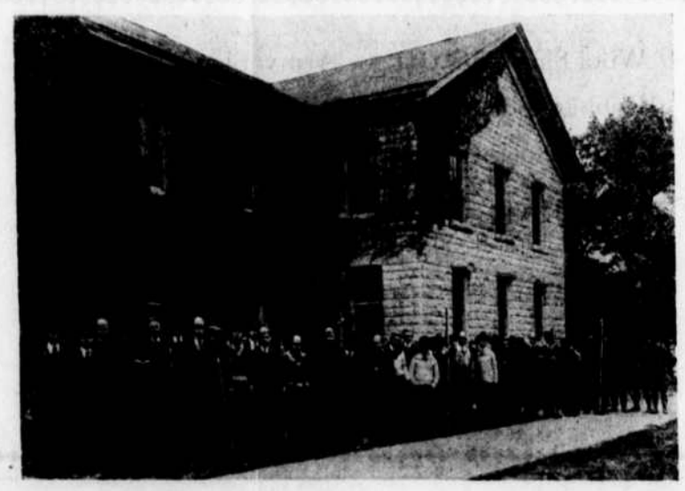

He is the man who can do things; and is better than the man who owns things.

The millionaire is a temporary, passing, makeshift product of civilization. He is merely holding things together until the people get sense enough to do their own owning.

Some day little boys will read that the world once had millionaires and huge private wealth units, just as they will one day read and wonder that men once had kings. But the official who will forever be indispensable is the engineer.

The time will come when the president of the United States will be chosen as the man who has the greatest talent and skill in organising public works. There will be no more politics in his selection than there is now in choosing the master mechanic of a railway or factory.

When a nation goes to war nowadays, nobody dreams of electing the most popular politician or the cleverest speechmaker to lead the armies. It is the man who can get the last ounce of efficiency out of men and out of gunmetal that is wanted. Some day the nation will realize that it is continually in a crisis, and that in peace as in war we need the highest order of efficiency and organization.

Group of Engineers in Surveying Class

We need the engineer to arrange the transportation of people and goods from place to place, without waste, without competition, without graft.

We need the engineer to get meat, bread and milk from farm to citizen without the present inefficient tangle of trusts and middlemen.

We need the engineer to turn the profit of public enterprise toward building good roads and bridges, instead of enriching a few shrewd manipulators.

We need the engineer to manage a city as economically and smoothly as if it were a manufacturing plant.

We need the engineer to organize the farmers so that all can work together for each and their products marketed without being preyed upon at every step of the way from farm to household.

Wealth can be taken away from us. But the power to do things cannot be taken away.

Engaged Ones Just As Welcome as Ones Who are not—Whew!

The Better Homes institute, which is to be given at the college auditorium March 8 to 12 appeals to every student, whether he or she is engaged, expects to be so shortly, or never expects to be engaged at all.

To the engaged, better homes are of immediate and absorbing interest and both of the engaged ones will attend the institute regularly.

The price of admission to the institute is a special inducement to the "expect to be engaged" student. He can purchase tickets to the institute for each "once in a while" and "might be" and yet not have to write home for extra funds.

The student who never expects to be engaged will be just as interested in the Better homes institute as his more ensnared brothers and sisters. Everyone has to live somewhere, and the Better Homes institute will go a long way toward showing how to make the bachelor's smoking room cozy and the bachelor girl's kitchenette convenient.

AGGIES GET THREE WOLVES NEAR ZEANDALE SATURDAY

Over 300 Hunters Took Part in Big Drive

Zeandale's wolf hunt Saturday yielded three wolves while four of the animals got away, according to the testimony of the Aggie hunters.

The cold weather prevented many K. S. A. C. men from going. As it was there were 30 or more Aggies present. Colonel Terrill had charge of the west line of the drive which included all of the Aggies and several farmers from the surrounding country.

There were about 300 men on the line. The drive started at 11 o'clock and finished about 1:30. The finish of the drive was in a 40 acre pasture. Many rabbits, crows, and hawks were killed in the drive.

Professors King, Latshaw, Throckmorton, and Colonel Terrill accompanied the Aggie contingent.

LIVE, RATHER THAN EXIST, ADVISES ONE

the maximum service to his country and to humanity, and to really live instead of merely existing.

"The argument will be advanced that this is the age of specialization. I do not wish to be understood in any way to deny that fact, but the contention is that a college education is primarily for the purpose of so training a man that he will be enabled to take up the kind of work for which he is best fitted, and not for the purpose of training him for any particular job or profession. There will be plenty of time for specialization after graduation, and a man is working at his chosen profession.

Two Noted Scientists

"A further argument against premature specialization, or, in fact, against specialization at any time is found in the lives of some of the greatest engineers that the world has ever known and who are best known to the majority of people because of their activities in other fields of endeavor. Two of the most noted of such cases are those of Leonardo da Vinci and F. Hopkinson Smith.

"Da Vinci, who was the son of a Florentine lawyer, is best known to the world as a sculptor and painter, but whose work along the lines of engineering construction and original research have hardly had an equal in history. Smith, who was born in Baltimore, Md., in the early part of the nineteenth century, was educated as a mechanical engineer. He later became a contractor, and among his contracts are two for the government that mark him as an accomplished engineer. These two were the design and supervision of the construction of the foundation for the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty in New York harbor, and the construction of the Race Rock Light house off New London, Conn., both of which are admirable feats of engineering construction."

SHORT COURSE MEN WERE FIRST TO CONTRIBUTE

Student Loan Fund Boosted by Students Who Spent Only Eight Weeks Here

The farmers's short course men fired the first gun in the Loan Fund Benefit drive Saturday.

The committee in charge had overlooked the fact that the short course would end Saturday noon. In the final lecture of the course the speaker informed them of the oversight and that any inclined to contribute might do so and that Miss Jessie Machir would mail them a tag.

She will send one to nearly every man of the course. If these boys got the spirit in eight weeks, what should the long course men and women do?

TRACK NOTES

After the weight event had ended disastrously for K. U. Bradley, the Jayhawk weight man, threw the shot 41 feet 6½ inches, about eight inches further than Billing's previous toss. Billings wasn't to be outdone by a Jayhawker and tossed the weight for 41 feet 9½ inches.

One Aggie track fan said the Aggie-K. U. track team was the best bunch of sports he had seen here for some time. The Aggie fans showed the proper spirit in cheering the visitors on their hard earned victories.

Germany Schulz proved himself a real sport when he took the disqualification of Beckett with a smile. Beckett's time of 4:48 was a sufficiently credible showing to make the Aggie coach feel pretty good however.

E. W. Fitzgerrald spent the week end visiting friends in Topeka.

H. N. Hudson spent the week end at his home in Topeka.

C. L. Swensen, '16, visited at the Sigma Phi Delta house last week end.

Charles L. Turley spent Saturday in Hutchinson.

What Alumni Engineers Say

Get General Education

About the middle of August, I returned to my former position with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, and am again doing railway project work.

Our section has chrage of all that pertains to the electrification of steam railroads and also street railways and interurban systems from the standpoint of the apparatus used.

In light traction work, we make motor application and control recommendations; calculate transmission lines, locate and determine the size of equipment of substations, and on new work determine power requirements.

My advice to freshmen would be to take all that the college offers in the line of economics, banking, business law, and to slight no English and general education. Technical facts can be learned almost any time; in fact they are thrust upon you, but you can't learn to write and speak English or obtain a general education while earning a salary, without a great deal of effort.

J. S. HAGAN, 1916.

With General Electric

After leaving college I went at once to the General Electric company, where I entered the testing department. Here I stayed for one year. During this time I spent three months in Pittsfield testing transformers and regulators. I was then transferred to the general office of the P. and M. section.

I stayed in the general offices at Schenectady a little over four months, and was then sent to the Chicago office. My work here is that of assistant to salesmen, who are out among customers a large part of the time.

As I see it now my experience in the test department was invaluable and I am mighty glad that I was allowed to take it, because the actual handling of electrical machinery is the only way to have confidence in and know the why and wherefore of its operation. I certainly will endorse such a training course to any senior leaving school, not only for the possibilities in its own line, but also for the opportunities which it opens up in other lines.

L. G. ALFORD, 1918.

Classes and studies come first. One must get the fundamentals of the work, and not all of the electrical, but rather other branches as well.

Join some organization. Get into a literary society and learn to speak in public, expressing what you think; as sometime you may be called upon to tell what you know about yourself or some project.

Go to church. Here you will find the man you are working for, or someone else of the company who is unknown to you. It is probable that they are watching the younger men of the organization.

Don't think your teachers hard. You will find your time shorter and more work to do. It is a good job and well done or there will be a sign up and you will be looking for a better job.

Read periodicals. Read all of them that you can find time for. You have a wonderful opportunity with the library there, and when you hit a kink that you may be able to use someday, make note of it.

W. K. HERVEY, 1916.

Some Big Contracts

Since coming to Labette county as county engineer we have prepared plans and specifications for 45 miles of federal aid roads and have been able to award the following contracts: Section "A", Oswego to Chetopa, 9.14 miles in length, feather edge gravel with all culverts and bridges to W. C. Jucksch Construction company, Sapulpa, Oklahoma, for the sum of $81,077.

Section "B", Parsons to Altamont, 10.16 miles in length, gravel wearing surface on macadam base with all culverts and bridges to Elliott & Vance, Parsons, Kansas, for the sum of $112,135.

Section "C", Oswego to Altamont, 10.5 miles in length, grading awarded to Cook-O'Brien Construction company, Kansas City, Mo., for the sum of $44,796.96. Section "D", Altamont west to the Labette-Montgomery County line, 12.9 miles in length, grading awarded to W. C. Jucksch Construction company, for the sum of $38,196.16.

All culverts and bridges on Sections "C" and "D" awarded to M. E. Gillioz, Monett, Mo., for the sum of $69,143.40.

We now have 45 miles of roads under construction at a cost of approximately $350,000, which does not include the surfacing on sections "C" and "D". I am planning on circulating an amendment to the original petition and petition for a concrete road on these two sections. Since we have been able to award the culverts, bridges and the grading we will allow the grading to settle for a year or two at which time it will be in ideal condition for a concrete slab.

In addition to this road work we have constructed approximately $60,000 worth of bridges.

I now have with me here Mr. Frank Freeto, a graduate of the college, who is acting as resident engineer on sections "C" and "D." Also have Mr. J. M. Guiles as resident engineer on sections "A" and "B".

COMMITTEE READY TO TAKE SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS

Scholarships Range from $50 to Maximum of $500

The educational committee of the Y. M. C. A. composed of Dean Holton, S. J. Pratt, president of the Citizens State bank; S. J. Geltin of the American Legion, and Dr. Holtz, chairman, are now ready to receive applications for educational scholarships which are offered by the Y. M. C. A.

Residents of Riley, Osborne, Mitchell, Cloud, and Clay counties, who have received honorable discharges from the army or navy are eligible to apply.

The scholarships range from the minimum of $50 to the maximum of 500 and will cover correspondence courses, all lines of agriculture, engineering, business, and short courses as well as collegiate.

Application blanks are now in the office of Dr. Holtz in Anderson hall.

WHAT PROF. I. C. BAKER OF ILLINOIS TOLD K. S. A. C. ENGINEERING STUDENTS

Character, judgment, efficiency, executive ability, and all the other qualifications are byproducts developed during life, and particularly while one is acquiring an education. This is the information given K. S. A. C. students by Prof. Ira C. Baker, of the University of Illinois. He gave the following ideas and rules:

What an Engineer Is Not

A mechanical engineer is not simply a machinist.

A civil engineer is more than a rodman, or a draftsman, or an instrument man.

An electrical engineer is not merely a dynamo runner or a linesman.

An architect is more than a carpenter or a house contractor.

If you aspire to be only a machinist, an engine runner, a rodman, a linesman, or an architectural draftsman, you should not have come to college. But I hope you have come to college to prepare yourself to be a real engineer, a successful engineer, and possibly a great engineer.

What an Engineer Really Is

An engineer is a man who creates new industries, designs factories, builds bridges, buildings, and machines, directs craftsmen to embody his ideas in material form, solves old problems in a new way, and solves new problems in a good, economical, and safe way.

An engineer is one who directs and controls the forces of nature for the use and convenience of man. He is vastly more than an engine runner, an instrument man, an electrician, or an architectural draftsman.

How May You Become a Real Engineer?

Have correct methods of study.

Have correct aims in your study.

A fact is important, but the knowledge of how to acquire more facts is of greater importance; and the ability to discover or create new facts is of still greater value.

An engineering student, for that matter every student, should do more than absorb facts, or merely get knowledge.

What Should You Seek?

You should seek to develop intellectual power: power to observe closely, power to analyze correctly, power to state clearly.

During College Life

Feel the dignity and importance of the work in which you are engaged. Do not drift, but steer your own course. Hold your head up, put out your chin, throw back your shoulders, and look every one squarely in the face. This cultivates self respect. If you do not respect yourself, you can not expect others to respect you.

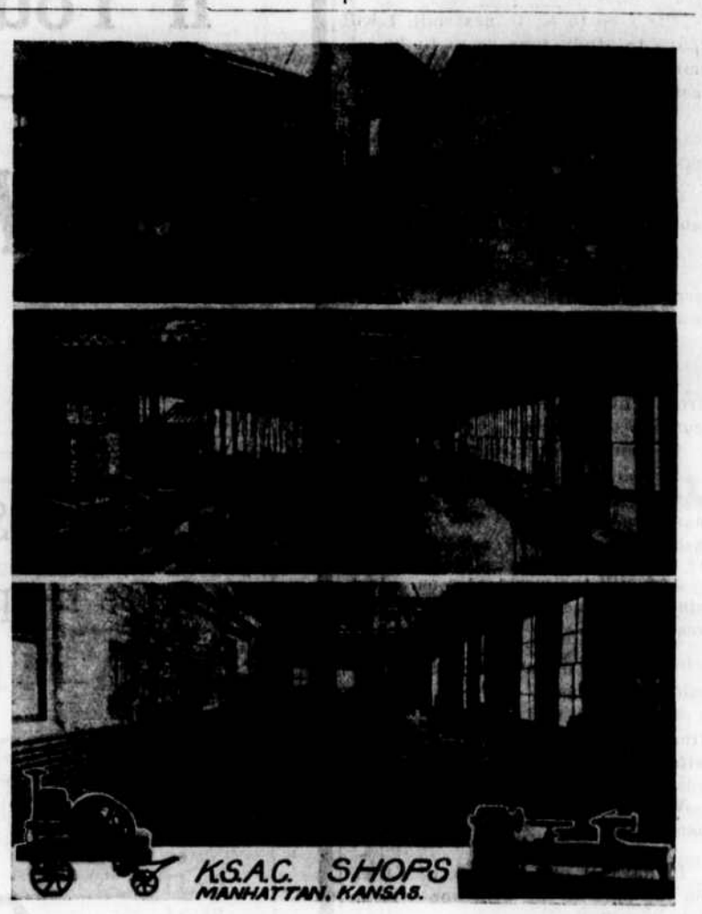

If you were appointed by a committee to buy freshman caps, show responsibility by discharging the duties of the position promptly, fully, and in good business form.

If you are assigned a difficult problem, show resourcefulness by holding on and getting a solution without going into the next room to consult some student, or without appearing in class unprepared.

Show resourcefulness by writing a really interesting paper for the rhetoric class.

Develop executive ability by going to class meetings and helping to run things; by joining the engineering society of your course, so you can get some practice in working with others; by taking interest in college politics; in class or university elections, putting up a ticket for the sake of getting your man elected, perhaps it is because you had had judgment in sizing up the stiuation or in selecting your candidate; study the results of such experience so as to educate your judgment.

Cultivate social qualities. I mean more than ball room etiquette or parlor manners. Make the acquaintance of your classmates and upper classmen, so you may have experience in making friends and in understanding men.

Why English Is A Necessity In Life

One of the pet grouches of many engineering students is caused by their objection to the study of English. They say that they came to college to learn to be an engineer, to learn to design and plan and build; that they want to be an engineer, a doer, not an "old fogy" writer, and that they never did like to write anyway.

English Is Necessary

But let us investigate the question. Perhaps we may learn that English, after all, is an engineering subject as well as a cultural one; that it is really practical and useful in the everyday life of the practicing engineer.

What is the nature of the work of an engineer? First of all, let us remember that he is a professional man, not a mechanic; that by far the greater portion of his work is mental. If he were a mechanic, an operator, as so many of those not in the profession think him to be, it would be necessary for him to convey but few ideas to his fellow men. But his work is of a broader nature than this. He must not only listen to orders from the man higher up, but he must also have ideas of his own, and what is more important, he must convey them to those around him. He must have some means, some tool with which to communicate his ideas to those with whom he comes in contact.

We have seen that the engineer is a man who must communicate his ideas to others. All of us will agree, too, that the most feasible means of communication in this country is the English language. The engineer is habitually accurate in all his thoughts and deeds; and if he is to transfer his thoughts to others in their original accurate form, he must have adequate means of making the transfer. In other words, his English must be clear and accurate.

Need Accurate English

If accurate English is necessary to the highest professional success of the engineer, how is proficiency in its use to be acquired? Those who are already proficient in its use tell us that proficiency is attained only by unremitting toil and study. To learn to write, one must practice.

Many an engineer who is a good technician has failed to climb the ladder to success because of his inability to convey his ideas to others. A prominent New York engineer has said, "An engineer who is inarticulate is quite as useless as one who is professionally incompetent." This does not mean that he must be poetic and able to write a highly artistic style. It merely means that he must be able to express himself in good, clear, accurate, forcible English.

T. W. BIGGER, 1919.

Harold Smiley spent Sunday at his home in Topeka.

Joe Haak left Friday for Holton where he will spend several days before returning to Manhattan.

Mac Short spent the week end at his home in Salina.

SAND

BY AN ENGINEER

I observed a locomotive in the railroad yards one day;
It was waiting at the round house, where the locomotives stay;
It was panting for the journey; it was coaled and fully manned,
And it had a box the fireman was filling full of sand.

It appears that locomotives can not always get a grip
On their slender iron pavements, 'cause the wheels are apt to slip;
And when they reach a slippery spot their tactics they command,
And to get a grip upon the rail they sprinkle it with sand.

It's about this way with travel along life's slippery track,
If your load is rather heavy and you're always sliding back
(If a common locomotive you completely understand,)
You'll provide yourself in starting with a good supply of sand.

If your track is steep and hilly and you have a heavy grade,
And if those who've gone before you have the rails quite slippery made,
If you ever reach the summit of the upper table land,
You'll find you'll have to do it with a liberal use of sand.

If you strike some frigid weather and discover to your cost
That you're liable to slip on a heavy coat of frost,
Then some prompt, decided action will be called into demand,
And you'll slip way to the bottom if you haven't any sand.

You can get to any station that's on life's schedule seen,
If there's a fire beneath the boiler of ambitions strong machine,
And you'll reach the place called Flushtown at a rate of speed that's grand,
If for all the slippery places you've a good supply of sand.

PUT K. S. A. C. FIRST

This edition of the Kansas State Collegian is published by the Engineer's association of the Kansas State Agricultural college to supersede the regular edition of the K. S. A. C. Engineer, and will be sent to all the high schools of the state as well as the students and alumni of the college.

It is not the purpose of the editors to fill the edition full of jokes and other material, which will be of little use to the student. A special effort has been made to obtain material which will help the student in his work and still be of an interesting nature. It has always been the purpose of the K. S. A. C. Engineer to publish abstracts from the lectures, which have been given from time to time, before the different engineering organizations at the college.

The Kansas State Agricultural college is now recognized as having one of the best engineering schools of the middle west, so it is not necessary for us to publish long articles merely for the purpose of advertising. With the rapidly increasing enrolment of the engineering division, and the new addition to the engineering building, with its added facilities, there can be no dispute as to the standing of the Kansas State Agricultural college among the engineering schools of the United States.

WHAT SIGMA TAU MEANS

Do you know that other eyes than those of the faculty are upon you? Perhaps you have less than ten cuts for fear of suspension; maybe you cut short a date to study hydraulics so as to maintain your position in the class; but what studies are you carrying, what activities are you concerned in, and how many laboratory experiments do you perform for individual or personal reasons? If you have no personal pride in what you know and do, how can you expect success in full measure?

Every student should follow his chosen line of study diligently to win the full award of his efforts. The securing of recognition of his abilities is a demand upon him to advertise in a demonstrative method. He should not be in class just because it is on the schedule. A purpose is evident, an object in view, and an end to accomplish. His fellow classmates are his best advertisers, but they will not peddle his wares unless they are the "wear-ever" brand and stand the "acid test" of reliability. Such recognition is worth dollars to any engineer or engineering student.

The watchful eyes of a fellow classmate are upon you to grasp such indications as you may show of developing into worth while material, of a desirable brother engineer, of a proficient citizen. Remember that a flaw magnified spells ruin, while good qualities last forever. You are being graded upon three requisites: scholarship, practicability, and sociability.

Scholarship, not to be a book worm, but from the standpoint of application and the derivation of the point being expounded or developed by the author, instructor, or lecturer. Practicability, not from the amount of grease or ragged tears on your laboratory suit, but from your ability to apply your classroom and technical training to the solution of the problem at hand. Sociability, not from the number of dates in your memo, but from your ease, cordiality, and means of approach to your fellow men. So think of scholarship, practicability, sociability. These are the standards of engineering societies the world over, and more especially of our own right here on our campus.

Sigma Tau, honorary, national engineering fraternity with a local chapter, Epsilon, is in our midst. It has these three standards by which it passes judgment upon every engineering student who graduates from K. S. A. C. There are no petitions or solicitations for memberships, it is a simple universal method and system used by every chapter in the United States.

Car Conductor Sees "Red" When Demure Pledge Asks Time

A young man stood waiting at the corner of Eleventh and Vattier. The bold skipper of the galloping goose brought that worthy and battle scarred veteran to an abrupt halt in smiling anticipation of the expected fare.

The young man made no move to enter the car but addressed the conductor.

"Will you give me the time please?"

"It is now nine-thirty," answered the conductor.

The one outstanding virtue of this particular conductor is that he is always accommodating.

The goose moved on and another young man stood waiting at Tenth street. Again the goose stopped with the conductor still smiling.

The young man remained motionless and asked in a meek little voice, "What time is it?"

Whereupon the conductor lost his smile and saw "red." For obvious reasons we refrain from printing the conductor's reply. Suffice it to say that there were no ladies in the car at the time.

Meanwhile two fraternity pledges were congratulating themselves that "hell week" would soon be over.

Quizzes in English Lit Don't Help One Who Has Late Date

He stands outside the recreation hall in Anderson. The bells are ringing the dismissal of sixth hour classes. Students begin to stream thru the hall. Plainly the man is worried. He is making a poor attempt to hide his uneasiness under a guise of nonchalance and unconcern. Furtively he glances at his watch. For the third time, he makes a trip to the postoffice, tho he knows his box is empty. Returning, he leans against the wall, nervously twirls his hat and peers into the mob of passing students. The bells ring the beginning of a new hour. The mob thins out. A look of despair settles over the face of our hero,—then changes to a broad smile as he hurries forward to claim his afternoon date. Yes, "I'm awfully sorry I'm late Jimmie," she murmurs, as he takes her books, slips his hand within her arm, and pilots her down the hall. "We had such a long quiz in 'English Lit.'"

Could You Fill All the Requirements As Given by This Man

"A good engineer must be of inflexible integrity, sober truthful, accurate, resolute, discreet, of cool and sound judgment, must have command of his temper, must have courage to resist and repel attempts at intimidation, a firmness that is proof against solicitation, flattery or improper bias of any kind, must take an interest in his work, must be energetic, quick to decide, prompt to act, must be fair and impartial as a judge on the bench, must have experience in his work and in dealing with men, which implies some maturity of years, and must have business habits and knowledge of accounts. A good engineer can be found. But they are greatly in demand, and when found, they are worth their price; rather they are beyond price, and their value can not be estimated by dollars."

This is a statement made by Chief Engineer Starling to the Mississippi Levee commission.

Miss Pauline Clarke, of Paola, an alumna member of the local chapter of Delta Zeta spent Wednesday at the Delta Zeta house. Miss Clarke had just returned from Salina where she addressed the Dorian club Tuesday evening on the subject of "Women in War Work." Miss Clarke was in war work for two years, first at Camp Lewis, Wash., and later at Camp Meade, Md. Thursday morning she left for her home in Paola.

Clay F. Laude of Omaha, Nebr., spent the week end at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Charles Monroe, former student, was a visitor at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Friday.

Wake Up, Joe!

Joe Cool: "Last night, that girl from Chicago called me an impecunious barracuda."

Tupper: "Didn't you resent it?"

Joe Cool: "No it wasn't until I got home that I realized that the name was highbrow for 'a poor fish.' "

And still the world goes on. Just ninety-four more days of school this year.

"I want to die with my boots on," said Mr. Rodgers.

"Your wish will be granted if you track mud on my carpet," replied his wife.

What henpecked mortals we husbands be.

In days of old, a break like that on the part of the wife would mean a hair pullin'.

"Did your summer girl give you anything to remember her by?"

"Oh, yes, she gave me one of her swimming suits and I have been wearing it in the back of my watch ever since."

The Service of an Electrical Research Laboratory

The research facilities of the General Electric Company are an asset of world-wide importance, as recent war work has so clearly demonstrated. Their advantages in pursuits of peace made them of inestimable value in time of war.

A most interesting story tells of the devices evolved which substantially aided in solving one of the most pressing problems of the war—the submarine menace. Fanciful, but no less real, were the results attained in radio communication which enabled an aviator to control a fleet of flying battleships, and made possible the sending, without a wire, history-making messages and orders to ships at sea. Scarcely less important was the X-ray tube, specially designed for field hospital use and a notable contribution to the military surgical service. And many other products, for both combatant and industrial use, did their full share in securing the victory.

In the laboratories are employed highly trained physicists, chemists, metallurgists and engineers, some of whom are experts of international reputation. These men are working not only to conserve the resources of Nature to be of service to man, but to increase the usefulness of electricity in every line of endeavor. Their achievements benefit every individual wherever electricity is used.

Scientific research works hand in hand with the development of new devices, more efficient apparatus and processes of manufacture. It results in the discovery of better and more useful materials and ultimately in making happier and more livable the life of all mankind.

Some of the General Electric Company's Research Activities During the War:

Submarine detection devices
X-ray tube for medical service
Radio telephone and telegraph
Electric welding and applications
Searchlights for the Army and Navy
Electric furnaces for gun shrinkage
Magneto insulation for air service
Detonators for submarine mines
Incendiary and smoke bombs
Fixation of nitrogen
Substitutes for materials

INTERESTING LETTERS TELL OF K. S. A. C. ENGINEER SQUAD

They're Doing Everything from Banking to Building Roads—Reply to Questionnaire

Graduates of the engineering division, K. S. A. C., are engaged in a variety of work related to engineering as well as some work little or not at all related to engineering. Responses to a questionnaire recently sent out by the college formed the basis of the following interesting items about successful graduates:

"Tiny" (A.W.) Seng, E. E. '11, Aggie football star in his day, is chief engineer of the Augusta power and water plant.

Fred H. Nash, E. E. '17, is research engineer with the Empire Gasoline company of Bartlesville, Okla.

J. Glen Phinney, E. E. '16, is cost engineer for the Empire Refineries, Inc., of Bartlesville, Okla.

J. F. Moss, M. E. '14, is sales engineer with the Pilsbry-Becker Engineering and Supply company, St. Louis. His address is care Westside Machine Co., Kansas City, Kansas.

J. N. Bridgeman, B. S. '91, M. S. '94, is city engineer at Junction City. Mr. Bridgeman now has under way seven blocks of brick pavement and 56 blocks of concrete pavement. Mr. Bridgeman writes: "We believe that the brick will be as good as the best and that, materials considered, our concrete pavement is the best to be had with very little pavement of any material that is better. The only secret about them is the old one of careful attention to details and very careful and thorough working after being placed on the grade." Previous to taking up his present work, Mr. Bridgeman was for ten years with the civil engineering department of the University of Nebraska, part of the time acting as head of the department.

Awards $350,000 Contract

Walter J. King, M. E. '09, county engineer of Labette county, has awarded contracts for 20 miles gravel roads, 24 miles concrete, and all culverts and bridges amounting to approximately $350,000. Frank Freeto, C. E. '15, is resident engineer on this work. Besides his work as county engineer, Mr. King has recently engaged in preparing plans for $75,000 worth of paving for the city of Oswego, and plans for street improvement for Chetopa, Altamont, and Mound Valley.

Geo. H. Baird, M. E. '14, is assistant superintendent of gas measurement with the Empire Gas and Fuel company, of Bartlesville, Okla.

W. K. Hervey, E. E. '16, is superintendent of the municipal water and light plant of Lindsborg.

E. M. Ruede, E. E. '09, of 4209 Mason St., Omaha, Neb., is engineer of distribution with the Nebraska Power company.

Theo. Arthur Hall, M. E. '13, is superintendent of gas measurement with the Empire Gas & Fuel company, Bartlesville, Okla.

Geo. D. Wolf, E. E. '05, is general sales manager of the Kellog Switchboard & Supply company, Chicago.

Lloyd M. Reudy, Arch. '16, is employed as draftsman with the Empire Gas & Fuel company, of Bartlesville, Okla. His address is 615 Dewey Avenue.

Lee V. Haegert, M. E. '18, is employed as assistant city engineer of Junction City.

With the Santa Fe

Con M. Buck, B. S. '96, M. S. '98, is division engineer with the A. T. & S. F. railway company. His address is 332 Greenwood avenue, Topeka.

E. A. Wright, E. E. '06, is manager of the Great Bend Water and Electric Light company.

Dudley Atkins, Jr., C. E. '13, is county engineer of Doniphan county with headquarters at Troy.

C. M. Scott, Jr., M. E. '12, is assistant engineer with the Sinclair Oil company. His address is 1543 E. Burnett Street, Tulsa, Okla.

James G. Richards, M. E. '07, E. E. '08, is district sales manager for the Hoffman mills. His address is 1804 S. 24th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

Arthur H. Giles, C. E. '14, is employed with the Badger Lumber company at 54 S. 20th Street, Kansas City, Kan.

Dave G. Ruth, E. E. '11, is an automobile dealer, and owner and manager of the Meridian Road garage at Mound Ridge.

A. E. Anderson, C. E., '14, is field agent for the Bureau of Crop Estimation, U. S. Department of Agriculture. His address is Box 1284, Lincoln, Neb.

Engineer Takes Up Banking

Franklin A. Adams, E. E. '09, is cashier of the Stock Growers State bank at Maple Hill.

P. J. C. Klaumann, E. E. '14, is city electrician in charge of the electrical, sewer and water works of the city of Belleville.

Clifford H. Carr, E. E. '11, is owner and manager of the C. H. Carr Machinery company, Reliance building, Kansas City, Mo. This company makes a specialty of equipment for water, irrigation, power and electric plants.

R. H. Oliver, E. E. '17, is chief clerk and salesman of the Des Moines, Iowa, branch of the General Electric company. His address is 907 Hippee Bldg. Mr. Oliver writes: "I like my work very well and have an opportunity to learn a great deal besides meeting and getting acquainted with the customers in this territory. Our business is increasing so rapidly that we expect to enlarge the office still further within the near future. I have been kept busy having to work several nights each week, and do not anticipate a very easy position when the enlargement comes although I may have an increased number of assistants so that I may possibly have it a little easier.

"It is my intention to visit K. S. A. C. about commencement time although I may have an opportunity to visit sooner as a "scout" for new men. G. E. business has increased so rapidly within the last year that we must have many new men this summer to take care of the increase."

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Tuesday were Miss Alice Skinner and Miss Grace Hesse.

Mrs. N. Nettleton of Lenora, has been visiting her daughter, Miss Margaret, this week.

Miss Ruth Ghormley, senior in home economics, has been absent from school for the past week on account of the death of her mother.

Reward

All-Weather Work With Goodyear Belts

The revolving year turns a succession of tasks to the farmer's hand, and with every season re-emphasizes for him the value of time. Every limit set on the full use of his time is a limit placed on his production, with higher cost of farm operation as a direct result.

Consequently, one of the factors in the farmer's investment in a piece of machinery is its all-season, all-weather utility. The fewer days it is idle because its action is affected by cold or wet, or because its work is confined to planting time or harvest time, the more valuable it is to the farmer.

Belts that run trouble-free in the alternating dry cold and damp cold of winter are extending the all-season use of power equipment on the American farm. Moisture-proof Goodyear Klingtite transmission belts are serving under climatic conditions that seriously crippled the efficiency of belts that by turns froze into rigid strips, and shrunk so appreciably as to compel resetting of the engine.

The qualities of Goodyear Klingtite in winter work are demonstrated, for instance, in the experience of Charles Tagge, of Seymour, Wis. Mr. Tagge has farmed the same good piece of land for 20 years—and he's had full opportunity to compare belting values. He remarks particularly on the free-swinging action of his Goodyear Klingtite, however cold the day; its secure, friction-surface grip on the pulleys, regardless of the moisture content of the air; its freedom from slippage, even when the shredder clogs; and its steady record of fuel saved and full power delivered.

Items of real economy, reducing the high cost of operation, these standard qualities of Goodyear Klingtite Farm Belts are gone into in detail in the Goodyear Farm Encyclopedia. Students and teachers of agriculture are supplied with copies on request to the nearest Goodyear Mechanical Goods Service Station, or to the Mechanical Goods Department of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

AMERICA is fast becoming a pipe smoking country. Every year more and more men are realizing the comfort, the satisfaction, and the economy of the pipe. And by natural selection, more and more men are smoking W D C Pipes. This is not chance. It is because W D C Pipes offer the utmost in pipe value. Honest French briar, seasoned by our own special process make W D C Pipes break in sweet and mellow. Coupled with that is a self-governed body of pipe makers whose sole object is to fashion pipes which are without peers in all the world. And it has been accomplished. Ask any good dealer.

AGGIE MEN ARE IN ROAD WORK

K. S. A. C. GRADS GET GOOD POSITIONS

While Civil Engineering Department Is One of Youngest, It Has Made Good

Although the civil engineering department of the college is the youngest of the engineering departments, except agricultural engineering, there are close to 100 of its graduates at this time engaged in civil engineering work. Practically one-fourth of them are employed in the state on highway work.

In State Office

In the state engineer's office, K. S. A. C. is represented by W. Van Buck, assistant state engineer, and H. W. Tyrell. Connected with the road testing laboratory at the college are C. H. Scholer, A. D. Conrow, F. H. Freeto, C. C. Key, and L. C. Teeter.

Working under the state highway commission are three division engineers; one of these, C. I. Felps, is a K. S. A. C. man. Mr. Felps has the eastern district.

In most cases where federal aid work is in progress, a resident engineer is employed, who reports directly to the state highway commission. To date three men have been appointed to these residencies, as follows: A. A. Anderson, in Wyandotte county R. D. Coleman in Atchison county; and I. E. Taylor in Mitchell county.

In County Offices

In the county engineer offices are the following men: M. E. Alderman, Dudley Atkins, Jr., T. F. Bright, E. L. Hegeman, Robert Kerr Jr., W. J. King, Rufus Kirk, L. P. Price, and G. P. Wyland, who are all county engineers. G. L. Campbell and Vincent Mecke are assistant county engineers.

Leo Rexroad has consulting offices at Hutchinson. He specializes in highway work. H. Broberg and J. C. Jones are associated with him. A. E. Dyatt is a member of the Kansas Engineering company, which also specializes in highway work.

Professors on Road Work

Some of the civil engineers on the corps of instruction at the college have given material aid on road work in the state. In the summer of 1918, Prof. F. F. Frazier assisted on surveys and plans for a federal aid project in Labette county, and during the summer of 1919, Professor Wendt did similar work in Miami county. Mr. Furr worked the entire summer of 1919 with Leo Rexroad at Hutchinson.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Browning-Athenian Banquet

The Browning and Athenian literary societies held their annual banquet Saturday evening after the oratorical contest. Covers were laid for 92 members and eight guests. The guests included: President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Price, Prof. J. E. Kammeyer, Prof. J. G. Emerson, Miss Elizabeth Rothermel. Calvin Medlin was toastmaster for the evening. Toasts were given by President Jardine, Professor Kammeyer, Miss Helen Dawley, and Mr. Claude Hutto.

For Miss Chapin

The members of the Delta Delta Delta sorority entertained at tea from four until six Wednesday afternoon in honor of Miss Chapin of Lincoln, Nebr., deputy province officer of Delta Delta Delta. Ferns and other plants were used in the decorations. The guests included the house mothers of all of the sororities and fraternities, the patronesses of Tri Delta, two representatives from each sorority, and several members of the faculty.

Chi Omega Initiation

Chi Omega held formal initiation Friday evening for the following girls: Miss Irene Shoemaker of Severy, Miss Frances Johnston of Manhattan, Miss Ruth Robinson of Towanda, Miss Flo Brown of Salina, Miss Hazel Stewart of Sedgwick, and Miss Martrie Rone of Elk City.

Alpa Psi Initiation

Alpha Psi held formal initiation Staturday evening for the following men: Mr. Frank Hare, Mr. Grover Godwin, Mr. J. E. Williams, Mr. Fred Emerson, Mr. Andrew McKee, Mr. Fred Vickery, and Mr. Paul Carson.

New Sigma Nu Matron

Mrs. Norris of Wichita will be the new matron of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Before coming to Manhattan Mrs. Norris was chaperone at the girls' dormitory at Fairmount college.

Announce Pledging

Alpha Delta Pi announces the pledging of Miss Ivaloo Bickel, sophomore in home economics.

Alpha Delta Pi Banquet

The members of Alpha Delta Pi gave a four course banquet Thursday evening in honor of the freshman members of the sorority. Covers were laid for 38. The decorations were in blue and white, the sorority colors, and violets, the sorority flower, were used as a centerpiece. Toasts were given by the following persons: Miss Margaret Ansdale, Miss Mary Barcafer, Miss Frances Lovett, Miss Jamie Cameron, and Miss Lillian Stewart. Miss Clementine Paddleford acted as toastmistress. Special guests of the sorority were Miss Vina Brazelton of Theta chapter and Mrs. W. E. Grimes, '15.

After the banquet, formal initiation was held for the following girls: Miss Eleanor Brown, Miss Mary Barcafer, Miss Gladys Bushong, Miss Susie Scott, and Miss Margaret Ansdale.

Hold Initiation Services

Sigma Phi Delta held formal initiation services Saturday evening for W. L. Latshaw of the chemistry department, C. L. Ives, freshman in electrical engineering; M. D. Laine, sophomore in industrial journalism; and A. J. Thomas, sophomore in general science.

Hold Initiation

Beta Theta Pi fraternity held initiation services Sunday, February 29, for William W. Marshall of Dallas, Texas, freshman in agriculture.

For Miss Abernethy

Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Cave entertained at the Country club Friday evening in honor of Miss Patricia Abernethy of Chicago, a former instructor in the music department, who is visiting in Manhattan. There were 12 couples present. A three piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing.

U. P. Social

Miss Elizabeth Glenn was hostess Friday evening at her home, 721 Poyntz, to the young people of the United Presbyterian church. Music and games furnished entertainment for the evening. About 40 attended the party.

Announce Pledging

Alpha Theta Chi announces the pledging of Morton J. Stigers of Manhattan, junior in electrical engineering.

For Miss Alice Lloyd Jones

Miss Mary McDonald entertained Friday evening at her rooms at 1635 Fairchild in honor of Miss Alice Lloyd Jones, who leaves Monday for Chicago. The evening was spent at bridge, and sewing for Miss Lloyd Jones who is to be a spring bride. Corsage bouquets were given as favors to the guests who included: Miss Marian Harrison, Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Josephine Perry, Miss Dora Otto, Miss Edith Willman, Miss Grace Derby, Miss Mary Wooster, Miss Ruth Trail, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Lelia Dunton, Miss Lillie Cilley, Miss Mabel Loeffler, Miss Helen Hannen, Miss Grace Hesse, Miss Vera McCoy, Miss Jessie Wagner, Mrs. E. F. Fishback, and Mrs. Gulick.

Pledging Announced

The Kappa Sigma fraternity announce the pledging of Jack Richardson of Muskogee, Oklahoma.

COLLEGE MIXER THIS SATURDAY

EVERY PERSON IN K. S. A. C. IS INVITED

Second Affair of Year—Miss Inskeep to Have Charge of Part of Program

Nichols gymnasium will be the scene of the second big all-college mixer next Saturday night when the Y. M. and Y. W. will have the stage all set for a hilarious good time for all.

Starts at Eight

The mixer begins at 8 o'clock and the program committee wishes to emphasize the fact that this affair is to be for any one in college, regardless of classification, matrimonial status, or otherwise.

The program opens with a mixer, and a unique way of getting acquainted is promised. Afterward games will be played, Miss Edith Inskeep will be in charge of this part of the program.

Real Eats, Too

The next two numbers of the evening's program are not exactly plain by their name but enough is given to arouse curiosity. One of these numbers is the "Homespun Band" and the other "The Secret Stunt." Group singing led by Chester Guthrie will be the next feature of the evening and lastly come refreshments—real honest to goodness eats.

Tea for Patronesses

Miss Araminta Holman and the members of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, entertained at tea Saturday afternoon from three until five, in honor of the patronesses of the Better Homes institute, to be given here March 8 to 12. Refreshments of tea and wafers were served by the hostesses. The afternoon was spent in discussing ways and means of getting the Better Homes institute before the public. Patronesses for the institute have been chosen both from the town and from the college women. The college list includes the following: Mrs. C. F. Baker, chairman; Mrs. L. E. Melchers, Mrs. J. P. Calderwood, Mrs. E. L. Holton, Mrs. J. D. Hamilton, Mrs. B. L. Remick, Mrs. M. F. Ahearn, Mrs. C. O. Swanson, Mrs. C. W. McCampbell, and Mrs. J. W. Searson.

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

The engineers of K. S. A. C. are usually not of the effeminate type and of course we are not saying that Mueller is, but pray tell us why does he part his hair in the middle?

John Gulledge has a tendency to talk of his hidden gold mine, the amount of money he spends and his success as a heart smasher. "Oh! wad some power the giftie gie us, to see ourselves as others see us."

Paul Fetzer was caught not very long ago shooting craps and smoking with a group of short course students in one of the locker rooms. He tries to make us believe that he was only getting something out of his locker; but Profs are hard things to convince.

Wiley B. Wendt is urging Miss Bugbey to take the diamond ring course this next semester. Professor Wendt likes good cooking. Of course, he likes music, too. But then a man can't live on music.

It's hard to believe, but Roy Breece had a case when he was in high school.

Spring is here. Dean Potter will likely be agitating a spring hike for his delicate engineers. He himself will chaperon the stag party.

Talking about barometers indicating weather changes, we wonder why certain letters from Centralia change Hobart May's mind about quitting college.

There is more than one way of making Morton Stigers see the point in D. C. Machines—thumb tacks help.

The reason that C. L. Browning says he likes the Delta Zeta house is that the coefficient of friction on the floors is zero. We wonder.

John Pike was asking for a change in A. C. machines from Monday. It is likely that a certain Tri Delt is the cause of his dislike for Monday classes.

Morris, one of the electrical steadies, was caught at Marshall's the other evening, in a front seat, to boot. Morris is of the opinion that Shakespeare was a good writer but he says "Flo Flo—." Oh go on, Morris.

Professor Robert came to classes the other morning minus a vest, hat, and belt. Deucedly unhandy for the professor to keep one hand in his pocket all morning.

Shorty Joss attributes his success in engineering to the fact that he never has a date; but the notice in the Milady column of a few weeks ago seems to contradict this statement. Also Shorty spent the week end in Topeka.

Ted Hall says that the pull of gravity has nothing on the Alpha Delt house.

Robert Folck says there is nothing like a Sunday dinner, or rather two of them, at the Gillette hotel.

Lester Gfeller spent the week end in Junction City.

William Biby of Topeka, was a Wednesday dinner guest at the Pi Beta Phi house.

Please! Will the finder of draft book of Nebraska Seed company return it immediately to P. O. Box 306.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 5, 1920 — NO.47

FARMER FIVE MAKES FINAL BOW TONIGHT

ONLY ONE OF 1920 PLAYERS WILL NOT BE BACK FOR 1921

IS THIRD YEAR FOR HINDS

Cowell Brothers, Jennings, Bunger, Knostman, and Williams All Out for Varsity Again Next Year

The Aggie five will make its final bow for the 1920 season in the gymnasium tonight. The fight will be with the Tigers, probable winners of the Valley title this year.

Every man, except one, who played on the team this year, will be back next year to again push K. S. A. C. towards the Valley title.

Hinds Has Finished

Heinie Hinds has played his last year in basketball. He first played on the Varsity five in '18 when the Aggies won second in the conference race. Last year he was a forward on the Missouri Valley championship team and this year he was captain. Heinie has also played on the Varsity football for two years and is out for baseball.

Other Men Come Back

Jennings has played only two years on the Varsity five so he will be back for his center position again next year. Jinks is recognized as one of the best centers in the Valley and K. S. A. C. is proud of him.

The Cowell brothers, football, basketball, and baseball men, will be back again next year. W. Cowell has played on the Varsity basketball team only one year but E. Cowell has put in two seasons.

Bunger, the popular Aggie forward, will be back again next year. This is his second season at tossing the baskets and he stands fifth in the ranking of Valley forwards.

Knostman, who has played two years, and Williams, who has played one year, will both be back for the 1921 season.

A MEMBERSHIP CONTEST NEXT

QUILL CLUB ELECTS NEW MEMBERS APRIL 1

Manuscripts Must Be in on or Before That Date—Poetry, Prose and Drama Acceptable

The second Quill club membership contest will close April 1. All manuscripts must be in the hands of Prof. N. A. Crawford on or before that date.

Any sort of literary product may be submitted for the membership contest. Prose, poetry, and drama are all equally acceptable. The manuscript should be written on only one side of the paper, and should be typewritten. The name of the person submitting the manuscript should be enclosed in a sealed envelope with a number, the same number being signed to the manuscript.

At least one thousand words of written material should be submitted. Several short articles or one longer one, are equally acceptable. The maximum number of words which may be submitted is three thousand.

The Truth About Bolshevism

The National Extension association has recommended to all colleges and universities over the country the outline of President Jardine's speech on Bolshevism. President Jardine delivered this comprehensive speech January 13, in Topeka before the National Council of Administration.

Sophomore Election

The sophomores elected officers for the spring semester last Thursday. Fred Williams was elected president; Alice Mitchell, vice president; Elizabeth Brown, secretary; William Bucklee, treasurer; Mr. Storey, marshal; Guy James, assistant marshal; and Marguerite Bondurant, chairman of social committee.

Miss Hildred Aspergren, freshman in home economics, returned this week from her home at Republic, where she has been visiting her mother, who is ill.

Wm. L. Martin, junior in animal husbandry, returned Wednesday from a business trip to Chicago. He visited in Kansas City on his return trip.

Wm. K. Charles, senior in industial journalism, will spend the week end visiting friends in Lawrence.

Paul Thorpe, freshman in engineering, and Faval Foval, freshman in agriculture, will spend Friday and Saturday visiting in Winfield.

J. Scott Stewart, sophomore in animal husandry, left Thursday for Kansas City, where he will attend to business matters.

GIVE PRIZES IN GRAIN JUDGING

TRI-K TO CONDUCT CONTEST IN APRIL

Two Seed Companies Will Also Give Prizes to Winners in Grain Judging

Twenty dollars, to be offered as prize money in the grain judging contest next April, was voted by the directors of the Kansas Crop Improvement association in a meeting held at the Kansas State Agricultural college last week.

The contest will be conducted under the auspices of the Tri-K or agronomy society.

Prize money to be used at this same time will be contributed by Mangelsdorf's Seed company of Atchison and Barteldes Seed house at Lawrence. Other prizes will probably be offered by other seed houses in the state.

The contest will consist in judging corn, sorghum, and small grain. The grain is judged from the standpoint of seed and market value.

FRESHMAN MEN COME FORWARD

GOOD MATERIAL FOR THE 1921 BASKETBALL SEASON

Bradley, Wareham, Bryan, Goerke, and Many Others Showed Up Well

Letter men in basketball will be pushed hard for positions on the Varsity next year by this year's freshman men. Coaches Clevenger and Schulz have found some mighty good material on the freshman five.

Three Good Forwards

Bradley, Wareham, and Bryan are three excellent forwards. Bradley was on the Winfield champion high school team last year. Wareham played on the Manhattan five which took the central Kansas championship. Bryan played forward at the Colorado School of Mines.

Other Fine Men

Foval and Smith, guards, were also on the Winfield team last year. They showed up mighty well here. Kuykendall is strong at center and will show Jennings a good race for the job next year. Goerke, who played on the Cooper College team last year, is good at both center and forward positions.

Maurer is a promising center or forward. There are a few other freshman players who will probably be out for Varsity positions next fall. The Aggie 1921 season already has a bright outlook.

HAMILTONS ARE STILL IN LEAD

ALPHA BETAS NOW TIE WITH TWO FOR SECOND

Oratorical Contest Last Saturday Night Made Changes in Standing of Societies

By winning first in the oratorical contest last Saturday night, the Alpha Betas now stand even with the Athenians and Ionians. Each of these societies has won four out of the twenty annual contests. The Hamiltons still remain in the lead with five firsts to their credit.

J. O. Brown won for the Alpha Betas Saturday night; M. A. Graham won second for the Athenians and Floyd Hawkins third for the Hamiltons. The score card shows the grades of all the orators in the contest.

The judges of the contest were as follows: On delivery—Prof. MacMurray of Kansas university, Professor Fogg of Nebraska university, Professor Wiggins of Washburn, Doctor Tisdel of Missouri university; on thought and composition—Prof. Muchmore of Cornell, Professor O'Neil of Wisconsin university, and Professor Merry of Iowa university.

Prof. V. L. Strickland of the home study service department, returned home this week from Cleveland, O., where he attended the National Department of Superintendents.

Miss Garnet Grover, Miss Gertrude Ramsey, Miss Ila Knight, and Miss Renna Rosenthal were Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

Miss Trixe Knight, who teaches in the high school at Greenleaf, left Sunday evening for her work, after having spent the week end here with her sister, Miss Ila Knight, at the Delta Zeta house.

Annual Rough Neck Day To Be Held on Ides of March ---A New Program This Year

Organized rough neck day is the newest venture of K. S. A. C. This year the Ides of March will be celebrated as usual with fun and costumes; but the entire day will be arranged beforehand by a committee.

A student committee formulated the plan of an organized rough neck day and President Jardine heartily approved with them on the subject.

The plans for the day are now only outlined in a general way. The costumes are each supposed to represent some special thing. They are not to be merely a ridiculous conglomeration of odd pieces and tacky wearing apparel.

Classes will be carried from 8 till 11 and from 11 to 12 there will be a special rough neck day chapel program. Classes will again take up at one and continue until 3. Then a series of stunts are to take place, one of which will be a tug of war between the A.H. men and the engineers.

After the stunts the students will give their usual grand costume parade in town. The only difference in the parade of this year will be that it is to be arranged and organized before hand.

For the evening carnival costume dances are to be given in the recreational hall, D. S. hall, and the Nichols gym. The college orchestras have consented to furnish free music for the dancing. On this evening, no other organization can have any social function on the campus.

The detailed arrangements for the new rough neck day will be planned by a student committee, composed of one representative from each of the college organizations.

MISSOURI-AGGIE GAME

The score of the Missouri-Aggie basketball game for March 4 was Missouri 29, Aggies 21.

WANT MORE TO TRY ON BOXING

TO HAVE PRACTICE HOURS FROM FOUR TO SIX

All Men Who Wish to Take Boxing Are Requested to Leave Names at Commandant's Office

If enough men will turn out for boxing to justify the extra time, Captain Davidson will coach the men from five to six in the afternoons.

At present the time for boxing is from four to five. The addition of an extra hour will enable all men who have eighth hour classes to get the necessary training. Boxing requires preparatory work and it is essential that the men take the training regularly and consistently if boxing in the college is to be a success.

All men who can take this training and desire to try out for the squad are requested to leave, at the commandant's office, their names and a list of the hours that they can spend in the training either from four to five or from five to six.

CHOOSE PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY SOCIETIES

"BELIEVE ME XANTIPPE" TO BE PRESENTED

CAST IS ALREADY CHOSEN

Play Is Equal in Quality to Those Given by Purple Masque People, Professor Emerson Says

"Believe Me Xantippe" has been chosen as the play to be given March 29 under the auspices of the literary societies of the college. The play is to be given under the direction of Mrs. L. M. Bowman.

Is Old Custom

One of the older customs of K. S. A. C. decreed that each year a stunt, or performance of some kind should be given by the literary societies, but during the war this custom was abandoned. This year the custom is to be revived, but instead of giving a stunt or vaudeville performance, the literary societies are to present a play.

"Believe Me Xantippe" was written by John Frederick Ballard, a Nebraska man, and one of the most successful of the younger playrights.

Cast Is Picked

"We have chosen a play equal in quality to the productions given by the Purple Masque," said Prof. J. G. Emerson, in speaking of 'Believe Me Xantippe.' "The cast has been carefully chosen, and has been picked with an eye to securing talent, rather than an equal representation from all of the societies."

F. L. Snow, formerly of the department of journalism of this college, reports a department of 90 students in the Oregon Agricultural college where he is now instructing.

AGGIE GIRL TO MANAGE COMMUNITY KITCHEN NOW

Third Girl Graduate to Go to Baltimore

Miss Elsie Cuthbert has been chosen to go to Baltimore to manage a new community kitchen which was recently built in a residential part of the city. Miss Cuthbert is a third graduate from K. S. A. C. who has gone to Baltimore to manage a tea room. Those who are there now are Miss Alice Dawson and Miss Frances Perry.

Miss Luna Daniels of Wichita has withdrawn from college.

F. E. Charles, freshman last semester in agriculture, will visit friends in Manhattan, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Nita Ellsworth of Formosa, will spend the week end with her brother, Vernon Ellsworth, freshman in engineering.

Miss Betty Heath, sophomore in home economics, will visit Friday and Saturday with friends in Lawrence.

Miss Vida Zabel of Onaga, was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Sunday. Miss Zabel motored to Manhattan Sunday morning with a party of friends, and was the guest of Miss Evelyn Colwell.

Miss Margaret Reich was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Wednesday evening.

AGGIES HAVE A WORLD'S WINNER

WON HONORS IN PARIS GAMES AND IN THE A. E. F.

Started As An Aggie Football Star in 1915 and Is Now a World Figure in Athletics

The Aggies have in their midst one of the world's foremost athletes. Marshal P. Wilder has gained this distinction. Wilder first came into the limelight as an Aggie football star in 1915. He was also a point winner on three of the Aggie track teams, setting a record in the 440, which was broken by Watson last year. He won three football letters and three track letters, and was captain of the track team.

Was Overseas

Wilder went overeas with the eighty-ninth and gained the rank of captain in the 353rd infantry. He gained the distinction of being the best patrol leader in the division and won the Croix de Guerre and D. S. C. He was also cited twice for bravery.

Won Pentathlon

Wilder was a member of the eigthy-ninth football team which carried away A. E. F. football honors. He also won the Pentathlon at the Paris games. To win the Pentathlon, the contestant had to excel in five different events. It was this victory that cinched his claim to premier honors in track. The best athletes in the allied armies competed against Wilder but he outdistanced them all by several points. His record in this event was as follows: 200 meter, 24 4-5 seconds; running broad jump, 20 ft. 1 in.; 16 pound shot put, 36 ft. 4-1-4 in.; discuss, 110 ft., 3 1-2 in.; 1,500 meter run, 4 min. 34 1-5 seconds. Total points, 5,201. Wilder is working out in Nichols gymnasium and intends to go to the Olympic games.

Wilder's accomplishments are not confined to track or football alone. He is an assistant instructor in English. He is a member of Quill club, an honorary organization of writers. He is also a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Mrs. E. O. Adee of Waubleau, Mo., has come to make her home with her daughter and son who are in college.

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday were Miss Trixe Knight, of Jamestown, and Mr. C. A. Powers, of Kansas university.

Colonel Mark Wheeler, '97, was a visitor at the college last week.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDED THE APOLLO CLUB CONCERT

Gave Recital Here before Going on State Tour

Although the program given was similar to that of the Vodvil entertainment of several weeks previous, a good sized crowd attended the program given by the Apollo club on Monday evening, March 1, before its departure to sing before Kansas audiences at various points.

The club was directed by Mr. Arnold L. Lovejoy of the department of music, and was assisted by Miss Helen Hannen, violinist, and Miss Bess Curry, soprano.

The program was given at the request of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce. The boys of the club endeavored to give the program as they would if it were before a strange crowd, and in keeping with this, H. A. O'Brien gave the little speech he has prepared to give at the close of each program, thanking the audience for attendance and appreciation.

Three Aggie men will be sent to the Illinois indoor relay carnival on Saturday, March 6, the athletic board decided in a meeting Wednesday night.

First Aggie Trial

Frost, pole vaulter, Gallagher, and Evans will represent K. S. A. C. at the meet. This is the first time that the Aggies have ever been represented at the Illinois relay carnival.

Frost will do the pole vault while Gallagher will be entered in the 75 yard low hurdles. Evans is to enter the 75 yard dash.

Is Biggest Meet

This is the biggest indoor meet in the west. The events are run on a cinder track which makes it possible to get outdoor conditions. A gold watch is given for first place, a silver medal or second place, and a bronze medal for third. "Germany" Schultz will accompany the men.

Gallagher has equaled the world's record in the 50 yard low hurdles. Frost has pole vaulted 12 feet. Evans has made the 50 yard dash in 5.2 and the 100 yard dash in 10 flat.

STORY CONTEST OVER APRIL 15.

QUILL CLUB GIVES GOLD MEDAL TO WRITER

Any Student in College Is Eligible to Enter the Short Story Writing Contest

The fifth annual short story contest will close on April 15. The contest is given each year under the supervision of Quill club, national honorary organization of writers.

The short stories submitted for the contest, should be at least 2,000 words long. The manuscripts must be in the hands of the committee by April 15.

A gold medal is given to the person winning first prize in the contest. Any student is eligible. If the winner is not already a member of Quill, he is admitted to the organization on his winning story.

The short story contest is independent of the membership contest which is held by Quill club every spring.

STUDENTS GIVE TO RELIEF FUND

OVER $393 RAISED FOR ARMENIAN RELIEF

Fund Was Collected in Manhattan Under the Direction of the Rotary Club

The Armenian relief fund collected on the campus amounted to $397.37. The individual contributions ranged from 25 cents to $10. Little effort was made to secure contributions from students because it was believed that sufficient money would be collected if those who have a regular income were solicited.

This fund was collected in Manhattan by the Rotary club at the request of the National American committee. The Rotarians had expected to raise a fund of about $2,000. The contributions reported at the end of the first day exceeded this amount by 50 per cent.

Miss Marie Smythe, principal of the Phillips school in Salina, spent the week end with college friends.

Miss Lola Thompson, county club leader of Rice county, is helping with the rush of work in the State club leader's office.

BETTER ENGLISH IN K. S. A. C.

Schools and colleges all over the country are taking up the Better Speech movement. Why can't we? Must Aggie students leave college using poor, incorrect grammar?

It is up to every one of us individually, to keep up the standards of the English language and make it impossible for any outsiders to say that Aggie students encourage poor grammar and invent new slang.

You know you should not say "I seen" for "I saw" and everyone else knows that you know it. Make it a personal job to use correct language. If you are not sure of yourself, ask any professor on the campus the correct use of the word you are wondering about. He'll help you out.

Then as to slang—for every slang word in your vocabulary you can find a good substantial word that will express your thought just as well or better, and it will be twice as forceful.

There will be a Better Speech column in the Collegian every week, containing incorrect language heard over the campus. Read it and see if any of these expressions are yours and if they are—DROP THEM.

GET AIRPLANES NEXT

Six years ago when the writer entered the Kansas State Agricultural college as a freshman, autos were not requently seen on the hill. Yesterday we counted 23 parked in front of Kedzie hall. Besides these, there were other cars in various places over the campus. We would guess that there were about 50 cars parked on the hill, belonging to either students or instructors.

In 1914 we know of only one student who possessed a car all his own, and that was a cut down creation, which was more or less of a plaything. Compared to the number of students who now have cars here for their own use and recreation, the result is both gratifying and disappointing. Gratifying to see that Kansas has the wealth necessary to provide her sons and daughters with this means of recreation and entertainment. But disappointing in that these evidences of wealth and prosperity tend to do away with the democratic spirit, for which the Kansas State Agricultural college has always been noted.

It is interesting to prophesy just what will happen in the next 10 years, if we progress as rapidly as we have in the past decade. If we continue the present rate of progress the time will come when a landing field for airplanes will displace the parking space in front of Kedzie for those students who can afford individual means of transportation, other than those furnished by nature.—W. K. C.

REMEMBER YOUR MANNERS

No one is denying the fact that it is pleasant to sit in a nicely upholstered chair, like the ones in the new rest room in Anderson hall, nor that it is nice to have a footstool. But it should not be forgotten that the dainty little stoolchafrs were not intended for footstoolical purposes.

In all the history of the college there has never been a year when so much has been done for the student body, to make it comfortable while they are on the hill, and to provide for their entertainment during spare hours. It can't be said that the students have been unappreciative of the many courtesies and conveniences that have been provided for them, but now and then a little carelessness has been evidenced.

Every student should assume a personal responsibility for the proper caretaking of the new social center. The users of the furniture should be as careful as if the user were in his mother's home.

Personal conduct in the rest room should be what it would be in any student's home when there were other ladies and gentlemen present as guests. No student would think of lounging in a careless, lazy fashion if he were in his own home and there were guests present. Therefore it is not unreasonable for anyone to assume that the simple rules of etiquette in this regard are out of order in the case of the Anderson hall social center.

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

A certain Sigma Nu is wearing his eye brows painted—that is when he has a date. Is paint the latest thing, or doesn't he know any better?

Miss Julie Johnson is wearing her fifth new coat this month.

Divelbliss can give any young man the latest poniters on rubber collars.

Another freshman is rushing high school girls, that is when he isn't busy with Ernestine.

How did it happen that Frank Hoath had a date at the Tri Delta house one Friday evening.

Lloyd Zimmerman has been carrying a Delta Zeta pin in his left vest pocket for about a week, over his heart, of course—Oh, you Baker sisters!

Laura Eagleston enjoyed the chapel hour. He is such a charming boy.

Pretty Sleepy Sleeper isn't as drowsy as some folks think, she always has time to go to the Dale.

The ghost of John Barleycorn called upon numerous ones of his old time college friends last week end. Who said they didn't believe in ghosts?

Some fraternity men should buy sister pins instead of the regular man size.

Who is the Sig Ep who bought student loan fund tags for a quarter and sold them for fifty cents? Bright boy, he will evidently be a financial success some day, if the cops don't get him too soon.

Merton Swanson has a new pink necktie to match his hair and eyebrows.

Elizabeth Dickens and Ralph Foster attend all the good shows like "Come on Mary." They believe in getting a well rounded education.

Mable Bentley wishes to announce her engagement to a traveling man. The marriage will take place as soon as Miss Bentley finishes her college work this spring. We can't remember the man's name.

Ted Hall has had another date in the Zellar Garage. It wasn't with an Alpha Delt either.

Ross Hill believes in variety, but not when it comes to the girls.

Red Flag Can Mean Danger, Bolshevism, or Cause a Feature

Students in the journalism department were discussing Wednesday morning, the red flag which made its appearance at the lower south entrance of Anderson Hall, immediately after chapel.

"Must be there to warn students to keep away from Walter Burr," said one.

"No," said another, "They are putting in new cement steps and that is there to warn hurrying students to 'go slow and easy.'

Said another, "The place must be under quarantine, and the flag put there until they get a red card."

"Good chance for a feature story," decided one particularly bright co-ed, so she hurried down the steps and cautiously entered the office of V.L.Strickland, director of home correspondence study.

"Would you mind telling me the meaning of the red flag outside the door," she inquired breathlessly.

"Certainly, we always put it there when we have packages for the mail man to take down town." The afore-mentioned "bright co-ed" hasn't yet recovered from the shock.

Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the English department, returned to his classes Monday after a week's absence attending the National Department of Superintendents held in Cleveland last week.

Miss Bess Burkdoll spent the week end at her home in Ottawa.

Prof. E. L. Holton, dean of education, has just finished writing a new supplement to state geographies.

NO MYSTERY IN EYEGLASSES

The eyes have a lens system with which they focus objects far and near.

In defective eyes this focal power is more or less limited.

Our system of fitting lenses to focus objects near and far and thus relieve defective eyes, is an exact science.

Our facilities plus our experience enable us to make and adjust those glasses which will help your eyes most.

BOLSHEVISM MUST BE DEFEATED NOW

KANSAS CITY MINISTER ADDRESSES STUDENTS

DEAL WITH OWN CITIZENSHIP

Father J. W. Keys Says if Battle against Bolshevism Is Lost Now, It Is Lost Forever

If we lose the battle against Bolshevism now we will have lost it forever, is the way Father J. W. Keys of St. James Church, Kansas City, stated the problem of radicalism in this country when he spoke to student assembly Wednesday morning.

Many Problems

"We are dealing today with our own citizenship," said Father Keys, "and we need educated and forceful leaders to meet the coming storm. Not since the days of the Civil war have we lived in a time so filled with problems.

"American traditions are religious traditions. We believe in one God and one country. We expect our ministers to be real Americans and preach Americanism.

"The church's first aid in reconstruction is to show the world that we must treat the other fellow like a human being. The first contribution of the church is to teach God's commandments. When men learn God's laws and parents teach their children to fear God then the world will be happy and peaceful again."

HONORARY AG. GROUP HOLDS INITIATION

Prof. M. F. Ahearn Toastmaster at Smoker Given for New Fraternity Members

Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, held initiation at the hall Monday evening, March 1, for eleven men. After the initiation a smoker was held at Elks hall.

The new members are: Morris Evans, Manhattan; Guilford Ikenberry, Quinter; K.D.Thompson, Densmore; George Gemmell, Manhattan; L. H. Reybourn, Leavenworth; J.Pharr Brown, Toronto; George Drumm, Manhattan; Paul Mangelsdorf, Atchison; Robert Lush, Altamont; Karl Quisenberry, Newton; S.J.Gilbert, Arkansas City.

Prof. M. F. Ahearn acted as toastmaster. Short talks were given by Prof. John Parker, Prof. J.B.Fitch, Dean F.D.Farrell, and Pres. W.M. Jardine.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

S. A. E. Pledging

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity announces the pledging of Mr. Charles Bennett of Wichita, freshman in general science.

That Methodist Social

One of the largest socials of the college year was given at the recreation hall on the evening of February 27, when Professor R. R. Price's class of college girls entertained the other college classes of the Methodist Sunday school. The chief object of the evening was for the Methodist students and teachers to get better acquainted. The total number present on this occasion was nearly 400, each of whom pronounced the evening a marked success. Professor Price has the largest Bible class in the history of K. S. A. C. The average attendance in this class for the first month of the new year was over 170 girls each Sunday, and the total enrolment has now reached nearly 300.

Chinese Club Party

The Chinese students' club of K. S. A. C. will give a party in the domestic science hall at 7:30 Friday evening, March 5. Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile will act as hostess at the party. A large number of college and town people are invited. A typical oriental program will be presented.

County Club Hike

The Tri-K club entertained last week with a hike for the short course boys who were leaving. They hiked to Hackberry Glen where they spent the evening around a bonfire toasting apples and weinies. About eighteen attended, most of them Clarke and Comanche county students.

Ferguson—Bell

Miss Grace Ferguson and Mr. Sherman Bell were married Sunday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Harry Paine of Manhattan. The Rev. D. H. Fisher of the Presbyterian church officiated. During the ceremony Mr. Donald Thayer and Mr. Y. E. Tseu played "A Hawaiian Dream." A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations of roses, as well as in the refreshments. Mrs. Bell has attended college at K. S. A. C., and Mr. Bell graduated at Christmas. Mr. Bell is a member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. After spending their honeymoon in the east, Mr. and Mrs. Bell will make their home at Perry.

Birthday Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Brewer gave a dinner party Saturday evening at their home, 805 Poyntz, in honor of their son, Arthur, the occasion being his 24th birthday. Covers were laid for 15 guests, among whom were included two engineers, members of Company A of Fort Riley, who were stationed with Mr. Brewer for two years in France.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady: Is it proper to tuck one's napkin in at his neck? I eat supper with three other fellows every night and last night we had an argument about it. One said it was not proper; one said it depended upon where you were eating; the other did not have any ideas on the matter; and I said that tucking the napkin in at the neck was perfect etiquette. We could not come to any conclusion so I was appointed to write to you and get your opinion of the matter. Please answer right away as I want to correct them at dinner tonight. —D. B.

Dear D. B.: You should never tuck your napkin in at the neck especially if you are wearing a good looking silk shirt. You should always show the shirt even if there is danger of dorpping a morsel of macaroni on it. There are times when one feels like covering his face with the napkin but really the napkin is supposed to be kept on the lap. Be sure and tell your three friends so that they may be more at ease.—Mi Lady.

Dear Mi Lady: I am a freshman in college and rather good looking only I am absolutely stalled when it comes to eating. I can eat enough all right but it's the way I eat it. Should I cut all of my meat when I first sit down at the table or should I cut it as I eat it? How big should I cut the pieces and of what shape should they be? Please let me know right away as I would like to have an answer before the next meal so that I might be sure of my etiquette from now on.—Fatty.

Dear Fatty: I am sincerely happy that you have a good appetite but you must be careful how you eat the food or it might not digest properly. Really it is much better if you cut your meat as you eat it because sometimes it makes one fatigued to cut it all at once. (This of course depends upon the meat.) I have looked through all of my books and can find nothing about a uniform shape of the bites. As to the size of the pieces—I don't believe any certain dimensions have been decided upon, however, don't cut them so large that you must stretch your mouth to get them in.—Mi Lady.

Arthur Boyer, '18, now with the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville, was in Manhattan for the oratorical contest and attended the Hamp-Io spread.

John Andrews was a dinner guest at the Pi Phi house Sunday.

Clara Kimball Young, formerly seen in a number of hurriedly made motion pictures each year, has changed her production schedule and adopted David Belasco's idea of fewer and better pictures. Beginning with "Eyes of Youth," which comes to the Marshall for three days starting next Monday, March 8th, Miss Young will make but four pictures a year.

LOTS OF DATES FOR A DOLLAR

COLLEGE MEN GOING AS WELL AS THE GIRLS

Many Professors Are Buying Season's Tickets in Order to Find Out How to Reduce the H. C. L.

Eight dates for a dollar, and "sneak dates" at that. This is what the Better Homes institute, which is to be given at the college auditorium March 8 to 12, is offering. But in this case the "sneak dates" are quite respectable and are even urged by the college authorities.

The professors, being mostly married or hoping to be so soon, are all purchasing their season tickets in mad haste, desperately attempting to find out how to have attractive homes in spite of the high cost of living.

The general science girls are all going in order to learn in one week enough about home making to make the home economics girls sit up and take notice.

The agriculture men are all going in order to learn how to make their gardens artistic as well as productive.

The engineering and vet men are going because—but oh shoot! What's the use—everybody's going.

First Concert Given by College Band Was Big Success—New Selections Prepared

The second of the series of band concerts to be given by the college band will be held at the college auditorium March 13.

The band, at their first concert which was given January 7, scored an unusual success. It is confidently expected that this success will be more than duplicated at the second concert.

The band members have been practicing diligently and have a number of new selections which will be featured in the March 13 concert. The band is directed by Prof. Harold Wheeler.

MEETING WAS HELD TUESDAY BY BIG AND LITTLE SISTERS

Three Advisors Present and Give Talks to Girls

"Who's your big sister?"

This question was asked and answered many times Tuesday afternoon when a big and little sister meeting was held in the D. S. room.

Miss Irene Miller, chairman of the big sister committee called the meeting to order and an interesting program was given. Miss Irene Dean, Y. W. C. A. secretary had charge of the devotionals.

There are fourteen big sister captains and each captain has an advisor chosen from the faculty or some lady of Manhattan.

Instead of individual meetings, this meeting was held by all of the big sister groups. One hundred and fifty girls had tea together after the meeting.

NEW LIST OF APPOINTMENTS HAS BEEN ISSUED THIS WEEK

This Revokes all Existing Appointments on March 1

A new list of appointments of non-commissioned officers has just been issued from the commandants office which revokes all existing appointments on March 1, 1920. The appointments are as follows:

To be first sergeants: P. C. Smith, F. L. Longwell, V. R. Blackledge, R. Cummings, E. J. Jelden, and L. E. Huffman; to be sergeants: M. R. Getty, H. L. Brown, T. G. Storey, D. A. Goerke, F. J. Hennes, R. D. Hahn, E. F. Bailey, R. G. Byers, H. Karns, D. Allen, E. M. Kelley, C. H. Reazin, J. C. Maurer, and C. H. Howe. A new group of corporals was also appointed.

STILL ANOTHER HUNT TO BE STAGED WEEK FROM SATURDAY

Aggie Girls Are Planning to Take Part in This Hunt

If present plans are successful the Aggie hunters will have another opportunity to go on a wolf hunt a week from Saturday.

Dan Casement, who owns a tract of land in the southwest corner of Pottawotamie county, was inspired, by the success of the Zeandale hunt, to try and organize a hunt for his section of the country. Captain Terrill and Mr. Casement are working out the plans together.

A committee of Aggie girls has already called on Captain Terrill to make arrangements to go on the drive.

O. W. Holt of Manhattan, intends to get a movie of the hunt which will appear in Pathe News.

PROFESSOR CALL WILL TELL HOW FRENCH FARMERS FARM

Talk to be Given Monday Evening in Fairchild Hall

How French farmers farm, will be told by L. E. Call, professor of agronomy, in room 53, Fairchild hall, at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. The address, which is under the auspices of the Science club, will be open to the public.

TIGERS LOSE TO FARMERS IN LAST GAME

VALLEY CHAMPIONS BOW TO AGGIE ATTACK

FINAL SCORE WAS 29 TO 26

Missourians Win First Game from Aggies by a 29 to 21 Score—Tigers Won 16 Games and Lost Only One

The Kansas Aggies kept the Tigers from being undefeated champions of the Missouri valley. The Missourians won sixteen consecutive games, only to be beaten by the Farmers in the Tiger's final game, which was played on the home court last Friday evening. The Tigers won Thursday's game, 29 to 21.

Was Hard Game

The final score on Friday's victory was 29 to 23. It was the hardest fought game of the season. The Tigers started off the scoring and developed a ten point lead. But the Aggies, urged on by a long goal by Jennings and a free throw by Bunger, came back and the half ended with the visitors having only a two point lead, the score standing 14 to 12.

At the beginning of the second half, Captain Hinds, playing his last year for the Aggies, made two long goals. The Aggie rooters came to their feet and from then on a continuous uproar urged the basketeers on. The game ended with a score 29 to 23.

Farmers Played Well

Thursday's game was well played, the Farmers outclassing the Missourians in floor play but the Tigers showing their superiority in goal throwing. The game ended with a 29 to 21 score in favor of the Tigers.

NEW CINDER PATH FOR THE AGRICULTURAL MEN

Runs from Waters Hall to Path Intersection

In order to save many steps for the students going to the new agricultural building, a cinder walk has been laid diagonally across the alfalfa field in front of this building and extends from the south steps of Waters hall to the intersection of the roads at the northeast corner of the dairy building.

Formerly there was a narrow path which served the same purpose; but in the spring when the alfalfa was tall and especially when it was laden with dew, this path was of very little value.

Pioneer Aggie Dead

Reuben E. Lofinck died last week as a result of injuries received several weeks ago when he was struck by an engine on the tracks near the Union Pacific station. The funeral was held Friday, March 5, at the Lofinck home in Manhattan.

Reuben Lofinck, who was 67 years old, was one of Manhattan's pioneer merchants, having been in the jewelry business since 1879. The Lofinck family came to Manhattan in 1865 and Mr. Lofinck was graduated from the college in 1876.

Mrs. G. M. Munsell, '17, formerly Miss Elsie Marshall, is now residing at 1541 First street, Baker, Ore. She writes that she would be very glad to meet any K. S. A. C. graduates who may happen to pass that way.

FROST HAS SET A NEW RECORD

TIES FOR FIRST PLACE AT ILLINOIS RELAY CARNIVAL

Vaultes 12 Feet 2 1-2 Inches—This Was a Record for the Carnival —Also New for K. S. A. C.

Jack Frost, Aggie pole vaulter, has set a new record. Frost and Slaughter of Michigan tied for first place at the Illinois relay carnival. The height was 12 feet 2½ inches which is a record for the carnival and is also a new K. S. A. C. record.

Gold watches went to the winners but in a case of tie the winners tossed a coin. Jack Frost lost the toss.

Jack Evans was entered in the 75 yard dash. Johnson of Michigan won in this event. Jack was handicapped a yard for breaking and consequently didn't place. Cliff Gallagher was entered in the 75 yard low hurdles but was also handicapped a yard for breaking which caused him to miss his stride in the hurdles.

Jack Frost has been breaking records about every time he has vaulted recently. This will be his last year on an Aggie track team, but his records will undoubtedly stand for some time. Jack is expected to break more records when he gets out doors.

HAVE TRY OUTS FOR NEW PLAY

PURPLE MASQUE TO GIVE "DADDIES" THIS SEMESTER

Any College Sudent Is Eligible to Try for the Play—Held in Library, F2

Tryouts for "Daddies," the festival week play to be presented by the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity, will be held at 7 o'clock Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in F 2.

Any college student may try out for this play. All students expecting to attend the tryouts should send in their names to Professor Emerson before Tuesday evening.

"Daddies," which is a play now enjoying an unusually successful run in many of the larger cities, will be given for the first time by non-professional performers.

Entertain Institute Leaders

Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Ahearn gave an informal dinner party at the Pines Monday evening in honor of Mr. Hunt Cook and Prof. H. D. Hemenway, who are conducting the Better Homes institute here. Sweet peas were used in the decorations. The guest list included: President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Dean and Mrs. F. D. Farrell, Prof. and Mrs. C. F. Baker, Prof. and Mrs. Albert Dickens, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Eakin, Dr. and Mrs. M. J. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lantz, Miss Araminta Holman, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Mr. Hunt Cook, and Prof. H. D. Hemenway.

Miss Carolyn Lear and Miss Lois Litchfield spent the week end in Kansas City.

Miss Renna Rosenthal spent the week end at her home in Topeka. While in Topeka she attended the Kappa Sigma formal.

Mrs. Edith Wilson Thoesen, '19, of Denver, is a guest at the Delta Zeta house this week.

Miss Louise Meecke spent the week end in Wichita.

Miss Helen Neiman spent the week end at her home in Whitewater.

Would You Like To Pay 25 Cents a Loaf for Bread?

The value of plant food in wheat straw if bought as commercial fertilizer would raise the price of a loaf of bread to 25 cents. Consider if the farmer were to buy this plant food as commercial fertilizer and add to the soil, that it would cost $1.50 more to produce every bushel of wheat. The farmer would receive $4 for that bushel of wheat. That loaf of bread would cost 25 cents instead of 15 cents. It is of interest to everybody that the farmer conserve his wheat straw and return it to the land.

Do you know that the value of plant food in wheat straw in Kansas last year totaled more than $38,000,000? It is estimated that more than $30,000,000 of this plant food is lost through misuse, or by burning of the straw.

F. M. Wadley, graduate student and assistant in the entomology department last semester, leaves soon to take up government work. Mr. Wadley has been carrying on investigations with the wheat aphid. Doctor Smith of the entomology department is to take up Mr. Wadley's work.

CAST IS READY TO START WORK

WILL BE GIVEN THE NIGHT OF MARCH 29

Mrs. L. Bowman Will Coach the Play —Cast Is Composed of Seven Men and Three Women

Practice on the intersociety play, "Believe Me Xantippe," has begun in earnest and an entertainment equal to any given by K. S. A. C. talent is promised on the night of March 29.

"Believe Me Xantippe" is not vaudeville. It is a high class standard play that has been featured in both New York and Boston. Heretofore it has been the custom of the literary societies to give an entertainment each year in the nature of comic stunts; but this year they are giving something different.

The cast is composed of seven men and three women. Members of the cast were chosen in competitive tryouts and have been picked with an eye to securing talent, rather than an equal representation from each society.

Mrs. L. M. Bowman, an able dramatist, has been secured to coach the intersociety play. Students of K. S. A. C. know Mrs. Bowman's ability as a reader and entertainer as she has appeared before several appreciative audiences here in the past.

MANY CLASSES DISMISSED BECAUSE OF OIL SHORTAGE

Oil Arrived Monday Morning and Boilers Are Again Supplied

Because of the shortage of oil for the big boilers many of the Monday morning classes were dismissed because of insufficient heat. There was some oil in the big storage tank but not enough to force it to the boilers. A car of oil arrived Monday morning so that the oil burners were able to be started again in the afternoon.

Some of the oil burners were removed Sunday so that coal might be burned in the boilers and thus make the classrooms as warm as possible.

FIXING PLANS FOR FARMER 1920 GRADS

CHOOSE SPEAKERS FOR COMMENCEMENT NIGHT

DR. M. L. BURTON TO TALK

Also, Choose Speaker for Baccalaureate Sermon—Commencement Is Set for Thursday May 27

Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, president of the university of Minnesota, and president elect of the University of Michigan, will be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the Kansas State Agricultural college, Thursday, May 27. Doctor Burton has not yet announced his subject.

Leading Educator

Doctor Burton is one of the leading educators of the United States. He is a graduate of Carleton college, and holds the degrees of Bachelor of Divinity, and Doctor of Philosophy from Yale University, in addition to honorary doctorates conferred by five colleges. He was formerly a professor in Yale, but at the age of only 35 years he was elected president of the University of Minnesota, and in July will become head of the University of Michigan. He is a member of many learned societies and author of a number of books on philosophical subjects.

Give Baccalaureate Sermon

The preacher of the baccalaureate sermon, May 23, has also been chosen in the person of The Reverend Elmer I. Goshen of Salt Lake City, one of the most prominent clergymen of the Congregational church. Doctor Goshen is a graduate of Northwestern university, where he also studied law for two years. He holds a divinity degree from the Chicago Theological seminary.

Is a Rotarian

Though born and educated in Illinois, he has spent much of his active life in the far west, and for a number of years has been pastor of the First Congregational church of Salt Lake City. He is prominent in sociological work, having instituted methods for curing alcoholism and drug habits. He is a Rotarian and is a leader in other organizations also. He is widely known as a lecturer.

JESSIE EVANS THE DELEGATE

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC GROUP SENDS REPRESENTATIVE

National Athletic Conference Will Be Held in Columbia from March 19 to 20

At the monthly W. A. A. meeting last Thursday, Jessie Evans was elected official delegate to the girl's national athletic conference to be held in Columbia, Mo., March 19-20.

Clara Evans and Mary Hitch will also represent W. A. A. at the conference. This is the third annual one of its kind, the first one having been held at Chicago, the second at Milwaukee. The girls will have a chance to meet other girls from all over the United States who are making athletics mean something.

John H. Meek left Friday for his home near Idana, aftr spending a few days here on business. Mr. Meek finished the school of agriculture course last semester, and is now farming with his father, near Idana.

P. H. Root was called to his home near Alma last week on account of the sickness of his father.

Clark Wallace, of Washington, spent last week end at his home.

The school of agriculture class in gas tractors opened March 1 with an enrolment of more than 25. A majority are federal vocational men.

A. D. Conrow, C. A. Downing, and F. Teeter of the road materials testing laboratory left the first of the week to take up the testing of road materials in the brick and cement plants of Kansas.

FIRST NUMBER IS A SUCCESS

LARGE NUMBER OF BOYS ATTENDED THE LECTURE

For Those Who Do Not Have Season Tickets Single Admissions May be Purchased for 35 Cents

The first number of the Better Homes institute was given at the auditorium last night and was an unqualified success. Even those who have been in close touch with the progress of the institute campaign expressed themselves as being most agreeably surprised at the attendance.

A feature of the program which was a surprise to many was the number of young men in attendance. "Why I didn't suppose the boys would go," numerous persons were heard to exclaim as they viewed the numerous slick pompadqurs in the audience.

It is hoped by the management of the course that the students will not get the idea that single admissions cannot be purchased to the numbers of the institute. "Single admissions may be purchased for 35 cents by any student who does not desire a season ticket," said Miss Araminta Holman, today in speaking of the institute.

AGGIE SCHEDULE CLOSES AT K. U.

AGGIES ARE ASSURED OF THIRD PLACE OR TIE FOR THIRD

Aggie Victory over Missouri Has Made K. U. Fearful of the Outcome of the Games

The Aggie quintet will finish their schedule at Lawrence next Tuesday and Wednesday by tangling with the Jayhawk bird. The Aggie victory over Missouri has made K. U. fearful of the outcome. If the Aggies play the game they did Friday night the "Beat K. U." slogan will be realized.

K. U.'s two victories over Oklahoma has made them a more formidable opponent. Miller, a substitute, showed up very well and will probably play regular next Tuesday. Laslett, Lonberg, and Bunn will play their last game. Captain Hinds, of the Aggies is the only man the Aggies will lose.

The Aggies are assured of third place or a tie for third place in the conference. Missouri, and Washington having a higher percentage.

Miss Bernice and Miss Ollie Koltz spent the week end at the Delta Zeta house.

Miss Leah McIntyre spent Saturday at her home in Topeka.

Miss Perry of K. U., was a week end guest at the Pi Phi house.

Captain John Wilson of Hamlin, was a Saturday dinner guest at the Tri Delta house.

Mrs. Ite Qua, the house mother of Pi Beta Phi, was a Tuesday dinner guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Miss Adelaide Seeds of Topeka, was a week end guest at the Delta Delta Delta house.

Miss Helen Calkins was a week end guest at the Tri Delta house. Miss Calkins, who formerly attended school here, is now teaching in Nebraska.

Dick Wilson of Burlington, Jack Hodges and Wendell Smith of Topeka, were Sunday dinner guests at the Tri Delta house.

Ralph St. John of Alma, spent the week end at the Delta Tau house.

INDOOR MEET WILL BE HELD ON SATURDAY

JACK EVANS, JACK FROST, AND GALLAGHER TO BE HEADLINERS

GALLAGHER OUT FOR RECORD

Ship Winters Is Working Hard on the High Jump—Von Riesen and Henre, Both Freshman, Are to Be Sent

The annual indoor K. C. A. C. meet will be held in Kansas City next Saturday and Aggie tracksters will be there. Jack Evans, Jack Frost, and Cliff Gallagher will be the headliners. Ship Winters, Wright Turner, Von Riesen, and "Little" Henre are other Aggie stars that will be seen in action.

Men Working Hard

Ship Winters has been faithfully working on the high jump and will be able to show some real class. Turner has been getting close to the record in the 440 and may spring a surprise at the meet. Von Riesen is a freshman miler, who has been doing some spectacular work. His time in practice has been very close to the record and great things are expected of him. His inexperience may count against him but he will be heard from before he ends his college career.

Henre is another freshman who has been developing rapidly. He is one of the most conscientious men in training. He will do the 880 at the K. C. A. C. meet. Clyde Beckett, Hollis Hope, and a few others may also be sent.

Gallagher Out to Break Record

One of the features of the meet will be the 50 yard low hurdles. Last year Gallagher broke the record in this event but the authorities would not award it to him for some reason. Gallagher is out to cinch it for sure this time. Jack Evans has been unfortunate in starting recently but is hopeful of getting away in good shape at the meet Saturday night. Jack Frost's new record will make him an added feature of the meet.

The Aggies can watch with interest the results of the meet for some of their men are going to bring home the bacon.

MAY PAY MEN $30 A MONTH

R. O. T. C. MEN BENEFITED BY SUMMER CAMP

Military Training Is Not the Only Object of These Camps—Put in Application Now

It is probable that the Aggies who attend the summer R. O. T. C. will be paid at the rate of $30 per month for all the time spent there.

The army reorganization bill, which is now before congress and which will probably be passed before next June, provides for the private's pay for all men who attend the R. O. T. C. summer camp.

Military Not All

Military training is not the only object of these camps. The government realizes that few of the men will probably ever get a chance to serve in any war and so the training should benefit the men in civil life.

Some of the objects are: To keep in good health; to give correct bearing; to come to a decision quickly; to be aggressive; and to prepare for a better citizenship and earning capacity in civil life.

Put in Applications

Outdoor training and athletics will be especially emphasized with frequent field day contests in both military and athletics. Applications may be handed in at the commandant's office.

Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile will go to Junction City Wednesday to talk to the girls of the city high school. Her talk will be given in the high school auditorium at 4 o'clock and is being given under the auspices of the school Y. W. C. A.

CHANGE THE ROUGH NECK DAY PLANS

(An Editorial)

The original organized rough neck day plans have gone ka-smash!

Due to the opposition on the part of practically all the students in the college, the committee in charge is to have another meeting and make new plans.

Here is the way rough neck day will probably be celebrated: Every student will dress up in the most ridiculous costume possible and anyone who doesn't do so, will be placed on the black list and his name run in the Collegian; no classes will be held in the morning, the day starting off with a rousing chapel; a parade will be held down town and the participants can shout as loudly as they wish; a dance will be held in the forenoon and the entire celebration will be over by noon.

The students, it is plain to see, do not wish to go to school a few hours in the morning, then have part of the celebration, then go to school some more, the Middleton concert in the evening, and then a dance after that. They also refuse to don clothes to represent George Washington or Lincoln.

Let's make the very most of the day—make it full of pep—make it an Aggie day. If every student puts himself into it, he will be glad to go back to school that afternoon.

Monday, the Ides of March, is the day. Come on men, get the Aggie spirit, let's have a real rough neck day!

COLLEGE LIFE

Usually when one hears the expression "College Life" he thinks of frolic and fun, of college sports and midnight escapades, but how small a part indeed are these things of true college life.

College life and college spirit are so closely connected that one cannot speak of the one without at least thinking of the other. Is not college spirit the manifestation of college life, and do we not all desire true college spirit above all else? Few students think when they hold an indifferent attitude toward their studies, their classmates and instructors that they are then aiding in upholding the wrong kind of college life.

Carelessness, a probable consequence of indifference, and a close associate of thoughtlessness, is one of the most noticeable faults among the students. But there is no fault which cannot at least be partially corrected. Mary may not need be told but once that the post office window is no place in which to lounge. It may not be necessary to even speak to Bill about leaving his cigarette stub at the campus entrance, if someone but point out to him how cleanly and inspiring it looks lying there. John will come to class some day, too, with the determination to get the assignment the first time it is given and not have to have it repeated because he chose that particular time to take his beauty nap.

Each student will do his bit by living an alert, unselfish, thoughtful life. In Anderson hall one will no longer hear the shrill voice of girls and loud guffaw of men, but 'nstead will hear the subdued but happy banter of the students as they go—on time—to their classes.

AGGIES OUTPLAY TIGERS

"The best basketball I ever saw played," comments an Aggie man, and "most wonderful and exciting game," comments an Aggie co-ed when speaking of the Missouri games, especially the last one.

The Aggies outplayed the Missourians in every stage of the game Friday night. Referee Quigley said one of the best exhibitions of basketball he nas ever seen ocurred when Gradty Cowell chased Ruby, Tiger forward, the length of the court and finally forced him to a held ball.

Both Cowells played an extraordinary game at guard and the Aggie rooters can boast of two guards that are as good as any in the valley. Heinie Hinds proved his worth as a leader in the game Friday. He fights all the time.

Last year the Missouri Tigers marred the Aggies all-victorious season by a single victory and this year the Aggies have reversed the circumstances. In the four games that we have played Missouri has been fortunate in getting all the breaks in the luck. The fact that the Aggies succeeded in coming out on the big end of the score has increased the respect that Tiger athletic teams have for the Kansas Aggies.

Is it any wonder that the Aggie coaches are wearing such broad smiles?

Mary Was All Right Until a Few Thought She Was Big Headed

She really is not such a bad sort when you know her well, the girl of whom this story is to be written. But she is one of those unfortunate mortals who goes to extremes and suffers, consequently, the unwitting criticisms of those who understand her not.

Call her Mary. Mary is a nice name and will suffice.

Mary came to school and did a few little things which won for her a peculiar popularity. With the non-fraternity people she was well-liked, so history states, and the fraternity people treated her royally. Wherever she went, everyone was nice to her and everything was rosy.

Then the bad witch discovered her and decided to make life miserable for her. That's the way things go, you know, swimmingly for a while and then ka-plunk! and the rose-colored balloon's all busted! The bad witch made trouble for Mary by saying that she was getting "big-headed" and "conceited" and "snobbish" and "thinks she's better than the rest of us," 'never thing. And poor Mary waxed sore and gnashed her teeth like the old Bible folks used to and to be more of a modernist in style, was doggon miserable. For Mary was the very same Mary she had always been in spite of the peculiar popularity, and she liked everybody just like everybody had made her think they liked her and she didn't understand why things took such a miserable turn.

Life is full of Mary's, some shallow and some deep. Fate decrees that they shall do the little thing that shall win for them the peculiar popularity and there is always a bad witch in "cahoots" who is willing to cast the gloom over everything.

If you know any Marys, have a heart! Remember that it's a lot easier to be a loser than it is to be a winner. Just because a fellow wins once, twice or three times in succession, don't jump at conclusions and take it for granted that he's going to lose his head and lord it over all the world without any further notice. All the Marys in the world ask only your good will, not flattery, support, nor pull. If they're any account at all they'll make the mark without any pushing from behind and you can jolly well bet that there are a few of 'em in the world who'll make it in spite of the calamnity-howlers and the joykillers and the balloon-busters who would make lots better Bolshevikis than they'll ever make good Aggies.

CROWDER'S CLEANING AND DYE WORKS

Double Your Cultivation With An Avery Motor Cultivator

With an Avery Motor Cultivator you can cultivate double or more acreage than one man can ordinarily handle with horses. You can cultivate 18 to 20 acres of corn, cotton or other row crops a day—make a 160-acre farm a one-man job. It is also easy to operate—a boy or man can handle it without previous experience, and can do better work than with a horse-drawn cultivator.

Has a variety of speeds that can be controlled to suit the size of the growing crop. You can creep along slowly when the crop is small and tender, or you can go as fast as you like when the crop is large. Hot weather and flies can't stop or bother it.

Cultivates Any Row Crop

Avery Motor Cultivators are built in two sizes—a six-cylinder two-row and four-cylinder one-row machines. The two-row is built in widths for crops planted in any width rows. Can also be furnished with various styles of front wheels so that all row crops, such as corn, listed corn, cotton, peas, beans, beets, potatoes, asparagus, tomatoes, etc., can be handled successfully. Can also be furnished with planting attachment for planting such row crops as corn, cotton, peas beans, etc.

A Proven Success

Avery Motor Cultivators are a proven success—their design is right and they are built right. They lead in power, durability and simplicity. As many as 6 to 25 of these machines are being used by the same men who are farming on a large scale. In one locality within a radius of 18 miles, over 100 Avery Motor Cultivators are in use.

Besides cultivating and planting row crops, the Avery Motor Cultivator is also being successfully used for many other kinds of light field and belt work. It is adapted to more kinds of work than any other machine, and is one of the best motor farming machinery investments you can make.

The Avery Line

Also includes tractors for every size farm. Six sizes, 8-16 to 40-80 H. P. with "Draft-Horse" Motors and "Direct-Drive" Transmissions. Two small tractors, Six-Cylinder Model "C" and 5-10 H. P. Model "B." "Self-Lift" Moldboard and Disc Plows, Listers and Grain Drills, "Self-Adjusting" Tractor Disc Harrows. Also, roller bearing Threshers, Silo Fillers, etc.

Write for the Avery Catalog and interesting Tractor "Hitch Book." Both books free.

LABORATORIES TEST MATERIAL

TEN COUNTIES BEGIN FEDERAL AID ROADS

Kansas State Agricultural College Is Big Help in Testing Materials

A survey and test of the available road building materials in the state is being made by the road testing laboratory of the agricultural college in cooperation with the Kansas geological survey. Only a small part of the state has been covered so far—probably not over 15 percent.

It is expected that the work in the laboratories will be increased as the amount of hard surfacing throughout the state progresses. At present the Kansas highway commission has been petitioned for 1,363 miles of hard roads with an estimated cost of $46,691,254 which is twice the amount available from federal aid. The past year has witnessed the beginnings of activities in the actual construction of hard roads in Kansas under the federal aid road act. Ten counties in the state have already begun work on the new roads.

Kappa Sigma Formal

The Kappa Sigma fraternity held their annual spring formal banquet and dance Friday evening, March 5. The banquet was given at 8 o'clock at the Gillett hotel. Covers were laid for 80 guests. The tables were decorated with center pieces of carnations in the fraternity colors, scarlet, white, and green. The five course banquet was also carried out in the fraternity colors. During the banquet Miss Myrtle Broberg gave two solo dances.

After the banquet the dance was given in Elk's hall. A lattice work of paper in scarlet and white and green formed a dome over the entire hall. In the center of the dome over the lights, hung a large bell, also of paper. This bell was filled with bright balloons. The Carlton Kuhn orchestra of Kansas City furnished the music for the dancing. One special feature of the evening was a favor dance, during which balloons were allowed to fall from the paper bell. To each balloon was attached a silver locket on which was mounted the fraternity crest.

The chaperons of the evening were Prof. and Mrs. W. F. Pickett, Lawyer and Mrs. R. P. Evans, and Mrs. Bassler. The out of town guests were: Miss Olive Klotz and Miss Bernice Klotz of Wilson, Miss Lillie Harkey of Tarkey, Mo., Miss Ruth Overton of Emporia, Miss Alelaide Seeds of Topeka, Mr. Howard Lindsley of Kansas City, Mr. Clyde Braden of Paola, Charles Cloud of Winfield, Harold Combs of Clayton, Paul Slassen, Garnett Reed, and Phillip Doan of Lawrence.

COLLEGE SENDS OUT RADIO WEATHER REPORTS TO THE KANSAS FARMER

"Tune in and get the weather John."

It sounds like a nonsense phrase to the layman, but before long it may be as common on the average Kansas farm as "Feed the calf, John."

Science has given the farmer another present. He can receive reports of weather a few moments after the weather man at Topeka makes his forecast. The wireless has done it.

The Kansas State Agricultural college is sending it out from its radio station every morning except Sunday. If every farmer in the state is not receiving it, it's the farmer's fault. A receiving set can be purchased for $35. All he needs to do is to tell John to "tune in" and take it.

The forecast is sent out at 9:55 o'clock in the morning. It is sent on a wave length of 375 meters. This wave length is short enough to be easily tuned in on the amateur sets. The order given below is followed in sending out the forecast:

K A—K A—K A
Q S T—Q S T—Q S T
de
9 Y V—9 Y V—9 Y V
Double dash (— . . . —)

The weather forecast is then sent at a rate of about 18 words a minute, and it is then repeated at about an eight or 10 word rate. The operator then signs with the station call 9 Y V.

The college hopes that the jewelers, high schools, and other stations will avail themselves of this service, and will post the reports received for the benefit of the public in their vicinities. Boys that have stations that can receive these reports can be of real service to their communities by giving these reports to banks, post offices, etc., for posting.

Anyone wishing more particulars concerning this service, or concerning wireless sets for receiving these reports may address their inquiries to E. A. Stewart, physics department, K. S. A. C.

Y. CONVENTION IN CLEVELAND

EXPECT MORE THAN 2,500 DELEGATES THERE

Speakers Will Be Present from China, Japan, India, South America and Others

From April 13 to 20 the sixth convention of the Young Women's Christian Association of the United States of America will convene in Cleveland. Twenty-five hundred delegates are expected from the thousand centers loated in small and large cities, town and country communities and colleges.

From China, Japan, India, South America, Siberia, and the countries of Europe where the Y. W. C. A. has established work for girls, speakers and representatives will also come to give a world-wide report of what the association has accomplished in the past five years.

Delegates will be sent from here to represent the agricultural college.

Chinese Students Entertain

Every so often there is a college function which is unique and enjoyable enough to be outstanding in the social life of the instiution for a longer time than the usual affair. When it comes it is heartily welcomed by all who are fortunate enough to enjoy attendance there. Such an affair was the informal party given last Friday night, March 5, at the Domestic Science hall by the students who make up the Chinese club.

Of the 1500 Chinese students now attending American institutions, K. S. A. C. claims seven and these were hosts last Friday night. The purpose of the affair was to bring about a better and more kindly relationship between the members of the club and the people with whom they have been and will be directly connected during the days of their studentship here.

Foley Kiang, president of the club, presided at the meeting and directed the program. The first number was an expression of welcome by him in behalf of the other members of the club. Following his welcome an interesting representation of the Chinese flag was given. Philip Young, Newton Quan, Wing Lan, S. C. Lo, and K. L. Lung with bands of color representing the colors of the national emblem stood together while Mr. Kiang explained to the guests the symbol of the color and told something of interest concerning the different people of China whom the colors directly represented.

President W. M. Jardine, Prof. R. R. Price, George Clammer, and Doctor McClelland, pastor of the First Methodist church responded informally to the greeting of welcome by the Chinese students, expressing the appreciation of the other guests for their courtesies as well as for their scholarship in this school.

Assisting Mrs. Van Zile as hostess were Mrs. E. L. Knostman, Mrs. R. R. Price, Mrs. Limper, and Miss Grace Hesse.

Aggie Professor Stages a One Act Play for Students

An interesting one act play was viewed Tuesday, February 17, by a group of genetics students, when one of the prominent agriculture professors attempted to take a drink from the fountain on the basement floor of Waters hall.

Because of an error in plumbing, the pipe supplying this fountain, instead of furnishing cool refreshing water, was offering a bubbling supply of almost boiling fluid. The unsuspecting professor, deeply immersed in thought, approached the fountain and, stooping over, sipped a mouthful of the hot water. Almost instantaneously he leaped backward, blowing the hot liquid from his mouth, and, uttering a few phrases not accepted by most critics of the English language, he then walked rapidly back through the group of amused students to the office.

L. C. Williams, for the past two years' assistant state leader of boys' and girls' clubs is now one of the instructors in the horticultural building.

Warren Cowell and Everett Cowell spent the week end at their home at Clay Center.

Miss Marie Peterson, music student, was called to her home at Randolph last week because of the illness of a sister.

SEEKS SOUND INFORMATION AT THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Looks to Aggie School as Authority on Questions

After 55 acres had been given to his school for agricultural experiments, Charles M. Camper, superintendent of schools in Chico, Calif., made a trip to the Kansas State Agricultural college to get suggestions as to desirable plans and methods.

Mr. Camper was here last week and consulted F. D. Farrell, dean of agriculture, and other authorities at the college.

S. A. E. Founder's Day

Kansas Beta chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon held its seventh annual Founder's day banquet and formal dance on Friday, March 5. S. A. E., which is the first national fraternity installed at the Kansas State Agricultural college, celebrates every year in honor of Noble Devotee, who founded the fraternity 64 years ago. There are now 98 chapters in the fraternity.

A five course banquet was served at the chapter house at 1606 Fairchild. Guests at the banquet were: Mr. John McClung, University of the South; Mr. Guy Varney, University of Michigan; Mr. Charles Haynes, K. S. A. C. graduate and now of New Haven, Conn.; Mr. Harry Alexander, Mr. Lynn Alexander of Council Grove; Lewis Rochford and Doyle Gilbert, Osborne; William Schmidt, Junction City; Benjamin Price, Reading; Frank Veatch, Girard, Lieutenant Noel, Capt. Warren Hayford 3rd, Captain Holt and Lieutenant Mayer of Ft. Riley; Hill Rannels, Manhattan.

The dance, which was held at Harrison's hall, commenced at nine o'clock following the banquet. It was the prettiest affair of the season. Artificial ceilings in the main room, halls, and ante rooms were constructed by weaving purple and gold streamers of crepe paper. The center was beautifully decorated with a large cone of purple and gold, the fraternity colors, in which balloons were kept in motion by electric fans. Palms and pot flowers were banked around the orchestra pit and in the center of the room. Gold shaded floor lamps made a delightful effect on the walls which were covered with purple. A small spot light kept the flying balloons illuminated all the time.

One feature during the evening was a solo dance by Miss Myrtle Broeberg.

Shastauff's seven piece orchestra from Lawrence furnished the music.

Mrs. Emma Pasmore, S. A. E. house mother, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. John McClung, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greely, and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Moore were chaperones.

Homer Derr, '00, director of the department of vocational education of Nevada, visited the college last week.

Dick Gilvin of Kansas City, was a Friday dinner guest at the Delta Tau house.

Announces His Spring Opening on March 11, 1920

To be given at 324 Houston street from seven to nine o'clock P. M.
Souvenirs, Cigars and Flowers

We want every lady and gentleman over the age of 16 to see this excellent line of woolens, which are the finest in the state. Mr. Schute will hold a reception at the Community House from nine to eleven-thirty P. M., and has engaged Miss Helen Schuhmacher of Kansas City to dance and read. Miss Schuhmacher is considered one of the best fancy dancing teachers in the West.

Miss Marie Redding, contralto, of Kansas City will sing. Miss Redding sings at all leading banquets in Kansas City and is considered by critics to be exceptionally fine.

Miss Josephine Cornett who is director of Redemstrick Catholic church, and who sings in either baritone or soprano will also entertain. High class local talent will participate in making this one of the best old fashioned entertainments of the season.

Punch will be served at the Community House, without punch, but don't blame Schute.
Now, good people of Manhattan and Vicinity, this is a cordial invitation to you to come to Schute, The Tailor's party and dance, FREE, and have a real good old fashioned time.

Don't forget the date--Thursday evening March 11. Local talent invited to participate

MIDDLETON IS TO BE HERE MARCH 15TH

GIVES CONCERT IN AUDITORIUM MONDAY NIGHT

BEGINS AT EIGHT O'CLOCK

Kansas City Star Gives Favorable Comment of Middleton as a Metropolitan Baritone Recitalist

Arthur Middleton, who has at various times and for various reasons, been prevented from giving his concert here, will appear at the college auditorium Monday, March 15.

The concert will begin at 8 o'clock. Seat reservations may be made at the Co-op book store on the day of the concert.

Unusual Recitalist

The Kansas City Star, in remarking on the concert which Mr. Middleton is to give in Kansas City, March 25, says:

"Arthur Middleton, the metropolitan baritone, who will give a song recital Thursday evening, March 25, has won a wide reputation as a recitalist, largely through the originality and force of his interpretations, although his vocal equipment is unusual also."

ROOKIES GET TARGET WORK

WILD SCORES ARE MADE THE FIRST DAY

Machine Gun Platoon Now Has Machine Gun to Work with—Instruction Work Carried on by Ex-Service Men

Practical field work in the military department is now fully under way. Each drill period finds the target range going full blast. Some of the wild scores that were made by the rookies the first day on the range would rather indicate that a little target practice would not come in amiss.

The machine gun platoon now has the machine guns to work with. They are now going over the theoretical work of the machine gun such as taking down the gun and reassembling. The machine gun work is one of the most interesting phases of the military work. The instruction work in machine guns is carried on by ex-service men who had experience with machine guns during the war.

SECOND CONCERT SATURDAY EVE

MISS BESS CURRY IS THE SOLOIST

Many New Selections to be Given—Program Shows Many Kinds of Selections

The college band will give its second concert of the year Saturday evening at the auditorium. Miss Bess Curry, soprano, is to be the soloist. Following is the program for the concert:

Overture to the opera "Princesse Jaune," Saint Saens; Waltz, "A la bien Aimee," Scutt; Ballet Egyptian, Luigini; all by the college band.

Carmena Waltz Song, Wilson; Miss Curry.

March—"La Pere de la Victoire," Ganne; band. Intermission.

Overture to the opera "Rienzo," Wagner; Humoresque, Dvorak; band.

Woodwind Sextette, flute, clarinet, and bass clarinets — selections from the opera "Naughty Marietta," Herbert; descriptive fantasy "Evolution of Dixie," Lake, a fantasy depicting the gradual evolution of "Dixie" from the time of primitive man to the present day.

Move Electrical Equipment

As soon as the new Engineering building is completed all of the electrical equipment of the department will be moved out of Denison hall. This will vacate for the benefit of the chemistry and physics department two offices, and seven classrooms and laboratories, a total of 6,700 square feet. The present congestion of chemistry students will thus be relieved.

Get Heroes' Pictures

Mr. Colburn, the college photographer, and Miss Jessie Machir, registrar, are making a memorial to the K. S. A. C. men who lost their lives in the service. A photograph is to be secured of each man.

There are several men whose pictures have not been secured. One man, about whom no information can be secured, is George Ward McVicar. If there is any one in school who can give any information about him, notify the registrar.

MADE BEST SHOWING AGAINST TIGER FIVE

Kansas City Journal Gives Wildcats Credit for Basketball Honors in Defeating Tigers

The Kansas City Journal, in telling of the Tigers' brilliant success in basketball this year, gives the Aggies a great deal of credit for her hard fighting team. The Journal says:

"The Tigers' total score was nearly twice that of their opponents—665 to 362. Against Ames the Missouri team more than doubled the Iowa Farmers' score, with a total of 97 to 37, in two games. Oklahoma, too, was humbled more than 2 to 1 in two games, for a total of 86 to 39, while Drake, losing two games, 96 to 25, almost handed the Tigers a 4 to 1 score.

The Kansas Aggies, meeting Missouri for four games, held the Tigers for the closest score and the smallest total Meanwell's team tallied in any four-game series—105 to 88. It was the Aggies five which broke the Tiger winning streak in the final game of the season, after the Columbia team had captured seventeen games.

Washington lost four games to the Tigers, 96 to 144, an exact 1 to 1 1-2 ratio, while K. U. was humbled 137 to 77, almost 2 to 1.

The season's scores follow:

Missouri, 52; Ames, 20.
Missouri, 45; Ames, 17.

Contract for Building

Cork and Ferrier, '16, general contractors, have recently made a contract to build a school building at Martinsdale, Iowa. The building will cost $65,000 when completed. It will be built of brick and tile.

Mrs. L. M. Bowman was a dinner guest Wednesday evening at the Chi Omega house.

Lloys Fletcher, Frank Veatch, and Reiner Cage, were dinner guests at the Pi Phi house Sunday.

Come Forth, Aggie Coe-ds, Will You Be A Seller of Kisses?

Aggie co-eds could help a great deal in raising money for different purposes. Perhaps they might do as a girl did at Drake. Here is the report the associated press carried:

"Three hundred seventy five dollars for one kiss. The kiss was offered at auction at the Drake University colonial ball recently, the funds from which went into an endowment fund.

"Miss Mayre Garrett offered the kiss to the highest bidder. The bidding was spirited until it reached $375.

"Lewis Smythe, a student in the Bible College, studying for the ministry was the highest bidder.

"Although Smythe was permitted to kiss Miss Garrett's hand only he maintained that even that privilege was worth the price.

APOLLO CLUB BIG SUCCESS

PRESS IN STATE PRAISES K. S. A. C. GLEE CLUB

Wichita Beacon Says Men Gave Best Program Heard There This Year

The Apollo club, the men's K. S. A. C. glee club, made a five-day tour in Kansas last week. Press notices from towns in which the men appeared, gave the club a great deal of praise on the program.

The Wichita Beacon says that "the Apollo club from the Kansas State Agriculutral college gave one of the best programs heard this year. The standing room was filled at the theatre. This was due to the advertising from the excellent program that the club gave at the high school in the morning."

A great deal of credit for the club's success is due to Prof. A. L. Lovejoy who directed the men. He was also in charge of the vodvil which was given here a month ago.

Tom Wiltrout of Logan, spent several days at the Beta house this week. Mr. Wiltrout was enroled in college last year but at the present time is cashier in the bank at Edmonds.

Miss Gladys Addy is out of school on account of influenza.

LAST BETTER HOME TONIGHT

MR. HUNT COOK TO GIVE TONIGHT'S LECTURE

Much Credit Is Due Miss Holman and Omicron Nu Girls for Success of Institute

The Better Homes institute, the last number of which will be given this evening by Mr. Hunt Cook, has proved to be one of the most interesting and successful courses ever given at the college.

Much credit is due Miss Araminta Holman of the applied arts department and the members of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, for their efforts in securing the course for Manhattan.

Both Mr. Hunt Cook and Prof. H. D. Hemenway made a hit with the student body, and proved themselves excellently fitted for their work of spreading the gospel of better homes.

What Is The Purpose of Rough Neck Day?

Editorial

"It is deplorable" that such a day as rough neck day, a small period in school life that has always brought out the best of pep in every Aggie, should be hampered, battered, and changed as is being done now.

The committee-speaker's statement that every fraternity, sorority, and other organization was represented at the rough neck committee meeting Tuesday night was about half true.

What is the trouble at K. S. A. C.? There is more disorganization than there ever was before. Even in the various organizations there are divisions, resulting in a few persons doing all the work. And the same condition is reported from the Kansas university, and from many other schools.

What about the Student Self Governing association? Why don't the students who started it put it thru. Earl Frost, president elect, is doing his best but he finds he has come against a hard proposition. The organizations have not elected their representatives—even the classes have not done their part. In fact, scarcely one-tenth of the students have joined the S. S. G. A. Are these few students to run the school?

This brings up the question of rough neck day. Perhaps the leaders of the new movement can explain why the Collegian has had numerous calls from persons who opposed an organized rough neck day.

Rough neck day means the breaking away from all conventions. To make a definite program, means the going back to conventions. What would you say if you were told that you couldn't shout at a football game or that you couldn't scream when the Aggies defeated the Tigers in basketball? Isn't it just as ridiculous to think of organizing rough neck day?

Students who have been in school for four years say that rough neck day has been a success in past years. They are the students who really object to the organization. They are the ones who say that more pep and enthusiasm has always been shown on this day, the Ides of March, than is shown at any other time.

One senior has said, "The first time they had rough neck day, when everyone came to school in a ridiculous costume, did as he pleased, went where he pleased, went down town a shouting, danced a while, and then had it over with, we had the best time of our lives."

The Collegian, as an independent faction, is not especially interested in the turn of affairs. There is just as much news to an organized day as there is to a disorganized rough neck day. But the Collegian is in a position to see, as well as any other faction on the hill, that the new plan does not meet the approval of all and so it is bound to be a failure.

But don't take the matter too seriously, too much at heart. K. S. A. C. isn't the only place that trouble is arising. Look at the Democratic and Republican parties. What are their programs? Are they organized? Look to our senate, our house of representatives—are they organized?

So you see there is really a bigger trouble than just a little controversy at K. S. A. C. So let's all do our best. Let's show good school spirit and good all-around enthusiasm. Rough neck day isn't the only time to show college spirit. Do it all the time. The Collegian is for the college—whether or not every individual, including speakers, is, depends entirely on that person.

TAG RECEIPTS ADD TO FUND

GIRL'S LOYALTY CLUB HAD CHARGE OF THE SALES

Teams of Gladys Bushong and Lee Winter Sold the Greatest Number of Tags

As a result of the tag day for the student loan fund which was held Wednesday of last week, $325 has been added to the fund.

The tag day was in charge of the members of the Girls' Loyalty club under the direction of Dean Mary P. Van Zile, and Miss Jessie Machir. Miss Irene Graham was chairman of the tag day committee.

The girls of the Loyalty club were divided into ten teams, the captains of which were: Miss Gladys Bushong, Miss Connie Foote, Miss Lee Winter, Miss Lorna Troup, Miss Irene Shoemaker, Miss Renna Rosenthal, Miss Bly Ewalt, Miss Hortense Caton, Miss Orpha Maust, and Miss Ellen Pennel. The teams of Miss Gladys Bushong and Miss Lee Winter sold the greatest number of tags.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM PLANNED

WILL BE HELD FRIDAY, APRIL 30 IN NICHOLAS GYM

Freshman-Sophomore Party Will be Held the Following Night—E. D. McCollum Is Chairman of Decorating Committee

The annual Junior- senior prom will be held in Nichols gymnasium on Friday, April 30. The annual freshman- sophomore party will be held Saturday, May 1, the night following the junior-senior prom. The two groups will work together on the decorations as the events are to be held on successive evenings.

The members of the committee which have charge of the junior-senior prom, one of the biggest social events of the year, are: E. D. McCollum, Ray Kellog, Irene Graham, Marcia Seeber, and Esther Anderson. E. D. McCollum is chairman of the committee and also manager of the prom. The committee is now working hard on the details of the event.

Miss Nelle Robinson of Wakefield, spent several days this week at the Chi Omega house.

Girls' Swimming Teams

Tuesday and Thursday have been set aside as practice days for the girls wishing to try out for class swimming teams. The W. A. A. will give 50 points toward a sweater to each girl making a team. Swimming tryouts will be held in a few weeks. All college girls are eligible.

Heads the List

Recent figures show that the electrical department has more students enrolled than any other degree course on the hill.

There are now 222 men enrolled in this department, and this is exclusive of short course and vocational men.

TRY FOR TRACK HONORS IN K. C.

ATHLETIC CLUB THERE HAS INDOOR MEET

Frost, Evans, Gallagher, and Other Aggie Men Are Entered in the Events

Saturday night in Convention hall in Kansas City the Aggies will have a number of men entered in the K. C. A. C. track meet. Some of the men hold records and will have a mighty good chance in the meet.

Frost To Vault

Jack Frost will give any pole vaulter a good race. Frost and a Michigan man tied for the Illinois carnival record by making 12 feet 2½ inches. Frost, at that height, broke the former Aggie record by 2½ inches. He is a senior so this is his last chance to work for the Aggies.

Evans in 50 Yard Dash

Jack Evans will be entered in the 50 yard dash. He will give Scholz of Missouri a good race. He is a junior in the college so will be back next year to work again.

Gallagher, who has tied the indoor record on the low hurdles, will be entered in the events at Kansas City.

Other men who are slated to go are Ship Winters on the high jump, Von Reison and Beckett on the mile, Henre on the half mile, Neely and Turner on the quarter and Hope on the hurdles.

CAST FOR PLAY IS NOW PICKED

HOMER HENNEY, ATHENIAN, IS LEADING MAN

Cast Chosen According to Talent and not Merely as a Representative of Each Society

The cast of "Believe Me Xantippe," the play to be given by the college literary societies on March 29, is made up of two Athenians, two Alpha Betas, two Franklins, two Ionians, one Webster, and one Eurodelphian. The cast was chosen according to talent shown and not merely as a representative of each society.

Henney Is Lead

Homer Henney, Athenian, is the leading man of the play, having the part of a rich New York clubman. Bill Turner, Alpha Beta, is the Colorado sheriff. Claude Hutto, Athenian, takes the part of the crook. E. E. Huff, Franklin, is the keeper of the jail. J. E. Meyer, Alpha Beta, plays the part of the detective, and Millard Getty, Webster, is the lawyer. P. W. Barber, Franklin, will appear as William, the bulter.

The leading woman is Miss Rowena Thornburg, Ionian, playing the part of the typical western girl. Pearl Hoots, Eurodelphian, is the chemical blonde and Eleanor Watson, Ionian appears as the lovable and motherly old woman.

Is Four-Act

"Believe Me Xantippe" is a farce comedy in four acts. It was written by John Frederick Ballard, while he was a senior in Harvard university. Mr. Ballard is one of the most successful of the modern playwrights. "Believe Me Xantippe" is a recent play and a large royalty is being paid to secure it for production at K. S. A. C.

Miss Elizabeth Adams is a week end guest at the Pi Phi house.

Miss Maurine Aspey will spend the week end at her home in Hutchinson.

OUTLINE THE ROUGH NECK DAY PROGRAM

STUDENTS WEAR ANY COSTUME COMMITTEE SAYS

CHAPEL SET FOR 11 O'CLOCK

Dance to Be in Evening after the Middleton Concert—Stunts will Be Held on the Athletic Field

The committee which worked out the organized rough neck day program has announced the following events for rough neck day, March 15.

Any costume can be worn, use originality. Must be decent and clean.

Chapel at 11

Chapel at 11. Each division will put on a five minute stunt. Men's athletic department, architects, mechanical engineers, and electrical engineers will give stunts. Events will be held on athletic field.

Have Shoe Race

There will be a tug of war between the four men's divisions, the Ags, engineers, vets, and general science students. Centipede race between departments, and shoe race by representatives from organizations.

Judge In Parade

Parade by divisions with band heading each. Each division has original ideas for parade. Reviewing stand down town where President Jardine, city mayor, and others will judge costumes.

Middleton concert at 8 o'clock. If costumes are too conspicuous, coats should be worn at the concert.

Carnival dance in evening at gymnasium and social center—all in costume. Band will play at gym and orchestra in social center room. Grand march at each place and three prizes will be awarded at each. Best boy make-up, best girl, and best faculty member.

No Charges

The dairy department has charge of the refreshments. There will be no charge at the dances. Regular programs are discouraged.

Prizes for all stunts and costumes given by the business men and division trophies will be awarded to the division making the greatest number of points. Moving picture man from Kansas City to take pictures.

Mrs. Alice Wilson of Parsons, is visiting friends in Manhattan this week. Mrs. Wilson, who was formerly Miss Alice Webster, was in the employ of the dairy husbandry department for some time.

BROWN WILL BE VALLEY ORATOR

WINS FIRST IN TRYOUT FOR COMING CONTEST

Blanche Sappenfield Took Second, G. J. Medlin, Third, and Phillip Young, Fourth

The Aggies will be represented in the Missouri valley oratorical contest to be held here April 10 by J. O. Brown, it was decided last Wednesday evening at the tryout held in the public speaking room.

Those who tried out were J. O. Brown, C. J. Medlin, Phillip Young, and Blanche Sappenfield. Mr. Brown gave an oration entitled "The Consumers' League." Mr. Medlin's oration was entitled "The New Menace." Mr. Young gave an oration entitled "The Chinese Prohibition" and the oration given by Miss Sappenfield was "Labor's Right or Labor's Might."

The orations were all good and the judging for first place was close. The winner of the contest, Mr. Brown, won first place at the intersociety oratorical contest this year. Mr. Medlin was also a winner in one of the intersociety contests, having placed first last year.

The placing of the orators at the tryouts is as follows: J. O. Brown, first; Miss Blanche Sappenfield, second; C. J. Medlin, third; and Phillip Young, fourth. The judges at the tryout were Professor Fitch, Professor Peine, Professor Kammeyer, Professor Andrews, Professor Price, and Professor Burns.

CONSTRUCT A NEW WALK

How many students have entered the campus at the east gate and noticed how the walk winds off northward through the trees on up to the main hall? The idea of another walk has probably not occured to all of the student body or to the faculty.

Why would not a walk built from the east entrance up to the gymnasium be a great improvement? The view from that part of the campus would be much prettier, and more symmetrical than it is now.

If students insist on cutting across the campus and making a path between the two places, why not avoid this and construct a new cement walk?

STUDENT VIEWS ON ROUGH NECK DAY

It Sounds Queer

Of all funny things an "Organized" rough neck day appeals to us as about the funniest. The next thing we know they will be "organizing" senior sneak day. And then we might as well take our dear old friends Pep and College Spirit out and bury them, and become the kindergarten that we seem.—A School of Ag Student.

Why Organize?

Spontaneity is the root of all real humor.

Granted that this is true, and to do so would be to conform with universal opinion, why do we want a stereotyped rough neck day this year?

In former years, the great success of the affair has been due in a great measure to the fact that everyone acted on the spur of the moment. The costumes were sudden flashes of humor, the actions of the day were not according to any preconceived plan, and the results were wonderful.

Of course, it may be all right to say there will be a dance at a certain time, but that was known before, and it would have happened in due course of time without the arrangements that have been made. And this idea of dressing in some character, that is all wrong. What did George Washington know about a rough neck day. He is all right for a masked ball, but right there his usefulness ends.

Say what you will, the real success of the event will not depend upon the preconceived plans, but upon the spontaneous bursts of humor coming like a flash, and the day will be a success depending upon the number of such flashes.—A Senior.

Away from Real Idea

A senior looks back upon three roughneck days and forward to one. There is a sigh as he realizes there will never be another excuse to have just that kind of a good time again. And they have been good times, everyone of them.

Last year there were no classes. Everyone cut and marched down town. Then there was the dance at the community house. That was the most fun of the whole day.

The year before there were a few classes then the students asked for chapel. Everyone went to the auditorium only to be told they could not have it. Then there was the big parade down town, and that was oodles of fun for during the war the town people seemed to enjoy the fun more than they ever did before.

But the best roughneck day of all was three years ago. That was in the days when a short period was set aside in every day for chapel. Students attended classes as usual and that was the most fun of all. It was more than the most staid professor could endure, seeing Fatty Arbuckle get up and expound the theory of limits. Then there was a real sure enough chapel, the biggest crowd which had attended for months.

Isn't the idea of rough neck day carried out best by just the regular routine but lifting it out of the "regular" by the clothes and antics which naturally accompany them?—A Senior Girl.

Wants It Organized

Rough neck day—that day of all days when the clown in us may have full sway—when all our latent mirth producing ability should be brought forth and not hidden under a basket. For this is the purpose of rough neck day and the secret of a successful day lies in the amount of pep and enthusiasm,—energy and push that each of us puts forth.

Rough neck day is to us—college men and women—as circus day was in the days of our youth. Simply dressing in outlandish fashion and standing on the edge of the crowd—will not make the day a success. Get in the swim. Our time is not so important—neither are lessons so necessary—that we cannot afford to take one day in which to forget our cares and make merry.

We are noted for being a democratic institution. Nothing fosters the democratic spirit more than a successful rough neck day. So bring out the low hats—the high collars—the horn spectacles—the high-water trousers—the flowered calicos—the yellow spats and the flour barrels,—in short any and all outlandish wearing apparel and let us make merry on this "leap year" Ides of March.

Mike Ahearn Knows Lots of Good Stuff On Prof. Hemenway

"Did I know Prof. Hemenway when he was at Amherst?"

"Mike" Ahearn grinned that regular Irish grin of his as he repeated this question.

"Of course I knew him. Everybody knew him. He was in charge of the green house among other things, when I was at Amherst.

"Well, of course I can't tell you all the human interest stuff I know about Hemenway," laughed Mike. "He's running the Better Homes institute now I understand, and it wouldn't be right to squeal on him."

"Why when he was in charge of the green house, he used to have a terrible time to persuade the fireman to keep it warm enough. Whenever it got particularly cold, the fireman would sneak around and light a match under the thermometer. Finally Hemenway got onto what the fireman was doing—so one morning when it was a little chilly Hemenway came down before the fireman and stuck icicles under the thermometers.

"Er—I hope you don't intend to print any of this because you understand that Mr. Hemenway is working for the Better Homes institute now and I guess he is really very dignified and—

"Sure I understand" grinned the reporter as he made his escape.

Miss Ada Rice of the English department gave a lecture before the students of the Manhattan high school last week on "Finding God in True Literature."

Arthur E. Williamson of Washington was a mid-week visitor at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Albert Metz is spending a few days at his home in Anthony.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor:—

Student organizations are for students. The college has rules which prevent the many organizations from taking persons who have not attended college.

Literary societies, honorary fraternities, and social fraternities should have only student members—active of course. All organizations have alumni.

This practice is emphasized to social fraternities stronger than it is to any other college factions. The college rule says, "No student may be initiated into a fraternity unless he has passed 12 credit hours' work the semester previous to his initiation."

Yet there is one fraternity in the school that initiated a man who was suspended from school last semester. College authorities are questioning the advisability of a social fraternity doing anything of this nature. If a man is suspended from school, he is considered the same as if he had never attended college.

Many fraternities take in professors as honorary members but that is entirely different from taking in a man who is not connected with the school in any way.

—A Student.

An unfortunate coincidence occurs in the college calendar next Monday when the much postponed recital by Arthur Middleton is to be given the night of the Ides of March, our annual "rough neck" celebration. In view of the extensive plans made for this evening's hilarity it would seem as if one or the other event would have to be sacrificed. However, if we give the matter a little careful consideration beforehand there is no reason why we cannot enter heartily and loyally into both events.

Mr. Middleton is not only a great artist but a generous good natured individual who will gladly, I am sure, meet us half way in this awkward situation. He cannot give his best except under proper conditions and we can make or ruin his concert as we choose. Many people have expressed utter disgust at the conduct of the audience at Miss Hardmann's recital when there was constant talking all over the house. This same thing will happen to an even greater extent Monday night if we thoughtlessly bring our wild costumes and attendant exuberance into the concert hall, or, even worse, indulge in yelling and loud laughter just outside the building. On the other hand we can well let this concert time be a relaxation from previous excitement and a welcome respite before the final festivities of the evening.

So! let's go in costume if need be but with the determination to do all in our power to make the setting, both in the auditorium and out on the campus, the best possible in supporting Mr. Middleton's efforts. And in the end, not he, but we ourselves will receive the benefit.—A Faculty Member.

UNDERCLASSMEN LEAD IN GAMES

SOPHOMORES DEFEATED SENIORS 17 TO 13

Juniors Beaten by Freshman Girls in Basketball by Score 16 to 12

The freshman and sophomore girls were the two victorious teams in the double header basketball game played in the Nichols gymnasium Wednesday evening.

The freshman-junior game was a hard fight from the beginning to the end. At the end of the first half the score stood 5 to 5. At the beginning of the second half Banker, the junior forward, threw several pretty baskets giving the juniors the lead with a score of 12 to the freshies' five.

Slowly the freshmen gained seven points till the score was again tied. In the last few seconds of the game the freshmen threw two field goals. The game ended with the freshmen in the lead by four points.

Miss Helen Sloan is captain of the junior team and Miss Mary Fitzgerald is captain of the freshman team. The teams were evenly matched and played a fast, clean game.

The sophomore girls won from the seniors with a score of 17 to 13. At the end of the first half the seniors were in the lead with a score of 11 to 9. The second half the sophomore forwards, Handlin and Chapin, got together on the team work and the game ended in favor of the Sophs.

Miss Agnes Handlin is captain of the sophomore team and Miss Bertha Gwinn is captain of the senior team.

Next Wednesday evening the sophomore and junior and freshman-senior teams will play. The games will be played in the big gymnasium. Anyone can attend the games. There is no admission charge.

AGGIE GIRLS VISIT PACKERS

HOME ECONOMIC STUDENTS GO TO KANSAS CITY

Dr. Jean L. Bogart Chaperoned the 17 Aggie Coeds Who Visited Packing Companies

Seventeen Aggie girls, chaperoned by Dr. Jean L. Bogert, went on the first of the two trips to Kansas City which are conducted annually by the home economics division. These trips are made in order that the girls of the department may learn something of the mehtods of wholesale food manufacturers. The trips are always made at a time when there is some particularly worth while musical or theatrical attraction in Kansas City.

The girls making the trip left Manhattan Thursday evening. Friday they visited the National Biscuit company, the H. D. Lee Mercantile company, where they had lunch, and the Ridenour Baker Grocery company.

Saw 'Em Butcher

Saturday the Loose Wiles Biscuit company, and Armour's packing plant were visited. Although there is ordinarily no butchering done at Armour's on Saturday afternoon, a large number of animals were killed and the various processes of preparation for market carried out, especially for the Aggie delegation.

Sunday afternoon the girls attended the concert given by Jascha Heifetz.

Those making the trip included: Miss Abbie Dennen, Miss Leslie Burger, Miss Gladys Ford, Miss Marguerite Hammerly, Miss Ruth Harding, Miss Iva Kopp, Miss Carolyn Lear, Miss Elizabeth Kirkpatrick, Miss Eva Leland, Miss Katherine Roderick, Miss Velda Stewart, Miss Abbie Swafford, Miss Eva Travis, Miss Esther Wright, Miss Amanda Rosenquist, Miss Lois Litchfield, and Miss Gerda Olson.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Announce Engagement

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Selma Foberg, secretary to Dean Umberger of the extension division, to Mr. Walter W. Wessen of Topeka. The wedding will occur in June.

Miss Foberg has been with the college for about two years. She was a student at Northwestern university for three years. During this time she was a member of the honorary choir and was active in Y. W. C. A. work, having been elected president of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet for her senior year. She has sung in church choirs in Geneva, Ill. She will leave the college April 1.

Mr. Wessen is a well known young business man of Topeka. He is at present field accountant for the railroad administration with headquarters at Chicago.

Showers

Saturday evening a shower was given at the home of Miss Grace Derby, by Mollie Moser, Lee Winter and Mamie Grimes, in honor of Miss Lola Sloop, whose marriage to Mr. Ross Keys took place Wednesday morning. The guests spent the evening sewing for the bride.

Tuesday evening a group of friends of Miss Lola Sloop and Miss Helen Dawley entertained in their honor at the home of Miss Mildred Inskeep, 830 Bluemont. A mock wedding was the principal feature of the evening. Miss Hettie Carris played the part of the groom, Miss Irene Miller, that of the bride. The best man was Miss Luverne Webb, and the bridesmaid was Miss Mildred Inskeep.

Sloop—Keys

The marriage of Miss Lola Mae Sloop to Mr. Ross B. Keys was solemnized at 11 o'clock, March 10, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Rosa Sloop, at 730 Vattier, Dr. J. R. McClelland officiating.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Rosa Sloop of Manhattan. She is also a graduate of K. S. A. C. in the class of '19. While in college she was active in various college activities. She held the girl's debate scholarship for two years, was a member of the Forum, and national president of Zeta Kappa Psi, the girl's honorary debating fraternity. She was a member of the Browning literary society, Omicron Nu and a triple K debater. Last year she was elected May queen and was also one of the successful girls in the popularity contest of last year.

Mr. Keys graduated with the class of '17, was a member of the Athenian literary society and a varsity track man. He belonged to the Alpha Zeta fraternity, the K fraternity and the Saddle and Sirloin club. Since his graduation he has farmed at Boyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Keys will spend a few days in Kansas City then will go at once to their home at Boyle.

Dinner Guests

Dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house Sunday were Miss Garnet Grover, Miss Madge Locke, Miss Ila Knight, Miss Ella Wilson, and Miss Renna Rosenthal.

AGGIE ROUGH NECK DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

SOME STUDENTS CARRIED OUT PROGRAM

OTHERS DID AS THEY PLEASED

More Pep and Enthusiasm Shown Than Has Been Displayed Since Ides of March Last Year

The annual Aggie rough neck day went off with a bang. More pep and enthusiasm was shown than has been displayed since the Ides of March last year.

Practically all classes were dismissed in the morning immediately after the rolls were taken. A large group gathered in Anderson hall and commenced dancing. From there they went to Harrison's and danced until the chapel hour.

A number of original stunts were given at chapel. In the afternoon representatives from a few organizations put on some stunts at the athletic field. The carnival dances were held in the evening.

The prizes, which were given to the persons with the best makeup, will be announced in Friday's Collegian.

Some of the students carried out the program as it was previously planned. Others did as has always been done—did just as they pleased.

K. S. A. C. ENDS FOURTH IN RACE

WON 10 OUT OF THE 19 BASKETBALL GAMES

While Wildcats Did Not Win the Championship They Showed Good Fighting Spirit

By losing the last two games of the season to Kansas university at Lawrence last week, the Aggie basketball five was dropped from third place to fourth in the Missouri valley standing.

Altogether the Aggies played 19 games this season, winning 10 of them. Of the conference games they broke even, winning twice from Ames, Grinnel, Oklahoma, and once from Kansas and Missouri. They lost three games to Missouri and Kansas and two to Oklahoma. The other three games were played with Camp Funston, and Phillips college at Enid, Okla.

Altho the Aggies did not win the championship, they showed some real fighting qualities. The last game with Missouri, the only time when the champions were defeated this year, proved that the Aggies were capable of winning the championship this year if they had shown their fighting ability throughout the entire season. At any rate, it was Missouri's turn to win the championship, according to the order of things in the recent years of Valley championship races.

Next year it is the Aggies' turn to win the honors. Since Capt. George Hinds is the only member of the present team who will not be with us next year and with all the promising material on hand, there should be little doubt about the outcome of next year's basketball season.

Spring Party

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity held its annual spring party Friday evening, March 12, at Elks' hall. The dance was given as a St. Patrick's party and the decorations were green and white. The hall was decorated with a canopy of green and white streamers, running from the center to the side of the room. The banquet was served at 10 o'clock at the Gillette hotel. Covers were laid for 60 couples. The ladies were presented with corsage bouquets of sweet peas and roses. The Delta Tau Delta orchestra from Kansas university furnished the music for the dance.

Chaperons were Mrs. Bessie Webb Birdsall, Dean and Mrs. F. D. Farrell, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Cortelyou, and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Call. Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Burtis, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knaus, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pollom; and from the Delta Tau Delta chapter at Lawrence, Mr. Leach, Mr. Montgomery, Mr. Gary, Mr. Pugh, Mr. Fred Boone, and Mr. Franklin Boone.

Out of town guests were Miss Newman of Marysville, Miss Mahaffey of Ottawa, Miss Scott of Coldwater, Miss Seeds of Clyde, Miss Adams of Maple Hill, Mr. Leon Montague of Irving, Mr. Fred Layton of Blue Rapids, Mr. Pat Rexroad of Hutchinson, Mr. Chester Freeland of New Mexico, Mr. Henry Gentry of Winfield, Mr. C. F. Layton of Republic, Mr. Floyd Johnson of Downs, and Mr. Phillip Fearl, and Mr. L. L. Howard of Hutchinson.

Sigma Phi Delta Dance

The members of the Sigma Phi Delta fraternity gave an informal dancing party Friday evening at their chapter house, 1116 Bluemont. Thirty couples danced during the evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by a two piece orchestra. Refresments of punch and wafers were served. Mrs. Taylor, the Sigma Phi Delta house mother chaperoned. Special guests of the fraternity included: Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Durham and Prof. and Mrs. W. L. Latshaw.

Initiation

The Acacia fraternity held initiation services Friday for R. S. Spratt of Axtell, freshman in engineering, R. L. Dennen of Manhattan, sophomore in general science, and Albert N. Waters of Blue Rapids, senior in animal husbandry.

For Mrs. Tate

The members of the library staff gave a 6 o'clock dinner at the Pines Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Edith Findley Tate who is visiting here. Sweet peas and fresias were used in the table decorations. Covers were laid for Mrs. Edith Findley Tate, Miss Grace Derby, Miss Marie Headrick, Miss Luella Corey, Miss Ruth Sankey, Miss Mabel Baxter, Miss Lillie Cilley, and Mrs. Jessie Gulick. Mrs. Tate formerly was employed at the library.

S. A. E. Pledging

Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity announces the pledging of Mr. Ralph Shideler and Mr. Bob Shideler, both of Girard.

House Dance

Sigma Phi Delta entertained with a dance at the chapter house Friday evening. A two piece orchestra furnished the music. Punch was served thruout the evening. Mrs. R. G. Taylor acted as chaperon.

Hurry Jimmy Boy Get That Fair One To Dinner On Time

Sunday dinner at a certain fraternity house in this town is served at 1 o'clock. As in other houses, it is customary to invite a few guests for Sunday dinner.

Sunday the guests were present at the appointed hour, all but Jimmie and his date. It was 1 o'clock; the roast chicken and mashed potatoes, "piece de resistance" of the cook's culinary skill, were hot and ready to serve. But where is Jimmie? The house steward mentally counts his guests, preparatory to announcing, "dinner is served." Yes, all there, all but Jimmie and his guest.

The minutes pass—it is a quarter past one. By this time, the dinner man has informed all present, that it is time to eat—and then some. Conversation lags. Dinner is getting cold. The steward takes one last look down the street. Ah, there they come, Jimmie and his "heart's desire"—perfectly oblivious to the passage of time.

Why will some folks be late for Sunday dinner?

Dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house on Saturday evening were Miss Katherine Kinman, Miss Adelaide Seeds of Clyde, and Miss Madeline Newman of Marysville.

The Greenleaf basketball team were Friday dinner guests at the Acacia house.

Miss Gladys Hoffman, who is teaching at Riley this year, was a week end guest at the Tri Delta house.

K. S. A. C. IS TO ENTERTAIN THE ORATORS

FIRST TIME AGGIES HAVE HAD CONTEST HERE

MANY COLLEGES ARE ENTERED

J. O. Brown Will Represent K. S. A. C. in the Intercollege Oratorical Contest—Also Have a Farce

The annual Missouri Valley oratorical contest will be held at the college auditorium April 10. This is the largest oratorical event in the Missouri valley and is the first time that K. S. A. C. has had the honor of entertaining the contest.

It is known for certain that there will be orators here from K. U., Missouri, Washington, Ames, and Nebraska. It is also probable that there will be representatives from Drake and Oklahoma.

Nebraska Entered

Nebraska entered the contest only last week but from her past performance in oratory it is quite certain that she will be no small competitor for first place in the contest. Nebraska has a strong department of public speaking and has done some very good work in dramatics, oratory, and debate.

Brown Aggie Man

J. O. Brown winner of the 1920 intersociety oratorical is to represent K. S. A. C. against the other schools of the Missouri valley. Mr. Brown has shown himself to be a capable man and the student body can expect much of him in the coming contest.

Besides the orations for April 10 there will be included in the program some good music and a one act farce. The farce is to be put on by experienced student players. It will be cached by Miss Osceola Burr.

French Vamps Now Are On the Bargain Table In New York

In New York City French vamps are on the bargain table. It is only a matter of time until they will be retired to oblivion.

No not the kind with the haunting eyes, the curly locks, and the affectionate manner—but the nifty little model of black or brown kid or suede with the stubbed toes, and the high heels. At least this is the statement of the leading shoe men of Kansas City.

The French shoe made an invasion, but it is now making a hasty retreat back to France. The French shoe was only a bizarre whim of the moment.

The long slim trailing vamp of course doesn't make a number six look like a number two, but they are really a more appropriate shoe for the foot of the American woman than the short sawed off little French models.

For spring, they tell us, that no matter whether your ankles are slim or otherwise, no matter whether you have any at all you must display them. Yes ankles are in good form now for all occasions even though they are of the pedestal variety. High shoes have gone out of the shoe world, not just for the summer, but for good, shoe men say. Oxfords and woolen hose will again be the vogue next fall.

Note—MI Lady would advise the Aggie co-eds to pack their woolen hose away in cedar or moth balls, so that they will be ready to enter the service again next fall. It is always wise to be economical in an age when prices are so uncertain.

Mrs. Fishback of the College club, left Saturday for a week's visit with relatives in Chicago and other points in the east.

Mrs. A. L. Falin, '95, has been visiting this week wih Miss Florence Dial of the library staff.

Miss Nell Robinson of Wakefield, was a week end guest at the Chi Omega house.

Paul Willis has withdrawn from school.

Miss Ethel Charles, freshman in domestic science, returned Monday from her home in Republic, where she has been for a short visit.

BETTER ENGLISH FOR AGGIE STUDES

What Jardine Thinks

"It's one thing to have information and another thing to tell it in good expressive English," says Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of K. S. A. C.

Phraseology must come natural, and the only way of getting it is to use it in speaking and in writing. Just keep at it—be determined. The sooner you start the better.

One of the hardest things in a person's life is to get up and make a speech or talk before an audience, but you've just got to grit your teeth and fight. The second time it will be less difficult. "One of the biggest satisfactions, is to give an address and know it was good," says President Jardine.

Believe in yourself and undertake the things that the others won't do. Be brief, to the point, quick, and exact. You must know how to meet people and cooperate with them.

"Good, clear, expressive English is absolutely essential and basic," says President Jardine.

Two Ionian Maids Have Quarrel Over Mere College Man

Quarrels between girls over mere men are even heard of in college society as is shown by the following conversation heard one night last week. The best part of it is that the two girls are both Ionians and the man in question is an Athenian.

Perhaps we should not give the names of the girls but it's too good to keep so here goes. Their names are Rowena Thornburg and Eleanor Watson. Here is the word battle verbatim.

Rowena: "Never mind Wrenn, if those flowers are for Simp Calloway, give them to me."

Eleanor: "The nerve—"

Rowena: "Then leave this room immediately."

Eleanor: "Why you impudent little devil."

Rowena: "You heard me didn't you—?"

Eleanor: "Yes and if you give me another word of your sass—."

But here is where another voice came in telling them to get more angry and put more expression into their words. You see, Rowena and Eleanor are two of the cast in "Believe Me Xantippe" and they were only rehearsing their part in the play. The voice that broke into the conversation was that of Mrs. L. M. Bowman, coach of the play. The Athenian who is the subject of the argument, was Claude Hutto, who plays the part of the crook.

Professor Believes The Creator Meant Ears to Be Visible

"The present style of hair dress will never go down in history as beautiful," said Prof. H. W. Davis to one of his classes a few days ago.

"If the creator had not meant for people to see woman's ears, he wouldn't have put them on the heads of human beings. Now—women do the absurd thing of covering them up."

A ripple of laughter ran over the class and several of the students who had been sleeping awakened with a start.

"Isn't he just awfully funny," giggled a fair co-ed to another of the same variety across the table.

"No, but he certainly is the most sarcastic man I ever saw," said the other, as she reached for the first aid to femininity—the powderpuff.

Week end guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Fred Layton, '15, of Blue Rapids; C. F. Layton, '18, of Republic; Friday Freeland of New Mexico, Leon Montague of Irving, Pat Rexroad, L. L. Howard and Phillip Fearl of Hutchinson, Henry Gentry of Winfield and Floyd Johnson of Downs. These guests were here visiting old friends and attending the Delta Tau Delta dance Friday evening.

Miss Alma Bauersfeld, special in music, is spending a few days with her parents at Yates Center.

Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Miss Elizabeth Adams, Miss Doris Bachelor, and Mrs. C. F. Martin of Winfield.

J. W. Skinner and A. A. Axline spent the week end in Topeka.

AGGIES TO PLAY 18 GAMES IN BASEBALL

IS HEAVIEST SCHEDULE IN HISTORY OF SCHOOL

FOURTEEN VALLEY GAMES

Over 50 Men Were Out for First Practice Last Night—Batteries Worked Out in Gymnasium the Past Week

With the heaviest schedule in the history of the college looming before them, more than 50 Aggie baseball players were on the field for the first real workout last evening.

Play 18 Games

The Aggie nine will play 18 games this year. Of these, 14 are Valley games. According to the present schedule only one day is left open and it will probably be filled by Washburn or Baker. The schedule is as follows:

April 2—Funston at Manhattan.
April 3—Manhattan at Funston.
April 7-8—Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater.
April 9-10—Oklahoma at Norman.
April 16-17—Drake at Manhattan.
April 22—Open.
April 23-24—Washington at St. Louis.
April 27-28—Missouri at Manhattan.
May 3-4—Oklahoma at Manhattan.
May 13-14—K. U. at Lawrence.
May 20-21—K. U. at Manhattan.

Build New Infield

The Aggies have a new infield to build up, Coach Clevenger stated yesterday. There are only a few of last year's infielders back this year. But with the large number of men out for practice, Clevenger's machine will soon work into fine trim for the first game on April 2.

Pitchers Work Out

For the past week a number of batteries have been working out in the gymnasium. McGrath, captain, this year, is an all star Valley pitcher. This is his third year at pitching for the Aggies. He is a senior so his work this year will be his final gift to K. S. A. C.

Otto, another letter man, is out on his second year at pitching. He is a junior so will be back again next year.

Agnew, a pitcher who has been in the Marines for the past two years, is back to fight for the Wildcats. He was on one of the Marine teams, and as he puts it, he "delivers the ball from the port side."

Snapp, who led the team in batting average last year, is out for position as pitcher. He also is a "lefter." Snapp played center field last year and this year will play at center field when he is not pitching. He is a senior and a letter man.

Hargis, who is back after two years in the army, and Reed, a sophomore, are also at the fast end of the battery. Both are good men. There are a number of other Aggies who have been out at various times.

Catchers Are Busy

Burton, letter man and last year's catcher, is out for his old position.

Guilfoyle, who won his letter here three years ago but for the past two years was in the navy, is back with the catcher's mit. "Luke" is a splendid player and fighter.

Oliver, who was in the army for two years, is back. Foltz, last year's freshman squad catcher, is also out. Bruce, a sophomore, and a few others, are also handling the heavy gloves.

Among the men who were out for practice last night are E. Cowell and Pete Hixson. Both are letter men. The former is an outfielder and was one of last year's leading batters. Hixson is an infielder.

Quinlan, W. Cowell, Anderson, Staib, Griffth, and other infielders, were out for practice last night. Griffith is one of the best players in the school and will make an excellent man if he is eligible for the team this year.

Terrill for Freshmen

Captain Terrill is to have charge of the freshman baseball players this year. There should be at least 30 to 40 freshmen try out for the team.

EXPOSE THE AGGIE PROFS

PROFESSOR McKEEVER HOLDS REUNION HERE

Tells, in Chapel Address, of Widespread Reputation K. S. A. C. Has Gained

Bits of past history of some of our dignified professors were brought to light Wednesday morning at chapel when Prof. William A. McKeever, for several years professor of psychology at K. S. A. C. and now connected with Kansas university, spoke to the student body.

Professor McKeever declared he was not going to make an address but hold a reunion with the students and faculty of the college. He told of the baseball prowess of Professor Dickens, and of the same skill coupled with pugilistic activities of Professor Price, and of the poultry of Professor Hamilton. The pasts of Professors Remick, Andrews, and Cortelyou also received a certain amount of publicity.

The widespread prominence of K. S. .A C. and of how it was known in all parts of the country were also related by Professor McKeever. He said he had met graduates of the college all over the nation—from the Atlantic coast to the Dakotas and from Seattle to Texas.

SEND EXPERTS TO CHINA NOW

THREE SPECIALISTS MAY GO TO HELP CHINESE

To Establish a Model 800 Acre Livestock Farm Near Peking

K. S. A. C. probably will send three agricultural experts to help the Chinese people to establish an 800-acre model livestock farm in northern China.

S. Moore Gordon, professor of history of Peking university, is a special representative from China who is now touring in this country to promote this enterprise. Mr. Gordon had an interview with President Jardine and the department heads and talked the project over with them. He wants one farm manager, one veterinarian, one poultry man. Mr. Gordon is looking forward to the prospect that some experts will be sent over to China from this institution. He said K. S. A. C. is the best agricultural college known both in this country and China.

China is beginning to adapt herself to modern farming methods. Experiment stations and agricultural colleges have recently been established in all provinces. China has been a great agricultural country. An intelligent adaptation of western scientific methods in farm practice will enable her to be the most productive country in the world.

K. S. A. C. has already two representatives in Canton Christian college, China. It is quite possible that some day a little K. S. A. C. will be transplanted over to China.

Tri K Met

Prof. L. E. Call gave a lecture on "French Agriculture" at a meeting of the Tri K club Tuesday evening. Professor Call spent several months in France and is well versed on this subject.

Following the lecture, sandwiches and coffee, prepared by the wives of faculty members of the department, were served.

Miss Helen Bauer of Junction City, was a week end guest at the Alpha Delta Pi house. Miss Bauer attended the Delta Tau party Friday evening.

CAMPUS PRIDE

Why should our beautiful campus be desecrated by being strewn with waste paper, Hershey wrappers, and rubbish of many and various kinds? Some parts of the campus look as if they were being used as a public dumping ground for returned quiz papers, discarded notes, and old posters.

The shrubbery between the walks leading from Fairchild hall is overflowing with trash. These trash piles are not only unsightly to campus folks but readily attract the eyes of strangers and visitors.

The regular policing of the campus by the S. A. T. C. did a great deal toward keeping the campus neat last year, but this year every one adds to the conglomeration and no one removes any of it.

In many schools the students have nearly as much pride in the appearance of their campus as they have in their personal appearance. Why should not the Aggies have more "Campus Pride"?

Boxers Wondering What Has Become of Heavy Weights

In the boxing circles of the college, all classes are fairly well represented, with two exceptions. These exceptions are the heavyweight class and the commission weight, light-heavy-weight class.

What is the matter with men eligible for this class? Are they afraid of getting their "map mussed up," or is it that they are merely too busy to come out. Come on out, you men of these classes. Be a sport, and show that you are made out of the right stuff.

GRANDFIELD TO BE COUNTY AGENT OF WILSON COUNTY

Will Take up the Duties of That Office March 1

C. O. Grandfield, a graduate from the agronomy course with the class of 1917, and a former Aggie track star, has accepted a position as county agent of Wilson county. He assumed the duties of that office March 1.

Since his graduation Mr. Grandfield has been with the bureau of land classification of the United States department of the interior. He is a member of the K fraternity, having won three Ks in athletics. He is also a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

SPEAKER MAKES AUDIENCE TALK AS MUCH AS HIMSELF

Proves Rather Embarrassing for the Students

C. J. Masseck of the Capper publications spoke to several classes in journalism and delivered an address at the journalism seminar last Thursday.

At the seminar Mr. Masseck spoke on "Literary Journalism." He declared that the would-be writer must have a genius for work and a geinus for being careful if he is to succeed. He must base his writing on common sense, the speaker further stated, and must make it faithful to life as it is lived. He must not be afraid of life but must look it in the eye and record what he sees. The young writer must have fortitude—the ability to hang on until recognition has been gained.

Mr. Masseck is a rather unusual speaker. He makes his audience do as much talking as he does. The results of this method are sometimes embarrassing for members of the audience.

SCANDAL COLLEGIAN

Ruby Crocker gave an announcement party Tuesday evening announcing her engagement to "Jimmie." Ruby wouldn't let the society editor write a thing about the party, she is so bashful and it is all so new this being engaged; that she would rather not have it published.

Annette Perry says "I will never wear a diamond bought with some poor dad's money." Howard, that sounds like hard work for you.

The prim thin little librarian actually smiled the other day.

We wonder if the Brown Bull is still rearing to be turned loose on the campus. Poor thing, think how many months it has been pawing the earth for freedom. He will be almost exhausted when he really does arrive.

The spring skirt styles are creeping up; notice the Chi Omega shoe tops are again visible after a long season of obscurity.

Professor Davis is still hammering away on the faults of the women. He certainly must have been disappointed in married life.

Jack Richardson's worst fault is that he forgets to punctuate his free, flexible, fluent, flowery, flow of conversation. He doesn't even know what a period looks like.

What a dear little cactus some one sent Helen Lawrence from the Flower Shop. But then a cactus will not fade as soon as roses.

It was mighty handy having dates to the Better Homes institute; just ask Evelyn Glenn, Rowena Turner, Norine Weddle, Enola Miller, well just most any girl.

Germany says "if the hurdles could only be placed toward the Chi Omega house, Gallagher could easily break the world's record."

Which of the Alpha Delta Pi freshmen gave Jamie Cameron that black eye?

Ella Stinson has a new hat with a lot of blue stuff on it. Take it from us it is quite an improvement on the old one.

Dean Farrell's name was spelled with one l in the last issue of the Collegian; but for once he didn't notice the error.

Doris Bachelor will be in town this week end and life will be worth living again, at least that is what Spangler thinks. By the way she has recovered her voice, too.

Elizabeth Dickens should be reported to the disciplinary committee, for as she was going up the steps yesterday, down she tumbled and the honorable Professor Dicken's dear little daughter was heard to exclaim "Damm, Damm that makes me mad."

Elizabeth Circle was seen passing a cigarette to Ruth Rathbone on Wednesday. Professor Price should ask these young ladies to join his Sunday school class right away. Perhaps they can be saved yet.

Speaking of leap year hints how is this one?

At the cafeteria Wednesday, Miss Ercile Clark was heard making the following statement:

"I am trying to get some one to carry me away with them this year."

Step up boys, it is a precious little package.

We are wondering just why it is that Guy Shelly of the Lone Star club, persists in ringing the dinner bell when he leaves the table. Is it because he thinks he must celebrate after this notable event, or does he think that he should give the others notice that he left a few eats for them?

Miss Conie Foote has been called home because of the illness of her mother.

F. R. Williams spent the week end at his home near Wakefield.

Miss Ada Robertson spent a few days of last week at her home in Washington.

Miss Geraldine Noffsinger is unable to attend classes this week because of illness.

Miss Kate Sumners and Miss Elizabeth Fraser were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Thursday of last week.

Miss Marie Peterson, music student, returned to Manhattan after spending a week at her home in Randolf on account of the illness of her sister.

Miss Stella Horshem, a former student in the school of agriculture, is here visiting friends. She has been spending the past six weeks in Texas and is now on her way to her home at Hays.

EIGHT SPEAKERS FOR THE FORUM

SPECIAL AGRICULTURALIST BIG ASSET TO MEETINGS

Has Solved the Agricultural Problem in India—Plans Were Accepted by British Government

Eight speakers of national reputation have been secured to speak at the World Forum which will be held in Manhattan next month.

One of the best of these speakers will be Mr. Sam Higinbotham who has solved the agricultural problem in India, a problem which many men have tried to work and failed. Mr. Higinbotham is a graduate of Princeton university and took special work in agriculture at Cornell.

He was asked to work up a program to better the agricultural conditions in India and this program was accepted by the British government. He is a recognized authority on the labor conditions in India and has proved to be a very interesting speaker.

This is by far the best group of stars that have ever been secured to speak in Manhattan on any occasion and the students and town people should take advantage of this opportunity in hearing these men.

Buffet Supper

Mrs. Walter Burr, who is one of the patronesses of the Better Homes Institute, entertained a number of students Monday evening with a supper which was followed by a line party to Mr. Cook's demonstration. Mrs. Burr's guests included: Miss Miriam Harling, Miss Osceola Burr, Miss Anna Neal, Miss Ruth Harding, Mr. Vernon Crippen, Mr. Walter Harder, Mr. C.C. McPherson, Mr. Morgan, and Mr. Allen.

For Miss Ross

Miss Ruby Starkey entertained Tuesday evening at her home 1331 Poyntz in honor of Miss Hester Ross who leaves soon for her new home in Alhambra, Calif. The evening was spent with music and games. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served to 14 including: Miss Bernice Hedge, Miss Hilma Brown, Miss Bess Hansen, Miss Mabel Bentley, Miss Bernice Riley, Miss Ruby Starkey, Cecil Bower, Tom McClung, Clinton Guy, Iro Vowel, Jesse Allen, Dale Bennett, and Jay Starkey.

Initiation and Dinner

Kappa Kappa Gamma held formal initiation services Saturday evening at their chapter house on North 14th street for the following girls: Miss Mary Sellers, Miss Florence Swenson, Miss Lorna Troup, Miss Margaret Rochford, Miss Jayne Lamb, Miss Gladys Graybill, Miss Maude Stewart, Miss Grace Hibarger, Miss Gretchen Rugh, and Miss Ruth Rinehart. After the initiation services dinner was served at the Pines for forty two active members, patronesses, and alumni. Decorations of dark blue and light blue sweet peas were used in the table decorations, and candles in the sorority colors of dark and light blue were also used.

Social Club Meeting

The regular meeting of the College Social club was held in the recreational hall Monday afternoon. A short program including two piano numbers by Miss Patricia Abernethy of Chicago, two vocal numbers by Miss Katherine Kimmel, and talks by Mr. Hunt Cook and Prof. H. D. Hemenway were given. The hostesses for the afternoon included: Mrs. J. W. Searson, Mrs. C. F. Baker, Mrs. Albert Dickens, Mrs. J. O. Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Merritt, Miss Ada Rice, Miss Martha Pittman, Mrs. R. K. Nabours, Miss Vera McCoy, Miss Price, Mrs. H. B. Walker, and Miss Araminta Holman.

Mrs. Edythe Wilson Thoesen, who spent several days of last week at the Delta Zeta house, left Tuesday for her home in Denver.

H. D. Bennett has returned to school again after being called home because of the serious illness of a brother.

Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house were: Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Searson, Mrs. Platt of Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lovett of Eureka, and Miss Frances Lovett.

Miss Fuller of the English department, spent the week end in Topeka visiting her father who has just undergone an operation at the Stormont hsopital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dial, '97 and '98, were in Manhattan last week visiting their niece, Miss Florence Dial.

Prof. J. W. Searson spoke last Saturday at the state teachers' meeting in Hutchinson.

Interesting Folks On the Hill

"H. W. D." Tells Some Secrets of the Humorists' Craft.

"When the average man parts with a dollar, he invariably reveals his real character," said H. W. Davis, professor of English, Kansas State Agricultural college, the other day. Professor Davis is the H. W. D. of The Industrialist Sunflower column.

"How do I know? Because for two years I clerked in a country store in southern Illinois," he explained.

Money is dear to the heart of man, and when exchanging it for the plain things of life, such as beans and sauerkraut, his mind is entirely occupied with the parting of the hard earned dollars. He forgets that the world is looking, and that the clerk is an especially observing young chap.

It was during the two years spent in the general store in southern Illinois, that Professor Davis really became acquainted with character. Then, too, it was in this country store that he had the first lessons in news circulation. For it was due to the efforts of the village merchant and his staff that the village news was so widely disseminated.

PROF. H. W. DAVIS

Laughed at Woman's Vanity

Every type of character came before the young clerk's observing eyes. But perhaps to him the most interesting were the good looking country lasses who chatted and even flirted over the calicos and ribbons with "Young Davis."

"Even then," Professor Davis said, "I wondered and often laughed at the little vanities of women."

The country girls of southern Illinois are the source of some of the short articles he has written about women. A large number of these articles have been published in eastern magazines of humor.

It was at this country grocery that Professor Davis conceived the idea of his rhymes about Lucy Wonder. Whether Lucy was a real girl or merely a fancy the professor will not say.

Peeped Into Their Hearts

Often in the early morning when he was burning the trash of the day before, he could see the housewives leaning on their garden fences gossiping to a nearby neighbor.

"This small town gossip is laughable to an outsider," Professor Davis said, "but to those who live in tiny towns these conversations are not back fence calculations, as Ben Jonson once referred to them; but they are glimpses of human nature. For it is during these little friendly chats that we are able to peek into the hearts and lives of our neighbors."

"No, I didn't like to count eggs and shovel prunes," mused the professor, "but I did enjoy meeting and mingling with the people. It is two years of my life that I will never forget nor regret."

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady: Is the six o'clock meal dinner or supper? Some even call it lunch. I fear I have made many social errors by naming my meals incorrectly. I am sure I could enjoy my evening meal much more if I only knew what to call it. Yours in waiting.—Joe.

Dear Joe: Name your meals as you wish. If you have your biggest meal at night, it is called dinner, if not it is supper. Those who call the night meal lunch usually belong to the high-brow class. I certainly hope this matter will no longer affect your enjoying a meal.—Mi Lady.

Mi Lady: When eating is it correct to take a bite of meat and potato on the fork at the same time? I really prefer this method but I have heard some say that the bites should be alternated. If they should be is there any special arrangement as to which kind of food should come first? Thanking you in advance.—Horace.

Dear Horace: Put a bite of meat and potato on your fork if you wish. Just be careful that you don't get too much on your fork as there is danger of gagging yourself if you should thrust the fork too far down your throat. Alternate the bites of food as you like, if necessary mix the peas with the potatoes so they won't roll off of your knife.—Mi Lady.

Mi Lady:—Is it proper for a sorority girl to subscribe to the "Police Gazete," and have it sent to her at the sorority house? There is always a mad scamble among the girls to see who shall be the first to read it, yet I often wonder, if in any way it might have a bad influence on the freshmen? Hoping for the best, Florence

Dear Hoping Florence:—The "Police Gazette," has a large circulation usually among the young men of the country, who have an eye for the extreme. It is generally not considered as a young lady's magazine. However, as his is leap year, and the women are doing pretty much as they "Durn Please," why of course it is up to you to suit yourself. I wouldn't subscribe for it though. I would get some place and then when you got is more dignified and cheaper, too.—Mi Lady.

Dear Mi Lady—What would you do if some man called you on the telephone and asked you to meet him sme place and then when you got there, he couldn't be found? Well, the other day a certain Pi Phi called me and asked me to come down to the house. I was all dressed up in my corduroy trousers and flannel shirt so by the time I was all dressed up, I was feeling pretty much excited. Then when I got to the house, a pretty little girl met me and said.

"Won't you come in and take off your coat? Whom shall I call?"

It made me kind of huffy so I said, "No I'll stand up and if I get too hot, I'll take off my coat. Please call Miss R——."

So in about a half hour the girl appeared and said, "Why hello, Kike, what's on your mind?"

So when I came back with, "What did you want to see me about?," she answered with a rather sarcastic "Why, I didn't want to see you at all."

So the Pi Phi door and I bid each other adieu and now I'd like to know who that girl was that called me up. What would you do, Mi Lady?—Kike.

Dear Kike: For Heaven's Sake, Kike! I thought you were old enough not to run every time a girl calls. If you don't learn to be more independent you will be somebody's poor hen-pecked husband before the year is over. Don't take this scolding to seriously. Now for the question, what wuld I do. Well Kike I wouldn't do a thing but just figure I had been the victim of a joke and after this don't run every time a girls calls. Keep those corduroy trousers on for all occasions except a formal, and assert your independence.—Mi Lady.

Dear Mi Lady: I am a young sorority girl and I am troubled about one thing. Will you help me out? I heard that they were going to stop wearing sorority pins because they couldn't find anything to pin them to. But the other day I saw an article in a paper that said that fashionable people were beginning to cover the back—not with crepe de chine, georgette, and voiles, but with stencils of flowers, insects, and other novel figures.

Now, Mi Lady, will you please tell me if it will be proper to have my sorority emblem stenciled on my back?—Anxious.

Sweet Anxious; I would advise you to consult your own fraternity laws first to see whether it is permissible. While on the other hand, I hardly think it would be convenient for half the joy of a fraternity pin is being able to see it yourself. Moreover, there are such emblems as fraternity lockets, rings, and dorine boxes that can be worn, regardless of the dress.—Mi Lady.

AGGIE PROFS ASK A $500 WAGE BOOST

AFTER THAT AMOUNT FOR EACH FACULTY MEMBER

AMOUNTS TO OVER $100,000

President Jardine Will Present the Request to the Governor and to the Board of Administration

A resolution requesting that the president ask for an increase of $500 a year for each member of the instructional and investigational staff of the Kansas State Agricultural college was passed by the faculty Tuesday afternoon.

Go to Legislature

The creation of a deficiency appropriation bill to be presented to the next legislature if funds for such an increase are not available was recommended.

The last legislature provided for small increases of pay for the fiscal year beginning next July 1. The money appropriated for that purpose will fall far short of the requested $500 blanket raise. A flat increase of $500 a year for each faculty member would amount to more than $100,000.

Salaries Fall Short

Statistics were presented at the faculty meeting showing that living costs have increased 103 percent in the last four years. This has been partly met, they said, by an average increase of salaries of approximately 30 per cent.

Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the college, will present the request to the governor and board of administration.

NOTED POET TO TALK IN CHAPEL

IS EDITOR OF "OTHERS" MAGAZINE

Alfred Kreymborg Is Leader in New Poetry Movement—Is Musician, Too

Alfred Kreymborg, one of the leaders in the new poetry movement in America, will visit the Kansas State Agricultural college on Wednesday, March 24. He will speak at assembly and will give also an afternoon program under the auspices of the journalism department.

Is Musician

Mr. Kreymborg is a musician as well as a poet. He will read a number of his poems to the accompaniment of music which he himself composed for them. His readings have aroused much attention wherever they have been given.

Though still a young man, Mr. Kreymborg holds a high place both as a poet and as a leader in the movement to separate poetry from outworn conventions. He is the editor of "Others," a Magazine of the New Verse, and of an annual anthology also bearing the title of "Others." For both he uses the motto, "The old expressions we have with us always, and there are always others."

Has Written Books

Mr. Kreymborg is author of a number of volumes of his own works, most conspicuous among which are "Mushrooms," a book of poems in free forms, and "Plays for Poem-Mimes," a book of dramatic compositions. He is widely known also as a contributor to magazines.

DR. J. G. EMERSON TO COACH THE PLAY

Will Be Given May 8—Coach Says More Men Should Make a Try

The tryouts for the caste for John Hobble's play "Daddies" to be given May 8, are still open and will be for another week.

Those wishing to try out may make an appointment to do so by telephoning Dr. J. G. Emerson, who will coach the play.

Dr. Emerson is especially anxious that a large number of students should try out during the coming week, as he wishes to have the best caste available for the play. More men are needed.

SHERIFF LOVES HIS PRISONER

MONDAY NIGHT, MARCH 29, THE SHERIFF WILL MAKE LOVE

"Believe Me Zantippe" Is Full of Surprises—The Cleverest Comedy Staged in Many a Moon

Who ever heard of a deputy sheriff falling in love with a prisoner? It isn't a very common occurrence but that is just what happens in "Believe Me Xantippe." The deputy sheriff is a woman and the prisoner is a man, so after all it isn't such a surprise, is it?

"Believe Me Xantippe" is just full of surprises though, and it is going to be one of the cleverest comedies that has been staged at K. S. A. C. for many moons, according to the dope handed out by the coach. The plot is something unusual and most interesting. The action is carried from New York to the west—commonly believed to be the wild west by easterners.

The hero is a rich New Yorker who thinks he can do about as he pleases and lands in jail for his trouble. But he is a nice criminal, for the part is played by Claude Hutto.

"Believe Me Xantippe" is something different. You never would never guess, dear reader, what Xantippe means and it wouldn't do to tell now. It may be the name of a little God or it may be a cuss word, but "Believe Me Xantippe" you can't afford to miss it. The play is being presented by the literary societies. The cast is made up of seven men and three women. The date is Monday night, March 29, and the place is the college auditorium.

POSTERS ADVERTISE PLAY TO BE GIVEN MARCH 29

Farce Comedy Will Be Given by the Literary Societies

"Believe Me Xantippe", the farce comedy to be played by the college literary societies on Monday, March 29 has brought more than dramatic talent to the fore, and to see it one need only to look at the posters placed on the bulletin boards advertising the play.

R. Fuller is the artist who draws them. The posters are done in colors and modeled after the style of illustration seen in Vanity Fair. Mr. Fuller is a freshman student in architecture. To say the least the posters are attractive, and we are promised an entertainment on March 29 equal to any by local talent at K. S. A. C. this year.

AGGIES TAKE MOST FIRSTS AT K. C. A. C.

GALLAGHER PLACED FIRST IN HURDLES

FROST WON POLE VAULT

Turner Caused Big Surprise When He Won First Place in the 440 Yard Dash, Defeating Three Stars

The Aggie track team heaped more honors on itself last Saturday at Convention hall in Kansas City when they took more firsts than any other team represented. All Missouri Valley schools were represented.

First In Hurdles

Gallagher won first in the 50 yard low hurdles over his old rival Sylvester of Missouri. Last year Gallagher also nosed out the eastern speed demon Loomis.

Jack Frost brought home another first in the pole vault. Jack went only 11 feet 9 inches but received much favorable comment for his excellent form.

Turner Also A First

Turner sprang a real surprise when he nosed out the fast Massengale of Missouri, Clift, a K. U. man, and McMahon of Nebraska for first place in the 440. Turner is one of the most conscientious trainers on the squad, and it is his excellent condition that makes him a safe bet in the quarter mile.

Jack Evans won his heat in the 50 yard dash but only placed third in the finals. Jack had some mighty keen competition and made an exceptional showing under the circumstances.

Hope won his heat in the low hurdles but failed to win a point in the finals. This is his first appearance at the K. C. A. C. meet.

Took One Second

Little Henre placed second in the 880 yard run. He has done considerable running on Kansas City high school teams.

Von Riesen placed fifth in the mile. His form in the mile received much praise. This Aggie freshman has done some sensational work since coming to K. S. A. C.

Ship Winters tied for fourth place in the high jump. Ship is bound to make some of the valley height men hustle next season.

Tom Neeley placed fourth in the 440 yard run.

Out On Cinder Track

Next week Coach Schulz will take his proteges on the cinder track. Already a few of the men have been working out doors. The entire squad that has done such excellent work indoors will be on the outdoor squad.

PICK MEN FOR COMING DEBATE

ANNUAL PENTANGULAR SET FOR MARCH 26

K. S. A. C. Negative Team Goes to Baker and Affirmative Appears Here

Names of the students who will represent the college in the annual pentangular debate between this college, Washburn, Ottawa, Baker, and the College of Emporia were posted this week by Prof. O. H. Burns.

Chose the Teams

Those chosen for the affirmative team are: H. H. Nelson, a senior in agriculture and a "K" debater; Arnold Englund, also a "K" man and sophomore in agriculture; and E. E. Kimble who is a freshman in electrical engineering.

The debaters chosen for the negative team are: W. T. Rolfe, a sophomore in architecture; G. R. Schroll, a sophomore in agriculture; V. V. Cool, a sophomore in general science.

To Be March 26

The debates are to be held March 26. The negative team will go to Baker university while the affirmative will debate Ottawa here.

Miss Polly Mahaffy of Ottawa, was a guest at the Delta Zeta house Saturday and Sunday.

Chemistry Devotee Realizes Too Late That She Is Alone

Chemistry has at least one feminine devotee and her loyalty to her intention to pass the aforementioned subject with an E outdid her always keen appetite with the result that the other night the dinner hour approached and she was still working diligently in one of the chemistry labs.

Darkness approached but the fair one worked on. She was interested in the deep and alarming mysteries of H2O. Not even the coming of the night, watchman phased her for he locked all the doors and windows, 'neverything, not knowing the little miss was working in the building.

Finally the problems in chemistry were finished and with the completion of the scientific labors there came to the little girl a very keen realization that food would probably be most in order, and she started to leave the building only to find that she was locked in. After trying doors, windows, and inspecting the largest cracks she realized that she might have to spend the night in the comfortless, cold stone building. And just then she remembered that there was a large fire escape down which it is possible to pass in cases of emergency.

Deciding that this was a most emergent occasion, she made her way to the fire escape and after more or less detail she safely reached the ground.

GRAND OPERA COMPANY TO APPEAR HERE

SAN CARLOS WILL STAGE "LUCIA DI LAMMERMOOR"

Is the Foremost Touring Organization of Its Kind in America—Treat for Every Student

The San Carlo Grand Opera company will give a performance of Donizetti's "Lucia Di Lammermoor" at the auditorium March 25. The San Carlo company is the most expensive attraction which the college has ever brought to Manhattan.

Great for College

The company is the foremost touring grand opera company in America, and the "Lucia" performance which will be given here will be a treat for every college student.

Manhattan people who keep in touch with the best musical attractions given in Kansas City know and appreciate the San Carlo as the company has paid annual visits to Kansas City for several years.

Has Large Chorus

The San Carlo company includes this year not only a distinguished cast of principals, but a large and finely trained chorus, and an unusually brilliant and well directed orchestra. A fortune has been invested in the settings and costumes for this year's productions.

The San Carlo now looms far ahead of anything else that has been attempted by way of a travelling organization. It is so far afield of any other aggregation of its character that has attempted a long tour that there seems no comparison. As one eminent critic put it, "The San Carlo may yet become America's greatest operatic bulwark."

TIME OF DAY IS STAMPED ON MAIL WHEN IT ARRIVES

Small Hand Stamp with Watch Dial Does the Work

Students and faculty are now able to know exactly when their mail arrives at the college post office.

Due to some complaint that letters were not getting into the various boxes as rapidly as they should, the management of the post office has adopted the novel scheme of stamping the time of day and date on each article of mail as it arrives at the office.

A small hand stamp with a rubber watch dial does the work. A rubber hand points out the hour and minute and can be adjusted to any time of the day by those who know the combination.

New Library Feature

A new feature in the college library is a list containing the names of the new books which have been received by the library, and are ready for general use. The list is placed beside the "new book shelf" near the loan desk and is kept up to date by Miss Cilley, head of the cataloging department.

The names of several books which are of special interest to K. S. A. C. students have appeared on this list recently. One of the most interesting of these is "The Golden Age of Authors" by William W. Ellsworth. Mr. Ellsworth is very probably remembered by many Aggie people as he addressed one of the student assemblies about two years ago.

FRENCH WOMAN GIVES LESSONS

WILL OFFER COURSE IN FRENCH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE

Attended School at Chattillon-Sur Seine—Has Been Reviewing Books for Publication

Mrs. Amos Payne, who has recently arrived in America from Burgundy, France, is offering a course in private lessons in French language and literature.

Mrs. Payne took her work at Chattillon-sur-Seine. In former times this was an old convent school, but now it is a private school.

Mrs. Payne has spent a great deal of her time in reading and studying literature—both French and English. For two years she was engaged in reviewing books for publication. This course is really of a double opportunity for students of French, for they may get not only the linguistic training but also interesting and reliable information about the customs of the country.

The lessons are given not only to advanced students but also to young children whose parents are desirous that their children learn to speak the language correctly while they are young.

J. L. Prehn and family left Friday for Topeka, where Mr. Prehn has accepted a position as manager of the Premium Poultry Products company. Mr. Prehn was formerly with the extension department of the college as poultry club leader of the state.

GET TIME EACH PERSON STUDIES

BLANKS TO BE GIVEN TO ALL STUDENTS

Names of Students Are Not Given So Information Should Be Exact

An effort to ascertain the amount of time that a student puts on each study is to be made during the coming week. Blanks will be sent to each instructor in the college, and these in turn will be given to each student enrolled in the class.

The blanks record the name of the subject and the time spent in recitation and preparation for that particular subject. As the student's name does not appear upon the blank, it is hoped that the information given will be fair and exact.

In addition to this a summary of the time used by the student for college work in a week will be obtained from each student. This will give the total number of hours each student puts upon college work in a week.

Bethany Circle Meeting

Bethany Circle held formal initiation services Sunday afternoon for Miss Lois Litchfield, Miss Ruth Owens, Miss Marietta Crowley, Miss Bernice Hedge, Miss Belle Hyde, Miss Adelaide Beedle, Miss Nora Bare, Miss Harrietta Betz, and Miss Margaret Reasener.

The following officers were elected for the year: president, Abbie Clare Dennin; vice president, Pearl Hoop; secretary, Gladys Ford; treasurer, Ruth Willis.

Miss Abbie Clare Dennin and Miss Eloise Flanders were elected to represent Beta chapter at the national convention to be held at Missouri university, March 26, 27, and 28.

QUEEN OF MAY TO BE CHOSEN NEXT TUESDAY

NOMINATIONS ARE ALREADY MADE

THREE GIRLS ON THE STAND

Miss Mildred Arends, Miss Ernestine Biby and Miss Elizabeth Circle Are the Ones Nominated

May Queen will be elected Tuesday afternoon at eighth hour at a student mass meeting in the auditorium. No the Queen will not be nominated, because the nominations are over.

The student body nominated the most popular senior girls, when the girls were elected for the popularity contest. It has been decided that the senior girls winning places in the popularity contest are to be the nominees for May Queen election.

This new method of choosing the girls for May Queen election was proposed by President Jardine. The most popular senior girls are always nominated for election of May Queen and as the names of the most popular senior girls have already been announced at the popularity contest, why be bothered with nominations again?

The election committee composed of Miss Irene Dean, Miss Jessie Machir, and Dr. J. R. Macarthur have accepted the suggestion offered by President Jardine. The election for May Queen will be under the direction of Doctor Macarthur. A new plan for the election has been worked out; but the scheme will not be divulged until at the election on Tuesday afternoon.

BUNGER AND COWELL PLACE ON FIRST TEAM

Jennings, Aggie Center, Gets Place on Second Valley Basketball Squad

"Ham" Bunger and "Shorty" Cowell, favorite sons of the Aggie basketball team, have landed places on the All-Missouri Valley basketball team.

These players were chosen from the first four teams in the valley by coaches and officials of the conference. The first team consists of Ruby, Missouri, and Bunger, Aggie, forwards; Williams, Missouri, center; Lonborg, Kansas, and E. Cowell, Aggies, guards.

Al Jennings of the Aggies won the center position on the all-valley second team.

Following is the final standing of the teams in the Missouri Valley conference:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Missouri	17	1	.944
Washington	11	5	.688
Kansas	9	7	.563
K. S. A. C.	8	8	.500

TWO LITERARY SOCIETIES HAVE A JOINT PROGRAM

Members of 1916 Class Take Charge of Meeting

The Philomathian and Lincoln literary societies held a joint meeting last Saturday night. About 75 members and alumni were present.

The program was given by the alumni of 1916 and consisted of numbers given that year. The presiding officers of the meeting were Miss Luella Mall and R. W. McCall, presidents of their respective societies in 1916.

After the business meeting refreshments were served in leap year fashion in remembrance that 1916 was a leap year also.

NEED A NEW STADIUM

The Kansas State Agricultural college, one of the largest and best equipped in the middle west, is lacking in one thing, accommodations for the spectators at the athletic events which form a large part of the college life.

Who wants to pay a dollar to see a game and then have to stand up? Can you expect any one to turn out to the games under those conditions?

K. S. A. C. has one of the best if not the best athletic field in the Missouri valley, but its accommodations for the public and the student body at its athletic events is the poorest of any of the colleges of its size. Look at Missouri university. Kansas university, Kansas State Normal, Washington university, and several others that could be sighted all of which are far ahead of us in this line.

So why not get together and work for a new concrete stadium which will put K. S. A. C. one more step forward in the rank of leading colleges of this country?

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

For Mrs. Nichols

Mrs. H. W. Davis entertained Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Carl Nichols of New York City who is visiting here. The Saint Patrick's idea was carried out in the favors and decorations.

Junior Dance

The members of the junior class gave a dance in the recreation hall Friday evening. The music for the party was provided by Wheeler's five piece orchestra. The chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. H. H. Haymaker, and Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Winchester. Merton Otto was chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment.

Alpha Beta Kid Party

The Alpha Betas held their annual kid party Saturday night, March 13 in the girls' gymnasium.

Fifty members and guests were present and a leap year program, whose chief feature was proposals, accepted by presentations of hearts or rejected by means of mittens, was carried out.

Professor and Mrs. J. W. Zahnley chaperoned the party. Refreshments of animal cookies and fruit juice were served.

Kappa at Home

The members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity held open house Saturday evening from 7:30 until 8:30 for the members of Beta Theta Pi. Mrs. Miller the Kappa house mother, and Mrs. McCloud, the Beta house mother, chaperoned.

Pi Kappa Alpha Formal

The members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity entertained at Elks' hall Wednesday evening with a formal Saint Patrick's dance. Saint Patrick's day decorations were used throughout the room. Punch was served from the well during the evening.

Two special dances were given, one favor solo dance by Miss Myrtle Broberg, and the other an Irish festival dance. Irish hats were given as favors to the men, and Irish bonnets and aprons to the girls in the festival dance.

The Delta Tau orchestra from K. U. furnished music for the dancing. The guests danced until 1 o'clock, after which a three course luncheon was served at the College Inn. Corsage bouquets of pink sweet peas and green carnations were given to the ladies. The chaperones included Mr. and Mrs. Riddlebarger, Prof. and Mrs. R. I. Throckmorton, Prof. and Mrs. J. P. Calderwood, Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Grimes, and Mrs. E. Sargent.

Special guests of the fraternity included Mr. and Mrs. Corby, Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Winchester, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Timmons, Mrs. Chappell, Miss Katherine Chappell, Miss Lois Stickler, Miss Bess Curry, Miss Dora Otto, Mr. George Chandler, Mr. Carl Swanson, Mr. James Austin, Mr. Howard Miller, Mr. Hugh Keckley, Mr. Dempsey Elliott, Mr. Ambrose Johnston, Dr. C. H. Faubion, Mr. Glen Lee, Prof. A. L. Lovejoy, and Mr. C. E. Auble.

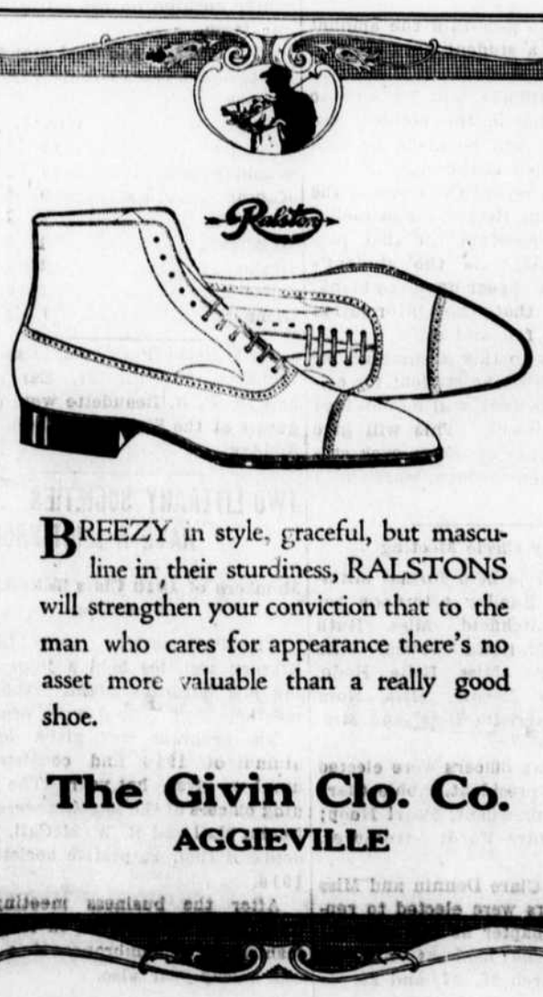

Purple Masque Banquet

The members of the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity held a banquet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Pines. Decorations of pink sweet peas and pink candles were used on the table. After the banquet informal talks were given by Miss Florence Heizer, Dr. J. G. Emerson, and Prof. C. F. Baker, Mr. Lloyd Hamilton presiding. Covers were laid for the following members of the Purple Masque, and special guests of the fraternity: Miss Florence Heizer, Miss Ella Stinson, Miss Katheinformal talks were given by Miss Renna Rosenthal, Miss Gertrude Ramsey, Miss Blanche Sappenfield, Miss Betty Lyman, Prof. J. YANKS HAVE THE PILGRIM SPIRIT

CHICAGO ATTORNEY SAYS IDEALS ARE STILL SAME

Former K. S. A. C. Man Gives Excellent Address to Aggies in Assembly

Paying glowing tribute to the men from K. S. A. C. who answered Governor Allen's call for volunteers during the coal strike last December, David G. Robertson, prominent Chicago attorney addressed the student assembly last Wednesday morning, having as his subject, "The Original Yankees."

Mr. Robertson traced the early development of the colonies, citing all the hardships of the "original Yankees who came to this country because they were offered here freedom, and equality."

That the spirit which actuated their fortitude in the trials 300 years ago is the same which made the Yanks push back the Huns under the leadership of General "Jimmie" Harbord, '86, and that this same spirit is the one which prompted the Aggie men to stand out for a principle which they believed to be right, was the opinion of Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Robertson graduated from K. S. A. C. with the class of 1886, the same year of the graduation of Dr. J. T. Willard, dean of the general science division; Jacob Lund, superintendent of the heat and power department of the college, and General James G. Harbord of the United States army.

In completing his address Mr. Robertson sounded a clarion call for the Christian leadership of college men and women. He urged that students not forget that religion deserves a very definite and real place in every individual life.

If the women don't break you
Your spring suit must.

Perhaps about the happiest combination at the Sig Alph house is half a peach pie with Joe Cool around it.

The Pi Phis and the Kappas
They sure are mighty sweet,
But, oh ye Gods and little fish,
They sure know how to eat.

An all-around man has been described as one who can dance, wind the canned music, buy malted milks, look intelligent in a library, and not get too rough on the front porch.

Most Anyone Would Do

If you wish to listen to an interesting agricultural lecture, engage a man to deliver it who has never even planted his foot on a farm.

It's generally a fact that people seldom run off with more than they can carry.

A funny thing happened at the Alpha Delt house today. Joe left her watch upstairs and it ran down.

Milton: "Is molasses good for a cough?"

Lulu May: "It ought to be: it is sold for consumption."

There is one fellow at the Kappa Sig house, who is so hard up he even sleeps on tick.

None but the brave desire the fair and none but the brave can live with some of them.

A hen is a good model for some society circles. She never leaves her set except to eat and drink.

We have never known people to eat ordinary lumber, but we have heard of many instances where they dined on shipboard.

Marriage is like the stomach ache, it doubles people up.

Isn't it funny, how many people are just dying to ride in the new auto hearses these days?

LARGE NUMBER OF UNIFORMS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

Certain Drill Periods to be Spent Studying the Rudiments of Pack Making and Pack Carrying

Rookies, you had better look out! The military department has its full allotment of quartermaster and ordnance supplies. The department received a large number of complete uniforms the first part of the week. These will be issued as soon as they are checked over and marked.

Last week a large shipment of ordnance supplies were received. This shipment included canteens, mess cans and covers, packs, pack carriers, and condiment cans. These will be issued to the corps on certain days for drill in the rudiments of pack making and the art of pack carrying.

It is not known definitely just what plans are being made for the use of these articles, but it is thought that the cadet corps will spend a drill period to take a long hike under full pack.

Some of the other articles received by the department are the machine guns and the machine rifles. Last Friday was spent by the afternoon class in assembling the machine rifles.

Twenty Five Dollars To Be Given By the Club to the Band to Buy Uniforms

At the last meeting of the Ex-Service Men's club on March 11 it was voted to discontinue the organization for the rest of the semester.

The Ex-Service Men's club was too late in getting started this year. Too many of the men were tied down with other activities and were unable to devote their time to this organization. Rather than have the club die a natural death because of lack of interest during the rush of spring activities it was thought better to discontinue.

The members of the club also voted to pay all outstanding bills and donate the balance of about $25 to the band with which to buy new uniforms, which gives the bandsmen another appreciatd lift in a financial way.

A large crowd of spectators are always gathered around the boxing room in the gym shouting with gleeful joy as some unlucky boxer gets a nice eye closer.

At present there are places for twelve men on the squad, five men of bantam weight, 115 pounds, and several commission weights.

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, MARCH 23, 1920 — NO. 52

HAVE SIXTEEN VALLEY TRIES ON SCHEDULE

HEAVIEST SEASON AGGIES EVER FACED

PLAY TIGERS APRIL 21-22

Will Meet Washington at St. Louis on April 23 and 24—No Other Changes Made on Schedule

Aggie baseball followers will see the stiffest season that the Wildcats ever entered if they keep in close touch with the home nine this year. The completion of the Farmer's schedule gives them 16 valley games instead of 14 as was announced at first.

This is the heaviest schedule that K. S. A. C. baseball players have ever had—16 valley games out of 18 to be played.

Meet Tigers April 21-22

The only change in the schedule as was printed in the Collegian last Tuesday is that the Farmers will meet the Tigers at Columbia on April 21 and 22 and will play Washington at St. Louis on April 23 and 24.

Practice in varsity baseball is going on in earnest. A freshman squad has also started practice. Any freshman who has ever pitched hay or handled a glove should turn out and try for the freshman squad. The varsity can use all men who have been out before.

FIRST TO HOLD WORLD FORUM

IS RESULT OF DES MOINES CONVENTION

Eight Speakers of International Prominence Will Address the Students

Unprecedented in the history of the state schools in holding a world-wide convention is the result of the efforts of the K. S. A. C. delegation to the student volunteer convention held at Des Moines Ia., last January.

They, with the leadership of Dr. A. A. Holtz, general secretary of the college Y. M. C. A. have secured a number of internationally prominent speakers who will bring to the college student body a summary of the world situation today. The convention is to be known as the World Forum.

Bishop McConnell Comes

Such speakers as Bishop McConnell, Sam Higginbotham, J. Campbell White and Allyn Foster will appear on the program which will be given for the most part on the college campus. Social and economic problems and the bearing of the Christian religion upon them and their solutions will be the crux of the Easter week end session.

Bishop McConnell, who is said to be a real student of economics, of labor problems, politics, and religion and the rest of the big questions with which humanity deals daily, will be a prominent figure at the K. S. A. C. World Forum. He was one of three men sent by the christian churches to make an impartial investigation of the conditions during the recent steel strike and it is said that his statements concerning the facts he obtained there are amazing.

Representative students, who are active in the two "Y's" of the college are promoting the World Forum plans.

COLLEGE TO SHIP DUROC JERSEYS TO SAN PAULO

K. S. A. C. Getting Large Trade Established

Thirty head of purebred Duroc Jersey hogs will soon be shipped from K. S. A. C. to Brazil. A large shipment of these hogs was made last November and they created such satisfaction that another shipment is to be made.

The hogs will go to San Paulo which is one of the largest states and is becoming more and more devoted to the hog raising industry.

The college is trying to get a large trade established in agricultural products. In addition to the shipment of hogs there is also being shipped one Hereford heifer to Paraguay.

Mrs. Grace Bowman, who is in charge of the dramatic reading classes at K. S. A. C., spent the week end at Fort Leavenworth with her husband, Doctor Bowman, who is an officer in the disciplinary barracks there.

Jake and Hiram Get Their Picture Taken to Send to Relative

Jake and Hiram are two well known figures to K. S. A. C. students. These men do odd jobs such as sawing wood and mowing lawns for the boarding clubs and rooming houses. They live in a little one room cottage, with a rambler over the window, on Colorado street.

Jake and Hiram are uncle and nephew. Each student who knows them has his own private opinion as to which is which. Recently they were confronted by the request of a relative for a picture of the uncle, Jake.

Having grasped the purport of the letter but lacking adequate means of expression these two took the letter to a down town photographer. Two postures were taken. Upon the day they returned to see the pictures an instructor from the hill was at the studio on business. Hiram was spokesman. He took the proofs and looked them over carefully repeating as he did so, "Them are good. Them are good."

He said they wished two pictures and would take them both but the photographer demurred. The pictures were only proofs and would entirely fade away and if they wished two pictures they should choose one picture and have two copies made from the same proof.

To choose was overpowering so the instructor was appealed to. The lady was to chose the better and they would abide by the choice.

HELP MAINTAIN CHINESE SCHOOL

HERBERT MOYER CHAIRMAN OF CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE

To Ask for Funds on April 6—Moyer Prominent in Working for World Forum

Herbert Moyer, junior in the agricultural course at the Kansas State college, was this week appointed chairman of the campaign to be put on here Tuesday, April 6, for the purpose of raising funds for the maintenance of an agricultural college in Canton, China, which the Kansas school helps annually.

Mr. Moyer was elected president of the K. S. A. C. delegation to the student volunteer convention, held in Des Moines, Ia., last January and heads this group of students now, all of whom are acting as a promotion committee for the World Forum convention to be held at the agricultural college during the Easter week end.

RADA PAVLOVA TO SPEAK HERE

LIVED IN BULGARIA UNTIL THREE YEARS AGO

Miss Pavlova Will Speak of Conditions in Bulgaria—Is Making Speaking Tour of United States

Miss Rada Pavlova, a native of Bulgaria, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services in the D. S. rest room, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Miss Pavlova was educated in Bulgaria and was there until three years ago when the war situation became such that she was compelled to leave. She will speak of the conditions in Bulgaria. Miss Pavlova will be dressed in native costume.

Miss Pavlova is making a speaking tour of the United States under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Missions of the Interior of the Congregational church.

FROSH HAVE CHANCE FOR FIRST PLACE

FINALS IN GIRLS' BASKETBALL TOMORROW

GAMES ARE IN GYMNASIUM

Present Junior Class Has Won Honors for Past Two Years but Freshmen May Defeat Them This Year

The finals in the girls' basketball tournament will be played in Nichols gymnasium tomorrow night.

The junior and freshman girls were the victors in the double header class tournament basketball games played Wednesday evening in the Nichols gymnasium.

Juniors Easy Victors

The junior team won from the sophomores with a score of 23 to 2. The first half of the game was slow, both teams playing poor ball. The first half ended with the juniors 10 points in the lead. The second half the sophomores came back on the floor with a determination to win. Chapin inspired the team with a lot of pep; but in spite of the true sportsman spirit displayed by the sophs, they couldn't keep up with the number of goals thrown by the sure shot junior forward, Banker.

Frosh Beat Seniors

The senior-freshman game was fast from the beginning to end. The freshmen soon were in the lead and at the end of the first half they had 14 points to the seniors' 5. During the second half the seniors got 6 points to the freshmen's 9. When the whistle blew the score stood 23 to 11 in the freshmen's favor.

Tomorrow night the last two games of the tournament will be played. The freshmen will play the sophomores and the juniors will play the seniors. If the freshies win from the seniors they will be champions of the tournament, which title has been held for two years by the present junior class.

COACH IS OPTIMISTIC ABOUT BASEBALL PROSPECTS

There Are Eight K Men Back—Guilfoyle and Burton, Both K Men, Are Out for Catcher

Coach Z. G. Cleveneger is very optimistic about Aggie baseball prospects, despite the heavy schedule. About 30 men have reported already. There are eight K men back.

Guilfoyle and Burton, both K men are out for catcher. Both men have excellent records. Snapp, Hargis, and Otto are on Captain McGrath's pitching staff. Red Dickerson is showing up well on the first sack. He hasn't played any ball since entering the service, but is getting back into shape rapidly. Pete Hickson and W. Cowell are likely prospects for the second sack.

Art Quinlan is playing a wicked game at short, and George Hinds makes a good showing at third. In the field E. Cowell, Swingle, Burton, and Snapp will alternate. Several other men from last year's freshman squad are showing up well and will be heard of before the season is over.

Miss Hazel Wilson and Miss Ella Wilson spent a part of last week end in Kansas City.

FOOTBALL TO BE IN VOGUE THIS SPRING

CANDIDATES FOR 1920 VARSITY TEAM TO MEET TUESDAY

GET THREE WEEKS' TRAINING

Doctor Holtz to Coach Spring Football—Practice Now Will Eliminate Many Preliminaries that Come Next Fall

Coach Z. G. Clevenger has put out a call for all candidates for the 1920 Varsity football team, for Tuesday afternoon.

The team will go into a three weeks' spring training practice. It will give the men a chance to get lined out and eliminate a great deal of the preliminaries next fall. The short training period will make it necessary for the men to report immediately.

Dr. Holtz to Coach

Since Coach Clevenger is busy with baseball and Germany Schulz has the track team on his hands, Doctor Holtz has consented to coach the spring football. Doctor Holtz played on the famous Colgate team which swamped Yale, and several of the other big eastern teams. "Coach" Holtz has kept in close touch with the game since leaving school and has excellent qualifications for a coach.

K. S. A. C. ENTHUSIASTS USED TO PLAY CROQUET BUT NOW IT'S ALL CHANGED

"Come on folks, let's have a game of croquet," once a common invitation at K.S.A.C., has been succeeded by expressions more on the order of "All right, people, we'll see you tonight at Johnnie's."

Occasional games of croquet were about the only form of amusement the students indulged in during the seventies and the early eighties. In the issue of The Industrialist for May 8, 1875, the only social event mentioned was thus described: "A very pleasant party met at Mrs. Jacquith's, and after a superb supper several closely contested games of croquet were enjoyed." Students, in speaking of the advancement the college has made during recent years, seldom stop to think of the change in social conditions in the college and in the city of Manhattan.

No Proms in Those Days

If one had attended the Kansas State Agricultural college during those times one would have never worried about junior-senior proms. There were no borrowing of dress suits and ordering of flowers for such events: No one worried for fear his date for the formal would be called off after he had kissed $75 goodby for a dress suit. All such work has been added to the course of study during the last few years.

A fellow could afford lots of dates then. Opportunities for spending dad's cash were limited. Couples could take on a little "campus lab" in those times without going to Kit's canteen or to Johnnie's. Perhaps they could borrow a horse and buggy from someone and take a ride. That was a real thrill. One could see the country go whizzing past at the terrific speed of four miles an hour. But they didn't have a thing on today's student even at that. He can ride for a jitney the "Loping Lizzies" that reel allong at the sickening speed of five miles an hour.

No Theaters 30 Years Ago

There were no theaters in Manhattan until after 1890 so it was not possible to have a sneak date to the theater and sit in the balcony to avoid being seen. Matinee disciples were unheard of in those times. No afternoon classes were held at the Marshall until recently.

Aggieville was the site of a prosperous farm until after 1900. There were no doughnut factories, beaneries, or bungalow stores there to separate the students from their perfectly good money. The land upon which Johnnie's hall now stands was a corn field, and rabbits frisking up and down the rows were the first to jazz and shimmie there.

Frats Came in 1901

College fraternities and sororities did not enter K. S. A. C. until 1901. There were no rush weeks then with the exceedingly anxious times that accompany them. No one had ever heard of "Hell week." Freshmen did not come to school with eggs in their pockets or carrying tennis racquets to chemistry class. They always used the front door just the same as anyone else. Tubbings and paddlings have been added to the curriculum only in recent years.

They did one thing then that students still enjoy—hiking to Wildcat, Hackberry Glen, or Prospect. Students still cook beef over a camp fire and try to imagine that nothing could be more thrilling. Blankets are still taken along—in a laundry bag—and chaperons are negelected now as they were then.—The Kansas Industrialist.

Aggie Athlete Is Battling With One Patented Gate Lock

Who knows what an Aggie athlete will not do? Gather close, children, and listen what happened to Carl Roda.

It is a natural assumption that Carl's mind would be occupied with problems concerning the big ranch out near Paradise that he expects to occupy when he is graduated this spring, or that he should be thinking of athletic "dope" during the time that he is not studying. But gather round closely, children, and you'll hear an entirely different story.

To make no bones about it, Carl is an inventor. He holds a patent on a gate fastener. It is true that the gate fastener is not on the market, but nevertheless, Carl holds a perfectly good patent on it that cost him not a cent less than $80.

It would seem that Carl is of a thoughtful turn of mind, and that he is somewhat of a mechanical genius. According to Carl, he was always thinking of some little mechanical trick that would later appear in the Montgomery Ward catalogs, so finally he decided to cash in on some of these thoughts. He picked the gate fastener as a "dark horse" that should make a killing for him in the world of mechanical dodads that are offered in such profusion in the mail order catalogs, and made his drawings and models. He then got it patented thru a firm of patent lawyers, and it is still patented, but it has not appeared on the market as yet, for no firm will offer him more than a measly $500 for it. And Carl says that that sum will not buy a good team of mules any more.

CAST IS DOING SPLENDID WORK

DO YOU OR DO YOU NOT "BELIEVE ME XANTIPPE?"

Tickets Go on Sale Friday and Will Be Reserved Saturday and Monday

The cast of "Believe Me Xantippe," the comedy to be presented by the college literary societies in the auditorium next Monday night, is doing splendid work and an excellent entertainment is assured, according to the coach Mrs. L. M. Bowman and Prof. J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking.

"Believe Me Xantippe" is the four act farce comedy that ran a year in New York with John Barrymore acting the lead. The play opened in Boston and ran seven weeks there before going to New York. Professor Emerson was present at the opening in Boston and is personally acquainted with the author, Mr. John Frederick Ballard.

"Believe Me Xantippe" on the payment of a large royalty, was secured for presentation by the college literary societies in their revival of their old custom of giving an entertainment each year.

Tickets for "Believe Me Xantippe" will be on sale by the members of the literary societies next Friday. Seats may be reserved on Saturday and Monday at the Co-op book store and the down town Palace drug store. Admission prices are 75 cents and $1.00 including war tax.

AGGIE CIVILS GETTING BUSY

SURVEYING FOR TWO RAILROAD PROJECTS

Connect Rocky Ford with Rock Island and College with the Blue Valley

The civil engineers of the college are now working on a problem of practical railroad construction. Two railroad projects are being surveyed. One is to connect Rocky Ford with the Rock Island west of the college. Another is to run a track from the college around Bluemont hill and connect with the Blue valley.

The varied contour of the country furnishes the class with some excellent problems of this nature. The class also makes estimates of the amount of traffic the road will have to bear and makes its report as to the kind of roadbed necessary to support this traffic.

TICKETS ARE SELLING FOR GRAND OPERA

CROWDED HOUSE IS EXPECTED FOR PERFORMANCE

MARCH 25 IN AUDITORIUM

Queena Mario, Noted Soprano, Takes the Part of Lucia—Presented by San Carlo Company

The seat sale opened Monday for the opera, Lucia Di Lammermoor, which is to be given at the college auditorium Thursday, March 25, by the San Carlo Grand Opera company. Tickets are on sale at the Co-op book store in Aggieville and at the Manhattan Furniture store down town.

Friday night, two days before the actual ticket sale began, orders for 450 tickets were received by the All Star Artist Series management which has charge of the performance to be given here by the San Carlo company. A large number of these orders were from out of town.

The interest which is being shown by persons from other communities, and Manhattan townspeople, as well as by the student body and faculty, assures, the artist series management feels, the success of the Lucia performance.

The story of the opera, Lucia Di Lammermoor, is taken from Scott's novel, "The Bride of Lammermoor." The opera, which is the most popular one ever written by Donizetti, has had a successful "run" of 83 years.

Queena Mario the noted coloratura soprano takes the part of Lucia, and Manuel Salazar, the part of Edgar.

COLLEGE BUYS FIRST CANVAS

ORIGINAL PAINTING IN OIL PURCHASED

Art and Design Department Starts a Collection of Canvas Oil Paintings

K. S. A. C. has made its first purchase of an original painting in oil. The picture purchased is one of the two Berger Sandzen canvases that have been hanging in the rooms of the department of applied art and design for the last two months. The title of the canvas is Red Castle, and it is a mountain landscape showing one of the peaks near Manitou. The painting is to be hung over the mantel piece in the recreation center, and will add greatly to the attractiveness of that already popular room.

It is quite fitting that the first canvas to be purchased by the college should be from the brush of Sandzen for he is a citizen of Kansas, having lived in the state for 25 years as head of the art department at Lindsborg. His work is well known in the eastern galleries, and last year he had three different exhibits touring the country consisting of oil paintings, lithographs, etchings, wood carvings, and water colors.

If the plans of the art and design department are carried out this will not be the last painting purchased by the college. It is intended to add other canvases, etchings, and water colors to the collection until the college will be able to present a collection of the work of American artists that will rank with any in the middle west.

Will Dig Shins

On Friday April 2 the Ex-Service men will hold a dance for the college students in the community house. Good music is assured for the occasion and all college students are welcome. A meeting of the ex-service men to arrange for this dance will be held Thursday March 25, at five o'clock, in C26.

Mrs. Martin of Winfield, visited her daughter, Miss Faith Martin, over the week end.

Miss Maurine McLaughlin of Paola, has withdrawn from college.

W. K. Charles spent the week end in Republic.

WE BACK UP

The Collegian in its last issue said that President Jardine proposed the new plan for selecting the Queen of May. While President Jardine, thinking that the majority of the students were in favor of the change, did approve the plan, he did not suggest it.

President Jardine wants to do the fair thing with the students. If the new plan is not satisfactory with the majority of the students, another plan of selecting the May Queen can be found.

YOU CAN HELP

Let's do our bit toward increasing the enrolment at the Kansas State Agricultural college. The enrolment of this school should be increased to five or six thousand in the next few years.

Every student can aid materially in bringing this about. Boost for K. S. A. C. Talk Manhattan to all high school students in your home town or elsewhere when you have an opportunity. Tell them of the advantages this school offers. Explain the work of the various departments. If you are not familiar with the work in departments other than your own, make it a point to learn something about them.

Make it a point to see that your home town newspaper has a writeup some time this spring regarding the students from that vicinity who are in school here.

An interesting summary of the work of the people they know who are in school here will aid in influencing them to enrol in school here next fall. Boost, boost, boost for old K. S. A. C.

DEAR OLD HEN

Dear Old Hen:—Well Hen its about time that you and I appeared in the collums of the press if we are to be remembered by the fickle public. I have been so busy lately acquiring culture and etc. that I have not had much time to give to letting my light shine upon Spiveyville thru the median of the Kansas State collegian. You will notice that I am spelling collegian with a small c, but that is according to the principals of the printing dept. up here as is the spelling of university with a small u. That is just one sign of the culture I am being exposed to here, but you will get the full effect of it when I get home. The latest thing in the way of keen Dope along cultural lines is the Better Homes week which I underwent.

I am all broke out with line, form, balance, color, and texture, Hen, and I am beginning to think that the idea I had of culture at the beginning of the semester is entirely wrong. At that time I had decided that culture and leather coats were linked firmly and indissolutely together, that one was the outward sign and cymbal of the other and vice verse, which may or may not be free verse which Professor Crawford says is called that because it so seldom brings any returns to the writers thereof.

But to return to the m. u. d. which stands for the matter under discussion, I am going to be on the job looking for candelsticks, and etc, to make connecting links between the pictures and the organ in the parlor so that they will form a unit. If I can train myself to take a saucer with a teacup thereon and perchance a spoon therein in one hand and a sandwich in the five dijits of the other and balance same without dropping or appearing to drop either the sandwich, spoon, teacup, or saucer one at a time or collectedly, at the same time appearing nonchalant and daybonair and flinging a mean line of small talk I shall as they say in the English department or will as they say in the Ag dept inaugerate the be-autiful custom of four o'clock tea in the upper dozen of Spiveyville. 1-12 of the latter I shall undoubtedly be which.

But speaking in a serious vain Hen, I did learn quite a few things about furnishings and etc at the lectures, and the only thing that the lecturer showed that couldn't be carried out in my Spiveyville home was the placing of a screen in front of the fireplace and a table with a vase on it in front of that. My dad would never be satisfied with that arrangement I know for he would not be able to spit over the table and vase and the screen into the fireplace.

Well Hen its time for Journalism letcure so I'll half to quit to go up and hear some cultured person tell the assembled multitude that Latin is all Greek to them, and otherwise cast his paste pearls before Duroc-Jerseys.

Yours for culture, Jack.

Y.W.C.A. HAVE WEEK END PARTY

SEVERAL FACULTY MEMBERS WITH THE GIRLS

Sunday Afternoon the Members of the Advisory Board Met with the Party—Mrs. Cortelyou Gave Short Talk

The old cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. entertained the new cabinet at a week end party at the James Rannells home east of town. The members of the new cabinet are: Marcia Seeber, Gladys Bushong, Lee Winter, Marian Muse, Charlotte Ayers, Rowena Thornburg, Effie Hendriks, Anna Neal, Lavinia Waugh, Luella Morris, Irene Graham, Ruth Peck, Frances Whitmire, Pearl Hoots, and Ione Leith.

Lunch was served after the girls got there and then Miss Dean gave a talk about the purpose of the association. Elizabeth Circle gave a talk about the aim of the association for the past and its hopes for the future.

Reverend Jacobson talked at the church service and Miss Machir, Miss Hesse and Miss Inskeep sang.

The members of the advisory board came out in the afternoon. Mrs. Cortelyou gave a talk on the "Relation of the Advisory Board to the Cabinet." Mrs. Van Zile lead intercession and Miss Inskeep gave a talk on the value of devotions. Tea was served and the girls returned home.

FRESHIES BEGIN BASEBALL PRACTICE TOMORROW

Captain Terrill Will Do the Coaching—Freshman Must be Ready for Practice Games

Freshman baseball players are requested to report Wednesday afternoon for their first workouts. Captain Terrill will do the coaching.

As the Varsity has already been working out it will be necessary for the freshmen to report immediately in ordeer to be in shape for the practice games which will soon be on the schedule. The heavy Varsity shedule means an early game and it will require some hard workouts to fit the men in such a short time.

Ray Weinheimer spent the week end at his home in Ottawa, visiting friends and attending the wedding of his brother. He returned Tuesday morning.

Miss Grace Derby was a dinner guest at the Chi Omega house Thursday evening.

ENGINEERS TO HAVE A MIXER

THOUSAND STUDENTS GET TOGETHER FRIDAY

Dean A. A. Potter to Appear in One Stunt—Will Have Engineers' Dance Later

The engineers are to hold their big spring mixer in Nichols gym next Friday night. The entire enrolment in the engineering division numbering about a thousand will be there. The success of the engineers' hike last fall has proved to engineering students that good times are always found at their meetings.

The entertainment committee has discovered unlimited talent in the department and stunts ranging from classical musical numbers to farcial orchestra contests interspersed with boxing and tumbling will furnish the fun for the evening. Several short talks have been arranged.

An all engineers' dance is to be scheduled in the near future for the purpose of allowing the engineers to become better acquainted. Dean A. A. Potter is very anxious that the students in his division have several social affairs to relieve the tedium of their hard work and heartily endorses both the mixer and dance. In fact Dean Potter has volunteered to help in one of the stunts put on by the faculty.

They Want Your Services

During 1918-19 we received official requests from employers in 43 states and four foreign countries for 6,534 teachers. These were for all sorts of positions from Kindergarten to state university. If you want a position with the most progressive and best paying employers you must use the same service they use when in need of teachers. Experienced teachers needed in all lines of school work. Better write for interesting booklet "Forward or Backward" today. No enrolment fee necessary when registering with this association. We recommend only when asked to do so. This is why the best employers ask for our professional services. The Western Reference & Bond association, 364 Journal Building, Kansas City, Mo. 50-2—52-1

Earl Bruce spent several days in Wichita last week.

Ross Stice of Alta Vista, was a week end guest at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house.

Lieut. Ferdinand E. Hayes, who graduated from K. S. A. C. in the fall of 1917 spent the week at the Beta house. Lieutenant Hayes is assistant to the board of valuation of commandeered property of the United States navy and has been located for the last year at Yorktown, Virginia, in connection with the valuation of 11,000 acres taken over by the navy for use as a mine depot.

Miss Gerda Olsen spent the week end at her home in Topeka.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Robinson of Towanda, visited their son, Chain Robinson, at the Beta house Saturday and Sunday.

E. A. English and William Orr were dinner guests at the Beta house Sunday.

Joe Miller of Salina, who is attending school at Lawrence, was a visitor at the Beta house Saturday.

Dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Sunday were Dean and Mrs. A. A. Potter, and Prof. and Mrs. C. F. Baker.

H. N. Hahn spent the week end in Clay Center.

Miss Josephine Sullivan spent the week end in Topeka.

Miss May Siefkin visited in Wichita over the week end.

CENTRAL DEPARTMENT INSPECTOR HERE MONDAY

R. O. T. C. Men Practiced Target Work—Uniforms Have Not Been Issued

Col. C. E. Lewis, inspector of the R. O. T. C. units of the central department, conducted the inspection of the Aggie rookies Monday.

The rookies spent Monday morning in practicing review and firing imaginary shots at imaginary targets on the campus.

This inspection is not the regular annual inspection but only the preliminary. The regular annual inspection will be conducted later in the year.

All of the supplies of the military department with the exception of the breeches and the hats have arrived. Until these two articles of wearing apparel arrive the clothing will not be issued.

GETS FAVORABLE COMMENT FROM PRESS

Wichita High School Says It was Best Concert Given There This Year

The Apollo club, which recently made a state tour, has received a great deal of favorable comment from the press. The club did much in advertising the college. Here is what the Wichita high school paper says:

One of the best concerts ever given in Wichita high school was furnished by the Apollo club from the Kansas State Agricultural college of Manhattan Thursday evening, March 4. Their splendid program was enjoyed by the large crowd which attended the concert.

The program was given in three parts. The first was composed of eight selections by the entire club. In the second part a tenor solo by H. A. O'Brien, a violin solo by Miss Hannen, a reading by Mr. Morgan, and a reading by Mr. H. L. Lebring, were greatly enjoyed. The third part consisted of songs by members of the club and a soprano solo by Miss Curry. Miss Hannen's and Miss Curry's solos were especially enjoyed.

The club gave a short program in the assembly Thursday afternoon for the benefit of the students, many of whom returned for the evening concert.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Acacia Formal Party

The members of the Acacia fraternity gave their annual formal party Friday evening at Elks' hall. The hall was decorated in the fraternity colors,, gold and black, a canopy of the gold and black being used, as well as a screen for the orchestra.

Punch was served at a booth decorated in the same colors. The walls were banked with potted plants, and baskets of pink American Beauty roses were used throughout the hall and reception rooms. The Delta Tau orchestra from K. U. furnished the music for the dancing.

The guests danced from nine until eleven, after which a three course luncheon was served at the Gillett hotel. Roses tied with the fraternity colors, and hammered silver jewel boxes with the fraternity crest were given as favors to the ladies. During the banquet the Acacia quintette sang several selections.

The party was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. John Parker, Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Searson, and Professor and Mrs. Coburn. Among the out of town guests were J. B. Miller, P. A. Meyers, J. C. Miller, and D. G. Pattinson of the K. U. chapter, C. W. Williams of the Nebraska chapter, and W. W. Frizell, W. R. Bolen, H. D. Reed, and R. C. Erskine, alumni members of the K. S. A. C. Acacia chapter. Miss Helen Porter of K. U. was also a guest of the fraternity.

Pi K Dinner Guests

Miss Lutz of Cawker City, and Mr. Glen Lee of Glen Elder, were Wednesday dinner guests at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Sigma Nu Dinner Guests

Dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house Sunday, March 14, included the house mothers of the various sororities, Mrs. Alice Marcotte, Alpha Delta Pi; Mrs. Winifred Miller, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Mrs. Katherine Re Qua, Pi Beta Phi; Mrs. A. D. Ricker, Delta Delta Delta; Mrs. David C. Bice, Delta Zeta; Mrs. J. A. Gray, Chi Omega; and Mr. Charles Shoffstall, Mr. Norman Hem, and Mr. G. W. Christenson of Lawrence.

The members of the Alpha Delta Pi held open house Saturday afternoon from 4:30 until 6 for the members of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Kappa Open House

The members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority held open house Saturday evening from 7:30 until 8:30 for the members of the Acacia fraternity.

Informal Spread

Miss Clara Larson and Miss Mary Gerkin gave an informal spread in their rooms, 1424 Fairchild, Wednesday evening for a number of friends. Those present were: Miss Inskeep, Miss Gerda Olsen, Miss Adah Songer, Miss Margaret Hawbaker, Miss Mabel Howard, Miss Hazel Russell, Miss Charlotte Russell, Miss Belle Hagans, Miss Mary Gerkin, and Miss Clara Larson.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Spillman, Prof. and Mrs. C. W. Colver and Mrs. H. G. Burt of Garden City were dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Sunday.

R. A. Graves spent the week end at his home in Abilene.

A. E. Dyatt and W. W. Rutter of Topeka, and J. D. Chapman of Pratt were week end visitors at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

H. S. Wise returned Monday from Wichita where he had been called by the illness of his father.

Miss Geraldine Noffsinger, who has been out of school for the past two weeks on account of illness, spent the week end at her home in Fall River.

Miss Wilma Sutton was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Sunday.

Miss Bess McGraw of Herington visited her sister, Miss Elza McGraw, at the Delta Zeta house Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Knight of Jamestown, visited at the Delta Zeta house last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Johnson were dinner guests at the Pahewe club Wednesday evening.

Dr. David T. Wooster, '18, spent Saturday and Sunday at the Delta Tau Delta house. He is now assisting the baseball coach at the Kansas State normal.

Double Wedding

Miss Elsie L. Baird and Mr. James Irwin Brady, and Miss Eunice Ann Baird and Mr. Clyde Emmet Miller were married March 7 at high noon at Echomore, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Baird, of Parsons.

Mrs. Miller graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1917. Since her graduation she has been teaching home economics in Iowa high schools. Mr. Miller is a farmer in Labette county and Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home there.

Mrs. Brady, who graduated here in 1915, has for the past three years been in extension work under the direction of the U. S. department of agriculture. Mr. Brady, who is also a K. S. A. C. graduate is employed by the Black and Veatch consulting engineers of Kansas City, Mo. At present he is installing a city water system at Sharon Springs, and Mr. and Mrs. Brady will make their home there temporarily.

Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile and Miss Jessie Machir were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house last Tuesday evening.

James Albright, Faval Foval, and Paul Thorp spent the week end in Lawrence, visiting friends and attending the high school basketball tournament.

Sheridan Spangler spent the week end at his home in Abilene.

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1920 — NO. 53

MISS ARENDS IS THE NEW AGGIE QUEEN

QUEEN OF SHEBA PROVED THE MOST POPULAR

CROWNING COMES IN MAY

Is a Member of Alpha Delta Pi, the Students' Council, and the Y. W. C. A.—Second in Popularity Contest

Miss Mildred Arends of Kansas City has been announced the Queen of Sheba as well as the Queen of May. The fact that she happened to be given the title of the Queen of Sheba made her the Queen of May.

Had Three Nominees

Tuesday evening the student body held a mass meeting at which three nominees for May Queen were to be voted upon. The three nominees for May Queen were Miss Mildred Arends of Kansas City, Miss Ernestine Biby of Topeka, and Miss Elizabeth Circle of Kiowa.

Each of the three girls is popular and well liked. Each of the three would have made a royal queen for the May crowning. The faculty realized this and decided to use a form of voting which would elect the queen by chance.

Game of Chance

The names of three historic queens, Helen of Troy, Mary Queen of Scots, and the Queen of Sheba were written on the election board. Each of the queen's names was then written on a slip of paper, placed in separate envelopes, and sealed.

The three would-be Aggie queens were then asked to choose an envelope and write their names upon them. The student body voted by ballot for their choice of the three ancient queens, not knowing for which little co-ed they were casting the vote.

When the votes were counted the Queen of Sheba was far in the lead. Mary Queen of Scots was second and Helen of Troy was third.

The three co-eds looked at each other anxiously—for which of the three was the Queen of Sheba? The students were breathless, silent, while the envelopes which would reveal the identity of the queens were being opened.

Then at last, "The Queen of Sheba, the successful co-ed is Miss Mildred Arends," announced Doctor Macarthur manager of the election.

Miss Arends blushed, smiled, for by then she was surrounded by admiring sorority sisters and friends.

Miss Arends is a member of the Alpha Delta Pi sororiy, the students' council, and the Y. W. C. A. She is a senior in home economics and best of all she is the Queen of Sheba. She placed second in the recent popularity contest.

BUYING STOCK FOR BRAZILIANS

WILL BRING NEW IDEAS TO THE WORLD FORUM

Hunnicut Has Sent Many Students from Brazil to the Agricultural College

B. H. Hunnicut who, at the present time is in the United States buying $33,000 worth of cattle for the Brazilian government, is to be one of the principal speakers at the World Forum.

Friend of K. S. A. C.

Mr. Hunnicut established the Lavras agricultural school at Midras, Brazil, which has recently come into great prominence. During the war his services were requested by the government for the organization of food conservation. He also organized the last corn exposition. Mr. Hunnicut is a good friend of the Kansas State Agricultural college and has been influential in sending many Brazilian students to this institution.

Has Illustrated Lecture

Along with his lectures he will show several reels of moving pictures, giving the life and the customs of the Brazilian people. Many of these pictures are of the country which Roosevelt explored when he discovered the famous "River of Doubt."

At the Des Moines convention, this winter, he made several successful addresses. He has a pleasing personality and is a good platform speaker.

To Talk In Seminar

The agriculture students will have their weekly seminar on Friday of the week of the World Forum so that Mr. Hunnicut may address them on the agricultural conditions in Brazil.

Ten Greek Letter Organizations Now Own Their Own Homes—Several Have Been Built

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity has recently purchased the residence of J. C. Barber at 221 North Delaware street. The dwelling was built by Doctor Moffitt five years ago and because of its high terraced front and unique garage, it is one of the best known houses in Manhattan.

The present residence of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is at 1126 Bluemont avenue. The members will not move into their new location until next fall.

This makes a total of ten Greek letter organizations that own their own residences. Three sororities and six other fraternities have purchased or built their homes. More than $125,000 worth of property is owned by these organizations.

HOLD FIRST OF PENTANGULARS

AFFIRMATIVE TEAM STAYS HERE TO SQUABBLE

Negative Team Goes to Ottawa—Held Tonight and Second to be April 6

The first series of the annual Pentangular debate between K. S. A. C., College of Emporia, Baker university, Washburn, and Ottawa, will be held tonight. The Aggie affirmative team will debate Ottawa here. The negative team will debate Baker at the same time at Baker university.

The debaters who will represent the college in the contest here with Ottawa are: Arnold Englund, Ellis Kimble, and H. H. Nelson. The men on the negative team who will go to Baldwin are: W. T. Rolfe, G. R. Schroll, and V. V. Cool.

The question to be debated is: "Resolved, that the United States government should establish a protectorate over Mexico." This question has been debated at several previous intercollegiate debates held here. However, because of the new developments constantly taking place with regard to the Mexican situation it is still a live issue.

The second series of the pentangular debate will be held April 6. The affirmative will debate Washburn at Topeka in this series while the negative will debate the College of Emporia here.

There will be no admission charges for either of these debates and everybody is cordially invited to attend.

BRINGS NEW SYSTEM FOR VETERINARY DEPARTMENT

Dr. William Muldoon Is New Instructor in K. S. A. C.

A new instructor this year in the veterinary department of the college is Dr. William Muldoon, formerly of Cornell university. Doctor Muldoon has introduced a new system known as the ambulatory clinic system. The clinic receives calls from farmers all over this part of the country. The calls are answered by three efficient students of veterinary medicine. The system is gaining rapidly in popularity and promises to become a large branch of the department, besides giving the students some very valuable practical work.

This Chicken Must Have Gone Through A Rough Neck Day

The laboratory class in farm poultry production, which meets the third and fourth hours Saturday, is getting a wonderful lot of knowledge; i. e., they are just discovering how little they do know.

For judging purposes, the instructor had placed four birds in the room. The problem was to place the birds as to age, sex, and vitality. Each of the members of the class had his own ideas on the placing of the birds. After the class had finished the work, the instructor started quizzing the students. He asked about three of the fowls, then:

Instructor: "What did you call No. 2, Mr. ———?"

First student: "It is a pullet."

Second student: "I called it a hen."

Instructor: "A few more of you tell me what classification you gave the bird."

Half of the class in unison: "Hen."

The other half: "Pullet."

Instructor: "It's a rooster."

AGGIE GIRLS RACE IN SWIMS

APRIL 1 IS DAY FOR THE EVENT

Tryous for Seniors and Sophomores Will be Held on Tuesday, March 30

The first tryouts of juniors and freshmen for class swimming teams was held yesterday. Tryouts for seniors and sophomores will be held Tuesday, March 30, eighth hour.

Plans are being made for a class swimming meet which is to take the place of the annual swimming carnival in which competition was between individuals instead of teams. Last year, a "K" bathing suit was given to the girl winning the carnival but this year each girl who is on a class team will get 50 points toward a sweater. Each team will have representatives in swimming, diving, and stunts. A varsity team will be chosen from the class teams.

All girls of the college as well as outside lady visitors are invited to attend the swimming meet which is to be held April 1 in the men's pool.

DOZEN EVENTS ON TICKET

FIRST BASEBALL GAME COMES NEXT FRIDAY

Books Go on Sale Monday—Covers 12 Events, Including Track Meets

Baseball has opened up in earnest at K. S. A. C. Last Tuesday evening two teams lined up and played an eight inning game. About 30 of the Varsity men were given a tryout. Coach Clevenger says that regular games will be on the schedule for Friday and Saturday if the weather will permit.

Books Sell Monday

The baseball books will go on sale Monday. All "K" men will have books for sale. There are to be eight Missouri Valley games, two Kansas conference games, and two track meets. The twelve events will cost $2.50. Books will also be on sale at the athletic office. Get your ticket early and be there to yell at the first game.

PURPLE, GOLD, AND GREEN TO APPEAR AGAIN

FRESHMAN MUST DON THEIR RAINBOW CAPS

TO ENFORCE REGULATIONS

With Large Freshman Class the Type of Headgear will be Noticeably Predominate from Now On

Spring is here with all its fascinating colors. The foliage and grass makes a beautiful background for the yellow of the buttercup and the white of the lily. The many hued dresses of the Aggie Co-eds will soon appear to complete the color scheme.

However, in order that certain Aggie men will not feel slighted a color scheme has been arranged for them. It will be a purple and white effect with a little splatch of green. This particular color scheme will be in the shape of freshman caps and will appear at the first baseball game which is on April 2.

To Enforce Regulations

Freshman caps are not a novelty at this school and the majority of the students are acquainted with the regulations concerning them. Stringent measures have been arranged to enforce these regulations. With the large freshman class this type of headgear should be noticeably predominate on the Aggie campus from now on.

GIRLS HOLD BIG ATHLETIC MEET

CLARA EVANS OUT TO BREAK GIRLS' HIGH-JUMP RECORD

To be Graded Mainly on Posture, Also on Response to Commands, Coordination, and Rhytm

The third annual womens' gymnastic meet will be given in the big gymnasium Wednesday evening, March 31, at 7:30 o'clock.

This meet consists of all kinds of physical training work which is competitive between the freshmen and sophomores.

The most interesting feature of the evening will be the high jump. This college holds the record for the high jump among western college women. Miss Helen Sloan has held this record for the last two years. Last year she jumped 4 feet 7 inches. Miss Clara Evans held second place with a record of 4 feet and 6½ inches.

Miss Sloan is a junior this year and this bars her from the contest. Miss Evans is still in the race and is working hard to break her last year's record.

Other features of the evening are the marching tactics and floor work, and the apparatus work which is also competitive between the sophs and freshies. The apparatus work consists of swing jump, oblique vault over box, and the flank vault over the horse.

All of the classes in both folk dancing and interpretative dancing will give a number of dances to demonstrate their work.

The rope climbing contest is always a lively one and this year there are several freshmen and sophomore girls who are as agile as our ancient ancestors when it comes to this monkey business.

The judges for the contest are Capt. F. B. Terrill, Prof. J. V. Cortelyou, Coach Z. G. Clevenger, and H. A. Lorenz. The girls will be judged mainly on posture, also on response to commands, coordination, and rhythm.

Everyone is invited to the meet. No admission is to be charged.

Marion Smith was a dinner guest at the Pi Phi house Sunday.

Mrs. Irene Toliver McMillian was a guest at the Pi Phi house Saturday.

HAVE ANOTHER GRAIN CONTEST

BIGGEST EVENT FOR AGRICULTURAL DIVISION

Seedsmen and Grain Dealers of Kansas Are Offering Prizes to the Winners

Probably the biggest event to occur in the agricultural division this spring, will be the second annual grain judging contest. The Klod and Kernel Klub, under whose auspices it is being staged has set the date for Saturday, April 10.

All details regarding the contest are not yet available. It promises to be even bigger, better, and more elaborate than the first annual contest, held last year, which was successful beyond all expectations.

Seedsmen and grain dealers of Kansas are showing a keen interest in this affair and are offering substantial prizes to winners in the various classes, which will include classes of corn, sorghums, and small grains.

The contest will be open to everyone. Engineers especially are invited to display their skill at judging. Samples of all grains will be on display during the week prior to the contest so that contestants may familiarize themselves with the various classes of grains.

B. Y. P. U.

"The Prophet Who Missed the Way," Miss Caldwell, leader. Sunday evening at 6:30 Baptist church.

Miss Pauline Richards, '18, will spend the latter part of the week visiting old friends in Manhattan and on the campus. Miss Richards is teaching her second year in the Olathe high school, where she has charge of the department of domestic art.

Fred Russell of Paola, spent the week end with his daughter, Edith Russell.

McCONNELL NOT PULPIT ORATOR

DEAN KENT GIVES FORUM SPEAKER HIGH PRAISE

At University of Colorado Bishop McConnell Gave Three Addresses and All Took Well

Bishop McConnell is one of the speakers who is to be in Manhattan for the World Forum. He is chairman of the industrial commission for the Interchurch World movement and one of the best authorities on the relationship of the church to industry.

Spoke in Colorado

Bishop McConnell gave four addresses during a recent visit to the University of Colorado, three to the students and one to the members of the faculty.

A letter from Mr. Norlin, president of Colorado university, says, "The success of his addresses in point of attendance may be indicated from the fact that the last student meeting where attendance of students was voluntary was even larger than the first in which the attendance of students was required."

Kent Praises Him

Prof. H. L. Kent says, "Do not get the idea that McConnell is a pulpit orator. He is not. He is a real student of economics, of labor problems, of politics, of religion, and of all the rest of the big questions with which humanity must deal. Recently I heard him discuss the situation at Gary and I have heard no man or read no magazine that compares with his discussion."

WOMEN ARE READY TO HELP YOU IF YOU WILL HELP YOURSELF A LITTLE

A little dinner
With a little co-ed
In a cosy little dining room
With a bit of small talk
And a happy stomach
Afterwards.
Try this on your mandaluke.

Then call up 919 and inquire for Miss Perry or Doctor Bogert, and ask them what it means. They'll tell you:

"The practice dinner work will start next Monday, running six days a week, for six weeks. Yes, I think we can let you be host one day. What day would you like to come? Only 35 cents. Yes. The dinners usually are three or four courses, although the informal ones are not served that way."

The home economics folks are anxious that more men know about the dinner course for they feel that men students are missing a lot by not having the experience of serving.

While they teach the young women what to cook the young men remain ignorant of what should be eaten.

Can you select a well balanced meal?

No? Well, like the women they are, they'll echo "We told you so."

But they're willing to help you, if you'll help yourself.

IS SNAPPIEST AND FUNNIEST YEAR'S EVENT

"BELIEVE ME XANTIPPE" APPEARS MONDAY NIGHT

MRS. BOWMAN THE COACH

Girls in Play Can Love and Fire Six Shooters with Equal Dexterity—Has Four Acts

Next Monday night in the auditorium will be give one of the snappiest and funniest entertainments of the college year when the college literary societies present "Believe Me Xantippe," the four act farce comedy that the cast has been working on diligently for the last three weeks.

It will be shown that K. S. A. C. has talent to stage the best of comedies, for "Believe Me Xantippe" is real comedy full of zipp and laughs from the beginning to the final curtain. A reporter slipped in at rehearsal yesterday and the cast is going over the entire play in good style.

Play of Surprises

"Believe Me Xantippe" is a play made up of surprises. The cast is composed of brokers, crooks, detectives, sheriffs, and typical western girls who can love and fire a six shooter with equal dexterity.

The excellent manner in which the play is being brought into shape is due to the capable direction and coaching of Mrs. L. M. Bowman. Mrs. Bowman is an experienced dramatic coach and reader.

ENGINNERS NOW READY TO MIX

SNAP AND PEP ARE BIG PART OF PROGRAM

Talent from the Division to Give a Number of Stunts—Dean Potter Will Speak

All arrangements for the big engineers' mixer, which is to be held tonight in the gymnasium have been completed. Snap and pep are the features of the program. Some of the best talent in K. S. A. C. has consented to entertain the engineers. All of the numbers on the program are furnished by talent found in the engineering division.

Paul Kovar, director of the engineers' midget orchestra, will entertain the slapstick artists with some original comedy stuff. To demonstrate their range of ability this orchestra will also put on one or two more or less classical numbers.

Dean Potter and Professor Conrad will make short talks. Professor Calderwood has promised either a speech or a stunt.

POET'S RECITAL PLEASED AGGIES

EDITOR OF "OTHERS" READ FREE VERSE POEMS

Also Played His Own Compositions on His Mandalute—Gave Eight Fine Selections

The free verse recital by Mr. Alfred Kreymborg of New York, at the chapel period Wednesday morning was received with enthusiasm even though it was something different and difficult to understand.

Mr. Kreymborg is a free verse poet. He is the editor of "Others," a magazine, and author of several plays and collections of free verse. In his recital at chapel he gave eight poems from his collection called "Mushrooms."

The titles of the poems read by Mr. Kremborg are: "The Earth and a Flower," "A Questioning Voice and a Daisy," "Idealists," "Vista," "Lament,' "What Can You Do," "Satire on Egotism," and "Roundaley." Mr. Kreymborg played accompaniments to his reading, on a mandalute. The music was also written by Mr. Kreymborg.

FRIDAY, MARCH 26, 1920

BEGINNING A CAMPAIGN

Are the students of K. S. A. C. advancing with the times? Why all this disorganization, lack of interest, and cooperation on the part of the student body? And yet we learn that we are not the only institution where this malady is prevalent. It seems to be affecting most of the institutions of the middle west. Whatever may be the cause, whether it be reactionary forces at work or simply a careless attitude toward affairs pertaining to the student body, cannot be explained.

Is It Democracy

In the election which was held some time ago to elect officers or the Student Self Governing association only about one tenth of the entire student body participated in the election. Thus only one tenth of the students are members of an organization which is supposed to represent the whole student body. Then all students are controlled by an organization composed of one tenth of their number, an organization in which nine tenths of them have not even a voice. Is this democracy? If it is not, who is to blame?

Who Is To Blame?

One instance has happened which may show the disorganization that may result from this predicament. When the plans were being formed for roughneck day a representation from the S. S. G. A. went to President Jardine saying that students desired an organized roughneck day. This committee was supposed to represent the student body and perhaps had a right to speak as it did; but since then numerous complaints have been heard, voicing sentiment against an organized rough neck day, and there was a general misunderstanding on the part of nearly everyone. Again we ask, "Who is to blame?" A S. S. G. A. is for the students and represents the students and is a channel through which we may voice our sentiments and air our views. Then why not back it and show some interest?

The leaders of K. S. A. C. are at a loss to understand why 2,800 young American citizens should take so little interest in student politics. In a few years the students of the colleges of today will be guiding the affairs of a nation, and then a lack of interest on our part, the failure to have the best interests of the country at heart, will mean decline and ruin.

Might This Happen?

Is it not significant that in one of the leading colleges of the middle west the literary societies are being forced to disband because of lack of cooperation on the part of the student body? Is there not in the attitude of the students as a whole a selfish seeking after pleasure and a lack of genuine intellectuality? Is there not an under current which carries students away from the real things which build for citizenship and true Americanism? This seems to be true of the west especially, this west which builds men.

An alumnus recently returned to Harvard and found there a strong cooperative and constructive spirit. The students were taking a new interest in affairs which they never did in the older rays and a decided cooperative spirit was found to exist between students and faculty. K. S. A. C. can do as much and more.

Get Started, Students!

Then let us get behind this organization of ours and back it for all we are worth. Let's manifest some interest in our political affairs, especially in a body by which we may be governed and in which we may have a voice. Let's go, Aggies, with some of the old time pep and zip.

For Miss Foberg

Mrs. A. E. White and Miss Lena Price entertained Tuesday evening at the White home on Fairchild avenue with a linen shower in honor of Miss Selma Foberg who will be a June bride. Sweet peas were used as decorations and refreshments of brick ice cream, white and gold cake, and coffee were served. Miss Foberg sang several selections, accompanied by Miss Fuller. The guests included Miss Foberg, Miss Milam, Miss Ward, Miss Dean, Miss Fuller, Miss Cory, Miss Umberger, Miss Fayman, Miss Zener, Miss Haseltine, Miss Nellie May, Miss Gertrude May, Miss Caldwell, Miss Skinner, Miss Bower, Miss Machir, and Miss Russell.

Student Dance Saturday Night

Every Student should attend the regular student dance given in the recreation hall Saturday night, March 27. A secret ballot will be cast for regular music on Saturday nights. It is the duty of every student who wishes to dance to be there and cast his vote. Special music by Rex Maupin next Saturday night 9 to 12 o'clock. Committee on Student Dances. 1t

For Mrs. Otis E. Hall

Mrs. O. F. Anderson and Mrs. L. H. Limper entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Anderson, 615 Leavenworth, in honor of Mrs. Otis E. Hall, who leaves soon for Massachusetts. Jonquils and yellow and white butterflies were used in the decorations, as well as candles tied with yellow tulle. The color scheme of yellow and white was also carried out in the refreshments.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor: Have you ever entered the college grounds from the Vattier drive and looked over the campus, when everything looks as beautiful as it does now, and complimented K. S. A. C. on the appearance of its grounds? Then have you ever glanced to the right and noticed the large alfalfa field lying in one of the best located portions of the campus? And then you begin to think right then that you're not nearing a college with pretty grounds, but a mere farm.

It seems that if the agronomy department must experiment with choice alfalfa raising, it could at least locate the plot of ground somewhere else on the 160 acre campus which we have, instead of right where it would be the most conspicuous and cause the most comment.

—A Junior

Dear Editor: Why should this institution continue to be officially designated as the Kansas State Agricultural college? Why not discontinue the use of the word agricultural in the name of our college, and re-christen this institution which offers so many different courses, the Kansas State college? The names of other institutions of this type such as the Iowa State college and the Penn State college do not contain the word agricultural and the character of the work offered is practically the same.

Less than 55 per cent of the students are enrolled in the division of agriculture. The division of engineering has a 40 per cent larger enrolment than any other division. The division of home economics has nearly as many students as the division of agriculture. This is not primarily an agricultural school although the name of the institution conveys that impression to outsiders.

A large percentage of the people in this state, as well as in other states, believe that the courses in agriculture are the only ones offered by this institution. High school graduates who plan to study home economics, engineering, veterinary medicine, journalism, or music, are confronted with the word agricultural when they contemplate attending K. S. A. C. Friends of these high school people, who perhaps are students of other schools, or who are ignorant of the curriculum here will say: "Don't think of studying engineering or journalism in that 'cow college;' attend some other school." Statements such as these often influence high school graduates to attend another school, who otherwise would have enrolled at this college.

It is perfectly plain that one can easily get the wrong impression regarding the work offered here. No one would think of attending the Kansas City Veterinary college if he wanted to pursue a course in journalism. Likewise, no girl would give a thought to enrolling in the Western Dental College for a course in home economics.

For the good of the college and for the good of high school graduates who are influenced to attend colleges of lesser importance, we should get together and start agitation to have the name of this institution changed. Let's boost for a bigger and better "Kansas State College."—A Student.

Dear Editor: Several students are expressing a desire to learn something of what is being done toward obtaining the new athletic coaches for next year. Most of us know that Coach Shultz will not be with K. S. A. C. after the present school year, and that we are to have additional coaches next year.

We believe that K. S. A. C. should be at the top of Missouri valley athletics. We have the athletic director and the athletes who can produce winning teams. Now let the student body, the faculty, and the alumni get into the fight and see that K. S. A. C. gets the best coaches in America. If it takes school spirit and fight to obtain good coaches, let's not be lacking in these qualities.

Let's put fight into our athletes by backing them, and by insisting that the game be played because of the love of it and for the school and not for a possible addition of notoriety or glory to some organization. Football, basketball, or baseball should be played all of the time during a contest or not at all. As soon as this is done the Aggies will fight and the Aggies will win.

And lastly, why not quit calling them "Farmers?" There is something about that name that suggests "greenness" and laziness and we should eliminate this idea from the heads of our cynical neighbors. Make it Wildcats or Aggies and never "Farmers."—Aggies.

GIRLS TEAMS TIE FOR FIRST

FRESHMEN LOSE THEIR FIRST GAME DURING THE SEASON

Junior Team Win from Senior Girls with Score of 16 to 2—Senior Team Lost all Touranment Games

The invincible freshie team lost its all victorious record in the last five minutes of the sophomore-freshman game, which was played Wednesday evening.

The game opened with the freshie team on their toes; but the determined sophs soon were in the lead by three points. At the end of the first half the score was 7 to 4 in favor of the sophs.

The freshmen realized that to lose the game was to forfeit their first chance for the championship of the tournament. The forwards put forth their best efforts but the sophomore guards were equally as quick and the ball was usually passed back to center. In the beginning of the second half the freshies made several baskets and the score was tied.

For almost eight minutes of the second half the score stood 13 to 13. In the last few minutes of the game the sophs threw a field goal and a free basket. The game ended with the sophs in the lead by three points.

The junior-senior game which was also played Wednesday evening resulted in an easy victory for the junior girls. The final socre was 16 to 2.

As a result of the series of games the freshman, junior, and sophomore teams all three tied for first place. The freshmen have won all the games played except the Wednesday game with the sophs, the sophomores won against all the teams except the juniors and the juniors lost only to the freshman.

These three teams are now to play for the championship. The freshmen and sophs will play in the big gymnasium Saturday afternoon at 1:30. The junior girls will then play the winning team next week.

TRACK MEN TO HAVE EXTREMELY BUSY YEAR

MEN ARE WORKING ON OUTDOOR TRACK NOW

Aggies Are Becoming a More Important Factor in the Deciding of Valley Honors

This spring promises to be the busiest yet for Aggie track men. Already about 20 men are working out daily on the outdoor track. More interest is being shown than ever before.

The Aggies are becoming a more prominent factor in the deciding of Missouri Valley honors. An interclass meet or a championship meet with eight events will be on the program for May 7. The next day the annual high school meet will be held. Haskell will be here May 22.

Go to Lawrence

The Aggie tracksters will go to Lawrence on May 15 for their annual dual meet. The Missouri Valley meet will be held at Ames on May 28 and 29.

The big meet at Ann Arbor will be held June 4-5. Coach Schulz is planning to take at least a few men if not the entire team on all these trips. Coach Schulz has some men that can hold their own at any of these meets.

More Men Later

Gallagher and Neeley have failed to report for outdoor work and consequently Germany is a little peeved since these two men are sure point winners. Totten, a high hurdler of considerable ability, is expected to report but has failed to put in an appearance as yet.

CAMP FUNSTON NON-COM. TRANSFERRED TO K. S. A. C.

Is to be Supply Sergeant and Storekeeper

F. L. Steiner, first sergeant from the Camp Funston headquarters detachment, has been transferred to K. S. A. C. and is now located here permanently.

Sergeant Steiner is supply sergeant and official storekeeper for the military department. The increased work of the military department has necessitated the addition of two new sergeants during the past few months.

All advanced course men in the R. O. T. C. who are entitled to pay should report to the commandant's office and sign the pay roll which Major Claren has ready to send in to the war department.

For Mr. Kreymborg

Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the industrial journalism department, entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Kreymborg of New York City, with a dinner at the Pines Wednesday evening .

A delightful five course dinner was served to the 20 guests. Mr. Kreymborg, who recited a number of his free verse poems in chapel and in the D. S. hall Wednesday, told the guests of the growth of the free verse movement. In telling of contributors to "Others," a magazine of free verse, Mr. Kreymborg spoke favorably of Professor Crawford who has written for the magazine.

Guests at the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Kreymborg, Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Davis, Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Searson, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ulrich, Prof. C. C. Christoph, V. E. Bundy, Milton S. Eisenhower, Miss Elizabeth Dickens, Miss Izil Poison, Miss Josephine Perry, Miss Sue Carmody, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers, and Prof. N. A. Crawford.

CONTEST IS TO BE HELD HERE

J. O. BROWN TO BE THE AGGIE ORATOR

In the Three Years K. S. A. C. has Been Represented, No Aggie Speaker Has Won First Place

This year the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest will be held in the auditorium of the Kansas State Agricultural college on April 10. The Aggie orator will be J. O. Brown who won first place in the tryout held recently with an oration entitled "The Consumer's League."

There will be orators here from at least five institutions: University of Kansas, Missouri university, Washington, Ames, and Nebraska. It is not known for certain whether Oklahoma will send a representative.

In the three years K. S. A. C. has sent representatives to the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest no Aggie speaker has won first place.

In 1917 Leo C. Moser won third place in the contest, which was held at Des Moines. In 1918 Earl Taylor won third place in the contest held at Ames, Iowa. His oration was entitled "The Struggle of Democracy."

In 1919 Miss Mable Bentley of Valhalla, was chosen to represent K. S. A. C. but owing to the influenza epidemic the contest was not held. It was to have been at Lincoln, Nebr.

SEVEN MEN GET BASKET LETTERS

HOBE FAIRMAN GIVEN FOOTBALL LETTER

Athletic Board Decides to Buy Uniforms which Will Give School Colors

At the meeting of the athletic board Wednesday basketball K's were awarded to seven men. Hinds, Bunger, Jennings, E. Cowell, W. Cowell, Knostman, and Williams were the recipients. Hinds will be the only man lost from this season's team. He is a three letter man in basketball. Bunger, Jennings, E. Cowell, and Knostman are two letter men.

Fairman Honored

The athletic board also voted Hobe Fairman an honorary football K for his work last season. Hobe's injury so early in the season prevented him from winning his K but he would undoubtedly have brought credit to the Wildcats had he been able to play the remainder of the season.

Have New Uniforms

After much discussion the athletic board decided to carry the college color scheme out in athletic uniforms as much as possible. Next fall the Wildcats will probably be seen in purple jerseys. This practice is customary in the majority of schools of the country.

Prof. J. W. Searson leaves Monday for Emporia where he will speak before the Regional Conference on Rural Education, which is to be held there March 30. Professor Searson will speak at the regular program on the subject "Finding Teachers." He will also give an after dinner talk to the leaders and speakers of the conference.

Mr. A. S. Wakefield of Culver, is visiting his daughter, Miss Edith, at the Delta Zeta house this week.

Dinner Guests

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Tuesday evening were Miss Dora Otto and Miss Florence Hunt, both of the home economics department.

BIG BOOSTER CHAPEL SET FOR APRIL 7

EVERY FILLED SEAT MEANS A LOYAL AGGIE

NO COLLECTIONS EITHER

Only Five Persons Know What the Assembly Is—But Posters Call It a "Chapel Extraordinary" —Will It Be?

The biggest Aggie booster chapel ever held is scheduled for Wednesday, April 7, at 11 o'clock. Every full seat will mean an Aggie booster while every empty seat will mean a disloyal college man.

Band Out

The college band will be ready to give some numbers that will stir up the Aggie spirit while a cheer leader will be on deck to lead the assembly in some roof-raising yells.

No Collection

And don't get frightened—there will be no collection for the school, organization, or reform movement. There is no money connected to it.

College organizations, professors, pupils, and town folks do not know what this chapel is. In fact there are only five persons in the college who do know—and they will keep it quiet.

But as the campus posters say, it is a "Chapel Extraordinary."

QUILL CONTEST IS STILL OPEN

MANUSCRIPTS MUST BE AT LEAST 800 WORDS

Any Style, Humorous, Paragraphs, Essays, Short Stories, Verse, and Others, Are Accepted

The Quill club membership contest is still open. Students may still submit material to either Miss Ada Rice, Prof. N. A. Crawford or Prof. H. W. Davis for this contest.

Manuscripts should be typewritten with a wide left hand margin, and should contain a minimum of 800 words but as many as 3,000 may be submitted.

Any style of writing is accepted, requiring only that the material show talent. Short stories, verse, essays, feature stories, humorous paragraphs, in fact any style of writing, may be submitted.

The club at present has 21 members some of whom will leave college at the end of this semester. The constitution allows a membership of 30 members. This will leave an opportunity for the electing of a number of new members this spring who will be ready for work next fall, providing manuscripts of sufficiently outstanding merit are submitted to warrant.

A. A. E. GETS CHARTER HERE

THERE ARE 50 MEN IN ORGANIZATION NOW

K. S. A. C. Is Fortunate To Get a Chapter of This Engineering Society

The local chapter of the American Association of Engineers received its charter Thursday. The charter was dated February 14 but it took some time to get all the signatures necessary.

There were some 40 charter members of the local chapter, the majority being students. At the present time there is a total membership of about 50. Any engineering student or local engineer is eligible to membership. It is expected to have at least a membership of 80 at the close of the present semester.

The constitution and by-laws will probably be adopted at the next meeting which will be the 8th hour Thursday. Other details of the organization will be worked out at that time.

The American Association of Engineers differs from most other engineering societies in that it concerns itself chiefly with the business and ethical details of an engineer's profession rather than with technical details. Lists of positions vacant and situations wanted are kept on file at all times for the benefit of the members. The society uses its influence in every way possible to further the interests of the engineering profession. K. S. A. C. is fortunate in being able to have such an organization on the hill.

Four Colleges Register

Registration of four college delegations, who will attend the World Forum have been received. The colleges that are sending delegations to the meetings are McPherson college, Cooper college, Ottawa university, and Washburn university. It is expected that other colleges in the state will also send delegates to the meetings.

GIVE ONE-ACT PLAY APRIL 10

"SAY IT WITH FLOWERS" TO HAVE NEW MEANING

Girls Can Learn a Great Deal If They Take Their Favorite Dates to This Comedy

"Say it with flowers" will have a new meaning to you after you have seen the "The Florist Shop," a famous Harvard one-act play given in connection with the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest, which will be held at the Kansas State Agricultural college April 10.

"The Florist Shop" is full of laughs from beginning to end. It is something new, something different. You will miss a wonderful chance to laugh if you are not in the auditorium on the night of April 10.

Look Here, Girls

Girls, there is a close connection between "The Florist Shop" and leap year. If you don't exercise your royal prerogative and bring your favorite date to see that play you will miss the chance of a lifetime to impress upon him some very vital and necessary facts. If he doesn't show good taste in the selection of flowers he should see "The Florist Shop" by all means.

Men Learn Too

Men, you will learn a lot too. You will learn something about selecting flowers. Are you sure you know what she likes?

The play shows how an old maid who was engaged for 15 years was able to—but why spoil it? Learn the rest of it for yourself by being at the college auditorium on April 10.

PROFS RUBBED WITH STUDENTS

ENGINEERING MIXER WAS BIG SUCCESS

Dean Potter Entertained with Some Fine Selections on a Sweet Potato

The engineers mixed Friday night. Despite the numerous entertainments at other places a good crowd of engineers appeared to enjoy the evening.

Professors and students rubbed shoulders and forgot the class room. Not only did the Irish and Scotch come in for their share of the jokes but the college professors poked fun at each other. Dean Potter surprised those present by his ability to play the "sweet potato." He was able to join in with the orchestra on every piece. The engineers band assembled by Fisher proved themselves able entertainers.

Russel Knapp put pep into the bunch when he sang some of his songs. Miss Kittel provided variety for the program by giving an original dance. Paul Kovar and his orchestra provided several entertaining numbers. Tseu gave two numbers of Hawaiian music which was an unusual treat. After the program wine berry punch and song provided amusement for the remainder of the evening.

Miss Mildred Inskeep, formerly Y. W. C. A. secretary at the college, was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Sunday.

I have heard these speakers and know what they can do at K. S. A. C. for I know what they did at Des Moines. I wish to indorse most heartily the program planned for April 2-4. I trust the student body and the faculty will avail themselves of every opportunity to hear these speakers.

Signed, W. M. Jardine.

Get a Date You Ags, Architects, and All Others and See Shis

The ag met the architect. Said the ag to the architect:

"What is this World Forum I hear so much about?"

"I suppose it's a new auditorium they're going to build. That's what they usually call 'em now-days."

At this point a history student came up and overheard the conversation between the ag and the architect. He felt that it was his duty to give some illuminating information on the subject.

"You poor boobs, the World Forum is something like the League of Nations. Representatives of all nations will be here."

But they were all wrong. Their idea of the World Forum is typical of a good many students on the hill. If you don't know what the World Forum is by the time that you finish reading this issue of the Collegian then the thing to do is to get a date for the first session and find out.

Miss Ruby Mills was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Friday evening.

B. H. HUNNICUTT

Who Will Tell of Brazilian Agriculture to World Forum Attendants

Will Use Moving Pictures To Illustrate the Lecture On Brazilian Agriculture

B. H. Hunnicut who is to address the World Forum regarding conditions in Brazil is an American from the Southern states who went to Brazil about 1901 as a missionary of the Presbyterian church. He established the Lavras Agricultural college at Minas, Brazil, and is now president of that institution.

Olivera Knows Him

Mr. Olivera who is attending K. S. A. C. at the expense of the Brazilian government, knows Mr. Hunnicut personally and graduated from the school of which Hunnicut is the president and the founder. Mr. Olivera says that Mr. Hunnicut has introduced modern American methods of agriculture into Brazil and the people are appreciative of his services. Among the students who came to this country at the same time that Mr. Olivera came there were two others who had graduated from the Lavras Agricultural college. Mr. Hunnicut recommended to the government that Mr. Olivera be one of those who should be sent to school in this country at government expense.

At the present time Mr. Hunnicut is in this country on a cattle buying mission of the government. He is endeavoring to introduce pure bred cattle into Brazil and the government had sufficient faith in his judgment to intrust him with the buying of $33,000 worth of cattle.

Among his other achievements has been the writing of a book on corn in Portuguese which is the language used in Brazil.

The years he has spent in Brazil have not been without their reward for it was there that he met the woman who is now his wife. She was born of American parents in Brazil and was therefore technically a Brazilian when they became united with the bonds of holy wedlock.

Is Illustrated

The lectures which he will give will be illustrated by moving pictures which were taken under his supervision. They will depict the life, customs, habits, and the scenery of Brazil.

K MEN ARE SELLING TICKETS NOW

AGGIE PROSPECTS ROSY

Baseball to be a Leader at K. S. A. C. This Year—Downtown Merchants Are Supporting the Season

The "K" fraternity started off the baseball ticket sale with a rush. With 12 events offered for $2.50 it is no wonder that every loyal Aggie is clamoring for a ticket. Not only Aggie students but the down town merchants are supporting the sale. With the first game only a few days off no one should delay in getting his ticket.

Good Men Out

Aggie prospects are indeed rosy. Guilfoyle and Burton are already showing midseason form behind the bat. Magrath, Lefty Agnew, Bob Hargis, and Mert Otto are tossing the pill in fine shape. Captain Magrath is feared up and down the Valley. Lefty Agnew is an ex-navy pitcher and is a big asset to the team.

Dickerson and Willis are covering the first bag. Grady Cowell is playing second. Art Quinlan continues to play a whirlwind game at short. Merschon and Hinds are the two best bets at third. Snapp, Shorty Cowell, Swingle, and Neale Bruce have been holding down the outfield jobs. Snapp and Cowell led the batting last season.

Funston will be here Friday for the first game of the season. No dope is available on the army nine but army teams usually have a good fast team. Fort Riley will be here Saturday. Both games begin at four o'clock.

Macarthur to Sioux City

Dr. J. R. Macarthur of the English department left Friday for Sioux City, Iowa, to attend the national convention of the Pi Kappa Delta fraternity of which he is national president. Doctor Macarthur will preside at the meetings which will begin Monday, March 30, and end Saturday, April 3. Professor Searson will be in charge of Doctor Macarthur's work during the week in which the latter is absent.

GIRLS PREPARE FOR SWIMMING

PROGRAM FOR CONTEST IS GIVEN NOW

Carnival Has Always Been Held But This is First Year That Classes Have Competed

The first annual swimming meet will be held Thursday evening April 1, at 7:30. The names of the girls making the teams will be posted Tuesday evening after the final tryout. Keen competition is expected.

Heretofore a swimming carnival has been held each spring but this is the first year that class teams have competed.

The program for the meet is as follows: Back stroke, freshman, junior, and senior teams—sophomore versus winner; side stroke, sophomore vs. junior and senior. Freshman vs. winner; any stroke, representatives from each team; plunge, representatives from each team.

Competing dives: back or side dive; running or straight front dive; back fall or stand up-sit down; back roll or hand stand; feature dives: front and back roly-poly; front and back somersault; dolphin, swan and jack knife.

In addition to the races and dives there will be a relay and several other stunts.

PLAY FOR FIRST PLACE TONIGHT

FRESHMEN AND JUNIORS AFTER CHAMPIONSHIP

Sophomores Eliminated When Freshman Girls Defeated Them in Saturday's Game

The freshman girls basketball team won from the sophomore team with a score of 19 to 18 in the game played Saturday afternoon.

In the sophomore freshman game played last Wednesday evening the sophs took the freshies by surprise and won the game by three points. This tied the championship of the tournament between the freshmen, sophs, and juniors.

The Saturday game eliminated the sophs from first or second place in the tournament. The tie between the juniors and freshmen will be played off tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the big gymnasium.

STUDENTS MAY GET SHORT TIME LOANS FROM HOLTZ

Has Only Limited Number for Remainder of This Year

Dr. A. A. Holtz, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has a limited number of short time loan funds for the remainder of the school year.

Due to the exhaustion of the student loan funds a special ruling was obtained allowing certain funds to be used for the short time loan funds. Any student wishing to obtain one of these should see Doctor Holtz at his office in Anderson hall.

Albert T. McCauley, a freshman in electrical engineering, withdrew from college last week, and returned to his home in Meade county.

EXPECT 5,000 TO VISIT THE WORLD FORUM

WORLD'S BIGGEST MEN COMING TO K. S. A. C.

IS THE FIRST EVER HELD

Meetings Begin Next Friday Morning at 10 O'clock—Religious, Educational, and Economic Help

It is expected that 5,000 persons including Aggie students, Manhattan people, and out-of-town visitors, will attend the World Forum which starts here next Friday morning at 10 o'clock. It is the first gathering of its kind ever held in a state school in the United States.

The message of the world opportunity for students of such an institution as this one will be brought here by a group of the most splendid men and women speakers it is possible to secure. Prominent among them are leaders in the religious, educational, missionary, and economic world, a representative group who have made a life study of world issues and because of their immediate service both at home and abroad are in a position to lay before the students of K. S. A. C. as they are at present.

Starts Friday Morning

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock Bishop Francis J. McConnell will address the student assembly, at that time opening the World Forum meetings. At the same hour A. E. Roberts, another speaker will address the Manhattan high school assembly. At noon there will be a speakers' and workers' luncheon, the purpose of this affair being to make acquainted with each other all the visiting persons who will make the Forum a success. Weekly seminars will be addressed by members of the Forum force who are especially fitted to speak to the different groups.

BISHOP McCONNELL

One of the Leading Speakers of the World Forum

Afternoon Program

At three o'clock there will be a mass meeting of the women of the college and town in the Presbyterian church, Mrs. C. O. Swanson to be in charge. At this time Miss Hill, Mrs. Pinkham, and Miss Ella McLauren will be the speakers.

Illustrated Lecture

Friday night at 7:30 o'clock a mass meeting of students and townspeople will be held at the college auditorium. President Jardine will preside and will introduce Benjamin Hunnicut, president of the Lavras Agricultural college, Mineas, Brazil, who will present to the audience an illustrated lecture concerning Latin-America.

Bishop McConnell will also speak at the Friday night meeting.

Saturday morning will be given over to conferences with the visiting speakers for the benefit of students and other persons who may have personal matters to discuss with them.

Aggie-Ames Debate

On Saturday afternoon the K. S. A. C.-Ames debate will hold the center of the stage and college interest will center on that. The question or the argument at that time is to be given that labor through representatives of their own choosing

RELIGION OF SERVICE

The World Forum isn't a book. It isn't a peace conference. Neither is it a prayer meeting, a Sunday School picnic, or a preacher's convention. It is a peppy up-to-the-minute discussion of the vital questions of the day. There will be discussions of subjects ranging from corn growing in Brazil to Bolshevism in Russia. If you don't believe, then come to the Forum and see for yourself. At least one session will not hurt you. If you don't believe what has been said of the speakers then look them up in the Who's Who.

You can't get a man interested in religion on an empty stomach. Modern Christianity is a Christianity of service. The modern theory is to make life in this world worth the living and the future will take care of itself. Acting on this theory Hunnicut of Brazil and Higginbotham of India have each done more than any other one man in their respective countries to further the cause of agriculture. In so doing they have been missionaries of the new day in religion, the religion of service.

K. S. A. C. AND HARVARD

Organization and school spirit form the keynote at Harvard, according to an alumnus of that college. "Harvard Revisited" is the title of an interesting article in the Outlook, written by this alumnus upon revisiting his alma mater after an absence of five years.

The Collegian is interested in the question, "How does K. S. A. C. compare to Harvard in respect to changes undergone in the past five years?"

Intellectual Life

"There is more genuine intellectual life among the student body than there was a few years ago, and a more serious appreciation of the value of education," the alumnus says. Could this be said of K. S. A. C.? We would like to know what alumni of this school think about this.

About the Newspapers

"The two student literary papers, the "Advocate" and the "Harvard Magazine," reach a larger public between them than any two such papers have ever done before at Harvard. Both make a specialty of discussing the political questions of the day. The students read the papers."

This is not true of the Collegian. It never has been true of K. S. A. C.'s student paper. The Collegian is often knocked about because it expresses its opinion on some small school affair. It is criticized exegetically by persons who know nothing about newspapers. They keep it up until one is led to believe that they are some relative to the devil's advocate. They won't subscribe for the Collegian yet they gladly read their neighbor's. Why can't a school of this size put some faith in its school paper? It never has been done as yet.

Class Spirit

"More interest is shown in class affairs and in class activities."

That is all that we wish to see of that quotation. For it certainly isn't true of our classes here. Even the freshmen tell the upperclassmen that they won't wear caps—and often they don't. About one-tenth of the sophomore class attend its meetings, the juniors are no better, and if the seniors are better it's because they expect another assessment.

Scholastic Work

The writer, in his article, said that scholastic work has improved 50 per cent at Harvard in the past five years.

There is one place that K. S. A. C. shines. President Jardine, in the short time he has been at the head of K. S. A. C., has done splendid work in getting the students to realize just what their job is—to see that they are here to learn, to work, to study. He has taken stringent steps in making class cuts a serious offense. He has taken means to make students get their lessons. And he is to be commended for it. Yes, K. S. A. C. has easily improved 50 per cent in the past five years.

Teacher and Student

"There is manifest a change in the relation between faculty and student body such as can be brought about by a new spirit of confidence on both sides. Teachers and undergraduates are closer together than ever before."

And that is true of K. S. A. C. A student here can consult President Jardine, any dean, or any teacher if he wishes. Professors and students belong to many organizations, with equal ranking. That is real democracy. And K. S. A. C., while it is shaky in its school spirit, is not lacking in its old time democracy.

Working Students

"Fifty per cent of the students," the writer said, "are either partly or wholly putting themselves thru school. They enjoy the same privileges as the rich man's son as long as they are respectable."

Nothing need be said about K. S. A. C. The man or woman who puts himself thru school here is admired for his pluck. In fact, democracy is a topliner that the Collegian would like to run all the time.

And in All—

The alumnus sums up his article as follows:

"Harvard has been distinguished in the past by what are generally the attributes of a large college, to wit: Freedom, diversity of life, and richness of educational opportunity; and that now it is gradually but steadily adding to these what are commonly considered to be the attributes of a small college, namely, discipline in the best sense of the word, friendly association between faculty and student body, and democracy."

That's K. S. A. C.! And now, let's get organized. Let's let every senior in a Kansas high school know that this is the best school in the west. And let's have our alumni speak of their "alma mater" every day.

It can't be done in a day—this big change. But it can come about before the opening of school next fall.

OUR OPERA MANNERS

While the San Carlo grand opera performers were doing their best to give K. S. A. C. students and the people of Manhattan an exhibition of the very high class of musical talent, last Thursday evening some people in the audience were discourteous enough to carry on conversations with their neighbors.

Not only should this be discouraged but it must be absolutely stopped if we are to continue to have the pleasure of being entertained by such high class talent. Students should know that there is some difference between the way one should act at a show at the Marshall and at a performance of grand opera.

There were several exhibitions of "small town stuff" last Thursday night. Such action reflects discredit to one's environment. The fellow that carries on a conversation at an entertainment is usually the same fellow who slams doors and makes so much noise that he is forced to live in a half dozen rooming houses during the course of a year.

Young men are not supposed to entertain their dates when they take them to grand opera or productions of a similar nature. The performers are the ones to do the entertaining.

Performers comment unfavorably upon such actions. One often hears the statement that this "cow college" is void of manners and culture. Don't give anyone reason to believe that this absurd statement is true. Let's be careful, Aggie students, and not forget our manners when we attend grand opera or entertainments of similar kind.

Don Merritt was a Thursday dinner guest at the Sigma Nu house.

Captain Terrill and Captain Davidson were Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lamer, both former students of K. S. A. C., were Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Mr. Lamer is a Sig Alph and Mrs. Lamer is a member of Alpha Delta Pi.

Marshall P. Wilder spent Sunday visiting with friends in Topeka.

M. D. Durland spent the week end in Salina.

Donald Droll was a week end guest at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

Maurice Laine visited at his home in Herington this week.

N. S. Spangler spent the week end at his home in Abilene.

Leo Clark, sophomore in engineering, is visiting friends and relatives at his home in Chapman.

Ethel Charles, freshman in home economics, visited Saturday and Sunday with friends in Kansas City.

Don't throw away your safety razor blades—save them. They are valuable. Announcement in this paper later. tf.

Members of the Delta Tau Delta orchestra from Lawrence were Saturday and Sunday guests at the Tau Delta house here. They played Saturday evening at the Alpha Delta Pi party.

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity entertained Saturday evening with a house dance. Punch and wafers were served. Mrs. Bessie Webb Birdsall chaperoned.

Fred Bell returned Sunday from a visit at his home in Kansas City.

A. L. Costello returned to school Monday after an absence of two weeks at his home in Topeka.

Walter Sandow and Earl Cook, former K. S. A. C. students motored up from Hope to attend the Kansas livestock feeders' convention and visit with friends and relatives. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Merle Cook purchased a Ford touring car last wek.

H. D. Garver and R. E. Clelland spent last week end in Topeka visiting M. J. Clelland, a former student of K. S. A. C. who is now managing the farm owned by Washburn college.

Frank Hagans motored to Abilene to visit friends over Sunday.

Miss Edna Kohler spent the week end at her home near White City.

J. R. Mingle, class of '19, has been chosen to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Olsen of the dairy department. Mr. Mingle was graduated from the dairy course at the end of the fall semester.

H. W. Cave, C. T. Huffman, W. E. Peterson, and J. B. Fitch of the dairy department, attended the state Holstein association meeting and sale last Thursday and Friday.

The Philomathian and Lincoln literary societies are to have a spelling match Friday, April 9. The winners are to be taken to the show by the losing society.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mosely of Wamego were visiting friends at K. S. A. C. Thursday.

Herbert Hughes of Topeka has been spending a few days in Manhattan visiting friends.

Miss Hazel Olson and Miss Marjorie O'Neil spent last week end in Topeka.

Mrs. Hindman from Ashland is visiting her daughter and son, who are in college here.

The Ex-Service Mens' club held a meeting in Denison hall Thursday evening. Arrangements were made for a dance to be given in the Elks' hall Friday evening, April 9.

Charles R. Enlow, a graduate of K. S. A. C., who has been working with the U. S. bureau of farm management, has resigned and is taking up commercial aviation. He is on his way to Independence to buy a plane, and expects to be in Manhattan the first of May.

Paul Quick is to coach the school of agriculture baseball team. Mr. Quick coached the successful football team, and has had considerable experience in athletics at Warrensburg, Mo.

Miss Irene Dean, Miss Marcia Seeber, and Miss Elizabeth Circle will represent K. S. A. C. at the national Y. W. C. A. convention at Cleveland, Ohio, from April 17 to 24.

Miss Louise Robinson of Towanda, and Henrietta Stieffel of Salina, were dinner guests at the Beta house Thursday night.

Alfred Heusner spent the week end at his home in Salina.

Tickets are now on sale for the "Firemans' Ball" which will be held at the community house Friday evening, April 2.

The vocational men of K. S. A. C. are planning on a ball team this summer, if enough able bodied players can be found to make a nine.

J. V. Croker will not return to K. S. A. C. but will attend his home sate university next fall. He lives in Nebraska.

FOSTER HAS APPEAL FOR EX-SOLDIERS

UNDERSTANDS INTIMATELY THE SOLDIER LIFE

HE WILL SPEAK HERE TWICE

Is Pastor of Marcy Avenue Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. Where He Adresses Immense Audiences

Simple but great truths, spoken in the language which comes from the heart and goes to the heart, go to make up the powerful message which Allyn K. Foster of Brooklyn, N. Y. will bring to the student body of the Kansas State Agricultural college when he speaks here at two of the World Forum sessions which will be held here during the Easter week end.

All Can Help

Challenging students to a realization of the world situation and pointing out how it is within their power to help work out a solution for the problems which involve the safety and happiness of our nation, together with a message which has for its foundation an insistence upon the fundamental truths of the old gospel are among the things which Doctor Foster will speak on in his two addresses.

Good For Soldiers

An intimate knowledge of soldier life in France and Germany, gained during his service overseas, makes it possible for Doctor Foster to speak with success to soldier and ex-service men groups. His testimony is said to be of particular worth in view of the conflicting reports concerning different matters connected with the conduct of the A. E. F. and individual soldier's conduct.

Dr. Foster as pastor of the Marcy avenue church in Brooklyn, N. Y. speaks each Sunday night to enormous audiences. His coming to the college as one of the World Forum speakers is a particular privilege to every student here and not one can afford to miss any of his addresses.

Y. W. WORKER TO COME HERE

WILL ADDRESS SMALL GROUPS OF GIRLS

Has Been Successful in Creative and Executive Work in the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Duffield, a traveling student secretary in the west central field of Y.W.C.A. activity, is one of the few women in social work today who is at the same time creative and executive. Her service at Lawrence stands as a lasting evidence of her worth and in every other place where she has had a connection an influence for good has been felt.

Graduating from Wellesley college, Miss Duffield shortly afterward entered the service of the Y. W. C. A. and has since the beginning of her work been one of the most constructive persons in the field. While Miss Duffield will not appear on the program as a speaker she will act in a helpful way by speaking to smaller groups, for whom she has a definite and special message with regard to their opportunity for world service through Christian leaders.

Thinks Aggies Have Rarest Opportunity of the School Year

"I regard the World Forum as one of the most wonderful things that has ever been brought to the college for the benefit of the student body," is the expression of Miss Jessie M. Machir, registrar, in behalf of the World Forum.

"I am at all times wholly in favor of any movement or event which will better student life; I personally appreciate the rare opportunity given in this Forum session and hope that every student will take full advantage of the chance to know more about the world situation today."

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity entertained Sunday in honor of sisters of members of the fraternity. The guests included Miss Frances Lovett, Miss Marian Brookover, Miss Mary Wight, Miss Laura Denman, Miss Gladys Bushong, and Miss Margaret Howe of Garrison.

WILL DISCUSS PROBLEM CAUSED BY MISRULE IN TURKISH POPULATION

For the past year Dr. A. J. Culler has put in his time in making a tour of the near east where he has made a first hand study of conditions for the United Brethren church.

He toured Armenia, Turkey, Serbia, and various other countries in that region which at the present time is occupying such an important place in the attention of the world. The Turk continues his war of extermination against the Armenians and the civilized world looks on in horror and keeps its arms folded.

[illegible] ne Lloyd George sa[illegible] urk must not be driven out of Constantinople and the British labor party has come out in direct opposition to this attitude. Protests from all over the world have gone to the Allies for permitting Turkish misrule to continue.

Doctor Culler will discuss the underlying causes of this open sore on the face of the globe.

Before going on his recent tour Doctor Culler was college pastor at McPherson, and his home at the present time is at McPherson.

A. J. CULLER
Who Will Tell of Conditions in Armenia and in the Near East

WORLD FORUM HEARTILY INDORSED BY DEANS OF ALL THE DIVISIONS

Hearty support and approval of the World Forum program has been expressed in various statements secured from the deans of the respective divisions of the college. From every department of the college there has been manifested the liveliest and most helpful interest and it is believed that the student body will respond accordingly when they know the sentiment of their deans on the Forum opportunity.

Dean Thompson For It

Dean Helen B. Thompson, of the home economics division has to say concerning the enterprise:

"The World Forum is extremely useful since it is a message from the point of view of actual facts known, conditions geographically, economically, and the trade situation with regard to its relationship to our country.

"An eminent sociologist once said that three things should hold the interest of every observer in such a situation as this World Forum will bring to this school, those being, respectively:

"What are the facts?"

"What are the implications of the facts?"

"What am I going to do about it?

"The World Forum will make possible for the students of the Kansas State Agricultural college a clearer understanding of the big issues of the day, and it is to be hoped that all will avail themselves of the big opportunity."

Indorsed by Dean Van Zile

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, voices her appreciation of the World Forum enterprise in a statement which has for its basis that Christian leadership in all parts of the world is an aim and an end to which any student of this college could proudly strive.

What Dean Potter Says

"The World Forum, to be held at K. S. A. C. April 2 to 4, should benefit the students in the following ways:

"It should broaden their knowledge and vision by familiarizing them with world problems.

"They should better realize how modern civilization depends upon cooperation, which applies to nations as well as to individuals, to churches as well as to industries. The aim of all thinking people is to bring about the harmonious working of all men, real team work with the interest of humanity as its goal."

Dean Farrell Speaks

"The announcement of the World Forum to be held here on April 2, 3, and 4, contains the names of two men, Messrs. Hunnicut and Higginbotham, who should be able to give much interesting and valuable information regarding agriculture in two foreign countries.

"Farmers and students of agriculture are coming to realize that the agricultural welfare of the United States may be profoundly influenced by agricultural conditions in foreign countries. India is a competitor of ours in connection with the wheat and cotton industries. Brazil sends us coffee, and she may develop into an important competitor in cotton, citrus fruits, and meat. Agricultural students should embrace every opportunity to secure information regarding either of these two interesting countries."

What Dean Dykstra Says

Dr. R. R. Dykstra, dean of the school of veterinary medicine, expressed his appreciation of the World Forum by saying that he considered the event one of the most significant in the life of the college in a long time.

"These world problems will be presented to the students by men and women speakers who know their ground. Sane thinking on the big issues of the day will lead to sane action, a most vital thing in this critical day."

Dean Willard For It

Dean J. T. Willard, head of the general science division, has given the World Forum movement his hearty support and cooperation since the start and with his interest leading, the general science students will doubtless attend the meetings in full force.

K. S. A. C. SELLS PURE-BRED COW FOR EXPORT

Sixteen-Months-Old Hereford Sold to South American Breeders

The Kansas State Agricultural college is the first institution of its kind to sell and export purebred cattle of its own breeding. Recently a delegation from Uruguay visited this country for the purpose of buying a few purebred Herefords of the best breeding, conformation, and quality they could find.

These men visited a large number of the best herds in the country and it was soon found that they were splendid judges of cattle and that they were extremely exacting in making their selections.

One of the females selected by them was the 16-months-old heifer Ruperts Lady 5th, bred and sold by the animal husbandry department of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

The sale of this heifer for export trade is splendid evidence that the college is producing some very high class Herefords.

MESSAGES FOR PRACTICAL MEN

LIFE PROBLEMS NOT HANDLED WITH GLOVES

A. M. Trawick, Speaker at World Forum, Helps in Socializing Many Occupations

That the problems of life should be handled without gloves, that no "namby-pamby" stuff will go with thinking people and if we really believe our Christianity worth while and are willing to make it a workable scheme rather than a superficial theory, we must actually be a brother to all classes of men regardless of race, color, and other differences, is the opinion of A. M. Trawick, one of the speakers for the World Forum.

Dr. Trawick is president of the Kansas City Bible Training school and has been for many years associated with men in the solution of social and industrial problems. He is an authority on race problems in America today.

Doctor Trawick brings a message to the engineers and other men preparing for the practical walks of life that will aid them in socializing their several occupations.

OTHER COLLEGES

Student "Labor Day" was recently observed at the University of California, during which four campus improvements, chiefly roads and walks, were constructed, each college working as a unit and costumed in a uniform dress. This is the seventh work day observed in California and will be followed by a big circus.

Leland Stanford university has organized a polo team. The ponies were provided by the war department.

Acacia, national college social fraternity composed entirely of Masons, will establish a chapter at the University of Oklahoma within the next few weeks, according to H. L. Kent, member of the Acacia council in the loyalty movement of that college.

A Sunday supplement, commonly known as a "funny paper," was inaugurated by the Michigan Daily, Sunday, February 29. It is a new departure in the field of college journalism and is following closely the plan of the city dailies.

Movies are to be taken of the K. U. carnival if the authorities can secure Pathe weekly to take the pictures. These pictures would be used in the loyalty movement of that col lege.

Wisconsin defeated Minnesota in the first ski match ever held west of New England by a score of 776 to 536. The contest was held on Muir Knob at Madison, and was well attended. Five men from each school contended. Several bad falls were experienced but no one was seriously injured.

The Daily Iowan is conducting a vote among the students of the state university on the question of the honor system.

Oberlin is to have a leap year date night at which no "man-made" date will be allowed. The girls will select their victims, make the dates, provide entertainment for the evening, and best of all, will pay for it.

A movie star is now attending the University of Missouri. Miss Josephine Headly, formerly with Thomas H. Ince, is enroled in the farmers' short course, learning how to manage her 2,000 acre ranch in Arkansas.

Washburn is the latest college to organize a Hoover-for-President club. Even girls who are voters are urged to join.

"There are too many colleges in Iowa, both for the population and the proper maintenance of existing educational institutions," declared Dr. Fred E. Stockwell of Coe.

Columbia university now recgnizes Kansas State normal. The B. S. degree from the Normal is equivalent to Columbia's graduate course.

Missouri university fraternity men have received orders from the Columbia police force to cease playing baseball in the streets of that city.

The Oklahoma Daily is to be enlarged, new equipment installed and full telegraph news added to the front page.

Miss Irene Christie will be the first honorary colonel of the R. O. T. C. at the University of Missouri. At the military ball she was presented with a regulation sabre which she will retain until the new colonel is elected next year. A regimenta[illegible] of the entire corps will be honor.

A K. U. professor has a better idea than that of using the war material to signal Mars with a smoke screen. He proposes to get all the university students to gether in one place, and then pass around the Fatimas.

Gilbert Harper, junior in college nd member of the Sigma Phi Epsi[illegible]on fraternity, has withdrawn from college and gone to his home at Kingman.

Mr. Edward Nellis of Topeka visited at the Beta house over the week end.

Do You Know—

THAT one of the hardest fought Missouri Valley Contests ever staged will be held here April 10.

THAT every school in the Valley will do its utmost to win this contest.

THAT the MISSOURI VALLEY ORATORICAL CONTEST is the oratorical CLASSIC of the middle west.

THAT this is the first time such a contest has ever been held here.

THAT every LOYAL Aggie student will be there.

NEWEST ARRAY IN HEAD GEARS

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY MEN WEAR BLACK HATS

Grey Is Too Frivolous a Color for Such Serious Minded Students

A new variety of headgear has now appeared on the hill. The animal husbandry students, not to be outdone by the Ags or the engineers have adopted a headgear of their own.

The Tri K club adopted as the emblem of their profession black hats which are the same in shape as those of the Ag. students. The animal husbandry students, trying to believe that they were more serious minded than most students on the hill, considered grey as too frivolous coloration for their hats.

Perhaps This Would Make the Brown Bull Break Loose

An English instructor on the hill gave an assignment to his classes this week as follows,—"Write a short paragraph on "What I would do to better conditions at the Kansas State Agricultural college."

One particularly bright freshman handed in the following—"To better conditions at the Kansas State Agricultural college I would suggest that we have a day on which everyone wear all the red articles of clothing which they possess, such as red sweaters and red hose—this to apply to both sexes. The girls should wear bright red ribbons in their hair and the boys wear their red neckties. (If you haven't a red one—borrow one from a Hamilton.)

In the afternoon we should have a parade—led by all the red headed students in college. In this manner we might be able to make the "Brown Bull" break loose from his moorings, where he has been pawing and rumbling for the last two months."

Elect S. S. G. A. Officers

The Student Self-Governing association met Tuesday afternoon in F 56 and elected the following officers: secretary, Lavern Webb; treasurer, Ship Winters; committee chairmen: discipline, Gus Welch; finance, Oscar Steanson; social affairs, Louise Dawson; calendar, Raymond Knox; school spirit, Ray Watson; points, Ada Robertson.

Peculiar, Isn't It?

My name is—
Well—no matter.
I come from a farm
Out in western Kansas.
I thought I had heard
People say,
That this here
Leap Year
Was the time
When beautiful dames
Went around
Tappin' unsuspecting guys
On the shoulder
And asking them
To become
Their meal ticket.
Well—
I've been here
Six months
And I aint even
Had the chance
To decline with thanks.
I must say
I think the girls
Are making an awful
Mistake.
I may not
Be as good looking
As Prof. Rogers
But I got
Just as many brains.
I am sure Prof. Davis
Has nothing on me
For looks,
Yet they are both
Kind, hen-pecked husbands.
Why is it, girls?
I can shake an awful
Wicked leg;
I play a durned good game
Of checkers;
And you'd be surprised
But I have lots
Of other traits
Every bit as devilish.
Address all applications
With matrimonial intentions,
Care of
The editor of the Collegian.
(The woman hater.)

Editor's Note: The name of the person making this plea is withheld on request but we may state this his first name has something to do with weights.

Miss Ada Robertson attended the Y. W. C. A. cabinet house party held over the week end.

Mrs. Fred Jenkins of Perry was a week end guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Getting Away

He studied in the morning,
And he studied late at night,
He studied in the daytime,
[illegible] bright, all right.

He never flunked his studies,
And he always made his E's.
But when it came to dining out,
Well,—he was not so much at ease.

Now, we like to see him study,
And pull his grades from day to day,
But when there's "company to tea,"
We wonder how he gets away.

LULU MAY ZELLER WINS PRIZE ON HER POSTER

Wins $5 for Having Best Poster for World Forum

Miss Lulu May Zeller won the first prize of $5 for the best poster to advertise the World Forum. The second prize of $3 was won by Jayne Lamb. Nellie Bare won the third prize of $2.

Miss Florence Hunt, Mr. P. G. Dalton of Cole's, and Mrs. Nethercott of the high school were the judges. The students in design were the contestants. Each student submitted a poster.

Ralph Nixon spent the week end in Council Grove.

BLOCK AND BRIDLE PLEDGES FIVE STUDENTS

Committees Appointed to Arrange for Annual Spring Stock Judging Contest

Block and Bridle, honorary fraternity for students in animal husbandry, announces the pledging of L. H. Reyburn, Charles Thresher, Ray Ferree, J. S. Stewart, and H. J. Henney.

At the last regular meeting of the fraternity committees were appointed to arrange for the annual spring stock judging contest, and to arrange for momentos for the members of this year's stock judging team. It was also decided to have a dance for the members of the club in the near future.

The Block and Bridle is now a national organization and all students who are taking animal husbandry or who are interested in the live stock industry are welcome at the meetings. Meetings are held on the second and the fourth Tuesdays of each month at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30. Speakers for the meetings will be posted on the bulletin boards.

Loyal Aggies and the World Forum

Every loyal Aggie should attend the World Forum which is to be held from April 2 to April 4.

Men and women who have been in the different continents of the world will be here to tell us of their work and of those countries. There is Higginbotham, who has made practical agriculture a success in India; Mrs. Emerick, who has just recently returned from the near East, where she and her husband conducted a school.

Here is a chance to learn the real facts about the Near East. Allyn Foster is the pastor of one of the largest churches in Brooklyn, New York. He preaches to thousands every Sunday. There should be thousands to hear him here. Bishop McConnell is prominent on the chautauqua platform.

This is a chance for every Aggie to get in touch with the whole world. Let's take advantage of it.

CALL GOES TO WASHINGTON TO MEET WITH AGRONOMISTS

Will Try to Coordinate Research Work—Boosts K. S. A. C.

Prof. L. E. Call, of the agricultural college agronomy department, left last week for Washington, D. C., to be gone about 15 days. He is to attend a meeting of the advisory board of the American Society of Agronomy, which was appointed some time ago to coordinate agronomic research work and to cooperate with the National Research council.

Professor Call is the only member of this committee located in the middle west. His appointment is a recognition of the leadership of K. S. A. C. and the members of the college and experiment station staff.

Hamp-Io Leap Year Party

The members of the Ionian literary society entertained the Hamiltons Friday evening with a leap year party at the Methodist annex. The evening was spent with music and games. Readings were given by Miss Maude Lahr and Miss Osceola Burr. Miss Grace Derby and "Doc" Wagner chaperoned.

Wm. H. McClure of Republic, formerly a student at the University of Kansas, will spend the first of the week in Manhattan visiting friends.

Wilbur Cole, Marion Smith, Rudolph Morganstern, and Harold Smiley spent the week end in Topeka.

CLUB HONORS MEMBERS TO BE ENTERTAINED BY K. S. A. C.

Boys' and Girls' Week to be Celebrated April 12-17

April 12-17 will be Boys' and Girls' week at K. S. A. C. The champion club members who were to have come for the postponed Farm and Home week will all be here, as will also the all-star canning and all-star bread baking teams that won state honors at Wichita in 1919.

The program will include demonstrations, lectures, and trips through the college barns, poultry farm, greenhouses, and agronomy farm, free tickets to the movies, free motor rides, and two banquets. It will be a real educational "short course" for the boys and girls.

The college will be open to the club members and their friends during all the week.

Dr. J. R. Macarthur spent the week end in Lawrence and was one of the judges at the Oklahoma-Kansas debate. Oklahoma won the debate by a two to one decision.

Frank Coffman, who has been working with Professor Parker, returned to Akron, Colo., to take up his duties as agronomist in charge of cereal investigations.

F. G. Welch, senior in animal husbandry, returned Saturday from Phillipsburg, where he refereed a series of high school basketball games.

"INSPIRED FARMER" INTENDED TO TRY ECONOMICS--ENDED WITH AGRICULTURE

Sam Higginbotham might be called the "inspired farmer." He went to India to teach economics and has ended up by teaching scientific agriculture. He will be one of the speakers of the World Forum.

The farmers of India were desolately poor. In a single decade there were 19 million deaths from famine. All the wordly possessions of an ordinary farmer would not be worth more than $5. Sam Higginbotham realized that it was futile to preach the gospel of Christianity to men's minds and hearts when their stomachs were empty.

He returned to this country and took an agricultural course similar to the one we have at K. S. A. C. Then he went back to India to manage a 250 acre farm—not rich land but poor stony ground.

The value of the land has been increased 40 times, has produced 20 bushels of wheat to the acre instead of six, and has raised millet that is 17 feet high.

Mr. Higginbotham is agricultural director of native states as large as New York and Pennsylvania combined. He has helped the British government and the Hindu university to establish agricultural courses. Mr. Higginbotham's influence is also going out in the teaching of animal husbandry, dairying, stock raising, and horticulture.

MILLING DEPARTMENT MAY BECOME MOST POPULAR ONE IN ENGINEERING

The department has [illegible] ped plant, consisting [illegible] stand 7x14 inch rolls, with all the necessary machinery for cleaning. The results are equal to those of a regular commercial mill. A baking laboratory equipped with a dough mixer and electric ovens is used in carrying on experimental baking and as a laboratory for chemical tests on wheat and flour.

Milling wheat and other grains has become the most important industry in Kansas. The course at the Kansas State Agricultural college has grown rapidly in recent years and promises to become one of the most popular departments in the engineering division.

Professor Fitz is at the head of the department here. The course consists of work in milling, grain production, and experimental baking. The grain used is from adjoining farms and the flour is sold to local dealers.

They're Both Just Known As Mikes by Aggie Students

Two profs on the hill are known by the students as "Mike" — Professor Ahearn and Professor Emerson. One is about as well known and well liked as the other by the students of K. S. A. C. But the subject of this story is Mike Emerson.

Mike is head of the public speaking department. During his spare moments he teaches engineers and ags how to extemporate before an audience without getting flustrated. Practically every student sometime during his four years in college here takes a term of extemporaneous speaking under him. If the student doesn't absorb some of Mike's enormous vocabulary and carry away an impression of his magnetic personality, it is because his cranium is roofed with marble.

But Mike's vocation, this semester, is selecting and coaching characters for plays and making silver tongued orators from ordinary students. He coached the orators for the intersociety oratorical contest held February 28 and is now working with the man who will represent the college in the big Missouri Valley contest which will be held April 10.

Professor Emerson has the ability to turn out a winner and the student body may expect him to turn out a man who will win the Missouri Valley honors this year. While a student at K. U. "Mike" won the first prize in the first Missouri Valley contest ever held. There were representatives at the contest from five universities in three states.

With the same oration, Professor Emerson won over $800 in prizes, competing in different contests. Out of a total of eight prizes, six were firsts. Among the larger winnings was the Iowa State oratorical contest held in 1911. Fifteen colleges competed in this contest for a prize of $100. The same year he won another first prize of $100 at the Interstate oratorical contest. There were competitors in this contest from 63 colleges in 10 states.

N. E. Olson, assistant professor of dairy husbandry, is leaving his work here in the college to take up commercial work in Vancouver, Wash. He will have charge of the commercial ice cream plant.

"Crack," went her fountain pen, as she dropped it and then stepped her number fives thereon. She said something not printable. Then,—"I'll have to go over to the postoffice and claim a lost pen, I guess." There are more ways than one of breaking even in this old world.

HAVE ELECTED STAFF OF ENGINEER PUBLICATION

K. S. A. C. MAGAZINE TO BE PRINTED AGAIN

O. L. Cullen Is the New Editor and Kenneth Shideler Business Manager

At the meeting of the engineers' general seminar Thursday the staff for next year's K. S. A. C. Engineer was elected. O. L. Cullen, a mechanical, will be editor. F. J. Moss, a mechanical, is assistant editor, Kenneth Shideler, a civil, is business manager, and Guy Shelley, a civil, is alumni editor.

The K. S. A. C. Engineer was discontinued during the war but it is hoped to put out a larger edition than ever next year. It contains accounts of experiments carried on here in the laboratories, articles by alumni, and anything of particular interest to the engineering alumni of K. S. A. C. and to the Kansas engineering profession in general.

EXPECT 5,000 TO VISIT THE WORLD FORUM

should have a share in the management of industry."

Real World Forum

Saturday night at 7:30 the second evening session will be held and at this meeting will be held the real "World Forum." Facts and conditions concerning every continent will be brought before the student audience at that time.

America and Turkey

Dr. A. J. Culler who has recently returned from a two year's trip visiting all the mission stations of the Brethren denomination, will discuss the "Near East, Armenia, and Turkey."

Benjamin Hunnicut, the principal speaker of the Friday night session will again appear on the program presenting the Latin-American situation in a little different light.

About Mexico

Bishop F. J. McConnell, than whom there is no better authority on all the questions concerning Mexico will give a graphic rapid-fire lecture on that country.

Miss Hill who has served as a missionary in various parts of Asia and who knows that country better than most of us know our own continent will also be a speaker at the second night session.

India will be discussed by Sam Higginbotham, the man who introduced scientific agriculture into that country and whose program for agricultural education has been adopted by the British government for India.

Following the close of the Saturday night mass meeting at the auditorium the literary societies will entertain the speakers in their regular weekly meetings.

Program Completed

The remainder of the World Forum program is as follows:

On Easter morning the World Forum speakers will start out early in the day by assisting at the Easter breakfast services which are held each year at the various churches. At the regular Sunday morning services speakers will be assigned to the respective pulpits.

Easter Sunday afternoon there will be a men's mass meeting at the community house, the gathering to be held at three o'clock, F. W. Jensen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce presiding.

At this time Dr. A. M. Trawick and A. E. Roberts will speak to the men students of the college and men from town.

The women's meeting will be held at the Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, Mrs. C. O. Swanson in charge.

Miss Hill, Miss Ella MacLauren, and Mrs. Clara Pinkham will be the speakers at the afternoon meeting for women.

The World Forum sessions will close Easter Sunday night with a mass meeting to be held at the college auditorium beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock. Town churches will unite for their regular Sunday evening services by attending the closing session of the Forum.

Sam Higginbotham and Dr. A. K. Foster who will have appeared on the program will be the two principal speakers at the Sunday night service and will bring a big message at that time.

Prof. Arthur E. Westbrook will furnish special music for each of the World Forum sessions, and particularly for the Easter Sunday night service.

Hearty support of the K. S. A. C. World Forum has been received from the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce. F. D. Lamb, president of that organization in a letter to the promotion committee voices the appreciation of all the leading merchants for the efforts of the college workers in effecting such a program.

Every filled seat means a loyal Aggie.

An empty seat cries for the man who isn't a booster.

"Chapel extraordinary" is the only thing that can be told just yet.

College organizations have nothing to do with this chapel—not yet, anyway.

The band will play, even if it doesn't know the purpose of the occasion. That is real college spirit.

No, the chapel isn't to sell baseball tickets. In fact, it has nothing to do with athletics.

You go to Chapel,
I go to—well,
Oh please do tell,
Why go to chapel?

President Jardine hasn't been invited. But he says that any Aggie booster crowd will find him in its midst.

What is this "chapel extraordinary?"

HAVE ANNUAL GIRLS' MEET

FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES HAVE GYMNASTICS

Meet Starts Promptly at 7:30 Tomorrow Night in the Big Gymnasium

Tomorrow night 160 freshman and sophomore girls will give an exhibition of the excellent gymnastic work which is being carried on by the women's physical training department. This is the third annual meet of its kind which has been given in this college.

There is much competition between the sophomore and freshman classes for the winning of this meet. The freshman girls have been winners in both of the previous meets, although last year the sophs gave them a hard fight.

Everyone is invited to attend. No admission is charged. The meet will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock in the big gymnasium.

SCHOOLS IN DUAL DEBATE

WILL BE HELD SATURDAY OF FORUM WEEK

Is Largest Debate of Year and Men Have Been Working on Question for Months

The annual dual debate between Kansas State Agricultural college and Iowa State college will occupy part of the program of the World Forum on Saturday afternoon. This is the largest debate of the year and the debaters have been working for many months on the question.

The question is of great industrial and social importance and forms a part of the subject matter of the Forum program. The proposition as stated is, "Resolved that labor through representatives of their own choosing, should have a share in the management of industry."

The affirmative will be upheld by the Aggies with a team composed of A. C. Ramsey, Floyd Hawkins, and Oscar Steanson.

Ames will argue the negative with a team composed of M. B. Parsons, S. E. Faith, and G. A. Bakkum.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

S. S. G. A. Council Meeting

There will be a meeting of the executive council of the S. S. G. A. Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock in F 56.

Eden—Hutto

Miss Ruth E. Eden of Albuquerque, N. M., and Mr. Claude E. Hutto were married Friday in Kansas City, the Rev. D. P. Taylor of the Methodist church officiating. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's aunt, 3431 Benton Boulevard. Mr. and Mrs. Hutto will make their home for the present with Mr. Hutto's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hutto, 320 North Eleventh. Mr. Hutto is a senior in general science. He is a member of the Athenian literary society.

Eurodelphian Banquet

The members of the Eurodelphian literary society gave their Shad-u-Khan banquet at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the Pines. Previous to the banquet a short program was given at the Euro hall. A color scheme of brown and yellow, the Eurodelphian colors, was carried out in the menu and in the decorations. Toasts were given by the following persons: Miss Irene Miller, acting as toastmistress, Miss Edna Wilkin, Miss Opal Seeber, Miss Laverne Webb, and Miss Elizabeth Dickens. Miss Florence Hunt, the Eurodelphian sponsor, chaperoned.

Ionian Open House

The Ionian literary society held open house at its hall Saturday afternoon from three until five, for the members of other girls' literary societies on the hill. A color scheme of red and white was used in the decorations. Punch was served during the afternoon.

For Mr. and Mrs. Hall

The extension department entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Hall at the recreation hall Wednesday evening. A program consisting of music, readings, and talks was given, after which refreshments were served to about fifty guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall and children left Friday, March 26, for Springfield, Mass., where Mr. Hall will take up his work as assistant to O. H. Benson of the junior achievement bureau.

Omicron Nu Pledging

Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, has elected two new members, Miss Helen Neiman of Whitewater, and Miss Effie Hendricks, of Fort Smith, Ark., both juniors in the division of home economics. Formal pledging was held Friday at noon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms, followed by an informal group luncheon at the cafeteria.

K Fraternity Dance

The members of the K fraternity gave an informal dancing party in the recreation hall Friday evening. A five piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing. About 25 couples attended. The members of the fraternity all wore the K sweaters which they have earned by their various athletic endeavors.

Announce Pledging

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity announces the pledging of Emil von Riesen, freshman in civil engineering.

Announce Pledging

Phi Delta Tau announces the pledging of Mr. E. H. Jackson, freshman in engineering.

Dinner Guests

Mrs. Otto of Riley and Miss Dora Otto were Friday dinner guests at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Thursday dinner guests at the Pi Kappa Alpha house included Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Reid, and Mr. Pseis, the educational manager of the General Electric company.

Sunday dinner guests at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house were Miss Maude Irene Whitehead of Abilene and Miss Marian Williams.

Thursday dinner guests at the Pi Phi house were Miss Lucille Smith of Topeka, and Mr. Fred Russell.

Sunday dinner guests of Sigma Nu, March 21, were Miss Ernestine Biby, Miss Edith Russell, Mr. Fred Russell of Paola, Doctor Muldoon, and Doctor Frick.

Friday dinner guests of Sigma Nu were Miss Elva Boggs of Wichita, Miss Lucille Baumgardner of Topeka, and Mrs. J. C. Robinson of Towanda.

Sunday the matrons of all the fraternities were dinner guests at the Sigma Nu house.

Japanese Cabaret Dance

The Alpha Delta Pi fraternity entertained Saturday evening, March 27, in Harrison's hall, with a Japanese cabaret dance. The hall was decorated to represent a Japanese tea garden. The hall was lighted with silk hand painted Japanese lanterns hung from the four corners of the room. Two large Japanese parasols, from which were hung sprays of morning glories, were suspended from each end of the room. In the center of the hall was a fountain over which was suspended a smaller parasol from which morning glories hung down almost to the fountain. About the fountain were palms and other oriental plants giving the semblance of a small artificial garden.

Lattice interlaced with morning glories was used in the corners of the room and over the orchestra platform. Quintette tables were placed on the platform around the room. The tables were screened in from the dancers by palms, oriental rose trees, and urns of Japanese roses.

Two special dances, one a Japanese dance by Miss Helen Sparks, and a bubble dance by ten children were given during the evening.

The music for the dancing was furnished by the Delta Tau orchestra from K. U. Punch was served at the tables throughout the evening by five high school girls dressed in Japanese costumes. After the dancing a two course luncheon was served to the guests.

Out of town guests were Miss Elsie Grant, Miss Laura Jenkins, Miss Frances Flynn, Miss Frances Lee Evans, Miss Frances Cooper and Mrs. Eoff of K. U. chapter; Miss Louise Newton of Independence, Mo.; Miss Marion Newell of Kansas City, Mo.; Laura Lee Maxwell, St. Joseph, Mo.; Miss Gertrude Uhley, Centralia; Miss Florence McCall, Salina; Miss Greeta Gramse, Perry; and Mrs. Bernard Lamer, Wichita. Chaperons for the evening were Mrs. Alice E. Marcotte, Miss Jessie Machir, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Huse, Mr. and Mrs. Mont Green and Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Bressler.

JUNIOR GIRLS STILL HOLDING CHAMPIONSHIP

WIN GIRLS' BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT FOR THREE YEARS

WIN LOVING CUP SECOND TIME

Freshmen, Juniors, and Sophs Tie for First Place—Freshmen and Sophs Both Lose to Juniors

The Junior girls' basketball team are winners for the third time of the annual girls' basketabll tournament. They are the all victorious class team having won every year since they were freshies.

Are Awarded Loving Cup

The team received the silver loving cup last year,—that is given to a team which wins the tournament for two years in succession. The cup will again be presented to the team at the tournament basketball feed on Thursday evening of next week.

Freshies Make Hard Fight

This year the freshmen and juniors and sophomores all tied for first place in the tournament. The freshmen played the sophs last Saturday and took the game from them with a big score. Tuesday evening the freshies and the juniors met for the decisive game of the tournament.

The first half of the freshmen forwards played a fast game and succeeded in making five field baskets and five free goals. At the end of the first half the score stood 15 to 11 in the freshman team's favor.

The juniors, determined ont to lose their basketball record after two years of victory, went into the second half with the old time fight that made them winners as freshmen. They soon gained on the freshies and tied the score. The last five minutes of the game was a hard fight for both teams. The juniors threw two field goals and a free basket. When the whistle blew the juniors were in the lead by five points.

Centers Play Good Game

The junior centers played an especially good game. Helen Sloan and Bertha Gwinn showed some remarkably fast team work. Florace Banker thew goals with such accuracy that even Mary Betz, freshmen guard was unable to block the ball.

The members of the junior team are: forwards; Florence Banker, Gladys Flippo, Gladys Bushong, and Harriet Klaver, guards; Clementine Paddleford, Ruth Willis, Grace Turner, and Corrine Thiele, centers; Bertha Gwinn and Helen Sloan.

MATHEMATICIANS WILL MEET HERE

SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING OF KANSAS BODY

Association Has Membership of 1,200 which Places it Among the Largest Mathematical Bodies in the World

The sixth regular meeting of the Kansas section of the Mathematical association of America will be held at K. S. A. C. Saturday, April 3.

This association is especially concerned with the interests of collegiate mathematics. Although one of the youngest, its membership of about 1,200 places it among the largest mathematical bodies in the world. The program calls for a forenoon and afternoon session in A 74. All interested in the meetings will be welcomed.

The program which will be given is as follows: Forenoon: "Content of the College Freshman Algebra Course" by Prof. U. G. Mitchell of the University of Kansas, Discussion by Prof. Ottilia W. Dueker of Friends University, and Prof. A. E. White of K. S. A. C., "The Bridge Between High School and College Mathematics" by Prof. Mary Newson of Washburn, and "A Comparative Study of the Algebraic Preparation of the College Freshman" by Prof. W. H. Garrett of Baker university.

In the afternoon the visitors will make a tour of the grounds, after which another program will be given.

Prof. I. Victor Iles was in Junction City Friday, where he was one of the judges of an inter high school debate.

Thickness Varies Inversely as the Square of Times

Not many days ago a mixture of finely divided solid particles of anhydrous silicon dioxide, aluminum oxide, and sodium silicate was lifted from the earth where it should normally have remained, and deposited in my room upon any object which presented either a horizontal or a rough suface to the atmosphere, by a moving medium consisting mainly of a mixture of 20 per cent oxygen and 79 per cent nitrogen.

The process of precipitation continued for some days until each tiny crevice, corner, and shelf were covered with the gray deposit. The thickness of this deposit varied each day inversely as the square of the time divided by the energy of the landlady.

After some days the movement of the conveying medium ceased and all particles held in suspension were deposited, incidentally allowing the landlady to collect enough of the deposit to fill an old cistern in the back yard and to resurface the tennis court—whose original surface, by the way ,may be found evenly distributed over the three counties directly adjoining us on the north.

RAINBOW HUED CAPS APPEAR ON FRESHMEN

SIGNS WARN FIRST YEAR MEN TO DON 'EM

NO PADDLING OR DUCKING

But Upperclassmen Have Other Means of Enforcing Tradition—Sophomores Getting Active

Signs announcing "Freshman Beware. Wear Your Freshman Caps" are posted on all parts of the campus.

These rainbow-hued skull affairs will make their appearance again this afternoon when the Aggie nine meets the Fort Riley team in the first baseball game of the season. Every man in college who is classified as a freshman must don one of the petite brain coverings.

Must Be Worn

Steps are to be taken to see to it that the caps are worn. The order is emphatic that there shall be no paddling or duckng, but the students have devised other schemes to enforce the tradition. There is no order against blanket tossing and other such methods.

Is a Tradition

One sophomore has said, "I would like to see every freshman don a cap. Next year these men will be the ones to inforce the tradition. The conflict has always been between the sophomores and freshmen. The juniors and seniors are onlookers and referees. That is theoretical. In reality, every upper classman in school is anxious to see every freshman wear green, purple, and white caps."

SOCIETY PLAY MAKES A HIT

ACTION DID NOT DRAG IN A SINGLE INSTANCE

Homer Henney Plays Difficult Part in Capable Style—Audience Enthusastic Over Leading Lady

"Believe Me Xantippe," the play presented by the college literary societies in the auditorium Monday night, went big, to speak in the vernacular of theater management.

The play was well received by a comparatively large audience, as college play attendance goes. All who saw it were enthusiastic and praised the production highly. "Believe Me Xantippe," is a farce comedy and is filled with laughs and pleasant surprises. The action did not drag in a single instance.

The cast interpreted the characters of the play in an admirable manner. Rowena Thornberg, the leading lady, played the part of the western girl and had not said half a dozen lines before she had made a hit with her audience. Homer Henney was leading man with a difficult part but he did it in capable style.

K. S. A. C. will not forget, however, that the good work of the cast in the final production was due to the splendid work of their coach, Mrs. L. M. Bowman.

T. T. Swenson returned from Lindsborg Wesdnesday where he had been attending the Messiah.

M. A. Durland of Centralia visited his son, M. D. Durland, at the Sigma Phi Delta house Wesdnesday.

E. W. Fitzgerald was called to hi home in Colby Thursday on business.

Everyone Wonders if the "Chapel Extraordinary" Is A Bolshevist Gathering

"Hey, Bill. Do you know what this 'Chapel Extraordinary' is?"

"No, but I'm going because the Collegian said it's to boost K. S. A. C. We all ought to be boosters."

These men were engineers. They passed on down the hall. Two general science students passed the post-office.

"I tell you, every student who misses that chapel is a disloyal Aggie. And everyone who goes is a booster."

"I'm going then. When did you say it is to be held?"

"Why, didn't you read the Collegian? It's to be on Wednesday, Apirl 7 at 11 o'clock."

Then an Ag approached with his date, who was a H. E. student. She turned to him in a wistful manner and said,

"You can't have another date with me unless you promise to go to that booster chapel. It's the biggest thing of the year. And just because we don't know what it really is for is no reason loyal Aggies shouldn't go."

"Don't you worry about me, Emily. I'm going all right. I understand that the chapel has something to do with the idea of—Hey, wait a minute, Jim, I wanta see ya."

So it seems that everyone will attend the "Chapel Extraordinary." And what is so unusual is that even prexy himself is rather doubtful if he knows just what it is all about. But he'll be there with all the other loyal K. S. A. C. people.

The auditorium will accommodate 3,500, including standing room. There ought to be 4,000 there on April 7.

And it isn't a Bolshevist gathering of any kind.

K. S. A. C. Is Helping to Finance Canton College Near Hong Kong

The Canton Chinese college, organized in 1884, is the outgrowth of the work of the Presbyterian mission at Canton, China, under the leadership of the Rev. B. C. Henry, and Dr. A. P. Happer.

Mr. S. H. TAAM

In 1885 Doctor Happer raised in America an initial fund of $100,000 for higher education in China.

The work from the beginning until 1904 was of an elementary character. The college organization began with the occupation of its present site in 1904, two and one half miles east of Canton city and 90 miles from Hongkong.

The student body has grown from 60 to 600 in number and the staff from six Americans and six Chinese to 31 Americans, two British and 51 Chinese instructors. The budget of current expense has risen from $20,000 to over $200,000 annually. Half of the budget for the current expenses is met by the student fees and rentals, and the remainder is secured each year by the generosity of the college's friends.

The total valuation of the college property is 465,000. In the United States currency this sum would represent an investment of $1,100,000.

The college is non-denominational. The doors are open to all students, qualified by character and having the scholastic requirements to enter irrespective of religious beliefs.

Very few students upon entering are christians and but very few fail to accept the christian faith upon their collegiate residence.

In a sense Canton college is an intercollegiate mission, since eight American institutions each maintain in whole or in part a representative on the faculty of this school, as a part of the foreign work of their student christian association or other special organization.

Kansas State Agricultural college is one of the eight schools which is supporting a member on the Canton faculty. C. O. Levine, who graduated here in '14 as a bachelor of science in the animal husbandry course is now professor of animal husbandry on the Kansas State Agricultural college mission to China.

S. H. Taam, a Chinese who graduated here in '16, is also on the Canton staff as professor of agronomy. However Professor Taam

The undergraduate body of this institution and their friends have is not supported by this school.

MR. J. O. LEVINE

been able in most cases to finance the current budget of their representatives in China.

FARMER NINE MEET RILEY TEAM TODAY

LETTER MEN LISTED FOR BATTERIES

TICKETS ARE SELLING WELL

Is First Game of Season for the Wildcats—McGrath and Agnew will Heave the Pills

The Aggie nine is ready for its first step of the season. They will meet the Fort Riley team on the home field this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Burton and Guilfoyle, both letter men, are listed for the catcher's job. McGrath and Agnew, also letter men, will have chances at pitching. These men rank among the best batteries that K. S. A. C. has ever had and they promise to lead the Wildcats thru an interesting season.

Selling Tickets

The ticket sale has been rather large, but not as large as it should be. The season ticket, which costs $2.50, entitles the holder to 12 big athletic events. Every Aggie should buy a ticket.

Line Up

The line up is as follows for today's game:

Aggies		Fort Riley
Burton, Guilfoyle	c	Angell
McGrath, Agnew	p	Otnes, Bell
Dickerson	1b	Snyder
W. Cowell	2b	Fagin
Quinlan	s	Ball
Mershong	3b	Lambert
E. Cowell	lf	Genteman
Snapp	c	Crawford
Bruce, Hinds, Swingle	rf	Cossbury

Camping Party

Captain F. B. Terrell of the military department entertained 10 officers over the week end at a camping party which was held five miles up the Wildcat. The camp was well equipped with firing arms, food, and shelter. The party was entertained with fishing and games. Captain Sanders related in a very interesting manner some of his experiences.

GIRLS TO HAVE ANNUAL SUPPER

GIRLS WHO PLAYED IN COLOR TOURNAMENT ARE INVITED

Names of Girls Elected to Honorary Varsity Basketball Team Will Be Announced After the Feed

The girls' annual basketball feed will be given Tuesday evening, April 6, at 6 o'clock in the girls' gymnasium.

All the girls who played in the color tournament are invited, regardless of whether they made a class team or not. The girls will wear middies and bloomers.

After the feed the names of the girls elected to the honorary varsity team, which is chosen each year, will be announced. This team is entirely honorary, the girls chosen must be true sports in every sense of the word as well as excellent players.

All the girls who wish to attend the feed should hand their names and 35 cents to the captain of their color team. This should be done before Saturday afternoon.

AGRONOMY STUDENTS WEAR BLACK HATS—NOT GREY

A. H. Students Are the Wearers of the Lighter Hue

The Collegian got mixed on colors. The animal husbandry students are the ones who are wearing the grey hats and the agronomy seniors are the ones who have donned the black hats. The Collegian is glad to correct any error it makes.

P. M. Kydd and A. L. Scott of the University of California, were guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Wednesday and Thursday.

PEPPY ENGINEERS!

There has been a noticeable improvement in school pep and school spirit during the last few months. It is especially true in the engineerng division.

This division started out the year by having one of the largest enrolments in its history, a larger enrolment than any other division on the hill. During the second week of school the senior civils began wearing their distinctive Bill Hart head gear and soon other departments did likewise.

A few weeks later under the guidance of Dean Potter, the engineers staged the largest and most successful hike of the season. Several of the engineering departments have held their own dances and mixers for the purpose of getting better acquainted.

The engineers put out a special edition of the Collegian in order that the remainder of the student body might become acquainted with the nature and scope of their work. A copy of this edition was sent to all high schools in the state and to prospective students, thereby boosting K. S. A. C. Already a staff has been elected for putting out a bigger and better engineering magazine next year.

The civils were instrumental in obtaining for K. S. A. C. the first student chapter in this section of the country of one of the strongest national engineering societfes and are now sharing its benefits with all the engineering departments.

The engineers have furnished their quota of athletes and other participants in college activities despite the accusation that they are too busy studying. It is true the engineers have lead the scholarship list but that does not prevent them from being loyal Aggies. They are strong supporters of the school paper, not only as readers but as contributors as well.

Only a few days ago the engineers held another mixer and arrangements are under way for a dance to be given by the engineers for the K. S. A. C. students. The students in Dean Potter's division are not only trying to get acquainted with each other but with the student body and faculty in general.

The engineers also gladly cooperate with other departments for the betterment of K. S. A. C. In the campaign for the raising of funds for the agricultural venture in Canton, China, the engineering students not only occoperated with the Ags but were the first to have their campaign plans organized and under way.

THANK YOU SIR!

J. G. Strong, representative from the fifth district, in a letter to Dean A. A. Potter comments on the special engineering edition of the Kansas State Collegian. He said that he was particularly glad the stress which was placed upon the use of good English by engineers. Yes, the Collegian goes to Washington.

THAT'S REAL SPIRIT

Six of the seven votes for next year's basketball captain were controlled by one college fraternity. Yet the seventh man, who is a member of another fraternity, was elected to the position.

That is true college spirit. The fraternity men proved themselves to be true college men. That is a big compliment. It is too often true that literary societies, fraternities, honorary societies, and other organizations forget their college in their desire to see the organizations grow.

It has been rightly said by an author at Illinois university that "The real fraternty man is the one who is a fraternity man as long as he is in the chapter house, but the minute he goes to the campus, he should become a college man."

In general the fraternities at K. S. A. C. are showing a mighty fine spirit. This instance of electing the proper man to the basketball captaincy is a good example of the fraternities' attitude toward K. S. A. C.

WE BEG PARDON

The Collegian wishes to apologize to the management of the Marshall theater of Manhattan for a remark made in the editorial entitled "Our Opera Manners" published in last Tuesday's issue.

In this editorial, which was contributed by a student, it was stated that "students should know that there is a difference between the way one should act at a show at the Marshall and at a performance of grand opera."

The Collegian realizes the injustice done the Marshall. The editorial got by the editor's desk by mistake and was not printed with any idea of casting reflection on the theater.

It was a mistake on the part of the Collegian that such a statement got into print, for this paper knows, as does every student in K. S. A. C., that the Marshall theater is a house that shows nothing but clean, worth while performances. This season a number of high class performances have appeared at the Marshall that are seldom seen in a town of this size and the performers are as worthy of respectful attention as those who appear in the college auditorium.

So far as appearances at any performance is concerned, there is only one way for students who respect themselves and others to act, and that is like ladies and gentlemen. This college is often commended upon the splendid manners of its student body and Aggies should remember their manners whether at a down town theater or the college auditorium.

Furthermore the management of the Marshall states that the behavement of the student body during performances has been all that could be asked for—the higher class attractions seeming to meet with much favor and appreciation.

* THAT BOOSTER CHAPEL— *
* YOU ARE NEEDED THERE *
* * * * * * * * * * * * *

It hasn't a thing to do with the World Forum for the forum meetings will be over three days before the "Chapel Extraordinary."

Why is it kept a secret? Because it is something that no one but Aggies must know until the thing is released on the day of the chapel. And then the entire state will know it within a day.

Oh, no, the Queen of May
Has not a thing to say.
For there is one bright day—
We'll call it Wed-nesday,
APRIL 7

And it isn't to be a revised popularity contest or another gathering to decide whether or not the students want next rough neck day organized.

And what is so funny is that there are only five persons who know the secret. The Biblical mystic number is seven. The "Chapel Extraordinary" mystic number is five.

Follow the crowd on April 7.

ENGINEERS WILL INSPECT SEVEN LARGE PLANTS

SENIOR ENIGNEERS GO ON TRIP TO KANSAS CITY

Trip Is Made Every Year in Order That Men Can Get First-Hand Information

The senior engineers left Thursday morning on their annual inspection tour. Every year the senior engineers take a trip for the purpose of gaining first hand knowledge of how engineering education is put to practical use.

A number of professors from the various departments accompany them. This year they are visiting Armour Packing Plant, Kansas City Municipal Light and Water Plant, Kansas City Light and Power Plant, Structural Steel Plant, K. C. Terminal Railway, Southwestern Milling company, and the Kansas City Star.

The trip will take about three or four days.

Dale Nichols, who finished the course in agriculture last semester, left last week for McPherson where he will take up farm management survey work for the U. S. department of agriculture. The position there was formerly filled by Charles Enlow, '19, who has taken up commercial aviation work.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor Collegian:—In the Collegian of March 30, there was an article in which a comparison between K. S. A. C. and Harvard was made. Futher, in this article the person who wrote it criticized the student body for its failure to support the Collegian. In my opinion the real reason the Collegian does not deserve and get more support, is because thruout every article there is an undercurrent of fear of the authorities. Fear of the powers that be often causes the Collegian to evade real issues.

In this article of March 30 reference is made to the "shaky school spirit." Let me tell you Mr. Editor, that intangible thing called "school spirit" is as unknown in this school as snowballs in the regions below. Within the three profitable years I have spent here there has been one thing and one only that has tended to bring the students together, and that was discipling the freshmen by requiring them to wear a dstinctive cap. In the last year this last sign of school spirit has been eliminated, and we are truly a school without any spirit.

Any person taking issue with me has only to go to some eastern institution to be convinced that they have that which we have never had, the finest thing given by an educational institution, school loyalty, and school spirit. The reason for conditions being as they are is undoubtedly the fault of the students to a degree, and also the mistakes of the president of the institution.

My contention that the Collegian will not print anything distasteful to the authorites will be borne out I think by your fear of the result of printing this. If you would come out fearlessly with constructive criticism and quit riding the fence, your support would increase.—Signed, A. Senior.

Note: It will be noticed that the person who wrote this had "an undercurrent of fear" of either authorities higher up or of the Collegian, for it will be noticed that he did not sign his name.—The Editor.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Initiation Services

The Pi Beta Phi sorority held initiation services Tuesday evening for Miss Julia Johnson of Herington, and Miss Helen Rannells of Manhattan.

Attended Dinner

Prof. J. W. Searson of the English department and Prof. N. A. Crawford of the journalism departments gave talks at the dinner for Scottish Right Masons which was given at the Pines Food Shop, Thursday night, April 1.

George S. Murphy of the First National bank presided. The occasion of the dinner was the old feast of the Knights Rose Croix whereon the Knights were assembled to extinguish the lights before Easter.

Phi Kappa Phi Initiation

The Ph Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic fraternity, held initiation services, Monday, March 22, for P. McDonald Biddison of Columbus, Ohio. The Phi Kapp Phi elects each year besides undergraduates of high scholarship and faculty members, five alumni members, persons who are doing work of note in some special field.

Mr. Biddison who obtained his B. S. degree in mechanical engineering here is an eminent engineer who is employed by the Fuel and Supply company in Columbus. Mr. Biddison who had been elected to membership some years ago while passing thru this part of the country stopped off in Manhattan to be initiated.

Chi Omega Spring Party

The Chi Omega fraternity gave its formal spring party last Friday evening, March 26, at Elks' hall. A canopy of the fraternity colors, cardinal and straw, in the center of the room, was held in place by ropes of cardinal poppies. Poppies were arranged about the window draperies and served as a finish for the canopy and the streamers which covered the lights. The orchestra pit was lighted by floor lamps and was curtianed by streamers of cardinal and straw tied with poppies. Ferns were used to complete the decorations.

Following the dance a supper was served at George's Inn at quartet tables lighted by cardinal and straw candles.

Out of town guests were: Miss Doris Riddell and Miss Margaret Drake of Salina, Miss Beulah Helstrom of McPherson, Miss Marjorie Tomlinson and Miss Alva Boggs of Wichita, Miss Pauline Elliott and Miss Louise Robinson of Towanda, Miss Lucile Bomgardner and Miss Prudence Stanley of Topeka, and Miss Marie Storey of Abilene. Chaperones were: President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Call, Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Throckmorton, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Eakin, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Eulrich, and Mrs. J. A. Gray.

Personal Conferences To Be Held in the Literary Halls—Those Desiring Interviews Should See Committee Chairmen

Seven men speakers and six women speakers of the World Forum will be available for personal interviews and group conferences where they will discuss any questions concerning their own particular field of work. These people who come from foreign fields will be able to answer questions regarding the economic or social conditions of their countries.

These conferences and personal interviews wll be held in the literary society halls and the nearby offices. Any one who wishes to obtain an interview should see the committees in charge. Christine Cool is chairman of the women's committee and Floyd Hawkins is chairman of the men's committee. Requests for interviews may also be made at the Y. M. C. A.

The opportunity thus offered for personal contact with these men is really of greater importance than the main part of the program itself.

K. U. HAS GOOD ORATORY RECORD

PROFESSOR MACMURRAY USUALLY TURNS OUT WINNERS

J. G. Emerson Was a Pupil of MacMurray—Oratorical Contest to be Fight from Start to Finish

Kansas university is going to be one of the strongest contenders for first place in the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest to be held here April 10.

The coach of oratory at K. U., Professor MacMurray, usually turns out winning orators. In 1911 Professor MacMurray was at Ames. The debating teams put out by Ames that year won every debate engaged in. An orator won first place in the State and Inter-state oratorical contests.

In 1912 another Ames orator won the Missouri Valley, State and State Peace contests and tied for first place in the Interstate contest. In 1914 another protege of Professor MacMurray won the State Peace and Middle Western oratorical contests and was given the newspaper decision at New York over orators from all parts of the country. Professor MacMurray has had but one orator while at K. U. but he has won everything he has entered.

As far as K. S. A. C. and K. U. are concerned the Missouri Valley classic to be held here will be a contest between pupil and master. J. O. Emerson, professor of public speaking, was a protege of MacMurray.

The oratorical contest is going to be a fight from beginning to end. With K. U. in it the competition is going to be keen, especially among the two Kansas orators. Every loyal Aggie should be there to boost for J. O. Brown, the Aggie orator.

COAL SHOVELERS TO HAVE DINNER

SERVICE CERTIFICATES TO BE AWARDED TO THE BOYS

All Members of the Union Who Cannot be Present at the Dinner Should Notify President's Office

The Aggie Coal Shovelers' dinner will be held at college barracks mess hall Monday evening, April 5, at 6 o'clock. These members of the coal diggers union who cannot be there will please notify the president's office, as arrangements are to be made for awarding service certificates.

To each member the following inscribed certificate signed by Governor Allen and President Jardine will be awarded: "The governor of the state of Kansas and the Kansas State college express their appreciation of the voluntary patriotic service of (.....) in mining coal in the Kansas coal fields during the national strike in nineteen hundred nineteen. In testimony thereof this certificate is awarded. Given at Manhattan, Kansas, January 1, nineteen twenty."

RULES OUT FOR BOXING MEET

BOXERS TO ENTER TOURNAMENT MUST SEE CAPTAIN DAVIDSON

Will be Three Rounds of Two Minutes Each—Fighting Rules Are the Modified Marquis of Queensbury

The rules for the boxing tournament are out. All men who desire to enter the tournament and have not already done so, should see Captain Davidson right away.

There will be three rounds of two minutes to each and additional rounds where it is necessary in order to award a decision. There is to be one minute between rounds. Fighting rules are the Modified Marquis of Queensbury.

AGGIE BALL TEAM WILL HAVE PRACTICE

THIRTY MEN TRY OUT FOR THE TEAM

Conroy and Williams Are Chief Candidates for Pitching Staff—Quick to Coach Squads

The school of agriculture baseball squad had their first practice Monday evening in the city park. About 30 men reported, the most of which have had considerable experience on high school or former school of agriculture teams. B. A. Conroy, who pitched for the school of agriculture team in 1917, and F. A. Williams are the chief candidates for the pitching staff.

Paul S. Quick, a vocational student, has been chosen by Mr. Davidson to coach this season's squad. Mr. Quick formerly attended Warrensburg Normal where he was quite prominent in athletic work.

The season's schedule has not been completed, but at present it includes some intramural games and several games with high school teams.

Prof. Arthur F. Peine was in Clay Center Tuesday, where he was one of the judges of an inter high school debate.

Y. M. C. A. WILL HOLD THEIR ELECTION

POLICY OF THE ASSOCATION FOR NEXT YEAR DISCUSSED

Meeting Will Be Held in Y. Building Thursday Evening, April 8, at 7:30

The regular annual election of officers and board members of the Y. M. C. A. will be held in the Y buildin M.C.A. will be held in the Y. building on Thursday evening of April 8 at 7:30. The officers to be elected are president, vice president, and secretary. In addition to the election of officers the policy of the association for next year will be discussed.

All men students of the college who are members of the association are urged to be present. The meeting will be dismissed promptly at 8:30.

FIRST CLASS GIRLS CARRY INDOOR MEET

WIN FROM SOPHOMORES BY 222 POINTS

FROSH MADE 749 POINTS

Outdoor Track Meet To Be Held During May When All Types of Track Work Will Be Demonstrated

The freshman class won the girls' indoor gymnastic meet, which was held in the Nichols gymnasium last Wednesday evening, by a score of 222 points over the sophomore class.

The freshies were given only 1 point more for marching tactics than the sophomores received and two points more for floor work. In the swing jump the freshmen scored 258 points to the sophs 107.

Take Swing Jump

Miss Ruth Kittell and Miss Latona Roher, both freshmen, tied for the record height in the swing jump. Both of the girls jumped 5 feet and 9 inches.

The relay race was won by the freshman track team. The total time for the whole relay, was two minutes, 47 and 1-5 seconds.

The one feature of the evening which was won by the sophomore girls was the rope climbing contest. Seven girls climbed the entire length of the rope. The total number of points won by the freshies for the evening was 749 to the sophomores 527.

Outdoor Meet in May

During May an out door track meet is to be given in which all types of track work will be demonstrated. The girls will start outdoor track work as soon as the weather is suitable for practice.

CHRISTIANITY IS NOT NARROW

SO WE SHOULD BE MORE LIBERAL WITH IT

Bishop McConnell Appeals for a More Christianized Democracy Here

That the United States does not enjoy the democracy of which it boasts so proudly, and that we have not the right spirit of recognition of excellence of the other nations of the world are two of the many big and important things laid forth by Bishop Francis J. McConnell who opened the K. S. A. C. World Forum sessions last Friday morning at the regular weekly assembly.

In carrying out his proof that other nations have a more nearly ideal system of democracy than ours, Bishop McConnell cited the truth with regard to the free speech rights in this country.

Need Free Speech

"We have always said so much about free speech liberties in the United States, but what have we to prove that free speech is a right? I am most emphatically against free speech in wartime," he continued, "but on the other hand I do believe that the only way to reach a point of readjustment in any difficulty is by talking out of both sides of the question. The danger in any situation where two factions are concerned does not come from free discussion of the question but from the bottling-up."

Recognize Small Nations

Bishop McConnell spent some months in France while the armies were in action before the United States forces had joined with the Allies and he spoke of his experiences and findings over there in a most interesting and convincing manner. Bishop McConnell believes in a recognition of the Chinese and Hindus, the Singalese and the Burmese and all the other "humbler nations of the earth," declaring them to have evinced the finest examples of "real soldierly spirit" during the engagements on the western front. He told several incidents which proved the loyalty of those soldiers to the allied cause and quoted the British soldier who in his hearing had dubbed them "bloomin' heathen, but pretty fine human stuff."

Coming out definitely and unmistakably against "narrow Christianity" Bishop McConnell, in a fine democratic way, made an indirect but positive appeal to the student body of the Kansas State Agricultural college to do their share toward the bringing about of a "Christianization of international relationships." He declared that the present day crisis, considered nationally and internationally "sounds to the youth of the country, a high call to a glorious opportunity for service."

AMERICANS MUST MAKE SACRIFICE

SAYS FEW AMERICANS WOULD DO IT

Christians in Africa Must Give up Social Position and Wealth and Undergo Suffering

"There are 70,000,000 people in an area 1,500 miles wide and 15,000 miles long in Africa who have never heard the word of Jesus Christ. How long will these people have to wait?" said Dr. Royal J. Dye, one of the World Forum speakers.

Was African Missionary

Doctor Dye has been a missionary in Africa for a large number of years, and speaks with a knowledge of the condition in Africa from the viewpoint of actual experience. His first work among the natives of Africa was in sewing up the spear wounds received in battle with their fellow men. "Every man in Africa was the prey of his fellow man before the coming of the word of Christ," continued Doctor Dye. "Women are burdens of the household in Africa. It is as much the right of a man to kill his wife there as it is for you to kill a pig or cow, because it is your property.

Makes Big Sacrifice

When a man becomes a Christian in Africa, he does something that very few people in America would do. They must give up their wealth and social position, and perhaps suffer persecution at the hands of the king. But still the converts come."

Doctor Dye told of the persecution that they had to endure and how the native converts went to other tribes and preached the wonderful story. "There is now a thin line of missionaries stretched across Africa," concluded Doctor Dye, "but there is still an area which is untouched by a church. How long will they have to wait?"

GET NEW SITE FOR SHOOTING

USE WEST HALF OF CAMPUS NOW

New Range Will Cost About $1,000 To Put into Shape—Issue Clothing to Men

After making a tour of inspection of the college grounds for the purpose of locating the new target range for next year, President Jardine, Dean J. T. Willard, and Captain Terrill decided that the west half of the old college grounds was the most suitable place for the new range. With the permission of the horticultural department the work will be started before the end of the present semester. The total cost wil be about $1,000.

All of the clothing for the R. O. T. C. has arrived and will be issued each day except Saturday and Sunday from eight to four. There will be no special time set aside from the drill periods for the purpose of issuing clothes so the men will be required to call at the supply room at their convenience.

AGGIES WIN FIRST BASE BALL GAME

Aggies Made Ten Hits and Only Two Errors—Riley Team Made Only Two Hits During Game

The Aggie nine started the baseball season in fine style by defeating the Ft. Riley team by a score 8 to 0. The Wildcats showed up well thruout the entire game.

Captain Magrath pitched a fine game and Burton played his usual good style at the catching position. Mershon at third and Quinlan at short stop showed up particularly well.

Coach Clevenger is well pleased with the Wildcats. Magrath's record of holding the Ft. Riley team to two hits is exceptional. Only two errors were made during the game. The box score for the Aggies, and the totals for Fort Riley were:

GOBS RELIEVED FROM TRAINING

ONLY SERVICE REQUIRED IS IN CASE OF WAR

Reserve Force To Be Organized So That Gobs May Attend Drills in Their Own Home Town

Many ex-gobs of the college will be relieved to know that members of the naval reserve force are not required to participate in the summer training cruises. The bureau is endeavoring to organize the naval reserve force so that the members may partake of active duty afloat or attend drills in their own home town.

Even this service, however, is not obligatory. The only service which is required is in case of war or a national emergency. Application for discharge from the Naval Reserve should be made to the bureau via the commandant of his naval district.

This information comes from Senator Curtis for the benefit of those students who are now in the naval reserve.

LAST CALL FOR THE SUMMER CAMP

MEN MUST FILL OUT APPLICATIONS AT ONCE

Camp Starts on June 17—Total Attendance Will Be About 3,000

The last call for the summer camp which starts June 17 is now being made. All men who want to go to Camp Custer should fill out their applicatons immediately. Nineteen men have already made application.

The expected attendance for the whole department is 1,000 from the senior unit and 2,000 from the junior unit. The junior unit includes men who are in high schools and academies and the senior unit includes men who are taking collegiate work.

Any member of the R. O. T. C. or former member is eligible to attend this camp.

For Beta Freshmen

Mr. and Mrs. Lathrop W. Fielding entertained Thursday evening for the freshmen members of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. During the early part of the evening the guests enjoyed a line party to the Marshall theater, after which a luncheon was served at the Fielding home. There were 14 guests including Mrs. McLeod, the Beta house mother.

April Fool Jokes Are Fun—But What About Icy Tubbings?

"Girl, wake up—the house is full of smoke—it must be on fire!"

This rather unusual, exciting bit of news was enough to awaken the 20 occupants of the sleeping porch of one of the girls' fraternity houses at about 4:30 Thursday morning.

A mad rush, as is usual in such crises, ensued in which some girls just stood still and screamed, others dashed to their rooms to save new spring suits and hats from the unmerciful flames, and still others ran frantically from the house with never a thought that they were scantily clad, very scantily, in fact.

The confusion lasted for about ten minutes when one girl bravely led the way to the third floor where the smoke was thickest. On one wall she found a large sign bearing the inscription, ". pril Fool."

It wasn't at all difficult to find the culprits, it was the third floor gang again. Three girls enjoyed a cold, cold plunge in the early morning hours and, take it from one who knows, it was a cold one, too.

BRAZIL IS NEEDING VETERINARIANS

POSSIBILITIES THERE, HUNNICUTT SAYS

Horses Are Used Only for Riding and Driving, He Tells Veterinary Students

"In Brazil, horses are used only for riding and driving. All of the work is done with oxen," said Benjamin Hunnicut in speaking before the students in agriculture and veterinary medicine last Friday.

Mr. Hunnicut is director of the agricultural college at Mineas, Brazil. He is in this country now for the purpose of investing a huge amount of money in the purchase of live stock for the Brazilian government.

Mules To Travel

"The mule, as a means of travel, is more popular than the horse," continued Mr. Hunnicut. "A good riding mule will bring 50 per cent more money in the market than a horse will. As the roads are very poor, the Brazilians are able to make much better time with mules.

"There is very little breeding of native stock in Brazil. All of their breeding stock is imported. Stock was first imported from Europe. Of this 90 per cent died from the ticks. The Brown cattle were next imported from India, and proved to be a very successul type for the country.

Beef Type Unpopular

"The extreme beef and milk types of cattle are not popular in Brazil. The people want cattle for both purposes. Most of the cattle have some Holstein blood in them. And the Shorthorn will soon be introduced there.

"There are great possibilities in veterinary work in Brazil for American veterinaries. But the person going there should know what he is doing, as it will take a lot of good hard drubbing to make good."

QUILL CONTEST CLOSES APRIL 7

MANUSCRIPTS MUST BE IN BY WEDNESDAY

Short Story Contest Does Not End Until April 15—Anyone Can Compete

The membership contest for the American College Quill club closes April 7. All manuscripts must be in by Wednesday evening in order that the membership committee may act upon them.

The membership contest is not the same as the short story contest of the Quill club. This closes April 15, and is open to every student in the college, as well as the Quill members themselves. The person submitting the best story in this contest is given a gold medal, and if not already a Quill member is invited to become one of the club.

Mrs. Edward Wilman, of New York City is visiting her mother, Mrs. Hahn, and daughter, Miss Edith Wilman.

Dr. J. E. Ackert was unable to attend classes last week on account of illness.

WEDNESDAY IS TIME FOR BOOSTER CHAPEL

ASSEMBLY IS ONLY FOR LOYAL AGGIE STUDENTS

STARTS AT ELEVEN O'CLOCK

Has Something To Do with Next Year—Everything Else Is a Mystery—College Band To Be There

Wednesday of this week is the day for the biggest assembly ever held at the Kansas State Agricultural college. The time is 11 o'clock.

Aggie Band Out

The Aggie band will be there. So will one of the cheer leaders be on hand. And there will be a few speakers who are full of enthusiasm and who know how to give that enthusiasm to the students.

It may be told that the "Chapel Extraordinary" has somethng to do with next year. Everything else is a secret. But everyone who attends will be glad he did so, according to Prof. H. W. Davis, who is one of the five persons who know what the chapel is.

Perhaps This Is a Clue

There are three big things to occur at K. S. A. C. in one week—the May Fete, the Festival, and the high school track meet. Perhaps these events have something to do with the "Chapel Extraordinary."

Doctor Jardine at last knows the purpose of the assembly and he is backing it with all his enthusiasm. He is one who says that every filled seat will hold an Aggie booster and every empty chair will mean a disloyal student.

SWIMMING MEET TO BE APRIL 8

POSTPONED BECAUSE OF BAD WEATHER

Ruth Kittell, Freshman Girl, Promises To Give Keen Competition

On account of the unsettled condition of the weather the first annual swimming meet, which was to have been held Thursday, April 1, has been postponed until Thursday evening April 8 at 7:30.

Competition promises to be keen this year. Ruth Kittell, a freshman girl who made a name for herself as an all around athlete at the girls' track meet, is a blue cap girl and an unexcelled swimmer and diver. Lucile Whan and Elizabeth Dickens, both blue cap girls who took first and second places last year at the swimming carnival, will be on junior and sophomore teams.

New events which will be especially interesting are: plunge for distance, band race, umbrella relay, and feature dives.

Judges of the event are: Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Grace Hesse, and Miss Edith Bond.

FRESHMAN TREASURER HOWLS FOR 'EM TO PAY THEIR DUES

Needs Money to Pay for Space in the Royal Purple

The freshman class treasurer is having considerable trouble in getting the freshmen to pay their class dues. The class has taken space in the Royal Purple but only a part of the members have paid their dues. The treasurer is also looking for enough money to stage the frosh-sophomore hop on May 1.

Dr. J. R. Macarthur of the English department returned Sunday afternoon from his trip to the national convention of Pi Kappa Delta which was held in Sioux City Iowa, last week. Doctor Macarthur was unanimously reelected to the office of national president.

Asa Ford visited over the week end in Seneca.

SAYS MAJORITY WILL WEAR 'EM

FROSH CLASS PRESIDENT HAS DONNED HIS CAP

Many Freshmen at Baseball Game Without the Green, Purple and White Caps

"The majority of the freshmen will wear their caps. But I really believe it is impossible to get all of them to don the caps," the freshman class president said as he walked into the Collegian office, carrying his green, purple, and white cap.

"Personally, I wish that all the freshmen would wear their caps. I am wearing mine. But the fact that they are being forced to don them, makes a large number antagonistic."

At the baseball game Friday it was evident that many freshmen do not intend to wear the petite brain covers. Upper classmen intend to take some definite steps in forcing the wearing of the caps for it is a tradition at K. S. A. C.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM APRIL 30

FROSH-SOPHOMORE HOP SET FOR MAY FIRST

Freshman-Sophomore Hop To Be a Tacky Affair This Year-Both in Gym

The junior-senior prom is to be held April 30. The frosh-sophomore hop is to be held the following evening, May 1.

Both events are to be held in Nichols gymnasium. As has always been the custom, the juniors will entertain the seniors and the freshmen will entertain the sophomores. Committees are already busy working out the plans for the two nights.

The freshman-sophomore affair is to be a tacky party this year. The costumes are not to be rough neck affairs—just tacky ones.

GIRLS CAN STILL TRY FOR TEAMS

GIVE SWIMMING SPREAD FOR WINNERS

Girls' Swimming Event Promises To Be an Interesting One This Year

Girls who were chosen to represent classes in swimming at the Tuesday tryout were:

Freshman: Katherine Knapp, Florence Haak, Renna Rosenthal, Lucile Smith, and Ruth Kittell.

Sophomore: Majorie Fisher, Madeline Locke, Burdette Tegmeir, Florence Johnson, and Elizabeth Dickens.

Junior-Senior: Hortense Caton, Esther Wright, and Lucile Whan.

A swimming spread will be held for all girls making a team at which time the names of the girls making the honorary varsity team will be announced. More girls, especially upper classmen, are urged to try out at the postponed tryout, Tuesday April 6.

Joe Miller, an Acacia from K. U., spent the week end visiting the local chapter.

Prof. C. D. Christoph of the English department made a business trip to Kansas City, Saturday.

J. W. Skinner was a week end guest in Kansas City.

—AND THE VETERINARIANS

While the veterinarians are not as active in school politics as the engineers, they are better organized than any other group on the hill.

Organization is the keynote of accomplishing things. And if it were not for the fact that the veterinarians are off the campus a large part of their time, due to the location of the buildings, we would hear a great deal more from them.

The veterinary division, with Dean R. R. Dykstra at its head, is a new division for the Kansas State Agricultural college. One seldom sees one student from that division—he always sees a group of them. When they undertake any new thing there isn't one man behind it—the entire division is pushing it.

So now we have two enthusiastic divisions on the hill, both of which are worthy of recognition. The engineers are the pushers in school activities and the veterinarians come second, with only one thing holding them back. That is the fact that they are in a position that most of the students do not get a chance to see them more than once or twice a week.

ALL FOR ORATORY

Now that the World Forum is over it is time every loyal Aggie is making arrangements to attend the Missouri Valley oratorical contest at the auditorium, on the night of April 10.

This is to be one of the hardest fought contests ever held. Every speaker is coming with a determination to win.

This contest will afford the Kansas State Agricultural college another opportunity to show that she can develop brain as well as brawn. We will have another opportunity to teach Kansas university her proper place in the general scheme of things.

J. O. Brown, the Aggie orator, has the habit of winning contests. But his success on the night of April 10 depends on the students more than on anything else. K. S. A. C. has never won a Missouri Valley oratorical contest but it can be done and with 100 per cent of the Aggies in the auditorium next Saturday night, Brown will do it.

In addition to the greatest oratorical event of the year there will be given the liveliest, funniest one-act play imaginable.

For World Forum Speakers

A reception was given in the recreation hall Friday evening after the World Forum meeting in the auditorium, in honor of the speakers who were here for the Forum. At this reception an opportunity was given the students to meet the speakers who were in attendance at the meetings. Punch was served throughout the evening. About 300 students and faculty members attended the reception.

Made Inspection Trip

S. C. Salmon, professor of farm crops, made an extended trip through south central and western Kansas last week for the purpose of inspecting the cooperative variety tests of wheat and the experimental work at the Tribune ranch station. The damage to wheat from the recent high winds was found to be much less than was at first reported.

Mrs. W. D. Leonard, mother of Miss Leonard of the English department, died at the family home in Topeka, Sunday, March 26. Miss Leonard accompanied the body to Bazaar, where interment was made in the Bazaar cemetery.

Miss Wilma Eaton spent the week end in Topeka.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor:—What about the "cut-out" fiend who persists in running up and down the campus drives with the exhaust of his motor wide open. We were in three classes this week—when the voices of the instructor and students were drowned out by the exhaust of a truck, and it was necessary to stop the recitation until the offender was past. The worst place of all are the roads on the east and south of main hall, where cars are parkeed,—because so many classes are held in the rooms above.

The heavy trucks used by the college are the chief offenders, because of the size of the motor, but autos and motorcycles are far from being blameless. The nuisance who amuses himself by stepping on the throttle, "just to hear her roar," is who fires buildings, just to see the sparks fly. Both are void of brains and a respect for the rights of others.

It is mighty annoying to an instructor to have classwork broken into, just when he is exerting himself in explaining some knotty point in the day's lesson. We don't blame the one professor who got so "hard" that he vowed to his class that he would, "knock the daylights out of that driver next time I see him."— A Stude.

Deear Editor:— Presidential campaign clubs are being formed in colleges throughout the country. It is gratifying to see that the students of the country are taking an interest in the campaign that promises so much excitement and uncertainty.

Why shouldn't the students of K. S. A. C. who take an interest in national affairs get together and form clubs to support the men who are the likely candidates and learn something about them?

Although no definite organizations have been formed on this campus it is rumored that the political enthusiasts of this college are going to make some noise soon. The organization of these clubs should be encouraged because they will aid students in picking out the best man for the job. These clubs should encourage voting according to convictions rather than heritage because this will aid in getting our government out of the power of the leaders of the political parties. The students of colleges should be the leaders in the movement to draw conclusions by reason rather than by prejudice.

College women should also take an interest in these clubs when they are formed. Women will probably vote in the presidential election next fall. If they do their vote can easily swing that election. This campus should be able to develop some real women politicians.— A Student.

Dear Editor:—

Our campus surely does carry out the idea of this school being a "cow college," for paths, having a strong resemblance to cow paths, may be seen on almost any part of the campus. The sad part of it is that most of these paths are not where short cuts are justified, or where walks should be constructed.

The paths are started in many cases by students who have enjoyed an extra half hour of sleep or have talked to a date in recreation center too long, and are trying to get to class soon enough to prevent their being asked any embarrassing questions by their instructors. Other students hear the call of their boarding clubs or of the Aggieville restaurants so plainly during the last half of their fourth hour classes that when they are dismissed they seem to forget that sidewalks ever existed.

It is a fact that girls are worse in this matter than men are. Don't be angry, girls, for the proof is ample enough as it comes in the words of one of the college deans who said, "The girls are worse about making paths on the campus than men are. When a man is seen cutting across the grass he looks ashamed of himself, but when a girl is seen doing the same thing she looks as if she were doing the grass an actual benefit."

According to horticultural experts the K. S. A. C. campus is one of the three most beautiful campuses in North America, and is excelled in beauty by only one other campus in the United States. This fact will not hold true in a few years if the students persist in marring its beauty.—A Student.

Editor Collegian:— It seems that there are on the hill some who are so narrow minded as to complain of the noise certain individuals make with their motor vehicles while passing Anderson. It is indeed deplorable that we should mention this matter. It is an injustice to those who use this means of attracting the attention of their fellow students.

Anderson is not primarily a class room anyway. And the few cranks that think that it is not altogether right that classes should be suspended half the time to let these noise and attention loving aspirants pass probably never owned a car. By all means continue. When you start down town to get the sweet young thing a coke be sure to see that the muffler is cut out and always race the engine.

Above in the silly classrooms hundreds of envious students will be listening breathlessly to the roar of your motor and an admiring prof. will hasten to the window to view with wistful eyes your triumphant progress from the hill. Your absolute disregard for the rights of others and your daring bids for fame and attention make your popularity henceforth and forever assured.—Envious Pedestrian.

Editor Collegian: "Little heads are soon heated" said Bishop Francis J. McConnell in one of his worthy addresses here during the Easter week end and no axiom or maxim or call it what you will could be more apropos than that one to apply to the case of certain college students, who for a number of weeks past, have been standing behind a "fence" of some kind and knocking policies, generally.

Pretty careful observation of the whole situation seems to reveal but one outstanding feature and that is that the whole quarrel of the "Knight of the Fence" is one of envy, jealousy, or pettiness over the fact that the engineers are among those present at the Kansas State Agricultural college, as was proved in their peppy edition of the Collegian a few weeks ago.

There's this much to it all. The sooner the League of Knockers get on the working side of the fence instead of the criticizing side they will find that the Collegian has some very definite policies of its own which it is anxious to uphold and that every one of these policies stands first for the betterment and happiness of K. S. A. C.

The engineering division students, individually and collectively have shown a friendliness and an appreciation for the ambitions of the journalism department and the growth of the Collegian by sending it copy from time to time, by sending its students as staff members. What's the matter with the other divisions in the college that they either consciously or unconsciously support this "Knight of the Fence" principle?

Journalism is in its infancy in this school but it is growing and it will show the agricultural students as well as others that it is a vital force in their welfare and success and they will gain more by boosting it than by knocking it.—A Sub-Freshman Girl.

OPEN CAMPAIGN TO RAISE ADDITIONAL FUNDS

SUPPORT AGGIE MAN AT CANTON COLLEGE

Any Cash Contribution Will be Accepted—Each Asked to Give $1

Today is the day when all Aggie students can do a good piece of work for another Aggie man. J. O. Levine, who is an instructor in the Canton Christian college, an agricultural institution located at Canton, China. Following the chapel services today the campaign began and will continue until Wednesday night when all contributions will be turned in to Professor Conover, treasurer for the drive.

J. O. Brown is the chairman of the agriculture division; E. J. Jelden of the veterinary division; William Knostman of the general science division; Jack Collum of the engineering division; Christine Cool of the home economics; and Sue Carmody of the school of agriculture.

Cash contributions will be accepted. The rate per student has been set at $1 apiece. Since this school has not sent a fund to Canton college for several years it is hoped that the student body will respond generously to this call for assistance.

Mrs. Alice Marcotte visited in Kansas City over the week end.

For twenty four years we have been aiding students to secure actual expense money for K. S. A.C.

If you have funds that you wish to make do the most possible good, we would be glad to take the matter up with you. No donations wanted.

The 240 acre farm on which these buildings are located is clear of debt and has PAID BILLS for more than one hundred forty students at K.S.A.C.

GRAIN JUDGERS TO GET PRIZES

IS SECOND ANNUAL CONTEST OF ITS KIND

One Company Has Offered $20 to High Man While Others Have Given $10 Each

The Klod and Kernel Klub has been able to secure some substantial prizes for winners in the second annual grain judging contest.

The Kansas crop improvement association has given its opinion of the affair by offering a prize of $20 to the high man. Fielding & Sons Seed company of Manhattan, The Barteldes Seed company of Lawrence, and The Mangelsdorf Seed company of Atchison, have each mailed checks for $10 to be given to winners of the various classes such as sorghums, corn, and small grains.

Even without these prizes as an inducement, a large number of students would be expected to enter this contest. It is undoubtedly just as essential for the agricultural man to be familiar with various types and market classes of grains, and the importance of common types of damages, as it is to be able to select a good steer or a desirable dairy cow. For this reason the grain judging contest performs just as necessary a function as do our live stock and dairy judging contests.

WILL GET BEST H. S. NEWSPAPER IN STATE

JOURNALISM DEPARTMENT HAS STATE CONTEST

Winners of First and Second Places Will Be Given Metal Trophies

High school newspapers of Kansas are going to have another opportunity to compete in a statewide contest. The department of industrial journalism and printing, Kansas State Agricultural college, has announced the third annual high school newspaper contest, open to any newspaper published in a high school or academy in the state.

Metal trophies, suitable for all display, will be awarded to the winners of the first and second places, and certificates signed by the president of the agricultural college and the head of the industrial journalism department will be given to the winners of the first five places.

Terms of the Contest

Four different numbers of the paper entered in the contest are to be submitted, together with an entry filled out and signed by the editor and manager of the paper and the principal of the school. The numbers must have been issued not earlier than September 1, 1919. Three copies of each number should be submitted. Blanks may be obtained from the industrial journalism department at the agricultural college.

The contest will close May 1, and the papers will then be judged by newspaper men and their decision announced as soon as possible.

For Newspapers Alone

Contests were held in 1918 and 1919. In the former contest there were two classes—magazines and newspapers. The Wichita Messenger was first in the magazine class and the Iola Lampoon in the newspaper class.

Last year, because high schools had practically ceased to publish magazines, only a newspaper contest was held. The Pratt Mirror was first with the Winfield Oracle a close second.

The contest this year will also be for newspapers alone.

Dad Is Beginning to Buy Diamonds and Jeweled Pins

Spring is here. Are you aware of its presence? Take a look out on the campus and you will see numerous proofs of its arrival. The trees are budding and the grass is green but "that aint all."

The Aggie students are evidently harkening to Dean Willard's advice, which is, choose a life partner while you are in college. One would think that this is a "fussing seminary" if he believed his eyes. We all know different though, don't we?

See that couple over there? Notice the way she smiles at him. Note the expression on his face. He is falling and he is going fast. It's only a question of a few weeks for them. By that time she will be wearing his pin or a diamond ring—which his dad has just purchased—perhaps both. Spring always brings with it a huge number of casualties.

By the way, have you noticed the recent alarming increase in rings and pins? Many are blossoming forth on the campus this week. Others will follow soon. The warm spring weather always brings them out. Many of them are only "leased for the season." Others will prove fatal. Anyway, it all comes in a lifetime.

Have "Engine" Ride

The Franklin literary society will have its annual "engine" ride on Saturday, April 24. With a traction engine as their team, and three hayracks as their carriages, they will start for the day's outing at Eureka Lake. They will have abundance of eats, and, of course, chaperones. Carl Howard, the president of the society, promises that this year they are going to have the greatest "engine" ride in the history of the society. Friday evening, April 9.

Frank Hagans returned Wednesday from Homewood where he supervised an official dairy test.

"Yep, no spirit."

"Nope, no spirit."

"None of these guys here know anything about college spirit."

"Nope, the poor boobs."

"D'juh hear their rotten cheering at the basket ball games?"

"Nope, I didn't go."

"Neither did I."

"What's the use, there ain't no spirit."

"Nope, no spirit."

"S'long, Bill."

"S'long, Jim."

Enthusiast Thinks He Will Go Out to Boost Track Next

Once more it begins to look as if the Aggies would have the top track squad of the Missouri Valley. And no wonder with their opportunities. I may even go out myself.

This winter when going through the lion's den in the gym and trying to take out an assignment by the well known method of taking six hours I wanted and 16 of anything obtainable, I had no time to consider such trifles as where the classes were to be held.

The first morning I was delighted to find my first hour on the second floor of the gymnasium. Pretty nice for a first hour. My delight changed to a negative value however when I got to the second hour too late to mention, likely due to the fact that it was held on the third floor of the new Agricultural hall.

Since that first day I have discovered my instructor to be a regular Shylock demanding his pound of flesh in the form of those precious moments immediately before the last bell rings. As a result I am seen three times a week in a mad dash across the campus over a course longer than the combined Manhattan street car lines. I have never made it yet but my form and wind are improving and the term is only half gone.

K. A. Glatt, a former student in the school of agriculture, visited friends here Saturday and Sunday. He returned to his home at Abilene Sunday evening.

Tractor Efficiency and Goodyear Belts

The scientific test is the most valuable means known for predicting the results of actual service. It reduces working conditions to a plane of absolute fairness; it insures uniform observation; and it safeguards the accuracy of the data revealed.

A thorough trial of the power capacity and fuel economy of 16 different tractors was scientifically made at the Central States Tractor Sales Show in Evansville, Ind., by William Aitkenhead, Associate Professor in the Division of Farm Mechanics of Purdue University. A perfect performance for each tractor was made possible by the non-slipping qualities of Goodyear Klingtite Belts.

Each machine was connected in turn to a Prony brake by either a 75- or a 100-foot Goodyear Endless Klingtite Belt, chosen to insure uniform transmission on all the tractors throughout the test. Load and speed were varied to determine horsepower, and fuel economy was registered in a 30-minute run at 80 per cent of maximum load capacity.

The tests revealed both the relative economy of the tractors and the high value of belting efficiency in tractor operation. The Goodyear Klingtites were called on to perform at speeds ranging from 2040 to 4500 feet per minute, and to transmit horsepower varying from 18.60 to 39.80, according to the ability of the machine and the immediate object of the trial.

There was a further testing of the belting in that it had to be changed over continually from one tractor to another, proving its flexibility and its special Goodyear quality that "needs no breaking in."

"The Goodyear Belts showed practically no slippage," Prof. Aitkenhead reports. "It was remarkable the way they held to the pulleys, even when the lineup was not perfect. The behavior of these belts was very gratifying to a person accustomed to the tendency of ordinary belts to develop a violent sidewise motion when the pulleys do not happen to be in line. Under the high best speeds of some of the tractors, the Goodyear Belt showed its ability to take the pulley without flopping."

Equally profitable results are reported by farmers who put their Goodyear Klingtites to the year-round service test of actual work. Their everyday experiences agree with the scientific report. Students and teachers of agriculture will find in the Goodyear Farm Encyclopedia much interesting material on the place of belting in farm economics. A letter to the Mechanical Goods Department, The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, will bring a copy.

BOYS LEARN TO SWIM ON LAND

THEY ALSO FIND WATER GOOD FOR SPORT

To Have Swimming Tournament the Last Part of April—Learn Life-Saving Stunts

At the beginning of last semester, there were 100 men in the physical training classes who could not swim. At present every man in the course is able to swim. There was one man in the classes last semester who could not swim and had not the slightest sense of co-ordination. When he tried to swim, he struck out like a man fighting bumblebees. Now he is able to swim across the pool and is improving every day.

Dry-Land Swims

The entire month of April is to be used in swimming lessons and methods. The first thing to be taken up is the dry land swimming. This will train the men in the various strokes and bring about the coordination necessary for a good swimmer.

Learn to Save Lives

Among other things that will be taken up in the swimming course are the metods of life saving. The men will be taught how to tow a drowning man, and how to keep him under control if he has lost his head.

After the drowning man has been pulled out of the water, often he is unconscious, and needs something done to revive him. The various methods of resuscitation will be taught to the members of these classes.

Have Tournaments

Towards the end of April, each class will have a swimming and diving contest. Although nothing definite is yet known, it is probable that the winners of the class events will have a tournament later to decide the school championship in swimming and diving.

For the D. A. R.

Miss Ada Rice of the English department wrote the following poem which appeared in the booklet of the 22nd annual conference of the Daughters of the American Revolution:

Miss Ada Rice, '95, is author of "Old Glory," written for Polly Ogden chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, of which she is a member. It was given a prominent place on the printed program of the state conference of the society, which was held in Manhattan last week.

The words are as follows:

What's in a name? Why ask you, my sweet?
A name is a symbol of goodness complete—
A symbol of love and devotion.
Such a name that I know, is to millions most dear.
When spoken, it calls for cheer after cheer—
A name full of color and motion.
It glows with the red of the patriot's blood;
It beams with the whiteness of truth pure and good;
It smiles with the azure of heaven.
'Tis enshrined in our hearts as a symbol of love—
See its proud waving colors triumphant above—
'Tis renowned both in song and in story!
The name? Would you know it, and love it, my sweet?
What name—but the name of Old Glory!

"Here Lies Jack"

"A grave in the middle of the road—by what odds should one be buried there?" This is what came to my mind as I strolled down the war torn fields of France. Yes, there plain to see was the epitaph on the cross, erected by his pals of former days.

As I came nearer to see the writing on the cross, I wondered who it was and where he came from, and why he should be buried in such a lonely spot. My heart gave an extra beat and was greatly relieved as I read these lines, "Here lies Jack—a faithful old horse was he."

A casting for one of the huge water-wheel driven generators installed in the Mississippi River Power Company's plant at Keokuk. This installation will ultimately consist of thirty of these machines, giving a total capacity of 216,000 kilowatts (300,000 horse-power). It is the largest hydro-electric development in the world. The General Electric Company builds generator for water-wheel drive in sizes ranging from 3714 to 32,500 kilowatts and the aggregate capacity of G-E units now in successful operation is in excess of four million horse-power.

Utilizing Nature's Power

ELECTRICAL energy generated by water power has grown to be one of our greatest natural resources — and we have only begun to reach its possibilities. It mines and refines our ores, turns the wheels of industry, drives our street cars and lights our cities and towns. The power obtained from Nature saves many million tons of coal every year.

At first the field of its utilization was limited by the distance electricity could be transported. But soon research and engineering skill pointed the way to larger and better electrical apparatus necessary for high-voltage transmission. Then ingenious devices were invented to insure protection against lightning, short-circuits, etc., which cause damage and interrupt the service. And now all over the country a network of wires begins to appear, carrying the magic power.

The General Electric Company, with its many years' experience, has played a great part in hydro-electric development. By successfully co-ordinating the inventive genius of the company and its engineering and manufacturing abilities, it has accomplished some of the greatest achievements in the production and application of electrical energy.

The old mill wheel of yesterday has gone. Today the forces of immense volumes of water are harnessed and sent miles away to supply the needs of industry and business and the comforts of the home.

EX-SERVICE MEN TO HAVE DANCE

COLLEGE STUDENTS ARE CORDIALLY INVITED TO ATTEND

Admission of 75 Cents To Be Charged —Dance Will Be Friday Evening, April 9

The Ex-Service men of the college will have a dance in Elks' hall on Friday evening, April 9.

The dancers will have the benefit of the lounging room as well as the hall. All college students who wish to attend are cordially invited. An admission of 75 cents will be charged.

As originally planned the dance was to be held in the community house but this would necessitate the registration of all who wished to dance and it was decided the dance should be held in the Elks' hall, where the accommodations were even better than the community house.

Corn Ear Worm

With spring comes the corn ear worm. Its first appearance will be made in the bud, at which stage it is known as the bud worm. It will next be seen feeding on the developing tassel, as the tassel worm, and lastly in the ear at which stage it is designated as the corn ear worm.

The plants are subject to the corn ear worm from the time they are a foot to 15 inches high, to late summer and fall.

Sweet corn is most seriously damaged. Rows of the kernels are eaten from tip to base, while in field corn only the tip is infested. The loss from the pest in the south sometimes amounts to 50 per cent of the entire crop.

There are three ways suggested for combating the corn ear worm. The first and most practical and satisfactory way to control the growth of the worm is the early planting of field corn, which prevents the moths from laying their eggs upon it as it then will have passed the silking stage and other fields which are in silk will be preferred.

A second way is to plow the infested land in the late fall or during the winter, plowing deeply and harrowing. This will break up the pupal cells, crush some of the pupae, and expose others to the rigors of winter to which most of them will succumb.

A third way, when the worms are in first generation and are working in the unfolding leaves, is to poison them with Paris green mixed with flour or corn meal, but as Paris green often burns the foliage, powdered arsenate of lead will doubtless be found equally effective without burning.

To Obtain Early Asparagus

To have early asparagus one must use the forcing process which is not practiced to any great extent in the United States, but in Europe is of considerable importance.

For forcing purposes two year old crowns are best.

The most common method of forcing asparagus is to lift the crowns and place them under the green house benches, in hotbeds, or in cellars. When this method is used the crowns are plowed or dug up late in the fall when the soil is moist, so as to have as much soil as possible adhere to them. They are then left in the field until frozen, when they are covered with litter or removed to a shed in order to prevent alternate freezing and thawing. For a continuous supply throughout the winter the crowns should be stored in a cool cellar or pit until needed.

When ready for forcing, the crowns or roots should be brought to the forcing place and bedded on two or three inches of loose soil on the floor. The clumps should be placed close together, the space between the clumps filled with loose soil, and the crowns covered to the depth of about an inch. The soil should never be allowed to become drenched.

For the first 10 days after the crowns are placed for forcing, the temperature should be kept rather low, 45 to 50 degrees F. After this period, a temperature of 55 to 60 degrees F. is most desirable although a higher temperature will not be injurious. A temperature of 75 to 80 degrees F. produces a rapid, soft growth, while a low temperature produces a slow growth but gives shoots of good quality.

In about six weeks after bedding, the cutting can begin and will continue until the crowns are exhausted, then a new supply should be put in.

J. O. Brown Will Represent K. S. A. C. in Coming Contest

The young man who has won the highest honors in oratory at the Kansas State Agricultural college this year is one who has been entirely self-supporting thruout all his college career, and this is his senior year.

J. Oscar Brown won the inter-society oratorical contest this year and was chosen to represent K.S.A.C. at the big Missouri Valley oratorical contest to be held in the college auditorium April 10. This is an annual contest held each year among the colleges of the Missouri Valley, and this is the first time that it has been held at this college.

Brown entered college at Manhattan in the fall of 1916 as a graduate from the Sanford high school of Sanford, Fa. He said that he came north that he might have a better opportunity to work his way through college and still be on a social equality with other students.

His supply of cash was limited when he enrolled, and that first year was no easy sledding even for a youth full of dreams and ambitions.

He cooked his own meals in his room, using a small cooking lamp, and practiced strictest economy. Then to make ends meet he blacked and repaired stoves in a second hand store. During his sophomore year, he washed dishes and managed a dining club at the Y. M. C. A. He also fired a few furnaces on the side. During his junior year he obtained a place as a janitor at the Congregational church, which place he holds still in his senior year.

Each summer he has worked on a farm and has made a hand in the harvest field. In this manner he has made his way through college, and will graduate at the age of twenty.

Yet through all his busy career he has found time to take an active part in church work, has been president of his literary society, the Alpha Betas, and in all student affairs he has been an interested participant.

Had First Bout

The first bout in the boxing preliminaries was held Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium. O. R. Crague and J. J. Hendrick fought a four round draw which was one of the snappiest bouts which has been held here. Germany Schulz officiated as referee of the bout.

APRIL 10 IS DATE FOR SECOND CONTEST

Rules Are Simple—One Man Can Receive Only One Prize, Only Stipulation

Next Saturday afternoon, April 10, at 1 o'clock is the time for the second annual grain judging contest at K. S. A. C.

Samples of all the grains are on display in the central crops laboratory in Waters hall. These may be studied now by men who wish to take part in the contest.

The prizes to be given are:

Winner of Contest

All classes $20. Given by Kansas Crop Improvement association.

Small Grains

First prize, $10; second prize, three years subscription to Mail and Breeze.

Sorghums

First prize $10; second prize, five years subscription to Weekly Kansas City Star.

Corn Judging

First prize, $10; second prize, five list is not complete. Other prizes will be announced later. A $5 cash prize will be given to the highest ranking freshman.

Rules of Contest

The rules of the contest are simple, practically the only stipulation being that no man can receive more than one prize. Members of the Klod and Kernel Klub will be in Anderson hall Friday afternoon and and Saturday morning to give information, and to register all persons expecting to enter the contest. The entrance fee is only 25 cents.

JESSIE EVANS GIVES OUT HER REPORT

TWENTY-NINE COLLEGES REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Three News Letters Are to be Sent Out Each Year—Directory Is Also to be Issued

Miss Jessie Evans, the W. A. A. official delegate to the second district athletic conference of athletic college women, gave a report of the conference at a called meeting of the womens' athletic association Thursday afternoon.

Miss Edith Bond, Miss Winifred Bartholf, and Miss Mabel Evans who also attended the conference each talked to the W. A. A. girls.

There were twenty-nine colleges from over the district represented at the conference, which was held at Missouri university, Columbia, Mo. The purpose of the conference was to unite interest in girls' athletics.

"The Missouri girls are the peppiest bunch of W. A. A. girls I have ever met," declared Miss Bond "Their gym is not nearly as well equipped or as large as ours yet the girls have a far stronger W. A. A. organization than we have here. One reason for this is that the whole town backs the girls in all of their athletic undertakings."

One of the features of the conference which was of special interest to this college is the fact that three news letters are to be written each year, and sent to each W. A. A. These letters will tell what other college girls are doing in athletics. A directory is also to be issued in which will appear the names of all the schools in the A. C. A. C. W.

It is hoped that next year the W. A. A. will be able to send a larger number of delegates to the district conference which is to be held at Indiana university.

MISS FAIR WILL SPEAK AT VESPER ON SUMMER CLUBS

Clubs May Be Organized in Home Communities During Summer

Miss Helen Fair will present a program for the conducting of eight weeks clubs at Y. W. C. A. vesper services, Thursday at 4 o'clock in the domestic science rest room. Her subject will be "Summer Service."

Miss Fair is town and county secretary for the west central field of the Y. W. C. A.

The clubs, which last eight weeks, may be organized in the home communities during the summer. The purpose of the clubs is community service. The clubs may be for young or older girls according to the needs of the community.

Miss Gretchen Rugh, Miss Lorna Troup, Miss Margaret Rochford, and Miss Susie Kyle spent the week end in Abilene.

A. A. Axline spent the week end at Pratt.

Miss Doris Bachelor spent the week end in Abilene where she attended the wedding of Miss Lulu Spangler and Mr. Howard Bryan.

Miss Norine Weddle and Miss Florence Swenson spent the week end in Lindsborg where they attended the Messiah.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Dinner Guests

Benjamin Hunnicut of the Lavras Agricultural college at Mineas, Brazil, was a Saturday dinner guest at the Alpha Psi house.

Dinner guests Friday at the Iota Psi house included: Mrs. Hoots and Mrs. Hoel of Winfield, Wilbur Wilcox, and Otto Blancke of K. U.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell was a Sunday dinner guest at the Acacia house.

Mr. Dye, an African missionary who is here for the World Forum, was a luncheon guest at the Phi Delta Tau house Saturday.

Carl Day was a dinner guest at the Phi Delta Tau house Friday.

Miss Bussfield, who was here for the World Forum, was a Saturday dinner guest at the Tri Delta house.

Miss McLauren who was here as a speaker at the World Forum was a Sunday dinner guest at the Kappa house.

Prof. R. W. Conover had as dinner guests at the College Club Tuesday evening, Miss Florence Heizer, Father Richard Cox and Bishop Wise of Topeka.

Weller-Morris

Miss Louise Weller and Mr. Alvin Morris were married Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the groom's parents in Topeka. Miss Weller is a Manhattan girl, and Mr. Morris is a vocational man. Mr. and Mrs. Morris will make their home on a farm about a mile from the college.

Aternoon Reception

Mrs. McLeod, chaperone of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, gave a reception Tuesday afternoon from three until five honoring the matrons of the other fraternities of the college. Sweet peas were used for decorations. Mrs. Fred Greeley assisted in the serving.

Omicron Nu Initiation

The members of Omicron Nu, honorary home economics sorority, held formal initiation services Thursday evening at 7:30 in the Y. W. C. A. office for Miss Effie Hendricks, and Miss Helen Neiman. Decorations of sweet peas in the color of the sorority, pink and lavender, were used in the decorations. Refreshments of pineapple ice, and pink iced cakes were served.

Mrs. Tunnicliff visited her son E. A. Tunnicliff over the week end.

Miss Florence Reiner has returned from a visit at Detroit, Mich.

Miss Gladys Grable spent the week end in Newton.

K. S. A. C. WON DEBATE HERE BUT LOST TO AMES

Hawkins, Steanson, and Ramsey On Winning Group

In the dual debate which took place at Ames and the Kansas State Agricultural college April 3 the affirmative team won here with a decision of two to one. The men on this team were Floyd Hawkins, Oscar Steanson, and A. C. Ramsey.

The negative team composed of C. J. Medlin, J. W. Barger, and M. A. Grahem lost to Ames with a three to nothing decision.

The question for debate was "Resolved: That labor should be represented in the management of industry."

Miss Marie Sellers visited in Wellington over the week end.

Miss Mary Haack of Stillwell and Miss Gladys Hoffman of Riley spent the week end at the Tri Delta house.

Miss Juanita Weist spent the week end in Hutchinson.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

Marshall Theatre, Monday, April 12th

Scene from "The Chocolate Soldier"

The coming of Ralph Dunbar's production of this famous comic opera, if one is to judge by the sentiments expressed where the company has been, will prove a noteworthy event in local musical annals, for it affords the opportunity desired by many of hearing the opera adequately done, with a cast of real artists, an excellent chorus, an orchestra of symphony players, a full quota of mechanicians with complete equipment of scenery, costumes, properties and effects.

The Kansas City Star says: "Such musical shows as 'The Chocolate Soldier' make the every week musical comedies more trite and indifferent in comparison. Mr. Dunbar is to be congratulated. (Signed:) E. B. G."

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920 — NO. 57

WANT TWELVE HUNDRED FOR FALL OF 1920

"MORE FRESHMEN" IS AGGIE SLOGAN NOW

EVERY STUDENT TO HELP

Outline Method for Advertising K. S. A. C. in All Parts of the State—Is Privilege for Students

"I hereby pledge myself to do more than my share of personal work this spring and summer towards securing at least 1,200 freshmen for K. S. A. C. next fall. I will do all I can to induce them to come to Manhattan next fall. I further pledge myself to boost for K. S. A. C. in every other way I can—to tell of its democracy, its ideals, and the fine service it is rendering the state."

This is the pledge that every Aggie student was asked to sign after attending the "Chapel Extraordinary" Wednesday morning.

Seven Suggestions

There are 900 freshmen in K. S. A. C. this year so 1,200 is a small number for next year. Among the suggestions made to students in advertising the college are:

Write a letter to every prospective student and give the person's name to the president in order that the college may write to him too.

Invite the person to attend festival week—the time when K. S. A. C. is in action.

Organize county clubs and then start real action.

Make personal visits to prospective students and tell all you know about K. S. A. C.—be sure you know something about it.

Show the Royal Purple to your friends and tell all about the college organizations that are represented in the book.

Mail the Collegian to a friend after you have finished reading it.

Boost K. S. A. C. every way possible. Make your friends feel that it is their opportunity to attend this school and that they are doing themselves an injustice if they do not come.

AG MEN READY FOR THE WORK

EIGHTY MEN TO BE GRADUATED THIS YEAR

K. S. A. C. Has Sent Out Many Successful Men from Agricultural Division

The majority of the 80 seniors in agriculture who will be graduated already have made arrangements for beginning work following graduation.

It is expected that, as usual, about 50 per cent of the agricultural seniors will return to farms where they will apply the training they have received during their four years at the agricultural college. Some of these have farms of their own; others will become farm managers or specialists in some line of agriculture on farms in Kansas or elsewhere; and others will return to their parents' farms.

Many Successful

Among agricultural graduates who have been conspicuously successful since leaving the college are such men as E. L. Adams, who has made a fortune in the rice industry in California; Carl Miller, who is one of the leading purebred Hereford breeders of Kansas; J. M. Ryan, a successful general farmer of Atchison county and vice president of the state farm bureau; and W. G. Shelley, a successful grain grower in McPherson county.

The experience of the past 20 years is that 35 per cent of the graduates in agriculture engage in agricultural occupations other than farming—occupations which are necessary to the best development of agriculture. A number of this year's class will enter employment of this kind. Arrangements already have been made with several who will become county agricultural agents in Kansas or elsewhere immediately following graduation.

Is Big Demand

The demand for reliable men well trained in agriculture greatly exceeds the supply. A few years ago a large number of agricultural graduates found employment in the United States department of agriculture. The financial inducements of farming and other agricultural occupations at present are so much greater than many of the federal positions offer that the United States civil service commission is having difficulty in securing enough qualified men to carry on the federal work.

During the past few weeks it has become evident that the chief difficulty of the high class agricultural senior this spring is not to find employment, but to select from a number of opportunities for profitable service. Each of several of the seniors already have received two or three attractive offers.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM PLANNED

COMMITTEES WORKING FOR THE "BIG NIGHT"

Juniors Must Pay Dues Before They Are Eligible to Attend the Prom

The plans for the annual junior-senior prom, which is to be held April 30 in Nichols gymnasium, are proceeding nicely. E. D. McCollum as manager of the program has the work well organized.

Miss Marcia Seeber is the chairman of the invitation and reception committee, Miss Esther Andrews of the decorating committee, Miss Irene Graham of the program and entertainment committee, and Kenneth Shideler of the refreshment committee.

Dues for both semesters and a special assessment of $1.50 must be paid. Juniors who have dates with out eligible to attend. The invitations of the juniors will be stamped paid by the treasurer when the dues are paid. Juniors who have dates with out of town friends are required to pay the special assessment for each friend.

WEATHER IS BAD FOR TRACK MEN

CLIFF GALLAGHER IS ON THE TRAIL AGAIN

Jack Evans in Harness after Few Days' Vacation—Younger Men on Squad Make Good Showing

The Kansas Aggie track team has been forced to return to the indoor track for a few days. Despite this setback Coach Schulz is feeling more optimistic, due chiefly to the appearance of Cliff Gallagher again.

Tom Neeley and Totten have not yet begun their spring training; but the remainder of the team are sticking faithfully to the grind. Captain Jack Evans has jumped into the harness again after a few days' vacation, and is burning up the track to make up for lost time.

As soon as weather conditions permit the speedsters will return to the cinder path for a period of real training, in anticipation of the meets coming in May. Most of the men are in good condition and will be in tip-top shape when the first meet occurs. Some of the younger men on the squad have not the required finish yet; but with the hard and faithful work they are doing they can be depended upon to make a good showing.

ROYAL PURPLES READY MAY 21

BOOK HAS 425 PAGES INSTEAD OF 400

Several Organizations That Never Appeared Before Have Taken Space

The 1920 Royal Purples are expected to arrive at the college May 21, according to C. J. Medlin, editor. More than half the copy has been sent to the printers, and practically all the engraving is finished.

The book this year will have 425 pages instead of 400 as was previously stated. Several organizations that have never appeared in the book before have taken space this year. The freshmen this year will have individual pictures in the book, which is a new feature.

Fifty extra copies were ordered and anyone wishing a book can obtain one by ordering at the Royal Purple office in Anderson hall any afternoon between 1:00 and 3:00 o'clock.

"Many of the organizations have failed to pay for their space in the class book," said A. W. Wilcox, treasurer. "Please jog their memory, and ask them to remit as soon as possible."

WILDCATS WIN FROM SOONERS

PLAYED OKLAHOMA A. & M. ON WEDNESDAY

No Dope Available on Sooners This Early in Season— Aggies in Good Trim

Stillwater, Okla., April 6.—The Kansas Aggies won their first game with the Oklahoma A. & M. here today by the one sided score of 9 to 0. The team plays again tomorrow.

Coach Z. G. Clevenger left Wednesday with 15 ball players for a trip thru Oklahoma. Their first stop was at the Oklahoma A. & M. where they played Wednesday.

The Sooner Aggies have not had to contend with the weather conditions as the home nine has so they are in good fighting trim. But last Friday's game put the Wildcats in good form.

The Aggies will play a two game series with Oklahoma university on Friday and Saturday.

The Sooners usually turn out good ball clubs but no dope is available on their caliber this early in the season.

The men making the trip are Guilfoyle, Burton, Captain Magrath, Agnew, Otto, Dickerson, W. Cowell, Quinlan, Merschon, Snapp, E. Cowell, Swingle, Bruce, Hinds, and Foltz.

Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house included Miss Florence Conant of Logansport, Ind.; Miss Dorothy Frost of Blue Rapids, Miss Esther Houston of Baldwin City, and Mr. Solon Robinson of Kansas City.

C. V. Williams, regional director of vocational education, of Denver, Col., spent the past fortnight with Dean H. L. Kent working out the future course in vocational education. Mr. Williams has charge of vocational education in eight middle western states, Kansas included.

AGGIE MINERS GIVEN DINNER

EACH MAN PRESENTED CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION

President Jardine Acted as Toastmaster and Dean Willard and Others Spoke

On Monday evening April 5th
Aggie coal miners feelin' fit
Will meet at six to shovel "eats,"
K. S. A. C. Mess Hall offers treats.
If by chance you cannot roam
That evening so far away from home,
Leave a word of regret
At Prexy's office—don't forget.

This was the invitation sent out to the Aggie miners and they reponded 100 strong. The viands were there in quantities literally large enough to shovel. They were shoveled. At the conclusion of the feast President Jardine acted as toastmaster and Dean Willard, Professor Burr, and Doctor Holtz spoke briefly in appreciation of the services which the Aggies rendered during the coal strike. The Aggies responded thru C. C. McPherson and O. Keener.

Each man received a certificate of appreciation for the services rendered during the coal strike, presented to him by the state of Kansas and K. S. A. C. These certificates were signed by President Jardine and Governor Allen.

ORATORS ARE ALL SET FOR VALLEY FIGHT

IN AUDITORIUM TOMORROW NIGHT AT EIGHT

BROWN REPRESENTS K. S. A. C.

Is To Be Biggest and Best Contest Ever Held at the College—K. U. May Meet Her Waterloo

It is expected that K. U. will meet her first Waterloo in the Missouri Valley oratorical contest which will be held in the auditorium at eight o'clock Saturday evening. It is the first Valley oratorical contest ever held at K. S. A. C.

The Aggie chance for squaring accounts with K. U. is going to be a good one at this contest. J. O. Brown, who will represent this college, has a fine oration. Brown is a winner and there is no reason why he will not win for the Aggies Saturday.

Tickets Are Selling

This is to be the biggest and best contest ever held at K. S. A. C. and every loyal Aggie will be out to boost for the Aggie orator. The ticket sale, which is being put on by several girls at the college, is going fine. If you haven't already bought your ticket, buy it now and don't forget to come early because every available seat is going to be taken and standing room will be scarce.

One Act Play

Besides the orations to be given Saturday evening there is also to be a one-act farce, entitled "The Florist's Shop." This is one of the prize-winning Harvard one-act plays and is a big laugh from the beginning to the end. The cast which has been chosen for this play is as follows: Miss Maude Lahr, Ward Fetrow, Miss Agnes Jones, Mr. V. E. Whan and Harold Bachelor.

Miss Oseola Hall Burr, who has had much experience in this line of work, is coaching the players. The cast has been working hard and are well prepared to put on a good show.

Judges and Competitors

The judges of the contest are R. R. Cook, principal of the Topeka high school, Purd B. Wright, librarian at the public library of Kansas City, Mo., and C. A. Smart, district judge of the 4th judicial district, Ottawa.

The orators and their orations are as follows: J. O. Brown, whose oration is entitled "The Consumers' League," K. S. A. C.; Israel Treiman, representing Washington university of St. Louis, will give an oration entitled "A United States Mandate over the Turkish provinces." The university of Oklahoma will be represented by Elgin E. Groseclose. His oration is "The Family." Fred C. Campbell will represent the university of Nebraska with an oration entitled "The Cigarette, the Nation's Worst Enemy." The orator from Kansas university is A. J. Granoff. His oration is "A Plea for the Immigrant." John C. Madden is to represent the university of Missouri with an oration entitled "The Keynote of Americanism."

Professor J. E. Kammeyer will preside at the contest.

GIRLS' VARSITY TEAM CHOSEN

FOUR JUNIOR GIRLS MAKE THE HONORARY TEAM

Girls Chosen Must Be Good Steady Basketball Players of Ability—Must Have Spirit of Sportsmanship

The names of the girls who were chosen for the honorary varsity basketball team were announced at the basketball feed which was held in the Nichols gymnasium Tuesday evening.

The girls who made the team are as follows: forwards, Miss Florence Banker, Miss Edna Chapin, Miss Lillian Rommel; jumping centers, Miss Helen Lucille Cooper, Miss Ethel Smith; running centers, Miss Bertha Gwinn, Miss Grace Gish; guards, Miss Ruth Willis, Miss Clementine Paddleford, and Miss Mary Fitzgerald.

The varsity team plays no games as the Aggie girls are not allowed to participate in intercollegiate athletics. The girls that are chosen for this team must be good steady players of ability. They must be more than good basketball stars for they must have the spirit of sportsmanship.

Walter Herzog from Kansas university, was a dinner guest at the Kappa Sigma house Monday evening.

Hurst Aus from Fort Scott, was a week end visitor at the Kappa Sigma house.

Louis Combs, Dewey Goerke, George Davis, Lloyd Beardsley, and Skinner spent Easter at home.

HAVE ANOTHER TRY IN DEBATE

AGGIES CLASH WITH EMPORIA AND WASHBURN

Question "Resolved That United States Should Establish Protectorate Over Mexico"

The Aggies will clash in debate with the College of Emporia tonight. This will be the second round of the annual pentangular debate. This time the Aggie negative will appear on the home platform against the College of Emporia affirmative. The affirmative team will meet Washburn.

The question will be the same as in the first round which took place two weeks ago, "Resolved, that the United States government should establish a protectorate over Mexico."

This debate will decide the winner of the pentangular league and will be contested hotly by the five schools represented. In the first round the Aggies lost both to Baker university and Ottawa university so they are bending every effort to retrieve themselves.

Beyond the Hill

Frankfort, Germany.—A clash between colored French troops and a crowd in the Schillerplatz was reported in a message received at Washington. President Wilson would make no statement with regard to his opinion concerning the advance of French troops in the neutral zone.

Pittsburg, Kansas.—Alexander M. Howat is doing all he can to defy the Kansas Industrial law, according to a statement issued Thursday. Included in the statement was the information that fully 2,000 miners were idle because the national coal commission retained the automatic penalty clause and allowed an increase in the cost of explosives as well as other supplies.

Washington, D.C.—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, has expressed violent opposition to the national guard provisions of the senate army reorganization bill. He claims that the bill deprives the states of control over the national guard, giving it into the hands of the general staff.

Topeka, Kansas. — Members of the State Music Teachers' Association in session in Topeka this week will discuss the boosting of prices for music lessons, in order "that it may remain one of the living arts." Miss Doris M. Bugbey, Miss Mabel Deffler and Harold P. Wheeler of the department of music of the Kansas State Agricultural college appeared on the Wednesday night program.

KANSAS BOYS AND GIRLS TO GATHER HERE

CLUB MEETNGS WILL START NEXT TUESDAY

TO GIVE DEMONSTRATIONS

Boys and Girls Have Won Trip and Expenses Are Paid by Millers, Fairs, and Bankers' Association

Next Tuesday morning will see the opening of the boys' and girls' state club meetings. These promise to be the peppiest gatherings ever held by these clubs. George E. Farrell of Washington, D. C., national leader of boys' and girls' clubs, will be present all week.

Won The Trip

Practically all the boys and girls who attend will have won the trip through superior work in some one line; as, growing the finest pig, raising the best grade of corn, the most productive garden, the highest ranking poultry or the best demonstration in bread baking or canning. These trips are financed by the state bankers' association, prominent millers of the state and state, county, and local fairs.

Some of the outstanding demonstrations will be given by all-star demonstrators of bread baking and canning. The demonstrators will show the type of work done at state and interstate contests.

Chamber of Commerce to Help

Thursday afternoon the Chamber of Commerce of Manhattan will give the children an auto trip over the city and campus. Immediately following the trip a banquet will be served by the Chamber of Commerce to all the delegates in attendance.

Wednesday, a talk will be given by Mr. George E. Farrell on club work, illustrated by moving pictures. This will be followed by an illustrated talk by Prof. L. E. Call on French agriculture.

The final meeting will be held Friday morning when J. R. Burrow, president of the state bankers' association, will address the boys and girls.

LEVINE TALKS AT ASSEMBLY

SHOWS SLIDES OF WORK DONE AT CANTON COLLEGE

Mr. Levine Graduated with K. S. A. C. Class of 14—Is Professor of Animal Husbandry at Canton

What Canton Christian college is doing for the Chinese was shown in an illustrated lecture at student assembly Tuesday morning by C. O. Levine, the agricultural missionary sustained in Canton Christian college by the students and faculty of K. S. A. C.

Mr. Levine is professor of animal husbandry in Canton Christian college. He is a graduate of K. S. A. C. with the class of 1914. He is back in this country taking some advanced studies.

The pictures shown in the lecture were those of work being done by the Canton Christian college. A few gave a glimpse of the poverty and want of the poorer class of the Chinese population.

Mr. Levine, in a brief outline of the work being done by the Canton Christian college, stated that the college has three divisions of training—the primary school, high school, and college. The staff is made up of 30 Americans, two Britishers, and 75 Chinese.

"The chief missionary work of China today is education," said Mr. Levine. "Today practically every mission has a school. The Chinese demand that they be taught how to improve their agriculture and living conditions."

Mrs. Riley from Newton, spent the week end with her son at the Kappa Sigma house.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity anounces the pledging of Carl Field, sophomore in general science, of McPherson.

Did you attend the World Forum meetings? If you did, you heard something worth while; if you didn't, you missed something worth while. Did you understand what part you might play in international things by staying at home—here on the K. S. A. C. campus, in your room, on the street, anywhere, everywhere?

At the World Forum there were speakers from lands we read about in our fourth-grade geographies, from countries that since that forgotten time, have interested us only in so far as we could gain some wealth or comfort from them in their products.

Did the World Forum make you any more interested in the welfare of the peoples of those countries—that is, personally interested? Not much, to the majority of us who have already quite definite plans along lines other than foreign mission work. Besides, "Charity begins at home"—does it not?

That is the point. If we did hear the pleas of able men who have served in foreign fields, and who know the need for more workers, without ourselves feeling particularly called upon to respond for foreign service, at least we may apply the major thoughts presented to us by those international thinkers in a local way and let them influence our daily life.

What was the thought most outstanding in the addresses we heard at the World Forum? Was it not a thought of less selfishness and "help the other fellow"? We surely can do the right thing by ourselves and our fellow students right here—and here is the best place to start—here at K. S. A. C.

LIMITING STUDENT ACTIVITIES

The following is taken from the Collegiate World, a national monthly for the undergraduate:

A problem that is arousing considerable discussion among college people is the matter of placing a limit on the student's extra-curricular activities.

The so-called point system has been instituted at some schools. By this system points are given to every student activity, as, for example, 5 points for a 'Varsity team, 3 for a position on the staff of the college paper, and so on. The student is then limited to a prescribed number of points, and his activities must not bring the total up above the limit.

We believe that a student's outside activities should not be allowed to interfere with his classroom work. We are in favor of some sort of limitation.

Every campus has its popular campus heroes who are active in every form of student endeavor. We have known many instances of campus idols who combined in themselves the qualities of the athlete, debater, musician, journalist, and social lion.

The point system is just what this all-around star needs. But will it work a hardship on his college?

We think not.

Harry W. Vernon, an Alpha Tau Omega from K. U., was a guest at the Alpha Theta Chi house Tuesday evening at the Founder's day banquet.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor Collegian—This is still leap year. I know that the men of the college remember it but I want the fact called to the attention of the women.

For 14 years I have been taking girls to shows, operas, dances, and what nots. Now here is a chance for many of the fairer sex to show their appreciation.

"The Chocolate Soldier" is coming to town Monday night and there are a number of men who would like to go. I'm broke. Many others are out of cash. Others never had any. The girls have plenty of the necessary shekles.

I think it would be only proper and fitting that the girls ask the boys to go and see "The Chocolate Soldier." Phone numbers 670, 363, 280, and 160 are especially anxious to be called.

The boys are at home from 6 to 12 each evening.—A Man Who Is Broke.

Dear Editor—I have thought for some time that the new invention in main hall deserved special mention. What is it? Why the drinking fountain, of course. I feel that the varied important uses of this new device should be pointed out to prospective students as one of the big features at K. S. A. C.

First: It is so fountainy that a group of Aggies—quite a clique in fact—may drink at it from all angles and thus have a longer time to converse before being late to class.

Second: It serves as a spray for eyes, ears, nose, and throat and thus does away with some of Dr. Siever's remedies.

Third: It washes the teeth and opens sleepy eyes, thus promoting better work at first hour classes.

Fourth: It is especially recommended after dust storms.—A Thankful Junior.

Dear Editor—Why not make a test of what Aggies know about K. S. A. C. by offering a prize for the best breezy letter written by a student. This should be a letter that could be sent out to any prospective student. A letter of this type would at least be helpful in giving all students more ideas of what to emphasize in individual letters to high school students.—A Student with Ideas.

For twenty four years we have been aiding students to secure actual expense money for K. S. A.C.

If you have funds that you wish to make do the most possible good, we would be glad to take the matter up with you. No donations wanted.

COLLEGE WILL TRY FOR THE HONORS

IS ONE OF 15 DISTINGUISHED MILITARY COLLEGES OF U. S.

Results of Annual May Inspection Will Determine which College Holds Highest Honors

K. S. A. C. may be designated as one of the 15 distinguished military colleges of the United States by the general staff board. Whether or not we get this distinction depends on the results of the annual inspection which is to be held sometime in May.

After the first preliminary inspection which was held a few weeks ago the department commander eliminated all those institutions which had no chance of making this honored showing, and K. S. A. C. is among those colleges which are to be in the final inspection.

At one time this college held the honor for htree years in succession and it is hoped that this year it will again be put on the honor roll.

Netta Dubbs went to Topeka Thursday to attend the Music Teachers' convention.

ALUMNI NOTES

Born, to V. C. Bryant, '10, and Isabelle (Arnott) Bryant, '10, February 17, at Berkely, Cal., a son, John Arnott. V. C. Bryant, '10, was a member of the federal board for vocational education, rehabilitation division, the past year, having charge of all ex-service men in Arizona, Nevada, and California, who took up any phase of agriculture. He returned this year to his regular position, assistant professor of agriculture, Extension division, University of Califlornia.

Mrs. Wilma Burtis Bayer, '16, was a recent college visitor.

Rev. A. Judson White, '74, died in a sanatarium in Chicago March 6. His death was the result of injuries which he received when thrown from a buggy some time ago. Mr. White was one of the earliest settlers of College Hill and until recently owned a home there. He was a minister of the Christian church and often preached in Manhattan. His wife is a sister of Prof. I. D. Graham of the college. Many friends will regret to hear of his death.

Glimpses Into College Athletics

In Minnesota Carleton was the pick of the basketball field.

In Wisconsin Ripon college won the title with a fast team.

In the Northwest Conference Coach Borleske's Whitman college team copped the championship.

Athletic authorities are certain that the United States will carry away honors in the coming Olympic meet.

In the Eastern Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic association Randolph-Macon college won the championship.

In the Eastern Intercollegiate league Pennsylvania was easily the class and won an undisputed championship.

In the far West Leland Stanford took the title in the Pacific Coast Conference, without being pressed at any stage of the race.

In Missouri Westminster college ran through their schedule of seventeen games without defeat for their first basketball championship.

The teams in the Ohio Conference put up a great race that was not decided until the end of the season, Akron winning the championship.

The North Dakota university won the undisputed state championship and also the Dakota-Minnesota Conference title by defeating the State college five.

The Kansas Aggies are after the Missouri Valley championhip in baseball. The basketball team made a good showing and the track team is making fine records. Every Aggie, boost!

Chicago university won the championship in the Western Conference, never letting up until the final game of the season against Wisconsin. This championship was a fitting close to coach Page's great career as basketball mentor at Chicago. Purdue ranked second and Illinois third.

The pictures of the All-Missouri Valley basketball team appeared in Sunday's Star. Bunger and W. Cowell are the two Aggies whose pictures appeared. Two Tigers and one Kansas University man also made the team. Washington, who took second place, did not have a man place on the team.

The East boasted of two other powerful basketball quintets—New York university and Rutgers college. In the A. A. U. national tournament at Atlanta New York university won the championship of the country, with Rutgers as runner-up. Other college teams entered in the A. A. U. tournament were the University of Utah, university of Georgia, and the university of Tennessee.

GRAIN CONTEST IS TOMORROW

PRIZES TO BE GIVEN TOTAL SIXTY DOLLARS

Five Dollars Given to Freshie Making Highest Scoring—Prizes Now on Exhibition in Main Hall

The second annual grain judging contest is to be held April 10 in the grain crops laboratory room 78 in Waters hall.

The contest begins promptly at 1 o'clock. A definite time is set for each group of samples. A total of 15 prizes are offered this year by various seed companies and associations.

There is to be one cash prize of $20 given to the winner of the contest. Another cash prize of $5 is to be given to the freshman making the highest scoring. A first, second, and third prize is to be given to each class, such as the small grains, sorghums and corn. A ribbon will be given to the winner of each prize.

The prizes are now on exhibition in Anderson hall.

Paul Fetzer, Morse Salisbury, and Clifford Kniseley spent the week end at Stillwater, Okla., assisting in the installation of a chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon at the Oklahoma A. & M. college.

The K. U. orchestra will play at the student dance in the recreation hall, Saturday evening, April 10, from 9 to 12. Committee. 1t

An Old Maid Walks Into the Plot and the Action Changes

Slovsky didn't have a bit of sentiment in his character. He was strictly a business man. Now a man without sentiment is about as fit to manage a flower shop as a farm hand is to sell women's lingerie. So Slovsky hired Maude as telephone girl for the flower shop.

But Maude had too much faith in the power of flowers, and consequently one of her schemes for helping other people apparently went wrong. Slovsky, being without sentiment, didn't understand what it was all about and fired his telephone maid. Just as she was leaving the shop, an old maid, who had been engaged for 15 years came in the store and—but there is just one way to learn the rest of it and that is by attending the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest in the auditorium Saturday night.

You will not only see a famous, fast, furious Harvard one-act play but you will also have the chance to help J. O. Brown break the jinx and win the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest.

Floyd B. Nichols, managing editor of the Capper farm papers, made a short visit with his brother, R. C. Nichols, during the week end.

ENGINEERS TAKE TRIP TO TOPEKA

VISIT LARGE INDUSTRIAL PLANTS OF THE CITY

Twenty-five Juniors Take the Trip —Professor Carlson, Professor Kloeffer, and Professor Seaton Have Charge of Party

On Wednesday, April 7, the junior mechanical and electrical engineers went to Topeka on a tour of inspection of some of the large industrial establishments of the city.

About 25 of the juniors were in the party making the trip. The plants visited were: Santa Fe shops, Capital City Iron works, State Printing plant. Edison Light and Power company, and the Pierson Manufacturing company.

Professor Seaton, Professor Carlson, and Professor Kloeffer were in charge of the party.

BAND TO GIVE THEIR THIRD CONCERT

TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY, APRIL 16, IN AUDITORIUM

Band Plays Important Part in Student Activities—Program for Concert to be Announced Later

The third of the series of band concerts which the college band is giving this year will be held Friday, April 16, at the auditorium.

These concerts have proved one of the most popular entertainments of the college year. Under the direction of Prof. Harold Wheeler the band has taken a more important part in student activities this year than ever before.

In many schools the band is taken too much for granted, and it is hoped that K. S. A. C. students will not fall into this attitude, but will give the band the patronage that it deserves.

The program for Friday's concert will be announced in a later issue of the Collegian.

Quick Is New Coach

Coach Paul Quick has charge of the school of agriculture athletics this semester. He received his training under Doctor Allen at Warrensburg Normal.

The school of agriculture will not attempt to put out a track team this spring but will put all their energies into baseball. Already several games have been scheduled with high schools and they expect to be very much in evidence in the interdivisional contest of the college.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Easter Supper

The senior members of Iota Psi entertained the other members of the sorority with an Easter supper Sunday evening. The Easter idea was very cleverly carried out in the decorations and in the menu. The senior members of the sorority are: Miss Adda Middleton, Miss Marie Thomas, Miss Anne Lorimer, and Miss Ella Stinson.

Basket Ball Feed

The annual girls' basketball feed was given Tuesday evening from six until eight thirty in the girls' gymnasium. The girls who were on the class teams, about 75 in all, attended the affair. After a three course supper, served by the freshman team members, the girls spent the evening dancing. The announcement of the varsity team, and stunts by the team members, were features of the evening.

For Miss Blaine

Miss Winifred Bartholf and Miss Marian Williams entertained at their rooms Friday evening in honor of Miss Avis Blain and Miss Edith Bond, the occasion being the birthday of Miss Blain. A number of the faculty women were guests. Light refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Sisson-Irick

Miss Lillian Sisson of Manhattan and Mr. Cecil Irick of Hale, Mo., were married at Manhattan Sunday evening. The ceremony took place at the Presbyterian manse. Mrs. Irick attended college here during 1917 and 1918.

Teichgraeber-Van Trine

Miss Leona Teichgraeber and Mr. Ralph Van Trine were married at the home of the bride's sister in Kansas City Saturday evening. Miss Teichgraeber, whose home is in Lindsborg attended college here last semester. She was a senior in home economics, and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Van Trine graduated from K. S. A. economics, and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. After a week in Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Van Trine will go to Abilene where they will make their home. Mr. Van Trine is employed at Abilene by the United Telephone company as traffic engineer.

Founder's Day Banquet

The Alpha Theta Chi fraternity celebrated Founder's day on Tuesday April 6 with a four course dinner at the chapter home. After the dinner various members of the fraternity gave toasts. The Thayer orchestra furnished music during the dinner.

Luncheon at Pines

Mrs. C. F. Baker entertained the committee chairmen of City Pan-Hellenic at luncheon at the Pines Thursday. Mrs. Baker's guests were Mrs. O. W. Hunter, Mrs. W. N. Skourup, Miss Grace Headrick, and Miss Izil Polson.

The City Pan-Hellenic association is to stage a campaign for the College Memorial Fund during Festival week. A short business meeting to make plans for this was held after the luncheon.

Edelblute—Simpson

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Edelblute of Manhattan and Mr. Sam Simpson of Salina. The ceremony took place at Kansas City, Mo., October 31. Both Mr. and Mrs. Simpson attended college here last semester. Mr. Simpson is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

AGGIE ASPIRATIONS

There seems to be a poetry movement at K. S. A. C. Everyone is trying his best to write sonnets, free verse, lyric poetry, and other forms. The Collegian intends to print some of these poems. Anyone who wishes to submit a poem to the paper may do so. They must not be too long. the author's name must be signed but only the initials will be printed.

Hurmorous, sad, light, in fact any kind of poetry will be run. As the title suggests it need not even be poetry—just aspirations.—The Editor.

Rough Neck Day

There is a day—it comes in March,
To soothe away our cares.
We hear strange noises in the night,
The Aggies on the stairs.

They come with whoop, and ha! ha! ha!
They rush to meet a friend,
But half before the day is o'er
We're glad to have it end.

They call it Rough-neck, so it is—
As rough as it can be.
This year the weather tried to help
To make more fun, you see.

The Ides of March we'll not pass by,
Many a frown it moves.
It dries the tears and chases fears
From this old school we love.

So profs and students won't regret
That Monday ended all.
If they forget that merry day,
Next year they will recall.

—B. M. L.

The Light

Light,
On yonder hill,
What are you shining for?
I climbed to the top of that hill
One black, dark night,
and stood beside you, Light.
While climbing,
and looking up,
Oh, how brightly you shone;
But, lo, on looking back
the world and all below was dreadfully dark,
Darker than before.
Light,
What are you shining for?

THREE AGGIES HAVE CHANCE FOR OLYMPIC

IS BEST RECORD OF ANY VALLEY SCHOOL

L. H. REYBURN WILL SHOOT

Watson and Wilder to Run—Missouri University to Have Two Men in Olympic—Is Biggest Event

Three well-known Aggie athletes are to have the chance of a lifetime to make a mark for themselves when they enter the biggest athletic event of the world—the Olympic International meet at Antwerp, Belgium, this year. Marshall Wilder, Ray Watson, and L. H. Reyburn are the three fortunate Aggies. This is the best record of any Valley school. Missouri university is sending two men.

Reyburn to Virginia

Reyburn, who is a junior ag man, was a distinguished rifle shot in the marine corps and has been invited by marine corps to compete for a place on the American team, because of past records in national competition. Reyburn will leave for the marine target range in Virginia on May 5.

Ray Watson, also a junior ag man, holds the half-mile record in K. S. A. C., winning over Wilder in 1919. His best time was made last year at K. U. when he ran the half mile in one minute 59½ seconds. In the Missouri valley meet held at Ames last spring he won second place, while the same year he won second place in the Big Ten conference meet, held in Chicago. Watson is a K man and this is his second season on the track team.

Wilder Is Winner

Marshall Wilder has three letters in football and three in track. He was captain of the Aggie track team in 1917. He played halfback in football in '14, '15, and '16. His record for the half mile is two minutes one 3-5 seconds and was the Aggie record until lowered by Watson. Wilder was in the eighty-ninth division during the war and won the penthalon of the A. E. F. meet held in Paris on May 31, 1919. He excelled in the 200 meter dash, the running broad jump, the 16 pound shot-put, the discus throw, and the 1,500 meter run for a total of 3,201 points. Spalding devotes two pages to Marshall Wilder in the athletic manual.

The Olympic tryouts which Wilder and Watson will enter are to be held in Chicago during the month of June.

FARMERS BREAK EVEN IN DEBATE

LOST TO EMPORIA BUT WON FROM WASHBURN

Is Last of Pentangular Contests for This Year—Five Schools in League

The second quarrel between K. S. A. C. and the five schools forming the pentangular debate league took place Friday night. In this debate the Aggies won from Washburn at Topeka and lost to the College of Emporia here.

The debate here was a spirited one and good arguments were put up by both sides. The team which debated here was composed of W. T. Rolfe, G. R. Schroll, and V. V. Cool. This team upheld the negative of the question, which was that the United States Should Establish a Protectorate over Mexico.

The team which won from Washburn at Topeka was composed of Arnold Englund, H. H. Nelson, and Ellis Kimble.

This is the last of this year's debates of the annual pentangular league, which is composed of Baker university, Ottawa university, Washburn, College of Emporia and K. S. A. C.

Theodore Yost was in Jetmore on business last week.

For Patronesses and House Mothers

Delta Zeta entertained informally Friday afternoon. The guests were the patronesses of Delta Zeta and the house mothers of other sororities and fraternities. A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations, large bowls of sweet peas being used in the receiving rooms. A short muscial program was given during the afternoon. Light refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. N. W. Kimball, Mrs. O. A. Hutchings, Mrs. L. E. Downs, Mhs. A. A. Potter, Mrs. Requa. Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Ricker, Mrs. Marcotte, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Rodgers, Mrs. Burton, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Bassler, Mrs. Birdsall, Mrs. Lair, Mrs. Roark, Mrs. Edith Barlow, Mrs. Passmore, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Sargent, Miss Perry, Miss Smith, and Mrs. Mary P. Van Zile.

HAVE ASSEMBLY AT FOUR TODAY

SCHOOL SPIRIT IS KEYNOTE OF MEETING

Purpose Not Announced But Concerns the Wearing of the Freshman Caps

The committee on school spirit has called for an assembly to be held in the college auditorium this afternoon at 4 o'clock at which all sophomore and freshman men are to be present.

The exact nature of the things which will be brought before this assembly has not been announced. However, the purpose of the meeting is vitally connected with school spirit and the future of the college. The future of the school itself and the future of these two classes will depend to a large extent upon the results of this meeting. Whatever the exact object may be, Captain Terrill is directly behind the movement and will do all in his power to further the cause.

The possibilities are that the decision reached at this meeting will have considerable bearing upon the highly decorated headgear which the freshmen customarily wear during the fall and spring seasons of the school year. If you are a freshman or a sophomore and want to impress your views of the subject before this convention assembled, then be there.

FARM CLASSES ON STUDY TRIP

TO VISIT KANSAS, OKLAHOMA, AND MISSOURI

Soil Survey Class and Farm Management Class Get Practical Work Now

The soil survey class, under Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, and the Advanced farm management class, under Prof. W. E. Grimes, left Monday for a week's trip thru the southeastern part of Kansas, the northeastern part of Oklahoma, and the southwestern part of Missouri.

The soil survey class will study soils formation, types, series, and problems of soil management while the advanced farm management class will study problems of farm management on some of the big farms which they will visit in the course of the trip. The two classes will cover the same territory but each will study its own particular phase of the work.

Friday afternoon the men will spend in looking over the stockyards and the packing houses of Kansas City, Friday evening they will follow the bright lights of the city and on Saturday they will return to Manhattan.

HAVE GUESTS AT THE JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Must Notify Invitation Committee by April 20

All seniors who have out of town guests or other friends whom they wish to have invited to the junior-senior prom should see Miss Marcia Seeber, chairman of the invitation committee, before April 20. This should include all under classmen who would not otherwise be invited to the junior-snior prom provided they have some friend in the senior class who desires their presence on that evening.

AGGIE HITTERS WIN TWO AND TIE THE THIRD

AGGIES SCORE 27 TO OPPONENTS 4 THIS SEASON

DRAKE COMES HERE THIS WEEK

Locals Beat Oklahoma Aggies 9 to 0 and Oklahoma U. 7 to 1—Last Game Is Thirteen Inning Tie

Coach Clevenger's brand new 1920 baseball aggregation broke into the Missouri Valley win column last week by defeating the Oklahoma Sooners 7 to 1 in the first game and playing a tie game of 13 innings the second day, the game ending three and.

The Aggies had just arrived from a scheduled two game series with the Oklahoma Aggies, having won the first one 9 to 0. The other game was not played on account of the rain.

Aggies Have Batfest

In the game at Stillwater, the Aggie swatters had an excellent opportunity to swell their batting average, and were not slow to do so. McGrath went seven innings of the game and allowed not a run, this being the sceond shut out for the tall slabster this season.

The score:

In the first game at Norman, Merton Otto pitched a stellar game, fanning nine and allowing only four hits. The Oklahoma pitcher got a bad start and the five errors behind him never helped any. Box score, first game:

TERRILL WANTS REAL TRAINING

IGNORANCE COST U. S. HEAVY, HE SAYS

Country Has One Year of War for Every Four Years of Its Existence

Captain Terrill, when requested to give his views on universal military training said, "when a boy arrives at 19 years and before he arrives at 24 I would require him to serve at least four months in the army where he would be given intensive military training. Each individual would be allowed to choose the year which would best suit his personal business between the ages of 19 and 24.

"I am quite sure he would come out a much better man for the time and experience and he would know better how to defend his own and his country's rights.

More Wars Recently

"The United States has had one year of war for each four years of its existence. There has not been a month since 1898 that our boys have not been fighting some enemy to law, order, and justice in some part of the world. The past 20 years has had more wars, has had more men engaged in wars, than during any other 20 years of recorded history.

Ignorance Is Cause

"Our soldiers are justly indignant over their experiences in France. They were put into battle unprepared and led by officers who were picked from civil pursuits and placed over them, knowing nothing of war or its principles and technique. Fifty per cent of our dead men and half of our war debt is the result of unpreparedness and military ignorance. This is the fault of every citizen who has been and is now opposed to military training."

HAVE FINAL ON GIRLS' DEBATE

WILL BE HELD HERE ON APRIL 20

Affirmative Team Meets Southwestern Here and Negative Goes to Pittsburg

The girls' triangular debate, which is the last debate of this year's debating schedule, will be held April 20. The colleges represented in this triangular are Southwestern at Winfield, Pittsburg Normal at Pittsburg, and K. S. A. C.

The girls chosen to represent K. S. A. C. in this contest are: Affirmative team, which debates Southwestern here, Miss Marcia A. Seeber and Miss Caroline Sloop. The negative team which will go to Pittsburg will be composed of Miss Florence Mather and Miss Dorothy Mosely.

The question to be used in this debate is the same as has been used in the pentangular debates: "Resolved, That the United States Should Establish a Protectorate over Mexico.

BIGGEST AGGIE WEEK COMES MAY 5 TO 9

FESTIVAL TIME IS BEST IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE

TO HAVE MANY GUESTS

Track Meet, May Fete, Concert, Recital, Student Opera, Choral Concert and Other Things Make Program

May 5 to 9 is to be the most important week in the history of K. S. A. C. During this week will be held the May fete, the state high school track meet, a concert by the Chicago Opera Sextet, a band concert, a piano recital by Mme. Sturkow Ryder, the student opera, the Purple Masque play "Daddies," a choral concert, a recital by the celebrated tenor Theo. Karle, and numerous other attractions, all of which go to make up K. S. A. C.'s 1920 Festival week, the biggest and best in the history of the college.

Start Seat Sale

The seat sale this year will open unusually early, probably about the middle of April. This is being done in order to accommodate the large number of out of town visitors who are expected to attend the Festival programs. The number of visitors will be unusually large because no Farm and Home week was held this year, and many who had intended to visit the college then, will come for Festival Week instead. For this reason it is hoped that K. S. A. C. students will make arrangements with out of town friends who expect to attend the programs as early as possible.

Have Contests, Too

In addition to the regular program, special contests in music, home economics, extemporaneous speaking, and drawing, have been arranged for the many high school students who will be here at that time for the track meet.

Festival Week presents an ideal way to advertise the college, as well as to entertain friends. There is no better means of getting the college before the notice of prospective students than by an invitation to attend Festival Week.

TICKET SALE BEGINS TODAY

ON SALE AT COOP BOOK STORE AND PALACE DRUG STORE

Concert to be Given Friday Evening —Program Will Consist of Eight Numbers

Tickets for the band concert are on sale today by the members of the McDowell club. Tickets may also be purchased at the Coop book store and at the Palace drug store downtown.

The program for the band concert to be given Friday evening at the college auditorium is as follows: Overture, "The Mill on the Cliff," Reissiger; "Pas des Fluer" from the ballet "Naila," Delibes; Andante Cantabile from the Fifth Symphony, Tschaikowsky; Vocal Solo, "Rose of Picardy," by Prof. A. E. Westbrook; Three Dances from Henry VIII, German; Fantasia "Samson and Dalila," Saint-Saens; Lanette Waltz, Henton; Saxaphone Solo, Mr. J. P. Fallis; selections from "Fortune Teller," Herbert.

Founder's Day Banquet

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Chi Omega sorority was celebrated Thursday evening by a five course banquet at the local chapter house. The fraternity colors of cardinal and straw were carried out in the decorations by the use of carnations and daffodils. A number of the alumni members living in the city were present at the banquet. The freshman farce, a "Take-off" on the upper classmen was a feature of the evening.

Mrs. J. B. Fitch entertained Friday afternoon with a bridge party in honor of her mother, Mrs. L. L. Rakstraw.

WASHINGTON IS CONTEST WINNER

ORATION WON $50 FOR ISRAEL TREIMAN

Orator from Kansas University Won Second Place and Sooner Man Third

First place in the Missouri Valley Oratorical contest held last Saturday night was won by Israel Treiman of Washington university with an oration entitled "A United States Mandate over the Turkish Provinces." First place carried with it a cash prize of $50.

A. D. Granoff of Kansas university was awarded second place with an oration entitled "A plea for the Immigrant." A $25 prize went with second honors.

An oration entitled "The Family" won Elgin E. Groseclose of Oklahoma university third place in the contest.

J. O. Brown of K. S. A. C. placed fourth in the contest.

The judges were R. R. Cook, principal of the Topeka high school, Purd B. Wright of Kansas City, and C. A. Smart, district judge of the fourth judicial district, Ottawa.

One orator was unable to appear in the contest. A telegram was received shortly before the contest commenced stating that Fred C. Campbell of the University of Nebraska would be unable to attend the event.

Prof. J. E. Kammeyer was the presiding officer of the evening.

The audience was not as large as had been expected but keen interest and appreciation were manifested many times during the evening.

The one-act farce " The Florist Shop" was a decided success.

For Miss Lamb

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Maddock entertained informally at their home 315 South Fifth street Friday evening in honor of their niece, Miss Jayne Pickford Lamb. The guests spent the evening with games and music. The following college students were guests at the party: Miss Ruth Goodrum, Miss Ruth Rinehart, Miss Maude Stewart, Miss Margaret Rochford, Miss Mary Cruzen, Mr. Ike Gatz,, Mr. Ezell Highfill, Mr. Joe McGuire, Mr. Tex Marshall, Mr. Harold Zimmerman, and Mr. Wilbur Cole.

Men Want Bonus

The Stars and Stripes, official publication for all ex-service men, is conducting a canvass to determine whether they want a bonus or not, and if they do whether in the form of cash, bond, education, land, or loans.

Seright, Rogers, and Stalcup are conducting this canvass among the ex-service men of the college. The results of the canvass seem to show that practically all of the men are in favor of the bonus and the majority of them favor the education or the land plan of aiding the ex-service men.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Iota Psi Spring Dance

The members of the Iota Psi fraternity gave their annual spring dance Friday evening in the recreational hall. The affair was an informal one. Decorations of palms and ferns were used throughout the hall. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Beta orchestra. Refreshments of orange sherbet and wafers were served, and punch was served throughout the evening. The chaperones were Miss Vera McCoy and Miss Grace Hesse. Special guests of the sorority included: Miss Abbie Furneaux, Miss Ruby Pruitt, Miss Elsie Johnson, Miss Hazel Barshing, Miss Laverne Webb, Miss Edith Willman, Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Edith Bond, and Miss Winifred Bartholf.

Tri Delta Spring Party

The annual spring party of Delta Delta Delta was given Friday evening at Harrison's hall. Decorations of lavender, green, and pink were used in the dance hall and lounging rooms.

The walls of the dance hall were hung with vines and flowers, and a drop-center ceiling of streamers in lavender, green, and pink carried out the color scheme. A fountain, surrounded by palms and ferns, was in the center of the hall, palms and rose trees, being used throughout the rooms. Lattice work, in which the color scheme was prettily carried out screened the orchestra platform. The lounging rooms were decorated to resemble a Japanese garden, and the hall, where punch was served during the evening, was decorated with streamers.

The Carlton-Kuhn orchestra from Kansas City furnished music. The guests danced until 12:30, then went to the College Inn where a two course luncheon was served.

The party was chaperoned by Mrs. A. M. Paterson, Mrs. A. P. Fielding, Mrs. Palks, Mrs. S. Z. Ricker, and Mrs. Z. G. Clevenger. Out of town guests included: Miss Margaret Houstetler of Belleville, Miss Helen Docking of Lawrence, Miss Thelma Mebus of Kansas City, Kan.; Miss Ruth Dubois of Lincoln, Nebr.; Miss Helen Downing of Lincoln, Nebr.; Miss Ruth Beggs of Washington, Miss Hilda Harlan of Washington, Miss Gladys Hoffman of Riley, Miss Adelaide Seeds of Topeka, Miss Buenta Myers of Clay Center, Miss Helen Taylor of Chapman, and Miss Helen Campbell of Lawrence.

Acacia House Dance

The members of the Acacia fraternity entertained informally Friday evening with a dance at their chapter house. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kittell, and Miss Elsie Smith. Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Entertains Informally

Mrs. W. M. Jardine entertained at thimbles Thursday afternoon at her home, 1020 Houston. A color scheme of yellow and green was used. Mrs. Jardine also entertained informally Saturday afternoon.

Initiation Services

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity held formal initiation services Sunday afternoon for Hollis Hope of Garden City, Harry Nelson of Bennington, Thomas Constable of Minneapolis, and Earl Preston of Russell.

Sunday Dinner Guests

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity entertained at dinner Sunday for all the Delta sisters who live in Manhattan or are in school here. The sisters present were: Miss Grace Hibarger, Miss Esther Charles, Miss Vinnie Drake, Miss Grace Baker, Miss Faith Martin, Miss Ruth Blair, Miss Pearl Hoots, Miss Carol Knostman, Miss Aleph Christman, Miss Elliott, Miss Gilbreath, Miss Meyers, and Mrs. Padock.

Entertain Orators

Zeta Kappa Psi, women's honorary forensic fraternity, and Pi Kappa Delta, men's honorary forensic fraternity gave a dinner Saturday evening after the oratorical contest in honor of the Missouri Valley orators. Covers were laid for 60 persons, including guests, the members of the two fraternities, the judges, coaches, and orators.

Oscar Steanson acted as toastmaster. Israel Trieman of Washington university, who won first place in the contest, responded with a toast. Prof. J. G. Emerson, Dr. J. R. Macarthur, and Miss Rose Baker of Washburn, also gave toasts.

Paul Fetzer, who has been spending the past week at his home in Helena, Okla., returned to Manhattan Sunday.

Miss Lucile Smith was a Sunday dinner guest at the Beta house.

Harold Smiley spent the week end at his home in Topeka.

Chain Robinson and Fletcher Speck spent the week end in Kansas City.

BOXING BOUTS GETTING WARM

SECOND ROUND STAGED IN FEATHERWEIGHT CLASS

Aggies Have Boxing on Firmer Basis Than Any Other Missouri Valley School

K. S. A. C. now has boxing established on a firmer basis than any other college in the Missouri Valley, according to the dopesters. Other colleges are taking up boxing and wrestling but so far none of them has made as much progress in boxing as the Aggies.

Of the entries listed in the tournament to date only one man has defaulted without satisfactory excuse. The results of the first rounds of the preliminaries thus far are as follows:

Featherweight Class

H. C. Smith won over Paul Dacon, G. B. Kirkwood won from I. N. Lewis, J. W. Farmer won from E. E. Kelley, F. L. Westerman from D. N. Woodsworth, H. C. Smith fought with M. J. Clark to a draw.

Lightweight Class

B. K. Perrul won from R. F. Echart, P. L. Hershey from H. C. Sturgeon, R. C. Hume from R. H. Moran, V. V. Cool from W. J. O'Brien, O. R. Craygon and H. J. Hendricks fought a four round draw.

Welterweight Class

H. T. McKeever won from O. G. Woody, R. E. Regnier from V. R. Blackledge, J. J. Hendricks from W. J. Buckley. Hendricks is fighting in two classes.

Middleweight Class

T. R. Still won from H. C. Wood, Ray B. Collum from W. J. Clapp, C. F. Goodwin from O. E. Kincaid by default, L. J. Brian from F. L. Longwell, Ray B. Collum from L. B. Deal in a bye-battle.

Commission: K. I. Church won from E. Middlekoff.

Second on Featherweight

G. B. Kirkwood won over M. J. Clark which entitles Kirkwood to enter the finals. J. W. Farmer won a decision over F. L. Westerman.

To date there have been 23 bouts, and there will be bouts each evening from 4:30 until 6 o'clock during this week.

J. B. Fitch, head of the dairy department, is attending a Holstein sale at Savage, Minnesota, this week.

Franklin Adams, former K. S. A. C. student visited friends in Manhattan last week.

R. Scott Miner of Chicago, spent the week end with his sister-in-law, Miss Lottie Milam, assistant state club leader of the division of college extension.

G. R. Greaves as new poultry club leader, takes the place left vacant by John L. Prehn. Mr. Greaves comes from Fargo, North Dakota, where he was poultry agent for the United States government at that place.

Miss Leah McIntyre spent the week end at her home in Topeka.

Miss Garent Grover spent the week end at her home in Iola.

Miss Hildred Aspergren, freshman in home economics, has withdrawn from school because of the illness of her mother.

Mr. Phillip Young, who was with the Y. M. C. A. in France spoke at the Rotary club meeting Thursday on the subject, "The Invasion of China by the American Brewers."

Prof. J. W. Searson read a paper before the Quill club at the regular meeting on the subject "Human Interest and Feature Epigrams." Original poems were read by Prof. N. A. Crawford and Mrs. Ulrich.

Have your dull safety razor blades resharpened just as good as new. Save over half the price of new blades. Leave blades at Palace Drug store or Cooper's barber shop on the campus. tf

George E. Farrell, national club leader from Washington, D. C., will arrive the first of the week to assist on the program for boys' and girls' club week.

Miss Araminta Holman and Miss Ruth Hutchings were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday.

Those taking part in the meet were: freshmen, Ruth Kittell, Grace Gardiner, Katherine Knapp, Lucile Smith, Florence Haak; sophomores, Elizabeth Dickens, Majorie Fisher, Florence Johnson; junior-senior, Lucile Whan and Grace Gish.

Ruth Kittell who does many difficult dives won the diving for the freshmen. Lucile Whan won second place for the juniors.

Grace Gardiner won the plunge for the freshmen, making a distance of 37½ feet. Ruth Kittell was a close second with 37 feet.

Lucile Whan won the individual races for the juniors with Lucile Smith, freshman, a close second.

The fine showing of the freshman girls and the fact that so many new girls have learned to swim this year is a very good showing of Miss Bartholf's splendid training in swimming.

CHOOSE THE Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS FOR YEAR

S. D. CAPPER IS THE NEW PRESIDENT

Discussion of Plans for Next Year's Work to Come Later

The annual election of Y. M. C. A. officers was held on Thursday evening, April 8. At this meeting a new constitution was adopted and the question of the policy of the Y for next year was discussed some but will be taken up more at the next meeting when the new officers will be in charge.

The officers elected were: S. D. Capper, president; C. C. McPherson, vice president; R. O. Spratt, secretary. Student members of the board are Ernest Hartman, Oscar Cullen, Ray Knox, E. J. Jelden, C. C. McPherson, and S. D. Capper. Faculty members are H. H. King, J. W. Searson, C. O. Swanson, L. A. Fitz, and Hugh Durham.

USE PICTURES TO TEACH NOW

ENGINEERING STUDENTS SEE TIRES MADE

Over 400 Students in Auditorium Learn Process from the Camera

An interesting and instructive illustrated lecture on the manufacture of rubber tires was given at the auditorium on Thursday by the department of farm engineering under the direction of Prof. W. H. Sanders.

After an introductory talk by Dean Potter an account of the process of rubber manufacturing from the rubber plantation to the factory was made by a representative of an eastern tire company.

A detailed story was given by motion pictures of the manufacture of automobile tires, from the time the raw materials entered the factory until the finished product was turned out. These photos were taken in the Goodyear factory and gave the 400 Aggie engineers present a new idea of the tire industry.

CALL STRICKEN WITH FEVER WHILE ON TRIP IN THE EAST

College Agronomy Head Ill at His Old Home in Ohio

L. E. Call, head of the agronomy department, K. S. A. C., is ill with what doctors believe to be typhoid fever at Kent, Ohio, where Professor Call's parents live. He left Manhattan for a two weeks' trip in the east the middle of last month, and was visiting with his parents on his way back to Kansas when he became ill. Mrs. Call has joined him in Ohio.

MYERS WINNER GRAIN CONTEST

INDIVIDUAL PRIZES TO BE ANNOUNCED LATER

Was Best Grain Judging Contest Ever Held—Klod and Kernel Klub Deserves Credit

J. B. Myers, senior in animal husbandry, of Milton, won first place in the grain judging contest Saturday, with a total of 797 points out of a possible 1,000.

W. R. Horlacher, senior in animal husbandry, of Colby, took second place with a total of 776 points and E. P. Mauk, sophomore in animal husbandry, of Hillsdale, Okla., took third place with a score of 762.

The following students also made scores of 700 or more in the contest and are given honorable mention: C. A. Thresher, B. R. Petrie, S. A. Watson, C. W. Bower, B. B. Bayles, S. L. Copeland, Luella Schaumburg, George Gemmel, Phil Barnes, O. B. Hoff, R. E. Clegg, J. F. Brown, W. R. Harder, Earl Means, R. S. Mather.

All the individual prizes will be announced in next Friday's Collegian.

A total of 116 men registered for the contest and in many of the classes the competition was close. No man was allowed to receive more than one prize, according to the rules of the contest.

The papers were graded by Prof. S. C. Salmon, Prof. John H. Parker, and Prof. J. W. Zahnley, of the agronomy department. Only the contestant's registration number appeared on the papers, so that there was no chance for any biased judgment or personal opinions to enter into the final grades.

The students who are members of the Klod and Kernel Klub deserve great credit for planning and staging this contest. The interest shown in the contest was remarkable. More than one-fourth of the men enrolled in agriculture were registered and every contestant gained practical and valuable experience in the work.

It is likely that there will be opportunity at the International Livestock show to be held next fall at Chicago, for student teams from the best agricultural colleges in the country to enter a grain judging contest. This will give students of farm crops the same experience and opportunity which students of animal husbandry have enjoyed for several years.

CHOOSE OFFICERS IN THE WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSN.

New Members Not Initiated — Wait for Swimming

At a meeting of the Women's Athletic association Thursday evening, officers for the coming year were elected.

They are: President, Jessie Evans; vice president, Clara Evans; secretary, Grace Turner; and treasurer, Anna Neal. It was decided not to elect the sport managers until next year.

On account of the pending swimming meet new members were not initiated but initiation will be held at the next regular meeting, the first Thursday in May.

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, APRIL 16, 1920 — NO. 59

FROSH VOTE TO DON THE TRI-COLORS

DO IT WITHOUT UPPERCLASSMAN ENFORCEMENT

ONLY TWO DISSENTING VOTES

Spratt, Freshman President, Says "We Don't Want to be Bellyachers as the Sophs Have Been"

At the special meeting of the sophomores and freshmen Tuesday afternoon the freshmen decided, with only two dissenting votes, to wear the freshman caps, without any compulsory measures on the part of the upper classmen.

Wanted Color Rush

A proposition of having a color rush between the two classes was brought before the meeting. The original plan of the color rush was to have each class turn out in as large numbers as they could muster. The sophomores contended that it was not a fair contest since the freshmen outnumbered them two to one. Several freshmen contended that since it was a test of the strength of the two classes that there should be no limit on the number of contestants as long as they belonged to one of the two classes. No agreement could be reached and so the sophomores were dismissed.

Calls Sophs "Bellyachers"

Several frosh then made short talks, most of which were in favor of wearing the caps only if they were allowed to do so on their own free will. Spratt, freshman president, spoke in favor of the caps and incidentally said, "We don't wan't to be bellyachers next year. The sophomores have just given us as fine an example of bellyaching as I've heard for some time. Now let's see to it that every frehman wears his cap. The freshmen themselves are able to take care of the enforcement of this regulation."

WILL ORGANIZE AGGIE BANDMEN

MARINE BOYS OF 1917 TO GET TOGETHER

Have Reunion in Baltimore Hotel in Kansas City on April 17-18

Word has just been received from Gordon Hamilton telling of a banquet he attended recently in Philadelphia. The Philadelphia members of the First Regiment Marine band were guests at a banquet given in their honor at the home of Mr. Albert Hoxie, their former director.

The First Regiment Marine band will be remembered as the K. S. A. C. band which enlisted as a unit in the spring of 1917. While in service the band spent the greater part of its time in Philadelphia and it was there that Mr. Hoxie came to take a lively interest in the organization.

The band members present at the banquet were: Frank L. Dale, Floyd J. Strew, Lester Bonnett, Joe Courtier, Frank Miller, Ray Losh, Martin D. Bruner, "Rosy" Bauvelt, Harold J. Philipps, Floyd Peacock, and "Freshman" Yantis.

Mr. Hoxie has planned a reunion for the Kansas members of the band to be held at the Hotel Baltimore in Kansas City, April 17 and 18. Letters announcing the reunion have been sent to all of the members of the band. Definite steps for formulating a permanent organization will be taken at this reunion in Kansas City and it will be to the interest of the many members of the former organization to be present.

Philo-Lincoln Spelling Match

The Philomathian and Lincoln literary societies held a spelling match in their hall Friday evening. The losers were to take the winners to the show afterwards. A method similar to that of baseball was used. The final score was 46 to 44 in favor of the Lincolns, which entitled them to a free show.

INITIATION FOR THIRTEEN MEN

BLOCK AND BRIDLE TAKES IN NEW MEMBERS

Permission for Annual Stock Judging Contest Granted by Fraternity

The Block and Bridle, honorary animal husbandry club, held initiation at the stock judging pavilion Tuesday evening for 13 men: A. A. Axline, D. Z. McCormick, J. B. Myers, R. E. Osborne, O. R. Peterson, R. B. Watson, L. H. Reyburn, Charles Thresher, Ray Feree, Harold Garver, H. J. Henney, J. S. Stewart, and C. A. Newell.

A short business meeting was held after the initiation services at which it was decided to take in honorary members from among the faculty in the animal husbandry department.

Permission for the annual stock judging contest has been granted and will be held in the near future under the direction of the senior members of the Block and Bridle and the members of the stock judging team.

DOCTOR GREEN IS NOW AUTHOR OF "TRUTH BOOK"

TO BE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION MAY 1

Gives Letcures to K. C. School Children—Is Now Giving a Series of Lectures at Topeka

Dr. Marie A. Greene, who was assistant college physician at the Kansas State Agricultural college for several years prior to June 1917, has recently written a book entitled, "Little Journeys into the Heart of True Things."

It is now on the press and will be ready for distribution by May 1.

Doctor Greene is making autographed copies of her book for those of her friends who request them.

Since leaving K. S. A. C. Doctor Greene has established an office in Kansas City. Along with her regular consultation work, she has responded to calls to give her lectures on sex hygiene, similar to those given here, to the school children and college students of Kansas City, and also to shop girls and workers of that same place.

In addition to her work there she is now, in response to a call from students of Washburn college and various organizations for social service in Topeka, giving a series of lectures at that place

PUT LANDING FIELD IN CONDITION FOR PLANES

Manhattan Aero Club Is Getting Busy

The Manhattan Aero club has voted to put the landing field, which it has recently leased, in condition for a visit from two of its members who have planes. These members will visit Manhattan in their planes before school closes and the 20 acre landing field, which is about one mile from Manhattan and lies in the Blue valley east of the Country club golf links, will be put in shape immediately. The club is largely made up of students who are ex-service men.

Marshall P. Wilder, Paul Fetzer, and Dr. J. R. Macarthur spent Wednesday evening in Topeka attending the Galli Curci concert.

Sorority Applies Modern Business Methods at Night

One of the prominent sororities is said to have come to the conclusion that modern business methods may be applied successfully to the management of its social affairs.

They have purchased a time clock to be installed in the near future. Each sister will check in on her own card when she comes in at night. This will save the house matron the necessity of checking up on each girl when she arrives.

In addition it will take away the opportunity heretofore offered for one sister answering for another sister who at that time may be out enjoying the exhilarating effect of the beautiful spring moonbeams.

The extended popularity of this arrangement among the other sororities is doubtful but among house mothers it will meet with instant approval.

GET EDITOR AND MANAGER MAY 3

APPLICATIONS MUST BE IN BY APRIL 24

Next Year's Staff to be Elected—Applicants Should Submit Recommendations

The election of the business manager and editor of the Kansas State Collegian for next year will be held May 3. Applications for either position must be in the hands of the Collegian board in care of Professor Crawford, by April 24.

Picked By Board

The editor and business manager are elected by the Collegian board, which is composed of four members elected by the Collegian subscribers, and Prof. N. A. Crawford of the industrial journalism department. Both editor and business manager serve for one year. The business manager is required to furnish a $1,000 bond.

Send Recommendations

Applications for either position should be accompanied by recommendations, examples of the work of the applicant, or both. It is hoped by the Collegian board that applications will be made by students of many divisions in order that the Collegian may be representative of the whole college.

LEGION MEN TO HAVE BIG TIME

MEET IN COMMUNITY HOUSE ON APRIL 19

Have Boxing Matches, Battle Royal, and Clog Dance—Bouts by College Men

Six hundred members of the American Legion, among them about 350 college men, will meet at the community house on Monday evening, April 19, for a grand stag party.

The fest is the culmination of a big contest for members which the Pearce-Keller post has been waging. The losing team under the leadership of Professor Seaton will furnish the feed for the winning team under the leadership of Arthur Brewer. The score at the close of the contest stood with the winning team having added 167 new members and the losing team 164.

Special attractions for the evening are boxing matches, battle royal, and a clog dance. One of the bouts will be staged by two of the fastest men from Camp Funston and another by the two college champions. In addition to all of this there will be plenty of eats, smokes, and an orchestra to furnish the music.

Mitchell-Cloud Club Organized

Tuesday evening the students from Cloud and Mitchell counties met and organized a joint county club, in order to prepare plans for the coming "1,200 Freshies" campaign. This loyal group has pledged to do more than its duty. The home town publications are to publish Aggie propaganda sent in by the club. The officers elected are: S. D. Capper, president; E. J. Bishop, vice president; Anna L. Best, treasurer; Margaret Reich, secretary; Perry Betz, propagandist. The club will go on a hike on the afternoon of Friday, April 23.

"DADDIES" IS BIG FEATURE OF FESTIVAL

STORY OF MAN WHO WAS BACHELOR FOR 15 YEARS

BETTY LYMAN IS THE LEAD

Louis Bryan Takes Leading Role for Men—Produced under the Direction of Prof. J. G. Emerson

Fifteen years of perfect peace in a bachelor's club and then the bothersome interruption of a woman and the appearance of a number of war orphans are a few of the things which go to make the story of "Daddies" which will be played during the Spring Festival week by students of the college, under the direction of Prof. J. G. Emerson.

Give The Characters

Miss Betty Lyman will play the leading woman's role when she appears as Ruth Atkins, who in the story of the play is an English orphan.

Louis J. Bryan will play Robert Audrey, the leading man's role.

Lloyd Hamilton will play the part of James Crockett, a millionaire. F. H. Stimson will be Henry Allen, the Detroit magnate, and William Rivers will be played by Harold Bachellor. Vorin E. Whan will play the part of Nicholson Walters and E. E. Huff will be Parker, the butler in the play.

Supporting in the women's roles will be Miss Helen Miller who will take the part of Mrs. Audrey, who is the trouble maker in the peaceful atmoshpere of the bachelor's club. Miss Queenie Hart will play Bobette Audrey and Miss Irene Shoemaker will be the French widow, Madame Levigne. Two little girls, Mary Burr and Mary Elizabeth Harrison, have been chosen for the parts of Lorry and Alice, respectfully.

Is Unusual Play

Unusual in every detail, the play "Daddies" will be one of the most delightful and interesting features of the spring festival. Centering around the more or less exclusive life of an aristocratic bachelor's club who do not find life especially interesting until the war comes and with it the war orphans the story works out a set of plots which culminate quite happily without savoring of the proverbial "lived happy ever after" style.

Miss Ada Robertson and her mother, Mrs. George Robertson of Washington, went to Topeka Wednesday to attend the Galli Curci recital. From there Miss Robertson went to Kansas City for the inspection trip made by the foods classes.

FORMER AGGIE BOOSTER BACK

M. S. COLLINS WILL DEVOTE TIME TO STUDENTS

Was Chaplain in Army—Y. M. C. A. Secretary Here When Building Was Started

M. S. Collins is back. He is back from France. He is back in Manhattan, and back to the college.

Myron S. Collins was president of the Y. M. C. A. here back in the days when the Y. M. building was being completed, and when the "Y" was at its very best. The world war called him, and he entered the service as chaplain. And this army chaplain did his work so well "over there" that he was cited for his work of real service to his fellow men, "for gallantry under fire during the Argonne battle from September 26 to October 1, 1918, where he worked without rest and without fear while under the most severe artillery, machine gun, and rifle fire," and was recommended for promotion. He comes back as associate pastor of the Methodist church at Manhattan. His work will be primarily with the students, and he is one of the type that will gladly work for the interests of every student in the college, as well as for every man of the town. He is a man of wide experience, a man of vision, splendidly trained for his new position.

The whole community is fortunate to have Mrs. Collins back. Mrs. Collins will be remembered as Miss Helen Huse, of the class of 1908, and later on the faculty of the division of home economics here. Her efficient work in charge of the social life of the young people was one of the marked features of that period of the church's history.

LAST CONCERT GIVEN TONIGHT

JIMMIE FALLIS TO GIVE SAXOPHONE SOLO

Professor Westbrook to Give Special Vocal Solo—Concert Directed by Professor Wheeler

The last of the series of three college band concerts will be given at the college auditorium this evening. The concert will be given at 8 o'clock.

Two special numbers, a vocal solo by Prof. A. E. Westbrook and a saxophone solo by Mr. J. P. Fallis will be special features of the concert.

The band concerts which have been given this year, under the direction of Professor Harold Wheeler, have proven among the most interesting entertainments of the year.

A HOME RUN WINS THE GAME IN TENTH

AGNEW AND GUILFOYLE STARRED AGAINST RILEY

Aggie Pitcher Won Game for Wildcats—Guilfoyle and Dickerson Only Ones to Hit Twice

It's quite a pleasant sensation for a pitcher to knock a home run in the tenth inning and win a baseball game after his team mates had lost it for him several times. That was just what "Lefty" Agnew did Wednesday in the postponed game between the Aggies and Fort Riley, the Aggies finally winning, 5 to 4.

The home heroes should have won the games several times. On three different occasions they had two or three men on bases but failed to hit at the right moment.

Guilfoyle Showed Up

Guilfoyle, who caught, showed excellent headwork all during the game and surprised the coaches with his ability to hit. Guilfoyle and Dickerson were the only two men who were able to secure more than one hit from the Riley pitcher.

Won in Tenth

After passing up many good chances to close the encounter the Aggies came into the last of the ninth inning needing two to tie and three to win. They had a little luck then and got around twice but the winning run was not forthcoming. So the extra session was begun. Agnew, who was substituted for Otto in the sixth on the mound, held the soldiers in the tenth, and then batting first up for the locals in the tenth, sent a liner towards the engineering building which was good for four bases, thus ending the game.

The score:

WILL STAGE FIRST HOME VALLEY GAME

MEET DRAKE UNIVERSITY TEAM THIS WEEK END

AGGIES HAVE REAL STARS

Quinlan Showing up Well at Short—Snapp and E. Cowell Are Again Again Leading the Batting Artists for Aggies

The first Missouri Valley conference game to be played on the local diamond is scheduled for Friday and Saturday. The Wildcat's opponents will be Drake university. The visitors will play a two-game series with Haskell before tackling the Aggies. These games are the first on the Drake schedule so no dope is available.

Have Real Stars

The Aggies showed up well on their trip thru Oklahoma, winning all three of the games played by a safe margin. Coach Clevenger discovered some real stars among the aggregation. Quinlan at short is showing up better in every game and is one of the sensations of the season.

Mershon played a good game on the Oklahoma trip and did good work with the bat in two of the games. Snapp and E. Cowell last year's bat artists, have started in again to lead in this stage of the game. Both of these men did good work in the field too.

Dickerson played a good game at first. Guilfoyle and Burton alternated at catching. Captain Magrath did his usual stellar work on the mound. Agnew, a new pitcher in Aggie circles, showed up well also.

Fight the Frosh

Captain Terrill, freshman coach, allowd his proteges to cross bats with the Varsity Tuesday evening. The freshman have some excellent material. The Varsity men will get some real practice in their daily tangles from now on.

COMPANY C IS TO HAVE HIKE

CAMP TO BE HELD FOUR MILES WEST OF COLLEGE

First Military Hike in Five Years—Truck Will Carry Out Camp Equipment

Company C of the R. O. T. C. which is in charge of A. C. Ramsey is going out on a week end hike. They will start tomorrow at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The truck of the military department will be used to carry out a part of the camp equipment.

Camp will be held four miles west of the college, on Wildcat. Captain Ramsey says that the hike is going to be a military hike; but it will not be so military as to spoil the fun. This is the first military hike held here in the last five years.

M. S. Winter will spend the remainder of the week at his home in LeCompton.

Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis and Dr. J. R. Macarthur were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Tuesday evening.

Gobs of Presidential Candidates

There is a feeling among all classes that the result of the Republican national convention will be the result of the final election. For this reason greater efforts are being put forth for the nomination on that ticket than is customary.

Wood at present is the most prominent in this section of the country. He is believed to have inherited Theodore Roosevelt's coat as a great organizer. He is strongly in favor of compulsory military training. Roosevelt raised him to his present prominence. He is quite unpopular with the West Point element because it is said he was jumped over the heads of seven army officers and made a general, just because of favoritism.

Lowden of Illinois, is probably the best governor Illinois ever had. The chief objection to him is that his father-in-law is the great Pullman of the Pullman car trust and in this way it is thought he might be too closely associated with big corporations.

Johnson, senator from California, belongs to the progressive wing of the Republican party. He is more of a radical on Roosevelt ideals than Roosevelt himself. It is supposed his great issue would be the question of Chinese and Japanese exclusion.

Harding, senator from Ohio, belongs to the stand-pat element of the Republican party. He is thought to be a very conservative and fair minded man.

Cooledge, governor of Massachusetts, came into prominence during the Boston police strike. He was reelected governor on that issue with the largest majority ever secured in that state. He is the only candidate so far who is a graduate of an agricultural college.

Allen, governor of Kansas, received considerable prominence throughout the country in his handling of the coal strike here.

Taft has received some encouragement. He is a man who was big enough to put country above party in the world war.

Hoover was a Republican but he supported Wilson in both elections. Now he has thrown his hat into the Republican ring. Undoubtedly he will swing a large independent following. He was successful in accomplishing one of the greatest achievements ever attempted in feeding the whole world at the time he did.

In the Democratic party there is less competition so far. Wilson might accept a third term but the American people have not yet been willing to give a third term to any one. It is impossible to get an unbiased opinion on the good or bad qualities of this man: In perhaps 25 years we will know more of what his character or ability really is.

McAdoo was successful in handling big undertakings which other contractors had given up such as the McAdoo tunnel under the East river. He is father of the reserve banking system which has brought the country through the struggle of the last four years without a panic. He has received the blame for the failure of the government operation of the railroads and therefore has lost much of his popularity.

Owen of Oklahoma, is part Indian. He has received credit for much ability and honesty while in the United States senate. He probably will not develop much strength.

Champ Clark of Missouri, who was a candidate for nomination four years ago was sidetracked because of his anti-prohibition sentiment. His name is being mentioned by some.

Palmer, now attorney general, is Quaker by birth. Since his failure to reduce the high cost of living his popularity does not seem to be holding out.

Bryan's career is too well known to need discussion. He is father of the League of Nations, and probably more of the American voters believe in his honesty than that of any other man. Even his bitterest enemies will admit that he is honest. Though he could not get the nomination there is a wide spread feeling that whoever does get it will have to get it with Bryan's support.

The cry of the American people is for a business president. General opinion now is that the three who answer this requirement are Hoover, McAdoo, and Lowden.

Miss Alice Rice and Miss Marguerite Bondurant spent Wednesday in Topeka attending the recital of Galli Curci.

Miss Isabell Collins of Belleville, spent last week end visiting Miss Enola Miller at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Flo Brown will spend the week end at her home in Salina.

Miss Sallie Toler left today for her home in Anthony. She was accompanied home by Miss Irene Shoemaker.

Miss Margaret Reich was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Wednesday evening.

LISTEN! Did You Ever Get a Nice, Good, Snappy Looking Hair Cut?

If you did you sure felt proud of it, and also the barber who cut it. And when you needed another one of those hair cuts you took the extra trouble to wait on this same particular barber and then to your disappointment and horror "it was not the same good, snappy looking hair cut as before."

Why? We will tell you confidentially. Just ask one of the barbers at

INTER-FRATERNITY BASEBALL STARTED

SIG ALPHS AND PI KAPS WIN FIRST GAMES

Long List of 36 Games to be Played by Various Fraternity Teams

Interfraternity baseball started Tuesday evening when the Sig Alphs defeated the Acacias 12 to 1. At the same time the Pi Kaps took a game from the Sigma Phi Eps by a score of 9 to 2.

The contestants are fraternities that are in the pan hellenic. A list of 36 games for the fraternities is to be played.

The first games were postponed on account of the recent snow and so will probably be played some mid-week afternoon.

Mrs. David Bice went to Topeka Wednesday evening to attend the Galli Curci recital.

Miss Ruth Robison left Thursday evening for Wichita, where she will spend several days visiting her parents.

Harold T. McKeever spent the week end at his home in Circleville.

Charles St. John is spending the week with his parents in Caney.

John Greene, school of agriculture student, was called to his home in Limon, Col., Friday because of the illness of his father.

Paul Quick spent the week end at his home in Missouri.

Guy Knisely is back in school after a week's absence, spent at his home in eastern Kansas.

G. D. Meek spent the week end at his home in Topeka.

J. S. Strunk, a student of K. S. A. C. spent the week end with relatives and friends at Emporia.

Miss Hazel Olsen is spending the week end at her home in Topeka. While there she expects to attend the Galli Curci recital.

A. D. Conrow returned Monday from Independence where he has been making tests of brick and cement.

V. M., Rucker returned Monday from Hays, where he attended the annual roundup.

R. M. Lilley, freshman in electrical engineering, is ill with scarlet fever.

E. G. Betts is out of school this week because of illness.

Mrs. John Bussey is the guest of her daughter, Miss Josephine Bussey, this week.

Miss Mona Vogelman spent the week end at her home in Clay Center.

L. D. Johnson and J. B. Rogers of Nebraska university, T. R. Ware and W. C. Jones of Washburn, and B. Colley and J. H. Simons of K. U. were guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house last week end.

G. S. Douglass of Marysville was a week end visitor at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

2 Days Com. MONDAY

The most astounding drama ever conceived by the mind of man—in which, to save the woman he loves from a bandit of the sky, Locklear changes planes a mile in the air, climbs a frail rope ladder and forces the pirate to surrender — all the time being not over fifty feet from you, who are in another aeroplane! If you miss this picture you'll miss the greatest thing that moving pictures have ever produced. Now playing.

Glimpses Into College Athletics

K. S. A. C. will step ahead of all other schools in the Missouri Valley if the three men, Wilder, Reyborn, and Watson, are successful in their Olympia tryouts. Missouri will have two men try, Drake one man, Grinnell one, and K. U. one.

The Aggie nine played three games in baseball before her opponents could socre. Then the Sooners had only one man who was able to circle the diamond.

The Missouri Tiger's big track star this year is Scholz, who is now co-holder of three world's records. He has made the 70 yard dash in 7 1-5 seconds, the 50 in 5 1-5 seconds, and the 75 yard dash in 7 3-5 seconds. He weighs only 138 pounds.—Collegiate World.

In baseball, the K. U. men will play all the Valley teams with the exception of Washington and Grinnell. K. U. is hopeful this year.

Most of the colleges in the country report a larger number of men trying out for baseball this spring than ever before. Much promising talent has been discovered, too.—Collegiate World.

Eleven Harvard hockey letters will go to the members of the Crimson septet which handed Yale the second defeat in this series between the two rivals. Nine of the players won their H against the Blue in the first contest, which Harvard won.

Press notices are already giving the Aggie baseball team favorable write-ups. Guilfoyle, Aggie catcher who has not been here for two years, is again showing up in his old form, the papers state. The Wildcats are after the title.

The football rules committee finished its meeting without adopting any radical changes and only a few minor changes.

One feature was the abolition of the puntout following a touchdown. Under the new rule after a touchdown is made, regardless of where it is made on the goal line, the ball shall be brought out and an attempt at goal kicked from any point in front of the goal posts that the kicker may select.

The objection to a goal kicked from a scrimmage formation after a touchdown was that the defending side would have eleven men on the line of scrimmage against a lesser number on the attacking side.

After discussing the proposition to substitute 40 plays instead of a time limit for a quarter or period, it was thought the change would be too radical. It was suggested that some of the larger college teams should adopt this method of play during one or more early season games next fall.

K.S.A.C. IS WIDENING IN TEACHING RANGE

Five College Men Give Lecture Course to Soldiers at the Camp

In an effort to fit the peace-time soldier for his duties as a citizen, the Kansas State Agricultural college, cooperating with the Camp Funston officials is giving a course in citizenship to the men in the camp.

This course consists of seven lectures by men who are authorities on legal and political questions, and on questions on citizenship.

Although attendance at these lectures is compulsory, the men take a great interest in the lectures, and show a big reaction from the pre-war attitude.

The speakers at these lectures are: Prof. I. V. Iles, Prof. J. W. Searson, Dean H. L. Kent, Dean F. D. Farrell, and Prof. J. E. Kammeyer, of the college; George Clammer of Manhattan, and Chaplain L. A. Folley, caplain of the 79th field artillery.

Miss Mary Collins of Belleville, was a guest at the Chi Omega house last Tuesday.

Delta Zeta held formal initiation services Wednesday evening for Miss Ila Knight of Jamestown.

SPRING WITH HER SPIRITS DANCE MAY 8

NEW PLAN IS WORKED OUT FOR THIS YEAR'S MAY FETE

MISS BOND WILL HAVE CHARGE

Every Girl Enroled in Physical Training to Have a Part—Costumes Being Made in Clothing Classes

On the evening before May 8, every Aggie student will tell his landlady to call him early, for May 8 has been chosen as the date when Pan, god of the woods, of the fields, of the flocks, of the shepherds, of dancing, and, indeed of all nature is to call forth the Spring, and all that Spring brings with her. In plain English the annual May fete is to be held May 8.

The general plan of the May fete this year is as follows: Pan is dancing with the tree spirits when Spring comes and bids Pan and his spirits stop. Then come the wind and the rain and the sunshine who summon the first flowers, who peep forth in their gay colored robes and dance. Then follow the late flowers, wilful and fanciful.

When Spring has come, Pan celebrates and calls forth the spirits of Dancing, Music, and Poetry who, with their followers, compete for the eternal approval of mankind. There is then the big event of the fete, the crowning of the May Queen, Miss Mildred Arends.

Every college girl who is enroled in physical training will have a part in the May fete, which is being directed by Miss Edith Bond of the women's physical training department. The proceeds of the fete are divided among the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A. and the Athletic association. There will be a special sale of tickets for the May fete.

The costumes, which are being made by the clothing classes, under the direction of Miss Hunt are to be more beautiful this year than ever before, according to Miss Bond.

BAND CONCERT WELL ATTENDED

SAXOPHONE SOLO PROVES MOST POPULAR NUMBER

Success of Concert Series Proven by Large Attendance—Professor Westbrook Gives Vocal Solo

The success of the series of band concerts which has been given this year by the college band, under the direction of Professor Harold Wheeler was proven Friday night, when the third and last concert of the season was attended by the largest crowd which has heard any of the year's band concerts.

The program of the evening was augmented by two encores, one by Prof. A. E. Westbrook, who responded to an encore after his vocal solo, and one by the band who played Sousa's stirring "Stars and Stripes Forever" at the close of the program.

The saxophone solo, "Lanette Waltz," which was given by Mr. J. P. Fallis, accompanied by the band, proved perhaps the most popular number of the evening.

INTER-FRATERNITY GAMES ARE NOW IN PROGRESS

ALPHA PSIS DEFEAT KAPPA SIGS WITH SCORE OF 4-3

Sig Alphs Win from Sig Eps—Acacias Defeat Pi Kaps by Large Score

The inter-fraternity baseball games are being run off as rapidly as possible now that the weather is good. Wednesday evening the Alpha Psis defeated the Kappa Sigs 4 to 3. Batteries for the winning team were Bates and White and for the Kappa Sigs, Willis and Berry.

Thursday evening the Sig Alphs took the game from the Sig Eps with a score of 5 to 2. Batteries for the Sig Alphs were Snapp and Burton, for the Sig Eps, Fields and Oliver.

The Acacias also defeated the Pi Kaps, 13 to 7. The Acacia batteries were Allen, Hedrick and Axline. For the Pi Kaps, Moore and Evans; Corby and Knapp.

Prof. W. H. Andrews of the department of education went to Abilene Friday afternoon on business.

K FRATERNITY GETTING ACTIVE

ELECT OFFICERS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Will Initiate 11 Men Thursday Evening—Have 27 Members Now

The K fraternity, honorary fraternity for all men who have won their K's for athletic achievement, is becoming more active in school affairs and will soon hold the place in the college which it held before the war.

At the meeting of the fraternity Thursday night, officers for the ensuing year were elected. E. D. McCollum was elected president; Jack Evans was elected vice president; Merton Otto secretary-treasurer.

At present there are 27 members of the K fraternity and initiation for 11 men who have recently won their K's in athletics will be held on Thursday, April 29. Those who will be initiated are: R. E. Cleland, A. W. Quinlan, Claud Hutto, L. A. Guilfoyle, Warren Cowell, R. D. Hahn, H. L. Bunger, Fred Williams, Wright Turner, William Knostman, and W. E. Dickerson.

Arrangements are being made to fix up a room in the gymnasium for the use of the fraternity. It is hoped that the presentation of K's to men who have won them will be made as a formal ceremony in chapel instead of the hap-hazard way in which it has been done in the past.

CO-EDS TO HOLD VERBAL BATTLE

CAROLINE SLOOP AND OPAL SEEBER TO UPHOLD AFFIRMATIVE

Florence Mather and Dorothy Mosely will Debate Negative Side at Pittsburg Normal

Co-eds from K. S. A. C. and Southwestern college at Winfield will have their annual battle in the recreation hall tonight at 8 p. m. This is the scene of the annual girls' pentangular debate. The question to be debated is "Resolved, That the United States Should Establish a Protectorate Over Mexico."

Miss Caroline Sloop and Miss Opal Seeber will uphold the affirmative here, while Miss Florence Mather and Miss Dorothy Mosely will debate the negative side of the question with Pittsburg Normal, at Pittsburg.

This is the last debate for K. S. A. C. this season. The girls on the team have been working hard and are prepared to put on a good debate. Late developments in the Mexican question make this a very live issue, and the question whether the United States should establish a protectorate over our southern neighbor, is one that will furnish material for a very interesting debate.

No admission charges are to be made to the debate tonight and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Week End Guests

The following girls were week end guests at the Pi Beta Phi house: Miss Marion Brecht, of Oklahoma City, Miss Helen Blank of Emporia, Miss Wilmia Roark of Junction City, Mrs. Irene Tolliver McMillian of Vancouver, Canada, Miss Ann Wilson and Miss Lois Hanna of Towanda, Miss Beulah Helstrom of McPherson, Miss Margaret Wallace and Miss Julia Caton of Winfield, Miss Corrinne Smith, Miss Lucile Heim, Miss Katherine Cole, Miss Esther Turner and Miss Alice Updegraff of Topeka, Miss Francis Price of Ashland, and Miss Mildred Troutfetter, of Colby, Miss Freda Wishrop of Paola, Miss Dorothy Churchward and Miss Rachel Seifkin of Wichita, Miss Bernice Hart of Herington, Miss Mary Kirtland, Miss Margaret Lynch of Salina, and Miss Elizabeth Adams of Maple Hill. The girls came to attend the Pi Beta Phi spring party given Friday evening.

Spring Styles Are Difficult to Manage in a Kansas Gale

Lady Fashion never takes the winds of Kansas into consideration when she models woman's apparel, for one need only pass between the library and main hall to see for himself that the co-ed's skirt and hat are unmanageable on a windy day.

An unusual expanse of silk stocking, no matter what the form, is sure to attract attention momentarily from the best of mortals, and who can afford to have his eye sight damaged by flying sand and wheat fields just because the wind plays havoc with the ever shortening skirt. In the days of the old time religion when they went to the creek to be baptized the women put lead in the hem of the skirt to keep the preacher's feet from becoming entangled. Why not employ the same method in defiance of Kansas wind?

Then there is the hat. It is any size or shape, from the Merry Widow to the variety that ceases to be a utility, to become merely a mark of distinction. The snug little bonnet that fits close to the head, with the narrow brim, is to be admired both for its appearance and convenience.

The hat with the broad wavy brim may be all right some times; but in a porch swing or a thirty mile gale it ceases to be a convenience to become a bother.

STUDENTS HOLD MASS MEETING

WILL DISCUSS FINANCIAL BUDGET FOR STUDENTS' NEEDS

To Meet Friday at 12:45 O'clock in Recreational Center—Every Student Should Be There with Suggestions

Students of the college will have a chance to shape the financial budget for student needs next Friday noon, if they will attend a mass meeting of students which is to be held in the recreational center at 12:45 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss ways and means of creating a student fund through which may be apportioned the respective amounts of money which are called for at various times during the year.

The meeting will be conducted under the direction of the directing board of the Student Self Government association and every college student will have a chance to express his opinion.

As a matter of personal responsibility in the carrying on of college affairs it is the duty of every student to be there, ready with ideas and suggestions that can be used in whole or in part in the working out of a scheme by which this fund can be raised.

Every student has felt the need of a better system of handling the student's financial responsibility, for the conduct of college activities. It is for this reason that the Student Self Government association is taking up this big problem as one of its first undertakings.

FORUM HOLDS INITIATION FOR EIGHTEEN MEMBERS

K Members Are Excused from Active Duty in Society

The Forum recently held initiation services for 18 new members. Prof. J. W. Searson was in charge of the service.

Due to a change in the constitution of the Forum, the K members are excused from active duty in the society, and all those who have made the debating squad are eligible to membership.

Those initiated were: Miss Edith Wheatly, Miss Caroline Sloop, Miss Luella Sherman, Miss Opal Seeber, Miss Eva Platt, Miss Bly Ewalt, J. O. Brown, R. C. Kimball, H. Howe, O. J. Shields, Earnest Hartman, J. H. Moyer, George Schroll, V. V. Cool, W. V. Rolf, Carl Howard, W. C. Wilson, and C. D. Guy.

F. L. Fleming, '14, who is vocational director in the Lawrence schools brought his class to attend the boys' and girls club meetings on Thursday and to visit the college.

Mr. L. B. Jolly '01, arrived Monday for a visit with friends and relatives.

OVERALL CLUB NOW APPEARS AT K. S. A. C.

WANT EVERY AGGIE MAN TO SIGN PETITION

IDEA STARTED IN THE EAST

Purpose of Club Is to Save Price of a Spring Suit—K. U. Has Joined the Group

It is here. The thing you have been reading about in the daily papers for the past two weeks has finally made its appearance at K. S. A. C. The overall club is with us.

By the usual process of westward migration the latest fad made its initial bow to the Aggie students when 49 men students of the college met Saturday in an informal "gab fest" in a drug store and on a street corner and shook hands on the proposition to join the vast overall army that has been sweeping over the country. A petition is being circulated to every Aggie man so that the overall club can be 100 per cent strong.

In Eastern Colleges

The overall club has invaded all the eastern and southern colleges, congress of the United States, large eastern cities, and the Kansas supreme court. Students at Washington university have announced that they will start wearing overalls. K. U. has joined the congregation.

The purpose of the club is to save the price of a spring suit but the present price of overalls and the prospects of inflation of prices due to the great demand for the blue uniforms will probably put them beyond the reach of all of the common people unless they all buy early and thus avoid the rush.

HAVE NOVELTY DANCE APRIL 24

PERPETUAL MOTION MACHINE ONE FEATURE

Engineers Give Entertainment and All Students Are Invited

Final arrangements have been made to hold the annual engineers' hop next Saturday night in Nichols gymnasium. Some of the most unique features ever seen at a college are scheduled.

Something entirely new in music has been obtained. Instead of the usual decorations, engineering novelties, electrical displays, lighting effects, perpetual motion machines, and miniature engineering structures will give the needed charm to the dance.

The dance is an all college affair and the students are welcome irrespective of their division. The object of the dance is to promote fellowship among the various divisions and to familiarize those outside the engineering division with some of the wonders and possibilities of modern engineering talent and appliances.

CORNHUSKERS WILL BE IN THE CONFERENCE

REINSTATED BY VALLEY ATHLETIC GROUP

Necessitates the Rearrangement of Football Schedule Next Season

Kansas City, April 17.—The University of Nebraska was readmitted to the Missouri Valley Athletic conference by a unanimous vote of the presidents and chancellors of the institutions comprising the conference, at a meeting here today.

The request for reinstatement came from authorities of the Nebraska institution. Nebraska withdrew from the conference in 1919 because of a desire to play in Omaha. Conference rules provide for athletic contests only in a city of the contesting institutions. The rule adopted last Decembr forbidding institutions of the conference to engage in athletic contests with the University of Nebraska also was revoked at today's meeting.

Readmission of Nebraska to the conference, officials, explained, necessitated the rearrangement of the football schedule to provide games for Nebraska with conference teams.

Mrs. Bertha Evans Jolly, wife of L. B. Jolly, '01, of Chicago, and her sister, Mrs. Henrietta Wakefield, both former students of the college, were in Manhattan last week to attend the funeral of their father, Mr. George W. Evans. Mr. Evans died in Chicago April 10. Dr. J. W. Evans, '94, of Pocatello, Ida., is a son of Mr. Evans.

DEBATE TRYOUTS ARE SCHEDULED

ANY COLLEGE STUDENT MAY TRY FOR DEBATE SQUADS

Between 25 and 50 Men and Women to be Chosen—Two Hours Credit Given

Students who are ambitious to become skilled in the art of debate, will be given an opportunity to display their ability to argue, on May 17 and 18. These are the dates set for the regular spring tryout for debaters.

This tryout is open to any regularly entered college student and every student who is interested in debate or has had any previous training, is urged to come out. From 25 to 50 men and women are selected from these tryouts every year to work for the intercollegiate debate. Two hours credit is given all students who make the tryout and work on the debate squad through one semester, regardless of whether the student makes one of the intercollegiate teams, or not.

The question to be used in this tryout is, "Resolved, That the Kansas Industrial Court Law Should Be Repealed." Every student desiring to take part in the tryout should prepare a five minute speech on any issue of the question, either affirmative or negative. He should report to Professor Burns in A-66, for an appointment, as to the exact time to appear for the tryout.

It is hoped that a large number of students will take advantage of this opportunity to try out, as a lot of new debaters will be needed for next year's debate team.

TENNIS SEASON IS NOW OPEN

ABOUT FIFTY GIRLS HAVE SIGNED UP FOR GAMES

Games to Consist of Boys' and Girls' Singles and Doubles—Mixed Doubles Also

Games in the college tennis tournament will commence soon, according to Z. G. Clevenger, head of the department of athletics.

The boys who wish to play in the games should sign up in the athletic office. The girls should sign the tennis card on the bulletin board in the women's gymansium.

The games will consist of boys' and girls' singles, doubles, and mixed doubles. About fifty girls have already registered for the tournament.

Grace Gish will have charge of the arrangements for the girls' games.

UPPERCLASSMEN MAY HAVE SWIMMING LESSONS THIS TERM

Men Not Enroled in Swimming Classes May Use Pool at Specified Hours

The director of the physical training department has promised to give swimming instructions to any of the upperclass men who desire lessons. He will add any of these men to his classes at any time.

The hours which are open for men not enrolled in the classes are the second and third, sixth, and seventh hours on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

T. T. Swenson, L. B. Bate, and F. R. Beaudette returned Sunday from Lincoln, Nebr., where they attended the Phi Delta Theta province convention.

AGGIE NINE ON SECOND FOUR GAME SERIES

PLAY DOUBLE HEADER AT ST. LOUIS AND COLUMBIA

SNAPP LEADS IN BATTLE

Magrath Expected to Head All-Valley Pitchers — Agnew Has Reputation of Home Run King—Team's Batting Average .286

The Aggie baseball nine started on the second trip today. They will play two games with Missouri at Columbia, and two with Washington at St. Louis.

Missouri has played only one game so far this season and their opponents were not strong enough to really test the Tigers' baseball ability.

Drake beat Washington in a rather close game at the opening of the season.

Infield Does Good Work

The men making the trip are Agnew, Snapp, Dickerson, Burton, E. Cowell, Otto, Quinlan, Guilfoyle, Mershon, Magrath, Swingle, W. Cowell, and probably Bruce or Hinds.

Coach Clevenger is very much pleased with the work of the infield. Merschon has been showing up better every game and has an unerring aim to first base. Quinlan is a strong contender for an all valley position judging from his work so far.

May Lead Valley Pitchers

Captain Magrath is playing the same consistent game on the mound, that he has always played. Aggie fans are expecting him to head the all-valley pitchers. Otto has shown considerable improvement and has held his opponents to a few hits.

Agnew not only has established a reputation as a pitcher but he has established a reputation as a home run king, as well. Agnew has two home runs to his credit.

Snapp Leads Hitting

The team's batting average is .286. Aggie batting averages look good so far and if the team can only keep up the good work K. S. A. C. will be assured of a valley championship. Snapp leads the regulars, but Agnew's average is even better:

Agnew, .400; Snapp, .346; Dickerson, .334; Burton, .333; E. Cowell, .324; Otto, .300; Quinlan, .290; Guilfoyle, .278; Merschon, .259; Magrath, .200; Swingle, .182; W. Cowell, .179.

ARCHITECTS TO HAVE A HIKE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Man Without a Date Will Be Out of Luck

The architects will abandon their slide rules and their drawing pens long enough to go on a hike Friday night. The architects wish it distinctly understood that it is not a stag affair. The man who does not have a date will simply be out of luck.

The architects club has been very active this year having had one dance and a hike, and in addition they are planning for another architects' dance in the near future.

Maurice Laine and R. A. Graves spent the week end at their homes in Herington and Abilene.

WHERE DO YOU STAND?

Do you suspect that you will be much different after you leave college than you are while here? Will your interest in public affairs be any more pronounced after graduation than now? Is there any likelihood that you will spontaneously become concerned in citizenship and good government? Has your experience taught you to avoid in order that you may learn?

You are hearing much today of the student self-governing association. You are aware that your class has a chosen representative. You perhaps know that the students of K. S. A. C. are actually solving some of the big problems of the institution.

It is not enough that we have an executive council and various committees to handle the different phases of student government? Every student in school should also realize his or her responsibility in the matter. The great need of any self governing body is a realization that upon each student rests a certain fraction of the responsibility of the whole body.

You are vitally interested in the policies of K. S. A. C. The fact that you are attending this school is conclusive evidence on that point. Your future will be measured in a large degree by the standards which you have helped to set up in this school. If your college is to be a leader in progressive education, if it is to continue its recognition of broad and liberalized thinking, if it is to occupy the place that you would have it occupy, then it is your duty to support it today, tomorrow, and always.

WHAT THE AGS DO

Students in the agricultural division of K. S. A. C. are taking a big part in the college's activities. Of the 21 athletes mentioned in the football edition of the Collegian, 12 were ags, six were vets, two were engineers, and one was general science.

In basketball, the entire quintet was composed of ag students. In baseball eight ag men are showing up on the diamond. Of the five men who engaged in oratory three are general science men and two are ags.

It will also be noticed that of the 23 men represented on debate squads this year 14 are agricultural students. This makes only a brief survey of what the agriculturists of K. S. A. C. are doing in the college activities.

There are three clubs in the division that are boosting the college. They all work together when it is necessary. Last semester a livestock juding team was sent to Kansas City, Chicago, and Denver. The Block and Bridle held the "Little International" to support the team.

The Dairy club sent a similar team to Waterloo, Iowa. The Klod and Kernel club is doing its best now to get grain judging on a sound basis. The second grain judging contest was successfully held this year and there is a possibility that a team will be sent to the International Livestock show at Chicago next year. In fact, the team will be sent if grain judging is on the program.

A stock judging contest is to be held the last of this month and over $200 in prizes will be given.

And so it can easily be seen from the many articles the Collegian has published that K. S. A. C. is not all engineering, not all veterinary, not all domestic science, general science, or agricultural. This college is an institution from which well educated men are graduated each year. The school is growing and will continue to grow.

The campaign for 1,200 freshmen next year is bound to be a success.

START BOOSTING NOW

At the Booster chapel held recently Aggie students were urged to do everything in their power to make the incoming freshman class the largest in the history of the college.

Already an opportunity has come to interest students in the college. This opportunity is Festival Week. Aggie students should not be content to invite only their relatives to Festival Week, they should see to it that any of their friends, who are possible K. S. A. C. students, receive invitations. The state high school track meet is held during Festival Week, and this offers additional incentive for high school students to attend the week.

The Festival Week management in anticipation of the coming high school visitors has arranged a large number of contests in such subjects as music, extemporaneous speaking, home economics and drawing, in which high school students may compete.

Don't put it off. Write that high school friend today!

FACULTY MEMBER TO THE FORT HAYS STATION

KENT IS APPOINTED, PRESIDENT ANNOUNCES

Has Taught Agriculture and Other Subjects in Many Types of Schools

A native Kansan, brought up on a Kansas farm and educated in Kansas schools and colleges, is the new head of the Fort Hays Experiment station, branch of the Kansas State Agricultural college. Harry L. Kent, now of the college faculty, has been appointed to the place, President W. M. Jardine announced the latter part of the week.

In addition to years of practical experience in farming, Mr. Kent is a graduate of the Kansas State Normal school and of the Kansas State Agricultural college. He has taught agriculture and other subjects in many types of schools, and for a number of years has been principal of the school of agriculture at the college. His success in education caused him to be named state director for vocational education in Kansas under the Smith-Hughes act. He is especially interested in farming and other problems of western Kansas.

Alva Morris, Federal Board of Education student has obtained leave of absence for a year to take over the management of the Wreathe farm which is situated two miles west of Manhattan. Mr. Morris took special work in agriculture the past year.

School of agriculture commencement exercises will be held on Friday evening, May 21, in the college auditorium.

O. W. Price counselor for Federal Board of vocational education is now permanently located with offices in the school of agriculture building.

President Jardine gave a commencement address at Lincoln, Nebr., Friday evening on the subject "Opportunities in Agriculture."

H. S. Wise returned Saturday after a week's trip through Kansas and Missouri with the advanced farm management class.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Great Bend, visited their granddaughter, Miss Elfreda Hemker, over the week end.

Miss Ione Leith spent the week end at her home at Irving.

Miss Nina Burgess, Miss Evelyn Glenn, and Miss Dale Backman spent the week end at the Alpha Delta Pi house at Lawrence, and attended the junior prom.

Miss Enola Miller spent the week end in Sedgwick.

Miss Flo Brown spent the week end in Salina.

Miss Sallie Toler and Miss Irene Shoemaker spent the week end in Anthony.

Sunday dinner guests at the Acacia house included Miss Hortense Caton, Miss Julia Caton, Miss Marguerite Miller, and Miss Ruth Eppler.

Miss Blanche Stewart of Sedgwick visited her sister Miss Hazel Stewart over the week end.

Sunday dinner guests at the Chi Omega house included Mrs. Katherine Requa, Mrs. Winifred Miller, Mrs. Georgia Bice, Mrs. Alice Marcotte, Mrs. Ricker, and Mrs. Amelia Rogers.

Mrs. Armantrout of Guthrie, Okla., is visiting her daughter Miss Margaret Armantrout.

Miss Maude Stewart spent the week end in Emporia.

Miss Ruth Goodrum spent the week end in Kansas City.

Joe Miller from the Acacia chapter at K. U. spent the week end at the local chapter house.

Prof. and Mrs. J. W. Searson, Miss Hunt, Miss May Siefkin, and Miss Corinne Richards were Tuesday dinner guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

POMPOUS LIEUT. MEETS WATERLOO SO HIS COMPANY TAKES "FALL OUT"

Someone, who is alleged to know, has told us that every dog has his day. Yes, Napoleon met his Waterloo, and there is a would-be important lieutenant, an officer of the esteemed reserve officers' training corps on the hill, who has met his Waterloo, too.

The aforementioned officer was in love. He was also a drill master. He had a passionate love for grandstanding. Well, it happened that on one fine spring morning the officer was drilling the rookies out on the green in front of the gym. Back and forth across the campus they marched, performing all the maneuvers common to the rookie army at the college.

As the company neared the sidewalk between the auditorium and the domestic science hall the important commander espied his fair one coming. "What a golden opportunity to show her my prowess," thought he as he swelled out his chest and assumed even a more egotistic attitude.

As he neared the sidewalk where his fair one was, he turned about and marched backward so that he might get his company in the best possible position for the glorious exhibition. The imposing lieutenant, now all pompous and important because of the great impression he was making, forgot about those two insignificant boulders near the sidewalk. He backed right into the one which happened to be in his way, stumbled, and went sprawling across the sidewalk just as his fair one crossed his path. She, too, descended gracefully to the sidewalk beside her crestfallen hero.

What did the rookies do? They "fell out" and went home.

Beyond the Hill

Boston—Albert E. Scott, a sixteen year old Boston newsie who left his business to join the 101st regiment when it went to France has been posthumously awarded the distinguished service cross for his valorous service.

Topeka.—The industrial court law is holding its own among the miners according to a statement issued by W. L. Huggins, judge of the court of industrial relations.

Washington.—Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey is advocating the coinage of seven and eight cent pieces. Perhaps he is legislating for street trainmen and cafeteria cashiers.

Chicago.—School children are getting an irregular spring vacation here on account of the engineer's strike.

Salem, Ore.—Henry Cabot Lodge, senator from Massachusetts, evidently has friends in the state, his name having been filed with the secretary of state as a candidate for the Republican nomination for vice president of the United States.

Sanderson, Tex.—Lieut. Don M. Hansell of Springfield, Mo., and Sergt. William T. Maxwell of Dallas, Tex., were killed when their plane crashed near here.

Topeka—Detroit will be the meeting place of the International Kindergarten union next year according to the decision reached at the close of the 1920 meeting which for the past week has been in session in Topeka.

Cincinnati. — Newspaper publication in this city has been limited to eight pages an edition on account of the newsprint shortage.

Brest, France.—Young people of this city have been dancing in old American barracks in which were piled boxes labeled "dynamite," "lyddite," "guncotton," and "detonators," not realizing, apparently, that they were literally dancing on destruction.

New York.—Mrs. Mary A. Bevans of London, said to be the homeliest woman in England has arrived in the states and will travel with the Barnum and Bailey company, as "the homeliest woman in Christendom."

Baltimore.—Theodore N. Vail, head of the American Telephone and Telegraph company died at the Johns Hopkins hospital Friday after a short illness.

Saturday dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Miss Margaret Wallace and Miss Julia Caton of Winfield, Mr. Albert Hoxie of Philadephia, Floyd Peacock of Fairview, William McClure of Republic, Miss Ethel Charles, Miss Faith Martin, and Miss Hortense Caton.

Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Prof. and Mrs. J. E. Ackert, Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Price, and Miss Elizabeth Adams.

Newman Club Dance

The members of the Newman club gave an informal dancing party in the recreational hall Friday evening. The hall was prettily decorated with potted plants. The music for the dancing was furnished by the Gulledge orchestra. Prof. and Mrs. M. F. Ahearn chaperoned the dance.

Alpha Psi Spring Dance

The members of the Alpha Psi fraternity entertained Saturday evening with an informal spring party at Elk's hall. The colors of the fraternity, purple and gold, were used in the decorations, a drop ceiling of purple and gold sreamers being used as a part of the decoration scheme. Maupin's orchestra played for the dance. The guests danced until eleven thirty, when a luncheon was served at the Gillett hotel. The list of chaperones included Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Leinhardt, Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Dykstra, Doctor Frick, and Doctor Muldoon.

Haegert—Blaylock

Miss Frances Haegert and Mr. John Blaylock were married April 14 at the home of the bride's parents near Jewell City. Mrs. Blaylock attended college here last year, being enrolled as a sophomore in home economics.

FARMERS WIN DRAKE GAMES

SCORES WERE 17 TO 7 AND 8 TO 1

First Game Was Track Meet for Aggies—Men Swelled Batting Averages

The Aggies continued their winning streak in 1920 baseball by defeating the Drake university nine 17 to 7 and 8 to 1 last Friday and Saturday on Ahearn Field, these games being Missouri valley conference games.

The first game was a runaway affair for the Farmers. Every regular on the team got at least one hit while most of them got two or three, thus swelling their batting averages. The game was not very interesting as a baseball game but resembled a track meet.

Score by innings.

Drake ..... 000 021 004— 7
Aggies ..... 500 054 12*—17

Home runs, Dickerson, Merschon.

Summary—3bh, Mershon, W. Cowell, Agnew; bb, off Chittenden 2, Hickman1, Magrath 2, Agnew 1; SO, by Magrath 9, Agnew 4. Umpire, Quigley.

Agnew Hits Another Homer

Saturday's game was a much better exhibition of the favorite pastime, and the Aggies had little trouble in winning again. They scored two runs in the opening inning by two singles and a two-base hit, coupled with three Drake errors. In the fourth, "Lefty" Agnew, southpaw twirler, playing right field scored his second home run of the season. Three singles and an error scored three more men this inning. The final scores were made in the seventh by two singles and a triple by Pitcher Otto. Drake's only score came in the sixth inning through Dell's triple, followed by two singles.

Merton Otto pitched the entire game for the Aggies and was going well all the way with the exception of the sixth. He struck out seven opponents, and had excellent support. The fielding of Shortstop Quinlan and the catching of Guilfoyle was especially pleasing.

Score by innings:

Drake ..... 000 001 000—1
Aggies ..... 200 400 20*—8

Summary — Home run, Agnew; 3bh, Otto, Pell; bb, off Drake 4; struck out by Otto 7, by Niggermeyer 2; left on bases, Aggies 6, Drake 4; double plays, Drake 2; Umpire, Quigley.

HOLD SEMI-FINALS IN THE BOXING TOURNAMENT

Hendrix Places for Finals in Welterweight

Two semi-finals in the boxing tournament were held last Thursday. J. J. Hendrix defeated H. E. Ratcliff which places Hendrix in the final match for the welterweight championship 144 pound group. R. C. Hume defeated O. R. Cragun which places Hume in the finals for the championship of the lightweight class, 133 pounds.

Acacia Initiation

The Acacia fraternity held formal initiation services Saturday evening for Glen N. Case of Alta Vista, sophomore in general science, Harold P. Jackson of Pratt, sophomore in mechanical engineering; and Wilbur S. Magill of Topeka, freshman in electrical engineering.

Lone Star Dance

The members of the Lone Star club gave a dance Friday evening in the girls' gymnasium. Music for the dancers was furnished by a three piece orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Frazier chaperoned.

SUMMER SCHOOL WILL BE ATTENDED BY MANY

LETTERS INDICATE ENROLMENT WILL BE HEAVY

Student Paper Will Be Published During Summer—Many Good Features

The summer session of K. S. A. C. for the year 1920 offers an exceptional opportunity for experienced teachers throughout the state to prepare themselves to meet the new demand placed upon the public schools for preparing boys and girls for vocational and social efficiency. Summer school opens May 28 and extends to July 30.

Many applications and letters of inquiry have been received by the college, not only from all sections of the state, but from many surrounding states. Letters of inquiry have recently been circulated to all present students of the college and from the letters of reply it has been found that many of them are planning to take advantage of the summer session either to make up back work or to gain a few semester hours' toward their degree.

The student paper, the Collegian, will issue a summer school weekly which will furnish an ideal laboratory for the students of vocational journalism and other industrial journalism subjects. Vocational journalism is offered for the first time this summer. It will take up the problems of the community newspaper as published by the vocational high school.

A strong course in citizenship is planned for the summer school. It will consist of a series of lectures by state officials of Kansas. All will speak on the general topic of "The Kansas Program for Making Democracy Safe." The program follows:

May 31—The Governor, Governor H. J. Allen.

June 7—The Court of Industrial Relations, Judge W. L. Huggins.

June 15—State Board of Administration—Dr. Wilbur N. Mason.

June 22—State Board of Health—Dr. S. J. Crumbine.

June 30 — State Department of Labor and Industry—Commissioner John H. Crawford.

July 7—State Board of Agriculture—Secretary J. C. Mohler.

July 15—State Schoolbook Commission—T. A. McNeal.

July 26—State Tax Commission—Chairman Samuel T. Howe.

BOYS AND GIRLS ENJOY CLUB WEEK

FIRST CLUB WEEK HELD SEPARATE

Over 150 Delegates Attend Meeting—Young People Given Trips in Recognition of Successful Work

A total of 165 delegates, 20 of whom were club leaders and chaperones, attended the annual Boys' and Girls' Club week which closed Saturday.

"It was the first club week held separate from the annual Farm and Home week," said L. C. Williams, Acting State Club leader, "but it is the most successful one that has been held."

All of the young people were given their trip to Manhattan in recognition of successful work done last summer. The State Banker's association paid the way of 50 of the delegates. The Kansas Milling companies sent 15 of them. Prizes won at the state fairs provided for another 15 and the remainder were sent by county and local organizations.

The Manhattan Chamber of Commerce gave a banquet for the delegates at the Christian church Thursday evening. More than 250 club members and guests were in attendance.

All departments of the college were visited by the delegates. Guides explained the work of the college to the young people, who quite naturally asked a countless number of questions.

The department of home economics gave a picnic lunch for young people Monday evening.

Phi Delta Tau Dance

The members of the Phi Delta Tau fraternity gave an informal dance at their chapter house Saturday evening. Strother's orchestra furnished the music for the dance. Refreshments of punch and wafers were served during the evening. The party was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. H. B. Winchester.

Lawrence Quigley, and Lawrence Raburn were Saturday dinner guests at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

GET SENIORS TO SUPPORT A MEMORIAL

CLASS OF 1919 MADE GENEROUS PLEDGE

NEARLY $6,000 IS PLEDGED

If Class This Year Is to Add to Memorial Fund, Action Must Start, Many Men Are Advocating Now

If the class of 1920 is to support the movement to create a fund for the erection of a memorial building at K. S. A. C., as did the class of 1919, some action must be started soon, is the opinion of a large number of the fourth year men.

The campaign to establish a memorial fund was begun about a year ago last Christmas. Last spring the alumni association voted to support the campaign. Prof. H. L. Kent, principal of the school of agriculture, Dr. H. B. Thompson, and H. J. Umberger were appointed as alumni executive committee by the alumni association to take charge of the raising of the fund.

Appoint a Committee

Professor Kent believes that the senior class should appoint a committee to make a thorough canvass of the class for pledges. The alumni committee will furnish the class committee with pledge blanks and give any advice it can.

The class of 1919 pledged nearly $4,000 and eight alumni faculty members, one alumnus not of the faculty, and two faculty members, not alumni, pledged $1,820. Because the committee is so crowded with work as faculty members it has had time to collect but a small portion of the pledges.

Should Collect Pledges

"I believe that some one should be appointed to look after this fund who would be taken up with college duties only a part of the time." said Professor Kent. "Whoever has charge of the fund should also be given the services of a stenographer who could be familiar with all correspondence connected with the work of collecting the pledges."

UNIVERSITY STOPS FAVORS, FLOWERS, AND DECORATIONS

Is in Accordance with Governor Allen's Suggestions to Universities and Colleges

The student paper at K. U. has the following: "Pan-hellenic council of fraternities of the university in its meeting Sunday morning sounded the death knell for elaborate spring parties when a ruling was passed cutting expenses to a minimum and eliminating flowers, favors, and expensive decorations.

"The move comes as a part of a general campaign recommended and endorsed by Governor Allen. The purpose is to reduce expenses of university students and simplify the social life of the school.

"The whole attempt will be to diffuse student interest which it is thought is centered too much in the social life of the students."

TEACHERS' WAGE SCALE IS ASKED

WANT MINIMUM SALARY FOR TRAINED INSTRUCTORS

Conference at Emporia Adopts Resolution on Salaries—Dean E. L. Holton There

At the Rural Life and Teacher Emergency conference, which was held in Emporia March 29, 30, and 31, a set of resolutions in regard to teacher's salaries was unanimously adopted by representative state school people. A salary schedule was drawn up which the conference decided set forth the minimum salaries that would provide an adequate number of properly qualified teachers for 1920-21.

High school graduates should accept not less than a beginning salary of $900, an annual increase of $50 for two years, permanent salary $1,000; college graduate should get a beginning salary of $1,300; an annual increase of $150 for 6 years, permanent salary $2,200; those who have five years educational training after leaving high school should receive beginning salary of $1,400, annual increase of $200 for seven years, permanent salary $2,800.

Dean E. L. Holton, of the extension division and head of the summer school, and Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the English department, attended the conference.

Mrs. David Bice, house mother of the Delta Zeta sorority, returned Thursday from Denver where she was called Sunday on business. During her absence Miss Araminta Holman, of the applied arts department, has been acting as chaperone at the Delta Zeta house.

FARMER GRADS GET POSITIONS

NINE STUDENTS PLACED BY COLLEGE

Aggie Girl, Who Specialized in Agronomy, Will Teach Agriculture at LaCrosse

K. S. A. C. is upholding her reputation of finding jobs for the students who graduate from the college. Nine students have already been placed by the educational division of the college under the direction of Dean E. L. Holton.

One of the outstanding facts in connection with the placing of teachers this year is the increased demand for teachers in rural high schools and the high pay in these schools.

The students who have been placed for next year are: Miss Luella Schaumburg, who specialized in agronomy, will teach agriculture at LaCrosse at a salary of $1,350; Fay Young, home economics, Superior, Nebr., at a salary of $1,440; Gilford J. Ikenberry, agriculture and manual training, Alton, at a salary of $2,350; Theo. F. Yost, county agent at Jetmore; Genevra Mae Adams, home economics at Jarbola; Ida Gertrude Adee, science and mathematics, Walnut, at a salary of $135 per month; Mary Jane Hill, home economics, Cottey college at Nevada, Mo.; Irene Miller, home economics, Fairmount college, at a salary of $1,350; Ruth Rathbone, music and dramatics, Perry, at a salary of $150 per month.

CARRY ON EXPERIMENT ON FARM NEAR TOPEKA

COLLEGE MAKING TEST IN SOIL FERTILITY

Prof. L. E. Call, Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, and Prof. A. Dickens Working On It

An extensive and interesting experiment planned by Prof. L. E. Call and Prof. R. I. Throckmorton, of the agronomy department, and Prof. Albert Dickens, horticultural department, has been started on the farm of the Boys' Industrial school, three miles from Topeka.

The object is to determine what rotations, fertilizers, and green manuring systems may be used most profitably in that portion of the Kaw valley where potatoes are an important crop. The project includes 84 one-twentieth acre plats which are handled in such a way as to make it possible to carry on four distinct rotations in addition to having 36 plats in continuous potato culture.

Ags Win Game

The school of agriculture baseball team defeated the Leonardville high school team by a score of 4 to 2 in a six inning game on the freshman field Friday afternoon. The Aggie-Drake game prevented a full game being played.

Ray Kellogg, junior last semester in engineering, is visiting at the Delta Tau Delta house this week. Mr. Kellogg is in business with his father in Wichita.

H. D. Metz and K. A. Glat former students of K. S. A. C. spent the week end in Manhattan visiting friends.

This Aggie Figures How He Can Secure Much Sought-for K

It is now within the power of every Aggie boy to win a priceless "K."

It is just this way: In the first place you turn out for boxing or wrestling; then, in the second place, you whale the almighty stuffin's out of everybody in your weight-class twice—just twice, mind you. By that time you will be the possessor of two class numerals which are equivalent to a monogram, K. S. A. C. So far so good. You are almost within reach of your goal. You lack just one monogram of having enough to win a "K." Therefore you must, once more, meet your old enemies and lick them, one and all, twice over, before you will be entitled to a "K."

By the time you will have won your "K" you will be a stranger to all save your most intimate friends. Your nose will be curiously flat. At least one ear will look rough and will hang in a dejected manner. You will have an unusual number of gold teeth, especially in the front of your mouth. One eye will be a good half inch higher than its fellow and will wildly range in the general direction of the north pole while you are gazing at something in the west.

When you go home at the end of the school year the only means your mother will have of identifying you will be by the color of that one good eye. Your old girl won't know you either—and that's the worst of the whole thing.

AGGIE GIRLS WIN IN TWO DEBATES

WIN UNANIMOUSLY IN DEBATE WITH SOUTHWESTERN

Aggie Girls Receive a Two to One Decision at Pittsburg Normal—Miss Opal Seeber Has Excellent Argument

Hairpins flew in all directions and women quarreled, as only women can; but for once they kept to hard facts, when the Aggie girl debaters won the decision of the judges both here and at Pittsburg Normal in the Triangular debate Tuesday evening.

The decision of the judges was unanimous in favor of the Aggies at the debate with Southwestern, here, while the Aggie girls received a two to one decision at Pittsburg Normal. The debaters at Pittsburg were Miss Florence Mather and Miss Dorothy Mosely. They upheld the negative side of the question.

The debate here with Southwestern was held in the Social Center hall. Miss Caroline Sloop and Miss Opal Seeber were on the affirmative team here.

The debating done by both teams was very good. The work done by Miss Opal Seeber deserves special comment. Although Miss Seeber is only a freshman her argument and manner of presentation was of the highest type. With the experience of a few more debates Miss Seeber will probably be one of K. S. A. C.'s best debaters.

Quite a large crowd attended the debate and everybody enjoyed the program very much. Miss Faye Williams and Miss Mildred Thornburg furnished music before and after the debate. After the debate the Zeta Kappa Psi, girls' honorary debating fraternity, entertained the debaters and their friends in the Social Center hall.

COLLEGE BAND GIVES A CONCERT AT CHAPEL HOUR

Attendance at Chapel Was Largest This Semester

The assembly program yesterday morning was given by the college band under the direction of Prof. Harold Wheeler.

The first number on the program was the "Coronation March" from the "Prophet" by Meyerbeer. The next number was a selection from Bizet's Opera "Carmen." The last number was the "Ballet Egyptien" by Luizini which was particularly pleasing to the audience.

The chapel crowd was one of the largest this summer.

Prof. and Mrs. I. Victor Iles were dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Tuesday evening.

FETE OF MAY WILL HAVE A NEW SETTING

CONTRASTING SPRING COLORS FOR ARCH

HAVE THE RAISED THRONE

Refreshments Will Be Sold in Booths Made of Lattice Work of the Same Contrasting Colors

The Y. W. C. A. has planned a brilliant setting for the May Fete which is to be held on the campus May 8.

Have Raised Throne

On the lawn east of the auditorium a raised throne will be erected with a canopy and lattice arch of contrasting spring colors. The color scheme will be carried out in the dresses of the dancers and, instead of the usual purple and white streamers of the Maypole, the ribbons will match the dresses of the winders.

Sell Refreshments

Booths of lattice work will appear here and there carrying out the harmonious light color scheme. These booths will sell refreshments consisting of pop, ice cream, peanuts, and Hershey bars.

The program will begin at 5 o'clock, and will consist of a grand procession, the queen paid homage by the dancers, the crowning of the May Queen, then the dance celebrating the coming of spring, and the usual May pole dance.

Admission 30 Cents

An admission price of 30 cents, covering war tax, will be charged and the sale of tickets will be under the auspices of committees appointed by the Y. W. C. A., the Y. M. C. A., and the W. A. A.

TEAMS FIGHTING FOR THE LEAD

FOUR FRATERNITIES HAVE STANDING OF 1,000

Many of the Games Have Been Postponed Because of Bad Weather Conditions

The interfraternity baseball schedule is being run off as rapidly as possible under poor weather conditions. Many games have been postponed on account of rainy weather. The standing so far is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Per.
Sig Alphs	2	0	1,000
Betas	1	0	1,000
Alpha Psis	1	0	1,000
Delts	1	0	1,000
Sig Eps	2	1	.666
Acacias	1	2	.333
Kappa Sigs	0	2	.000
Pi Kaps	0	3	.000

Wednesday evening the Alpha Psis defeated the Kappa Sigs by a score of 5-4. The batteries for the Alpha Psis were Bogue and White. For the Kappa Sigs, Willis and Berry. Several more games will be played as soon as the varsity returns from its eastern trip.

GIRLS TO HAVE A FIELD MEET

IS NEW THING IN WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

Twenty-five Girls Have Already Entered Their Names—Practice on Wednesdays

A new event for this spring is the girls' field and track meet, which is to be given on the athletic field some time in May. The day of the meet will be celebrated as Field day of which the Women's Athletic association will have charge.

Twenty-five girls have already signed up for places in the meet. Over 100 girls are expected to take part in the various stunts. Any girl in college may try out for the events. Wednesday evenings at 5 o'clock have been scheduled as the time for practice.

Biggest Class to Graduate

The graduating class of the School of Agriculture this year promises to be one of the largest since the organization of the school. It is also unique in the fact that there are no graduates from the course in mechanical arts.

There are 15 members in the class, four of whom have taken the course in home economics and the remainder the course in agriculture. The members from the home economics division are Miss Emma Stutz, Miss Alberta Rosewurm, Miss Ida Conrow, and Miss Avis Wickham. The members from agriculture are Harry Ramsey, Harold Humburg, J. R. Smithheisler, Randall Hill, Otis Gould, Edwin Hedstrome, Vance Rucker, Kenneth Muse, Joseph Smid, and Vernett Fletcher.

DEFEAT TIGERS

Columbia, Mo., April 23:—Aggies defeated Tigers in two consecutive games here, scores being 4 to 3 and 14 to 2, respectively. McGrath and Guilfoyle and Otto and Guilfoyle were the batteries.

E. C. McWilliams, who is principal of the high schools in Salina, was a house guest of the Delta Taus on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Miss Carolyn Lear spent the week end in Lawrence, where she attended the junior prom.

TEN SUSPENDED THIS SEMESTER

UNEXCUSED CUTS PROVE TO BE AGGIES' DOWNFALL

Ten Class Absences Mean a Vacation Home—Suspended Are from Three Different Divisions

Ten students have been suspended from college this semester, because of ten unexcused absences. Six of the ten were suspended Wednesday.

The unlucky students were from three different divisions, the division of agriculture, home economics, and engineering. One of the students was reinstated as he had sufficient reason for his absences.

Spring is a good time to cut, but cuts are hard on the grades, according to the various deans, then too ten cuts means an extended vacation home.

WILL SHEPHERD'S CROOK APPEAR AT THE PROM?

WAS STOLEN IN 1919 BUT MAY BE FOUND

Reservation on Junior-Senior Prom Program for Its Presentation

Will the Shepherd's Crook be presented this year? Students on the hill are wondering.

The Shepherd's Crook is a historic staff which is handed down by the seniors to the juniors each year at the junior-senior prom. Each class which comes into possession of the crook has its colors on the staff. To date there should be the class colors of 19 classes.

The class of 1898 had the crook made and started the traditional practice. It was handed down each year until 1900 when it was unaccepted. It was presented each year from 1901 to 1908. In 1908 it was stolen and no presentation could be made. It made its reappearance again in 1909 and was handed down each year till 1919 when it was again stolen.

Will it reappear this year as it has in the past? A place has been left for the presentation of the Shepherd's Crook on the program of the prom for this year.

Try for Summer Camp

Any student who is now attending college or who has graduated from college and has completed the two years of drill which is required by the college may attend the summer camp this year. The camp which these men will attend is called the basic camp. All expenses are paid by the government for the men who attend this camp.

Minnie Fankhouser and Mona Vogleman spent the week end at White City visiting Ethel Ruthruff a former student of K. S. A. C.

AGRICULTURE BRINGS MANY FOREIGN MEN

IS K. S. A. C.'S BEST DRAWING CARD ABROAD

TWENTY FOREIGN STUDENTS

Thirteen of Them Are Enrolled in the Agricultural Division—Two Taking General Science

That agriculture is the biggest drawing card K. S. A. C. has in attracting foreign students to K. S. A. C. is shown by the statistics which have been collected by the registrar concerning the foreign students of the college. Thirteen of the 20 foreign students who have been attending K. S. A. C. this year are enrolled in agriculture. Two are taking general science, one is taking veterinary science, three are in the school of agriculture, and one is a graduate student.

Ten countries are represented among K. S. A. C.'s foreign population,—China, Russia, Brazil, Phillipines, Chile, Greece, Mexico, Finnland, Armenia, and South Africa. Representatives from seven of these countries are enrolled in the agricultural division alone.

Two of the foreign students, Mugerditchian and P. H. Virtanen, both enrolled in agriculture, are seniors this year. Six are special students, and three are taking work in the school of agriculture.

The names of the foreign students who are attending K. S. A. C. this year are: James T. Cheng, Alexcy E. Dobrohotov, Joac Ferrica Guedes, Foley K. Kiang, Wing Kun Lau, Ching Sheng Lo, Joaquin B. Martinez, Simplicio B. Mendoza, Newton Q. Quan, Alvera N. Ramos, Yuk En Tsen, Frando Valdes, B. Olivera, M. M. Mugerditchian, P. H. Virtanen, Esteban Gabacungan, C. D. Calogeris, Basilio O. Pulanco, J. F. T. Mortert, Kaw Lun Lung, and Philip H. Young.

THEO KARLE FOR SUNDAY CONCERT

IS LAST EVENT OF THE FESTIVAL WEEK

Karle's Manager Has Booked Him For 80 Appearances—Stands on Own Merits

Theo Karle, who will give a concert here Sunday, May 9, as the last number of Festival Week, has one of the most beautiful lyric tenor voices ever produced in this country.

The fact that his concert has been chosen as the Sunday night event for Festival Week speaks well for his ability, for by securing such singers as Oscar Seagle and Madame Lucy Gates for Festival Week in previous years, the Festival Week management has set a precendent which can only be maintained by singers of prestige. But Theo Karle has the prestige, as well as the voice to enable him to live up to the Festival Week standard.

In the past few years Mr. Karle's voice has been given the most serious consideration by musical critics all over the nation, and they believe that the international fame of Theo Karle's voice is inevitable. "I have now booked this artist for 80 appearances," says Mr. Karle's manager. "There is only one Caruso and only one McCormack. Theo Karle will stand on his own merits."

PRESERVE YOUR REPUTATION

Carelessness, especially in the springtime when that trait trips along hand in hand with spring fever and listlessness, is prevalent among many of the Aggie students.

One dean of the college has mentioned the fact that many students write checks when they do not have sufficient funds to cover the order. Now, the Manhattan business men know that there isn't an Aggie who would write a bad check intentionally, but they do know that there is a great deal of carelessness shown in regard to the matter.

Writing bad checks shows poor business policy. Business men always have a poor opinion of a man who overdraws his account—even if it is only one cent. The Manhattan banks cannot be expected to honor the checks and so the business men have the trouble of looking up the writers of the drafts. It will be remembered, too, that there is a severe penalty for writing bad checks.

So let that carelessness, listlessness, and spring fever be dissolved in your enthusiasm, your principles, and your business management. Be a business man, a college man, and an all-around man.

SOME SITUATION!

The frosh and sophomores will have their annual dance May 1. The freshmen will be garbed in their so-called "civilized clothes" and the sophomores are planning on the usual aprons and overalls.

Wouldn't it look exquisite to have a bride gowned in a beautiful creation of cream georgette and all the fluffy-ruffles and corsages that go with it and then have the groom in a full dress suit of gunny sack material? Perhaps the ring should be of solid platinum with an imitation diamond set.

Why can't the first and second year men get together and settle a few of their controversies and then have everything ended? The freshmen wouldn't don the caps when the sophomores asked them too, yet they would do it of their own accord. The freshmen have decided to wear "civilized clothes" because the sophomores are in favor of aprons and overalls.

The freshmen have decided that they would rather have the town merchants make profit on the tri-colored caps than have it go to the sophomore class.

Criticism isn't due either of the classes but is due both of them. And perhaps it isn't the fault of the two. If the freshmen and sophomores would get together, with some faculty member presiding, thus eliminating those who have no business there, they would probably come to some agreement.

It is evident that the frosh-sophomore hop is going to be a failure unless something is done.

Entertained Extension Division

Dean and Mrs. Harry Umberger entertained at the Country club Saturday evening from eight until eleven-thirty for the members of the extension division. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the decorations and in the refreshments. The first part of the evening was spent with games after which a short program was given.

Vet Smoker

The veterinary medical association gave a smoker Wednesday evening at their headquarters at 1404 Fairchild for their professors and class members.

Formal Dinner

The girls at the Ellen Richards Lodge entertained with a formal dinner Tuesday evening in honor of Dean Helen B. Thompson, Mrs. W. M. Jardine, and Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Kent.

Grover Simpson, Mac Short and Rudolph Morganstern spent the week end in Salina.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor Collegian—The freshman class decided that one rough neck day in the year is enough. At the class meeting Tuesday it was voted to abandon the tacky idea in dress for the annual freshman-sophomore hop.

It is this way. There would be some $150 worth of decorations in the gymnasium for the annual junior-senior prom and the freshmen agreed that overalls and aprons would be rather out of harmony with the fine decorations. The ordinary civilized garb will be worn. The sophomores may wear what they wish.

The freshman also discussed the matter of having a standardized cap for the freshman class of next year which all of the clothing stores would keep in stock. In this way the sophomores would have nothing to do with the selling of the caps as they have in the past.

Dear Editor—Discord has again reared its unlovely head in the supposedly peaceful realm of interclass relations. The frosh and sophomores are again at a disagreement. The question of freshman caps was settled satisfactorily by the freshmen themselves last week when they voted to wear them, but another controversy over the matter of wearing apparel has arisen.

The moot question at this time is the wearing of overalls by the boys and aprons by the girls of the two classes at the annual frosh-soph hop to be held in Nichols Gym on May 1. It seems that the sophomores of last year inaugurated the custom, which was heartily favored by this year's sophomores after trial at the 1919 hop. The sophomores of this year voted unanimously to put on another overall-apron party this year in order to back up the conservation of clothing movement, and also to make the affair something "different." The frosh with their characteristic patriotic spirit and abhorrence of "belly-aching," met on Tuesday night and voted by a large majority to preserve the conventions and make the affair informal; not too informal, as the low brow sophomores had wished, but informal in a restrained, gentlemanly way.

It would seem that the party this year will be decidely "mixed" with the soph in overalls and aprons and the frosh in informal attire of a dignified nature. It is hoped that the two classes may get together before the hop and fix upon a degree of informality satisfactory to both.—An Onlooker.

TAKES FIVE TIMES TOO MUCH SOAP TO LATHER

WANT PURIFYING PLANT FOR CITY WATER

Benefits of Such a Plant Discussed at Meeting of the College Science Club

It takes four to five times as much soap to form a lather in Manhattan water as it does in ordinary water. This difficulty has given rise to a movement to have a water purifying plant installed in the city.

At the meeting of the college science club recently the question was discussed. Prof. C. A. Haskins of Kansas university and engineer for the State Board of Health spoke on the subject of "Improvement in the water supply for the City of Manhattan."

The water softening and purifying plant recently installed at Lawrence was described. This plant has been successful from the day it was installed and the people of Lawrence are more than satisfied with their investment.

Professor Haskins stated that about 40 of the larger towns and cities of Kansas have installed similar plants and that everyone of these is giving complete satisfaction.

Professor Haskins called attention to the well known fact that the cost of all materials used in construction and of labor has risen greatly in the last three or four years. These increased costs, however, are probably more than offset by the fact that the saving in soap, wear, and tear on clothes, as well as necessary replacement of hot water coils and other plumbing fixtures have also risen.

Following Professor Haskins talk, Professor Brubaker of the chemistry department gave a demonstration of the effect of adding the proper amount of burned lime to a sample of Manhattan city water. Tests made at the college have shown that Manhattan water as it comes from the mains requires from four to five times as much soap to form a good lather as the same water after it has been properly treated and softened.

So Miss Sorority Elbowed Boarding House Over Little

It was 7 o'clock on the evening of April 12, on the first floor of the theater. To be more exact it was on the first floor at the top of the theater.

Although it was fully an hour and a half before the curtain was scheduled to rise the first four rows of "nigger-heaven" were full. By eight the entire floor was full—full of representatives of every stratum of college society.

Miss Sorority elbowed Miss Boarding House over a little and squeezed herself into a four-inch seat. Mr. Fraternity on the eighth row back looked longingly at Mr. Working Student on the front row and wondered if he could buy that front row seat for two-bits.

Over in one corner Misto' Sam Johnson, actively engaged in the shoe business and Senor Felipe Jose Pedro Ylario Sanches, at present connected with the Union Pacific railroad, crowded and jammed and pushed and squeezed and glared at each other and wondered where the other managed to accumulate so many bad manners.

Away down, a mile or so below, on that disgustingly plebian first floor appears some prominent gentleman with a date. The nerve of it! Suddenly that gentleman is hailed in unison by a dozen strong voices. His name is flaunted to the assembled crowd. And of course he feels highly abashed and discomfited. When such an incident as that occurs several times it raises the ire of a large gentleman lounging officially and ostentatiously around the fire escape or entrances. He ambles over to the crowd that had most recently made public the identity of a dated gentleman, and informs that crowd it is the request of the management that they do not establish vocal connections with anybody below.

The crowd understands perfectly and to show its entire sympathy lets out another whoop as soon as "the chief" is twenty feet away lecturing a young man on the error of shooting tin foil at a baldheaded man on the first floor.

"Nigger heaven" should be placed on the list of great American institutions. It is the one means by which a person who has not judicially controlled the fluctuations of the budget can see a worth-while musical comedy for 50 cents. And anybody that can't beg, borrow, steal or find 50 cents doesn't deserve to see any kind of a show.

E. W. Roney, a member of the Aggie Marine band spent the week end in Manhattan visiting friends.

Harold McGinley and Marshall P. Wilder spent the week end in Topeka.

C. W. Howe spent the week end at his home near Garrison.

Carl Field has been called to his home at McPherson on account of the serious illness of his father.

Telford R. Pharr spent the past week at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house. Mr. Pharr will receive his degree in animal husbandry this spring. He is at the present time county agent of Jewell county with headquarters at Mankato. He was in charge of the boys and girls from Jewell county who attended the boys' and girls' club week.

Mrs. M. E. Harlan and Miss Florence Justin of Lawrence, were Sunday dinner guests at the Alpha Psi house.

STUDENTS MAY NOW GAZE AT THE MOON

ENGINEERS TO HAVE TELESCOPE AT DANCE

Many Other Odd Features Will Make Hop One of Most Pleasant Hill Affairs

The engineers have everything in readiness for their first annual hop to be held in Nichols Gym Saturday night. Invitations have been sent to the men in the other departments and faculty members have been especially urged to be present and get acquainted as well as to enjoy the novel dance.

Between dances the men and women may enjoy themselves by looking over the work of the engineering division which ranges from railroad maps and house plans to mechanical and electrical devices. It has been arranged to have one of the large telescopes from the civil department mounted in order that the students may gaze at Jupiter, Saturn, or the moon, the real moon.

Special music and lighting effects to match are also on the program.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Pi Beta Phi Spring Party

The Pi Beta Phi sorority gave its annual spring party Friday evening at Harrison's hall. The hall was decorated to represent a garden. Lattice work, interwoven with pink flowers and evergreen, was used over the room. The lights were concealed by large pink balls. In the center of the room was a fountain banked with flowers. The orchestra platform was decorated with pink flowers. Small evergreens. Two large moons were placed in the windows in order that the hall might represent a moonlit garden.

The room opposite the hall was decorated with pink flowers. Small tables were placed in the room and six high school girls assisted in the serving of pink and green ice and wafers. During the intermission Miss Julia Caton of Winfield, gave a butterfly dance.

The chaperones of the evening were: Mrs. Requa, the Pi Phi house mother; Mrs. Sargent, Mrs. Ricker, Lawyer and Mrs. George Clammer, and Dean and Mrs. E. L. Holton.

The out of town guests were Miss Julia Caton, and Miss Margaret Wallace of Winfield, Miss Lucile Heim, Miss Corinne Smith, Miss Katherine Cole, Miss Esther Turner, and Miss Alice Updegraff of Topeka, Miss Rachel Seifkin, Miss Dorothy Churchward of Wichita, Miss Beulah Hedstrom of McPherson, Miss Mildred Troutfetter of Colby, Miss Frances Price of Ashland, Miss Bernice Hart of Dennen, Miss Mary Kirtland, and Miss Margaret Lynch of Salina.

Initiation Services

Sigma Phi Delta held formal initiation Wednesday evening for Marion W. Stauffer of Manhattan, and J. Hubert English of Sterling.

For Methodist Choir

Six ladies of the First Methodist church, Mrs. S. J. Pratt, Mrs. Alden Huse, Mrs. R. R. Price, Mrs. Fred Elliott, Mrs. E. L. Knostman, and Mrs. B. R. Hull gave a 6 o'clock dinner Friday evening for the members of the Methodist choir. The dinner was given at the Pratt home, 610 Humboldt. A feature of the occasion was the general "get acquainted" atmosphere manifested. The two course dinner was served in cafeteria style.

Those present included: Miss Pearl Hoots, Miss Barnes, Miss Annette Perry, Miss Florence Meyer, Miss Ruth Rathbone, Miss Grace Gardner, Miss Mabel Worster, Miss Taylor, Miss Houston, Miss Agnes Ayers, Miss Esther Storey, Miss Grace Hesse, Miss Olivette Mitch, Miss Orilla Wadsworth, Miss Luella Sherman, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Myron S. Collins, Mrs. Mohrlacher, Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. E. L. Askren, Mrs. L. H. Limper, Mr. H. A. O'Brien, Mr. Harold McClelland, Mr. Ball, Mr. Don Ballou, Mr. John Wilkins, Mr. Herbert Wilkins, Mr. Glen Case, Mr. Bennett, Prof. H. W. Davis, Mr. Don Wagaman, Mr. Byron Mohrlacher, Mr. Garenger, Mr. W. E. Mackender, and Rev. Myron Collins.

Hike to Hackberry Glenn

Miss Edith Willman, Miss Dora Otto, and Miss Ruth Sankee entertained 32 of the faculty ladies with a hike to Hackberry Glen Saturday afternoon. They started on the hike at 3 o'clock. A picnic supper was served in the evening.

House Dance

Beta Theta Pi fraternity entertained with a house dance Friday evening. Twenty-five couples danced. The party was chaperoned by Mrs. Wayne MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Fielding, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gingery. Music was furnished by a three piece orchestra.

Tea for Students

Dr. L. Jean Bogert entertained at tea Sunday afternoon from four until six for girls in her classes this semester and last semester.

Eurodelphian Initiation

The members of the Eurodelphian literary society held informal initiation services Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock for the new members of the society. After a number of stunts which the initiates were obliged to perform for the amusement of the older members, a two course luncheon was served, after which the girls remained for a joint meeting with the Webster society in the evening.

Dinner Guests

Dinner guests at the Kappa Sigma house Sunday were Mr. Burr Ozment, Mr. Floyd Peacock of Stafford, Mr. Lobby of St. Louis, Mr. Albert N. Hoxie of Philadelphia, Mr. Billie Batkin, Mr. Billie Folsom, Mr. Paul Smith, Mr. Chandler Nelson, and Mr. R. K. Pfremme.

Dickinson Organizes

Dinckinson county students met Thursday afternoon and organized for the purpose of boosting for K. S. A. C. next fall. A letter will be sent to each high school graduate in the county by the organization. Dickinson county has one of the largest county representations attending college here, there being about 70 enrolled.

Hold Initiation

Alpha Theta Chi announces the initiation of R. S. Love, freshman in electrical engineering, Phillip Woodbury, freshman in agronomy; M. R. Getty, freshman in agriculture; and C. M. Rust, freshman in mechanical engineering.

SEVENTY FIVE DANCES IN ONE EVE WAS TOO MUCH---BY A CHAPERONE

You were reminded of veal as you looked into her up-turned eyes.

He was puffing and sweating as he pushed her from one end of the hall to the other, and back over and over again.

There were five encores. He didn't miss one.

Then they sat by a window, she mooning and he ditto.

Again the saxophone honked and the banjo filled in where the 'phone missed. Again she fitted herself upon his awaiting arms and shoulder, and again was pushed the length of the room some dozen times. Again the three-piece orchestra obliged five times with encores, and again ditto the adoring couple.

Typewriter fails to express how many times they did it that blessed evening, mooning and caressing, shifting and hauling one another about like a mad Romeo and a foolish Juliet. They danced 15 dances together, and each dance had from two to five encores each. Figure it yourself.

It was a student dance, normal, I was told, although it was my first. Nor have I been since. The Lord keep from another!

They say that students at K. S. A. C. love to dance a straight program. If you haven't chaperoned one, take my word for it—they do.

The young woman who was invited for me to accompany as chaperone was a good friend of mine before that happened, and I am not accounted an atrocious dancer either. But 15 times 5—well that was too much, I suppose. When I offered to show her the way from the taxi to her doorstep that night after the dance, she said:

"No, thank you, I will be able to find my way alone."

It might not have happened if two or three—even one, maybe—had asked her to dance. But no one did, so it was up to me to show her a good time. I did.

Were you ever lonesome in a large city?

That's how a chaperone at an Aggie student dance feels.—A Faculty Grouch.

Marine Band Reunion

Mr. Albert Hoxie of Philadelphia, who has been visiting Manhattan friends for the past week, entertained with a dinner at the Pines Sunday at 8 o'clock in honor of the men who were in the Frst Regiment Marine band during the war. Those who were present at the dinner include: Albert Hoxie, E. W. Roney, G. W. Fisher, Carl Webb, Leo Bebb, Clarence Peacock, Phil Hill, S. T. Scriven, J. S. Gulledge, O. S. Bower, Fred Barger, E. L. Knostman, I. K. Landon, W. C. Hall, F. J. Hanna, Dick Richardson, Omar Parteck, William McClure, and Henry Laube.

Make a Name for Yourself.....

The young man who can not save money is doomed to go through life unknown and unsuccessful.

The man who does save shows that he is boss of himself, and ready to assume other responsibilities that may come to him.

Saving means more than having just so much money; it means building character, winning the respect of others and being able to grasp opportunity when it comes. It means making a name for yourself.

Start now. We'll tell you how. Ask us about it.

TRYOUTS FOR SENIOR PLAY ARE TONIGHT

WILL BE HELD IN BASEMENT OF LIBRARY

MISS HEIZER IS THE COACH

Practice Will Begin Immediately —Name of Play This Year Is "One Night Out"—All Urged to Try

The senior play, a performance given each year by the graduating class, this year will be "One Night Out." It will be given during commencement week in the college auditorium.

Tryouts for the play will be held tonight in room 2, basement of the library. Miss Florence Heizer, who will coach the play, is urging all senior men and women to try for parts in the play. She has sent requests to all fraternities and other organizations to have representatives at the tryouts, so it is expected that some mighty good talent can be secured from the senior class.

Practice will begin immediately after Miss Heizer has chosen the best of the seniors. Intense training will be necesary as only a few weeks are left before its presentation.

SCHOLARSHIP IS TO BE AWARDED

WHEELER BARGER AND CHRISTINE COOL NAMED

Each May Get Debating Scholarship of $100—Both Have Done Excellent Work

Recommendations have been made for the awarding for the annual scholarships of $100 each to one boy and one girl, who have proved themselves to be the best debaters in intercollegiate contests at K. S. A. C. Those recommended are Wheeler Barger and Miss Christine Cool.

The debating committee has recommended these two people because of the excellent work done by them in college debating. Mr. Barger is a sophomore in agriculture. He was a member of the debate teams which debated Ames, both last year and this year. He is a member of the Forum society of debaters, and of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity. Mr. Barger has done some excellent work on the debate platform and shows himself to be well worthy of this award.

Miss Christine Cool is a junior in home economics. She has debated in two triangular debates, with Washburn and Ottawa, winning both. She is a member of Forum debating society, and Zeta Kappa Psi, girl's honorary debating fraternity. Miss Cool has been very active in debate work all during her college course. This, coupled with her ability as a debater on the teams, makes her well qualified to receive the honor for which she has been recommended.

This is the seventh year that debate scholarships have been awarded to students who show proficiency in debate at this college.

LOWERING SENIOR PIN IS THE LAST

PLANS COMPLETED FOR JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM

Reception Will Start at 7:30, Dancing at 8:30, and Program at 9:30

Final plans for the junior-senior prom have been made by E. D. McCullom and his corps of assistants. The prom will be Friday night.

The reception will start at 7:30 and last until 8:30. The receiving line has been arranged by Miss Marcia Seeber and will have President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Dean and Mrs. J. T. Willard, other members of the faculty, president of the junior class, and the members of the junior-senior committee.

From 8:30 until 9:30 there will be dancing for which the Delta Tau orchestra of K. U. will furnish the music.

From 9:30 until 10:30 the program, which has been arranged by Miss Irene Graham, will be rendered. Refreshments will be served in the girls' gymnasium under the supervision of Kenneth Shideler. A two piece orchestra will furnish music in the girls' gymnasium.

Dancing will then finish the evening until 1 o'clock. The last big feature of the evening will be the lowering of the senior pin to the tune of "Farewell to Thee."

CIRCUS PROVES HUGE SUCCESS

MISS AILEEN RHODES IS CIRCUS QUEEN

High School Refuses to Imitate College—Circus Was Planned in Place of Annual May Fete

"Every time the college takes snuff the high school doesn't have to sneeze" said J. W. Sawtell, three years ago when he was principal of the Manhattan high school.

True to his theory the high school has of recent years been planning new and original stunts entirely different from the ones given by the college.

Their annual May Fete, however, has always been a miniature reproduction of the college May crowning. This year the high school kiddies put their heads together to plan something different from a May Fete at which to crown the high school queen. The circus was the result.

Miss Aileen Rhodes was elected Queen of the Circus, in place of Queen of the May. The plans for the circus were then worked out. Its success was demonstrated Friday evening in the Nichols gymnasium when the big stunt took place.

Twenty-five hundred people squeezed, pushed, and elbowed their way into the Nichols gymnasium Friday evening. Although over 500 people had to stand to see the performance they were not disappointed.

The show was better than any Ringling Brothers or Barnum and Bailey circus that ever hit Manhattan. It was a circus complete, with caged animals, clowns, Indians, cowboys, jockeys, and beautiful girls. It was managed in regular circus style with a grand entree or parade to open the program.

SUMMER SCHOOL WILL HAVE 1,000

OFFERING SPECIAL INDUCEMENT TO STUDENTS

Any Extra Subject Will Be Put on Schedule if Enough Sign Up for It

The mark set for the summer school enrolment for this summer was 1,000 and, according to Dean E. L. Holton, it is probable that this number will be in attendance, making it the greatest session of the summer school which has ever been held at K. S. A. C.

Benefit To Students

Heretofore the greatest enrolment for the summer session has come from teachers from over the state who desire to go to school during their vacation. It has been the aim this year to make the summer session of practical benefit to students who are regularly enrolled in college and in this way keep the vast amount of valuable equipment of the college from standing idle during the summer months. In years past only about 25 per cent of the summer school enrolment came from the regular student body.

Special Inducement

As a special inducement for students to remain during the summer any classes which have not been scheduled for the summer session will be held, provided that there are enough students who desire to take this particular subject. Already students have begun to take advantage of this opportunity.

A special feature of the summer school will be a course in citizenship by the state officials of Kansas as a part of the Kansas program for making democracy safe.

George Headrick and Albert Waters are in Lawrence this week.

Farmer Captain Is To Become Premier Conference Pitcher

One of the men who has been instrumental in putting Aggie athletics to the front in the Missouri Valley is Captain Magrath of the Aggie baseball nine. The tall pitcher hails from Williamsburg, where he spends his summers putting up alfalfa hay from a section or two of good rich land.

He began his baseball career in the school of agriculture. After his first year of baseball it was predicted by the wise ones that he would become the premier pitcher of the Missouri Valley. Last year "Mac" won a 12 inning and a 10 inning game from K. U. In the Oklahoma game this year he pitched a 13 inning game, allowing only seven hits. Considering the earliness of the season it was some feat.

Magrath is not only a baseball star but he has won a K in football also.

He is a quiet, modest, unassuming fellow with a pleasant and attractive manner toward everyone.

Magrath is a member of the Alpha Psi fraternity, the K fraternity, Hamilton literary society, and is a senior vet.

CAST WORKING WITH "DADDIES"

PRACTICING FOUR NIGHTS EVERY WEEK

Nephew of Author of Play Is Helping with the Stage Setting of "Daddies"

It must be hard to give up Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings during this nice weather when most everyone has the spring fever. Well anyway, this is what the cast of characters in "Daddies" is doing. They are working hard to make the play one of the biggest successes of Festival Week.

Lloyd Hamilton and Louis Bryan have the men's leading roles and Miss Betty Lyman plays opposite them.

Mr. Hobble, nephew of the author of "Daddies," is helping as stage manager. He saw the play in Kansas City and is able to give suggestions in a great many ways. Mr. Hobble's uncle, the author of the play, is at present on his way to London, where the play is now being produced.

Special scenery is being made for the play, so the students will not have to look at the same old background. The costumes are coming from Kansas City and Prof. J. G. Emerson is doing everything in his power to make "Daddies" a success.

MANY PRIZES DAIRY JUDGING

CONTEST TO BE HELD SATURDAY, MAY 1

Gold Medal to Contestant Scoring Highest in Judging all Classes—Silver to Second

Every student in the division of agriculture is interested in the annual dairy judging contest which is to be held on Saturday afternoon, May 1. The dairy industry is of growing importance in this state and, considering the large number of students enrolled in dairy classes this semester, there should be a large number enter this contest.

The following prizes are to be given:

Gold medal to contestant scoring highest in judging all classes.

Silver medal to contestant scoring second highest in judging all classes.

Bronze medal to contestant scoring third highest in judging all classes.

Silver medal to contestant scoring highest in placing Holsteins.

Suitable prize will be given by the State Jersey association to the contestant scoring highest in placing Jerseys.

An attractive trophy will be given by the State Ayrshire association to the contestant scoring highest in placing Ayrshires.

A $5 cash prize will be given to the freshman contestant scoring highest in placing all classes.

PRINCES TRY TO WOO PEASANT MAIDS MAY 7

FLORENCE MYER AND GLADYS GRABLE IN LEADING PARTS

KNAPP IS PRINCE ALLODAR

Believed To Be Better Than Any Other That Has Ever Accompanied a K. S. A. C. Operatic Production

Princesses, by disguising themselves as peasant girls, will win the love of princes, with prejudices in favor of the working classes, when the opera "Spring Maid," is given May 7 as one of the numbers of Festival Week.

Have the Characters

When Florence Myer, who in the opera, takes the part of the princess, disguises herself as "Spring Maid," she in the vernacular of college students "starts something." For although Prince Allodar despises, or affects to, the girls of his own class, he has a very warm spot in his heart for peasant girls, and Florence Myer makes a very attractive peasant girl. The role of Prince Allodar is played by Russell Knapp.

Prince Allodar and the peasant princess however are not the only nobility in the "Spring Maid." There is Prince Rudi, alias H. A. O'Brien, who distinguishes himself for the ability to recognize the genuine article by falling in love with the real Spring Maid, who is Gladys Grable.

Then there is the father of the princess who aids Prince Allodar by posing as an aunt who has fits. And there is the role of small town sleuth played by Mr. Sebring.

L. G. Morgan is to grace the operetta in the form of a famous tragedian who thinks that he is the entire show, and Miss Olivette Mitsch is to play the role of a blase lady of the world, who is not too blase to "fall hard" for the tragedian.

Good Chorus

Besides these characters, and others who add greatly to the fun and melody of the "Spring Maid" there is the chorus, which is said by those who know, to be better than any chorus which has ever before accompanied a K. S. A. C. operatic production. It is believed by Prof. A. E. Westbrook, who is directing the opera that "Spring Maid" will prove a favorite number of Festival Week.

Sunday guests of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity were Prof. and Mrs. E. F. Ferrin and son, Harold, Miss Beeler, Miss Netta Dubbs, and Miss Polly Mahaffey of Ottawa.

F. G. Welch, senior in animal husbandry, spent Saturday and Sunday visiting with friends and relatives at Emporia.

Ralph St. John, '17, and Fred Layton, '15, were week end guests at the Delta Tau Delta house.

FARMER COEDS SLUG BASEBALL

BANDAGED FINGERS INDICATE THE BEGINNING

Over 60 Girls from the Four Classes Are Out to Try for Positions on Class Teams

The Aggie co-eds are learning to slug a baseball with the ability of some of the veteran Aggie ball heroes. Sixty college girls are out for girls' baseball practice this spring.

Twenty-five junior and senior girls have signed up for the class practice and 35 freshmen and sophomores are trying for places on the class teams. The junior and senior girls practice at 5 o'clock on Wednesday evenings and the freshman and sophomore girls practice at 5 o'clock on Friday evenings.

The girls play regular outdoor baseball with all the required equipment of bats, masks, and ball gloves. There is as much interest shown this spring in baseball as in either tennis or basketball. It is easy to tell that the Aggie girls have started baseball practice by noticing the number of bandaged fingers.

Goes to Pratt County

V. S. Crippen, whose home is in Reno county and who is a member of this year's senior class in agronomy, has been appointed county agent for Pratt county and will take up his new work on June 1.

Mr. Crippen spent the summer of 1917 at the Colby sub-experiment station and for the last two years has been student assistant in cooperative experiments in the agronomy department. In 1919 he assisted B. S. Wilson in gathering material and setting up the Kansas exhibit which was shown at the state fair at Hutchinson, the International Soil Products show at Kansas City, and at the International Hay and Grain show at Chicago.

ALL READY FOR STOCK JUDGING

WILL GIVE $250 IN PRIZES AND LOVING CUPS

Contest Will be Given in the Stock Pavilion on Wednesday, May 12 by Block and Bridle

The nineteenth annual stock judging contest will be held in the stock judging pavilion on Wednesday, May 12. Cups of a total value of $250 will be given to the winners in this contest in addition to the medals and the ribbons given by the Block and Bridle club.

Both a junior and a senior contest will be held this year. The men who have had only freshman stock judging will be put in the junior class and all of the rest of the men will be put in the senior class. Students will be excused from classes to take part in the contest.

The Block and Bridle club is managing the contest and the committee which has charge of the arrangements is K. D. Thompson, Nevels Pearson, and J. J. Moxley.

COLLEGE SHIPPING OUT $5,000 WORTH OF SUPPLIES

Military Department Ridding Itself of Old Equipment

The military department is now shipping out about $5,000 worth of obsolete supplies, which include 500 Krag rifles, bayonets, and scabbards for the same rifles, also two Colt machine guns of prehistoric design. When the last shipment of new rifles was received there was an oversupply sent and these also are being sent back.

Several large army trucks from Funston were over the latter part of last week loading the supplies and taking them to Funston.

FRANKLINS RIDE BEHIND ENGINE TO HACKBERRY

Annual Ride for Literary Society—70 There

The Franklin Literary society went on its annual engine ride last Saturday. The trip was made to Hackberry glen. The engine pulled three wagons; on the leading wagon, the society had a complete generator plant for their electric lights, which were used after dark.

About 70 members of the society went on the ride and all report the best time that they have ever had on this annual event.

The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Mack, and Miss Lois Witham. Several graduates of the college were present on the ride, among them Miss Ruth Huff, Miss Marie Johnston, Miss Elva Mall, Miss Lyness, and A. F. Swanson.

Dick Gelvin of Kansas City, was a week end guest at the Delta Tau Delta house.

Announcements

Phone 651

Juniors and seniors are requested to take their program to the junior-senior prom.

The S. S. G. A. will have charge of the regular student assembly Friday. Every student be there. Student problems will be discussed.

The Philomathian and Lincoln Literary societies will have a joint meeting next Saturday evening. The program will be given by the members of the graduating class.

AGGIES BREAK EVEN ON THE EASTERN TRIP

WIN TWO GAMES FROM THE MISSOURIANS

BUT LOSE TO THE PIKERS

Magrath Pitched Two Games and Otto and Agnew Pitched Two—Guilfoyle Caught in Four

The Kansas Aggie baseball nine broke even on its eastern trip to Columbia and St. Louis. They won two games from the Tigers but lost both games with the Pikers.

Magrath and Guilfoyle composed the Wildcat battery for the first game with the Missourians. It was a 10 inning game, the Tigers crossing the home base twice in the tenth inning but the Aggies defeating them by making three scores in the tenth.

Otto and Agnew pitched in the second game with the Tigers. Guilfoyle caught. The score by innings for the two games was:

First Game

Tigers	.....	100	000	000	2—3
Aggies	.....	000	010	000	3—4

Second Game

Tigers	.....	000	100	001—	2
Aggies	.....	206	500	010—14

The Pikers at St. Louis met the Aggies with a hard batting and consistent fighting team. The home nine lost the first game 5 to 1, Magrath and Guilfoyle the battery. The score for the second game was 8 to 3, with Otto, Agnew, and Guilfoyle as the battery.

The scores by innings:

First Game

Pikers	.....	040	100	00	—5
Aggies	.....	000	000	010—1

Second Game

Pikers	.....	000	104	12	—8
Aggies	.....	210	000	000—3

LIVESTOCK MEN PRESENT GIFTS

KENTUCKY SENATOR GIVES COLLEGE STEER

Kansas Breeders Taking Lively Interest in Things Done at K. S. A. C.

In recognition of the great work that the college is doing along livestock lines, the animal husbandry department has recently received gifts of livestock from four prominent breeders of purebred cattle, living in Kansas and Kentucky.

Senator J. N. Camden of Versailles, Ky., has donated a Hereford show steer. Representative B. M. Brown of Greenwood, has also donated a Hereford steer for show purposes. Hon. E. L. Barrier, member of the state board of administration, has donated an Angus show steer.

More enthusiasm has been shown in the past two years by Kansas breeders over the work that is being done by the college than ever before.

WEATHER DRIVES HIKERS TO RECREATIONAL CENTER

Webster and Eurodelphians Have Annual Fest

The Webster and Eurodelphian Literary societies had their annual hike Saturday. On account of the weather it was necessary to hold the hike indoors in recreational center.

The indoor hike was staged at 6 o'clock, and every one was there in hike clothes. Games were played in the early part of the evening. After the refreshments were served, there was a program of music, talks, short stories, minstrel show, and a few other features. After the program some of them participated in a Virginia Reel while others left in an army truck for a ride around town, singing and giving the society yells.

The chaperones were: Dr. A. A. Holtz, Miss McCoy, and the Rev. and Mrs. Myron Collins.

Miss Gladys Bushong, Miss Evelyn Colwell, Miss Hart, Miss Lucile Gramse, and Miss Helen Colburn, were Sunday dinner guests at the Acacia house.

SOME ATTITUDE

K. S. A. C. is boasting of her growing and successful music department. The college is glad that it now has one of the leading music departments in the west. But it is peculiar to note the attitude that K. U. takes toward her music department.

The University Daily Kansan has the following to say:

"One of our prominent juniors has no use for the department of music. It takes up too much good space in the administration building. It disturbs the college classes in the west wing. And "it's nothing but music, anyhow."

"Men like Beethoven and Bach and Paganini have wasted their time. Women like Schumann-Heink and Galli-Curci would better be frying beef-steak and washing dishes. Civilization and culture are merely material and commercial. They have nothing to do with the thing we call music, the highest expression of the human soul. There's nothing to it. And the sooner the board of administration cuts it out of the curriculum, the better it will be for all concerned. Let us put the money, even if music has made it, into something really worth while."

Epigrams from Quill Club

Many persons who think themselves patriotic are merely hopelessly provincial.

It is unjust to say that love never lasts. Nearly everybody has a permanent love affair—with himself.

A man often thinks many women are deeply interested in him. Instead, they are merely wondering how well he makes love.

To most of us, moral standards are simply a group of habits that we are too lazy to break.

A woman never forgives a man if he cannot remember the circumstances of their first kiss.

Ambition leads one forward but leads are often in the wrong direction.

It took our best statesmen and politicians many years to get properly organized—it took the anarchists almost overnight.

Most letters from American sweethearts to the boys in France were like German notes to Wilson—filled with promises never kept.

These three things have proved to me,
The endlessness of infinity—
The drip, drip, drip of a leaky faucet,
A silken stocking started to run,
And, though it is probably trite to say it,
The chatter of any woman's tongue.

Duty is a spiritual bath—most of us follow the rural custom, once a week.

Some people who want their stories printed just as they write them would get their just deserts if they were accommodated.

There are a good many people who would rather say "beg pardon" than be polite in the first place.

Spring fever attacks some people in the head and others in the feet.

The crucial moment of a woman's life is not when she decides to fall in love with a man; but rather, when she decides no man is going to fall in love with her.

It takes about one year for the average college professor to destroy all a student's self-confidence. The remaining three are spent in trying to instill in the student enough courage to make him about as capable of coping with the world as he was when he first entered.

The woman who calls herself "Mamma" to a dog has either raised herself to the dog's level, or lowered the dog to her level. In either case it is hard on the dog.

Kissing lips are the smallest traitors in the world.

To the poetic soul, the first signs of spring are the balmy breezes, the soft white clouds; but the more prosaic individual feels that the native bedbug is the harbinger of the season.

Man is not known by the company he keeps.
At least it's not so in a college town;
For he is known by a very small piece of glass,
And the number of dates he pulls down.

Wamego Is Visitor

The School of Ag baseball team was defeated by Wamego last Thursday by the score of 3 to 2. They will play a return game here Tuesday April 27 in which the local lads will try to turn the score.

FATHER DOESN'T MAKE 'EM COME

FORTY-THREE PER CENT OF AGGIES SELF SUPPORTING

Forty-six Per Cent of Students Have Parents Engaged in Agricultural Pursuits—Farmers Lead with 1,335 Representatives

Statistics recently compiled in the registrar's office, would seem to indicate that the majority of students who are attending school here, came not because dad sent them and agreed to pay the bill; but rather because they had determined to get an education of their own free will, even if without any help from home.

There are 45 per cent of the students who are entirely self supporting, 11 per cent who are partially self supporting and 33 per cent who do not earn any of their expenses. Thirteen per cent of the students gave no data as to their financial support.

That Kansas is a great agricultural state is convincingly shown by the fact that 46 per cent of the students have parents who are engaged in agricultural pursuits, with farmers in the lead with 1,335 representatives, and cattlemen next with 73.

In the lists of parent's occupations there were 111 different kinds among the most numerous being farmers, cattlemen, bankers, carpenters, contractors, housekeepers, merchants, ministers, real estate, railroaders, salesmen, and teachers. It is doubtful if there is any denominational school in the state which could boast of any more ministers' families being represented in their student body than can K. S. A. C. with a total of 37.

In addition to the ministers' families there are three students who have parents in missionary work. Out of a total of 3,048 students enrolled in college for this year there were only 154 who have retired parents.

MAY ENLARGE PREMIUMS AT THE STATE FREE FAIR

Professor Paterson to Topeka for Conference

A. M. Paterson, associate professor of animal husbandry, was called to Topeka Friday to confer with the Kansas Free Fair association board in regard to enlarging and improving the premium list for next year.

Professor Paterson will go to Havensville Thursday to organize a sheep club. While there he will talk before the Jackson county farm bureau on the possibility of sheep production in Kansas.

HAVE MEETING NOW OF THE STATE SHORTHORN BREEDERS

Will Be Held at College During Commencement Week

An event of interest during commencement week will be the annual meeting of the Kansas Shorthorn Breeders' association. A sale of Shorthorns will be held on Wednesday, May 26. Every individual in this sale will be particularly high class. Each animal is to be Kansas bred. The purpose of the sale is to advertise Kansas cattle.

Gets High Degree

E. F. Ferrin, associate professor of animal husbandry, will receive the professional degree in agriculture from his alma mater, the Iowa State Agricultural college, during their commencement week in June. This degree is considered a very high honor. It is conferred only upon those who have been graduated for at least five years, and have shown exceptional ability in their line of work.

Miss Charlotte Ayers and Miss Elizabeth Circle spent the week end in Lawrence attending the Y. W. C. A. conference.

The school of agriculture baseball team will play the Wamego high school team on the freshman field Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown of Blue Rapids, spent Wednesday visiting their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Brown.

Miss Arria Neal spent the week end at her home in Clay Center.

Miss Flo Brown returned Monday from St. Louis where she spent the past week.

Miss Mildred Lorens and Miss Katherine Simmons of K. U., spent the week end at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Irene Smith of Denver, Col., is visiting Miss Mildred Arends.

Miss Zance of Wichita, is visiting Miss Aleph Christman.

Mrs. E. E. Talbert of Lincoln, Nebr., is visiting Mrs. J. H. Burt.

Harry Bennett of Lawrence, spent Saturday at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Mrs. Kittredge was a Monday dinner guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Phil Williams spent the week end in Ottawa.

Miss Marie Banning was a Sunday dinner guest at the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

H. N. Hudson, P. D. McCandlis and C. W. Pratt spent the week end in Topeka.

Dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Sunday were Miss Elinor Ball, Miss Lucile Smith, P. T. Ewan, and H. W. Moore.

J. H. English visited his home in Sterling over the week end.

Arthur Holloway, Harold Smiley, and Neal Bruce spent the week end in Topeka.

How Much Must You Earn This Summer?

Chances are we can double it for you.

At any rate, let us know the amount required and the time in which you have to earn it, and we will tell you frankly what we can do.

No obligation whatever.

A Money-Making Opportunity For You

Woman's World is face to face with the greatest reader demand it has ever experienced. Our battery of giant presses is constantly in operation—24 hours a day, 6 days a week—and still the demand outstrips the supply.

It's a good, healthy condition. It keeps us humping but happy. We'll take care of the supply if we have to annex the whole west side of Chicago.

But what we want now is 100 emergency men to help handle the demand—to crystallize it into sales—to book orders. We want men of personality, perseverance and push—and we are ready to pay the price.

If you want outdoor work—At top-notch pay

If you want money—experience—adventure—and a glimpse of life as O. Henry saw it—drop us a line today.

Tell us how much you ought to earn, the time in which you have to earn it, and the territory in which you prefer to work. Our proposition will be sent you at once. If you like it, all right; if you don't, there's no obligation.

MEET TIGERS IN TWO MORE

PLAY ON AHEARN FIELD TODAY AND TOMORROW

Aggies Still Have High Standing in Missouri Valley Race for Baseball Championship

The Missouri Tigers come here today and tomorrow for a two game series with the Aggie baseball nine.

While the Farmers' defeat at the hands of the Pikers last week rooted them out of the head valley position, they still stand above the Tigers. The Aggies are working hard this week and expect to pile up the score on the Missourians.

W. K. Charles is in Lawrence this week on business.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Elkhart Dance

The members of the Elkhart club entertained with a dancing party in the recreational hall Friday evening. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Finn-Strother orchestra. The chaperones were Prof. and Mrs. A. M. Paterson, and Mrs. Cropp.

Delta Zeta Guests

Week end guests at the Delta Zeta house were: Miss Ruth Milton of Stafford, Miss Lenore Edgerton of Randolph, Miss Ethel Roop of Wakefield, Mrs. Blanche Baird Hultgren of Topeka, Miss Polly Mahaffey of Ottawa, Miss Helen Whitted of Topeka, Miss Neva Sloan of Salina, Miss Hazel Hess of Fredonia, Miss Virginia Mitchell of Kansas City, and Mrs. C. E. Shugart, Miss Ruth Gibbons, Miss Mildred Johnson, Miss Lucile Ohlson, and Miss Wilma Langworth of Lincoln, Nebr.

House Dance

The freshman members of Delta Zeta entertained with a house dance Saturday afternoon of last week. Decorations were in green and white. The dance was chaperoned by Mrs. David C. Bice.

Browning-Athenian

The Brownings could not have their annual "Daisy Hunt" last Saturday afternoon because of the rain. In the place of the hunt they gave an entertainment for the Athenians in the Browning-Athenian hall. The first part of the evening was spent in playing original games. Then the Brownings gave a short program after which "eats" of a substantial nature were served. The party was an enjoyable substitute for a daisy hunt.

M. E. Sunday School Hike

The men who are in the Methodist Sunday school classes of George Clammer and Dean E. L. Holton entertained the college girls who are in the classes of Mrs. E. L. Knostman, Mrs. Hall, and Prof. R. R. Price Friday evening with a hike to Mount Prospect. The class members met in Lover's Lane at 5:30 and hiked to Prospect where a wienie and marshmallow roast was held. A camp fire, games, and a short program occupied the evening.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. Frank C. Gates and Miss Dorothy Cashen entertained Saturday afternoon with a miscellaneous shower for Miss Ruth Hurd, in honor of her coming marriage to Mr. Edwin West. The guest list included: Miss Ruth Hurd, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Ackert, Mrs. Calderwood, Mrs. Conrad, Miss Martha Denny, Mrs. Frazier, Miss Mary Harmon, Mrs. Lienhardt, Mrs. Roger C. Smith, and Mrs. Zeigler.

Hold Initiation

Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity announces the initiation of L. H. Reyburn, S. D. Capper, Ray Feree, F. J. Maas, M. W. Watt, K. C. Frank, and R. W. Marshall, all of them officers in the R. O. T. C.

The annual spring initiation was held six miles west of town at the Scabbard and Blade camp from Saturday noon until Sunday noon.

Spring Party

Delta Zeta held its annual spring party, a rainbow dance, at Elks' hall Saturday night. The dance hall was decorated in rainbow colors and a profusion of spring flowers, and the floor lamps were shaded with umbrellas, to carry out the April shower idea. Features of the decorations were the rustic fountain, at which punch was served, and a large rainbow over the orchestra platform, with the fabled "Pots of Gold" at the ends of the rainbow. The hallway leading into the reception rooms was decorated as palm shaded promenade, and the reception room was converted into a rose garden in which light refreshments were served at quartette tables throughout the evening. Two favor dances, a rainbow dance and a flower dance, were given. Music was furnished by the Delta Tau orchestra from K. U.

Out of town guests at the dance were: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hultgren, Mr. Junior Gordon, Mr. James Knowles, Mr. Henry Eller and Miss Helen Whitted of Topeka, Mr. C. A. Powers, Mr. T. C. Reid of Lawrence, Miss Virginia Mitchell and Mr. John McIntyre of Kansas City, Mr. Edward Rolfe of Junction City, Mr. Walter Whitney of Portland, Ore.; Mr. Dan McIntire of Wakefield, Miss Polly Mahaffey of Ottawa, Miss Lenore Edgerton of Ranger, Tex.; Miss Ethel Roop of Wakefield, Miss Ruth Milton of Stafford, Miss Hazel Hess of Fredonia, Miss Neva Sloan of Salina, Mrs. C. E. Shugart, Miss Ruth Gibbons, Miss Mildred Johnson, Miss Wilma Langworth, and Miss Lucile Ohlson of Lincoln, Nebr. Other guests were: Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, Miss Araminta Holman, Mrs. Gray, and Miss India Reinholt. The dance was chaperoned by Mrs. D. C. Bice, Mr. and Mrs. A. Riddlebarger, and Prof. and Mrs. J. P. Calderwood.

Ray Kellog, who has been visiting friends in Manhattan the past week, left Sunday for his home in Wichita.

Ray Hahn, returned to Manhattan Monday from a two days' visit with his family at Clay Center.

Walter Gardner visited Friday and Saturday with his parents in Kansas City.

Miss Georgia Belle Critchfield spent the week end at her home in Geneseo.

Miss Lillie Cilley, head of the cataloging department of the library spent last week in Kansas City.

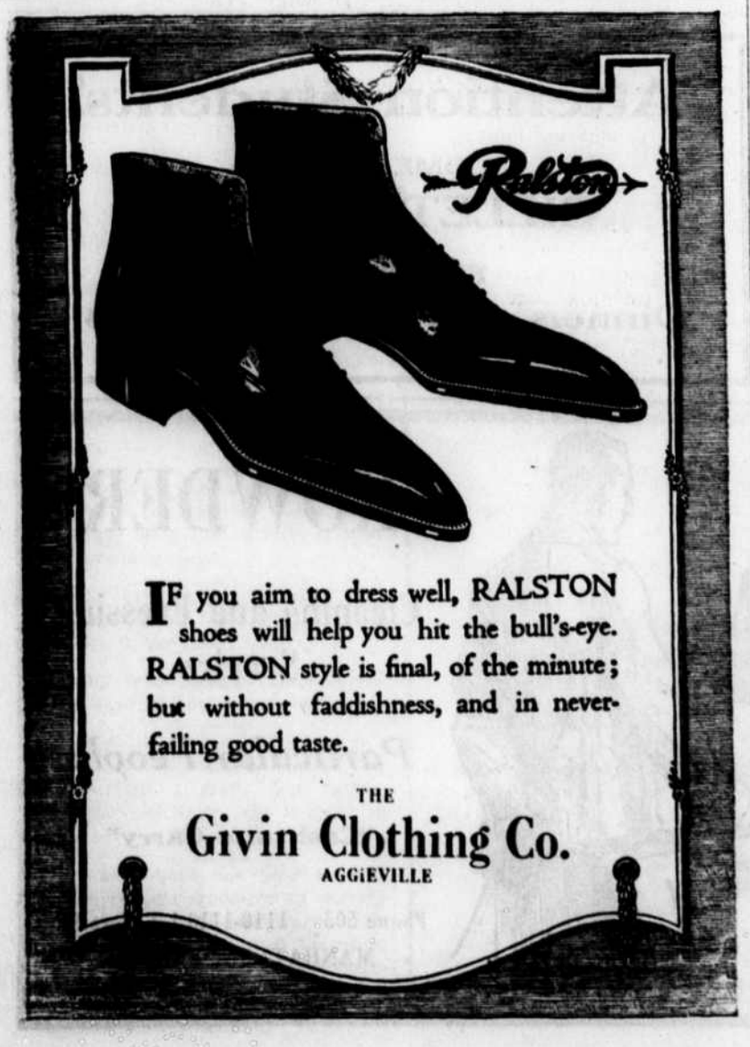

Miss Gladys Hoffman of Riley, spent the week end at the Tri Delta house.

THEY COOK, WAIT, KEEP HOUSE AND THEN ACT AS GENERAL ASSISTANT

Many people know that the college conducts a cafeteria and also a mess hall but few know that a practice house is conducted at 1409 Anderson for the purpose of giving home economics students actual experience in conducting household affairs. Fourteen people stay at this house, six of whom are home economics students who are taking the work for credit, and the others have the status of ordinary roomers.

The purpose of establishing the house was to prepare teachers for the schools that receive aid under the Smith-Hughes act which requires that all instructors in home economics shall have had experience in a practice house. The course of instruction lasts for six weeks and at the present time the second class of girls for this semester are taking the work. During the term of six weeks each girl takes her turn for six days at a time at each one of the following positions: cook, assistant cook, general helper, hostess, waitress, housekeeper, and general assistant.

Those who have taken the work up to the present time are Mary Hitch, Mabel Evans, Alice Mustard, Elizabeth Winter, Hazel Dyer, Amanda Rosenquist, and Marie Leer. Those now in the class are: Irene Miller, Josephine Sullivan, Helen Lawrence, Edna Wilkin, Alma Wilkin, Bertha Biltz, and Mabel Adams.

IF you aim to dress well, RALSTON shoes will help you hit the bull's-eye. RALSTON style is final, of the minute; but without faddishness, and in never-failing good taste.

Make a Name for Yourself.....

The young man who can not save money is doomed to go through life unknown and unsuccessful.

The man who does save shows that he is boss of himself, and ready to assume other responsibilities that may come to him.

Saving means more than having just so much money; it means building character, winning the respect of others and being able to grasp opportunity when it comes. It means making a name for yourself.

CONCERT TO TAKE PLACE OF ORATORIO

"HIAWATHA'S WEDDING FEAST" TO BE SUNG

THEO KARLE TENOR SOLO

With a Striking and Brilliant Musical Setting, the Familiar Story of Hiawatha Will Be Given

A change will be made in the customary Festival week program this year when "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," instead of "Elijah," "Messiah," or some of the other sacred oratorios, is given at the Sunday afternoon concert.

"Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" gives, in a striking and brilliant musical setting, the familiar story of Hiawatha. The musical setting has been arranged by S. Coleridge-Taylor.

Have Choruses

The chorus, both glee clubs, and many outside choruses, including those of Clay Center and Randolph, will sing "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" and the tenor solo "Onaway Awake Beloved" will be sung by the celebrated American tenor, Theo Karle, who is to give the Sunday evening concert. The college orchestra will accompany the chorus. Prof. A. E. Westbrook is directing the production.

Many to Appear

A greater number of persons appear in this annual choral recital than in any other affair during the college year. The chorus, which is augumented by the Clay Center and Randolph choruses, which Professor Westbrook assists in coaching during the year, always gives one of the most interesting programs of Festival week.

THE RULES FOR DAIRY JUDGING

CONTEST STARTS AT ONE O'CLOCK SATURDAY

Fifteen Minutes Given for Each Class and Additional Fifteen Minutes for Writing

The rules for the annual dairy judging contest, which is to be held Saturday afternoon, May 1, are as follows:

The contest will commence at 1 o'clock in the stock judging pavilion.

Any student of the college who has not won a prize in a former dairy judging contest or has not been a member of a college dairy judging team is eligible to compete in this contest:

Fifteen minutes will be given for placing each class and an additional 15 minutes will be allowed for writing reasons on each mature class:

Four animals shall constitute a class; in each breed there shall be one class of mature cows and one class of heifers.

The reasons and the placing will each count 50 per cent in grading the judging of the mature classes;

There shall be no communication among the contestants, or between a contestant and anyone else, except as directed by those in charge.

A. H. MEN MUST WORK WITH IDEALS---FARRELL

MORE MEN PLEDGED TO BLOCK AND BRIDLE

Farrell Says That Successful Men in Animal Husbandry Are Those Who Think for Themselves

Dean Farrell, speaking at the regular meeting of the Block and Bridle club Tuesday evening, said, "The men who succeed in animal husbandry are men who have ideals to work for and the men who are willing to think things out for themselves."

He spoke further of the essentials of leadership and the qualities which go to make success in A. H. work. It is his idea that the men who try to get more enjoyment and success out of their work will become better from the joy of living.

After the talk by Dean Farrell the club voted in the following new members: Hillary Mather, Chain Robinson, Lyle Leach, C. H. Stinson, A. L. Meserve, R. J. Hutchman, and C. B. Roberts.

Members of the English faculty are recommending to their classes the literature of Hiawatha's Wedding Feast, the production which is to be given during festival week by the college chorus.

APPLY FOR COLLEGIAN JOBS

THREE TRYING FOR BUSINESS MANAGER

Only One Application for Editor—Students Asked to Make Comment on Applicants

The following applications have been received for positions on the Kansas State Collegian for next year:

For editor: Miss Clementine Paddleford.

For business manager: Miss Enola Miller, Milton Eisenhower, Walter Karlowski.

It is requested by the Collegain board that students having any information which might influence the opinion of the board either for or against any of the candidates will communicate at once with the Collegian board, addressing all communication to Floyd Hawkins, chairman of the board. All communications will be held strictly confidential.

ASK FUNDS NOW FOR MEMORIAL

FIRST ATTEMPT WILL BE MADE ON MAY 7

Will be First of Series of Attempts to Get Money to Erect Memorial to Aggie Heroes

The first attempt this year to raise funds for the memorial to the K. S. A. C. men who served in the war, will be made Friday, May 7, by the women of the city Pan Hellenic association, assisted by representatives from the various sororities.

These women, many of whom are K. S. A. C. graduates, will conduct a booth at the band concert to be given Friday afternoon of Festival week, and Friday evening, when the opera "Spring Maid" is to be given. Candy will be sold among the audience.

This is the first of a series of affairs which will probably be given this spring and summer for the purpose of raising funds for the memorial, as the cause is one dear to the heart of every alumnus and friend of the college.

There are three committees from the city Pan Hellenic association working on the plans for Friday, all the committees being under the general supervision of Mrs. C. F. Baker, president of the city association.

STUDENT COMMITTEE WILL NOT GIVE THEM

DANCES IN RECREATION HALL ARE STOPPED

But Different Organizations May Use Hall To Give Dances and Other Entertainments

Lack of student support of the dances which have been held each Saturday night for the past few months has caused them to be discontinued by the student affairs committee.

Hereafter the hall will be let out to different organizations on the hill which may wish to give a dance on Saturday nights.

Saturday night the ex-service men are to have charge of a dance in recreation hall at which all college students who may wish to attend are welcome. An admission fee of 75 cents is all that will be charged. Good music is assured for the dance.

Prof. J. W. Searson gave a talk at the Sacred Heart Academy, Thursday on "Signs of the Educated Man."

Lady-like Apparel Causes Alumnus To Have Heart Failure

It's a great thrill to go back to one's Alma Mater and make a visit. One alumnus experienced an unusual thrill during a recent visit. It's a thrill that comes very few times, if any, in a lifetime.

He arrived on a delayed train during the wee hours and after chartering a taxi he succeeded in reaching the street number where his brother is rooming. "I have the first room at the head of the stairs" he recalled from his brother's letter.

So this reverend alumnus trudged slowly upstairs, softly opened the door entering "the room at the head of the stairs" and quietly walked in. After a short search he found the push button and turned on the light.

An unusual sight, for him, greeted his eyes. The room had a strange appearance—for a man's room. A kimona adorned one of the chairs. A pair of hose, unquestionably different from any his brother wore, were draped over another. Other articles of wearing apparel, all lacking the appearanme of masculinity, made up the other decorations.

But that wasn't all that took place. A delicate little "help" broke the deathly stillness. Mr. Alumnus suddenly felt that it was time to go. He happened to remember that he hadn't paid his taxi bill because the driver couldn't change a ten spot, so he went downstairs to settle his debt.

"You may take me to the Gillett" he told the driver, "there isn't room for me here."

Y. M. C. A. TO HAVE MEETING

HOLD CONFERENCE IN ESTES PARK THIS SUMMER

K. S. A. C. Will Send Delegates—Make Loans to Men Who Can Not Pay Their Own Expenses

The annual conference of college Y. M. C. A. men will be held at Estes park this year from June 11 to 21. An effort is being made to have 500 delegates for this conference and K. S. A. C. is asked to send as many men as will attend.

The ten days of the conference will not be entirely taken up by conferences, however, there being time for outdoor sports and chances for the enjoyment of the natural scenery of the park.

The Y is prepared to make loans to any men who do not have the money to pay their expenses for the trip. All those wishing to make the trip should obtain application blanks from the Y. Applications have to be in by June 4 to be sure of accommodations at the camp.

SENIORS SNEAK TO EUREKA LAKE

SO DEANS GET OUT ADDING MACHINES AND WORK

Have Long Job Counting Up Absences While Seniors Enjoy a Good Old Hookey Day

Thursday was the annual senior sneak day for the graduates-soon-to-be, when they forgot their cares and their worries to bring back the fond memories of their childhood days when they played hookey from school in the springtime to go to the country with a can of fishworms in one hand and a fishing pole over one shoulder.

The class-cutters left Thursday morning at 9 o'clock for Eureka Lake by interurban or such other means of conveyance as the individuals could afford. There they partook of the luxuries of a basket lunch without the bugs. It is too early in the season for bugs. After their appetites had been satisfied they indulged in the innocent pleasures of youth common to seniors in college.

Sneak day is an annual event of the senior class and, by the way, a holiday which does not receive recognition from the college authorities. The dean's secretaries are compelled to use an adding machine on the day following to figure up the cuts.

PRINT A THOUSAND COPIES

Printing Has Been Delayed Because of Shortage of Paper and Labor—Supported by Manhattan Advertisers

The Brown Bull, K. S. A. C.'s first humorous magazine, will go on sale next week in Anderson hall and in down town news stands. It is edited and published by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity.

Due to the shortage of paper and of the necessary labor to print the magazine, the publishing of the Brown Bull has been delayed considerably. However, the material is just as funny now as it was when it was first written.

Print Thousand Copies

Over a thousand copies have been printed and will be sold for 25 cents the copy to students, faculty members, and anyone else who wishes to buy one. A number of subscriptions have already been received.

Has 28 Pages

The magazine has 28 pages, including the cover. The cover is green, with black and brown printing. The design is a large brown bull, breaking thru a number of newspapers—his initial appearance. It was drawn by Don Ballou, special student in industrial journalism.

Supported By Advertisers

Manhattan business men and a few outsiders have supported the magazine in advertising. While it is the first issue of the Brown Bull, it is expected that it will be issued four times next year.

Members of Sigma Delta Chi, and Theta Sigma Phi, woman's journalistic fraternity, will sell the magazine.

Y IS GRANTING SCHOLARSHIPS

TWENTY, ALREADY GIVEN, RANGE FROM $35 TO $125

Y. M. C. A. Has Secured Additional Funds And Ex-Service Men Can Get Money Now

Since an announcement a short time ago that the Y. M. C. A. had scholarships available for ex-service men, who were worthy of the honor, there have been granted 20 scholarships to ex-serivce men, ranging in size from $35 to $125. All of the men who have received these scholarships, with the exception of one, are now attending K. S. A. C.

An additional allotment has been obtained by the Y and it is now possible for more men to get these scholarships if they need them to finish out the year. All of the student loan funds of the college are exhausted for the rest of this year and the additional allotment of scholarships for ex-service men will be much appreciated.

The granting of the scholarships is done by the educational committee which is composed of S. J. Pratt, president Citizens State Bank, Dean E. L. Holton, E. J. Jelden, representing the American legion,, C. C. McPherson, for the ex-service men, and Dr. A. A. Holtz. Doctor Holtz is chairman of the committee and anyone wishing to obtain a scholarship should make application at his office.

Miss Opha Zetta Babb left Tuesday night for Wichita, where she will attend the wedding of a cousin. Miss Babb will spend the remainder of the week at her home in Douglass.

Miss Helen Priestly has been called home because of the serious illness of her mother.

Miss Hazel Hess, of Fredonia, who has been the guest of Miss Izil Polson and Miss Madge Price for several days, left Wednesday for a visit in Lawrence.

Green Reflections

"We see others as a reflection of what we are" said Professor Peterson, in a psychology class lecture.

"If we criticise others for being selfish we must be careful; for if we but pause to look within our own lives, we will find the selfishness in others only a reflection of what we find within ourselves.

"Now as I look out of the window," said the professor, "and look at that tree it appears to me, green." Here the lecturer paused, embarrassed by the laughter of the students.

FARMERS TAKE TWO FROM M. U.

DEFEAT TIGERS 6 TO 2 AND 3 TO 1

Feature of First Game Was Snapp's Steal on Home Plate—Tigers Made a Homer

The second game with the Tigers resulted in a 3 to 1 victory for the Aggie baseball nine.

Nine Kansas Aggies played real baseball Wednesday afternoon and beat the Missouri Tigers 6 to 2, in the ninth Missouri valley contest, this being the Aggies' sixth victory.

"Mac" Magrath, on the mound for the locals, was not up to his standard in pitching, allowing eleven scattered hits and giving free transportation to six Missourians. But his teammates, by exceptionally brilliant fielding, pulled him out of many deep holes. "Lefty" Agnew got his third home run of the season in the second inning.

Snapp Stole Home

Canterbury, third baseman of the visitors was easily the mainstay of the hitters, getting a home run, a triple and a free ride in three times at bat. The Aggies were good on base running, getting five stolen bases. The feature of the game was when Snapp stole home base while the catcher was asleep.

GOVERNOR ALLEN AT PROM TONIGHT

IS BIGGEST JUNIOR - SENIOR PROM EVER GIVEN

Admittance Will Be Only by Invitations but Dues May Be Paid at the Door

The stage is all set for the biggest junior-senior prom in the history of the college. It will be held tonight in Nichols gymnasium. Governor Allen, members of the state board of administration, the deans of every division of the college, and the mayor of Manhattan, are among those who have been invited to attend the big event.

Decorations Going Up

Z. W. Coy of Pelletiers from Topeka, started work early this morning on the decorations, which will be in pink and white.

There are about 500 juniors and seniors who are eligible to attend the prom this evening. The reception starts at seven-thirty and the dancing will last until one.

Must Take Invitations

Admittance at the door will be only by invitations but those juniors who have been late in paying their special assessments may still do so at the door this evening.

Prof. J. W. Searson and Prof. E. L. Holton are attending the School Master's club banquet at Lawrence.

LOOK INTO THIS

Editor of Collegian: When any individual or organization makes an outstanding success here at K. S. A. C., I'm sure they deserve public recognition of that success.

The Collegian recognizes the achievement, but that is expected by all. I believe if someone outside of the regular Collegian contributors takes the time to send in a word of praise, it is even more greatly appreciated. This is the stand I wish to take when I say that I think that our Aggie band deserves a big vote of praise from the faculty and student body. They have worked hard and have succeeded. When they played "Stars and Stripes Forever" at the last concert I came very nearly jumping out of my seat, and I think there were a great many more who were pleased to the same degree.

So once again, let's all stand and give the band a rousing "Hip Hooray."—A Junior.

Editor Collegian: Of what use is an agricultural college? We often hear criticisms out over the state that we are not practical and we always ignore that statement but at the present time there is an example of this impracticability right before our very eyes.

I refer to the common weed, Shepherd's Purse, that may be found on the campus now. It is the weed with little white flowers and is now about 8 or 10 inches tall. Every day the college receives letters from people in the state asking how they might rid their lawns of this pest. The reply and treatment are simple because this is an annual weed that is propagated by the seed and all that is necessary to eradicate it is to keep it mown off for one season.

This is the recommendation given the citizens of the state but the college does not seem to think much of the recommendation because it is not practiced here in our own lawns. It seems to me that the department that has the care of the campus under their jurisdiction would at last try to get rid of this weed when it is so easily done. In less than a week the seeds of this weed will be matured enough to grow and then their efforts will be fruitless. Immediate action is the only way to control such circumstances. If we cannot practice such things that are so easy are we competent to give advice to others? It seems as if we were not a living example of our worth.—An Ag. Student.

COLLEGE ENGAGES ARCHITECT TO AID FARMERS IN BUILDING

Specialist Now Available Through Extension Division

"Better and more convenient farm buildings are just as essential for the improvement of farm life in Kansas as better seeds and livestock," says H. H. Umberger, dean of extension, Kansas State Agricultural college.

Heretofore no one has offered the Kansas farmer definite help in planning his farm plant. His buildings have been put where he needed them most that year, and the carpenter and mason did his planning for him. Hereafter this will not be necessary since the extension division of the agricultural college has employed an experienced architect to assist rural tax payers in planning and building farm homes.

Walter G. Ward, formerly head of the department of architecture and drawing at the North Dakota Agricultural college, has been employed to head this work in rural architecture. While Mr. Ward has had experience in various lines of building construction he has made a special study of rural architecture from the standpoint of utility, general arrangement, sanitation, and adaptation to climatic conditions. Farmers who have building problems the coming season should consult with Mr. Ward through the extension division of the college.

POSTERS OF MAY FETE SHOW DANCING FLOWERS

Were Painted by K. S. A. C. Girl Now in Arizona

Dancing in joy at the coming of spring—that's what the Spirit of Spring and the flowers are doing on the May Fete posters.

The posters came from Tucson, Ari., and were painted by Miss Eugenia Fairman, a graduate of K. S. A. C. Miss Fairman is a Manhattan girl, although she is now in Tucson. She has made posters for former May Fetes and Aggie Pop night celebrations.

The posters show the dancing of the spring flowers. Pan is to be there and all of the spirits of spring and the butterflies. It is all to be just as beautiful and interesting as the May Fete posters.

Dr. L. Jean Bogert spent last week end in Kansas City.

Dr. A. A. Holtz will speak on "The Three Bears," at 8 P. M. Sunday at the Congregational church. 1t

HAVE CONTEST SELLING TICKETS FOR MAY FETE

Loving Cups to be Given to Each of Two Highest

The May Fete ticket selling contest will be staged Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The affair is being managed jointly by the Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. and a total of 11 committees, each of which is composed of 19 fair Aggie co-eds, will aid in selling the tickets.

Loving cups will be given to each of the two women selling the most tickets. The committee selling the most tickets will entertain with a dinner or with a line party to one of the shows.

She Raised Her Son with Printer's Stick and Big Brass Rule

It often happens that mothers use the golden rule and a stick, but A. V. Meade, a sophomore in industrial journalism, says that his mother used a brass rule and a printer's stick on him. That may help explain why he chose sticking type and writing feature stories as a part of his college work.

Forty-two years ago his mother, who was then Miss Ina Hosemer, came to K. S. A. C. to go to school. She took printing, which consisted of setting type for the Industrialist. After leaving college, Miss Hosemer worked seven years for a newspaper at Clay Center.

Miss Hosemer met Mr. Meade and they were married. Later, they moved to the state of Washington, where Mr. Meade became governor of the state. After the death of Mr. Meade in 1904, his family moved back to Kansas.

A. V. Meade, the son of Governor Meade, enrolled in the department of industrial journalism last year and is now not only using the brass rule and the printer's stick but is writing prize winning feature stories for the college paper.

AGGIE ASPIRATIONS

The Weatherman's April Fool

Shure, a little bit of spring time fell out of the sky one day,
And nestled on the campus of a school not far away,
And when the weatherman found it,
shure it looked so out of place,
He said, "Suppose I show her that she'll have to hide her face:"
So he sprinkled her with black dust
just to make her finery show
Less brightly so that she'd surely have to go;
Then he covered her with snow banks to make her blossoms
fade,
And when he had her finished, shure
they had to use a spade.

Women's faults are many,
Men have only two,
Everything they say and
Everything they do.

—G. P.

I've always thought a senior
Was to have a little fun,
But I don't see how I'm going to,
And get my work all done.

I've labored hard for four long years,
Looking forward to this time,
When I should be a senior,
And my time be partly mine.

But I've been evidently misinformed,
For as the days go by,
I find my only chance for rest,
Is lying down to die.

Notebooks must be handed in,
Special quizes to be taken,
Gee!—I wish this was a dream
From which I could awaken.

Turn failure into victory
Don't let your courage fade;
And if you get a lemon,
Just make the lemon aid.

"The use of Goodyear Cord Tires on our trucks enables us to load fruit at the trees and deliver direct to the packing house without resorting to slow team hauling at all. The heavy sand in the groves makes it an utter impossibility to use solid tires in this work unless loads are transferred from teams to trucks at the road, a wasteful method."—W. F. Belcher, Packing House Manager, John S. Taylor Company, Citrus Fruit Packers, Largo, Florida

THE all-round ability of Goodyear Cord Tires on trucks, as evidenced in many cases like this, reduces much farm work connected with hauling as well as the actual time, labor and cost of the hauling itself.

A truck on the tractive Goodyear Cord Tires easily penetrates the plowed, miry and sandy interiors of farms, whereas a truck on solid tires, handicapped by lack of traction, must have crop loads brought to it at the roadside.

Where men's shoulders must help budge sticking wagon wheels and horses are injured by hard pulling, the gripping Goodyear Cord Tires roll through easily, quickly and quite smoothly.

They are here, there and everywhere, keeping up with pickers and threshers, supplying grinders and cutters, doing chores between hauls and going to town and back with a saving of time that is intensely valuable.

All their advantages, curtailing manual work and assisting motor work on the farm, are combined with an extraordinary toughness by Goodyear Cord construction, a result of that thought and care which protect our good name.

The farm records of many sets of Goodyear Cord Tires, detailing savings effected and mileages ranging from 12,000 to past 35,000, can be obtained by writing The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio.

STATE HIGH SCHOOL MEET HERE MAY 8

ONLY OFFICIAL TRACK MEET TO BE HELD IN KANSAS

Entries Will Be Athletes That Win Either First or Second Place in District Meets

The annual state high school track meet will be held May 8 on the college athletic field. It will be the only official track meet held in Kansas this spring.

"A great deal of interest is being taken in the meet," said Coach Clevenger, who is in charge of the event, "it will undoubtedly be the best contest ever held."

The entries will be the athletes that win either first or second place in the district meets that are being held in the various congressional districts this week end. This means that only the best men will be entered and that every event will be fast and interesting.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

For Mrs. Willman

Mrs. Edward Fishback entertained Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Davis, 532 N. 14th with a progressive conversation party in honor of Mrs. Edith Willman of New York, who is visiting her daughter, Miss Edith Willman. Guests included: Mrs. Edith Willman, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. Z. G. Clevenger, Mrs. C. E. Rogers, Mrs. J. E. Ackert, Mrs. Leinhardt, Mrs. Latshaw, Mrs. Harry Umberger, Mrs. C. W. McCampbell, Mrs. Frazier, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Sewell, Mrs. Nevin, and Mrs. Hahn. Miss Katherine Bower assisted Mrs. Fishback in serving.

Purple Masque Pledging

The members of the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity held pledge services Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, in the public speaking room, for the following persons: Mrs. Grace Bowman, Miss Rowena Thornburg, and Mr. Eugene Huff.

Hamp-Io Egg Roast

The members of the Hamilton and Ionian literary societies held their annual egg roast Saturday afternoon and evening. The roast was held at Eureka Lake. A ball game and informal program occupied the afternoon. The egg roast, which is the fourteenth affair of this sort which the societies have held, was chaperoned by "Doc" Wagner and Miss Grace Derby.

Surprise Party

The Chi Omega fraternity entertained at 6 o'clock dinner Thursday evening with a surprise party for their house mother, Mrs. G. A. Gray. The dinner table was decorated with candles and flowers. The guests present were the fraternity house mothers: Mrs. McCleod of the Beta Theta Pi house, Mrs. Pasemore of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, Mrs. Norris of the Sigma Nu house, Miss Perry of the Sigma Phi Epsilon house, Miss Smith of the Acacia house, Mrs. Birdsall of the Delta Tau Delta house, Mrs. Bassler of the Kappa Sigma house, Mrs. Lair of the Alpha Theta Chi house, and Mrs. Sargent of the Pi Kappa Alpha house.

Entertains for Kappas

Mrs. J. D. Colt, one of the patronesses of the Kappa Kappa Gamma women's fraternity, entertained with a dinner party at Elk's hall Friday evening in honor of the active members of the chapter, some of the alumni members and a few other special guests. The dinner was served at 7:30. Decorations of palms, ferns, and paper festoons in the colors of the fraternity, light blue and dark blue, were used as decorations. After the dinner the floor was cleared and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Among the alumni and special guests who were entertained at the party were Mr. and Mrs. George Southern, Mrs. N. A. Miller, Miss Lovejoy, Miss Helen Clark of K. U., Miss Nell Carie of K. U., Miss Betty Cotton of Wamego, Miss Emily Lofinck, and Dr. J. D. Colt.

Spring Party

The formal spring party of the men's Pan Hellenic council was given Friday evening, April 23, in Harrison's hall, which was simply, but effectively, decorated with the emblems of the different fraternities. Shaded floor lamps were used for the lighting system. Comfortable chairs and davenports were tastefully arranged around the hall. The orchestra played behind a screen of palms and ferns. Luncheon was served during intermission, to about 100 couples.

Chaperons were Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, Miss Elsie Smith, Miss Josephine Perry, Mrs. Bessie Webb Birdsall, Mrs. J. L. Bassler, Mrs. Emma Pasmore, Mrs. Inez Sargent, Mrs. Mayme Scott MacCleod, and Prof. C. D. Chistoph. Music was furnished by Shofstall's five piece orchestra.

The fraternities in Pan Hellenic are Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Beta Theta Pi, Acacia, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Kappa Sigma, and Alpha Psi.

Engagement Announcement

Miss Clara Belle Howard entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Brainard with an announcement party and miscellaneous shower for Miss Mabel Bentley.

When the guests went to the dining room, pink heart shaped cards were found at each place, bearing the announcement: "Miss Mabel Bentley, Mr. Carl Imes of Portland, Ore., June, 1920."

Miss Bentley is a senior in industrial journalism, and is prominent in many different student activities, being a member of the Browning Literary society, Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism fraternity for women, Forum, and K debater. She is also chancellor of Quill club.

The following guests attended the party: Miss Nell Hord, Miss Agnes Howard, Miss Angie Howard, Miss Jewell Sappenfield, Miss Blanche Sappenfield, Miss Edith Wheatley, Miss Lucretia Sholer, Miss Luella Sherman, Miss Lottie Sherman, Miss Florence Mather, and Mrs. Mollie Moser.

She Digs All Night For Hidden Treasure In a Mound of Snow

Midnight and the snow lay soft over the quiet little mounds. A student stole out of her dwelling and slunk into the back yard where these little mounds rose in the moon light.

She kneeled in the snow, her long braid and bathrobe flopping wildly in the moaning wind. Eagerly she brushed away the snow with her bare hands and dug her fingers in the soft earth below. She dug and dug and dug chanting softly to herself all the while. Occasionally she would stealthily take something from the ground and put it in her pocket.

Once she stopped and took all the little particles from her pocket and, "One, two, three, four," she wailed. "And I've got to have seventeen, will I ever find them?"

Is she hunting for some hidden treasure or is this where the pet kitten is buried?

No, she is digging for seeds in her landlady's garden, and perhaps if she digs all night she will find enough to satisfy the botany instructor who has demanded that she find enough seeds for the whole class for the next time.

BRINGS MEMBERSHIP OF ORGANIZATION TO 30

Many Manuscripts Were Submitted This Time—Interest Was as Great as Last Fall

In the recent contest for membership in the Ur Rune of the American College Quill club, eight persons were successful.

The interest in this contest was almost as great as that shown last fall. This made the competition keen and the membership committee was able to select enough persons of ability to raise the membership to 30, the number set as a limit by the constitution.

The initiation will be held within the next two weeks. Those to be initiated are: Vernon Bundy, L. G. Phifer, Raymond Nichols, Walter Law, Don Ballou, Miss Jessie Adee, Miss Gertrude Ramsey, and Miss Gladys Hartley. In addition to these, Ralph Foster, who was elected to membership during the winter, will be initiated.

GAMMA SIGMA DELTA ELECTS

CHOOSES NEW MEMBERS FROM STUDENTS AND FACULTY

Is a National Organization and Is Strictly Honorary— Chapters In Many Colleges

The honorary society of agriculture, Gamma Sigma Delta, has recently elected new members. The organization is national and is strictly honorary in character.

Faculty Members

Prof. F. W. Bell, animal husbandry; Prof. H. F. Lienhardt, veterinary pathologist; Prof. P. L. Gainey, soil bacteriologist; Prof. W. L. Latshaw, analytical chemist, were elected to membership.

Other Members

Others who were elected are: Dorothy Cashen, F. E. Fox, E. S. West, Boyd F. Agnew, Raymond Campbell, Morris Evans, W. W. Fetrow, Paul L. Findley, A. W. Foster, G. A. Gemmell, W. R. Horlacher, C. L. Howard, G. L. Ikenberry, Arthur L. Myers, Jesse B. Myers, Nevels Pierson, Luella Schaumburg, Oscar Steanson, Charles Swingle, P. H. Virtanen, S. A. Watson, Ivan A. White, Nelson J. Anderson, John W. Andrews, and Joseph R. LaMont.

Roy K. Durham, senior in general science, and Charles R. Enlow, senior in agriculture, have previously been elected to membership.

Many Chapters

Gamma Sigma Delta has chapters at Iowa State college, University of Missouri, Utah Agricultural college, Oregon Agricultural college, Kansas Agricultural college, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, University of Minnesota, Pennsylvania State college, University of Nebraska.

The society seeks to enter only such land-grant colleges as maintain equally high standards. The object of the society as stated in the constitution is: "To encourage high standards of scholarship in all branches of agricultural science and education and a high degree of excellence in the practice of agricultural pursuits."

Members of the faculty engaged in the work of agriculture or closely related science and who have rendered service in the cause of agricultural development are eligible to membership. Students whose scholarship records place them in the upper one-fourth of their class and who have majored in agriculture or closely related sciences are eligible.

MI LADY'S COLUMN

Mi Lady—I read in the Kansas City Post that some great doctors think there should be a law against kissing in the morning. Kissing in the morning they claim is more unsanitary than at any other time during the day, as the sun has not yet had time to sterilize the lips. Mi Lady do you think students should accept this advice?—One Who Has Chapel Dates.

Dear Little Chapel Date—Kissing is one of the greatest causes of the spread of disease germs. But as this is spring time and you are only young once—well, what is the difference whether it is morning, noon, or night? Any way perhaps the Post was joking.—Mi Lady.

Mi Lady—I am a poor lonesome freshman who wants to know if it is right to yodle when eating soup. I find that one can make much more noise with a thin soup than with the thick vegetable kind. Four of us were eating the other evening and I never thought about it until then, but really soup is such a noisy dish. Please advise me as to the correct method of manipulating it.—Meeker.

Dear Meeker—Never make any more noise than possible when eating no matter how noisy the dish may be. Soup, crackers, celery, and apples are all hard to eat in company but remember to be as quiet as possible.—Mi Lady.

Mi Lady—What are girls coming to next in hair dress? I thought I was in style when I got my puffs three inches thick. Now they are making them extend across the back of the head thus making a fan shaped silhouette. I am not blessed with much hair and do not know how to fix it the new way; and all of my companions do. I do not want to be out of style and old-fashioned, so please tell me what in the world I can do. It is a problem of great importance to me. —Juanita.

Dear Jaunita—Don't be worried dear, three inch puffs ought to look all right for a while yet. Perhaps you can watch some of the girls fix their hair and if you haven't enough you can buy more at a fairly cheap price. Just watch closely as I don't know myself how to fix my hair that way or I would advise you further.—Mi Lady.

Purple Masque Initiation

The members of the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity held formal initiation services Thursday afternoon in the office of Dr. J. G. Emerson for the following persons: Miss Renna Rosenthal, Mr. Herbert McClelland, Mr.C. C. Wilson, Mr. Harold Layton, and Mr. George Sconce.

Alpha Theta Chi announces the pledging of P. J. Hershey, sophomore in engineering.

Francis Totten returned Wednesday from his home in Beattie where he spent the week end.

H. S. Wise spent Thursday in Topeka on business.

HE'S BROKEN LOOSE

The Brown Bull has broken through the corral gate at last and is out in the open. He is ready to parade the campus but in order that all may see him at the same time, he will wait until next week. After pawing around a bit, he will appear in Anderson hall. A glimpse of him costs you nothing, but if you want to see all there is to see, pay 25 cents and he will stop his pawing and let you count his teeth.

Would Be Ducklings Try New Strokes on the Nice Dry Land

"I'd love to save you, Molly dear,
In fact I feel I'd oughter;
There's just one thing prevents me, dear,
I never swim in water."

The above has been suggested as a class song for the young men who are enrolled under the physical training instructor, who is endeavoring to teach his pupils to swim on dry land.

It is believed by the instructor that the pupils will be able to learn the strokes by the land practice, and acquire such coordination that they can strike out and swim if the great moment ever comes.

So firmly is the idea fixed in the instructor's mind that his young would be ducklings will sometime be called upon to rescue a sinking soul from the briny deep, that he has even gone so far as to teach his students the latest and most approved methods of rescuing—all on dry land of course.

"We are teaching the men how to tow in a man who has lost his head," says the instructor.

"Yes, yes" we nodded, thinking all the while, how awkward it would be to drag in a headless man.

"After the drowning man has been pulled out of the water, he may be unconscious and need something to revive him," continued the instructor.

"Yes, yes" we replied, but we stopped just before we asked him if the latest model of land rescuing suits had special pockets for the most reviving brands of near beer.

The annual banquet of the Forum honorary debating society, will take place Wednesday, May 14.

Miss Florence Heizer of the English department was called to Topeka on business Tuesday.

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Tuesday evening were Miss Hildegarde Kneeland and Miss Irene Dean.

Prof. Robert W. Conover made a business trip to Kansas City Thursday.

Miss Polly Mahaffey, who was a week end guest at the Delta Zeta house, left Monday for her home in Ottawa.

THE REV. E. I. GOSHEN FOR BACCALAUREATE

BAND CONCERT ON MONDAY

Last Student Assembly of Year Will Be Held Wednesday of Commencement Week—Last Day Is May 27

Commencement week will begin Sunday May 23, at which time this year's seniors will start through the mill from which they will emerge one week later as college graduates.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered at 4:00 Sunday afternoon in the college auditorium, by the Rev. Elmer I. Goshen, Pastor of the First Congregational church in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Have Band Concert

There will be a band concert in the auditorium Monday evening by the college band under the direction of H. P. Wheeler.

"One Night Out," the senior class play, will be staged in the college auditorium Tuesday evening. Miss Florence Heizer is coaching the cast.

Last Assembly

The last student assembly of the year will be held at 10:15 Wednesday and the senior class will be in charge. At 2:00 that afternoon a business meeting of the alumni association will be held in C26. In the evening from 8:30 to 11:30 the alumni association will hold a reception in the recreational center for the class of 1920 and invited guests.

Last Day May 27

Commencement day will be on Thursday May 27. Marion LeRoy Burton PhD. LLD.,the newly elected president of the University of Michigan will deliver the commencement address at 10:00 in the morning in the auditorium. A luncheon for the graduates and invited guests will be given in the men's gymnasium at 12:15, by the alumni association. The annual alumni-vasity baseball game will be played at the athletic field at 3:00 o'clock.

ATTENDANTS FOR QUEEN ANNOUNCED

SIX ARE CHOSEN FROM THE SENIOR CLASS

Eight Boys to Act as Attendants—Queen to Have as Royal Following as the Real Queen of Sheba

The queen of the May is to have as royal a following and as many attendants as ever the real Queen of Sheba could boast of. The attendants are as follows:

Seniors: Miss Ernestine Biby, Pi Beta Phi; Miss Elizabeth Circle, Ionian; Miss Frances Lovett, Alpha Delta Pi; Miss Laverne Webb,Eurodelphian; Carl Roda, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Leo Magrath, Alpha Psi.

The juniors chosen as attendants are: Miss Marcia Seeber, Eurodelphian; Miss Irene Graham, Iota Psi; David Capper, Athenian; Hobart May, Kappa Sigma.

The sophomore attendants are: Miss Rowena Thornburg, Ionian; Miss Ruth Peck; Everett Willis, Kappa Sigma; W. C. Wilson.

The freshmen chosen to attend the Queen at the crowning are: Miss Lois Edmundson, Chi Omega; Miss Bertha Butler, Browning; B. Spratt, Acacia; and P. C. Kincaid, Pi Kappa Alpha.

Fourteen men from the military department, under the leadership of Captain Scully and Sergeant Steiner, took a military hike to Wamego last week end. The men went in an army truck and pitched camp with the regular army shelter tents.

Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Tau Delta house were Miss Thelma Dobson, Miles Forrester, Haro Mohlman, C. D. Gross, F. L. Dyer, H. A. Campbell, Merl Dobson of Winfield and Dick Fox of Kansas University.

Carl Trace and Jess Winfield spent the week end in Lawrence where they took their thirty-second degree in the Masonic lodge.

To Teach Agronomy

A letter recently received from Fred Griffee, agronomy 1919, says that he has accepted a position as assistant in plant breeding in the department of agronomy of the Minnesota experiment station at St. Paul. Mr. Griffee has been taking graduate work at Minnesota during the present college year and expects to receive his master's degree in June and to take up his new work on July 1. He will be allowed about one third time for study which will make it possible for him to receive his doctor's degree in three to five years. Mr. Griffee was married in June, 1919 to Miss Lois Bellamy, also a member of last year's senior class.

APPEARS AFTER CHAPEL FRIDAY

MOTTO IS "FIRST COME FIRST SERVED"

Purchasers of Magazine Will Be Subject to Fits After Reading Free Verse, Etc.

"Throw 'im Cow Boy!"

That's going to be the rallying cry about next Friday. On the fateful day the Brown Bull will make his appearance directly after chapel is over. He will appear on the town news stands simultaneously.

It's going to be no trick at all to lasso the brute. All that will be required is a two-bit piece, and a disposition to take a chance on perishing from hysteria that may be superinduced by reading too many of the quips, jokes, witticisms, and epigrams with which he is overflowing.

It is rumored that the Sigma Delta Chi bull throwers who have had charge of the animal during his long period of confinement in the print shop have been feeding him on free verse. 'Tis known by all well informed students that free verse if fed in combination with a properly balanced ration of verse libre and prose poetry will put what is commonly known as the "old zipp," alias, "jazz" into any animal of the type of the Brown Bull.

There are only 1,000 copies of the magazine printed and there are 2,500 students on the hill. It figures out mathematically that there will not be enough to go around. "First come first served" is the guiding principle of the keepers of the bull.

GIVE PRIZES IN STOCK JUDGING

NUMBER OF CUPS WILL BE GIVEN TO WINNERS

Men Who Take Part Will Have Good Chance for the Stock Judging Team Next Fall

The men who take part in the spring stock judging contest are the men who, in all probability, will be on the stock judging team next fall which will visit the large livestock shows of the country. Six out of seven of the men who were in the stock judging team last fall were men who were in the upper ten in the preceding spring contest. The spring contest will be held this year on May 12.

The Kansas Livestock association will award a cup to the high man in the contest, Sweet and Piper Horse and Mule Co. of Kansas City, a cup to the high man in horse judging, the Kansas City Stockyards company a cup to the high man in cattle judging, the Wichita Stockyards company a cup to the high man in hog judging, Clay Robinson and company of Kansas City, a cup to the high man in sheep judging, and Colonel Brady, an auctioneer of Manhattan, will give a cup to the highest man in the junior contest.

Miss Helen Halm, '05, has been chosen supervisor of home economics education for the state of Arizona withheadquarters at Tucson, Ari., at a salary of $3,000 per year. Miss Hahn is now teaching in the Cincinnati university.

Walter Morris and daughter, Miss Harriet Morris, of Wichita, will visit Miss Luella Morris during Festival Week.

Jack Evans went to his home in Osage City Saturday morning, returning with his car on Sunday.

No Bolsheviki Are Discovered Among College Professors

The Aggie profs are not like the students of Hays; they have not taken up the Bolshevist ideas and literature, which necessitates a call to Washington for help.

Investigations prove that the Aggie, "men of learning," are safe from such propaganda, even though one of the chief men of affairs did become uneasy. The uneasiness of this man of affairs was the direct cause of an investigation. An aspiring-to-be journalist, received the assignment to interview ten of the professors on the hill to ascertain what they carried in the left hip pocket of their trousers.

As for the profs, they were all safe. With the exception of two, when the question was put, they drew forth a sadly flattened pocket book in every case. One of them complained that this was the last of the month and the reason their pocket books were flat, but he was a married man so we can easily account for the flat pocket book in his case.

One Aggie professor, who inhabits the land where they carve ca's, dogs, and frogs reached into his right hip pocket and drew out another flat pocket book and a bunch of keys. This made an embarrassing situation for the journalist since his instructions said left hip pocket and not right, yet he hated to tell said prof that he (the prof) did not know his left from his right. But another fellow inhabitant sensed the situation and came to the rescue of the journalist, by informing him that the said professor was left handed, consequently the mistake.

AWARD K'S TO THE DEBATERS

PRESIDENT JARDINE PRESENTS THE EMBLEMS

Twelve Men and Ten Women Are Given Letters for Work Done in Debate This Year

Twenty-two students, 10 women and 12 men were awarded the official K monogram, given to debaters who have participated in an inter-collegiate debate contest, at the student assembly last Friday morning. The K's were awarded by the Forum debating society.

President Jardine presented the K's to the students. In a short presentation speech, he stated that he hoped every student who could, would take advantage of the opportunities offered here to get some training in debate work.

The names of the students who were awarded K's for this year, are as follows: Miss Christine Cool, Miss Gladys Addy, Miss Mabel Bentley, Miss Ella Stinson, Miss Lucretia Sholer, Miss Irene Graham, Miss Marcia A. Seeber, Miss Caroline Sloop, Miss Florence Mather, Miss Dorothy Mosely, H. H. Nelson, Arnold Englund, E. E. Kimble, W. T. Rolfe, G. R. Schroll, V. V. Cool, A. C. Ramsey, Floyd Hawkins, Oscar Steanson, J. W. Barger, M. A. Graham, and C. J. Medlin.

MEDAL TO BE GIVEN TO MEN ON THE STOCK JUDGING TEAM

Block and Bridle Club Design the Watch Charm Medal

The local chapter of the Block and Bridle has designed a medal to be given to the members of the stock judging team. It is the plan that this medal may become a national emblem. The design has been sent to other chapters of Block and Bridle for their approval. If it is satisfactory, the medal will be made at once and presented to members of this years' judging team.

The medal is to be a watch charm in the form of a miniature of the large bronze bull which is given to the winning team at the International Livestock exposition each year.

The committee which designed this medal is composed of E. D. McCollum of Bogard, Mo., and D. Z. McCormick of Kansas City, Kans., both of whom are juniors in animal husbandry.

William Knostman spent the week end at his home in Wamego.

WEDNESDAY IS FIRST DAY OF THE FESTIVAL

ONLY ONE CHANGE MADE IN THE PROGRAM

CONCERT ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Chicago Opera Sextet Will Not Be Here—Miss Romaine, Soprano, and Mr. Leonard, Baritone, Are Coming

Festival Week, K. S. A. C.'s most enthusiastic period of the school year, will start Wednesday night with the faculty concert. The entire program will be carried out as formerly announced in the Collegian with but one exception.

Cancel Opera Sextet

Announcement has recently been made by the management that a concert by Margaret Romaine, prima donna soprano, and Lawrence Leonard, baritone, will be given Thursday evening of Festival Week.

The concert by Miss Romaine and Mr. Leonard will take the place of the concert by the Chicago Opera Sextet which was originally scheduled for this date.

Will Be Good Feature

"We feel that we are unusually fortunate to secure such noted artists for this engagement," said Prof. A. E. Westbrook when interviewed concerning the recently scheduled concert.

"Margaret Romaine and Lawrence Leonard are both real artists. The success of Miss Romaine as an American prima donna has been assured ever since she made her debut at the Metropolitan in the role of Musetta in the opera 'La Boheme.'

"Mr. Lawrence Leonard will be particularly interesting to us because it is so seldom that middle west audiences are given a chance to hear great artists early in their career. Mr. Leonard has created a sensation in the larger cities where he has sung."

MUSIC STUDENTS ARE SUCCESSFUL

MISS MACLEAN HEAD OF PIANO DEPT. AT HURON COLLEGE

Miss Backman at the Head of Piano and Violin at Doane College—Lois Hanna Supervisor of Music at Towanda

Success is coming to a number of students of the Kansas State Agricultural college who took their work in the music department, as will be evidenced in the fact that Miss Ferne Maclean who was a student here a short time ago is now the head of the piano department of Huron college, Huron, South Dakota, and L. D. Hanson, is now supervisor of music in the Kalamazoo, Mich., public schools.

Among the graduate students from this school who are also connected with the music instruction in other schools are Miss Inez Backman, who is at the head of the violin and piano department at Doane college, Crete, Nebr.; Miss Lois Hanna supervisor of music in the Towanda public schools and Miss Ollie Koltz supervisor of music in the Kanopolis public schools.

Other students who had their early work here in one of the various branches of the music department and are continuing their musical study at eastern schools are receiving recognition on account of their work.

BANANAS GROW HERE AS WELL AS IN THE TROPICS

Horticultural Department Has One Greenhouse Full of Them

Many Aggie students and visitors to the agricultural college do not know that they are not obliged to go to the tropics to see banana trees grow—at least not when they are here in Manhattan.

The tropical greenhouse, or show house as it is called by the horticulturists, contains many interesting tropical plants. The most conspicuous ones right now are the banana trees, some of which are blooming and others are bearing.

The trees are about 10 feet tall, the leaves measuring nearly four feet from tip to base. This species of tree is used extensively for decorative purposes.

The flower of the tree is a very dark red, about two inches in diameter and six inches long. The stalk on which the bananas grow forms as the petals fall off of the bloom. The fully developed stalk measures nearly two feet. The largest bananas on the stalk are now four and five inches long. The time required for ripening is two months.

The show house is at the southeast corner of the horticultural building, and anyone is allowed to visit it. There are many ferns, cactuses, and tropical fruits there.

K FRATERNITY INITIATES TEN

ELECT TWO MEN FOR ATHLETIC BOARD

Four Course Banquet Served at Harrison's Following Business Meeting

The K fraternity held initiation Thursday night for R. E. Cleland, A. W. Quinlan, Claud Hutto, L. A. Guilfoyle, Warren Cowell, R. D. Hahn, Ham Bunger, Fred Williams, Wright Turner, and William Knostman.

At a business meeting following the initiation two members of the K fraternity were elected to represent the fraternity on the athletic board, this being the first time in several years that the K men have had representatives on the board. The members elected are E. D. McCollum and Ham Bunger.

After the business meeting the men adjourned to Harrison's where a four course banquet was served. McCollum acted as toastmaster for the evening while Jack Evans, McGrath, Ham Bunger, Otto, and Rhoda responded to toasts. Mr. Jensen of the chamber of commerce of Manhattan made a talk on the betterment of athletics for the Aggies.

TRI-K CLUB PRESENTS PRIZES FOR GRAIN JUDGING CONTESTS

There Were Over 100 Entries to the Contest

At its regular meeting last Tuesday night the Tri-K club presented the winners in the Grain Judging contest with the prizes which they had won.

Karl S. Quisenberry, president of Tri-K made the presentation. Before doing this he made a short talk in which he told of the success of the contest this year. This was the second annual contest. Last year there were only 25 entries and three prizes, all of which were given by Tri-K. This year there were over a hundred entries and 13 prizes were given by newspapers, seed companies, Tri-K alumni, and active members of the club.

TWELVE COLLEGE MEN TAKE THE SCOTTISH RITE DEGREE

Five Course Banquet Was Given Thursday Evening

Twelve Aggie men returned Friday morning from Lawrence where they have been since Monday, having completed the work required of candidates for the Scottish Rite degree of Free masonry.

An elaborate five course banquet was given Thursday evening in honor of the class. The men from here were: F. W. Atkeson, H. M. Jones, V. S. Crippen, F. B. Stephens, C. M. Willhoite, J. C. Wingfield, H. J. Wyllie, A. N. Waters, G. C. Hedrick, C. S. Marshall, and C. F. Trace.

Bryan Perrault spent the week end visiting with his father and mother at Clay Center.

Leo Clark visited Saturday and Sunday with friends at Chapman, returning Sunday evening.

Dean Holton attended the schoolmaster's meeting at Lawrence last Friday.

Miss Ada Robertson has been called to her home in Washington by the illness of her mother.

FARMERS WIN FROM SOONERS BY SCORE 6-2

MAGRATH AND GUILFOYLE THE AGGIE BATTERY

PLAY AGAIN THIS AFTERNOON

Burton Leading the Aggies in Batting Before the Game With the Sooners — Snapp Standing Second

With Magrath, the Aggie pitcher, playing his best, the Farmers held the Oklahoma Sooners to two scores while they circled the diamond six times yesterday afternoon. Guilfoyle played an excellent game behind the bat. The Aggies and Sooners play again this afternoon.

"Ding" Burton, the popular Aggie athlete and now playing second base on the baseball nine, is leading the Wildcat batting league. He has been at bat 36 times and has made 13 hits. Snapp, who won first place in batting last year, now stands second, having made 15 hits out of 47 times at bat.

Give Team's Average

The batting average of the team is .268. The 10 men have been at bat 406 times and have made 109 hits. The men stand as follows:

Name	AB	H	Av
Burton	36	13	.361
Snapp	47	15	.319
Agnew	32	9	.281
Quinlan	54	15	.278
Mershon	47	13	.277
E. Cowell	58	16	.276
Dickerson	48	13	.271
Otto	20	4	.200
Guilfoyle	40	7	.175
W. Cowell	29	5	.173
Magrath	24	4	.166
Swingle	16	2	.125

ENGINEERS WILL WORK WITH AIRPLANE MOTORS

Students Will Not Fly But Will Test Engines

The engineering laboratories of the Kansas State Agricultural college received this week a Gnome airplane motor, an engine of French design. The Gnome has proven successful in the French air service.

The college engineering laboratories expect also to receive, within the next few weeks, motors of airplanes used by the other important allies, including the United States, Italy, and England. While it is not the purpose of the engineering division of K. S. A. C. to train areonauts or pilots, it is planned to have all engineering students somewhat familiar with the airplane motors which have proved most successful in the various countries. This instruction is particularly emphasized in the courses given to students in mechanical and electrical engineering.

Have Mother's Week

Festival week is to be observed as mother's week this year by the members of the Delta Zeta fraternity. The girls have chosen this particular time when there are so many entertainments being given at college, to invite their mothers, or in many cases both parents, to visit in Manhattan during the week.

Although the second Sunday in May has been observed for some years as mother's day, the observance of mother's week seems to be original with the K. S. A. C. girls.

The visitors who are expected for festival week at the Delta Zeta house are: Mrs. A. S. Wakefield of Culver, Mrs. Wilson of Luray, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Price and daughter, Lucille, of Fredonia; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Clarke of Paola, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Polson of Fredonia, Mr. and Mrs. George Robertson of Washington, and Mrs. H. T. Thurmond of Asta Grove, Mo.

Festival Week Visitors

Several mothers of Alpha Delta Pi girls will be guests at the chapter house during Festival Week. Those who are expected include Mrs. Gramse of Perry, Mrs. Spence of Hanover, Mrs. Kaull of Kansas City, Mrs. Brown of Concordia, and Mrs. Glenn of Medford, Okla.

Glen Kirkwood was a Friday dinner guest at the Alpha Psi house.

Beauty of Ferns Made Mr. Prince What He Is Today

When other children were gathering flowers, S. Fred Prince, when a boy, was hunting ferns. To him there is more beauty in the fern than in all the roses, violets, or other flowers poets sing about.

Even the bright colored flowers did not hold the attraction and beauty for Mr. Prince as did the first ferns he saw, when as a boy in Chicago over 40 years ago young Prince went on a picnic to the country.

He saw a beauty in the ferns which struck his fancy more than the beauty of the flowers. He gathered some of these ferns and took them home. These first ferns found when a boy formed the first of a large collection which he has been gathering for over 40 years.

Later in his life Mr. Prince took up drawing and painting. He is truly an artist in the drawing and painting of flowers, seeds, leaves, and plants in natural colors. He takes unusual joy and pride in the work.

Mr. Prince came to the agricultural college two years ago to do scientific drawing and painting. His work is of the highest quality. Many of his paintings are now used for illustration in various departments of the college.

He has gathered specimens of ferns never yet reported by anyone. What is now almost the heart of Chicago was once a land of swamps and timber where as a boy Mr. Prince hunted ferns. Along the shores of Washington state where now a visitor sees only wharves and cities he once was searching for new specimens of ferns. During a period of six weeks he visited 14 states always on the watch for, to him, the most beautiful of plants. Once when with a party on a trip through Yellowstone Park, while others of the party rode, Mr. Prince walked gathering specimens of new ferns in places rarely visited.

Little work has been done on the identification and classification of ferns. One variety has been called by 42 different names by different people. Ferns must be identified and classified before they can be named and identified. Mr. Prince has been spending his vacations and spare time for several years preparing a classification and description of this order of plants. He expects to complete soon a manuscript of 800 pages on fern identification, which he will publish. A description of each variety is accompanied by a drawing in its exact natural shade of colors.

Mr. Prince takes great pride in this work, even more than many persons show toward a work of any kind.

Miss Cecile Noffsinger and Miss Ula Noffsinger of Topeka, spent the week end with Miss Geraldine Noffsinger.

Miss Gladys Hoffman of Riley, spent the week end at the Tri Delta house.

G. B. Bailey visited his home in Pratt last week end.

Dented Alarm Clock Knows a Few Things That It Might Tell

I am the alarm clock. I stand here on the shelf—my legs wide apart like Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo. But no battlefields meet my gaze. Instead I gaze complacently on a room occupied by two Aggie seniors. This room is in a house on Bluemont avenue. More than this I cannot tell you.

But do not think that I lead a secluded life. I have had my share of excitement during the last four years that I have been with the "boys." When these seniors were freshmen, I was a spectator at many a roughhouse. Occasionally I participated, that is why one of my sides is caved in. But those wild days ended long ago. Seniors don't "roughhouse," you know. Besides they are too busy.

The boys call me "Little Ben." Well, I am pretty small—but I overheard one of the boys say that he wouldn't part with me for a farm—so I think size doesn't count in my case. You see I get him up in the morning, put him to bed at night and see that he isn't late to his meals on Sunday.

During the war, I was across the pond and all over France with my owner, who was a supply sergeant in the 89th division. Travelling in the bottom of a barracks bag, in a French box car, marked "40 hommes —8 cheveaux," is not the best way to see a country, but it couldn't be helped in our case. I really deserve a wound stripe— for part of me was left in the Argonne. That is why they wind me with a pair of pliers.

I know a lot of college dope too, but most of it is a secret. I know why a certain senior doesn't date a junior girl any more—and why the picture of a senior girl has taken the junior's place beside me. But that is fast becoming ancient history. What I mostly hear now is—"only four more weeks of school for us"—and "what am I going to do when I am through?" I hear someone trudging up the stairs, so I must shut up, for I am not supposed to talk for publication.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Mother's Day Celebration

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity held its annual Mother's Day celebration Sunday in honor of the mothers of the members of the fraternity. Mother's Day dinner was served at the Hotel Gillett, covers being laid for 56. The dinner was followed by an auto trip around the city and college, after which the guests were entertained at the chapter house. The following guests were present: Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kniseley, Miss Virginia Kniseley, and Mrs. C. M. Salisbury of Wichita, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Laude of Humboldt, Mrs. C. W. Howe of Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Drumm of Iola, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Winter of LeCompton, Mr. and Mrs. John Frost and Miss Hilda Frost of Blue Rapids, Mrs. G. O. Abbott and Mrs. H. M. Hope of Garden City, Mrs. A. L. Preston of Gorham, Mrs. George E. Turner of Kansas City, Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Davis, Helen Louise Davis, Mrs. Laura Denman, Prof. R. W. Conover, and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Bushong of Manhattan.

Pan Hellenic Dance

The freshman men's pan hellenic gave a spring dance Friday evening, April 30, at Harrison's hall. Music was furnished by the Shofstall orchestra. The fraternities represented in pan hellenic council are Acacia, Alphi Psi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

Chaperons were Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Durham, Prof. and Mrs. H. H. King, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers, Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Dykstra, Mr. and Mrs. Z. G. Clevenger, Dr. J. R. Macarthur, Prof. J. G. Emerson, and the house mother of each fraternity.

Zeta Kappa Psi Initiation

Zeta Kappa Psi, debating sorority held formal initiation services Monday noon in the Y. W. C. A. office for Miss Opal Seeber.

Held Initiation

Phi Delta Tau held initiation services Sunday morning for Leslie Curtis of Englewood, Harry Connell of Bazine, George Bush of Little River, and Earle Jackson of Manhattan.

Announce Pledging

Sigma Nu announces the pledging of Mr. Frederick Stimpson, freshman in veterinary science.

Sunday Dinner Guests

Sunday dinner guests at the Pi Kappa Alpha house included: Miss Ethel Erisinger and Miss Mildred Hilts of Emporia, Miss Florence Myer, Miss Elsie Deniston, Mr. William Greve, and Dean and Mrs. A. A. Potter.

Frosh-Soph Hop

Freshmen and sophomores finally got together and made the annual frosh-soph hop an overall and apron affair as it has been in the past. The only ones to appear in civilian clothes were the invited guests. The same decorations, orchestra, and lighting effect were used by the underclassmen as were used at the junior-senior prom the night before.

The big event of the evening was the presentation of the key by Williams, president of the sophomore class, to Spratt, president of the freshman class. The key was ushered in under the cover of darkness and left in the same manner. The whereabouts of the key will remain a mystery until another year goes by.

Junior-Senior Prom

The eleventh annual junior- senior prom was held at the Nichols gymnasium Friday evening from 7:30 until 1 o'clock. From 7:30 until 8:30 a reception was held, the following standing in the receiving line: Mr. Merton Otto, President and Mrs. W. M. Jardine, Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Willard, Miss Jessie Machir, Mr. Elmer C. McCollum, Dr. Helen B. Thompson, Dean and Mrs. F. D. Farrell, Miss Irene Graham, Dean Mary P. Van Zile, Mr. Kenneth Shideler, Dean and Mrs. A. A. Potter, Miss Esther Andrews, Dean and Mrs. R. A. Dykstra, and Miss Marcia Seeber.

From 8:30 until 9:30 the guests danced and from 9:30 until 10:30 the following program was given: M-O-C-K Melodies by Morgan, O'Brien, Carey, and Knapp; "Childhood Days" by Miss Rowena Thornburg, "Warbling" by Mr. Burton; "Little Pink Rose" by Miss Bess Curry and little Misses Harrison, Shafer, Otto, and Denton; "Clubs and Trumps" by Mr. Resor, and "Harmony Four" by Love, Fisher, Gross, and Newkirk. Following the program the Shepherd's Crook was presented by Leo Magrath, president of the senior class, to Merton Otto, president of the junior class. The hours between 10:30 and 1 were spent dancing. Shortly before 1 o'clock the large senior pin, which hung above the orchestra platform, was lowered as the orchestra played "Farewell to Thee."

Chairmen of the various prom committees were as follows: Junior-senior committee, Elmer D. McCollum; invitation committee, Miss Marcia Seeber; program committee, Miss Irene Graham; decoration, Miss Esther Andrews; refreshment, Kenneth Shideler.

AGGIE ASPIRATIONS

The Fate of Duty

One day as I was tripping gaily,
Down the King's Highway,
I met my good friend, Daily Duty,
But Duty was not gay.
Ah, she was noble and complete,
In every single way.

Said she: "I have a stint for you,"
And I: "'Tis time to play."
But Duty placed her hand on mine,
And led another way.
For Noble Duty, and complete,
Has led for aye and aye.

Someday, I ween, she'll meet her fate,
And be led quite astray,
Neglect, the rogue, will make her dance,
While he the pipes will play.
And fairies, elves and saints, alike,
Will celebrate the day.

—S. C.

It was an eve in May, and the moon shone bright,
As we strolled out along the stony way,
He walked close to my side, like a hero gay,
And his eyes were filled with a loving light,
But speechless were his lips and teeth so white,
And never had he seemed so far away,
Until his time, when I urged him to say
Words, which would be most dear to me this night,
He seemed to have a load upon his mind,
Which made him feel so very sad, I know,
But after all, the light shone in his eye,
Which made me feel the love, which still remained
Firm in his heart, so full and true, and so
We turned home, my little dog and I.

Hatpins, Safety Pins, Fraternity Pins, and Others

There are several kinds of pins. There are pins, hatpins, safety pins, hairpins, rolling pins, fraternity pins, and clothes pins. All people, pin headed and otherwise, use pins.

Safety pins are not fashionable and are not talked about much. Fraternity pins should not be confused with rolling pins; they are never rolling but frequently roving. Fraternity pins are worn on the left side of the middle of the front of a person and are worn for the same reason that a feathered chicken wears a blue ribbon on its leg. Which is probably for identification. Other kinds of chickens wear lace instead of ribbons.

When a person first gets a pin he has to mop floors and scrub the fraternity's mascot. Which is usually a dog but sometimes a goat. Also he gets paddled. Then he is the goat. After a while he gets another pin. Then he stops working altogether and helps paddle somebody else.

Pins are very deceptive, and don't mean what you'd think they would. For instance, people who wear arrows aren't Indians, and those who wear crescents aren't astronomers. Also, people who wear anchors aren't sailors, and those who wear lyres aren't—well, just aren't.

Sometimes a girl with a pin gets another pin from her beau. Then she wears the two strung together on a chain. Which means the same as a sign, "leased-for-the-season." When a girl gets two pins she grins like a Chessy cat. This makes other girls say she's a little cat and the man couldn't help himself. Which he generally can't.

To the student writing the best play and lyrics, any type, the Cosmopolitan club at Michigan university offers a prize of fifty dollars and a similar prize for the best music for the play.

Dr. J. E. Kammeyer, Miss Gertrude Bryan, and G. S. Shelley were Sunday dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

Miss Inez Oberg of Clay Center was a Saturday dinner guest at the Kappa house.

Miss Faye Young and Miss Mildred Sterling spent the week end in Clay Center.

Captain Terrill Is An All-Around Athlete—Is Coaching

When students on the hill ordinarily think of Captain Terrill it is as an army officer and not as a former college student, fraternity man, and athlete. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi fraternity and attended college at Swarthmore college at Swarthmore, Pa.

Swarthmore college is a Quaker institution and is heavily endowed. At the time he attended college all of the men were required to live in dormitories provided by the college on the college grounds. All of the athletes were fed at a common table at the expense of the college as long as they were in training. During his years in school practically all of his board was paid by the college as he went out for all athletics and especially for football, baseball, and track.

In 1902 Captain Terrell, then a student in college, won the 100 yard dash and broke the college record, his time being 9 4-5 seconds. Again in 1903 he ran with Arthur Duffey in the inter-collegiate meet at New York City, time 9 3-5 seconds. His record for the quarter is 49 seconds and for the broad jump is 22 feet four inches.

In 1904 he entered the army by competitive examination as a second lieutenant of the 19th infantry and was in a campaign against the Moros in Mindanao in 1903-6. His promotions came in the following order: first lieutenant, 1911; captain 1916; Major, 1917, and Lieut. Colonel, 1918. He was demoted to regular army rank in January 1919.

Captain Terrell came to K. S. A. C. in July 1919 and has always taken an active interest in the affairs of the students and the college. At the present time he is coaching the freshman baseball team.

Miss Luella Cory spent the week end visiting her parents at Leavenworth.

Miss Ruth Sankee spent the week end at her home in Lawrence.

Miss Marie Seeley of New York City is here this week visiting her friend, Miss Marie Hedrick.

Miss Grace Baker spent the week end in Baldwin.

CO-OPERATION IN WORKING FOR THE SCHOOL IS REAL SPIRIT—FRESHMEN

Freshmen students may have trouble in understanding why they should or should not wear first-year caps and other infantile capers but they are willing to work out a definition for "school spirit" and to suggest remedies and solutions for what seems a lack of it. This has been proved in the fact that members of the freshman college rhetoric class held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, seventh hour, under Miss Ada Rice, at the beginning of this semester took up the question of school spirit as a theme topic and have produced some arguments and explanations which may be helpful to the Student Self Government association as well as to the student body collectively.

Definitions of "college spirit" have ranged from the two simple words, "individual responsibility" to the more involved expression, "loyalty, intelligence, active interest, promotion of college interests aimed to produce success for the college." Another student says that "true college spirit comes only when the student, having found his talent, dedicates it to the service of the college life while he is a student." This same student urges every college student to take an inventory of himself or herself: find out what you can do, and having made the discovery serve your Alma Mater with that talent or that strength with which you intend to serve your life profession.

That too few college students try out for participation in college activities is the crux of the findings of these energetic freshmen. One especially meek student even suggested that power be vested in the powers that be making it compulsory that all students take part in some college affair at least once a year.

"There are too many side-liners and not enough actual doers" say these freshman students, among whom will be found students who are doing things in college. Their statement contains an expression from one student who believes heartily in " affiliation with an organization and having joined, giving it the best service and loyalty possible."

Questioning the existence of real college traditions, this group of students learned that there once had been a custom on this campus involving the possession of a "shepherd's crook." History revealed that there had been at one time enjoyable controversy over the whereabouts and securing of a spade which had been used in former years in the planting of the ivy which so protectingly adorns old Anderson nowadays. It was even discovered by these freshmen that "flag rushes" were once known on this campus. But those were in the good old days when college spirit fired the personal spirits of the students who walked the campus then—the same students who have since gone out into the world and accomplished things.

"College spirit isn't a question of how many tickets you buy to the event, but rather a question of attitude of mind toward the event itself, your particular participation in it, your personal backing of it," the freshmen believe.

"College spirit is the result of inter-class spirit and inter-class spirit means competition" says the statement of this freshman "commission". They further declare that "competition does not mean bodily conflict imbued by a spirit of mobism, for there is no place in the Kansas State Agricultural college which can tolerate defiance of the laws of personal conduct as evidenced by the indiscreet actions of a group of college students in another state school recently. Cooperation, personal ambition for the success of the school, together with a desire to be the one to go out and win for K. S. A. C., is the secret of the successful return of real college sprit at this school."

FARMER TALK

We will be getting more slams now since they have put on the screen doors.

Some of the latest styles can also be "viewed with alarm."

Primary teachers will just have to quit telling their pupils that they may be president some day, as we are getting an over supply of candidates.

Just now there are many people who would be glad to rent a house by the side of the road and be a friend of man.

When the marriage license notice says over 18 and over 21 you can usually count on it.

Another explanation as to why people are short is that they were raised on condensed milk.

Instead of reattiring we will have to retread this year.

Mary Pickford divorced one Moore husband and married one more husband.

President Wilson will spend his summer at Woods Hole, Mass. Fair enough, next year Wood will fill the hole made by Wilson.

A white man's happy hunting ground is a street full of houses for rent.

A tornado wound up Elgin, Ill. The Elgin watch should be improved now.

A K. U. professor said it was so windy in Lawrence that he was unable to tell exactly what the women's styles were anymore.

Isn't it surprising how well a laundry can shuffle the clothes so that you won't get the same ones back?

If the league of nations fails will they put "Rest in Peace" on the tombstone?

Miss Bernice Donmeyer of Salina spent the week end at the Delta Zeta house.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1920 — NO. 65

INTER-CLASS TRACK MEET, FOUR TODAY

JUNIORS THINK THEY WILL CLEAR THE FIELD

ALL AGGIES ARE IN ACTION

High School Track Meet Will Be Held Tomorrow Afternoon and Many H. S. Students to be There

The interclass track meet, in which most of the Aggie celebrities will take part, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the eve of the state high school track meet.

Juniors Are Confident

The juniors have the opinion that they will clear the field of all of their opponents since they have many star track men in their list of entries. Jack Evans will be entered in the 220 and the 100 yard dash; Gallagher in the 220 low hurdles, the 100 yard dash and the broad jump and the high jump; Turner in the broad jump and the quarter mile; Watson in the two mile and the half mile; and Counsel in the pole vault.

Name Other Entries

Other entries in the track meet are: Frost in the high jump and the pole vault; Constable in the broad jump and the pole vault; Rogers in the Pole vault; and Beckett in the one mile. Freshmen who will run the distances are Ibek, Von Reisen, Mathias, and Henry.

Since this track meet is held during Festival week there will be many high school students from over the state here to see the Aggie athletes in action in a real meet.

ONLY NINETEEN GO TO CUSTER

SUMMER CAMP TO BE ON GREAT LAKES

Aggies Can Still Sign Up for Training this Summer—Get All Expenses

Nineteen Aggies have so far signed up to go to the summer R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Custer, Mich. Camp Custer is in the heart of the Great Lakes region, being surrounded on three sides by them. The camp is two miles wide by four miles long and has two small lakes in its midst.

Camp Custer is connected by interurban railway with Detroit, Grand Rapids, Sanginaw, Bay City, and Kalamazoo and all immediate points. The close connections will give the men ample opportunity for all the amusement they will desire. In order that the men may have pleasant memories of the camp when they return home there will be all sorts of amusements provided at the camp itself in the way of athletic contests, dances, movies, and lectures.

Men who are going to attend the camp and wish to leave their own homes directly for the camp may do so and receive their transportation from the town in which they live if they will leave their name and addresses with Major Claren in the commandant's office before they leave for the summer, so that the transportation officer will know where to send the money.

SHORTHORN ASSOCIATION OF KANSAS PLANNING BIG SALE

Will Be Held in Manhattan on May 25

The Shorthorn association of Kansas is planning one of the largest sales of shorthorn cattle ever held in the state, to be held at Manhattan, May 25.

This sale is becoming an annual classic event. Well bred cattle will be sent to this sale by practically all of the large breeders of the state. All the cattle entered will be sold to the highest bidder.

Master Vernon Robertson of Washington is spending the week with his sister Miss Ada Robertson.

Offer Some Positions

Dr. A. D. Holtz has letters from several firms who wish to employ men during the summer months as salesmen and canvassers. Any student who has not found a job for the summer and is looking for work of this nature should call at his office and get the details. In addition to this work there is work here in Manhattan for part time which is open for any men students who are going to attend summer school.

WEBER IS FIRST IN THE JUDGING

DAIRY CLUB HEADED THE ORGANIZATIONS

Two Prize Cups Were Offered by the Blue Valley Creamery Company —One Prize to a Man

The ten high men in the dairy judging contest which was held last Saturday and the number of points which each man received are: A. D. Weber 1,045, W. A. Atchison 1,025, George Drumm 985, F. L. Findley 965, F. W. Houston 963, E. A. Briscoe 960, G. E. Starkey 950, J. E. Taylor 950, Clarence George 950, and J. M. Moore 943. Three men tied for the sixth place in the contest.

Give High Men

The high men in the different breeds of cattle and the number of points each man made in each breed is as follows: Ayrshires, T. R. Bumgartner, 285; Jerseys, J. M. Moore 280; Holsteins, A. D. Miller, 280; and Guernseys, W. A. Atchison, 270.

The prize for the Holsteins went to E. W. Winkler with a total of 275 points because Weber won the first prize, and the prize for the Guernseys went to W. D. Gardner with 265 since Atchison won the second prize. Only one prize is awarded to one man in any contest.

Frank Houston made the best showing of any freshman in the contest with a total of 963 points.

Dairy Club First

Two prize cups were offered by the Blue Valley Creamery company for the club which made the best average in the contest. Basing the results from the five highest men in each club the dairy club won first place with 4,728 points and the Block and Bridle second with 4,670 points. The Tri K club did not have enough men entered in the contest to compete for the club prize.

J. T. MARSHALL SPEAKS AT QUILL

MRS. C. A. KIMBALL ENTERTAINS CLUB AT HER HOME

Mr. Marshall Tells of Experiences in Europe While Acting as Interpreter for General Pershing

The Quill club of the college in response to an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kimball, spent last Monday evening at their home at 1011 Fremont. Mr. J. T. Marshall of Concordia addressed the club on his experiences in Europe while interpreter for General Pershing, at which time he met all the leading journalists and newspaper men and women who were in Europe at that time. He gave at some length his impressions of these people. Professor Rogers of the college also addressed the club on the marketing of feature articles.

Light refreshments were served, after which quotations from Kansas authors were given out to be read and the authors guessed.

Special guests from outside the club included, Dean and Mrs. Willard, Mrs. J. W. Searson, Mrs. C. E. Rogers, Dean Helen B. Thompson, Prof. and Mrs. Dickens, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Marshall, Prof. and Mrs. Swanson, Miss Mary Lee, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Kimball, and Mrs. Toothaker.

Miss Ruth Robison and Miss Ruby Crocker spent Saturday in Topeka, where they attended Miss Lucile Bomgardner's announcement party.

Prof. H. L. Kent, Prof. Hildegarde Kneeland, and Prof. A. P. Davidson are attending the Denver conference on vocational education in Denver this week.

Theo Karle Is Just a Hard Working American with a Voice

The story of the achievements of Theo Karle, the great American tenor, whose recital will complete the Festival Week program, is the story of an everyday, hard-working American boy endowed with a beautiful voice and a passion for music.

Mr. Karle was born in Iowa and went to the Pacific coast when he was nine years old. His early education was received at Pullman, Wash. In 1909 he entered the high school of Olympia—the largest and tallest boy of his class. He always hated school and it took a great deal of effort on the part of his mother and sister to keep him studying. He made the regular football team and won quite a bit of notice by his playing at tackle.

Under the inspiration of the beauty of the Puget Sound country his artistry and genius rapidly developed. In 1911 Mr. Karle's artistic possibilities were discovered by Edmund Meyer of New York and young Karle was taken to Seattle to study. For two years he studied languages at the University of Washington. In 1916 he went to New York to continue his musical studies.

While in Seattle Mr. Karle began giving Sunday afternoon concerts at the Presbyterian church. In a short time these became so popular that even standing room in the church was at a premium.

Mr. Karle is a very human artist. This is shown by the fact that when he goes back to the little town of Olympia he is still the big-hearted joyous, laughing, witty "Theo" that Olympia people knew years ago; and also by the fact that when he made his first public appearance he was exceedingly frightened. He is very fond of movies, jazz, and motoring.

HISTORIC CROOK GOES TO MEXICO

SENIOR VARISTY PITCHER PRESENTS CROOK

During Presentation Crook Is Guarded by 25 Seniors — Shepherd's Staff Is Now in Good Hands

Where is the Shepherd's Crook now?

The Shepherd's Crook did reappear, that is for a short time only. Twenty-five strong seniors guarded the crook as it was brought in for the presentation. The presentation this year was unusual, in that for the first time in the life of the crook, and possibly for the last time, one Aggie varsity pitcher handed the crook to another varsity pitcher, Magrath being the senior president and Otto the junior president.

Immediately after the presentation the lights went out and the crook disappeared in darkness for another year.

"Where did it go?" you ask. For the benefit of yourself and all other inquisitive people we shall inform you that the historic crook is now safely on its way to Mexico for another year. The old staff is in good hands.

MANY TO BE GRADUATED FROM ANIMAL HUSBANDRY

Is Seventy Percent More Than Any Other Ag Department

Of the 80 graduates of the division of agriculture this year, 41 will major in animal husbandry. This is 70 per cent more than will graduate from any other department of the division.

The division of agriculture comprises courses in animal husbandry, agronomy, dairy husbandry, horticulture, poultry husbandry, milling, and agricultural engineering. This year 24 will be graduated in agronomy, seven in dairy husbandry, four in horticulture, two in agricultural engineering, one in milling, one in botany, and 41 in animal husbandry.

"SPRING MAID" GIVEN TONIGHT BY GLEE CLUB

OPERA IS DIRECTED BY PROFESSOR WESTBROOK

BAND CONCERT IN AFTERNOON

Purple Masque Fraternity to Present "Daddies" Saturday Night—Play Was Written by a Kansas Man, John L. Hobble

Festival Week is in full swing. Three numbers have been given, with record crowds at each performance, and four of the best numbers yet remain.

Tonight the opera, "Spring Maid," one of the most popular and beautiful of late light operas will be given by the students in the glee clubs, directed by Prof. A. E. Westbrook.

Leads in the "Spring Maid" are taken by Miss Florence Myer, Miss Gladys Grable, Mr. Russel Knapp, and Mr. H. A. O'Brien. The opera is always one of the most enjoyable features of Festival Week, and "Spring Maid" is one of the most popular operas which has been given at Festival time.

At five this afternoon a free out door band concert is to be given on the campus near the auditorium. The general public is invited to this entertainment. At this time the city Pan Hellenic association will have several concessions for the benefit of the K. S. A. C. memorial fund.

Saturday evening the Purple Masque fraternity will present "Daddies," a last season's success in New York. "Daddies" was written by a Kansas man, John L. Hobble, and was secured for production here through the courtesy of the author. The play has never been given before by amateurs, and has never been released for stock production. "Daddies" is directed by Prof. J. G. Emerson. Leading parts are played by Miss Betty Lyman, Mr. Louis Bryan, and Mr. Lloyd Hamilton.

Two programs will be given Sunday. In the afternoon the college chorus assisted by choruses from White City, Randolph, Clay Center, Wakefield, and Riley, will sing "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast". Theo Karle will sing the solo, "Onaway, Awake Beloved." The evening program Sunday, which is the last of the Festival Week programs will be a concert by Theo Karle.

All of the evening programs will begin at eight o'clock. The Sunday afternoon program begins at four o'clock.

The three programs which have already been given are a concert by the faculty double quartet and Miss Elsie Smith, pianist, which was given Wednesday evening, a lecture recital by Madame Sturkow Ryder, and a concert by Margaret Romaine and Lawrence Leonard.

BOXING BOUTS GET WINNERS

THERE HAVE BEEN 40 FIGHTS TO DATE

Will Award Monograms to Winners of the Various Classes—Hendrix Going After Letter

In the snappiest four round bout of the season, R. E. Regnier defeated J. J. Hendrix, thereby winning the championship of the welterweight class, Wednesday afternoon.

Hendrix has been fighting in two weight classes and, altho defeated in the welterweight class, he is the closest man to winning the college letter at the present time, since he divided the championship honors of the lightweight class with R. C. Hume. All that is necessary for Hendrix to get a college letter is to come out the second best man in his weight class sometime while he is in college.

In the featherweight class the championship went to G. B. Kirkwood; in the lightweight class the championship honors were divided between A. C. Hume and J. J. Hendrix; in the welterweight class the championship went to R. E. Regnier; middleweight class championship to L. J. Bryan; commission championship to F. L. Longwell. The above classes had sufficient entries to award the college monogram to the champions with the exception of the middle and commission weight classes. The champions of the latter classes will be awarded their class numerals.

There have been 40 bouts to date. A summary of the tournament will be published soon.

AGGIES STEP UP IN CONFERENCE

TAKE BOTH GAMES FROM OKLAHOMA SOONERS

Magrath Pitched First Game and Otto the Second—Guilfoyle Caught in Both.

The Kansas Aggies continued their winning streak and went two steps higher in the Missouri Valley baseball conference by defeating the Oklahoma Sooners here Monday and Tuesday, by scores of 6 to 2 and 3 to 2.

The First Game

Monday's affair was won by consistent hitting and several costly Oklahoma errors. After two were out in the third, Quinlan hit for two bases and scored on Snapp's hit. In the fifth Cowell hit, stole second, and scored on two errors. Again in the sixth, Agnew passed and scored on Mershon's two base hit. Mershon scored on an error. After two were out in the eighth Mershon reached first on an error and scored on Guilfoyle's double. For Oklahoma, Gentry hit a home run in the seventh, and Briscoe scored in the ninth on errors by Mershon, Quinlan, and Cowell.

Score:

Summary: 2 base hits—Quinlan, Mershon, Guilfoyle; home run—Gentry; base on balls—off Davis, 4, off Magrath 0; struck out—by Davis, 2, by Magrath, 6. Umpire, Quigley.

Second Game

The game on Tuesday was a poor exhibition of the national pastime. Otto, on the mound for the Aggies was doing well the first part of the game but his own error with those of his team mates made the outcome of the game in doubt at times. The Aggies missed a good chance to score by poor baserunning. Their only runs came in the second when Snapp and Dickerson passed and both scored on Agnew's triple. He scored later on an error. Oklahoma got to Otto for three hits in the fourth, scoring twice.

The score:

INVADE THE JAYHAWKERS ON THURSDAY

AGGIES PRIMED TO DEFEAT OLD RIVALS

K. U. TEAM MAKES ERRORS

Regular Aggie Lineup, with Captain Magrath on the Mound, Will Start the Game for the Wildcats

After having won nine out of twelve games and tied one, the Aggies will play their most bitter opponents when they invade the Jayhawker camp on May 13 and 14, Thursday and Friday of next week. It makes no difference whether K. U. has the best or the scrubbiest team in the valley, the K. U.—Aggie games are always the hardest of the season. Next to paying a visit to the lower regions, the worst punishment our contemporaries over on Mount Oread can receive is to be beaten in any athletic event by the Aggies.

The Jayhawkers split the honors with the Tigers in their recent encounter. Wednesday's game with Oklahoma went to the Jayhawkers with a socre of 11 to 3. Both teams played ragged ball as is shown by the fact that Oklahoma made 14 errors while Kansas was making nine. The Jayhawkers cannot beat the Aggies playing that kind of baseball no matter how lucky they are, because the Aggies do not make more than five errors per game.

The Aggie games at K. U. will probably be of the best and there will be a large turnout since the annual Aggie-Jayhawker field meet will occur at that time.

The regular Aggie lineup will start the game, with Magrath pitching.

MEMORIAL FUND AIDED BY SALES

GIRLS TO SELL CANDY, PUNCH, AND FLOWERS

Money Is to Go to Proposed Memorial Building Honoring K. S. A. C. Men Who Served in War

All the money derived from the sale of candies, punch, and flowers, at the Festival programs today is to be turned into the fund for the proposed Memorial building, honoring K. S. A. C. men who served in the war. A number of college girls have agreed to help with the sales, which are under the supervision of the city Pan Hellenic association.

A booth stands in the square where the band concert is to be held this afternoon, and candy, punch, or flowers can be bought at the booth, or from the girls who will go through the crowd, carrying the wares in baskets. Candy will be sold at the opera this evening.

Members of the association, many of whom are alumni of the college, expect to turn a considerable amount over to the Memorial fund as a result of the sales. At present there is very little cash on hand toward the amount needed for the building, although pledges to the sum of about $2,000 have been made.

THE COMING GRADUATES

They came to the Kansas State college four years ago, gazing about them, awed by the beautiful campus as it appears in the fall, delighted with the massive stone buildings, and confused by the rush and push of the students. Perhaps some of them came over five or six years ago and, because of the war or other difficulties, were absent for some time before they returned to be graduated.

But they are leaving here on May 27 with a much different appearance, a much different attitude, and a much different outlook on life. They are educated, broadened, and polished.

265 To Graduate

We confess that we know little of women, but perhaps we may speak intelligently of the 157 men who will be graduated from K. S. A. C. this year. There are 108 women to be graduated this year, making a total of 265. There are also seven students who will receive their master degrees and two who are candidates for the professional degree.

It is of no little interest to look over an assembly of college men. The gathering usually includes men of many types, among them the shell-rimmed spectacled grind, the prude, the self-confident popularity seeker, the flapper chaser, the brawny athlete, the poor soul with his eye so rigidly fixed upon his star that he doesn't see the ground on which he treads, the love-sick swain sighing like a furnace, and the misguided youth who brings his high school ways to college.

Have Many Types

There are the men who came to college merely to make a fraternity—we hope they made it and that the hot hands were fast and furious. There are the men who came to learn, to study and to graduate with a definite purpose in life—and they always succeed. There are the men who came because dad sent them—we hope their dads go broke. There are the men who are making their way through school—it may be hard sledding but they usually succeed.

K. S. A. C. abounds in the two best types of these men and it is the seniors, with their four years of training, who are at the best. The Kansas State college men come here to learn, to do, and to grow. Many put themselves through school, but by so doing they never lower their ideals.

And so where do we place the standard of a good college man and what should he do? He should have a healthy, vigorous mind, capable of grasping with a fair amount of ease his college work. He is not necessarily an E student, but he must be intelligent. He understands world situations. His knowledge should not be expended entirely upon his books because the all-around college type should take part in student activities. We would ask that he have a moral code and live up to it rigorously. If he is interested in athletics, it is well.

He should find delight in social activities, with men as well as with women. Defend us from the man who treads the well-beaten pathway every night to the domicile of his favored one! We do not demand that he be a social lion, but he should be well enough acquainted with a dress suit that he may feel at home in one. He should be able to dance, and talk interestingly.

So, senior men, with this yardstick measurement of a college man put up beside you, we believe that K. S. A. C. can boast of a graduating class of real college men.

Miss Ethel Charles spent the week end at her home in Republic.

Mrs. Thurman of Ash Grove, Mo., arrived Tuesday to be the guest of her daughter, Miss Barbara Murray.

MAC SHORT MAKES HIS MONEY FLYING

WILL TAKE PASSENGERS UP DURING FESTIVAL WEEK

When Short Needs New Suit He Takes a Few Flights—Made $1,000 Last Summer

Mac Short, sophomore mechanical engineer, comes under that famous Aggie class of being fully self supporting; but unlike a large part of them he has demonstrated that it's possible to use your brains as well as your muscle at it.

He is flying his way through school. Last summer he made more than $1,000 carrying passengers in his airplane. When he needs a new suit he goes out and takes a few flights,—quite a few, the way suits are selling these days,—at about $10 per flight.

He drove in from Salina this morning in one of his four ships and will take passengers during Festival week here. It's partly selfish but mostly loyalty to the college that has brought him here in his plane for the festival.

THE BROWN BULL IS ON SALE TODAY

MAY BE PURCHASED IN ANDERSON OR DOWN TOWN

First Edition of the Magazine Is Mighty Good but Bigger Plans Are Under Way for Next Year

The Brown Bull came out today. It can be purchased in Anderson hall or from any of the down town and Aggieville newstands. The magazine costs only 25 cents.

The first edition of the magazine is mighty good but the Sigma Delta Chi fraternity is already planning on a much better magazine for next year. It is hoped that it will be printed once every two months next year and that it will be a 48 page magazine. More cuts will also be used.

The 1,000 copies are selling fast. Every Aggie should buy a copy of the Brown Bull and then send it to some high school senior after he is thru reading it. The Brown Bull is going to be an Aggie booster.

DESIGNING 394 COSTUMES FOR THE ANNUAL K. S. A. C. FETE OF MAY

Costumes suggesting spring in all her moods are being prepared in the costume and design classes, under the direction of Miss Florence Hunt, for the May Fete tomorrow.

Pan, god of the woods, the fields and the dance, will appear in his suit of orange and brown to call forth the brown and green robed Hamadingods to celebrate the coming of spring.

Tans, blues, and oranges will form the costumes of the girls representing the wind, the rain and the sunshine. They will carry silk scarfs of mottled orange and red with these costumes.

The early flowers that appear at the call of the wind, rain, and sunshine will wear pastel colors. Along with the early flowers two butterflies and a bee will appear in all their splendor of gold and color. Following the early flowers the late flowers appear in bold, bright colors.

The dresses of the spirits of music, poetry, and dancing are being made of draped silk scarfs. No truly appropriate colored silks could be found so the department dyed their own materials. The followers of music and poetry will wear white and carry ropes and garlands of flowers. The followers of dancing will be divided into two parts, the Morris dancers and the May-pole dancers. The Morris dancers will wear bright scarlet coats with tall black hats, while the girls in the May Pole dances will wear gay colored sleeveless jackets with hats to match and the boys will have colored sashes that match the girls' costumes.

Over 390 costumes are being made for the May fete alone by the costume and design classes with the assistance of the applied art department.

In addition to these costumes Miss Hunt is also preparing 26 costumes for the opera "Spring Maid" to be given tonight.

ALUMNI NOTES

Miss Edith Walsh, '16, has accepted a position to teach at Huntington next year at a salary of $1,350. She has been teaching this year at Walthena.

Mrs. Dora Thompson Winter, '95, of University Place, Nebraska, writes that she plans to attend the class reunion during commencement week.

Prof. John D. Cooke, formerly a professor of English at the college, is teaching at the Washington State college, Pullman, Wash.

Mrs. Lillie Dial Falin, '95, of Cleburne, is in Portland, Ore., assisting her sister in caring for her husband who is ill.

Mrs. Anna Wilson, mother of Bruce S. Wilson, '08, assistant professor of agronomy at the college, passed away at her home on North Manhattan avenue April 16.

Greater X-ray Service— through Research

FOR years after the discovery of X-rays it was evident that only intensive research could unfold their real possibilities.

Meanwhile, scientists of the General Electric Company developed the process of making wrought tungsten. This proved ideal as the target in X-ray tubes and its use for this purpose soon became universal.

Then further research resulted in the development of an X-ray tube of a radically new type — the Coolidge Tube — with both electrodes of wrought tungsten and containing the highest attainable vacuum.

But the complication of high-vacuum pumps made the new tube in large quantities impossible. The answer to this problem was the Langmuir Condensation Pump, utilizing mercury vapor in its operation and almost automatic.

Self-rectifying, Radiator-type Coolidge X-ray Tube

To meet the need for simple X-ray apparatus during the war, the G-E Laboratory developed the Self-Rectifying Coolidge Tube, which made possible portable outfits at the front. The latest X-ray outfit of this type is so small it can be taken conveniently to the home or to the bedside in the hospital.

Thus the Research Laboratory of the General Electric Company continues to serve, that progress in things electrical may continue for the good of humanity.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Annual Pie Feed

The Philomathian and Lincoln Literary societies held their annual pie feed at Hackberry Glen last Saturday afternoon. About 90 of the members of the societies and the alumni went out in hay racks pulled by a tractor.

The afternoon was spent in playing ball and the pie feast was held in the evening. Miss Wilma Orem and Miss Clara Thomas chaperoned the party. After the pie fed Anne Amstutz, an ex-Philo, entertained 20 of the Philos at a slumber party at 1125 Vattier.

Entertains Advisory Boards

The old and new advisory boards of the Y. W. C. A. and the old and new cabinet members met with Mrs. J. V. Cortelyou Monday evening. After the business meeting a social hour was held. Refreshments were served to 33 members and guests.

Engagement Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bomgardner of Topeka, recently announced the engagement of their daughter Lucile to Mr. Eliet Robison of Towanda. The wedding will take place the latter part of May. Miss Bomgardner is a graduate of K. U. and has attended college here. She is a member of the Chi Omega sorority. Mr. Robison attends college here, graduating this year. He is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, and the Block and Bridle club. He is advertising manager of this year's Royal Purple.

Purple Masque Initiation

The members of the Purple Masque dramatic fraternity held formal initiation services Tuesday afternoon in the public speaking office for the following persons: Mrs. Grace Bowman, Miss Rowena Thornburg, Mr. Eugene Huff, Mr. Homer Henney, and Mr. William Haney.

Founder's Day Banquet

The members of the Pi Beta Phi women's fraternity held their annual Founder's day banquet Wednesday evening from eight until ten at the Gillett hotel. Covers were laid for 32 guests. Red carnations were used as decorations and fraternity songs were sung between courses. Miss Ernestine Biby was toastmistress. Responses were made by Miss Hortense Caton, Miss Louise Dawson, Miss Edith Russell, Miss Ruth Briggs, and Mrs. George Clammer responded for the alumni.

McAdoo—Davidson

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Miss Lena McAdoo and Mr. John Fuller Davidson, May 1, at Larned. They will make their home in 1428 Douglas street, Sioux City, Iowa. Mr. Davidson graduated from K. S. A. C. in the agriculture course in 1913.

The young people of Manhattan will receive a rare treat next week when Miss Vida Leamer, field secretary for the State Christian Endeavor union, will be in the city and will speak Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Watch for further notice as to the place of meeting. Miss Leamer is a very capable woman and has some very interesting things for us. We are seldom able to secure the services of such a person and no one should miss this opportunity of becoming acquainted with our state leaders. 1t

Write for publication! Are you mad
To think that I would drag
Forth from my heart my choicest thoughts
For fools to scoff at? And use
All my favorite words to express
The mood that haunts me,
And have others cry out,
'I have felt the same
Many times.'

Rather would I trample
Every thought from my brain
And leave it as blank as my verse,
Than express that for another
Which he is too lazy to pen for himself.

ARCHITECTS HOLD EXHIBIT OF WORK

CONSISTS OF WORK IN DESIGN AND FREE HAND DRAWING

One Drawing Is of Proposed Building for College Club—Other Drawings of Proposed College Buildings Shown

A new exhibit has been prepared by the architects for Festival week. The exhibit is in the architectural rooms in the engineering building.

The exhibit consists of the work done by the students in the department of architecture this year and is mostly the work of the design and the free hand drawing classes. It consists of charcoal work and water coloring.

One drawing of much interest is that of a proposed building for a College club. Other drawings of proposed buildings for the college are also on exhibit.

HAVE MANY MEN HERE FOR MEET

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEN IN CONTEST HERE

Already 18 High Schools Have Entered Their Men—Visitors from all Parts of State

Approximately 120 men from about 35 high schools from over the state are entered in the state high school track meet which is to be held Saturday afternoon commencing at 2:30 o'clock.

In addition to the men here for the track meet there will be many high school students from over the state who are here for festival week and incidentally for the purpose of looking over the college. This insures a large attendance at the meet because it is made a part of the festival week program.

Among the high schools entered are Burlington, Scott City, Woodbine, Burlingame, Manhattan, Salina, Valley Falls, Abilene, Topeka, Osage City, Winchester, Dodge City, Blue Rapids, Marysville, Norton, Logan, Phillipsburg, and McPherson.

REYBURN GOES FOR TRYOUTS

WILL BE HELD IN VIRGINIA ON MAY 17

If Successful in Tryouts, Reyburn Will Go to Belgium—Knows Door Keeper's Daughter

L. H. Reyburn left Thursday for the Marine corps rifle range at Quantico, Va., where he will practice, preparatory to entering the tryouts for the American rifle team for the Olympic games.

The tryouts for the team will be held at Quantico, Va., or Winthrop, Md., starting about May 17 and will be completed sometime before June 1. If successful in the tryouts, he will leave with the American rifle team for Antwerp, Belgium, about July 1. The shooting contest in the Olympic games will be held on July 87 at Antwerp.

When interviewed concerning his trip east for the tryouts, Reyburn merely said, "I am well acquainted in the east, knowing Washington monument by sight and being on intimate terms with the daughter of the assistant doorkeeper of the house of representatives."

CAPTAIN TERRILL WILL GO TO SUMMER CAMP

IS OFFERED POSITION AS SENIOR INSTRUCTOR AT CAMP CUSTER

Military Department Looking for New Target Range—Present Range Poorly Located—Band Drills with Rookies

Captain Terrill has been offered a position as senior instructor at Camp Custer, Michigan, for the summer camp this year which all Aggies who signed up for the summer camp will attend.

At the present time the military department is looking for a new target range for the coming year and it is expected that a new location will be made in the near future. The present range is poorly located and there is not enough room for the field work which is required in the military course of the college.

The college band drills each Monday morning from ten to eleven with the rookies, for the double purpose of making the R. O. T. C. proficient in parade work and also in making the bandsmen acquainted with the drill regulations.

THE REGULAR STUDENT DANCES AS USUAL

DANCE ON SATURDAY NIGHT WILL NOT BE GIVEN BECAUSE OF FESTIVAL WEEK

The Statement in the Last Collegian That the Student Committee Would Give no More Dances, Was a Mistake

The regular student dances on Saturday evenings will be given as usual. There will be no dance this Saturday night because of the Festival program, but a dance will be given in the recreational hall on Saturday evening, May 15.

Some confusion was caused when one member of the committee informed the Collegian that the dances would not be given by the committee on social affairs any more, but that the hall would be open to different organizations. The information, as the committee has announced, was incorrect.

Miss Mildred Inskeep was a dinner guest at the Delta Zeta house Monday evening.

Railway strike conditions coupled with the bad weather are adverse factors which have retarded general business for April and should be offset with increases in May. Despite the effects of the coal and steel strikes general business for the first quarter of 1920 exceeded all records.

JAYHAWKERS MEET AGGIES IN DUAL FIGHT

TRACK MEET AT LAWRENCE FRIDAY THIS WEEK

AGGIES TOOK INDOOR RACES

Gallagher, Evans, Turner, and Neely, Four Best Runners in the Valley, Are Entered in the Dual Track Meet

The second dual track meet this year between K. U. and the Aggies is to be held at Lawrence on Friday of this week. The first indoor track meet was held at Manhattan early this year and was an overwhelming victory for the Aggies.

Unverified Entries

A list of unverified entries for the events at Lawrence is as follows: 100 yard dash, Jack Evans; 120 low hurdles, Gallagher; 220 yard dash, Evans; 1 mile, Beckett and Watson; 220 low hurdles, Gallagher; half mile; Horlacher and Clapp; quarter mile, Neely and Turner; 2 mile, Landon and Watson; pole vault, Frost and Counsel; broad jump, Winters and Turner; high jump, Winters and Frost; shot, Billings; relay team, Turner, Neely, Gallagher, and Evans.

Pick the Jaybird

In the interclass track meet last Friday Counsel showed up exceptionally well in the pole vault, and Winters especially well in the broad jump. The relay team is practically certain to have easy picking of the Jayhawk's feathers with some of the speediest men in the valley to run in it.

In addition to the dual track meet which is to be held in Lawrence on Friday the last of the games between the Aggies and K. U. is to be held on that day. It is the biggest K. U.-Aggie day of the year with the prospects looking rather dark for the Jayhawkers.

SILVER CUP GOES TO MISS ANSDELL

MARTRIE RONE WINS SECOND PLACE IN CONTEST

Mary Pierce Van Zile Presents Winners With Loving Cups after Crowning of the May Queen at May Fete

Miss Margaret Ansdell won first place in the May Fete ticket selling contest which was carried on by the Y. W. C. A. Miss Ansdell sold 180 tickets.

Miss Martrie Rone won second place in the contest by selling 85 tickets.

The girls were given silver loving cups which were presented to them by Mary Pierce Van Zile just after the crowning of the queen at the May Fete.

BEST FESTIVAL AGGIE HISTORY

EVERY NUMBER DURING WEEK WAS WELL ATTENDED

Opera "Spring Maid" and the Play "Daddies" Especially Good—May Fete Beautiful

Festival week this year was not only the biggest success of the year but was one of the best festivals ever seen at K. S. A. C.

Every number of the Festival week was well attended—from the faculty concert, which opened the week, to the Theo Karle recital, which ended the program.

The opera "Spring Maid" has received much favorable comment from all college students and many visitors. It was undoubtedly one of the best musical performances ever staged at the college. The play "Daddies," the four act comedy drama given Saturday night, has been judged by a K. U. poet who attended, as "a most wonderful production with each humorous situation brought out extremely well and with each actor rendering his part excellently."

Little Miss Burr, whose repitition of the fact that c-o-w spells cow, made a big hit with the audience. Lewis Bryan, Lloyd Hamilton, and Miss Betty Lyman have received much praise for their parts in the play.

The May Fete, which was attended by over 4,000 persons, was one of the prettiest ever produced on the Aggie campus. The costumes, representing rain, sunshine, clouds, and wind were especially attractive. Miss Edith Bond, who planned and coached the May Fete, deserves a great deal of credit for its success.

Miss Mildred Arends, the May Queen, was carried to the throne by eight attendants. The throne was set on a large lattice work platform and was placed at the rear of the lawn on which all the dances were given.

BULL HIT HARD ON FIRST TRIP

THOUSAND COPIES DID NOT NEARLY MEET DEMAND

Sigma Delta Chi Is Planning a Much Bigger and Better Magazine for Next Year

One thousand copies of the Brown Bull magazine were sold in 15 minutes Friday morning immediately after chapel. At least 500 more copies could have been sold to students alone. The magazine made a hit on its initial appearance.

Fifty copies of the magazine were sent to state high schools, 50 were sold in the Manhattan high school, 10 copies were sent to exchanges, and the remainder were sold on the campus.

Plans are being worked out for the magazine for next year. Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, is planning a much larger magazine next year. The members also intend to issue it four times during the college year. Many cartoons will appear in the next issue.

The first issue of the Brown Bull was set by students in type setting. The printing was well done and the magazine shows the excellent work that students in the department are doing.

The editors of the first issue were Ralph Foster, Milton Eisenhower, and Floyd Hawkins. Walter Karlowski was business manager.

GIVE RESULTS OF THE CONTEST AT ONCE

ENTRANCE FEE FOR STOCK JUDGING IS 50 CENTS

Is to be Held Tomorrow at One O'clock—All College Students Are Eligible

Plans have been made this year so that results of the annual stock judging contest which is to be held Wednesday beginning at 1 o'clock, will be announced within fifteen minutes after the close of the contest.

Entrance fee for the contest is 50 cents. Each man who is in the contest will be excused from classes in order to take part. All college students are eligible except those who have previously won prizes or those who have been on the stock judging team.

The freshmen and all others who have not had advanced stock judging will be placed in the junior contest and all of their reasons will be written while the men who have had the advanced judging will be placed in the senior contest and will be required to state their reasons orally. Seniors who have not had advanced judging and so desire may be placed in the senior contest.

Hold Initiation

Theta Chi Gamma, honorary general science fraternity, held initiation Wednesday afternoon for Miss Margaret Russell, faculty advisor; Miss Grace Gish; Miss Ione Leith; Miss Marguerite Hammerly; Miss Margaret Armentrout; Miss Clementine Paddleford; and Miss Mabel Troutfetter.

Mrs. E. H. Sankee of Lawrence, visited her duaghter Miss Ruth Sankee of the library staff, during Festival week.

Agnew Learned the Game of Baseball in High School Days

Maynard Agnew, Aggie baseball pitcher and home run king, made his first debut in the world of baseball heroes in high school days.

On the high school team, Agnew's position was not as specialized as it is at the present time. Then his place was anywhere, from catcher to right fielder.

He was born and raised at Yates Center where he spent his summer months working on a ranch. An occasional baseball game on the town team served to break the monotony of farm labor.

In 1915 he came to K. S. A. C. for one semester and after the close of the semester he returned home and took a swivel chair job in a bank until war was declared and then he left the swivel chair job for a place where spurs would do something besides keeping his feet from sliding off of the foot rest.

He played with the army baseball teams against many of the miner's teams from the mining towns of Arizona. After his discharge he just had time to get home and come to Manhattan to enrol for the beginning of the first semester, last fall.

When asked why he chose to come to K. S. A. C. to college, Agnew said:

"I guess it was just foreordained. I never thought of any other place."

COMMEND THE AGGIE COURSE

KANSAS EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION BOOSTS JOURNALISM

Urge Legislature to Provide Support for Enlargement of Industrial Journalism Department

Strong commendation was given to the department of industrial journalism of the Kansas State Agricultural college, by unaminous vote of the Kansas Editorial association, which met in Hutchinson Friday and Saturday. The board of administration and the legislature were urged to provide such support as would enable it to enlarge its work.

Following a talk by Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the industrial journalism department, on farm advertising, a committee was appointed to make plans of effective advertising of this character in Kansas. The committee consists of N. A. Crawford, chairman; Fay N. Seaton, Manhattan Mercury; and J. C. Denious, Dodge City Globe.

The meeting was attended by an unusually large number of editors from all parts of the state. The agricultural college was represented by N. A. Crawford, J. W. Searson, C. E. Rogers, and E. T. Keith—the largest representation from any college.

BREAK THREE OLD RECORDS IN H. S. MEET

McPHERSON WON FIRST WITH 20 POINTS

THREW DISCUS 120 FEET

High School Vaulter Cleared Rod at 11 Feet and 9½ Inches, Which Is Better than the K. U. Man Does

Three state high school records were broken in the annual state track meet here Saturday afternoon. McKown of Pratt, broke the record he established last year in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at 11 feet 9½ inches. His record last year was 11 feet, 2 inches. Clapp of Logan, clipped off one second from the former state record when he trotted the half mile in 2 minutes, 5 3-5 seconds. Lewis of Valley Falls, hurled the discus 120 feet, one inch. The former record was 111 feet, three inches.

McPherson won the meet by scoring 20 points. Valley Falls was second with 19 and Eskridge third with 10. Points made by other high schools are: Pratt 9½; Minneapolis, 8; Norton, 6; Pittsburg, 7; Elmdale, 5; Ellsworth, 5; Topeka, 5; Kansas City, 5; Logan, 5; Norway, 5; Newton, 5; Salina, 4½; Emporia, 4; Osage City, 4; Fort Scott, 3; Abilene, 2; Hutchinson, 2; Luray, 2; Scott City, 2. Lewis of Valley Falls, with 10 points to his credit, was high point man. Stewart of Valley Falls was second with 7.

The summary:

Broad jump—Lewis, Valley Falls, first; Stansel, McPherson, second; Williams, Emporia, third; Joeter, Wichita, fourth. Distance, 20 feet, 5½ inches.

Referee and starter—A. G. Schulz, K. S. A. C.

Mrs. Arlie Hedrick and daughter, Barbara Jane, spent Festival week with the former's sister, Miss Marie Hedrick of the library staff.

Mrs. J. H. Hines, Mr. George Robterson, and Miss Cecile Shaw of Washington, were week end guests of Miss Ada Roberston. Little Vernon Robertson, who had been spending the week with his sister, accompanied them home.

Mrs. T. W. Warders who came from Marysville Tuesday to visit her friend Lucile Whan for Festival week was called home Wednesday on account of the serious illness of her sister.

CALL THEM THE "HITTING AGGIES"

AVERAGE IS FAR ABOVE ORDINARY COLLEGE TEAMS

Seven Batters Have an Average of .262 or Better—Burton Stands First and Snapp Second

The Wildcat baseball players may well be called called the "Hitting Aggies" as their batting average is far above the average college team. Seven batters have averages of .262 or better.

Burton is still heading the list with an average of .333. Snapp, who has been at bat 54 times and has made 16 hits, stands second with an average of .298. Quinlan is third with an average of .272.

The standing to date is as follows:

Name	At Bat	Hits	Aver.
Burton	42	14	.333
Snapp	54	16	.298
Quinlan	62	17	.272
Dickerson	53	14	.264
Mershon	53	14	.264
Agnew	38	10	.263
E. Cowell	65	17	.262
Guilfoyle	47	8	.262
Otto	24	4	.167
E. Cowell	29	5	.173
Magrath	28	4	.143
Swingle	16	2	.125

The average of the entire team, including only the 10 regular men, is .258. The average of a college team usualily ranges around .200.

TO PREPARE FOR THE CLUB WORK

EIGHT WEEKS CLUB LED BY GIRLS IN HOME TOWNS

Preparatory Work Will Be Given at 1801 Leavenworth from Two Until Eight, Saturday, May 15

The training course preparatory to Eight Weeks club work will be offered at Mrs. Melcher's home, 1801 Leavenworth, from two to eight on Saturday afternoon, May 15.

The Eight Week clubs are lead by girls who take this work and then organize the clubs in their home towns. The clubs are usually made up of girls about the high school age.

The speakers will be Miss Hunt, Miss Grace Hesse, Miss Dean, Miss McCoy, and Miss Derby. Miss Hunt will discuss the ideal house dealing especially with the room for the girl and the ideal wardrobe for the girl. Miss Hesse, who has charge of the recreational and social work, will give definite suggestions for sports and games. Miss Dean will lead the discussion on the technique of the club.

The Ideal Lady and the Ideal family will be the subjects discussed by Miss Vera McCoy. Miss Derby will have charge of the religious education side and talk about devotions. A picnic lunch will be served in the evening.

AGGIES JUMP TO FIRST IN VALLEY RACE

WILDCAT TEAM PLOWING FOR CONFERENCE HONORS

MEET JAYHAWKS THIS WEEK

Home Nine Has Five Men Who Stand Good Chance of Making All-Valley Positions—Many Will Go to Lawrence

The Kansas Aggie baseball nine has jumped to the lead in the Missouri valley race for the championship. Due to Ames' losing a second game, the Aggie average is higher than any other Valley team.

This week end on Thursday and Friday the Wildcat nine will meet the Jayhawkers on the K. U. campus. The regular team, with Magrath on the mound and Guilfoyle behind the home plate, will start the fight. Otto will pitch the second game.

According to all dope, the Aggies have a much stronger team than the K. U. group. But the Wildcats always must fight the K. U. jinx as well as the team when it makes a trip to Lawrence. However, the home nine expects to bring home two more victories, leaving only four more games to be played before the final hold on the Valley championship is secured.

Aggies Have Good Men

At present the Aggies have five men who will probably make All-valley positions. Magrath on the mound is undoubtedly one of the best pitchers the Valley has seen for a long time. Luke Guilfoyle, catcher, has been called by several coaches "a whirlwind behind the bat." Quinlan as short stop, Snapp in center field, and Agnew, in right field, also stand a good show for Valley positions.

It is expected that a large crowd will visit in Lawrence this week end as the Aggies meet the Jayhawks in both baseball and track.

GIRLS PLAYING OFF FIRST SETS

WINNERS OF FIRST SETS TRYING ON SECOND GAME

First Games Will Be Completed Tomorrow—Finals Will Be Played Thursday, May 20

Not all of the first sets of the tennis tournament have been played off. The winners so far in this set are: Flo Brown, Edith Wheatly, Blanche Sappenfield, Cecile Paine, Harriet Betz, Mary Betz, Edith Muir, Katherine Horner, Lo Tona Rohrer, and Ruth Kittell.

All of the first set will have been played by Wednesday. The winners of the first sets are now playing off for the second set.

The finals will be played Thursday, May 20.

WESTINGHOUSE MAN LIKES AGGIE ENGINEER SENIORS

Offers Positions to Eleven Following Recent Interview

Emerson B. Roberts, head of the educational department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, visited K. S. A. C. recently and interviewed members of the senior classes in mechanical and electrical engineering, presenting to them the proposition of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company for employing college graduates in the factory organization.

A telegram recently received by Prof. Clarence E. Reid, of the department of electrical engineering, from Mr. Roberts, stated that all of the eleven men interviewed by Mr. Roberts were satisfactory to him, and urged that they make immediate application for positions in the training corps. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company will take not only senior graduates, but will also accept juniors for summer work in the vacation period.

PROUD OF FESTIVAL

Every Aggie is proud of the successful Festival week which the college had this year. Praise is due the music department, the coaches of the different plays, the athletic department, and the women's physical training department.

It was a big stroke towards securing 1,200 freshmen for next year. Many of the events were attended by prospective students and these men and women had a chance to see the college at its best—to see the students in action.

Colonel Brady is an excellent advertiser and his scheme of introducing all the Aggie athletes to the high school visitors was a mighty good one. In all, the Festival week this year was one of the most successful ever and was a big booster for the college.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Mother's Day Dinner

The members of the Alpha Delta Pi, women's fraternity, entertained Sunday at a dinner in honor of the mothers visiting at the fraternity house, the mothers of the town girls, the patronesses of the fraternity and alumni members of the chapter. Warner—Call

Miss Emogene C. Warner and Mr. Ira O. Call, both of Downs, were married Wednesday afternoon at the Baptist rectory in Manhattan, the Rev. Lewis Jacobsen officiating. Only a few close friends were present for the ceremony. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony at the rooms of Mr. and Mrs. Call, 518 Humboldt. Both Mr. and Mrs. Call are college students. After the school year closes they will make their home near Downs where Mr. Call will engage in dairying.

Here's a Chance For The Aggie Professor To Get a Few Tips

Should Aggie professors still sometimes feel the call of an evening with the gang, such as they used to enjoy before taking over their present cares, they will do well to keep the senior play, "One Night Out," in mind and come to see it on Tuesday evening, May 25.

Aggie professors are not the only persons who will profit by seeing "One Night Out," for the young man just graduating can get a few tips for the future by coming to see the play. And if the wives of the professors or the fiancees of the young men just graduating want to prevent their heroes frrom slipping the coop for a checker or poker game, there is no better way of finding a prevention than seeing "One Night Out."

"One Night Out," is a three act farce comedy to be presented by the senior class on Tuesday evening, May 25, of commencement week. Miss Florence Heizer of the English department is coaching the play. The entire cast has not yet been chosen.

Miss Isabel Conway, a student of Bethel college, was a dinner guest at the Pi Phi house Saturday.

Mrs. H. E. Richards of Kansas City spent the week-end with her daughter, Corrine.

Miss Blanche Heskett of Wichita, and Miss Marie Lomax were dinner guests at the Pi Phi house Thursday.

For Sale—Suburban home, 10 acres, one mile west of college, six room modern house; plenty of water, out buildings generally needed; good place to keep cows, chickens, pigs, etc.; seven acres in alfalfa, balance in pasture land. Alex McManis, R. F. D. 1, Manhattan, Kan. 66-4

"Grasshopper Girl" of Kansas Studies the Pesky Insect Now

She is called the Grasshopper Girl, out here in Kansas, where grasshoppers are one of the farmer's worst enemies. Yet she is not unpopular among the farmers who know her—quite the contrary. For she is doing things with grasshoppers that will be of great benefit to agricultural interests.

Miss Martha L. Denny is her name, and she is not so chirp and unreliable as her pseudonym of Grasshopper Girl might lead you to think. Far from being the butterfly type, she is a scholar of more than ordinary attainments.

Miss Denny takes care of grasshopers that are being used to determine certain laws of heredity. She is a sort of grasshopper nurse, for grasshoppers are frail little creatures unless they have lots of sunshine to bask in and valuable grain to eat. But Miss Denny's grasshoppers are kept in glass cages throughout summer and winter, so that accurate statistics of their varying characters may not be interrupted by untimely deaths. They require more care than a teething baby.

A part of the hothouses of the Kansas Agricultural college is devoted to Miss Denny's grasshopper experiment. She superintends the feeding and breeding of the insects and sees that no harm comes to them during the day. At night a student assistant watches over them. A compressed air machine maintains an even heat throughout the day and night in every season.

Sounds like rubbish to go to so much trouble over these little pests, doesn't it? But Miss Denny, who is working under the supervision of Dr. R. K. Nabours, a renowned zoologist, expects to learn some truths about heredity that will clear up a great many problems of live stock breeding. Already the results of the experiments have saved the livestock industry many times over what it will ever cost. The grasshoppers have been under observation for a number of years, but the experiment probably will continue through this generation and into the next.

He Sang "Massa's In De Cold, Cold Ground"—Goodnight

Little airplane
I see you
Flitting around up there.
(A slight pause during which the performer plays "Flee as a Bird" on a musical instrument—preferably a mando-lute).
Your buzz
It bothers me—
I am distracted
From my work.
In the class room
You sometimes drown out
My instructor's voice
And break into
The routine of class work.
(Two verses and chorus of "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow.")
I've often wondered
What your purpose is
In wandering around
The unchartered skies.
What are you hunting for?
(Chrous only of "Who's the Wife of the Man in the Moon?")
Do you not know
That it is tempting death
To fly around so?
(One verse and chorus of "Oh Death Where is Thy Sting?")
Tell me, I pray you
What makes you stay up there
So much
And so long?
(Two verses and chorus of "Wait Till You Get Them Up in the Air Boys.")
At times you twist,
And turn,
And stagger,
And reel,
And flip-flop grotesquely.
Why do you act so queerly?
(All of "The Alcoholic Blues.")
But now—
As I look at you—
You begin to fall
Fall, fall
Earthward.
Something has happened
You've sprung a leak
In your gas tank,
Or your carburetor
Has ceased to function.
Down you come
Swiftly and more swiftly
Until you strike
The earth
With a mighty crash.
(All of "Massa's in de cold, cold ground.")

Dinner Party

Miss Luella Cory and Miss Ruth Sankee gave a dinner party at the Pines Food Shop Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Marie Seeley, of New York City, who is visiting Miss Hedrick. The guests were Miss Seeley, Miss Heiser, Miss Hedrick, Mrs. C. E. Reid, Mrs. Gulick, Miss Edith Bond, Miss Irene Dean, Miss Bess McKitrick. After the dinner the party attended the show.

Wamego Kids 'Em Along—And He's a Real Democrat, Too

"All right Wamego, let's go."

When you hear this at an Aggie baseball game you know the fans are talkin' to Luke. That's where he hails from. The thriving little neighbor metropolis on the east claims Luke as one of its favorite sons.

Luke A. Guilfoyle started his baseball career in high school. He made the freshman baseball team in college. In the navy he played baseball and was in the Akron, Ohio, naval baseball club. He has caught for Jess Barnes of the New York Giants and for Willey Taylor, pitcher for St. Louis and Cleveland in the American League. Luke has been recently recommended for the Texas state league.

Coach Clevenger says, "I've looked them all over and I haven't seen a catcher that has anything on Luke. He has a baseball head on him and he uses it."

Luke is quite a kidder and a philosopher as well. In politics lies his greatest interest. Having served his country in the military forces he is opposed to Wood and he thinks Wilson is O. K. Hence he is called a Democrat. A tall dark haired lad with wonderful dark eyes, he makes a genuine lady killing hevamp.

Luke is a junior Ag, a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and was just recently initiated into the K fraternity.

Dinner Party

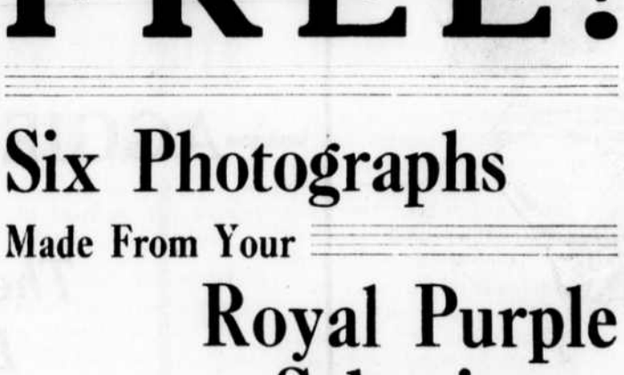

Prof. and Mrs. P. J. Newman entertained with a dinner party Tuesday evening at their home, 914 Leavenworth, in honor of Mrs. Newman's sister, Miss Emma Humfeld of Kansas City, Mo. Their guests were Miss Marie Seeley of New York City, Miss Marie Hedrick, Mr. DeRose, Mr. McDonald, Dr. Macarthur.

Miss Bess MacQueen and Miss Grace Dopp came from Salina Saturday morning to visit Miss Bertha Miller and to attend "Daddies."

FINAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR SUMMER CAMPS

MEN SHOULD TAKE PERSONAL ARTICLES WITH THEM

Subsistence at Camp, Clothing, and Traveling Costs Will All Be at Government Expense

Final instructions have been issued to the men who are to attend the summer R. O. T. C. camp at Camp Custer, Mich.

All traveling expenses and subsistence on the way to the camp will be at government expense. The uniforms will not be taken from the educational institutions but will be issued at the camp unless specially authorized.

Take Personal Articles

The war department has given out a list of personal articles of equipment which would be appropriate for each man to bring to camp for his own camp use; 3 suits of underwear, 6 pairs of socks, 6 handkerchiefs, 1 pair high tan shoes, 3 face towels, 3 bath towels, 2 pair pajamas, and shaving and toilet articles. Other articles which would be convenient for the men to have are: 1 heavy sweater, 1 pair tennis or track shoes, 1 track or athletic uniform, 1 bathing suit, 1 watch, 1 pocket knife, 1 small camera, 1 flash light, 1 fountain pen, and musical instruments.

Government Foots Bills

The subsistence of men at the camps will be at government expense and the ration allowance will be the same as that of cadets at the Military Academy, and meals will be cooked at government expense.

WILL HAVE A SOIL FERTILITY SCHOOL

TRAIN SALESMEN FOR FERTILIZER INDUSTRY

Expected That 100 Men Will Attend the School Which Will be Held from June 1 to 4

A soil fertility school conducted by the Kansas State Agricultural college, in cooperation with the Soil Improvement committee of the National Fertilizer association, will be held at Manhattan on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, June 1 to 4.

The purpose of this school is to train salesmen and others interested in the fertilizer industry in the proper use of fertilizers in different sections of the country and to make them familiar with the best agricultural practices in these sections. These schools are held in different sections of the country and enable those engaged in the fertilizer trade to become familiar with the experimental work in soils in progress at the best experiment stations.

It is a compliment to the Kansas State Agricultural college to have been asked to put on one of these schools. Possibly 100 men will attend the school and among the out of town speakers will be Prof. W. H. Stevenson, professor of agronomy and vice director of the Iowa experiment station at Ames. Prof. M. F. Miller, professor of soils at the University of Missouri; Prof. W. W. Burr, professor of agronomy, University of Nebraska, Dr. H. J. Waters, editor of the Kansas City Weekly Star, and Mr. F. B. Nichols, managing editor of the Capper publications.

ALPHA THETA CHI PURCHASES A NEW HOUSE ON FAIRCHILD

Three Blocks from College Campus—Cost $15,000

The Alpha Theta Chi fraternity has purchased the A. S. Neale property at 1642 Fairchild for its permanent home, at a cost of $15,000.

The new home of the fraternity is within three blocks of the college campus. The house is of modern construction with fireplace, sun parlor, and two sleeping porches. The walls are of hollow tile with stucco finish on the outside.

Possession of the property will be given the new owners on August 1, 1920.

DR. E. C. MILLER TO RESUME INVESTIGATIONAL WORK HERE

Is Among the Leading Scientists in Plant Physiology

Dr. E. C. Miller, professor of plant physiology, in the department of botany and plant pathology, has returned from an extended visit to his old home in Ohio, to resume his investigational work at this station on the water requirements of the different varieties of corn and sorghums.

Doctor Miller is among the leading scientists in the field of plant physiology, having done as much as or more than any other investigator to determine the water requirements of these important corn and sorghum crops, besides carrying on other research work. His latest published work consists of a very detailed and unusually well prepared paper on the fertilization of corn.

DEAR OLD HEN

Dear Old Hen:—I havnt written you for some time Hen, but there has been to much going on here at the Academy of Chemistry, and that's the reason that I havnt written you sooner. I don't think that I have written you about Ruff neck day on Ida's March yet. I have about forgotten about that day, but it was a hektik one. I remember a few of the prizes awarded.

As I remember it Professor Baker was awarded the furlined lamp chimney for the most unrefined joy displayed during the day and the greatest endurance of such joy. The blue eyed angle worm that was to have been presented to the wriggliest dancer at the ball in the evening became muscle bound while being taught to shrug the meanest shimme known so it was not presented. That was quite a disappointment, for this had been looked forward to as the crowning event of the day. The worm was an almost perfect specimen of the blue-eyed variety, and had been trained very carefully by members of the Zoology Dept.'s instructional staff.

Well, Hen there has been several things transpire since Ruff neck day, so many that I havnt time to tell you all of them. I have seen several good plays from the roost of a down town theatre where all the college boys and soldiers sit. Most of them are infantrymen, but I sat by one the other night that must have been a cavalryman, even if he didn't wear a uniform. He had a decided air of stability about him.

Well, Hen it's time to go to English Lit. class now and I must stop. I shall find out that my opinion on any of the minor poets of the Restoration is probably as good as anybody's else. I am always glad to find out these things, for if I ever have an opinion on the minor poets of the Restoration it will be comforting to know that it is a good opinion, although it probably will not be.

You want to be sure and come up here next year Hen for you will be in line for the penny throwing team. We are to hold a meet with K. U. in throwing pennys at a crack next year and I should like to see you win a letter. You are undoubtedly the Spiveyville champion, and should make a strong bid for a position on our team. Think how proud you would be to wear a K sweater down the main street of Spiveyville.—Yours by chance.—Jack.

OTHER COLLEGES

Freshman co-eds at Ohio State university, numbering 550 strong, have announced their intention of doing all within their power to cut the price of clothing this summer. They will begin their "boycott," it is said, by refusing to don silken hose all through the summer and for as long a period thereafter as may be necessary. Lisle hosiery, (the kind that doesn't run) will hold a prominent place in their wardrobes. Following the action of the first year girls the upperclass women of the Buckeye state school, expressed their approval and declared that they would "fall in line," and support the undertaking.

Miss Alice Hannen of Detroit is spending this week with her sister Miss Helen Hannen of the music department.

Mrs. Caton of Winfield spent the week end at the Pi Phi house.

Mrs. Dodbson of Winfield was a week end guest at the Pi Phi house.

Mrs. Fred Russell of Paola was a week end guest at the Pi Phi house.

OFFER $500 ANNUALLY TO DAIRY GIRLS

COLLEGE GETS A SHARPLES SCHOLARSHIP

THREE ON THE COMMITTEE

Any Young Woman in Agriculture, Dairy Husbandry, or Home Economics is Eligible at End of Her Fifth Term

In order to encourage women to enter the field of dairy husbandry, especially along educational lines, the college has secured a $500 scholarship, to be awarded annually. P. M. Sharples, president of the Sharples Separator company, West Chester, Pa., is offering the scholarship to K. S. A. C. girls.

State The Rules

The scholarship is given to the winner at the end of her junior year. Following is a list of the rules:

The scholarship is to be known as the Sharples Prize scholarship.

Amount is $500 yearly to college committee which has charge of its distribution.

Is a senior scholarship, to be awarded to a young woman at the end of her junior year. Applications considered from those who have completed five terms.

Any young lady in college, whether she is enrolled in agriculture, dairy husbandry, or home economics, is eligible to apply for the scholarship. Women will be considered on the basis of scholarship, moral character, special training, and special fitness for responsibility in the dairy field.

The purpose of the scholarship is to encourage young women to enter the dairy field. The winner should assure the committee that at least one year following her graduation will be devoted to public work along such lines.

It is desirable that the winner take public speaking and special dairy subjects during her senior year.

The Sharples scholarship may be revoked at any time. This is left to the committee.

A full report of the award is to be sent to Mr. Sharples of the Sharples Separator company.

Name Aggie Committee

The committee in charge at K. S. A. C. is composed of three persons. They are: Dean Mary P. VanZile, Dean F. D. Farrell, and Prof. L. A. Fitz.

W.A.A. TO HAVE GIRL'S FIELD DAY

TENNIS AND BASEBALL FINALS TO BE PLAYED THEN

Any Girl Is Eligible to Enter Meet —Girls Winning in Fetes Will Receive W. A A. Points

Thursday, May 20, is to be the field day for all of the K. S. A. C. woman athletes. The tennis tournament and baseball finals will be played then.

The other fetes will be the 50 yard dash, high jump, broad jump, hop, skip, and jump, baseball throw, and the basketball throw.

There will also be some interpretive dancing work. The judges have not been chosen as yet. The contest will be for W. A. A. points.

It will all be interclass work and anyone who signs up is eligible to enter. The list is now posted on the bulletin board in the women's gymnasium.

ATTEND MEETING OF THE KANSAS AUTHORS' CLUB

Was First District Meeting Ever Held—Searson President

Prof. J. W. Searson and Prof. N. A. Crawford attended the meeting of the sixth district Kansas Authors' club, at Hays Saturday. This was the first district meeting of the club ever held, but further meetings of similar character are planned by Professor Searson, who is president of the organization.

Professors Searson and Crawford both appeared on the program at Hays, and also attended part of the successful musical festival and art exhibit held by the Fort Hays Kansas Normal school.

Prof. Willard Wattles of the University of Kansas visited the college over the week end. On Monday he addressed several classes in the department of English. He spoke on modern poetry and read a number of illustrative selections.

SEE COLORADO MONDAY NIGHT

F. E. COLBURN TO GIVE ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Is Under Supervision of Science Club—All Are Invited to Attend the Lecture in Anderson

The members and guests of the Science Club are to have an unusual opportunity to "see Colorado" at the last meeting of the year, to be held next Monday evening, May 17, at 7:30 in the recreation center in Anderson hall.

F. E. Colburn, college photographer, will give an illustrated talk on "The Scenic Beauties of Colorado." Mr. Colburn spent three months in the forests and mountains of Colorado last summer and has a remarkably fine set of lantern slides, which he has prepared from the pictures taken on this trip.

All those who have seen some of Colorado's beauty spots will want to see them again, and for the benefit of those who expect to "see Colorado" Mr. Colburn has promised to explain the various routes of travel by auto-road, pack-horse and on foot, and to make suggestions as to equipment, supplies and fishing tackle for the vacationist.

DEBATE TRYOUTS BEGIN MAY 17

TO CHOOSE THIRTY OR FORTY NEXT YEAR'S DEBATERS

Question for Debate Is "Resolved That Kansas Industrial Court Law Should Be Repealed"

Thirty or forty students will be chosen at the tryout for debaters, to be held from 3 to 5 o'clock Monday and Tuesday afternoons, May 17 and 18 in A-60, for the fall debate squads. Debaters will be chosen from these squads next fall to represent K. S. A. C. in the regular intercollegiate debates of the year.

The question to be debated at the tryout is "Resolved: That the Kansas Industrial Court Law Should be Repealed." Each contestant is required to prepare a five minute speech on any issue of the question and be prepared to give his speech before the judges, who will be three members of the faculty.

The tryout is open to any regularly enrolled student in college. All students who make the tryout and work one semester on the squad, whether they make the team or not, are given two hours' credit.

All students desiring to try out should see Professor Burns in A-66 for an appointment as to the exact time they should appear at the tryout and for any other information they may desire.

Loyalty Club Elects

At the regular meeting of the Girl's Loyalty club, Tuesday afternoon, the following five council members for next year were elected: Seniors, Bly Ewalt, and Jessie Evans; juniors, Louise Manglesdorf and Rowena Thornburg; sophomore, Faith Martin.

Bly Ewalt, the senior who received the greatest number of votes, was made chairman.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, was at Hays, Monday and Tuesday of this week attending the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Freshman Girl's Soliloquy at Her First Aggie Baseball Game

Oh dear, it certainly looks like rain. Will they play if it starts to sprinkle? My I should think they'd take their death of cold if they would play in the rain.

They're starting now. My they certainly do scatter about the field. Oh look—there isn't hardly any grass on that one spot. Do you suppose they've played so much that they've killed it? That would be a shame.

Oh Tom what IS he going to do with that stick? Oh I see now, he is trying to hit the ball—my goodness, I thought he was going to hit that fellow with the iron mask on.

The boy standing in the middle is certainly a contortionist with all those motions he goes through before he throws the ball.

Why, is the game over already? Oh no, I see, they're just changing places; I suppose they do get tired staying in the same place all of the time.

I don't see how they get any pleasure out of hitting that little old ball with that funny stick. Those boys that hit change about quite often.

Why Tom what are those pillows for? There's four of them lying out on that dirty ground and those boys are standing on them. The four of them make a perfect square. Why that must be the reason for calling a baseball field a diamond—why I see through the whole thing now. Why didn't you tell me before, Tom?

Oh dear, this hat hurts my head. I guess I'd better take it off and get comfortable for the rest of the game.

PRIZES AWARDED BY DEPARTMENTS

FACULTY ACT AS JUDGES IN VARIOUS CONTESTS

Prizes in Music Consisted of Three One Year Fees in Departments of Voice, Violin, or Piano

A prize competition for students in high schools of Kansas was held in the various departments of K. S. A. C. on May 6 and 7. These contests were held in the Music, Public Speaking, Clothing, Sewing, and Architecture department.

In each department the faculty acted as the judges of the different contests. The prizes in the music contest consisted of three one year fees in the departments of voice, violin, or piano. Any first prize in the cooking and sewing contest was accepted by the division of home economics as one year's laboratory fees in the department. A second prize in this contest was a semester's fee in the department.

The prizes for the contests in other departments were decided by the judges.

Announce Promotions

The military department announces the promotion of Nevels Pearson to cadet colonel, C. E. Hutto to cadet major and S. D. Capper to cadet captain. Pearson is the first man this year to be appointed to the position of cadet colonel, there being no cadet colonel up to this time.

AGGIE GIRLS TO TAKE CHALLENGE

K. U. CO-EDS TO TRY OUTNUMBERING AGGIES AT CONFERENCE

Summer Conference to be at Estes Park—Miss Dean and Miss Seeber to Head Student Delegation

Challenging the Aggie Y. W. C. A. co-eds, the Lawrence Y. W. girls declare that they will send the biggest student delegation to the annual summer conference at Estes Park which is to be held from August 17 to 27, inclusive.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. at this school accepted K. U.'s challenge and have set about making plans for their representation at the Rocky Mountain meeting.

Last year K. U. sent the biggest delegation of any school in this state and in 1918 the Aggie girls claimed that honor. The sending of a girl delegation to the Colorado conference is experimental and it is hoped that the result of this year's undertaking will be sufficient success to make the annual representation at Estes a permanent thing.

Heretofore the conference which has been held somewhere in the Ozarks and the Geneva conference have claimed a larger percentage of the delegates while only in the last few years has Kansas been largely represented at the Colorado meeting.

Miss Irene M. Dean, general secretary of the local Y. W. C. A. and Miss Marcia Seeber, president for the coming year, will head the student delegation who will attend the conference this summer.

DELEGATES TO GO FROM HERE

SEVEN STATES TO BE REPRESENTED AT CONFERENCE

Y. M. C. A. Meeting for College Students Will Be Held at Estes Park from June 11 to 21

The annual Y. M. C. A. conference for college students is to be held in Estes Park, Colorado, from June 11 to 21. At this conference there will be students from the states of Nebraska, New Mexico, California, Wyoming, Utah, Montana, and Kansas.

It is planned to run a special train on the Union Pacific which will pick up all the students from the Kansas colleges. The delegations from Ottawa, K. U., Baker, and Washburn will be the first to get on the special, while delegations from the southwestern colleges will meet at Topeka. If a sufficient number of men from K. S. A. C. will sign up to go, a Pullman will be placed on the siding half a day ahead of the special.

The quota of men from this school is limited to 30 at the present but if a sufficient number of men show interest the quota may be raised to 40. A special rate of one and one-third of the usual one-way trip is being made for the whole trip as a special inducement.

Entertain Tri K

Prof. R. I. Throckmorton entertained the members of Tri K with a smoker on Tuesday evening at his home on Houston. The evening was spent at cards, after which Mrs. Throckmorton served refreshments.

KANSAS CITY COMMERCIAL CLUB VISITS THE COLLEGE

R. O. T. C. Puts on a Parade for the Visitors

The Kansas City Commercial club which is making a tour of Kansas spent Wednesday afternoon looking over the college. The R. O. T. C. led by the college band put on a parade for the visitors on the east side of the campus in spite the fact that a dashing rain was falling during the entire length of the performance.

During the late afternoon the members of the club visited the stock judging pavilion where the annual stock judging contest was in progress.

TO THE FRESHMEN

At the start of the year the bulk of the advice that is constantly in evidence in the vicinity of institutions of learning is directed at the freshman class. After the opening of the second semester it is the senior who comes in for his share of the well-meant direction for his future.

But as the year draws to a close, increasing attention should once more be given next year's sophomores. The start of the second year is a crucial one for every student. If it is an auspicious start, greater will be the chances for a satisfactory college career, but if it should be a fizzle, the student is constantly working under a handicap.

It is a matter of record that those students who return for the second year and stick it out, will continue for the entire four years. It is the four year students that every university wants. The "now here, now there" kind are but a drag on the whole institution.

Another important feature of the sophomore year is that it marks the letting down of the bars of University activity. It is not until then that the student is allowed to take part in all "extra-curricula" interests. The foundations for leadership are built during this important time. Every campus position of importance is reached only by apprenticeship starting with the student's second year.

The effort of the entire student body, both freshmen and upperclassmen—from now until the end of the school year should be to train the class of '23 in three things vital to its college career. These things are (1) spirit, such as that fostered by the wearing of the "peanut" caps, (2) activity, by having every yearling lined up to do something for his University next year, and (3) last, but not least, scholarship, which is the primary requisite.

The training of the freshmen must not be neglected.—Ohio State Lantern.

ALUMNI NOTES

It will interest many alumni to know that the list of seniors elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi included the name of Miss Nellie Payne, daughter of James E. Payne, '87, and Mary Cottrell Payne, '91.

Among the students recently elected to the chapter of the American College Quill Club, we note the names of Vernon Bundy, son of D. E. Bundy, '89, and J. Gladys Hartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hartley, '92.

Walter G. Ward, '12, formerly head of the department of architecture and drawing at the North Dakota Agricultural College, has accepted the position of rural architect in the division of extension. Farmers who are expecting to have building problems this coming season will consult Mr. Ward in regard to plans.

David Gray, '16, of Washington, D. C., was a college visitor last week.

At the annual meeting of Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholarship fraternity, the following alumni were elected to membership: May Secrest, '92, Ada Rice, '95, Ina Holroyd, '97, Glick Fockele, '02, F. W. Wilson, '05, Alice Skinner, '09, O. W. Hunter, '09, Gertrude Mc Cheyne, '09, A. R. Losh, '10, Mrs. Grace Berry, '10, Stanley Smith, '10, and L. B. Mickel, '10.

Dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Sunday were Mrs. W. Bucklee, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Stauffer, Mrs. Bruce Bate of Wichita, Mrs. Phillips of Paola, Miss Lorna Boyce, Miss Elsie Tillotson, and L. E. Balderson.

F. Y. Linn, '18, is electrician of the Ohio Telephone Co., at Canton, Ohio. His address is 133 Walnut Ave., S. E., Canton, O.

Informal Party

Miss Lucile Bomgardner, whose engagement to Mr. Ellett Robinson, of Towanda, Kan., has been announced, was the guest of honor at an informal evening party which Miss Florence Fair gave last evening. The party was a miscellaneous shower, and the blue bird idea was carried out in decorations, place cards, and games. The guests were Miss Bomgardner, Miss Margaret Whittemore, Miss Theodora Smith, Miss Elsie Cuthbert, Miss Lucile Rosen, Miss Marjorie Roby, Miss Ruth Larimer, Miss Ruth Tomlinson, Miss Genevieve McMillan, Miss Theo Cobb, Miss Dorothy Foster, Miss Mildred Spencer, Miss Elsie Saville, Miss Marian Lerrigo, Miss Laura Neiswanger.

Miss Lerrigo will give a luncheon today in compliment to Miss Bomgardner.—Topeka Daily Capital.

Block and Bridle Elects.

At the last meeting of the Block and Bridle club the following members of the animal husbandry faculty were elected to honorary membership in the organization: F. D. Farrell, F. W. Bell, E. F. Ferrin, H. B. Winchester, B. C. Zimmerman, C. E. Aubel, and H. L. Ibsen. Students elected to the organization were Jack Evans and Warren Cowell.

Select Target Range

The target range for the coming year is to be located just east of the college chicken ranch, and will be of ample size to allow the rookies to shoot without danger to the other departments of the college. There will be about 40 acres of land in the tract, thus giving much more room for field work than the men have had in the past.

For Sale—Suburban home, 10 acres, one mile west of college, six room modern house; plenty of water, out buildings generally needed; good place to keep cows, chickens, pigs, etc.; seven acres in alfalfa, balance in pasture land. Alex McManis, R. F. D. 1, Manhattan, Kan. 66-4

LAST MAKING is an art. Last makers are really born, just as sculptors are born. They model the human foot in wood.

The head of the production department of the Ralston Health Shoemakers is a skilled last maker. That is the reason Ralston Shoes are famous for their perfect fit. It is also the reason why the graceful lines of the Ralston styles are distinctive. It is one of the reasons why Ralstons are always comfortable and wonderfully serviceable. The "Bon Ton" model, shown here, is a noteworthy example.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Seven O'clock Dinner

Mr. Lloyd Zimmerman entertained Tuesday evening at seven o'clock with a dinner party at the Gillett hotel. There were four courses. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the menu and in the decorations of sweet peas. The guests were Miss Helen Lawrence, Miss Josephine Sullivan, Miss Clementine Paddleford, Mr. Harold Woodard, and Mr. Frank Hoath. After the dinner the party attended the Marshall theater.

Dodd-Ruggles

Announcement has recently been made of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Dodd and Dr. Howard Edwin Ruggles, Tuesday, April 27, at the Calvary Presbyterian church of San Francisco, Calif. Mrs. Ruggles graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1913. She is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. She was travelling in France with her aunt, Mrs. F. A. Durban, when the war broke out. She was very active in Red Cross work, being stationed at Royat for some time. It was at Royat that she met Dr. Ruggles, then a captain in the medical branch of the service. Dr. Ruggles, who is a native Californian, is a graduate of Leland Stanford university and of the Harvard medical school. Dr. and Mrs. Ruggles will make their home at San Francisco where Dr. Ruggles is an Xray specialist.

After Theater Party

The members of the College Club entertained after the opera, "Spring Maid," Friday evening in honor of Mr. David Gray who was formerly connected with the college here. The guests included: Miss Katherine Kimmel, Miss Josephine Perry, Miss Marian Harrison, Miss Doris Bugbey, Miss Dora Otto, Miss Grace Hesse, Mr. Malcolm Sewell, and Mr. David Gray.

Dinner Guests

Miss Annette Perry, Miss Helen Hannen, Miss Bess Curry, and Miss Ruby Crocker entertained with a dinner at the Pines Friday evening in honor of the guests visiting them during Festival Week. The guests were: Mrs. Kenneth T. Erwin of Topeka, Miss Alice Hannen of Detroit, Mich., Miss Delia Curry of Norton, and Miss Esther Fisher of Kansas City.

Mother's Day Dinner

The members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity observed Mother's Day Friday evening with a dinner at the chapter house in honor of mothers of the fraternity members and other guests. Guests were: Dean Mary P. VanZile, Mrs. C: R. Hepler, Mrs. H. P. Corby, Mrs. S. M. Paddleford, Mrs. F. Van Vliet, Mrs. E. J. Knapp, of Norton, Mrs. U. G. Woodward of Glen Elder, Mrs. W. Simonson of Anthony, Mrs. C. H. Wickem of Anthony, Mrs. J. H. Evans, of Williamtown, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Otto of Riley, Mrs. F. C. Otto of Riley, Mrs. A. L. Goble, and Mrs. Enoch Hassebrook of Riley.

Entertain House Mothers

The Delta Tau Delta fraternity and house mother, Mrs. Bessie Webb Birdsall, entertained informally Monday afternoon for the fraternity and sorority house mothers of the town. The guests were taken to the matinee at the Wareham theater, after which they were entertained at the chapter house at 1224 Fremont. Ice cream, coffee, and cake were served. Music was furnished by members of the fraternity.

Spring Party

The formal spring party of the Sigma Phi Delta fraternity was given Monday evening, May 10, at Elk's Hall. The hall was decorated with flowers and potted plants. A drop ceiling was used of lattice work interwoven with vines. Shaded floor lamps and a spotlight were used for the lighting. The rest room was decorated to represent a flower garden. Small tables were placed in the room where ice cream and cake were served throughout the evening. Small gold knives with the fraternity crest on them were given as favors.

The chaperones for the evening were Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Watson. Out of town guests were Miss Edith Greer of Emporia, Mr. Merrill A. Rutter and Mr. Warren Rutter of Topeka, Mr. Don Ballomy of Kansas City, and Mr. A. H. Dugan of Camp Funston.

The music was furnished by the Delta Tau Delta orchestra from Lawrence.

Miss Winifred Dalton, '06, was a guest of Miss Martha Pittman, '06, during May Festival.

Because of an increasing demand we will make a specialty of lady's shampoo and facial massage on Saturday afternoons for the remainder of the year. Cooper's Barber Shop, on the campus. tf

Week end guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house were Dean Potts, Alan Mawdsley, Milton Heinz, Russel Strobel, Verne Chitwood, Knight Magruder, Allen Sims, and Paul Jones.

Mrs. Hattie Forsythe Felton, '04, with her sister, Mrs. Lottie Forsythe Russell were week end guests of Mrs. Russell's daughter, Miss Edith Russell, a freshman student.

F. R. REASONER ORGANIZES BAND

HERINGTON LADIES' BAND COMES INTO PROMINENCE

Will Attend Republican National Convention in June—May Attend. Inauguration at Washington in March

F. K. Reasoner of Herington, a graduate of the class of '90, has one of the most unique musical organizations in the country. The Herington Ladies' band has been organized for about five years but it is only in the past two years that the band has come into such prominence under the leadership of Mr. Reasoner.

The band is to attend the Republican national convention in June and it is not improbable that they will also attend the inauguration at Washington in March. The band has been invited to go on the Allen special this month when Governor Allen was to go to New York to debate with Samuel Gompers on the industrial court law. This trip was just recently called off however.

Mr. Reasoner has one daughter in school at his alma mater, Miss Margaret Reasoner, freshman in industrial journalism.

TRYING TO AVOID CROWDED TRAFFIC

RAILROAD COMPANIES TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE COLLEGE

If Plan Is to be a Success Students Must Sign Up Papers Provided by the Railroads

President W. M. Jardine has made arrangements with the rialroad companies to avoid the usual congestion of the traffic at the close of school. This can be done if the students will cooperate with the college.

In order to do this all students as soon as they decide on which train they will leave, should call at Dr. Holtz's office and sign up papers provided by the railroad companies which tell when they expect to go home and on what train.

If all of the students will do this there will be extra equipment supplied by the railroad companies and large numbers of tickets will be stamped in advance so that the usual waiting in line at the depots and standing in the coaches will be done away with. Reports should be made as soon as possible.

He Was Too Heavy To Be A Jockey So He Tried A College

"The greatest ambition that I ever had was to be a famous horse jockey, and my greatest disappointment was when I learned that I was becoming too heavy to follow that calling," said Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department in the Kansas State Agricultural college, as he leaned back in his chair and tapped a pencil on his desk.

But when this bubble of boyhood days burst, Doctor McCampbell tried to find a new occupation that would replace jockeying. Carpentering, working as a printer's devil, and even teaching a country school followed one another in quick succession without filling his need.

Then the innate love for a beautiful animal that has made him one of the greatest live stock men in the country again asserted itself. He left his native state of Kansas and took a job of punching cattle on a ranch in New Mexico. After a short time at this work he was prevailed upon to go to college.

"Any person can work his way through college and have a good time," remarked Doctor McCampbell, in speaking of his college experience. "Although I was not compelled to work my way, I earned all of my expenses and got as much enjoyment out of college life as anyone in school."

His first job while working his way through college was a rotten job—carrying 500 bushels of rotten potatoes out of the cellar of a down town grocery store. But advancement came quickly and he soon found himself a clerk in the Knostman clothing store. From this position he graduated to that of stable helper at the college.

But he did not let his work interfere with his college education. Not only was he an honor student of his class, but he also found time to manage the student theatricals. After graduating from college, he again responded to the call of the plains and went back to punching cattle in New Mexico. But the lure of college life was too strong for him and he came back to K. S. A. C., this time graduating in the course of veterinary medicine. With two college degrees back of him he accepted a position on the faculty of the animal husbandry department in his alma mater.

Still his desire for knowledge was not satisfied. Therefore, while teaching his classes, he found time to take college work, this time majoring in agriculture. Upon taking his third degree, he was made head of the animal husbandry department.

And not only is he head of the animal husbandry department, but he is also one of the best authorities on live stock in this section of the country.

EATING HERSHEYS UP IN A FERRIS WHEEL WITH ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

Up in a ferris wheel and up there all night with another man's wife. What did they do? Oh they ate hersheys, crackerjack, and peanuts.

The next day when the poor man finally got down and home to his own little sweetie, she wouldn't believe his story. So Mr. Man lied and lied; he told one little white lie after another, and occasionally a big black one. It was a regular family mixup with fun and trouble, all because of "a night out."

Betty Lyman, Ella Stinson, Louis Bate, Henry Enns, Carloyn Lear, and Ralph Foster are a few of the people who are mixed up in this affair. Some other folks are trying to get in on it, but it has not been decided as to which part they will have.

Everyone will have a chance to see what happened and how all the trouble come out, on Tuesday evening, May 25, when the senior play, "A Night Out" is given.

Miss Florence Heizer, English instructor, is in charge of the tryouts. She also has charge of the coaching of this family row.

Miss Heizer will make it come out all right for she is known as a trouble fixer. Miss Heizer has had charge of the coaching of the majority of the college plays for the last three years and the success of her work is well known.

AGGIE GOES TO NATIONAL GATHERING IN ST. LOUIS

Will Also Go to Chicago—Is a Junior Civil Engineer

Kenneth Shideler, junior in civil engineering, has gone to St. Louis to attend a national meeting of the Society of American Engineers. Shideler is president of the local chapter of the organization and was one of the main factors in getting the chapter here. The local organization is one of the first chapters to be installed in the west.

From St. Louis Shideler will go to Chicago on business in regard to the K. S. A. C. Engineer, the Aggie magazine of which Mr. Shideler is business manager. The magazine may be published four times next year if plans now under way are carried out.

VOL. XXVI KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, TUESDAY, MAY 18, 1920 NO. 68

ENTRANCE FEE NEXT YEAR IS GIVEN A BOOST

FRESHMAN RESIDENTS WILL PAY $21.50 MATRICULATION

ALL STATE COLLEGES RAISE

Change Becomes Effective September, 1920—Jardine Gives Figures Now So Students Will Know of Change

An increase has been made in the matriculation fees of all state institutions by the State Board of Administration at Topeka. The increase is effective for the matriculation first semester next fall.

Fees Nearly Doubled

Matriculation fee for residents has been increased from $5 to $10, nonresidents, from $10 to $15.

Incidental fee for residents, $5 to $10; nonresidents from $10 to $15.

Sick-benefit fee for both residents and nonresidents from $1.00 to $1.50.

These become effective in September, 1920. A resident entering next fall as a freshman student will pay $21.50 instead of $11.00; a resident sophomore student will pay $11.50 instead of $6.00.

In speaking of the change, President Jardine said: "In fairness to the students I think they should be advised of this change before returning home this year. I regret exceedingly the necessity for increasing the fees but I know the students understand thoroughly that a dollar will not purchase any more for the institution than it will for the individual. They no doubt realize the tremendous expense to which the institution is put in maintaining itself these days. Every possible measure is being taken to retain the services of the strong men and women on the faculty and those connected with the institution until we can go before the legislature for financial assistance."

BULL TO APPEAR QUARTERLY NOW

COMPLETE PLANS FOR MAGAZINE NEXT YEAR

Milton S. Eisenhower Is Elected Editor-in-Chief and Walter Karlowski Business Manager

At the annual banquet of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, Milton S. Eisenhower was elected editor-in-chief of the Brown Bull magazine for next year and Walter Karlowski was elected business manager.

Plans were definitely made for issuing the magazine four times next year. It is to be a much larger publication than the one issued this year. It will also have a cartoon on every page.

Prof. J. W. Searson, in speaking of the first issue of the magazine, said, "You have a magazine started that promises to be one of the best college humor magazines in the country. One poem, 'A College Song of Hate,' is the best of its kind that has been written for years."

President W. M. Jardine has sanctioned the magazine heartily. He said, "I want to congratulate the editors for the excellent magazine which they put out. This kind of materia counteracts the scandal sheets which have been issued. I hope that the Brown Bull will continue and that it will be a big success."

HARVESTERS WILL GET SEVENTY CENTS AN HOUR

Many Aggie Men to Go to Fields During Summer

Many Aggie men will go to the harvest fields this summer. Seventy cents an hour and board will be the wage for harvest hands in the heart of the wheat belt of Kansas this year. Such was the vote of the wheat growers at Hutchinson, May 3, when the Kansas Harvest Labor association held its second annual meeting.

One hundred and thirty delegates were present, covering 31 counties. The Grange, the Farmers' union, the State Farm bureau, the state board of agriculture, the National Wheat Growers' association, and other farmers' organizations were represented.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Miller of Belleville were week end guests of Mr. Lloyd Miller and Miss Enola Miller.

Miss Marcelia Marshall of Gardner, was a guest of Miss Ruby Crocker over the week end.

HASKELL COMES FOR DUAL MEET

CLASH SATURDAY AFTERNOON IN TRACK EVENTS

Meet with Indians Is Last One in which the Aggies will Appear on the Home Field

Haskell Indians and the Aggies will clash Saturday afternoon in a dual track meet here at Manhattan. While the Indians have some fast men in their ranks, the Aggies are not looking for such a close contest as the one held at K. U. last Saturday.

The line-up for Saturday's meet will probably be about the same as for the K. U. meet. Watson will try to lower the mile record at that time and Frost and Counsel will undoubtedly show up better on the home field where there will be no freak spots in the track to throw them off their stride. An up-grade in the pole vault track at K. U. caused them to lose their logical places in this event.

The Haskell meet is the last and the only meet here this year and is the last time the Aggie tracksters will perform before the Missouri valley meet.

BIG DEMAND FOR GOOD ENGINEERS

COMPANIES CANNOT GET TRAINED MEN

K. S. A. C. Could Have Placed Many Times as Many as Will Be Graduated this Year—Jobs Go Begging

During the past six weeks K. S. A. C. has been visited by representatives of the General Electric company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, the Henry S. Doherty company, the International Harvester company, the Western Electric company, the Standard Oil company, the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, and the Coleman Lamp company.

All of these men came to K. S. A. C. to interest engineering students in taking up work with their companies. Besides these, the college has had requests for men from the Emerson Electric company, the Lyon Metallic Manufacturing company, the Fort Wayne Electric company, the Wagner Electric company, the Transit Construction commission, various state highway commissions, railroads, consulting engineering firms, structural steel firms, the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, the Chicago Edison company, and at least a score more or less important concerns.

Jobs Go Begging

"It is not an exaggerated statement to say that we could have placed this year, without any difficulty, several times the number of graduates who will complete the work in engineering," A. A. Potter, dean of engineering, said recently.

"The average salary of the students who are graduating this year ranges from $85 to $250 per month, but in practically all cases they are in the nature of post-graduate courses," Dean Potter said.

"In this connection, it is interesting to know that our alumni who have been with some of the large companies three years are averaging better than $200 per month, and those who have been with the large manufacturing companies five years are ranging in salaries from $3,000 to $5,000 per year. Several of our graduates who have been out of school 10 years are receiving salaries of $10,000 per year, and more."

Confessed Why He Likes To Harvest During the Summer

Perhaps the confession of a K. S. A. C. student would be helpful to the city lads who can't understand why certain boys go to the harvest fields to work during the summer. This confession was made in a theme and was not meant for publication.

"This story deals with my experiences during the summer months of 1919. I first started out as a harvester for purely patriotic reasons. It had been the custom for the young men of the town in which I lived to offer their services during spare hours to the nearby farmers, free of charge.

"Accordingly, I went along with several others. That being the first real work I had ever done, my parents were startled and alarmed, but after they found that I really intended to continue it, they made a regular martyr of me. I began to build air castles, and exaggerate upon my labors until I had them believing I was a hard working young man. My father told me he actually had hopes of my amounting to something.

"Then came the time when I went to work for money. I received a chance to work for a farmer who lived twelve miles from our town. I was to shock wheat and was to receive 60 cents an hour and my board and room. I went out to the farm without letting my parents know.

"The wheat was badly beaten down by rain and hail so after two days I was ready to quit. But fate intervened and I kept my job.

"The farmer had a daughter, a pretty girl of about eighteen years of age. So I stayed.

"I got in good with the family so I worked only when I pleased. One of the men had a clarinet and after supper we used to sit under the cedars and sing and watch the moon—the daughter and I. And so I enjoyed harvesting.

"Really, when carefully considered, sixty cents an hour, with room and excellent meals, is exceptionally good payment for playing "nurse maid' to a little eighteen year old girl, and singing and counting stars in the moonlight."

A. H. MEN TAKE OTHER CONTESTS

WIN FIRSTS IN DAIRY AND GRAIN JUDGING TOO

Six Out of Eight Ag Men Elected to Phi Kappa Phi Are Students in Animal Husbandry

The animal husbandry men seem to be winning the honors in all of the judging contests this year whether or not they are directly interested in the particular contest. In the grain judging, most of the winners were animal husbandry men, J. B. Myers taking first. The high man in dairy judging, Weber, was also an animal husbandry man.

They not only win their own contest, which is stock judging, but seem to take great pleasure in winning the contests which logically belong to other departments of the college. Six out of the eight seniors in the ag division of the college who were elected to Phi Kappa Phi, are specialists in animal husbandry. Forty-one out of eighty senior students enrolled in the ag division of the college are animal husbandry men.

Visited Journalism Department

C. W. Ryan, publisher of the Wathena Times, visited the department of journalism Monday. Mr. Ryan, who is the owner of several farms as well as a newspaper, praised the publicity material sent out by the college. He especially commended the "Letters from a Farmer's Daughter" and other human interest copy.

Mr. Ryan was an officer overseas in the war, and was decorated a number of times.

Miss Esther Fisher of Kansas City was a week end guest of Miss Ruby Crocker at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Genevieve Fitch of Kansas City spent Saturday and Sunday, with Miss Lois Edmundson at the Chi Omega house.

LUNCHEON IS IN HONOR OF THE SENIORS

RECEPTION ON WEDNESDAY EVENING BY ALUMNI

SHOULD BE WELL ATTENDED

On Many Occasions the Seniors Have Left Town Before Luncheon Was Given—All to be There This Year

A special effort is being made to get every senior to stay for the luncheon at 12:10 Thursday, May 27, which is given in honor of the graduating class.

The luncheon has always been given in honor of the graduating class but in many cases a large number of the class left town before it was held. One faculty member of the college said today, "many of the seniors are anxious to get home and so they take the 1:15 train. On several occasions there was only a small per cent of the seniors present for the banquet given in their honor."

The reception given by the Manhattan alumni association for the graduates is attracting a great deal of attention this year and every senior is being urged to be there. It will be held on Wednesday evening in the recreational hall from 8:30 to 11:30.

MILITARY WORK OVER THIS YEAR

CAN GIVE ALL TIME TO ACADEMIC WORK

Have a Large Regimental Parade on May 28—Exhibition Drill for Commencement Week

The rooky's heart is glad, for the military work of the year is over and, with the exception of one more parade, he will not have to worry about squads right for about three months. All of the examinations in military work have been taken and the drill periods will be for the student to spend as he will.

On Monday, May 23, there will be a final big regimental parade and exhibition drill for the benefit of commencement week visitors and immediately after the period all of the military supplies of the department will be checked in to the supply sergeant.

All of the military work is out of the way in advance so that the men may devote all of their time during the last week to academic work.

FARMERS DROP TO THIRD PLACE

SCORES WERE 9 TO 2 AND 4 TO 3

Aggies Started Scoring in Both Games but Numerous Errors Lost Contests for Them

K. S. A. C. dropped to third place in the Valley race for the baseball championship when she lost two straight games to the K. U. nine last Thursday and Friday. The scores were 9 to 2 and 4 to 3.

The First Game

Both the Aggie scores came in the first inning when E. Cowell walked and Quinlan tripled to left field. Quinlan scored when Murphey let Isenberger's return of the hit get away from him.

Kansas evened the score in the third inning when Murphey knocked a home run after Wood had reached first on an error. Three hits and an error netted the Jayhawkers two more runs in the fourth. In the sixth inning Smith and Uhrlaub both doubled and with two errors by Aggies in fielding the university ran in four runs.

The score:	R	H	E
Aggies 200 000 000	2	2	6
Kansas 002 214 00*	9	9	2

Batteries—Magrath and Guilfoyle; Uhrlaub and Bunn. Umpire—Larry Quigley, Kansas Wesleyan.

The Second Game

The Aggies started the scoring in the first inning when an error by Wood, singles by Quinlan and W. Cowell and a base on balls netted them two runs. Kansas evened the score in the fifth inning on a hit by Smith, two errors, a hit batsman, and a sacrifice fly. The Aggies went into lead in the eighth on a double by Burton and a single by Quinlan.

In the ninth inning Uhrlaub, the first man up for Kansas, walked. Wood sacrificed, Isenberger struck out, Murphy singled and Gray doubled to right field, scoring Uhrlaub and Murphy.

Score by innings:	R	H	E
Aggies 200 000 010	3	5	3
Kansas 000 020 002	4	9	1

Batteries—Otto and Guilfoyle; Uhrlaub and Bunn. Umpire—Larry Quigley, Salina Wesleyan.

SCHOOL OF AG CLOSES FRIDAY

SIXTEEN WILL BE GRADUATED THIS YEAR

Commencement Program to be Given in the Auditorium Beginning at Eight O'clock

Sixteen students, 13 men and three women, will be graduated from the school of agriculture on May 21. Commencement exercises will be held in the auditorium that evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The men who will graduate are: V. E. Fletcher, O. J. Gould, C. R. George, E. Hedstrom, R. C. Hill, H. B. Humburg, J. H. Meek, J. K. Muse, O. L. Norton, H. J. Ramsey, V. M. Rucker, J. R. Smithheisler, J. E. Smid. The women who will graduate are: Ida Augusta Conrow, Alberta Roswurm, and Emma Stutz.

The invocation at the commencement exercises will be given by the Rev. Richard Cox, rector of the Manhattan Episcopal church. The address will be by Mr. Ralph Snyder, president of the Kansas State Farm bureau.

The diplomas will be presented by Dr. J. T. Willard.

NEW HONORARY ORGANIZED NOW

VETERINARIANS FORM OMEGA TAU EPSILON

Eighteen Students and One Faculty Member Are Charter Members of the Fraternity

Omega Tau Epsilon, a new local veterinary fraternity, was organized on Monday, May 10.

The organizers of this fraternity have been running as a cooperative club for over a year, at 1404 Fairchild. The charter members are some of the best men in the division of veterinary medicine.

The charter membership consists of 18 students and one faculty member. They are: Homer Boyd, A. C. Brandley, B. F. Clapham, F. W. Crawford, F. E. Emery, Sivert Eriksen, K. C. Farley, H. L. Gingery, S. R. Johnson, Aubrey M. Lee, Hervey Phipps, W. G. Ritter, R. E. Simonsen, Jay Starkey, J. E. Stanton, B. L. Taylor, M. M. Williams, and Dr. C. H. Kitselman of the faculty.

Have Water Soon

The well which was drilled near the east gate of the campus on Bluemont has been fitted with an electric pump and will be supplying its share of the water to the college as soon as the motor gets here. The well and pump have been housed in one of the 16 foot houses constructed by the wood working students in the shops.

Miss Dale Backman spent the week end in Crete, Nebr., visiting her sister, Miss Inez Backman.

Miss Gretta Grames of Perry, and Evangeline Casto Forbes spent the week end visiting at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Mrs. Mebus of Kansas City, visited her daughter, Miss Dorothy Mebus, during the O. E. S. convention.

Mrs. J. P. Kelley of White Cloud, visited Miss Margaret Dowell over the week end.

K. U.--AGGIE TRACK MEET TO FARMERS

WILDCATS WIN DUAL CONTEST BY ONE 2-3 POINTS

DID NOT ENTER THE RELAY

Gallagher Was Second High Point Man— Watson Broke a Record by Making Two Mile Run in Nine .42

The Aggies won the dual track meet from the Jayhawkers Saturday by a margin of 1 2-3 points, the final score being 55 1-3 to 53 2-3. A triple tie in the high jump was the deciding event in the meet.

Watson Broke Record

Watson broke the K. U. and Aggie record by making the two mile run in nine minutes 42 seconds, which is less than the Missouri valley record. At the end of the run he was 150 yards ahead of Massey, the K. U. man. He also took first in the half mile.

Bradley of K. U. who was winner of the Pentathlon event of the Penn relay meet, was the high man for K. U., making a total of 17 2-3 points with a first in the broad jump, the shot put, and a place in the triple tie for the high jump.

Gallagher Second High

Gallagher was the second high man in the meet, making a total of 13 points with firsts in both hurdles and second in the 100-yard dash. Neely surprised the dopesters by making first in the quarter mile. The Aggies were expected to win in the pole vault but an irregularity in the track caused the Aggie vaulters to lose the first in this event since they were unacquainted with the track.

The summary:

100-yard dash—Won by Evans, Aggies; Gallagher, Aggies, second. Time 10 seconds.

One mile run—Won by Massey, K. U.; Beckett, Aggies, second. Time 4 minutes 37 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Gallagher, Aggies; Bailey, Aggies, second. Time 16 2-5 seconds.

440-yard dash—Won by Neely, Aggies; Rodky, K. U., second. Time 52 3-5 seconds.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Gallagher, Aggies; Rodkey, K. U., second. Time 26 4-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Watson, Aggies; Clapp, Aggies, second. Time 2 minutes 5 seconds.

220-yard dash—Won by Evans, Aggies; O'Leary, K. U., second. Time 22 2-5 seconds.

Two-mile run—Won by Watson, Aggies; Massey, K. U., second. Time 9 minutes 41 seconds.

Shot-put—Won by Bradley, K. U.; Billings, Aggies, second. Distance 39 feet 9 1-4 inches.

Pole Vault—Howard and Heizzier, K. U., tied for first place. Height 11 feet 6 inches.

Discus throw—Won by Bradley, K. U.; Pringle, K. U., second. Distance 110 feet 10 inches.

High jump—Bradley, K. U., Frost, Aggies, and Winters, Aggies, tied for first. Height 5 feet 9 inches.

Broad jump—Won by Bradley, K. U.; Rodkey, K. U., second. Distance 21 feet 6½ inches.

Mile relay—Won by K. U. (Lobaugh, Rinehart, Rodkey, and O'Leary). Time 3 minutes 32.1 seconds. The Aggies did not enter the relay as the men were tired and they did not need the event to win the meet.

Men who won their athletic K's at this meet were, Evans, Gallagher, Neely, Bailey, Beckett, Clapp, Winters, Frost, Billings, and Watson.

WHY HE'S RAISING PIGS

A young man quit his job as superintendent of a rural high school because the patrons would not pay him a living wage. He quit to take up a position as manager of a stock farm, where pigs were the principal livestock crop. This young fellow was a college graduate—he had prepared himself for work in the country, especially rural school work, but when he was able nearly to double his salary raising pigs, instead of educating the youth of the community, he had no alternative but quitting school work.

The stockman who hired him, a retired farmer, knew that he knew his business, and gave him to understand that he had been hired to run the place.

On the other hand, the school board under which he had worked had insisted that he follow certain rules laid down by it as to just how he was to teach his school. The members of the board knew that he had spent his time and money preparing himself for the job. They knew that they knew nothing about how a school, a modern rural high school, should be run, yet they insisted that they have a voice in all that went on in that school. So long as trained men must follow the directions of the untrained, these same men—and women, too—will seek other fields of industry.—Industrialist.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor: Again at the end of this semester the students will be put on their honor during the examinations. Some students do not realize that it is not right to copy a neighbor's work and hand it in as his own—but it is not fair to the instructor nor to yourself.

What do you think of a person that will do it? Don't you think he'd just as soon steal money from someone as to copy another's work?

Then, too, some students make their "ponies," nearer "teams," I should say and ride through a quizz just like a galloping goose. This sort of thing is just as bad as copying from your neighbor.

Don't be the one to make it necessary for your instructor to watch the class with an "eagle eye." Profs don't like to be mistrusting any more than you want to be mistrusted.—A Senior.

At a dinner party given Thursday evening at 1605 Leavenworth, by Miss Marian Williams, announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Winifred Bartholf to Coach A. G. Schulz. Guests at the dinner included Miss Winifred Bartholf, Miss Avis Blain, Miss Edith Bond, Miss Grace Hesse, and Miss Vera McCoy.

Attend House Party

Miss Lulu Mae Zeller, Miss Jamie Cameron, and Miss Nina Burgess attended a week end house party given at the winter home of Miss Gladys Newton in Independence, Mo.

Forum Banquet

The members of Forum held their annual banquet in honor of the K debaters at the Pines Food Shop Friday evening, at 8 o'clock. Decorations of pink and white sweet peas were used on the tables. Toasts were given by the following persons, M. A. Grahem, acting as toastmaster; Hilery Mather, Marguerite Hammerly, Christine Cool, Prof. W. E. Grimes, Oscar Steanson, and Wheeler Barger.

Owl Bake

The members of the Athenian literary society held their annual owl bake Saturday at Hackberry Glen. A number of alumni members of both the Athenian and Browning societies were present for the affair. A wienie roast and a short program occupied the evening. Chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Kiser, and Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Grimes.

Dinner Party

Miss Mabel Bentley entertained Tuesday evening at her lodge on Humboldt street in honor of Mrs. C. A. Kimball. The guests included Miss Blanche Lea, Miss Orille Bourassa, Miss Florence Mather, Miss Luella Sherman, Miss Clara Belle Howard, Miss Lucretia Sholer, W. O. McCarty, G. R. Schroll, Mr. Teagarden, Ray Knox, R. A. McCall, Arnold Englund, and Mr. Wheeler Barger. After the dinner the guests were entertained with games and story telling.

Alumni Notes

Mrs. Eusebia Mudge Thompson of Kansas City, Mo., came up last week to attend the grand chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and visit friends and relatives in Manhattan. Thursday evening she was present at a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Whan in honor of Mrs. Julia K. Hohn, grand worthy matron and all members of Hilda chapter No. 164 at Marysville. Saturday evening she was the guest of Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, a former classmate. She was also a guest of the Ionians at their annual camp at Dr. Wagoner's farm. Mrs. Thompson was a member of the class of 1893.

Initiation and Banquet

Immediately following the initiation the annual banquet was held at the Pines. Following toasts by Prof. J. W. Searson, Prof. N. A. Crawford, Ralph Foster, and Morse Salisbury, the election of officers for next year was held.

The officers elected were: President, Milton S. Eisenhower; vice president, Morse Salisbury; secretary-treasurer, Walter Karlowski.

DEPARTMENTS USING GLASS CAGES IN SCIENTIFIC WORK

Cages Make Sure Keeping of Constant Temperatures

Very few people know of the glass cages that are in one of the hothouses on the campus. These cages are approximately sixteen feet long, twelve feet high, and ten feet wide. The sides and top are made of two layers of glass, which make the keeping of constant temperatures more sure.

A fresh supply of air is being forced into the cages all of the time, and an opening is provided for the foul air to escape. This keeps the temperature and humidity constant. Water is mixed with the air before it is forced in.

The amount of air and water can be so regulated that any condition that is desired may be had. These cages are used by the entomology and zoology departments for the carrying on of experiments.

Mrs. Sellers of Wellington, spent a part of last week visiting her daughter, Miss Marie Sellers, at the Kappa house.

Miss Margaret Armantrout has withdrawn from college and gone to her home at Guthrie, Okla., called there by the illness of her mother.

Dave Grey of Nebraska, a charter member of the local chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, has been visiting here for the past week.

Misses Elizabeth Buckley and Frances Feldt of Salina, were guests Saturday and Sunday at the Chi Omega house.

Miss Flo Brown left Wednesday for a few days' visit at her home in Salina.

N. A. Crawford, lectured to the class in current literature Friday on the subject of "New Poetry."

Prof. N. A. Crawford was made chairman of the special committee of the Kansas State Editorial association to confer with the State Farm bureau for the pupose of securing cooperation between the press and bureau.

YOUNGEST MANAGING EDITOR IS AN AGGIE

ERLE H. SMITH HEAD MAN ON KANSAS CITY JOURNAL

Graduated from K. S. A. C. in 1915 —Spent Several Years in the Air Service

Erle H. Smith, '15, is now managing editor of The Kansas City Journal. He succeeds Celbe C. Cline who was with The Journal for 22 years, and has now resigned to run a fruit farm.

Mr. Smith went to The Journal shortly after graduation and in the following two years had the experience of covering every run on the paper, as well as many out of town assignments. He was also for some time assistant sporting editor.

In December, 1917, Mr. Smith entered the air service in the war. Upon his return to Kansas City early in 1919 he was made city editor. His services in this position in the year that he has held it caused him to be appointed to the managing editorship upon Mr. Cline's resignation.

Mr. Smith is probably the youngest man in the United States to hold the managing editorship of so large a daily as The Kansas City Journal.

Medical Association Banquet

The Medical association of the veterinary division of K. S. A. C. gave a banquet Monday evening at the Gillett hotel. Covers were laid for 80 guests. Special guests of the association were President W. M. Jardine, Dr. C. W. McCampbell, Dr. J. D. Colt, Mr. Kinsley, and Captain Leiniger of Camp Funston. Toasts were given by the following persons, Mr. Siebert Ericson, acting as toastmaster: Mr. Kent R. Dudley, Mr. John N. Vlier, Mr. R. J. Weinheimer, Jr., Mr. Grover Simpson, Mr. L. R. Johnson, Mr. Harvey Phillips, Mr. Magrath, and Mr. C. W. McCampbell.

Miss Mary Frances Davis of Bronson spent the week end at the Kappa house.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Shourup and Mr. Jean Fettle were Friday dinner guests at the Kappa house.

Because of an increasing demand we will make a specialty of lady's shampoo and facial massage on Saturday afternoons for the remainder of the year. Cooper's Barber Shop, on the campus. tf

LAWRENCE HERE IN LAST GAMES

AGGIES AND JAYHAWKERS RUN FOR THIRD PLACE

Washington and Ames Are Now Fighting for First Place in the Missouri Valley

K. U. and the Aggies will fight for third place in the Missouri Valley baseball circle when the Jayhawkers come to Manhattan next Thursday and Friday. Washington and Ames are now trying for first place in the conference.

On the home field the Aggies will undoubtedly have the advantage of the visitors. Dope favors the Wildcats except for the two games played at Lawrence, which were lost because of Aggie errors.

The K. U.-Wildcat games are the last ones of the season. They will start promptly at 4 o'clock on both Thursday and Friday.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, MAY 21, 1920 NO. 69

1920 ROYAL PURPLES ARE DISTRIBUTED

ONE OF BEST CLASS BOOKS EVER PUBLISHED

DEDICATED TO CLEVENGER

All the Books Are Not Here as Yet —Staff Has a Few Extra Copies Which Will Be Sold at Regular Price

The 1920 Royal Purples, which were distributed to the students yesterday and today, give a complete and accurate account of student life for the school year 1919-20. The book is one of the best class books ever put out at the Kansas State college.

Medlin Is Editor

Calvin J. Medlin, a journalist, is editor of the book and M. P. Schlaegal is business manager. A staff of twelve assistants aided in compiling the Royal Purple.

The Royal Purple has 420 pages. It is printed on medium calender book paper. The book is divided into eight sections, the campus, athletics, college year, Kansas girls, organizations, military, classes, and feature. The campus scenes are in color as is each division heading.

To Coach Clevenger

The seniors have dedicated the 1920 Royal Purple to Coach Z. G. Clevenger who "is loved by his men and respected by his opponents."

Only a part of the Royal Purples are here. If the remainder of the books do not arrive by today anyone leaving town can pay the remainder of what is due at the Royal Purple office and the book will be sent to his home address.

Have Extra Copies

A few extra books were ordered and will be sold to the first persons who call. All books not called for by May 25, will be sold for charges. If you have any out of town friends who have not made their full payment please notify them of this ruling. The selling price of the book will be $4.50 as less than 1,500 were sold.

Miss Elva Miller, who has been the guest of Miss Netta and Miss Bertha Dubbs for several days, left Tuesday for her home in Ransom.

Dean Holton is spending the week end in making commencement speeches in Kansas towns. Wednesday night he spoke in Belle Plaine, Thursday night at Morganville, and Brookville on Friday night.

Esther Bayles who has been dietitian in the United States public health hospital at St. Louis is spending a few days visiting her Aggie friends after which she will go to Oklahoma university to take the same position in the hospital of the medical school.

ALL STUDENTS TO MIX MAY 26

ALUMNI GIVE RECEPTION TO COMING GRADUATES

After Reception the Gymnasium Will Be Open to All College Students and Faculty

The last chance that the students and faculty will have to see this year's seniors in one group, and the last all-college mixer of the year, will be in Nichols gymnasium on Wednesday, May 26. The mixer will free for all college students, alumni, faculty members, and their friends.

The annual reception, given by the K. S. A. C. alumni association for the seniors, will be held in the recreational hall from 8:30 to 9:30. The reception is for all seniors, alumni, faculty members, and their friends.

The all-college mixer will begin at 9:30 in Nichols gymnasium. Music will be furnished by Prof. Wheeler's orchestra and the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors, alumni, and faculty will dance until 11:30. As this is the last all-college affair of the year, everyone is given an urgent invitation to attend.

JUNIOR-SENIOR TEAM WINS TWO

DEFEAT SOPHOMORE BY MARGIN OF SIX POINTS

Second Game Was Played at Six O'clock in Morning When They Won from the Freshmen

At the girls' baseball game played Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock the junior-senior team defeated the sophomore team with a score of 11 to 5. Another game was played Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock between the junior-senior and the freshman team. The junior-senior team won with a score of 18 to 13.

The girls on the junior-senior team were: Gladys Flippo, Alice Mustard, Grace Turner, Corrine Thiele, Alda Conrow, Edith Wheatley, Bertha Gwin, Clementine Paddleford, Jessie Evans, Helen Sloan, Harriet Klaver, and Marie Hammerly.

The girls on the sophomore team were: Belle Hagans, Miriam Harling, Irene Drake, Winifred Ball, Lillian Ayers, Evelyn Glenn, Duella Mall, Sue Unruh, and Agnes Handlin.

The girls on the freshman team were: Katherine Horner, Hazel Jordan, Marie Peterson, Eleanor Brown, Helen Priestly, Ethel Smith, Mary Bet, Grace Schwandt, Esther McStay, Agnes Ayers, Lavina Waugh, and Margaret Reich.

Get Secretary

At the last regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board it was decided to hire a full time secretary for the Y. building for the coming year. It is only with a full time secretary that the Y can adequately serve the men students of the college, and have the building supervised as it should be.

Plans are being made to have a boarding club in the building as has been done in times past. A cook has been secured and it only remains to find a man who has had experience in managing a boarding club. Doctor Holtz will spend the summer making a canvass for the student rooms for next fall which it is feared will be even more scarce than they have been this year.

Miss Leah McIntyre will spend the week end at her home in Topeka.

"Towser" Quinlan Swings Wickedly In Aggie Baseball

"Towser" Quinlan, as he is popularly known, swings a wicked stick when he comes to bat. His batting average shows it. On the field he is one of the snappiest short stops the Aggies have had for some time. He picks them off the ground as if they were intended for him alone. And if anything goes wrong, Quinlan smiles his way to victory. He never quits till the last dog is dead.

His preliminary training came in high school. In his freshman year in college he was on the freshman baseball, basketball, and football teams. Then for two years he was in the army as a lieutenant. He made his K in football last fall.

"Towser" spends his summers selling cars at Lyons, his home town, and his attentions are evenly divided between certain correspondence from Kansas City and auto salesmanship. In the long summer evenings he is a 12 o'clock man in a 9 o'clock town.

A sophomore in electrical engineering, a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity with associate membership in the Pi Beta Phi; these are his credentials in K. S. A. C.

HERBERT WESTLEY DIED SOON AFTER BEING STRUCK

Charles Heizer, Brother of Miss Florence Heizer, Threw the Shot —Westley Was Member of Pi Upsilon Fraternity

Hubert R. Westley, 21 years old, sophomore in K. U. and right fielder of the university baseball team was killed at McCook field Tuesday afternoon when he was struck over the heart by a sixteen pound shot thrown by Charles Heizer, brother of Miss Florence Heizer of the English department of K. S. A. C.

Westley was practicing baseball on McCook field during the afternoon and ran after a foul ball in front of the field where men were practicing with the shot. Heizer saw Westley just after he had thrown the shot but his call was too late to save the boy. The shot had struck him over the heart and he lived only fifteen minutes after the accident.

Westley was a member of the Pi Upsilon fraternity, a member of the K. U. band, a member of the freshman basketball and baseball teams, and was one of the mine volunteers last winter.

Banquet For Seniors

The undergraduate members of Alpha Delta Pi gave a five course banquet Thursday evening at the chapter house, in honor of the senior members of the fraternity. Small tables were arranged in the form of a square about an immense basket of ferns and flowers from which many colored balloons were tied. The balloons were kept in motion by electric fans concealed beneath the ferns.

Miss Margaret Ansdell acted as toastmistress. Responses were given by Miss Clementine Paddleford, Miss Lillian Stewart, Miss Lucille Gramse, Miss Evelyn Glenn, Miss Ruth Lambertson, and Miss Lula Mae Zellar.

Miss Arria Neal spent the week end at the Chi Omega house in K. U.

ELECT EDITOR AND MANAGER OF COLLEGIAN

MISS CLEMENTINE PADDLEFORD IS EDITOR

KARLOWSKI IS THE MANAGER

Collegian This Year Has Received Favorable Comment from Many Newspapermen—Plans for Next Year

At the Collegian Board meeting Thursday afternoon Miss Clementine Paddleford was elected editor and Walter Karlowski was chosen as business manager for the Kansas State Collegian for the year 1920-21.

Miss Paddleford, who is a senior next year, has had three years' experience on the Collegian as reporter, society editor, and associate editor. She has worked during the summer as society editor on one of the Manhattan papers. Miss Paddleford is a member of Alpha Delta Pi, Quill club, Theta Sigma Phi, Theta Chi Gamma, K club, W. A. A., Forum, Kansas Authors' club, Woman's Pan Hellenic, Aggie Press club, and National Association of Journalists.

Mr. Karlowski is also a senior next year and is a journalist, having had a great deal of experience in typographical work. He is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Hamilton literary society, and Aggie Press club.

The Collegian will be printed at the college plant next year as it has been this year. The paper this year has enjoyed the largest circulation that it has ever had. It has received favorable comment from many newspapermen and the paper next year promises to be a regular K. S. A. C. booster.

REGISTRATION FOR THE SUMMER IS ON MAY 28

ACTUAL SCHOOL WORK STARTS FOLLOWING SATURDAY

Shorthand and Typewriting to be Offered This Summer—Is New Course in School

Registration for the summer session takes place on Friday, May 28, and the actual school work for the summer starts the Saturday following. The prospects for the largest summer session of the college are still bright.

One of the new courses to be offered this year is shorthand and typewriting. This course was offered once before in 1917 as a war measure but it is hoped this course will be so well patronized that it can be made a regular feature of the summer school.

Turn In Uniforms

Beginning at 1 o'clock Monday, May 24, all uniforms of the cadet corps will be turned in at the office of the commandant. All students who have lost or misplaced their uniforms will bring the cash value of their uniforms or parts thereof. The price of uniforms will be published on the military bulletin board.

H. D. Laine of Herington, visited his son, Maurice Laine, Sunday.

SHOULD AULD ACQUAINTANCE BE FORGOT OR SHOULD OLD FRIENDSHIP LAST?

Aggie girl, and Aggie boy, do you realize that this is our last week together?

A happy year it's been,—full of good times with much of profit in them.

Now I'm wondering at the closing, when we go home, just how many of these Aggie people will we take with us? Not really take, of course, but take in heart and mind?

Every day I meet people on this campus whose names I do not know, and yet we have been in some class together, or I have met them somewhere, and we speak and pass by, but I could not introduce them to a friend for I know not what to call them.

Wouldn't it be fine in this last week to have a "Tag Day?" No, not to raise money, but simply ask every one to come to school with his name pinned on in plain sight, and try to get acquainted with everybody.

I think that the seniors would enjoy it. And who knows but you yourself might find someone who will become a real friend to you next year through this little informal meeting now?

Some day when we are many miles from Manhattan, it may be a comfort to run on to someone who was a fellow-sufferer with us, and then we will be glad to talk over old times together. But that time will mean more to us if we have met John or Mary here on the campus in 1920.

Some time we will all need more friends than we have,—most of us need them now.—A Senior.

Pan Hellenic Girls Gave $80 to Aggie Fund—Sold Candy

"Want to buy some candy?"

"How much it it?"

"Twenty cents."

"Haven't got that much."

"Oh, yes you have" and before she passed on the Aggie co-ed had exchanged a bag of candy for the twenty cents.

Last Friday afternoon, four girls from each sorority sold candy, peanuts, punch, and ice cream to the campus folks, and in the evening they carried their wares to the auditorium and later to the "mixer" at the gymnasium.

The girls were representatives of both the city and the active Pan Hellenic associations.

The $80 obtained from these sales is their contribution to the Memorial fund.

WILL COMPILE HANDBOOK FOR THE FRESHMEN

IS GENERAL GUIDE FOR FIRST YEAR STUDENTS

ISSUED BY Y. M. AND Y. W.

Athletics, Student Organizations, Fraternities, S. S. G. A., College Calender, Business Directory, Etc., Included

The Chamber of Commerce of Manhattan voted Monday night to cooperate with the college Y's, the S. S. A. G., the athletic department, and the college in putting out a handbook for college students this fall. It will be of special benefit to the freshmen. The Chamber of Commerce will bear approximately half of the expense of the book and the other organizations will take care of the remainder.

The handbook is to be 2¾ by 4¾ inches, fabrikoid cover and 75 pages of solid reading matter. There will be no ads in the book this year, only a business directory of the firms in the Chamber of Commerce which have been kind enough to bear the large part of the expense in putting it out.

Have Many Sections

The different sections of the book will be devoted to a description of Manhattan, the S. S. G. A., athletics, student organizations, literary societies, fraternities, sororities, churches, a college calendar, suggestions to freshmen as to college traditions, time tables, rules for student conduct, department of student health, building directory of the campus, getting out assignments at the beginning of the year, examinations, exemptions, military department, and K fraternity.

K Fraternity In It

The K fraternity will have charge of selling freshman caps and instructing the freshmen in school customs and traditions, which all students of K. S. A. C. are expected to observe.

The handbooks will be ready for distribution at the opening of the fall semester and will be handled by the Y. M. and Y. W.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and Miss Marie Coons were dinner guests at the Pi Phi house Sunday.

Miss Edith Russell spent the week end at Topeka visiting Miss Jennevieve Herrick.

Miss Alice Updegraff of Maple Hill, spent the week end at the Pi Phi house.

AGGIES ENTER TRACK EVENTS AT ANN ARBOR

FOUR GO TO INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETIC MEET

GALLAGHER IS TO ENTER

Depends on Time Made at Valley Meet at Ames on May 28 and 29—Meet at Ann Arbor June 4 and 5

The Kansas Aggies will enter four men in the Intercollegiate Athletic conference meet, to be held at Ann Arbor, Mich., on June 4 and 5. Three other men have a chance to go, depending on the time they make in the Missouri Valley meet at Ames on May 28 and 29.

Gallagher is Entered

Cliff Gallagher, who holds the world's indoor record in the 50-yard low hurdles for four hurdles, will be entered in the 220-yard hurdles. His best time is 25 flat. Gallagher came in second to Johnson in the Chicago meet last year.

Watson In Two Events

Ray B. Watson will be entered in the two mile run, his best time being 9-41, made in the K. U.-Aggie dual meet. The Missouri Valley record is 9-46. Watson will also enter the half mile run, his best time being one minute 59½ seconds. He came in second to Speer at the Chicago meet last year. He also made second to Foreman at Chicago in the two mile run last year.

Evans In Dashes

Jack Evans, Aggie track captain, will be entered in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. His time in the hundred is 10 flat and 22 seconds in the 220. Evans made fourth in the hundred at Chicago last year.

E. W. Frost, whose pole vaulting record is 12 feet 2½ inches, made at the Illinois relays, will be entered in the pole vault. He tied with Slaughter of Michigan. Neely and Turner in the quarter, and Winters in the high jump, are other possibilities, depending on their time in the Missouri Valley meet.

VALLEY TRACK MEET AT AMES

AGGIES HAVE GOOD CHANCE FOR HIGH HONORS

Missouri and Ames Will Give Stiffest Competition—Half Mile Relay Sure for Aggies

With at least four sure point winners in the track group, the Kansas Aggies have a good chance for first place in the Missouri Valley meet, to be held at Ames, Iowa, on Friday and Saturday, May 28 and 29.

Gallagher, Evans, Frost, and Watson will be entered in their usual events. Neely will race in the 440-yard dash; he surprised the coaches at the K. U.-Aggie meet by winning first in that event. The Aggies are almost certain to win the half mile relay with Evans, Gallagher, Neely, and Turner entered.

Strong competition is expected from Missouri and Ames. The Tigers have always produced fast men in the dashes and hurdles. Ames this year has one of the best track teams that she has ever had. But Coach Schulz believes that the Aggies are equal to either one of these teams.

K. U., Oklahoma, Washington, Grinnell, and Drake are other valley competitors that have some mighty good material this year. Smaller schools, such as Baker, may enter but can not compete for the Valley championship. Nebraska will also have a team entered.

Harold F. Barber of the Barber Advertising agency of Boston spent a part of Monday forenoon inspecting work in printing and advertising in the college.

Miss Ethel Arnold of the class of 1918 is visiting friends and relatives here this week. She expects to be present at the commencement exercises.

DON'T BE A CHEATER

Thou shalt not cheat, is not included as one of the ten commandments in the Bible, but it is one of the laws of tradition handed down in every institution. Final examination time is here, and every Aggie student will be put to the real test of honesty. K. S. A. C. does not have an honor system in form, but its students have tried to live up to the highest standards of honesty in examinations.

KEEP YOUR LIBERTY BOND

The United States government borrowed money from you to finance the war. You hold the government's promise to pay you back. This promise is called a Liberty Bond or Victory Note. On this bond is stated the conditions under which the government borrowed the money from you.

Now, if you keep your bond until the date when the government pays you in full for it, you do not need to worry if, in the meantime, the price is low one day or high the next. You and Uncle Sam are living up to your agreement with each other, and neither will lose by it.

On the other hand, if you sell your Liberty Bond now, you will find that the man you sell it to will not give you a dollar for every dollar you paid for it. The price has been brought down because so many people are offering to sell their bonds. If the market is flooded with tomatoes, you can buy them cheap, but if everyone is clamoring for tomatoes and there are few to be had, the price goes up. The same is true of Liberty Bonds. Short-sighted people are dumping them on the market, and wise ones are buying them.

The best advice that can be given to the owner of a Liberty Bond is this: Hold the bond you bought during the war; it is as safe and sound as the United States government itself.

ALUMNI NOTES

Dr. Jack Riddell, '93, of Salina, was initiated into Phi Kappa Phi with the newly elected members, Saturday, May 15. Dr. Riddell was elected to membership two years ago but had not been present for initiation.

Mrs. Kate (Pierce) Baker, sister of Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile, will be here for commencement week when she hopes to meet many old college friends. She is on her way to Texas for an extended trip.

C. D. Adams, '95, of Wamsootosa, Wis., sends this message: "When the roll is called down there, I'll be there." Other members sending recent assurances of their plans to be present at the reunion are: Ralph Rader, Ted Morse, Lucy Ellis, and George and Myrtle Wheeler of Topeka, and Mrs. Mary Willard Emerick of Omaha.

Miss Evelyn M. Potter, '15, writes from Richfield, Ida., to have her Industrialist address changed to 925 University avenue, Boulder, Col. Miss Potter is closing a very successful term of school at Richfield. She hopes to teach nearer to Boulder next year. She is still much interested in her alma mater.

Announcement has recently been made of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Dodd, '13, and Dr. Howard Ruggles of San Francisco, Cal. The ceremony was performed at the Calvary Presbyterian church, San Francisco, on April 27. Mrs. Ruggles was traveling in France with her aunt, Mrs. F. A. Durban, when the war broke out. She was active in Red Cross work, stationed at Royat. She met Doctor Ruggles, a captain in the medical branch of the service, while in France. Doctor Ruggles is a native Californian and a graduate of Leland Standford university and the Harvard medical school. Mrs. Ruggles is a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. Doctor and Mrs. Ruggles will make their home in San Francisco, where Doctor Ruggles is an X-ray specialist.

Miss Prudence Stanley, a former student, spent the week end visiting at the college. She expects to return next year to resume her college course.

Miss Lois Burton, '19, Miss Fayne Bondurant, '19, Miss Ruth Taylor, '19, Miss Florence Mitchell, '19, Miss Mary Kirkpatrick, '19, will spend commencement week visiting in Manhattan.

Dr. and Mrs. Jack Riddel of Salina, were week end visitors at the college.

Miss Velma Carson, '19, is in Chicago, where she is publicity agent for the Illinois Agricultural asociation.

Will Come for His Diploma—Gets Here In His Own Airplane

At least one Aggie senior will come to commencement in a novel way. Charles A. Enlow, who finished his college work at the end of the first semester, and who has since gone into commercial aviation, has written his friends that he will arrive in Manhattan Tuesday of commencement week, via airplane, to don his cap and gown and receive his degree with the class of 1920.

Enlow, who will be remembered as an Aggie star in football and track, entered the United States aviation corps in 1917 and did many months of flying in California, Texas, and Mississippi. He was made an instructor in aviation before he left the states, and served six months as combat instructor at one of the large flying fields in France.

Spring Party

The Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity entertained Saturday evening with an informal spring party at the Elk's hall. The hall was decorated with the fraternity colors of purple and red. The chaperons for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cave. Out of town guests were Miss Alice M. Turner of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Essick of Lawrence, and Miss Mildred Barackman of Ellsworth. Refreshments were served at George's Candy Kitchen following the dance. The Delta Tau orchestra from Lawrence furnished the music.

Dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house Sunday included Miss Alice M. Turner of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Essick of Lawrence, and Miss Mildred Barackman of Ellsworth.

Miss Florence Henney, Mr. Asa Ford, and Miss Elva Miller were Sunday dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house.

Chain Robinson, Fletcher Speck, and Carl Simpson spent the week end in Hastings, Nebr.

AGGIE ASPIRATIONS

The following poem is dedicated by its author to those poor freshmen now taking chemistry II (may the blessing be upon them) and also to the memory of those few sophomores and upperclassmen who have survived and are now members of that great brotherhood into which all chemistry students are blended:

That Unknown

Little chemical,
Why do you shun me?
What makes you have affinity
For every other atom,
But me,
Little One?

Why do you flee so,
From your embryo discoverer?
I will not hurt you.
I would but know your
Characteristics and properties.
And would only precipitate you.
Little Atom.

Without you, I am humble
And dejected,
And fear the flunk-slip.
But with you—
Oh! if you would only
Sever your attachment
For your friends,
And snap into my power.
Little Unknown.

Do heed me,
For I need you,
In my business.
But you won't—
Little Cuss!

—H. G. B.

At a meeting of Theta Sigma Phi held Sunday, the following officers were elected: Miss Clementine Paddleford, president; Miss Ione Leith, secretary; Miss Blanche Lea, treasurer.

Miss Evalene Kramer of Washington, who spent most of last week in Manhattan, left Monday for her home.

TEACHERS

Do you want to secure the BEST POSITION and the high dollar next year? If so, write today for our literature. Boards are electing now. Will submit splendid vacancies by return mail. Only 4 per cent commission. Payable in fall. Central and western states.—Heuer Teachers' Agency, Cedar Rapids, Iowa. tf

Mrs. Forest Forester was a dinner guest at the Chi Omega house Thursday evening.

Luncheon Party

Fourteen advertising and newspaper men of New York and several from the Capper publications were entertained at luncheon Monday noon by the department of food aconomics and nutrition. The tables were decorated with calendulas.

The menu was prepared and served by the girls of the dietetics classes under the direction of Miss Perry.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Class Reunion

The class of '95 will hold its first reunion during commencement week this year. Of the 57 graduates of that year, over 30 are expected to be present.

Tuesday, May 25, will be class day for the '95ers. The day will end with a banquet in the domestic science hall in the evening at 6:30. During the reunion, the class will entertain members of the faculty who were here at the time of their graduation. Toasts, speeches, and music are to be features of the entertainment.

W. A. A. Banquet

The Women's Athletic association gave a banquet at the Pines Food Shop Thursday at 7:30 o'clock. The decorations were carried out in purple and white and the place cards were of purple basketballs, hockey sticks, tennis rackets, and baseballs.

After the banquet, the junior girls were awarded the loving cup for winning the basketball tournament and varsity teams for track and baseball were announced. Fourteen girls were given their K sweaters and several were given W. A. A. pins.

Miss Jessie Evans, president of the W. A. A., acted as toastmistress at the banquet and responses were given by Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, Miss Lillian Rommel, Miss Ruth Ghormley, and Miss Clementine Paddleford.

Hold Initiation

Beta Theta Pi fraternity held initiation services Sunday for William F. Orr of Manhattan, Harold A. Smiley of Topeka, W. Earl Bruce of Wichita, and Chandler N. Nelson of Muskogee, Okla.

Announce Pledging

Beta Theta Pi fraternity announce the pledging of Paul Dakin of Ashland, a freshman in general science.

Annual Hike

The Sigma Phi Delta fraternity held its annual Founders' Day hike Saturday. They hiked to Pillsbury Crossing and camped there for the night.

S. A. E. Initiation

Sigma Alpha Epsilon held initiation services last Saturday evening for Fred Fisher of Overbrook, Wayland A. Dunham of Topeka, and Everett Wareham of Manhattan.

Alpha Zeta Initiates

Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity held initiation Tuesday evening for Shipp Winter, Maynard Agnew, W. R. Harder, and Herbert Bales. After the initiation the annual spring banquet of the fraternity was held at the Pines. A four course banquet was served after which several faculty men responded to toasts with Professor Lippincott as toastmaster. Professor Winchester spoke on Alpha Zeta and Ames, Professor Bell on Alpha Zeta and Cornell, I. K. Landon on "Next Year," and Dean Farrell on the Alpha Zeta man on the farm.

Chi Omega Party

The members of the Chi Omega fraternity were entertained at 6 o'clock dinner last Tuesday evening by the house mother, Mrs. J. A. Gray. The fraternity colors, cardinal and straw, were carried out in the decorations of the long table with candles and flowers and were also used throughout the three course dinner. Unique place cards on Mrs. Gray's personal cards were used.

Following the dinner Mrs. Gray entertained the girls at the house. The guests present besides the active members and pledges of the fraternity were: Mrs. L. M. Bowman, Miss Mary Worcester, Miss Annette Perry, and Miss Bess Currie.

Birtell—Parrish

Miss Mary Birtell and Dr. Roscoe D. Parish were married Saturday, May 15, at Salida, Col. The bride is a graduate of the Topeka high school, has taught in the Shawnee county schools, and was for a time employed in the office of the Santa Fe auditor at Topeka.

Doctor Parrish is a graduate of the veterinary science department at the college here. Doctor and Mrs. Parrish will make their home on a ranch near Montrose, Col.

Greek Letter Party

Mrs. J. A. Gray of the Chi Omega house, Mrs. D. C. Bice of the Delta Zeta house, and Mrs. Norris of the Sigma Nu house entertained Wednesday evening with a farewell party for the Greek Letter club, an organization of the house mothers of all the fraternity and sorority houses of K. S. A. C.

First a program of music and readings was enjoyed at the Sigma Nu house, the house being beautifully decorated with flowers. Then the ladies were taken to the Gillett hotel for 6:30 dinner. The table decorations were carried out in yellow and white flowers and butterfly place cards. Following a three course dinner the ladies held a meeting in the hotel parlors, where they reorganized the club for next year and planned next year's program.

The only guest of the club was Dean Mary Pierce Van Zile.

DON'T take a fellow's pipe. Take some other possession. Because wrapped up in his pipe is a fellow's peace of mind, his relaxation, his contentment. This is more than true if it's a W D C Pipe, because then a good smoke is multiplied many times over. Our special seasoning process takes care of this by bringing out all the sweetness and mellowness of the genuine French briar. Just you go to any good dealer and select several good shapes. Put them in your rack. Smoke a cool one every time, and you'll be well on your way to pipe-happiness.

STUDENTS GET TEACHING JOBS

DEAN E. L. HOLTON IS HELPING THEM

Large Demand for Teachers Now So All Students Have Chances For Positions

Many students are being placed by the department of education for positions as teachers next year. Dean E. L. Holton is trying to see that all of the graduates, who wish positions as teachers, may obtain them. This year the demand is great and it is comparatively easy to place the graduates in good paying positions.

Those recently placed for the coming year are: Carolyn Lear, instructor in home economics, Hutchinson, at a salary of $190 a month; Ella Webb, teacher of domestic art and grade work in the junior high school at Clay Center; Luella Diest, home economics position at White Sulfur Springs, Mont.; Hazel Geyer, H. E. vocational work at Giltner, Nebr., Marie Hammerly, instructor in home economics at Farmington, Iowa; Loverne Webb, instructor in home economics, McPherson; Jewell Sappenfield, general science and debate work, Douglas, Ari., at a salary of $190 a month; Edna Wilkins, instructor in domestic science, Nickerson; Faye Williams, instructor in home economics, Clyde; Mabel Grainfield, instructor in home economics, Grainfield.

Ethel Arnold, graduate of the class of '18 is now home in Manhattan after a successful school year at Hoxey.

Geo. Railsback of the class of '14 is general science instructor for the coming year at Soldier.

Esther and Alpha Latzke, graduates of the class of '19 and well known by the upper classmen as active students on the hill, are both to teach in Junction City, this next year.

A. E. Bate, '19, was a week end visitor at the Sigma Phi Delta house.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Aikin were dinner guests Sunday at the Chi Omega house.

Clifford H. Myers of Hutchinson, is visiting at the Beta house.

The regular meeting of women's Pan Hellenic was held Monday evening at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

MRS. TEMPLE'S HUSBAND TOOK ONE NIGHT OUT

AND HE REGRETTED IT EVER AFTERWARDS

SENIOR PLAY IS TONIGHT

Miss Betty Lyman and Vorin Whan Take Leading Parts in Senior Production—Is a Comedy Drama

The stage is set, the actors groomed, and the tickets all sold for "One Night Out," the senior class play which is to be given this evening in the college auditorium under the direction of Miss Florence Heizer.

The play, a comedy from start to finish, is one which has been popular in the east where it has been showing recently.

Give the Plot

Vorin Whan, as Mr. Temple, after spending a night away from his domestic fireside, finds himself at a loss to explain his absence to his wife. His first alibi was a trip on a ferris wheel but Mrs. Temple fails to believe it.

His second alibi is a visit to a fictional friend by the name of John Brown. H. T. Enns, as Mr. Fuller, is framed for the part of Mr. Brown, which works fine until Mrs. Fuller finds it out. Temple finds to his dismay that his wife has sent a telegram to John Brown and the real owner of that name appears on the scene to make things lively.

Betty Lyman Leads

Betty Lyman takes the part of Mrs. Temple, and Blanche Sappenfield the part of Mrs. Fuller. Others in the cast are Ella Stinson, Mary Hill, Ralph Foster, Walter Horlacher, and L. B. Bate.

GOLD MEDAL IN STORY CONTEST

MILTON S. EISENHOWER PLACES FIRST

Miss Elizabeth Dickens Gets Honorable Mention for Placing Second in Short Story

A gold medal was awarded to Milton S. Eisenhower for winning first place in the annual short story contest, given by Quill club, honorary writers' organization. Miss Elizabeth Dickens won honorable mention by taking second place in the contest. The medal is given by Prof. J. W. Searson, a member of Quill.

Judges in the contest were: Prof. Walter Burr, extension division; Prof. R. W. Conover, English department; and Mrs. C. A. Kimball, presidential elector from the Fifth district. Eight manuscripts were submitted.

The winning story by Eisenhower is a 7,000 word newspaper love story. It has a problem plot with a surprise ending. Mr. Eisenhower is a member of Quill, president of Sigma Delta Chi, Aggie Press club, editor of the Brown Bull for next year, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, and the National Association of journalists. He has been editor of the Collegian for the year 1919-20.

The story by Miss Dickens is about 4,000 words in length and is a character-study plot with a surprise ending. Miss Dickens is a member of Quill and Theta Sigma Phi. Both stories were written in Miss Ada Rice's short story class and Miss Rice deserves a great deal of credit for the merit.

Can Get Work

Students remaining for the summer school session, wishing employment, should get in touch with Miss Mary W. Ward, director of the college cafeteria, who has a limited number of openings for the summer session. Particular advantage to the student is gained in securing employment at the cafeteria since the hours are those of the three meal hours thus giving the student time to take a regular summer school assignment and yet have enough hours for study.

A number of other departments on the hill also have part time employment which summer school students will be able to get if they act at once.

Establish Loan Fund

The Polly Ogden chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has established a loan fund for college students, which is open to both young men and young women. This fund is to be used in cooperation with the other loan funds of the college, and money will be loaned to such students as are recommended by the college authorities. At present the fund is small, but the ladies hope to add to it from year to year and make it serve as many worthy students as possible.

SIG ALPHS HEAD FRATERNITY BALL

ONE MORE GAME GIVES THEM FIRST HONORS

Delta Taus Played Winning Season Until They Were Defeated by S. A. E. Team, Five to Three

With five games won, none lost, and only one more to play, the Sig Alphs are practically assured of the interfraternity baseball honors for this year. The Delta Taus played a winning season until they met the Sig Alphas in theri final game, the score being 5 to 3 in favor of the S. A. E.'s.

Only one more game is to be played and that is between the S. A. E.'s. and the Kappa Sigs. If the former win, this will be the third consecutive year that they have won, thus entitling them to keep the large loving cup given by the Mens' Pan Hellenic.

SUMMER PAPER FOR K. S. A. C.

WILL BE ISSUED ONCE EACH WEEK, IS THE PLAN

Paper Is to Contain No Advertising —Miss Clementine Paddleford and Ralph Foster, Editors

The college is to have its first summer paper—the Summer Session Collegian. The paper will be put out once each week and it will contain no advertising, providing present plans are carried out. The paper will be the size of the Kansas Industrialist.

Miss Clementine Paddleford and Ralph Foster will be the editors. The writing for the paper is to be done largely by students taking journalism in the summer school.

The summer paper will be a big boost for K. S. A. C.

WANT TERRILL AND DAVIDSON

ROOKIES AND OFFICERS SEND PETITION TO JARDINE

Is First Time That Men in Military Department Have Asked for Officers' Reappointment

A petition, signed by the officers and the men of the cadet corps, was presented to President Jardine Monday afternoon, requesting that he recommend the reassignment of Captain Terrill and Captain Davidson to K. S. A. C. for the coming year.

This is the first time in the history of the college that a petition has ever been presented by the men to the president for the reappointment of the officers of the military department. The men feel that these two officers have undertaken a program that is for the best interests of the college and the military department.

Captain Davidson has established boxing in the college and it is now a recognized part of the athletic program. Captain Terrill has taken great interest in all student activities and especially in freshman athletics.

One Holds Down First While the Other Picks Third

Red Dickerson is his full name, and "Dickey" his pet name. He is first baseman on the Aggie nine and he plays directly across from "Rosie" Mershon, mortgage holder of third bag position on the same team. While "Dickey" is long enough to reach several feet on each side of first without moving, "Rosie" has to move his feet to cover the same width of territory.

Dickerson was born in Toronto but has spent most of his life in Wichita. For some time he went to Friend's college at Wichita and won two letters each in football, baseball, and basketball there. Last fall he won his K in football at K. S. A. C. He is a member of the American Association of Engineers, Sigma Tau, and Sigma Phi Delta fraternity.

Mershon was born in Missouri but moved to Oakley where the bracing western Kansas atmosphere did much to overcome the Missouri characteristics and make a genuine ball player out of him. For five years he played on his high school team, one year while he was in the eighth grade. He made the freshman team in college. Mershon is a member of the Hamilton literary society, the architect's club, and the Alpha Theta Chi fraternity.

Both Dickerson and Mershon are noted for their ability to get the team out of a bad situation by walloping the pellet for a three bagger or a home run occasionally and thus saving the day for the Aggies.

APPOINT CABINET MEMBERS IN Y.M.

DR. A. A. HOLTZ IS GENERAL SECRETARY NEXT YEAR

Will Also Teach Three Classes in Religious Education, New Curriculum in College

S. D. Capper, president of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year, announces the appointment of his cabinet members: E. J. Jelden, representative of the state commission council; Ray Knox, S. S. G. A.; Wm. Knostman, new student work and looking after the interests of the freshmen; Herbert J. Moyer, social affairs committee; Chas. R. Smith, publicity committee; C. C. McPherson, extension work and hand book; R. J. Hutchman, meetings and noon day luncheons; finance, R. C. Nichols, and secretary, R. C. Spratt. A "K" man is to be chosen from the K fraternity to represent athletics on the cabinet, and also to have charge of the May fete next year.

Dr. A. A. Holtz is the general secretary for next year in addition to the full time secretary for the Y building. Doctor Holtz will also teach three courses in religious education in the college which are new additions to the curriculum.

The Sigma Phi Delta fraternity will hold their annual banquet at the Gillett hotel Thursday evening.

Mrs. Dugan and A. H. Dugan were dinner guests at the Sigma Phi Delta house Sunday.

Miss Katherine E. Lynch of Gary, Ind., was the guest of Miss Sue Carmody last Thursday enroute to her home after a short business trip to Clay Center.

Miss Phyllis Burt and Miss Esther Burt of Eureka, spent the week end at the Kappa house.

FOUR RECORDS ARE SMASHED BY AGGIE MEN

TAKE DUAL TRACK MEET FROM HASKELL INDIANS

WATSON BREAKS MILE RACE

Aggies Stand Good Chance of Winning Missouri Valley Contest at Ames This Week End—Also Go to Ann Arbor

The Kansas Aggies walked away from the Haskell Indians in a dual track meet here Saturday afternoon, 84 to 29. Four new records were made by Aggie men.

The 220-yard dash was made in 22 1-5 seconds by Evans. The mile run was negotiated by Watson in four minutes 23 3-5 seconds. Billings sailed the discus 124 feet, 8 inches. Gallagher set a mark of 15 3-5 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles.

The Aggies are standing a good chance for highest honors in the Missouri valley meet to be held at Ames this week end. After that the Aggie track men will enter the big conference meet at Ann Arbor.

BURTON LEADS AGGIE BATTERS

QUINLAN GETS SECOND AND SNAPP IS THIRD

Snapp Took First Last Year with a Higher Average Than Any Made This Year

Final batting averages show that Burton, second baseman, heads the list with an average of .309. Quinlan, short stop, can handle the stick as well as he can handle his position between second and first as is shown by his average of .299 which is second in the list. Snapp is third in the list with .266. Last year Snapp took the highest honors in the batting average with .386, which is considerably better than any member of the team made this year.

The averages are: Burton, .309; Quinlan, .299; Snapp, .266; E. Cowell, .257; Dickerson, .242; Mershon, .235; W. Cowell, .184; Agnew, .187; Guilfoyle, .182; Otto, .167; Magrath, .139.

New Military Man

First Sergeant John McGarry of the 18th infantry, First division, has been sent here from Camp Taylor, Ky., by the war department. Sergeant McGarry will act as assistant instructor in the R. O. T. C.

Play Practice Games

The Kansas Wesleyan college team and the freshmen team of the Aggies will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the athletic field for a practice game of baseball.

Miss Lanchester of Canton, was a dinner guest at the Phi Delta Tau house Friday. Friday night Miss Lanchester attended the Phi Delta Tau Founder's Day banquet and dance.

Miss Maude Irene Whitehead visited Miss Susie Kyle at the Kappa house over the week end.

AGGIE CONSTRUCTS ONE OF MOST SENSITIVE MACHINES EVER MADE

It takes a stretch of the imagination to picture a piece of apparatus so sensitive that it will register the bending of a hard wood board, two inches thick and three feet long, caused by the slightest touch of the finger tips.

Yet this is just what a little machine in the physics laboratory, constructed by O. R. Miller, at the Kansas State Agricultural college, will do. The piece of apparatus was originally put together to show the shortening of a rod of iron due to an electric current. But after its construction it was found to be the most sensitive machine ever constructed in this laboratory.

It would be interesting to use such a device to measure the movement of the walls of houses during a windstorm, or it might be a satisfaction for the owner of an apartment house to measure just how much a 300 pound tenant would cause his floors to sag at each step he took.

This high magnification of a small movement is secured by means of a tiny mirror, suspended in air by a silken fiber, hung to a light spun glass lever. The mirror is held steady by a tiny weight, suspended in a cup of water. The mirror reflects a light which casts a shadow on a graduated ruler, recording the pressure as moving the middle of the board so many millionths of a centimeter.

Students Get Jobs

Additions to the list of students who have accepted positions for next year are as follows:

Warren Crabtree will teach Smith-Hughes agriculture at Twin Falls, Ida., beginning July 1, at a salary of $2,100.

A. R. Denman will teach Smith-Hughes agriculture at Burley, Ida., beginning September 1 at a salary of $2,300.

Ira W. Lewis, a sophomore in general science will teach manual training and science in the high school at Little Rock, Iowa, next year at a salary of $200 a month.

DEBATE TEAMS ARE SELECTED

GIRLS WILL QUARREL WITH K. U. NEXT YEAR

Men Debate with Ames—Twelve Men and Eleven Girls Make the Teams

The people for the debate teams next year were chosen at the regular spring debate tryouts held this week. Debates have been scheduled with Ames and K. U. The men will debate Ames and the girls' team will meet the K. U. squad.

The following persons have been chosen to represent the college in these debates: Grace Turner, Opal Seeber, Gladys Addy, Luella Sherman, Carol Knostman, Clementine Paddleford, Mary Gherkin, Mrs. Elizabeth Winters, Adah Songer, Lucile Whan, Esther McStay, V. V. Cool, Ellis Kimble, J. W. Farmer, A. C. Ramsey, E. J. Jelden, H. C. Olson, H. E. Mather, T. L. Bayer, W. H. Knostman, F. L. Haggard, C. R. George, and W. W. Weaver.

NEW FRATERNITY NOW ORGANIZED

DR. H. L. IBSEN AND GEORGE GEMMELL HONORARY MEMBERS

Installation Banquet Given Thursday Evening—Organization Has 15 Charter Members — Fraternity Home to be 1126 Bluemont

A new local fraternity, Kappa Phi Alpha, has made its appearance on the hill. A banquet announcing its installation was given Thursday evening at the Gillett hotel. Covers were laid for 22 men.

The charter members are: A. R. Osborne, Ernest Lahr, Marion Ramsey, O. M. Deibler, S. I. Thackeray, W. O. McCarty, W. W. Trego, Roy Ackert, Ray Ferree, I. M. Noll, M. W. Watt, Robert Shoffner, E. E. Huff, Glen Allen, and Byron Hutchins. Paul Vohs is a pledge of the fraternity.

The honorary members are Dr. H. L. Ibsen and Mr. George Gemmell. The fraternity will make its home next year at 1126 Bluemont.

Engagement Announced

A party was given Thursday evening at the Delta Zeta house by Miss Geraldine Noffsinger, announcing her engagement to Mr. Ralph Randall of Wichita. Mr. Randall is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Delta Zeta and Kappa Sigma colors were used in the decorations.

The party opened with dancing, which was interrupted by the entrance of little Mary Louise Harrison, dressed as Cupid and carrying a bow and arrow. She gave a cupid dance, and made the announcement by shooting around the room cards in the shape of arrows piercing a heart, and bearing a small card upon which were the names "Noffsinger- Randall," and a facsimile of the two pins, linked together. After the dance the girls proceeded to the dining room which was elaborately decorated in the colors of the two fraternities.

Dr. J. R. Macarthur delivered a commencement address at Minneapolis last week. He will deliver addresses at Lynn and Russell on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Professor E. L. Holton delivered a commencement address at Brookville, Thursday evening.

Professor H. W. Davis has moved to the Wilson house, 520 North Manhattan avenue.

FARMERS GET TWO STRAIGHT FROM KANSAS

MAGRATH WON HIS OWN GAME FIRST DAY

BRADY COWELL MADE HOMER

Scores of Games Were Six to Three and Seven to Four Respectively —Aggies Have Chance for First Place

The Aggies beat the K. U. jinx and they defeated the K. U. baseball team in two consecutive games here Thursday and Friday, the score being 6 to 3 and 7 to 4.

First Game

"Towser" Quinlan and "Irish" Magrath practically won the first game for the Aggies, Magrath got a hit and brought in two scores in the first game. Quinlan played one of the most spectacular games at short that has ever been seen on the Ahearn field.

"Wamego" Guilfoyle played a consistent game, making two good putouts at home and at first. The Aggies started the scoring but at one time the K. U. team had a two point lead. The home batters evened the score in the same inning and then set the three-point lead which won the game.

Second Game

In the second game Brady Cowell received the cheers of all Aggies when he brought in three scores on a home run, after Dickerson had evened the score.

After First Place

The Aggies still have a chance for first place in the Valley. At present they are standing second. Ames' defeat at the hand of Washington would mean that the Aggies would go to first and these two schools would tie for second. The Aggies have won 13 games this season, two of which were not conference games. They lost four and tied one.

The Wildcats have played their last game this year, but if they get the championship, which they deserve, the school will turn out for one grand rally.

BOARD AWARDS LETTERS TO MEN

ELEVEN MEN GET THE BASEBALL LETTERS

Eleven Track Men Also Get K's—Given by Athletic Board Monday Afternoon

At a special meeting of the athletic board Monday afternoon, letters were awarded to the Aggie baseball and track men. Eleven men received letters in baseball and eleven were given K's in track.

The following baseball men were awarded K's: Burton, Quinlan, Snapp, E. Cowell, Dickerson, Mershon, Agnew, W. Cowell, Guilfoyle, Otto, and Magrath.

Track men who were awarded K's were Evans, Gallagher, Neely, Clapp, Watson, Beckett, Frost, Winter, Billings, Bailey, and Turner.

Journalism Hike

The students enrolled in the department of industrial journalism held a hike Friday evening. The journalists met at Kedzie at 6 o'clock and hiked to Cedar Bend where they enjoyed a winnie and marshmallow roast. The affair was chaperoned by Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers.

Alpha Psi Dance

The freshmen members of the Alpha Psi fraternity entertained the upperclass members with a dancing party Saturday evening at Elk's hall. A five-piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing. The fraternity colors of blue and gold were used in the decorations. Punch and wafers were served throughout the evening. Doctor Frick and Dr. N. D. Harwood chaperoned.

Miss Nellie West of Wichita, one of the best teachers of the state, will conduct shorthand and typewriting classes at K. S. A. C. this

WANT JOURNALISM BUILDING

This issue is the farewell bow of the Collegian to the students for this spring. And since this is the last chance, the Collegian wants to get a big weight off its mind.

The journalism department of K. S. A. C. has grown rapidly in the past four years until this year there are over 80 students taking the course. That is a sufficiently large number to warrant making a new division, the division of industrial journalism.

But before we get that new division, there is another thing much more necessary. Kedzie hall should be used for nothing but journalism and English subjects. The cafeteria should be moved out. The journalism students need the room and the cafeteria needs more room. The one building isn't large enough for both.

There isn't a school of journalism in the west that is giving the same type of training that the department at this college is offering the students. Journalism students this year have earned a great deal of money by writing for large farm journals, metropolitan dailies, and some fiction magazines.

Another thing—the Collegian should be a daily paper with the associated press news service. News is not news when it is two days old. The Collegian is constantly working under the difficulty that the occurrence which it records is no longer news to the students. A daily paper would mean a big step in advancing journalism at this college.

So let's all boost for a new building for the cafeteria, thus turning all of Kedzie hall over to the journalists, who, it is hoped, within the next few years, will be students in the division of industrial journalism at K. S. A. C.

"FOR I MUST LEAVE"

Three more days and the last examination will be over. Class rooms will be deserted. By that time the last dance will have been danced and the last hike will have been hiked. The student will have spent his last three dollars and 69 cents for a ticket home.

The Hill will then be deserted, save for a few industrious summer laborers.

But what about next fall?

Are you coming back to join the Aggies in September?

K. S. A. C. is going to be bigger and better than ever. The world is crying out for the trained man and woman. Small wages are not to be a bar to keep any person from a good position. The big concerns of the cities and thousands of acres in the country are calling to you. They are looking toward the colleges for this help. What will you do?

Student, spend your summer with the view of returning to Manhattan for a new year that will mean great things for you in the years to come.

A pleasant vacation to you.

Aggie Boy Died

Warren Woodman, a junior in college, died at a hospital in Kansas City Saturday where he had been taken for an operation for appendicitis. Burial services were held at Vermillion Sunday, his old home.

Doctor and Mrs. Watson of El Dorado, spent Sunday and Monday in Manhattan with their daughter, Miss Eleanor Watson.

Dinner guests Thursday at the Chi Omega house were: Mrs. D. D. Bramwell of Belleville, Miss Fuller of the English department, Miss Hosmer, and Mrs. F. R. Helstrom of McPherson.

Because of an increasing demand we will make a specialty of lady's shampoo and facial massage on Saturday afternoons for the remainder of the year. Cooper's Barber Shop, on the campus. tf

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor:—Students who do not expect to remain for the summer school session will render a great assistance to the college generally if they will collect all their property before leaving the campus. Heretofore books, parasols, packages, and mail, left behind on the campus, have been mislaid or misplaced to the misfortune of the student owner.

Mail should be taken out of student boxes and these persons who do not have a mail box at the college post office should call for their mail at the window the last thing before leaving. Change of address cards should be left at the city post office and this will greatly alleviate the congestion of mail in the college postoffice which generally follows the departure of the students.

Library books which have been taken out by students should be returned before the students leave the campus for the summer, thus greatly relieving the checking of the library staff.

Consideration of landladies will not be amiss in this final warning and word of suggestion. Take your love letters all home with you and leave the wastebasket standing uprightly.

Pay your board bill and have a nice vacation and some back next September with lots of pep which will help the Aggies beat K. U.—A Student.

Dear Editor: An influential group of men interested in the promotion of K. S. A. C. were meeting for the purpose of discussing plans for the coming school year. They were all agreed there was something wrong. At the beginning of the year all of the freshmen were wearing their caps and attended the football games in a body.

Now the freshman cap is a novelty on the hill. The sophomores refuse to have a color rush with the frosh. Both classes fight back and forth and neither one does much except knife the other in the back.

Each week sees some conflict in student activities. We are getting into the position of the house which is divided against itself. Competition of the right sort is the best thing for school spirit but here we have nothing but disorganized competition.

We are besieged on every hand to buy tickets for this or that college activity but we soon find the college activities themselves working against each other, with the result that we attend neither. By the time we are seniors the thing is fixed upon us as a habit, and after we graduate is it any wonder that we don't have the old college pep we used to hear about?

One man in the meeting expressed it well when he said, "We have a large college with small ideas."

When the freshmen come in next fall let us help them to organize and then let us be organized ourselves in order that the spirit may not die. The very size of our institution is its ruination unless we put the college as a whole before everything else, first, last, and all the time. Then, and then only, will we have a fine, large, pulsating, all dominating college spirit. Let us come back next fall with the old college pep spelled with a capital P.—A Booster.

Dear Editor: Tuesday afternoon, Mr. Lorenz took his classes in physical education out to the Ahearn Field and put them through the various track and field events. The hurdles, the shot and discus, high jumping and broad jumping were the events on which he laid the most stress. Out of the fifty in one class, he discovered a number of men who look like promising material for the Varsity track and field events.

He asked some of them why they were not out for the college teams, and although some of them are self-supporting here in school, the most of them just said, "I don't know."

The same thing is true of many of the men in school. Why do they not come out for these sports? Many of the freshmen and sophomores are good athletes and would make competition keen for places on the Varsity teams. Also there are many upperclassmen who have never been out for the tryouts, who would add to the string.

Mr. Lorenz, in speaking of his discoveries, said, "I am sure that the reason why more of them are not out for college athletics, is that this is a co-ed school. You'll find that all co-educational schools have the same trouble with their athletes."

We don't want it said about us that we think we are a bunch of ladies' men, so when the training season opens, early next fall let a such large delegation appear for places on the college athletic teams that the coach will be at a loss when it comes to selecting the first team men.—One Who Was There.

AGGIE ASPIRATIONS

A few "Nonsense Rhymes" admitted Leon Phifer to Quill, honorary author's fraternity. Here are several of them:

A Dog and a Doll and a rolling ball,
And a Lady as big as a minute;
They found a big jar where the doughnuts were,
But they say there is nothing in it.

The little Brook
So liked to play
That it ran away
One summer day
With many a crook
Into many a nook,
Singing a song
As it sped along.

And the flowers sprung
Out of the ground
All around
And about it clung
While beast and bird
Through sky and sward
Came down to play
With the Brook that day,
With the wayward Brook
That ran away.

Little Billy Blackface
Was smeared from head to foot;
His mother dressed him clean, and soon
He had a brand new soot.

I wonder what the latin is
For Bevo, flivver, flu, and biz;
For burlesque and for rheumatiz
I wonder what the latin is.

There was a little flame, but it went out,
And then where was it?
There was a little nose bent up with a pout,
And what do you suppose can straighten it out?
Who knows it?

The heron dipped quill in a river of ink
And stood on one leg for to ponder and think;
He made some tracks in the yielding sand,
And said, "Oh, isn't my poem grand!"

Dinner guests at the Delta Zeta house Sunday were Miss Elizabeth Dickens, Miss Auryln Vandervert, Miss Grace Overbrook, Mr. Edwin Hutchings, and Mr. Walter Whitney.

CAMPUS SKETCHES

The following interesting sketches of the "Campus Characters" are suggestive in most cases of prominent persons on the Hill. To the students especially are the following interesting, for some time in their career, they have probably met the described personages. These chosen are representative of the work of two of Miss Ada Rice's classes in Rhetoric II.

Professor King

Prof. H. H. King, known to many students as "Doc." King, has perhaps the widest circle of friends of any person on the campus. Few instructors can work as hard to instill into the minds of others such difficult facts and still remain as serene and good natured as he does. His grey-blue eyes, behind the shell-rimmed glasses, are shrewd but kindly and even humorous. In spite of the gray hairs on his temples he is youthful in appearance. He is not so much absorbed in chemistry that he does not have time for other interests. At pep meetings he is often a prominent figure and is a typical "College Booster." He is never too busy to speak a pleasant word to a student. In such a position as his and with such a personality, it is impossible to estimate the vaule of his influence.

Dean Van Zile

One of the most distinctly individual characters on the college campus is a tall, graceful, slightly angular, middle aged woman with hair of silver gray. She has a thin, shapely face, expressive blue eyes and a winsome smile that plays on her thin and otherwise firm lips. When she comes before an audience and begins in clear, well chosen words with her favorite expression, "It seems to me," her words are not in vain, for the audience gets the impression that she has given the subject real thought and ardent study.

Dean A. A. Potter

A description of Dean Potter would not be characteristic unless he was at work. When you are introduced to him he advances with his quick nervous movements with some such greeting as, "How do you do, what may I do for you this morning?" He shows that he means business always. The Dean has the aquiline expression of a man of high nervous tension. He speaks with a pronounced foreign brogue which is difficult for some to understand. But he speaks with force and energy. He is always neatly but plainly dressed, always cordial, always helpful, always busy.

Guess This One

Though she is modest, yet she is extremely popular with her classes because of her good nature, her pep, and patience with her outlaw class of freshman boys and more civilized girls.

See how her eyes sparkle with wit and humor! Indeed she is a very interesting character and many have remaked that she is so full of fun. In the class when she is present the hour goes by quickly since she always has so much pep and the students do not think so much about the time in her presence.

I would describe her as being heavy set, weighing about 150 pounds, but well proportioned. She has black hair and deep blue twinkling eyes, that look the very part of her disposition; sometimes sarcastic, sometimes exicted and laughing, and at other times thoughtful. She generally wears a dark blue suit and low-heeled black shoes, which are in keeping with her occupation. Her English is quite correct. She always pronounces her "a's" as ä's.

She is one of the busiest persons on the hill, who seems always willing to do her share in college affairs thus proving her loyalty to her alma mater.

And One More

Our sketches of Campus Characters would not be complete if we omitted that of the "Side-kick" of Doctor King.

Mike says that he is Irish, he guesses, since his parents were natives of good old Ireland. He stated to his class that he didn't know why his tongue twisted up so with his "r's."

The silver is almost in majority now in his hair, his light blue eyes have a kindly glow, and often fairly sparkle; with a mischievous purpose evidently, for he delights in telling a joke on some one of his friends, or on some ambitious student. He has ruddy cheeks and a mouth nearly always wrinkled with a smile. His stature is short, and he is inclined to be chunky, if his meals come in regular succession.

I ain't got a Pierce
To take her to the ball.
But I guess I'm in luck
To have a Ford truck;
That ought to make a good haul.

Entering the World Electrical

THE graduate of today enters a world electrical.

Gathered from the distant waterfalls or generated by the steam turbine, electric power is transmitted to the busiest city or smallest country place.

Through the co-ordination of inventive genius with engineering and manufacturing resources, the General Electric Company has fostered and developed to a high state of perfection these and numerous other applications.

And so electricity, scarcely older than the graduate of today, appears in a practical, well developed service on every hand.

Recognize its power, study its applications to your life's work, and utilize it to the utmost for the benefit of all mankind.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Chi Omega Pledging

The Chi Omega fraternity announces the pledging of Miss Olivette Mitsch of Woodbine.

Banquet and Dance

The members of the Phi Delta Tau fraternity celebrated the first anniversary of the founding of their fraternity Friday evening with a dance and banquet. The earlier part of the evening was spent dancing at Elk's hall, which was attractively decorated with streamers in the colors of the fraternity, purple and gold, and balloons. Maupin's orchestra furnished the music. After the dance a four course banquet was served at George's. Chaperones included Prof. and Mrs. R. R. Price, Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Durham, and Mrs. Roark, the house mother. Guests from each of the other fraternities were special guests.

R. O. T. C. Dance

The annual R. O. T. C. dance was given Friday evening in the recreation hall. The dance, which was an informal one, was attended by the rookies in uniform. Music was furnished by Kovar's orchestra. The chaperones were Captain and Mrs. Terrill, Captain and Mrs. Davidson, Prof. and Mrs. E. V. James, and Mrs. J. T. Willard.

Luncheon For Kappas

Mrs. George Southern, a patroness of the Kappa Kappa Gamma, women's fraternity, entertained Saturday at her home, 516 Pierre, with a 1 o'clock luncheon in honor of the active members of the fraternity, the alumni who are living in town, and the patronesses of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Wadley—Guthrie

Announcement was made in a recent issue of the Topeka Daily Capital of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Wadley and Mr. Walter T. Guthrie. The marriage took place in Kansas City, Mo., Saturday, May 8.

Mrs. Guthrie graduated from the journalism department here in 1918. She is at present connected with the advertising department of the Capper publications. Mrs. Guthrie was editor of the Collegian during the fall semester of 1918, and did a great deal of work on the paper throughout the time she was in college. Mr. Guthrie was overseas with the Eighty-ninth division for 17 months. He is employed in Topeka by the Cudahy Packing company.

Picnic Supper

Mrs. D. C. Bice entertained the members of the Delta Zeta fraternity Saturday evening with a picnic supper in the city park. Guests were Miss Leona Hoag, Miss Ruth Hutchings, and the two house guests of the fraternity, Miss Grace Sullivan of Overbrook, and Miss Auryln Vandervert of Iowa City.

Get Dancing Honors

The tryouts for folk dancing honors were held in the girls' gymnasium Monday night at 5 o'clock.

The girls winning honors were: Agnes Handlin, Margaret Gillette, Margureite Bondurant, Frances Johnstone, Carol Knostman, Ruth Wharty, Duella Mall, Inez Coleman, and Irene Maughlin.

S. A. E. Farewell

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will hold its annual farewell party at Eureka Lake Thursday evening from 9 o'clock until 1 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the Delta Tau orchestra from Lawrence. Mrs. Emma Pasmore will chaperone.

Pi Kappa Alpha Dance

Members of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity will have their farewell dance at Harrison's hall Thursday evening.

Beta Dance

A farewell dance will be given in the recreational hall for the Beta Theta Pi fraternity on Thursday evening. Mrs. MacLeod will chaperone.

Johnson—Cunningham

Miss Myrtle Johnson, who graduates this year from the home economics course, and Mr. C. C. Cunningham, '03, were married at the home of the bride's parents at El Dorado Tuesday evening, May 25.

Mr. Cunningham was connected with the agronomy department here until last march when he resigned to take up farming near El Dorado. Mrs. Cunningham is a member of the Ionian literary society.

Engagement Announcement

Saturday afternoon a number of the friends of Miss Miriam Harling were entertained at the country home of Mrs. O. B. Burtis. After the picnic lunch served near the spring, the attention of the girls was attracted by a toy boat sailing on the waters of the spring. The boat proved to be a "Honeymoon Special." On one side of the boat was written, "Miriam Harling—Robert Schmidt," and on the other "June First."

The guests were: Miss Eleanor Neal, Miss Annette Perry, Miss Osceola Burr, Miss Dorothy Sanders, Miss Esther Andrews, Miss Helen Thayer, Miss Imogene Chase, Miss Mildred Barackman, Miss Martha Walker, Mrs. Winona Dodge, Miss Ruth Willis, Mrs. Wilma Bayer, Miss Penelope Burtis, Mrs. Harling, Mrs. O. B. Burtis, and Miss Miriam Harling.

Who's the Aggie Mystery Dancer On Campus Today?

Who is the mystery dancer?

She appeared on the campus clad in flimsy but enticing costume today flitting through dim, dusky, halls and class rooms. She smiled and pouted, dared, and flew—

Who is she?

Maybe she's a stray from a May fete of another day, drawn to K. S. A. C. for commencement time—

Or maybe—

Well, she's a mystery—

Miss Buenta Myers of Clay Center, spent the week end at the Tri Delta house.

If you put down your eggs in a solution of twelve parts of water to one of waterglass you should have no trouble about the eggs keeping—always providing you have clean, fresh eggs to start with.

Shorty and Brady Are Only Three---K Athletes in School

They are brothers twain, one short and so called "Shorty," the other even shorter and because he has less width, they merely call him Brady.

The Cowell brothers are the only three-letter men in Aggie athletics at the present time. Each man has a K in football, basketball, and baseball. Coach Clevenger says, "They are all-around athletes."

Their fraternity brothers at the Delta Tau house say that "Wine, women, and song" are minor considerations with the Cowells. The thing that is uppermost in the minds of these two men is placing the Aggies at the head of the Missouri valley in all athletics.

Outside of their school work and their athletic abilities the one principal diversion of the brothers is in driving a little Ford "wild cat" around the streets of Manhattan, but never at a speed more than triple the speed limit of the city, possibly because the Ford will go no faster.

Mrs. M. W. Hawkins of Marysville, is a guest of her son, Floyd Hawkins, and Mrs. Hawkins, for commencement week.

Miss Isabel Hamilton of Hastings, Nebr., is spending the week at the Kappa house.

Miss Verna Logan of Kansas City, Mo., was a week end guest at the Alpha Delta Pi house.

Sunday dinner guests at the Chi Omega house were: Florine Shoemaker, Jack Riddell, Horace Randalls, and George Harrah.

Miss Ada Robertson and Miss Carolyn Lear went to Wakefield yesterday to visit Miss Ethel Roop. They expect to return today, and Miss Roop will accompany them for a few days' visit.

Plan Your Summer to Yield $180 to $375

YOU young Americans now in school; you who are expected to bear tomorrow's responsibilities; you who are expected soon to become self-supporting—how will you spend your summer? Will you idle away these three golden months or WILL YOU MAKE YOUR SUMMER PAY?

A Foothold on the Ladder of Success

You CAN plan your summer to yield from $180.00 to $375.00—maybe more. At the same time, you can lay the foundation for a good position, which in time, will lead to better positions paying higher salaries. You can do all these things EASILY, for hundreds of young men and young women have been doing it every summer for years. Surely, you can do what hundreds of average boys and girls HAVE DONE.

Choice Positions in Business and Civil Service

Instead of idling away three valuable, summer months, ambitious young men and women come here every year, the first Monday after the public schools close. Instead of acquiring extravagant habits, they prepare for choice positions in business and Civil Service, as Stenographers, Secretaries, Bookkeepers, Accountants, Typists, Office Assistants, Etc. They get good positions three months earlier than they otherwise would—positions paying from $60.00 to $125.00 a month. In this way their summers yield anywhere from $180.00 to $375.00.

Business Men Are Watching You

Before you decide to "take it easy" this summer, consider the following by a prominent business man:

"Employers are watching young folks as never before. Business men want to know how you spend your summers. They want to know what you are doing to develop yourself—to prepare yourself for tomorrow's responsibilities and opportunities. If you are careless with your time, you will be even more careless with theirs. Business men expect our young people to be producers."

Be Ready When Opportunity Calls

If you want to show your future employer the stuff you are made of, be careful how you plan your summer. Be ready to give a good account of yourself when business—and opportunity—calls.

Business Bidding Higher and Higher for Trained Office Help

Never was the demand for office help—stenographers, secretaries, bookkeepers, accountants, typists, etc.—as great as it is today. Never were salaries so high, never were opportunities for advancement so great, never has a business training been so necessary and profitable.

The advertising pages of the daily newspapers are full of advertisements for BUSINESS TRAINED young people.

Business men are bidding higher and higher for thoroughly trained office help—for young men and women who will some into their organizations as stenographers, bookkeepers, secretaries, cost clerks and grow into positions of greater responsibility and power—as Traffic Managers, Purchasing Agents, Salesmen, Auditors, Advertising Managers, Sales Managers, General Managers—as thousands of former stnographers and bookkeepers have done—as many of our own graduates have done and as hundreds more are doing right now.

You must Answer This Question

But make no mistake. This demand is for BUSINESS TRAINED young men and women. Whether you are a grammar school, high school or college graduate, business men want to know "What can you do?" Unless you are ready with the right answer—unless you have a PRACTICAL BUSINESS EDUCATION, as given by this school, you must accept a small salary, with little opportunity for advancement.

A Three Month's Shortcut to Success

During the summer we offer expert commercial instruction for ambitious young men and women—for teachers, students, clerks, telephone operators—for those who want to get a good start in life, or better their present circumstances. Our Summer Course begins the first Monday after the public schools close and continues throughout the entire summer.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI | KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1920 | NO. 71

ENROLMENT IS NOW OVER FIVE HUNDRED MARK

MORE STUDENTS ARE EXPECTED THIS WEEK AND NEXT

SPECIAL FEATURES ARE OFFERED

Offering Special Instruction in Vocational Agriculture and Commercial Training—Enrolment to Continue

With an unprecedented interest in all courses 545 students are attending daily classes in the summer school session. With the closing of other colleges and high schools this week many more students are expected to enrol.

DEAN E. L. HOLTON

Special Features Offered

In addition to the regular list of subjects in mathematics, history, and English the summer school curriculum is offering to the student body special opportunities for instruction in vocational agriculture, and commercial training. Another interesting special feature provided for this summer, through the efforts of Dean E. L. Holton, is the course in citizenship, which began with a lecture by Judge W. L. Huggins on Monday morning.

Prof. C. V. Williams who succeeded Prof. W. L. Kent as head of the vocational education department, has a large number of men in his classes for summer school. Many of the students enroled in this course are graduates of this and other schools and are taking the special work this summer to fit themselves for teaching positions under the Smith-Hughes act.

Teach Business Course

A number of students, both men and women, have manifested interest in the business course. This course includes training in shorthand and typewriting under the direction of Miss Nellie West and business English under the direction of Prof. H. W. Davis.

Professor Eric Englund who came to this school from Wisconsin university, is a new addition to the summer school faculty and is teaching agricultural economics. The majority of the summer school faculty are members of the regular collegiate teaching staff.

May Still Enrol

Dean Holton urges any persons interested in summer school work, not yet enroled, to enrol at once. He stated today that the instructors will be glad to assist late comers as much as is possible and students will be entered in classes as late as next Monday.

The course of lectures in citizenship is not only interesting the summer school students but has attracted a number of townspeople. Some visitors from nearby towns came Monday to hear Judge Huggins when he talked concerning the Industrial Court law.

Dean Holton, as head of the summer school courses, has been tireless in his efforts to systematize the class schedule for the benefit and advantage of all concerned. All students are urged to confer with him or his secretary in case of difficulty of any kind. Dean Holton's office is on the first floor of Main hall.

Agronomist Visits College

J. H. Clark, agronomist, in charge of the western wheat investigation of the United States department of agriculture, spent June 2 and 3 in Manhattan in connection with the farm crops and farm breeding work.

"One of the important lines of work in progress today," said Mr. Clark, "is that of the breeding for greater winter hardiness in wheat. The average annual loss from winter killed wheat is about 15 per cent. It is hoped to develop more hardy varities than Turkey, Kharkof, and even Kanred by means of selection or crossing. The United States Department of Agriculture has selected the Kansas experiment station as one of the chief field stations for this work."

FIFTY MEN SPEND WEEK IN THE FERTILITY SCHOOL

FERTILIZER MEN LEARN BEST TERRITORY FOR PRODUCT

School Held at Kansas Station Because Its Fertility Experiments Are the Best in the West

Fifty representatives of leading American fertilizer manufacturing companies were in Manhattan last week attending a fertility school for the purpose of obtaining exact data on the needs of western soils and crops direct from experiment station workers.

The Kansas station was selected as the location of the school because of the fact that its fertility experiments are the best in the west, having been going longest. Agronomists from other leading stations west of the Mississippi were on the program.

The school was conducted by the Kansas State Agricultural college cooperating with the soil improvement committee of the National Fertilizer association.

Better understanding and better cooperation between the farmer, consumer, and the manufacturer of fertilizers will result from the school, agriculturists believe. After gaining an understanding of the soil types and crop adaptations in the different states, the fertilizer men will know the best territory for their product. This will result in their avoiding the mistake of recommending and selling commercial fertilizers in localities where they are not needed.

It will aid also in preventing the use by farmers of the wrong kind of fertilizers for a given crop, and the use of fertilizers improperly mixed or wrongly proportioned.

This and much other data has been obtained by the fertilizer men. The "students" for the most part are executives in the selling end of fertilizer manufacturing companies. They will carry their information directly to their salesmen.

Miss Jamie Cameron, who has been out of college for a term teaching in the Wamego schools has enroled for the summer course at the college.

FOOTBALL STAR OF NOTRE DAME IS NEW COAGH

NOW COACH AT NORTHWESTERN

Football and Track To Be in His Care—Is Coach- Player on the Championship Great Lakes Training Station Service Team

Charles W. Bachman, Notre Dame football star and coach-player on the championship Great Lakes Training Station service team, was elected head coach of the Kansas Aggies.

His appointment was recommended to the board of administration by W. M. Jardine, president of the college. Bachman at present is coach at Northwestern university. He was in Manhattan last week conferring with C. Z. Clevenger, Aggie director of athletics, and Mike Ahearn, head of the athletic board.

Bachman's election is the result of an elimination contest that has been going on in the inner circles of Aggie athletics every since the sudden and unexpected resignation of Coach Schulz early in the year. More than 40 candidates have been considered by the board.

While a student at Notre Dame, Bachman played almost every position on the football team,—guard, tackle, full back, and end. On the championship Great Lakes team he played center and guard He was a star track man at Notre Dame. Football and track will be in his care here.

An assistant coach will be elected to help with football and to coach baseball and basketball. Bachman's duties will start with the opening of school in September.

THREE AGGIE WAR HEROES ARE HONORED BY COLLEGE

COLLEGE CONFERS DOCTORATE OF LAWS ON GENERALS

Harbord, Helmick, and Coe, All K. S. A. C. Students in the Eighties Get Diplomas—Harbord Unable to Come

Three distinguished Kansas Aggie war heroes received the degree of Doctor of Laws at the commencement exercises last Thursday morning.

They are Major General James Gutherie Harbord, '86, Major General Eli Alva Helmick, student from 1879 to 1883, and Major General Frank Winston Coe, student for three years in the eighties.

General Harbord found himself, because of army duties, unable to be present and the degree was conferred upon him in absentia, the diploma and hood of the degree being sent to him. Both of the other distinguished soldiers appeared on the platform, and were given diplomas and invested with doctor's hoods by President Jardine.

General Harbord was graduated from the college in 1886, after a brilliant scholastic record.

General Harbord's rise in army circles during the war was rapid and spectacular, establishing a record for great achievement. He went into action at Chateau-Thierry in June, 1918.

He became General Pershing's chief of staff. He was chosen by General Pershing to reorganize and expand the service of supplies, which the A. E. F. at the front had outgrown.

General Harbord was awarded the United States Distinguished Service Medal by General Order 136 in 1918, which refers to "his great constructive ability and professional attainments," which "played an important part in the success obtained by our armies."

He holds also nine decorations from foreign government.

General Helmick studied in the college from 1879 to 1883, and was subsequently graduated from West Point. He distinguished himself in engineering, inspection, and administration work throughout the war.

MAJ. GEN. JAMES G. HARBORD

He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal.

General Coe was ordered abroad within two months after war was declared. He had previously been serving as chief of staff for the Western division. He was thereupon named as chief of staff for the First expeditionary division, and later in the summer was assigned to command of artillery. He rose to the rank of brigadier general that summer, and the following year was relieved from duty with the American expeditionary forces and appointed chief of coast artillery with rank of major general.

PROFESSOR EMERSON SPEAKS AT THE IOWA STATE COLLEGE

Presented His Talk from an Alumni Viewpoint

Prof. J. G. Emerson, head of the department of public speaking, spoke before a mass meeting of Iowa State college students on June 2, when they gathered to make plans for the collection of a $100,000 fund for the establishment of a memorial honoring the 103 students who gave their lives in the war.

As an alumnus of the Iowa State college Professor Emerson presented his talk from the alumni viewpoint. His speech was interesting because of his direct knowledge of the life overseas, having served abroad for about a year.

Professor Emerson is on the teaching staff of the summer school session and is conducting several classes in public speaking and dramatics.

Miss Nellie Yantis of '19, who has been teaching mathematics in the Holton high school, has returned to her home in Manhattan where she will spend the summer.

JUDGE HUGGINS TALKS ON NEW LAW IN CHAPEL

EXPLAINS THEORY OF THE NEW INDUSTRIAL COURT LAW

LAW ADMINISTERS JUSTICE FREE

Says All Anglo-Saxon Laws Spring From Necessity—Industrial Law Does Not Depart from Common Law

"If democracy is to survive, a law must be envolved which will control industrial warfare," declared Judge W. L. Huggins, author of the Kansas Court of Industrial relations, in an address before the students of the summer session at Kansas State Agricultural college Monday morning.

Judge Huggins explained the theory of the new industrial law and how it functioned. In explaining the jurisdiction of the court of industrial relations Judge Huggins said:

"The court has jurisdiction over the essential industries only. And then only when the public is endangered can the court ajudicate the controversy.

"The laws in all Anglo-Saxon countries spring from necessity. If a commodity has a public interest an exorbitant price must not be charged for it. Upon this principal the court of industrial relations was formed. Food, clothing, and fuel are the three essential industries and they have been included in the law to be subject to the control of the state.

"Kansas has not departed from the common law at any point in forming the industrial law. Kansas has done only two new things that other state legislatures have not done; first, we have declared that the manufacture of food, clothing, and fuel, are the three essential industries and are impressed with a public interest; and second, that labor as well as capital, engaged in the manufactury of essentials, is impressed with a public interest and holds a public duty.

"The court of industrial relations is not a tribunal for arbitration. The members of the court are impartial and are merely trying to settle disputes in an orderly manner as has been done in the supreme court for many years.

"Nothing that the laborer has a right to has been taken from him. But the right to throw bricks through his employers window after working hours has been taken from him.

"Justice is administered to the penniless man without cost. And if he is not satisfied with the decision of the industrial court he may take his case to the state supreme court still without a penny's cost."

Attends Fertility School

E. W. Harvey, who graduated at K. S. A. C. in 1917, attended the fertility school in Manhattan last week. Mr. Harvey received a M. S. in soils at Rulgers college, New Brunswick, N. J., in 1918. He served as tester of aviation material in the army during the last year of the war. Since the war Mr. Harvey has been connected with the fertility educational service of the Barret company, New York city.

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Student Newspaper of the Kansas State Agricultural College

CLEMENTINE PADDLEFORD.....Editor

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 9, 1920

K. S. A. C. IS YOURS

K. S. A. C. is your's, summer student, for two months. Are you here merely to study for the few weeks and leave nothing in return, or will you have helped create an active community spirit and left the student body better off for your presence here?

"Be a loyal Aggie," "Boost for a Better K. S. A. C." are two of the slogans of the regular college year. But these two watchwords need not be reserved for the nine months session. They can be applied to K. S. A. C. in summer as well.

Dean Holton, director of the summer session, desires that the summer school be advertised to the state as a school, that is prepared to render a great service to the teacher or regular college student. You are a representative of Kansas population while you are here, summer student. Won't you, if you believe in our summer school, tell your friends at home or elsewhere about it?

It is to help you do this that the summer edition of the Kansas State Collegian is being published. It will use its columns to give you news of the summer school and other material of interest to you. To help form a loyal community spirit is its aim.

The paper is edited by a student of industrial journalism and is printed in the college printing plant. If you know of something you would like to have printed in the Collegian write it up and mail it through the college post office, or bring it to the Collegian office on the second floor of Kedzie hall. If you can't write it come up and tell the editor about it and she will see that it is written.

Twice a month the summer session of The Kansas State Collegian will be printed and each student in the summer school will receive a copy through the post office. Watch for the next issue. It will have something interesting for you.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING

It was unfortunate that the industrial court grew out of the coal strike. It would have been just as fortunate had it grown out of the unjust profiteering of the operators. In either case it would have been framed to meet existing conditions and the inference therefore would be that the offending party was to be subdued. In either case the party who it appeared was to be subdued would have fought it. It is only natural that the labor element should feel that it was aimed at them.

The industrial court must win the support of all by proving that it exists in order to insure fairness on both sides, even if it was adopted after the coal strikes of last winter. If the government has a right to say, that Jim Jones must mine coal, it also has the right to say that, William Brown cannot buy it up and keep it off the market after Jim Jones has been made to mine it. If this is what the industrial court stands for it will not take long for labor to find it out and get behind it with the heartiest cooperation.

PAY HIGHER SALARY

Why should the teachers receive a higher salary? Not only because it is unjust to expect them to work for the present low wages, but there is an actual shortage in teachers due to low salaries.

With salaries as they are at the present time many teachers are being forced to go into other lines of work. Statistics compiled by Royal Meeker, United States commissioner of labor statistics, shows that 143,000 teachers in this country have entered other callings in the past year, or 23 per cent of the total number.

These are alarming figures when we take into consideration the fact that this shortage is more than twice the number of graduates from public and private normal schools last year. The future promises no relief for this shortage, without an increase in salaries for teachers, as is shown by the fact that enrolment in normal schools has fallen in the last two years from 43,468 to 36,160 and the number of graduates has decreased from 14,921 in 1917 to 9,514 in 1919.

There has always been a shortage of competent teachers in the United States, but never a greater shortage than at the present time. With salaries as they are at the present we are not only driving the teaching staff into other occupations, but we are causing fewer people to take normal school training.

We spent millions of dollars to make the world safe for democracy. There is no better way to insure the survival of democracy in this country than to furnish the young people of America with competent teachers.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Bomgardner—Robison

The marriage of Miss Lucile Bomgardner and Mr. Ellet Robison was solemnized Monday evening, May 31, at 8 o'clock at the Westminister Presbyterian church, the Rev. J. McAfee performing the ceremony, in the presence of 300 guests.

The church was decorated in pink and white peonies, and the altar was banked in peonies and palms. The bride entered on the arm of her father and was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Earl Stearns of Towanda. Mr. and Mrs. Robison left last night for a brief wedding trip and will make their home at Mr. Robison's ranch near Towanda. Mr. Robison, who was graduated a few days ago from the department of animal husbandry of the Kansas State Agricultural college is associated with his father in the livestock business.

Mrs. Robison is a graduate of the Kansas university and has been active in musical circles in Topeka. Before the wedding the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robison, entertained the bridal party and house guests at dinner at Pelletier's.—Topeka Capital.

Lofinck—Masemore

Miss Emily Lofinck and Mr. Willis J. Masemore were married at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, June 2, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. R. E. Lofinck, 625 Poyntz avenue. Dr. J. M. McClelland read the ceremony.

Mrs. Masemore is a graduate from K. S. A. C. with the class of '17. She was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Since her graduation she has taught home economics in the high school at Coldwater. Mr. Masemore is a graduate of the law school at Kansas university with the class of 1912 and was a member of the Phi Alpha Delta, honorary law fraternity. At present he is a prominent attorney in Coldwater where he and his bride will make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Masemore left Tuesday for a short wedding trip and will be at home after June 15 at Coldwater.

Berry—Swingle

Miss Mildred Berry of Jewell City and Mr. Charles Swingle of Manhattan, were married Thursday, June 3, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Max Wolf, 1010 Poyntz avenue. Both Mr. and Mrs. Swingle are graduates of the college. Mr. Swingle was a member of the Aggie baseball team. He taught plant propagation lab at the college last semester. Mr. and Mrs. Swingle left after the wedding for Fresno, Cal., where Mr. Swingle has a position with a nursery company.

Martin—Armantrout

Announcements have been received of the marriage, May 28, of Miss Margaret Armantrout of Guthrie, Okla., to Mr. Paul Gordon Martin, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Martin of Hiawatha, Kan. Mr. and Mrs. Martin have both attended K. S. A. C. for three years. Mrs. Martin was a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and of Theta Chi Gamma, honorary general science fraternity. She was the president of the woman's senior Pan Hellenic and during the fall term of last semester she was society editor on the Collegian. Mr. Martin was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Martin will make their home in Junction City.

Faculty-Alumni Dinner

Thursday, May 27, the faculty-alumni dinner was given in the old mess hall of the S. A. T. C. After the dinner Prof. Albert Dickens introduced the following speakers: Mr. Farrar, who gave a message from the board of administration; Leo McGrath, president of the class of 1920; Miss Earnestine Biby, who spoke for the class of 1920; Mr. Harry L. Kent of '13, who represented the group who received the degree of M. S.; Dr. C. W. McCampbell, who represented the class of 1910; Mr. Earnest H. Freeman, '95, who spoke on how to be an alumnus for 25 years; Major General Coe and Major General Helmick. Dr. Marion L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, who delivered the commencement address, also spoke at the alumni dinner. After Dr. Burton's talk President Jardine spoke on the future of K. S. A. C.

Harling—Schmidt

Mrs. E. P. Harling announces the marriage of her daughter Miriam Ellen to Mr. Robert Schmidt, assistant professor of horticulture in the Mississippi A. and M. college. The wedding took place Tuesday morning, June 1, at the Harling home, 628 Fremont street. Prof. Walter Burr read the ceremony. After the ceremony a three course wedding breakfast was served to the guests at quartet tables.

Mrs. Schmidt has lived in Manhattan for a number of years graduating from the Manhattan high school. This spring she completed the sophomore year of work in the Kansas State Agricultural college. She was a member of the Ionian literary society and of the St. Cecilia club.

Mitchell—White

The marriage of Miss Helen Mitchell and Mr. Ivan White took place Friday, May 28, at 8:30 o'clock in the morning at 906 Fremont. The ring ceremony was read by Rev. J. M. McClelland of the First Methodist church.

Mrs. White graduated from K. S. A. C. from the home economics course in 1918. She was a member of the Browning literary society, was the Browning debater in her senior year, a member of the Y. W. C. A., Forum, and intercollegiate debate. During the past year she taught science and mathematics in the Bedena high school. Mr. White graduated with the class of 1920 in horticulture. He belongs to the Alpha Zeta fraternity, Athenian literary society, Forum and was a debater in his junior year.

Ramey—Johnson

The marriage of Miss Ethel Ramey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Ramey, 805 Fremont street, and Dr. S. R. Johnson of Hooper, Nebr., took place Thursday afternoon, May 27, at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride. The ring ceremony was performed by Dr. J. M. McClelland of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Johnson has made her home in Manhattan for several years, where until recently she has been employed in the Manhattan State bank. Dr. Johnson spent two years in a veterinary college in Kansas City and graduated from the course in veterinary medicine at the Kansas State Agricultural college on the morning of his wedding day. He was a member of the Hamilton Literary society and of the Omega Tau Epsilon fraternity. Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will be at home after June 1 at Hooper, Nebr., where he is a director of the Simonson Serum laboratories.

Buchanan—Runyan

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Buchanan announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary, to Winfield F. Runyan, which took place in Topeka, May 14. Mrs. Runyan is a graduate of the Manhattan high school. Mr. Runyan graduated with the class of 1920 from K. S. A. C., with a B. S. degree in agriculture.

Mr. and Mrs. Runyan will be at home in Dodge City where Mr. Runyan has accepted a position in the high school.

Hurd—West

Miss Ruth E. Hurd of Free Port, Ill., and Edward E. West of Stuart, Va., were married at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday morning, May 27, at the home of Prof. and Mrs. L. E. Conrad, 317 North Seventeenth street.

Those in attendance besides Professor and Mrs. Conrad and children, were Mrs. Jacobsen, Miss Martha Denny, Miss Dorothy Cashen, and Miss Cleo Richardson of Ferris, Ill. Miss Hurd has had a position in the zoological department at the college for the last two years. Mr. West is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. West of Stuart, Va., and has been in the chemistry department at the college, receiving his masters' degree with the 1920 class.

Alumni Reception

The local Alumni association gave a farewell reception for the visiting alumni and the faculty members in recreational hall, Wednesday evening, May 26. A short musical program was given. The class of '95 lead by John Patton of Chicago, Ill., sang a number of patriotic songs. During the evening punch and cakes were served to the guests. Over 200 alumni were present.

Local Alumni Picnic

The local Alumni association held its annual spring picnic and business meeting Monday evening in the grove at the east entrance of the campus. Each family brought its own basket lunch and the association furnished ice cream and hot coffee for all. After the supper a business meeting was held at which the officers for the coming year were elected. The new officers are as follows: Carl Knaus, president; Mrs. Helen (Huse) Collins, secretary; Prof. L. A. Fitz, treasurer.

NEW LOAN FUND FOR NEEDY STUDENTS IS NOW STARTED

Money To Be Used in Cooperation with Other College Loan Funds

The Polly Ogden chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution has established a loan fund for college students, which is open to both young men ad young women. This fund is to be used in cooperation has established a loan fund for college.

The money will be loaned to such students as are recommended by the college authorities. At present the fund is small, but the ladies hope to add to it from year to year and make it serve as many worthy students as possible.

Mr. John H. Martin, assistant in the western wheat investigation of the United States department of agriculture, spent May 28 and 29 at the college. Mr. Martin was interested in wheat breeding in the agronomy department.

OTHER COLLEGES

The seniors at the University of Oklahoma have raised $1,400 with which to build a memorial arch over one of the entrances to the campus.

A chapter of Theta Phi Alpha, a national fraternity for Catholic women was established at the Indiana university on May 29. Theta Phi Alpha was founded at the Michigan university in 1899.

The Ohio State university gave a May breakfast this year on the college campus under the direction of the womans' Athletic association and the physical training department. Over 1,200 students and faculty members were served. Due to the success of the breakfast the new custom will become a tradition for the coming years.

The Saddle and Sirloin club at the Ohio State college held their annual spring horse show on the afternoon and evening of May 29. This is one of the big events of the season at the college.

For the sixth time in eleven years the Coe tracksters copped first honors in the Iowa conference meet held at Cedar Rapids. Cornell took second place.

Michigan's graduating class this spring will take with it 291 of the fair sex, from which number many women of note on the campus and of high scholastic attainments will be taken.

The Y. W. C. A. of Indiana university is planning to send 15 girls as delegates to the summer conference of the association, which is to be held for 10 days in July at Lake Geneva, Wis.

A campaign has been launched at the Purdue university to raise funds for a $1,000,000 Purdue Union building. The building is to be a memorial for the Purdue men who died in the world war.

This year's freshman class at the Purdue university have revived the almost forgotten custom of the annual freshman cap burning. At the burning the freshman form a line about the huge fire where after an appropriate funeral sermon, the visible token of freshman greenness is thrown into the blaze. The meeting ends with a big pep feast.

An interesting experiment was made at Beloit college, when an estimate was made of the total mileage covered by dancers at the college dances in one year. It was found that the average for each student was 18 miles a year and the total mileage for the college was 81,00 miles.

The glee club of the University of California sailed May 26 to the orient, touring China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands for three months.

The University of Iowa may be entered in the first intercollegiate transcontinental air derby, to be staged from Mineola to San Francisco soon. About fifteen of the leading universities including Princeton, Harvard, and Yale have signified their intention of entering the competition.

The honor system which was established at the Northwestern university five years ago has been abolished. One of the reasons given for the suspension of the system, was that many of the students had failed to live up to the confidence that had been placed in them, and that cheating had increased under the honor system.

Between 1898 and 1920 the Ottawa university had 34 debating victories to her credit as against 31 defeats.

The senior class at the Ottawa university left to the school as a memorial a $1,600 grand piano.

WATSON MAY REPRESENT STATE IN OLYMPIC GAMES

HOLDS MISSOURI VALLEY RECORD IN THE TWO MILE

Watson is Editor Next Year of College Annual—Takes Active Part in Many College Activities—Is Self Supporting

Ray Watson of Wichita, may represent Kansas in the Olympic games to be held at Antwerp this summer. When he ran the two miles as if it were a 440-yard dash at Ames the other day the sport writers said he had a heart of oak. Students at K. S. A. C. who know him well say it's gold. To the professors he's a "splendid student," and to the co-ed he's an "all-round shark."

Outside of holding the state record in the half mile, the college record in both the mile, and the two mile, and the college record in the mile, Watson lives up to his various reputations in the following way:

He is editor of the Royal Purple, college annual.

He is vice-president of the student self governing associatfon.

He is a junior honor student, which means that he made grades that place him in the first 5 per cent of his class in scholarship.

He is self supporting.

He belongs to a fraternity and takes a lively interest in college society.

He is college yell leader.

It's quite a swath for one man to cut—especially a man with only one hand. He lost the other in a hunting accident when he was a kid.

He will try out for the American Olympic team at Chicago in the elimination contest to be held there soon.

PROFESSOR FITCH TO HOLSTEIN FRIESIAN SALE IN MINNESOTA

Also Attends Ayershire Breeder's Convention at Ames

Prof. J. W. Fitch, head of the college dairy department, left Monday, May 31, to attend the National Ayreshire Breeder's association convention held at Ames, Iowa. Following the association meetings, Professor Fitch went to St. Paul, Minn., to attend the annual sale held by the National Holstein-Friesian association of America, on June 4 and 5.

Several students, who accompanied him from here, after attending the sale, expect to work with the Minnesota Holstein Cattle company, of Austin, Minn.

From St. Paul, Professor Fitch will go to Madison, Wis., on business. He is expected to return to Manhattan the latter part o this week.

AGGIE SENIOR COMES BY AIRPLANE TO COMMENCEMENT

Enlow Was Instructor in Aviation During the War

One Aggie senior came to his commencement in a novel way. Charles A. Enlow, who finished his college work at the end of the first semester, and who has since gone into commercial aviation, arrived in Manhattan via airplane to don his cap and gown and to receive his degree with the class of 1920.

Enlow who will be remembered as an Aggie star in football and track, entered the United States aviation corps in 1917 and did many months of flying in California, Texas, and Mississippi. He was made an instructor in aviation before he left the states. He afterwards served six months as combat instructor at one of the larger flying fields in France.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity have moved into their new home at 519 N. Eleventh street, which they bought early this spring.

Helen H. Halm, '08, formerly assistant professor of home economics education at K. S. A. C., has resigned her position as professor of domestic art in the University of Cincinnati to take charge of the training teachers of vocational home economics in the University of Arizona, Tucson. At present she is making a tour of the state to study home economics schools and to make plans for this work for the coming year. She will also act as state supervisor of home economics in Arizona.

MATRICULATION FEE TO BE GREATER NEXT YEAR

ALL STUDENTS TO PAY SICK BENEFIT FEE

Resident Students Entering School in Fall as Freshmen Must Pay $21.50 Instead of Old Fee of $11

An increase has been made in the matriculation fees of the Kansas State Agricultural college along with all other state schools. The increase is effective for the matriculation first semester next fall.

Matriculation fee for residents has been increased from $5 to $10; nonresidents, from $10 to $15.

Incidental fee for residents, $5 to $10; nonresidents from $10 to $15.

Sick-benefit fee for both residents and non-residents from $1.00 to $1.50.

These become effective in September, 1920. A resident entering next fall as a freshman student will pay $21.50 instead of $11.00; a resident sophomore student will pay $11.50 instead of $6.00.

In speaking of the change, Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the college, said:

"I regret exceedingly the necessity for increasing the fees but I know the students understand thoroughly that a dollar will not purchase any more for the institution than it will for the individual. They no doubt realize the tremendous expense to which the institution is put in maintaining itself these days.

"Every possible measure is being taken to retain the services of the strong men and women on the faculty and those connected with the institution until we can go before the legislature for financial assistance.

Huston's Success in Drop Kicking is Due To Practice on Cans

"How did I learn to drop kick? Why by kicking tin cans on the way to and from school," remarked Dewey Huston who played guard on the Varsity team last year.

Huston says that the success of a drop kick is simply a matter of judgment and practice and it is not as difficult as it seems. He explained that the long kick has to have more leverage than the short kick.

"For a long kick I always hit up on the end of the shoe, while for the short kick, I hit up on top of the toes or on top of the arch."

Huston is a sophomore in the veterinary science course and is a member of the Delta Tau fraternity He has played on the Varsity team for two years and only missed half a game in that time. He also played in high school for two years. He was freshman president the first term that he was in school and is popular among the students.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brewer of Chicago, visited their parents here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Brewer attended K. S. A. C. two years ago. Mrs. Brewer was a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority and Mr. Brewer was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity.

Miss Elizabeth Dickens, a junior in the college, has accepted a place for the summer, as city editor on the Manhattan Daily Nationalist.

STUDENTS OF DRAMATIC CLASSES TO GIVE FARCE

WILL PRESENT "HER HUSBAND'S WIFE" LATER IN TERM

Plot Light in Structure—Author Is A. E. Thomas—Fourth Hour Class Studying Production End of Dramatic Field

Summer school students who are attending the Tuesday and Thursday morning class in dramatics being conducted under the direction of Prof. J. G. Emerson, will produce a three act farce, "Her Husband's Wife," shortly before the close of their course.

Fifteen students are enrolled in the fourth hour class in dramatics and they are making a particular study of the production end of the dramatic field. The play, "Her Husband's Wife," though light in plot and structure is of a high order and worthy of production by college dramatic students. Its author is A. E. Thomas who has produced a number of similar plays.

AGGIES FOLKS

"Gee, everybody likes Mike." That is the general verdict.

Who is Mike? Stop any student on the campus of the Kansas State Agricultural college and ask for Mike and he will send you to Michael Francis Ahearn, professor of landscape gardening.

The visitor will not be disappointed. The kindly blue eyes and the irresistible smile make him at home at once. That smile is one he carries right with him. To watch him any day as he comes into the cafeteria any one would be sure that the home team had just won the Missouri Valley championship or a place in the world's series.

Michael Ahearn was born in England although his name and his speech both deny the imputation. When he was four years old his family moved to America. He almost grew up in a green house beginning work there when he was twelve years old.

Six years later he entered the Agricultural College of Massachusetts. He worked his way through winning letters in baseball, football, and basketball and delivering the campus oration, one of the three honor places on the commencement program.

He came to the Kansas Agricultural college in 1904 as professor of landscape gardening and in charge of the greenhouse.

He is one of the best men in the west in the identification of fruits. It is a rare variety of apple that he doesn't recognize at first sight. Landscape men rank him as one of th best in theory and practice. They say, "he keeps his feet in the ground even though his head is in the clouds. Many landscape men spin fine theories about what can be done whether it is practical or not."

When Kansas people want planting plans for public parks, school grounds, and cemeteries they send to Mike Ahearn to do it. When they want a fruit judge for a state or a county fair they call on him. Last year he judged two state fairs in Kansas and one in Colorado.

Every girl in the home economics course looks forward with mingled fear and pleasure to the course in gardening for the instructor, Prof. Mike Ahearn, is noted for his funny stories and his hard quizzes.

It is not only in gardening that he comes in touch with the mass of the student body but in athletics also. When he came to the college athletics was a side line and some member of the faculty always acted as coach. Since Mike was a letter man it was only a short time until he was drafted as coach.

Then there was no athletic grounds and the ball teams were defeated regularly wherever they went. While he was coach Ahearn field, the present athletic park was laid out and the Nichols gymnasium was built.

By his magnetic personality he brought out the best in the boys and developed some of the strongest athletics in the college history—Carl Mallen, Dad Croyle, Harry Beard, Jack Gingery, Cap Hunter, the Strong brothers, and others. He started tennis and track work. He built up the standard of athletics until the college teams were admitted into the Missouri Valley conference.

When the college grew and he had to choose between athletics and horticulture he chose horticulture. But the powers that be wouldn't let him get away entirely, but kept him on the athletic board where he has a fine opportunity to wield a powerful influence in building up athletics and in devloping a proper college spirit.

Wealthy Squad Get Their Monthly Pay In Hort Department

To the ordinary observer they are merely four of the busiest of the campus employees, but the professors of the college call them, a shade enviously perhaps, the "millionaire squad."

W. P. Blain, C. F. Spring, G. A. Wilcox, and J. A. Shumway, the four men who comprise the "millionaire squad," are all on the pay roll of the horticulture department. They all own farms of two hundred acres or more, and they all moved to Manhattan to educate their children. When Wilbur Wilcox, senior in general science, graduated this spring, each member of the "millionaire squad" will have had at least one child graduate from K. S. A. C.

Mr. W. P. Blain, foreman of the horticulture department, holds the longest service record of any of the four men. Mr. Blain entered the employ of the hort deparmtent ten years ago, and with the exception of two years, he has remained on the college pay roll ever since.

C. F. Spring, campus foreman, is one of the men who helps to unload some of the weight of responsibility from the shoulders of his superiors. Judging from the care with which Mr. Spring guards the neatness of the college campus, his own farm in Nemaha county must have been one of the show places of the country during his residence there.

G. A. Wilcox, a teamster for the department, is said to have something of the blood of Wall Street financiers in his veins. In Kansas language he is a "born trader." He is a cautious man however, and it is seldom that he has less than two large Kansas farms safe in his possession.

Willard Howe, R. E. Cleland, S. R. Smith, and George Druman are making a trip to St. Paul, Minn., in a Ford. They will attend the Holstein sale, which promises to be the largest livestock sale held in the United States this year. After attending the sale, Howe, Cleveland, and Druman will spend the vacation working for a Minnesota Holstein company at Austin, Minn. Mr. Smith will work at the Clover Leaf farm.

Ralph Ward Hixson, a graduate of the class of 1920, is in the Parkview hospital recovering from an operation for appendicitis. Because of his illness, Hixson was unable to attend the graduating exercises. Hixson is well known in the college athletic world having played both on the baseball team and on the varsity eleven.

E. T. Keith, of the industrial journalism and printing department, addressed the Printers' Convention of Northeastern Kansas held at Topeka, Kan., Saturday, June 5. His subject was in regard to the training of apprentice printers.

AGGIES SEND DELEGATES TO ANNUAL CONFERENCE

DOCTOR HOLTZ TO BE ONE OF CONFERENCE LEADERS

Meeting Will Be Held from June 11 to 21—Other Kansas Colleges Will Send Representatives

The Kansas State Agricultural college will be represented at the annual conference of college Y. M. C. A. men held at Estes Park, Col., this year.

With Dr. A. A. Holtz, general secretary at the head of the delegation, there will also be in attendance: E. J. Jelden, Everett B. Kain, Carl M. Conrad, S. Dave Capper, C. R. Smith, and another member of the faculty. It is expected that other students from this school will also attend the summer conference which is being held from June 11 to 21 of the month, inclusive. These representatives will go to the conference directly from their homes where they are spending their vacations.

Doctor Holtz will be one of the conference leaders. He will conduct a series of lectures and conferences under the subject of "Religious Education," the same subject under which he will handle a general course at this school next winter.

The slogan of the conference is an intense undivided study of the materialism of Marx against the Christianity of the Carpenter.

Other Kansas colleges will send delegations to the Rocky Mountain conference, also, and it is believed that the year's conference will tend toward a more settled cooperative spirit among the student body in the work next year.

PROFESSOR SEARSON HAS A BUSY SUMMER PLANNED

LEAVES THIS WEEK FOR EXTENDED EDUCATIONAL TOUR

First Goes to Nebraska to Conduct Conference—Will Take Part in Publicity Campaign of Educational Association

J. W. Searson, head of the English department at the college, left this week on an extended educational tour through the western states. He will first go to Lincoln, Nebr., where he will conduct a conference of Intitute educators. While in Nebraska he will also deliver a series of educational lectures before the State Normal school at Kearney.

At Salt Lake City, he will take an active part in the publicity campaign of the National Educational associations, and about July 15, he will go to Reno, Nev., and give a series of lectures at that place.

Professor Searson will also visit his mother at Moravia, Cal., near Los Angeles, for a period of three weeks. During this time he intends to indulge, for a few days in his favorite sport; fishing for Yellow Tails in the Pacific. Leaving California, he will deliver lectures at points on the Texas and the Southwestern Kansas institute circuits.

Mrs. Searson will accompany the professor on the trip. They expect to return to Manhattan about September 1.

Cornell Professor Here

Dr. H. H. Love, professor of plant breeding at Cornell university, spent May 30 and 31 at the college. Doctor Love is enroute from Utica, New York, to California, where he is raising Hydrid wheat. Doctor Love is accompanied by Major Southee, who is in charge of the plant breeding work in New South Wales, Australia. Doctor Love and Major Southee were especially interested in the plant breeding and farm crops work, and in other lines of genetical investigations in progress here.

NEW BUILDING SECRETARY IS CHOSEN FOR THE Y. M.

REVERAND HOUSE COMING SOON TO TAKE UP DUTIES

Y. M. Is Having General Information Handbooks Printed to Distribute to Summer Students—Contains Information about City and Campus

Rev. J. M. House of Burlingame, has been secured to serve as building secretary at the Manhattan Y. M. C. A. for next year.

Reverand House will come to Manhattan early in the summer and assume his duties here, in order that he may be ready for the return of old students and the incoming of new students in the fall.

A handbook of general information relating to the campus and the city is being prepared for student use this summer by the Y. M. C. A. and will be distributed next September when the students return. The book is attractive in appearance and will be valuable to all students. It is covered in purple paper and bears a white seal of the college.

Both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will have information booths at the two stations next fall in addition to the teams of Big Sisters and boy helpers who serve at the beginning of each school year. Other new features for the convenience and assistance of the returning student body are being planned by these two college organizations and will be announced later.

Miss Izel Polson, instructor in the industrial journalism department, left last week for Bridgeport, Conn., where she will visit her sister for a month.

THREE MEMBERS CHOSEN FOR THE ALUMNI BOARD

NEW MEMBERS ARE BURTIS, GRIMES, AND WHEELER

Board Holds Annual Election of Officers—Dean Umberger Is Elected President—Doctor Thompson Vice President

Commencement day the general Alumni association met and elected new members for the board of directors for the coming year. The new members are: O. B. Burtis, W. E. Grimes, and G. C. Wheeler, editor of the Kansas Farmer.

The board of directors is composed of nine members, three new ones being elected each year. The members whose term expired this spring are: Judge Sam Kimble, Prof. Albert Dickens, and Miss Margaret Haggart.

Monday afternoon the board of directors called a meeting at which they elected officers for the year. The officers are as follows: Dean H. H. Umberger, president; Dean Helen B. Thompson, vice president; Dean J. T. Williard was reelected as treasurer and Francis L. Brown was reelected as secretary.

GIVE SUMMER SESSION OF WORK IN CITIZENSHIP

DR. WILBUR N. MASON WILL BE SECOND SPEAKER

Work in Citizenship Consists of a Series of Eight Lectures to be Given at Chapel Period

A special feature of the summer school is a course which is being offered in citizenship. It is not a course to be studied or even a course which is compulsory; but it is a series of lectures to be enjoyed by the whole student body.

Dean L. Holton is the originator of this course. He believes that by these lectures the students will come to understand better the Kansas program for building up democracy in the state.

The chapel address by Judge W. L. Huggins is the first lecture of the course. Governor Henry J. Allen who was to have been the first speaker of the summer was not able to be here at this time, but has promised to fill his appointment the first part of July.

Next Tuesday, June 15, Dr. Wilbur N. Mason of the State Board of Administration will speak to the student body. All of the lecturers will speak on the general topic of "The Kansas Program for Making Democracy Safe."

The following men will lecture: Dr. Wilbur N. Mason of the state board of administration; Dr. S. J. Crumbine of the state board of health; John H. Crawford, commissioner of the state department of labor and industry; J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture; T. A. McNeal of the state school book commission and Samuel T. Howe, chairman of the state tax commission.

The lectures will be given at the general assembly period at 10:15 in the morning, in the auditorium. On chapel days the morning classes will each be shortened 15 minutes to allow an extra hour for the assembly period. The days for assembly will be posted on the bulletin boards at the north and south entrance of Anderson hall.

AGGIES TAKE FIVE POINTS IN ANNUAL WESTERN MEET

GALLAGHER TIES FOR FIRST PLACE IN LOW HURDLES

In Two Mile Race Watson Takes Third Place—Aggies Place Second Among the Schools of Missouri Valley

Although K. S. A. C. placed only tenth in the Inter-Collegian Conference meet at Ann Arbor, Mich., she placed third among the schools in the Missouri valley.

Illinois won the meet with 40 points. Other colleges scores varied from 30 down to no points. K. S. A. C. scored five points placing them in tenth place. However the Aggies felt proud of the five points as they competed against some of the swiftest track men in the United States.

K. S. A. C. placed second among the Missouri Valley schools. The University of Missouri placed first in the valley with 14 points and they placed fourth among all the colleges entered. Ames only placed third in the valley with one point. K. U. entered one man in the meet but he failed to make any points.

Frost, of K. S. A. C., went out at 12 feet in the pole vault. He, with four other men, tied for second place. The winning score was 12 feet and 3 inches.

Evans ran in the 100-yard dash but had to drop out before the finish on account of a pulled muscle in his leg. Owing to a sudden rain storm Watson didn't run in the mile race. In the two mile race, he took third place.

Gallagher, of K. S. A. C., and Knollin, of Wisconsin, tied for first place in the low hurdles. Gallagher was in the lead until the last hurdle, when he lost his stride and Knollin caught up with him. They both hit the tape at the same time. The judges gave first place to Knollin and second to Gallagher. Fans stated that Gallagher was the best hurdler there.

About a half hour after the meet had started a thunder storm suddenly swept the field drenching the 8,000 spectators. Three or four events were decided in the rain. The storm passed, however, and the meet was finished with ideal weather.

This was the fastest meet ever held among the different colleges.

TWENTY-SIX STUDENTS AWARDED CLASS HONORS

NAMES OF HONOR STUDENTS ANNOUNCED AT COMMENCEMENT

Only Five Per cent of the Students with the Highest Standing in Each Class Are Chosen

Fourteen juniors and 12 seniors were awarded class honors at commencement. In accordance with a rule of the faculty, junior and senior honors are given to not more than 5 per cent of each class having the highest standing up to the close of their respective year.

The graduates receiving senior honors are: division of agriculture—Luella M. Schaumberg, Sheppard A. Watson, Paul L. Findley, Guilford J. Ikenberry; division of veterinary medicine—John W. Ritter; division of engineering—Paul L. Fetzer; division of home economics—Carolyn E. Lear, Eloise Flanders, Loverne Webb, Mary J. Hill; division of general science; Blanche M. Sappenfield and John W. Andrews.

The juniors who were awarded honors are: division of agriculture—Ira K. Landon, Chester A. Herrick, Edmund W. Turner, Merton L. Otto, Ray B. Watson; divsion of home economics—Nellie M. Hord, Helen I. Neiman, Lucile C. Hartman, Gerda P. Olsen; division of engineering—Oscar Cullen, Morton Stigers; division of general science; Clementine Paddleford, William H. Knostman; division of veterinary medicine—Thomas P. Perry.

An honor point system is made use of in ranking the grade standing of the various students. In this system an E equals two honor points, a G only one and an M none. The grade P equals a minus .5, a C equals a minus .1 and a failure equals a minus 2. Five per cent of the students having the highest standing up to the close of both the junior and senior year are awarded honors.

MISS WARD LEAVING TO MANAGE NEW TEA ROOM

MISS EFFIE ADAMS TO HAVE CHARGE OF CAFETERIA

Miss Ward Opened the Cafeteria in 1915—Miss Margaret Morris to be Assistant Cafeteria Director

Miss Mary W. Ward, who for the past year has been the director of the college cafeteria, will leave in a few weeks for Houston, Tex., where she will take charge of the tea room in the Levy Brothers' store. This tea room is newly established and is said to be the finest one of its kind in the country.

Miss Ward had her undergraduate work at this school and finished her institutional training at Simmons college, Boston. Since the completion of her training Miss Ward has taught at the University of Cincinnati and for a year was head dietitian in the city hospital at Cincinnati, Ohio.

In the summer of 1915 Miss Ward opened the college cafeteria and installed the present system of institutional training and lunch room management. She has had charge of the summer school sessions each year since the cafeteria was opened.

Not least among the numerous admirers of Miss Ward are the students who have worked under her direction in the college cafeteria. Through her interest and help more than 25 different students have at different times this year secured full time or part time employment, which has made it possible for them to carry on their college class schedule.

Miss Ward will be succeeded by Miss Effie Adams, '10, who will have charge of the summer school work in the cafeteria. The cafeteria director for the coming school year has not yet been named. Miss Margaret Morris, also a graduate of the class of 1910, who has been assistant cafeteria director during several summer sessions, will assist Miss Adams this summer.

Rumor has it that another year will see well under way the long dreamed of plan of a new cafeteria building where a larger number of student patrons can be fed each day and where the course in institutional management and tea room work can be greatly enlarged and improved.

NEW MAN FROM DENVER COMES TO FILL VACANCY

C. V. WILLIAMS TO BE PROFESSOR OF VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Is One of Outstanding Men in the United State in the Work—Graduate of Nebraska State Normal

"I consider it a distinct loss to the teacher training work in the middle west to have Professor Kent leave this line of work," said Dean Holton, head of the department of education, "however we are very fortunate to secure Professor Williams to take his place. I consider Professor Williams one of the outstanding men in the United States for this line of work."

Mr. C. V. Williams arrived last week. He comes to Manhattan from Denver where he has been federal agent for agricultural education for the west central states with the federal board of vocational education for the last two years. Previous to that he taught in high schools in Iowa and Nebraska and has been professor of botany in the Peru State normal of Nebraska for two years, professor of Botany in the Nebraska Wesleyan college, and principal of the Wesleyan academy there for three years and superintendent of Nebraska School of agricultural at Curtis for five years.

He received much of his education in Nebraska being a graduate of the State Normal at Peru where he received the degree of B. of Ed., graduate of the University of Nebraska, College of Agriculture with the degree of B. S. in agriculture, graduate student of the University of Nebraska with the degree of A. M. and he has done graduate work at the College of Agriculture, Cornell.

DEBATORS MAY PLUCK THE JAYHAWK BIRD

PLANS MADE FOR BOTH GIRLS' AND BOYS' DUAL DEBATE

K. U. Anxious to Establish Debating Relations with Aggies—Gives K. S. A. C. Another Chance to Beat K. U.

Aggie debators will probably tangle with K. U. next year in two dual debats. The debates will consist of a boys' dual debate, in which one team will go from here to K. U., and one team will debate K. U. here. There will also be a similar debate for the girls.

This plan will be carried out if the debators' committee at K. U. do not turn it down, but there is not much probability of them doing so. Professor Shinn, debate coach at K. U., is strongly in favor of establishing debating relations with this institution.

This will give the Aggies one more chance to "pluck the Jayhawk bird." It ought to arouse the interest of every Aggie debator.

G. A. Russell, who was graduated from the K. S. A. C. civil engineering course this year, has been appointed county engineer for Geary county. He accepted this position and is already at work. His home is in Lakin.

PLENTY OF FUN PLANNED FOR SUMMER STUDENTS

COLLEGE MIXER AND DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT, JUNE 12

Mixer to be Held in Recreational Hall—Professor Emerson Chairman of Entertainment Committee—Quadrangle Party Planned

Social activity among the summer school student body will not suffer, for Dean E. L. Holton, director, has appointed a committee who have worked out a plan which provides for ample entertainment for the students.

Saturday night, June 12, an all college mixer will be held in Recreation hall to which all students and members of the faculty are invited. The general mixer will last until 9:45 when, in the words of Professor H. W. Davis, "the floor will be so slippery that it will be necessary to move to music in order to remain standing."

Prof. J. G. Emerson is the chairman of the committee in charge of the summer school entertainment plan and assisting him are Miss Winifred Bartholf, of the woman's physical training department, and Prof. H. W. Davis of the English department. Later a representative student group will be appointed.

The second event planned for the enojyment of students attending summer school is a "Quadrangle Party," an outdoor affair, full details of which will be given later.

Toward the end of the summer school, students who are taking special work in dramatics, will produce a play. The cast will be selected from the students in the course and possibly some other people in school. The students in dramatics will have full charge of the production.

One of the most interesting features of the program arranged for summer school entertainment is a "Wild Cat" hike which will close the series of affairs which will be given by the college proper. Futher information concerning this occasion will be given later. The hike is to be an all college-faculty-student affair.

PROFESSOR CRAWFORD TO INSTALL TWO QUILL RUNES

WILL VISIT RUNES IN CALIFORNIA AND IN WYOMING

Professor Rogers Will Have Charge of Journalism Department During Professor Crawford's Absence

Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the Journalism department of the Kansas State Agricultural college left June 1, for Denver, Col., where he will install a rune of the American College Quill club at the University of Denver.

After the installation, Professor Crawford will go to Laramie, Wyo., to visit the rune at the Wyoming university. He will also visit the rune in the Los Angeles university of southern California.

Before going to California Professor Crawford will install a rune at the Washington State college. Professor Crawford is high chancellor of the American Quill club and one of his duties is the installing of new chapters in the various parts of the United States.

C. E. Rogers, associate professor in the journalism department, will have charge of the department during Professor Crawford's absence.

Dr. W. E. Muldoon of the department of surgery and medicine, veterinary division, K. S. A. C., has recently been appointed resident secretary for the state of Kansas for the American Veterinary Medical association. This organization embodies the veterinarians of the United States and Canada.

Summer Session

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI — KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1920 — NO. 72

WATSON ENTERS SEMI-FINALS IN CHICAGO TODAY

WATSON PROFITS BY CONFERENCE MEET

WILL RUN IN THE MILE RACE

Winners of First and Second Places and Strong Thirds in Events Invited to Try in Boston Finals July 15

Ray Watson, Kansas Aggie distance man will enter the semi-final events for the American Olympic team at Chicago, which takes place today and tomorrow.

RAY WATSON

He has been working out on the college track for the past month under Z. G. Clevenger, Aggie athletic director, for the mile race. Watson's best time for the mile is 4 minutes 23 2-5 seconds made both at the Missouri Valley meet and at the dual meet with Haskell this year. He will not try out for any other distance event.

Winners Try in Finals

Olympic semi-finals are to be held at the same time in Chicago, Philadelphia, and Los Angeles. The winners of first and second places in each event and the strong thirds will be invited to try out in the finals at Boston, July 15. There eight men in each event will be chosen to represent the Americans in the international games at Antwerp early in August. The team will sail about July 20-25.

Profits By Conference Race

"I learned a lot in the Western Conference race," Watson smiled when he showed up here after the meet at Ann Arbor. "I was leading strong to the last lap, but had nothing left for a finish. Thats why I came in third. Next time I'll save a little."

Furnass of Purdue won the race. He probably will be one of Watson's strongest opponents in the Olympic try out at Chicago. He made the remarkable time of 9 minutes 33 seconds in the two mile race at Ann Arbor. This undoubtedly was the result of Watson's forcing throughout the race.

J. O. Brown, class of 1920, of the division of agriculture, will complete the professional work required for a state teachers' certificate during the summer school. He has been employed as director of vocational agriculture in the Bucyrus rural high school. He will report for work there September 1.

Sam J. Smith of Florence, is enroled in summer school. He was a junior last year in the division of agriculture. On the completion of his summer school assignment and of some additional work which he has arranged to do during the fore part of August, Mr. Smith will have completed the work of the curriculum of agriculture. He hopes to receive his diploma with the class of 1920 and plans to do either teaching or extension work during the coming year.

D. C. Thayer, graduate in agriculture, with the class of '20, left Tuesday noon for St. Paul, Minn. He will take a trip into canada in the near future.

RESIGNS POSITION HERE TO GO BACK TO HIS FARM

H. H. LAUDE TO TAKE BRUCE S. WILSON'S PLACE

Mr. Wilson Has Been with College Since 1908—Has Produced Four Prize Winning State Exhibits

Bruce S. Wilson, assistant in charge of the cooperative experiments section in the agronomy department, will leave in the near future to take charge of his farm near Manhattan.

Mr. Wilson has been employed by the college since his graduation here in 1908. In 1910 he was made foreman of the college farm and in 1912 he was made assistant in charge of the cooperative experiments section in the agronomy department. During the last three years, he has in addition to his other duties, acted as secretary for the Conference Union association.

Mr. Wilson is especially successful in arranging and planning exhibits. During the last few years he has come to be recognized as one of the best among United States men in this line of work. He has had charge of six state exhibits, four of which won first place at the annual National Soil Products exhibition. The other two exhibits placed second.

H. H. Laude, a graduate of K. S. A. C. in agronomy, with the class of 1911, will succeed Professor Wilson. Mr. Laude has been engaged with work in connection with the agronomy department at the Agricultural Mechanical College of Texas. During his work there, he was awarded the degree of master of science. E. E. Dale will be an assistant to Mr. Laude.

Mrs. Laude, formerly Miss Edna Horton, also a former student of K. S. A. C., will not be in Manhattan until late in the summer. At present she is visiting with her parents in southeastern Kansas.

DEAN POTTER WILL ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING IN MICHIGAN

Will Present a Report at the meeting

A. A. Potter, dean of the engineering division, will attend the 28th annual meeting of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, which will be held at the University of Michigan between June 29 and July 2.

Dean Potter as chairman of the institutional committee will present a report. He will also take part in the discussion of the army intelligence tests as applied to colleges and he will also take part in the discussion of the marking of students in accordance with their character and personality. Dean Potter is one of the vice presidents of the society.

DR. MACARTHUR HAS RESIGNED POSITION HERE

WILL BE PROFESSOR IN INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

HAS TAUGHT HERE SINCE 1914

President Jardine Compliments Doctor Macarthur and His Work—To Continue Teaching Through Summer Session

Dr. J. R. Macarthur of the English department of the college has accepted a position in the English department at the California Institute of Technology, at Pasadena, Calif.

DR. J. R. MACARTHUR

Doctor Macarthur will continue his work here during the summer session as he will not take up his work in California until this fall. Doctor Macarthur's mother, Mrs. E. S. Macarthur, lives in California and Doctor Macarthur will make his home with her.

Taught Here Six Years

Since 1914 Doctor Macarthur has been on the K. S. A. C. faculty roll. During this time he has taken an active part in a number of the honorary organizations as well as being a leader in various social groups. He has especially boosted the Aggie debators and has tried to push K. S. A. C. to the front in oratory and debate.

Doctor Macarthur is the national president of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic fraternity and he is also the editor of the Forensic, Pi Kappa Delta's national publication. He is a member of the Forum, Phi Alpha Tau, an honorary public speaking fraternity, the Kansas Author's club, P. E. E., a society for the promotion of English education, and the social fraternity of Sigma Phi Epsilon. He is president of the Kansas Association of Teachers of English and he is chairman of the committee on student affairs and of the committee on oratory and debate.

Students Seek His Advice

It has been said that Doctor Macarthur's advice is sought by the students more than the advice of any other professor in the college. The boys and girls both like to go to him for he knows them all and keeps in close touch with what each one is doing.

"During his six years' connection with the college Doctor Macarthur has been much more than a professor of English and acting head of the English department," Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of K. S. A. C. said in commenting upon his resignation. "In addition to fulfilling the duties of his office he has made himself invaluable to the institution as a willing worker and cooperator with other members of the faculty. Doctor Macarthur has been one of the best teachers in the college, occupying a place that cannot be filled.

"As a friend to every student and faculty member, he will have our sincere good will and best wishes for success in his new position."

INSTALLING NEW TOOLS IN ENGINEERING SHOPS

PURCHASE $40,000 OF MACHINE TOOLS FROM GOVERNMENT

Tools Are Practically New as Government Bought Them Just Before Signing of Armistice

The college is now installing in the engineering shops about $40,000 of machine tools, which were purchased from the government at a price of about 15 cents on the dollar, as based upon the cost to the government.

A large portion of these tools are either new or practically so as they were bought shortly before the signing of the armistice, and the government did not have an opportunity to use them.

The engineering shops at the college have always been considered well equipped, but with these additional tools they will be in much better condition to give laboratory instructions.

The machine tools purchased are of the latest development in tool manufacture. These tools will enable the mechanical engineering students of the college to become familiar with the most modern processes of manufacture.

VETERINARY STAFF TEST THE STATE INSTITUTION CATTLE

Give the Tubercular Test to 550 Animals

All of the cattle of the various state institutions were given the tubercular test a few weeks ago by the members of the college veterinary staff.

There are 10 state institutions having a total of 550 animals. The test is administered annually, usually at about this time of the year. The test does not affect the healthy cattle, but in the diseased animal a marked change is noticed in the way of a feverish attack. This attack usually comes on about 12 hours after the tuberculin is administered.

Any animal showing a trace of the disease is immediately disposed of, as no tubercular cattle are allowed in any of the state institutions.

"Fran" Welch, B. S., who graduated from Kansas State normal in '18, and who has been doing extension work the past year at K. S. A. C., has been elected to succeed John Clark as assistant in the agriculture department at the state normal. In addition he will coach the Roosevelt high school athletics next fall. While in school at the Normal he won letters an all the major sports and was star quarterback, was a member of the "K" club and of the Phi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

Everett Willis is at Ransom, where he is working in the harvest fields.

CAST FOR THE SUMMER TERM FARCE CHOSEN

THREE BOYS AND THREE GIRLS ARE GIVEN PARTS

FARCE TO BE GIVEN ON JULY 23

Is Under Direction of Professor Emermson—Dramatic Classes Will Also Assist with Organization and Coaching

The cast has been chosen and practice is well started for the three act farce "Her Husband's Wife," which is to be given Friday evening, July 23, by the summer school students of the college.

The final tryouts for the choosing of the cast was held Monday afternoon. The following students have been given parts in the play: Miss Denise Baudry, Atchison; Miss Anna Best, Miss Edith Haines, Oscar Steanson, Harold Batchelor, and Herbert McClelland of Manhattan.

The farce portrays a chapter from the life of a young married couple. The part of Irene, the wife is played by Miss Baurdry. Irene is certain that she is on the verge of the grave, but before she leaves this world she insists upon choosing a future wife for her handsome young husband. She chooses Miss Ladew whose part will be played by Miss Anna Best.

The young wife believes that she is choosing a plain domestic little lady as her predecessor, but——. Oh well you can decide for yourself as to the plainess of "Her Husband's Wife."

Miss Edith Haines will play the part of Nora the maid. The young husband will be no other than Oscar Steanson, who took a part in the "Fortune Hunter" which was given by the college several years ago.

Harold Batchelor will play the part of Dick, the brother of Irene, and Herbert McClellen will take the part of Uncle John. Harold Batchelor and Herbert McClelland have both taken parts in former college plays. Batchelor had a part in "Daddies" which was given Festival week and McClelland played in "Seven Keys to Baldpate" which was given last winter.

The farce will be under the direction of Prof. J. G. Emerson, head of the public speaking department. Professor Emersons' classes will also assist with the organization and with the coaching of the farce.

Keep-Kool Frolic

A mid-summer keep-kool frolic will be held in Recreation center Friday, July 2. This is the second of the number of entertainments planned by the summer school entertainment committee for the students.

There will be a program, the musical and otherwise kind, also refreshments will be served. Prof. E. G. Emerson, chairman of the committee, says there will be a contest of some kind and the winner will get to stand in the dairy refrigerator for 10 minutes. After these activities the crowd will have to follow the words of Professor H. W. Davis, "the floor will be so slippery that it will be necessary to move to the music in order to remain standing."

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Student Newspaper of the Kansas State Agricultural College

CLEMENTINE PADDLEFORD.....Editor

FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1920

COOPERATION MEANS SUCCESS

The Kansas State Collegian staff wishes to extend a cordial welcome to students who have come to the Kansas State Agricultural college to take advantage of the summer school courses. The staff wishes it were possible to welcome every students personally but since this is impossible it will extend in this way good wishes for a successful summer's work and express at this time the hope that as many students as possible will try and plan to return in September for next year's work.

The school year of 1920-21 promises to be a greater year than this school has ever known. With an unending growth in all of the departments on the hill, together with an increasing number of instructors on the faculty, better opportunities are being provided for the incoming student body. Every summer school student is urged to consider this in making plans for the winter and also to try and come for at least one semester's work.

The enrolment for the coming school year will undoubtedly be greater than it has ever been before, and it is going to be a big year in every sense of the word. Every new student who comes to Manhattan to school next fall will be glad he chose this school.

The cooperation of every summer school student is welcomed. If any student can offer constructive criticism, which will be an advantage in making the summer sessions work more helpful to the students, he is urged to do so. These suggestions should be given to E. L. Holton, dean of the summer school or to President W. M. Jardine.

Dean Holton has expressed the desire, that students who can suggest any plans which will better the present summer school methods, will confer with him about the matter. The college is anxious that the work for the summer may be made both practical and inspirational. In order that the work may be a complete success the college students and the faculty must cooperate in working out the summer plans.

EVERYBODY'S DUTY

The Aggie campus is considered to be one of the most artistic college or university campus in the western states. The work of man aided by the work of nature has changed a bare Kansas hill into a spot of beauty—the K. S. A. C. campus.

The college campus presents to the observing student an ever changing panorama, beginning in early spring and lasting until the fall of the last autumn leaf. The hot days of June bring compensation to the summer school student in the way of hydrangeas, and white sheep berries, as well as beds filled with castor beans, cannas, vincas, salvia, petunias, and foliage.

The majority of students gaze in admiration at the smooth green lawns broken only by the artistic windings of campus walks and drives, or by a clump of trees whose deeper green gives a contrast of color most pleasing to the eye. About the campus may be seen the grey green hills, whose outline is half shrouded by the blue mist which appears to hang over the valley.

But nature has been aided by brains and brawn in making our campus what it is. The horticultural department has for years spent time and money in changing a Kansas cornfield into a college campus.

The students take especial pride in their campus, and it is through their assistance that the K. S. A. C. grounds retain their lovliness. A number of Aggie traditions have partly come about through the efforts of the students to keep the campus in tip top condition.

Why do the students not smoke on the campus? Of course there are many reasons, but one of the best, is that cigarette and cigar stubs would litter the campus with ugliness. "Do not walk on the grass," is a hard and stringent tradition, especially is it hard for the student who has a tendency to be late to first hour. But short cuts make ugly paths which destroy the harmonious unity of the grounds. "Do not pick the flowers," "do not throw trash or papers upon the walks or grounds," these and numerous other laws or traditions were not made by the K. S. A. C. faculty, but by the students themselves, in order to maintain our Aggie garden of attractiveness.

The college traditions are not only for the regular college students but for the summer session students as well. The campus must be kept attractive the year around. It gives to the summer students the pleasure of observing its changing beauty and in return they must respect the campus traditions.

LOOK INTO THIS

Dear Editor: "As a man thinketh in his heart so he is."

This holds true even in the land of playless days and sleepless nights, the world of summer school.

Our thoughts make up our lives. What our thoughts are so will our actions be. Thoughts and actions make the man. A large per cent of the students come to summer school with the idea that it is a place where thick dead histories, dry lectures, dateless evenings, and sleepless nights take up the undivided attention of the student body.

A large number of the poor deluded souls are thinking just these things. Thoughts control their actions and the consequence is that they wander in a daze of indifference from one class to another. To them school is "duecedly boring."

My advice is snap out of the trance before you waste the whole summer of fun. For if one only thinks so, summer school is as full of pleasant things as the regular school term. Anyhow if you were not in school you might be home canning tomatoes for Ma, or pitching hay for Pa. Be glad you have the chance to come. Quit growling about being bored for its your own fault.

Remember the world is as bright as you think it is.—An Optimist.

Dear Editor: Upon observation you will find that certain types of persons are found in every audience. We have for instance; the man who goes to sleep and makes you nervous because he doesn't brush the fly off his nose; the girl whose interest is in direct proportion to the speed with which she chews her gum; and the person directly ahead of you, who coughs several times in succession, just at the most interesting point of the speech.

But it isn't the gum chewer or the twister that distracts the speaker, for such minor annoyances are merely the ear marks of indentification, and serve to reassure the speaker that the audience is an audience, and not a mob or a Bolshevist convention. The individual that proves the most irritating to a speaker as well as to the audience is the one who leaves before the lecture is finished.

It may be that the lecture is not as interesting as it promised to be, or that the speaker forgets to close in due time. If you took a chance on the lecture being interesting, be game enough to see it through.

The men scheduled to appear at the chapel this summer, in connection with the citizenship course, are men of unusual talent and high attainment, and their discussions of pressing industrial and economic problems, should be of real interest to everyone at this time.

When we attend these chapel talks let us try to give the speaker our best attention. If you simply must, twist and squirm to your hearts content, but for the sake of the Aggies reputation stay in your seat until the lecture is over and chapel is dismissed.—Chronic Fault-finder.

Dear Editor: I am a poor working girl in private life, but in public circles I am known as the Office Dog of the Kansas State Collegian. This fact accounts for my having inside information on the letter written by the Chronic Fault-finder. I understand perfectly how the C. F. feels about the disturbances made by early exiters from the chapel service, but I feel that in order that I live up to my oath of allegiance, which I have given to the Hash-Slingers union, that I must speak. Here is my story:

There are a number of students who work during the noon hour, that is from 11:30 until 1:00 o'clock,and it is a pretty safe bet that you'll always find these students attending chapel. The trouble is that they all have to be out of the auditorium by 11:15 in order that they may reach their place of service at the appointed hour.

The other day in the midst of Judge Huggins' eloquence I was forced with five other members of the aforementioned Hash-Slinger's union to get up and leave the lecture at 11:15 o'clock. I felt in my mortification that we must look like a bunch of Reds, who were leaving early in order to bomb the building.

The Chronic Fault-finder is perfectly justified in his complaint against the person who leaves the lecture before it's completion, that is, if he is positive that they are leaving because they are being bored to tears. But on the other hand it is pretty safe to say that any student who goes to chapel and stays for three-fourths of the program will not leave 10 or 15 minutes before the completion of the exercise, unless he hears stern duty calling from the steam counter, yea, even the cash register.

And so, Dear Editor, I rise to point of order, with all due respect to my fellow countryman, Mr. C. F., and ask that he be a little more patient with the majority of the early exiters at the chapel exercises.—The Collegian's Office Dog.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Alumni Picnic

Miss Minnie Romick, '94, writes that the South California alumni of K. S. A. C. will hold their annual picnic on June 26, at Sycamore Grove near Los Angeles, Cal. All Kansas friends of K. S. A. C. are invited.

Tri Delta Dinner Party

Miss Grace Ratliff entertained with a three course dinner party at her home at 723 Huston, on Monday evening, June 14, in honor of Miss Burdette Tegmeier, who left June 15 for Los Angeles, Cal. The guests of the party were the members of the Delta Delta Delta fraternity who are spending the summer in town. Covers were laid for, Miss Mildred Sterling, Miss Marjorie Fisher, Miss Gertrude Conroy, Miss Hilda Harland, Miss Burdette Tegmeier, and Miss Grace Ratliff.

After the dinner the party motored to Maple Leaf where they spent the early part of the evening swimming. The latter part of the evening was spent in dancing at the Delta Delta Delta fraternity home.

Cate—Crabtree

Miss Dora Cate of Manhattan, and Mr. Warren E. Crabtree of Scott City, were married Friday morning, June 4, at the home of the bride's parents 203 North Fourteenth street, by the Rev. J. M. McClelland.

Mr. and Mrs. Crabtree were both members of the 1920 K. S. A. C. graduating class. Mrs. Crabtree was a member of Zeta Kappa Phi, Forum, Ionian literary society, Theta Sigma Phi, W. A. A., and the Aggie Press club. Mr. Crabtree was a member of the Block and Bridle club. He was also snap shot editor for the class annual.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Crabtree left for a short wedding trip. After June 15 they will make their home in Twin Falls, Idaho, where Mr. Crabtree will teach vocational agriculture in the high school.

Foberg—Wessen

Miss Selma Foberg and Mr. Vernon Wessen were married Monday, June 7. Mrs. Wessen was until recently the assistant of Dean H. Umberger of the extension division of the college. Mr. and Mrs. Wessen will make their home in Chicago.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED NEEDY EX-SERVICE MEN

GIVEN TO MEMBERS OF THE METHODIST CHURCH

Three Aggie Students Received Scholarships Last Year—Applications Must be in by November 1

Word has recently been received that the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist chruch has arranged to continue the offer of scholarships to any needy Methodist student who was in service during the world war, including the S. A. T. C.

These scholarships will be awarded before November 1, and are likely to be awarded in the order of presentation, hence it is desirable that application be made at an early date

Three Aggie students that received this recognition last year were C. E. Hutto, J. O. Brown, and F. J. Peters.

Any student applying for war emergency scholarship aid for the school year 1920-1921 must meet the following general conditions: he must have received honorable discharge from service under the United States government or its allies during the recent world war; he must be a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, or in its constituency; he must show promise of useful service and leadership in the life of the community in which he resides; he must furnish a statement of his financial resources for the year, which will show needs of additional funds; and he must meet specific conditions and requirements as outlined on the application blanks.

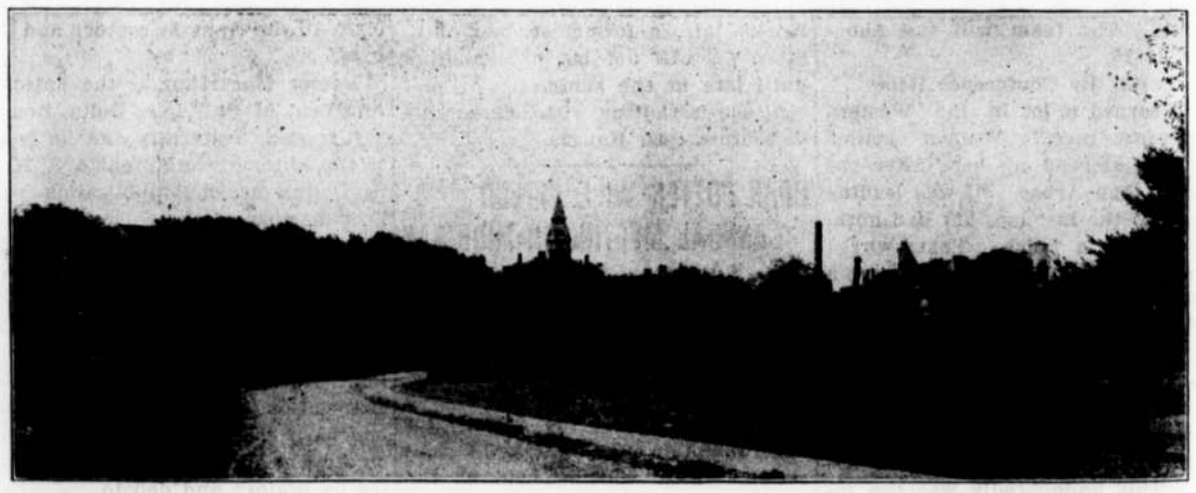

No application for aid this coming year can be considered later than November 1, 1920. It is expected that more will be recognized this year.

For further information on this subject, students are advised to see Prof. R. R. Price, who is chairman of the committee that has this matter in charge for the local church and college.

Glenn Oliver and F. A. Hennessy, both graduates of the class in agriculture, 1920, are enroled in summer school taking professional work to qualify for state teachers' certificates.

S. A. Watson, graduate in agriculture this spring, has been elected head of the department of agriculture, Wilmington college, Wilmington, Ohio. He is enroled in summer school taking some work that will be of value to him in his new position. He and Mrs. Watson will start for Wilmington, Ohio, about August 1.

One of the First Cement Roads Built in the State

For eight years joy riders have sped recklessly over the campus speedway, coal trucks have gritted their iron wheels over the smooth surface; but the drive, one of the oldest concrete roads in the state, has resisted the hard usage. Today the road is almost as perfect as when it was first built.

This campus road sometimes referred to as the campus spedway is one of the most picturesque drives on the college grounds. In 1912 it was decided that the old dirt road, the main drive, was to be paved and the pavement was to be made of cement.

In 1912 cement drives were seldom seen in the state. For in Kansas cement roads were in the experimental stage of their existence. The American Portland Cement manufacturers were interested in the road as an experiment and they furnished the cement free.

Each year the road is carefully examined and after eight years of hard usage the drive is still in an almost perfect condition.

When the old grads come back they point with admiration to the cement drive, and whisper to baby Tom:

"Look Tommie, at the old road where Dad and Mother used to speed."

ENGINEERING STUDENTS IN GREAT DEMAND NOW

POSITIONS NOW OPEN FOR THE SUMMER

Students of Engineering Division Who Graduated This Spring All Found Positions

The engineering division of the college has had many more calls for junior and senior electrical and mechanical engineers than could be supplied.

E. J. Curtiss, engineer for the Empire Gasoline company at Bartlesville, Okla., wired to the engineering division Wednesday, June 9, asking for five or six junior electorial or mechanical engineers for employment with his company. The salary offered was $115 a month and expenses.

The Doherty company of New York City also wired to the division asking for junior electorial or mechanical engineering students to work for the summer in the companies' plants at Salina, Hutchinson, and in other parts of Kansas.

Various railroads, state highway commissions, and manufacturing companies have also called for more students for summer employment, than the division could supply.

All of the students who completed the curriculum in engineering last May were placed or given opportunity to locate with several concerns many weeks before commencement.

H. V. HARLAN FORMER AGGIE GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

Tells of Experiences in Southern Europe

H. V. Harlan, a graduate from the division of agriculture, class of '04, gave an illustrated lecture on "Conditions in Southern Europe" at the Auditorium Thursday evening, June 17.

Mr. Harlan has been associated with the United States department of agriculture, and in the spring of "19, at the suggestion of Mr. Hoover, Harlan and two other men from the department, were sent over to secure an authentic and accurate report of crop acreage and production in Southern Europe, with a view to providing a market for American wheat available for export.

Approximately 5,000 miles were traversed by Mr. Harlan, including parts of France, Itlay, the Balkan countries, Poland, Russia, Austria Hungary, Germany, and Belgium.

Following the talk, the speaker visited with a number of his former friends among the faculty. Mr. Harlan was previously employed as an instructor in the Normal school at Iloilo, Panay, P. I.

Speaks at the Convention

Professor E. F. Ferrin, of the animal husbandry department of the college, spoke last week at Chicago, to an international convention of feed manufacturers, which was held there, under the auspices of the American Feed Manufacturers' Association. Feed manufacturers from several different countries were present or represented. Professor Ferrin spoke on the subject, "Some Matters of Consequence Often Overlooked in the Feeding of Hogs."

To Harvest Fields

Homer G. Beatty, student in agricultural engineering, P. E. Neale, '20, George W. Hinds and Jack Evans, students in animal husbandry, left Manhattan June 11 for the harvest fields.

They drove through to Winfield, where they spent the week end with some fraternity brothers. From there they went to Harper, where they found work. One of the boys writes that they started heading June 19, and that there was plenty of work to be done in the harveset fields. All of the boys, with the exception of Neale, will be back in school next fall.

J. V. Cortelyou, professor of modern languages, at the college, and family, will leave for California within a few days. They intend to make the trip in their automobile, camping, fishing, and visiting points of interest along the way. They will visit relatives at Los Angeles.

Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department of the college, addressed the convention of the American Horse Association last week in session at Kansas City, speaking at a banquet at the Hotel Baltimore at which more than 400 members of the association, interested in the breeding and handling of good horses and mules, were present.

Everybody who gets married thinks, down deep in his heart, that he is going to get away with it just a little bit better than anybody else ever did—or ever will.

A Good Pair

Little grains of common sense,
Little drops of sweat,
Make a mighty partnership,
The strongest you can get.

A woman may be as old as she looks, but she is never as young as she acts.

People who maintain that near-beer is better than none, have not given none a fair trial.

A good restaurant is one that keeps something fresh besides the girls that take your order.

Men who are good at housework are good for just one thing more than those who are good for nothing.

For every voice that ought to be trained, there are several that ought not.

All About Heart Balm

Heart balm is boodle paid in regret by a well-to-do old codger who should have known better than to mistake a vamp for a victim. It is asked for in dignified courts by tear-stained baby dolls who pretend to have believed the foolish nothings they worked the tottering old boys into saying. The amount of heart balm is determined by the impression that the little lady makes on the soft-headed jury. Often a man is glad to pay alimony, but he can never see any reason for heart balm.

A city farmer can raise more wheat on two sheets of paper, than a man who knows what he is talking about can raise on a section of the best land in the country.

Man's Wants

Man wants but little here below: a motor car or two, a million dollars in the bank, a sky that's always blue; he is content with richest foods and garments choice and rare, and when it's hot he'll worry long with drafts of ice-cooled air.

Man wants a wife that's always sweet and never answers back, whose house is trim and beautiful, whose efforts never slack. He does not growl if she will watch each minute of the day, to see that naught disturbs him at his paper, meals, or play.

Yes, man is modest in his wants and happy when the right winds blow; and when he has all he can see, man wants but little here below.

Hot Weather Hints

Shimmie on your own side.

Muzzle the pup and send your wife to the country.

Don't argue—run!

Wear cool clothes ,if any.

Avoid politics, religion, and relatives—as topics of conversation.

Don't cuss or fret or fuss or fume—or fan.

It's a great life—
Don't weaken.

BATHING SUITS AND GYM BLOOMERS ARE POPULAR

SIXTY GIRLS ARE ENROLED FOR PHYSICAL TRAINING

Pool Is Open to All Girls in Summer School—Swimming Carnival to Be Held in July

Are bathing suits and gym bloomers to be worn on the campus this summer?

This was the question asked by a little dark eyed girl who was enroling for the summer session.

"Indeed they are, honey," was the reply given by the dean of women.

The dean was right for gym bloomers and bathing suits are to be seen every day in the Nichols gymnasium and are a necessary part of the school wardrobe of 60 girls enroled in summer school. The women's physical educational work didn't end with the close of the regular school year; but is being taught this summer.

The swimming classes and the interpretative dancing classes have the largest enrolment among the courses taught. There is no credit given for the work in swimming. The pool is open every day in the week at 4 o'clock and every girl enroled in the summer school is free to use the pool provided she has a doctor's health certificate.

About the middle of July the girls taking the work in swimming will give a swimming carnival. The carnival will consist of races, dives, and special water stunts. The girls winning first, second, and third places in the carnival will be given prizes.

There are two courses offered by the department for teachers who expect to teach gym work in either the grades or in high school. These courses include the work in folk dancing and in games.

Milling Department Doesn't Make Cakes But, Oh, the Bread

Baking day is as ordinary an occurence to the milling department of the Kansas State Agricultural college as it is to the house wife who bakes her own bread.

The milling department doesn't make pies and cakes on baking day, but limits its culinary art entirely to the baking of bread. This bread is not baked to be eaten, but to be looked at, examined, admired, and criticised by specialists.

Since 1912, each year the department has been baking two loaves of bread from flour made from each of the various varieties of wheat raised on the college farm. After the baking the loaves are tested in order that the wheat from which they were made may be judged as to its bread baking properties.

"Wheat is primarily raised for the purpose of making flour from which to bake bread," said Miss Leila Dunton of Manhattan, who has charge of the baking of the loaves, "therefore we consider it necessary to know the baking value of each variety of wheat."

Each year about 80 varieties of wheat are tested. This means a baking of 160 loaves of bread on the annual baking days. After the baking the loaves are tested for size, color, and texture. Bread made from Kharkof wheat flour is used as a standard or measure of comparison.

After the last baking has been taken from the oven, Miss Dunton stood looking proudly at the long rows of hot brown loaves. She pointed to four large well browned loaves and remarked:

"Those loaves are baked from Turkey wheat flour, and for eight years, since 1912, Turkey wheat flour has averaged first in bread baking qualities."

She further explained, that during the eight years of bread testing Kharkof wheat flour has averaged second and Kanred flour has averaged third for bread baking purposes.

Students who pass the door of the milling department kitchen on baking day look with hungry eyes at the long rows of hot bread. But the large brown loaves were not baked to be eaten, they were baked to be criticised.

Charles Cloud, a sophomore here in '18, is taking special work in summer school in preparation for teaching next year. Mr. Cloud has accepted a position in the Douglas high school, teaching agriculture and manual training at $200 per month.

R. A. Armstrong ,a graduate of the mechanical engineering class of '09, arrived last week to begin his new duties as instructor in the applied mechanics department of the engineering division.

A. L. Myers of Windom, who completed the work of the curriculum in agriculture the first semester of the college year 1919-20, spent the month of May studying agricultural conditions in the Canadian wheat belt where he may locate later. For the rest of the present season he will continue the management of the home farm at Windom.

Clarence E. Browning, who graduated with the class of 1920 in electrical engineering, has accepted a position with the General Electric company of Schenectady, New York. He will work in testing department, testing different electrical machinery. He expects to leave about June 20, and arrive in New York on June 25.

S. D. Flora, state meterologist, of the United States weather bureau, attended the session of the Kansas State Farm Bureau association, held here on June 8.

Bruce S. Wilson, assistant in charge of the cooperative experiments section of the agronomy department and H. H. Laude, who is to take Professor Wilson's place soon, will leave shortly for a trip over the state, for harvesting cooperative experiments of wheat and oats. They will be gone several weeks.

Prof. L. V. White of the civil engineering department, has gone to Charleston, Mo., to take charge of the survey, plans, and estimates for the Wolf Island drainage and levee district, comprising about 5,000 acres.

Homer Willis, '21, has accepted a position as county agent with headquarters at Medicine Lodge.

Eric Englund, graduate of Oregon Agricultural college, and having a masters' degree from the University of Wisconsin, is teaching agricultural economics at the college during the summer term.

H. H. Laude arrived from Beaumont, Tex., last week to take charge of farm demonstration work in the department of agronomy succeeding C. C. Cunningham, who resigned April 1. Mr. Laude formerly had charge of the Texas experiment substation at Beaumont.

J. O. Hamilton, professor of physics, and Mrs. Hamilton, will leave June 16 on a trip which will include Washington, D. C., and other eastern cities. The special objectives of the trip, however, are the chemistry laboratories of Yale and Harvard, which the professor will visit and study.

G. C. Anderson, student in the dairy department, returned from minnesota last week. Mr. Anderson attended the Holstein-Friesian sale at St. Paul, and supervised some milk test conducted by the American Guernsey Cattle company at that place.

F. W. Atkinson, instructor of dairy husbandry, has left the dairy department of the college. He is going to Kansas City to become field man for the Southwestern Jersey Breeders' association.

THREE HISTORY COURSES OFFERED AT EARLY HOUR

AMERICAN HISTORY LECTURES ARE GIVEN

Professor Iles Teaching Two New Courses—Professor James Has Early Morning Class

The department of history and civics is offering three courses before the first hour this summer.

Professor Price of the department of history and civics, is giving a course in American history from 7 to 8 each Tuesday and Thursday morning in which there is neither recitation nor quizzes. The course is intended for the general public or for teachers of American history.

It is based on the note book prepared by Professor Price, published by the state and approved for use in the high schools of Kansas. Anybody may secure a permit to attend these lectures by calling at Dean Holton's office.

Professor Iles is offering two new courses this summer in community civics, one class meets from 7 to 8 in the morning and carries college credit. The other class meets from 8 to 9 in the morning and is offered primarily for the boys who are under the federal board for vocational education.

Professor James is conducting a class in current history from 7 to 8 each Monday and Saturday morning. This course is evidently popular as it is one of the largest classes on the Hill this summer.

NEXT N. A. S. E. MEETING WILL BE ELECTION NIGHT

Last Meeting Was at College June 15

Reports from the state convention of the National Association of Stationary Engineers, were received at the last meeting of the Manhattan chapter of the association, held in the ampitheatre of the engineering building of the college Tuesday night, June 15. Reports were made by A. E. Groesbeck, H. L. Eshbaugh, of the college, and John Rolander, also of the college.

The annual election of officers for the Manhattan chapter will be made at the next regular meeting, which is to be held at the college on the evening of June 29. At the same time a delegate to the national convention of the association will be elected. The national convention is to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., in August.

Have Ripe Bananas

Summer school students do not need to go to Florida to see bananas growing. In the college greenhouse there are a number of ripe bananas on the banana tree. Students should take the opportunity to see them now as they are not likely to be there long, and next year the banana tree will be dead, as banana trees do not live after bearing fruit.

Into Chautauqua Work

J. E. Kammeyer, professor of economics in the Kansas State Agricultural college, has gone into chautauqua work for the summer with his son. Professor Kammeyer will lecture on the economical condition of the country. He expects to make several tours over the state of Kansas during the summer season. He will return to K. S. A. C. next fall to take up his duties here.

W. G. Bruce, director of vocational agriculture in the Clay county high school, is enroled in summer school. He expects to complete the requirements this summer for the degree of bachelor of science in agriculture with the class of 1920.

Prof. R. G. Kloeffler of the engineering experiment station of the college has just prefected a new type of electric range which promises to attract wide attention.

AGGIES WIN THE VALLEY BASEBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

WIN 12 GAMES OUT OF 16 PLAYED

Washington Wins Second Place—Ames Takes Third Place in Conference With K. U. Fourth

The Missouri valley championship has at last been conceded to the Aggie nine after a victorious season in which the Aggies won 12 out of 16 games.

For a time the Farmers held only third place in the championship race and Washington was in the lead. Both Washington and K. S. A. C. lost four games, but the Aggies had won 12 games to Washington's nine, thus giving the Aggies the higher average.

It was announced a short time ago that Kansas university was a contender for the title, but as she has lost seven conference games this year she had little chance. Two of the lost Kansas games went to Missouri, two to the Aggies, and two to Drake.

Ames took third place in the conference, with K. U. ranking a close fourth. The contestants were very evenly matched and this made the games both interesting and exciting.

The four games dropped by the Aggies were all lost at the end of trips. The first two went to Washington and the next two went to Kansas university. The team played a 13-inning tie with the Oklahoma university, at Norman, and the game was called only in time to allow the team to catch the train to keep the date with K. U., which proved disastrous for the Aggies.

The Aggie team has given the credit for its success to Coach Z. G. Clevenger, whose fighting spirit kept the Aggie nine working for the valley victory, even when the championship seemed impossible.

The following men played on the Aggie baseball team this spring: Luke Guilfoyle, catcher, Wamego; L. A. Magrath, pitcher, Williamsburg; M. L. Otto, pitcher, Riley; F. E. Dicherson, first base; and H. Burton, second base, Wichita; A. W. Quinlan, short stop, Lyons; C. F. Mershon, third base, Oakley; E. R. Cowell, left field, Clay Center; J. C. Snapp, center field, Manhattan; W. M. Agnew, right field, Yates Center; W. C. Cowell, right field, Clay Center. Guilfoyle has been elected captain of next year's team.

OTHER COLLEGES

The Cornell University is making an endowment drive. The national campaign total, up to the present time is $4,784,593.84. The undergraduates have raised $904,734.84. Pledges have been received from 2,395 students up to date.

The honor system was adopted by an almost unanimous vote by the Associated Students of the University of Washington.

Fillipino students at the University of Illinois average higher than other nationalities in scholastic standing, according to statistics compiled by Doctor Creek, foreign student advisor, Russian students rank second. The high standing of the students from the Philippines is thought to be due to their additional training in the use of English before they leave their native land.

At the Grinnell college statistics show that only 37 per cent of the students attend chapel services.

Dickerson Hall and Marqaund Chapel at Princeton were completely destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. It is estimated that the cost of replacing the buildings will be at least $500,000. Both buildings were covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is not known.

The Yale Dramatic association presented King Henry Fourth, part one, at commencement exercises which were held June 19.

The tradition-breakers at the University of California are to be hauled before a court and jury of their peers to answer for crimes, ranging in magnitude from making fun of the senior cap and gown, to a superfluous emission of tobacco juice within the sacred precincts of the campus.

At the Iowa State Teachers' college the student council set a day in April for "Annual Pay Day." A committee acted as a clearing house for all collectors, debtors and creditors. Societies, classes, and organizations of all kind were privileged to have their bills collected free of charge.

With all copy ready for the printers, Purdue university was forced to abandon its annual this year on account of a shortage of enameled print paper which is used for the book.

The officers of the Washington university of St. Louis, Mo., have announced that, due to the high cost of maintenance and of securing teachers, increases in tuition, fees, teacher's salaries and room rents will be in effect next fall when school opens.

Indiana university graduates in New York City held a big dinner last week to commemorate the hundredth natal day of their alma mater.

The Cracow university has conferred an honorary degree on Herbert Hoover for services rendered in Poland.

Prof. L. W. Jones, dean of the department of chemistry of the University of Minnesota has accepted the chair as professor of organic chemistry at Princeton.

KANRED WHEAT INSPECTION TOUR IS MADE OVER STATE

WILL LOCATE STATE SUPPLY OF PURE KANRED SEED

Will Begin Work in Sumner, Barber and Sedgwick Counties—Inspection Is Conducted by Agronomy Department

W. R. Harder, A. E. Cook, and E. H. Teagarden, senior in the division of agriculture, left June 8 on a tour for inspection of Kanred wheat throughout the principal wheat growing counties of the state.

The inspection is conducted by the agronomy department of the college, directed by S. C. Salmon, professor of farm crops, and is under the auspices of the Kansas Crop Improvement association.

The purpose of the inspection is to locate the supply of pure seed. The inspectors will commence their work in Sumner, Barber, and Sedgwick counties, and will each proceed along a scheduled route, a definite territory being allotted to each.

This work is to be carried out annually, and growers of Kanred wheat, who desire to have their wheat inspected, must make application through the agronomy department in advance. Applications from more than 300 farmers were received for this year, and numerous requests for Kanred seed wheat for next fall, have already been received by Professor Salmon; two requests from South Dakota, each asking for a carload were recently received by the department.

It is estimated that approximately one half million acres were seeded to Kanred last fall. From three to four weeks will be required to complete the work of inspection.

Miss Ethel Switzer, a K. S. A. C. graduate, who has been teaching home economics at Belleplain, is attending the summer session. Miss Switzer will enter into Smith-Hughes work at Wakefield this winter.

DR. WILBUR MASON TELLS STATE PRISON CONDITIONS

UPHOLDS HONOR SYSTEM WHICH IS NOW IN FORCE

Twenty-Seven State Penal Institutions Under States Board of Administration

"The exploitation, by the state, of the labor of people who have gone wrong is a relic of the dark ages; nevertheless it is still carried on in this century by the state penitentiary," declared Dr. Wilbur N. Mason, senior member of the State Board of Administration in an address given as the second number of the citizenship course at the college auditorium last week.

Doctor Mason explained that in the state penitentiary the prisoners are put to work producing coal and twine for the state, while their families are forced to appeal to the county or to charitable organizations for aid. Doctor Mason spent two days and nights as an inmate of the penitentiary at Leavenworth where he investigated conditions and talked to the prisoners.

Doctor Mason upheld the honor system which is in force in the state penal institutions. In his talk he defined the duty of the state toward the prisoner.

"Last year, to relieve the labor shortage during the wheat harvest, 80 men were paroled to work in the harvest fields,' said Doctor Mason. "Of these 80 prisoners only four tailed to return voluntarily and two of these were afterwards apprehended. Out of 75 sent out from the state reformatory at Hutchinson not one failed to return. All of these men earned money for the support of their families or homes."

Doctor Mason explained that previous to 1917 there existed three separate boards for the educational, the charitable, and the correctional institutions respectively. In July 1917, these boards were combined under the present Board of Administration, consisting of the governor and four members appointed by the governor, subject to confirmation by the state senate. Twenty-seven state institutions are at present under the control of the board. Referring to the wisdom of so combining the three boards, he said in part:

"There is no incongruity in this grouping together of these three classes of institutions: the fundamental mission of educational institutions is to train and educate people, not as walking encyclopedias, but to function intelligently as citizens. The duty of state correctional institutions is to train and discipline people who have gone wrong, for the duties of citizenship, to teach and develop individuality, honor, and trust inside the institution that they may fulfill their obligations to society when they get outside of the prison walls. Too often the State Industrial School for boys, at Toepka is the grade school, the high school,, and Lansing, the University of Crimes."

"The guiding principal of the board," said Doctor Mason in closing,' "is first of all the health and welfare, and the value of life under our care, and if we can save some of the human wreckage, and develop from the embryo of little promises better character, we shall consider the work of the board well worth while."

Testing Road Materials

In the engineering laboratory of the college, ten men are now giving their full time to the testing of road materials for the various counties of the state. R. A. Seaton, head of the department of applied mechanics and director of road materials and investigations for the K. S. A. C. engineering exepriment station, has this work under his supervision.

The New Aggie Coach is Clever Bachelor Man

Unmarried, height six feet, black eyes, black curly hair, a recognized athlete of ability—What more could the feminine world of K. S. A. C. ask in a man?

This is the brief personality sketch of Charles W. Bachman, Notre Dame football star and coach player in the championship Great Lakes Training Station Service team, the newly elected head coach of the Kansas Aggies.

Of course it wasn't mentioned that Bachman has a stubborn chin and a determined mouth, for these two qualities characterize every good coach. Anyhow this story is for the K. S. A. C. coeds and faculty women whose name still begins with a Miss, and ladies don't admire a subborn chin, especially on a man.

Broad shoulders and broad high forehead indicate that Bachman is a real man. No there is nothing effeminite about this young Hercules. But now comes the sad part of the story, Coach Bachman has big feet The fair graceful coeds and teachers tremble in the fear that the curly headed, dark eyed bacthelor will be a deplorable dancer.

Still when one considers that Bachman was a star trackman at Notre Dame there seems to be a fair chance that he may prove as nimble on the dance floor as on the cinder path.

The Aggie athletic board was not considering the likes and dislikes of the college women when they chose the new coach from among the 40 candidates. They didn't even notice that he was good looking, or even that he has black eyes and curly hair. They considered the record that Bachman had made as an athlete and this record is a remarkable one.

While a student at Notre Dame he played almost every position on the football team—guard, tackle, fullback, and end. On the championship Great Lakes team he played center and guard. He was also a star track man at Notre Dame.

The co-eds read of his glories on the cinder path and the gridiron, they read and forget. But they study the picture of the man himself, they study and remember—this is leap year.

FARM BUREAU MEN HAVE MONTHLY MEETING HERE

DEFINITE PLANS MADE TO ATTACK HARVEST PROBLEM

Next Monthly Meeting of State Farm Bureau Officials Will Be Held in Ames June 22

The harvest labor problem was the first tackled when the state executive committee of the Kansas State Farm bureau met in their regular monthly meeting at the college, June 8, in the offices of the general secretary of the state bureau.

Definite plans were made for the cooperation of four agencies in securing laborers for Kansas, and getting them distributed. The four agencies are: the Federal Labor bureaus in the large cities outside the state; the Kansas State Free Labor bureau under the direction of Commissioner J. M. Gilman of Leavenworth; the Extension Division of the Kansas State Agricultural college and the Kansas State Farm bureau.

The executive committee decided to cooperate with the Kansas State Board of Agriculture and the United States weather bureau, in collecting and issuing crop reports for the state. S. D. Flora of the United States weather bureau, state meteorologist for Kansas, and J. C. Mohler, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, were present at the meeting to discuss the plan, which will eliminate a large amount of duplication. Application, through Mr. Flora, for the sanction of the weather bureau heads at Washington, has been made.

The next regular monthly conference of state farm bureau officials is to be held at Ames, June 22. State officials of the farm bureaus of all the mid-west states, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Missouri, and Kansas will attend the conference.

PROSPECTIVE COACHES ARE OFFERED LECTURE SERIES

LECTURES COVER FOOTBALL, BASKETBALL, AND BASEBALL.

Work Primarily Designed to Instruct High School Coaches—Credit Allowed Students Finishing Course

Last week Coach Z. G. Clevenger gave the first of a series of lectures on football, basketball, baseball, track, and field work. This is a new feature of the summer school, and will be continued throughout the summer session. Credits are allowed students fulfilling the requirements of the course.

During the first six or seven weeks, on Mondays, Wednesday, and Fridays, the period from 7:30 to 9:00 o'clock will be devoted to the study of football. This work will take up tackling, punting, signals, interference, selecting of players, and in general all the angles and phases of the game. On Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8 to 9 o'clock, lectures and recitations on basketball will be given during the first four or five weeks.

The course will be conducted by means of lectures and practical demonstrations. The care and prevention of injuries and the best methods of bandaging injuries when they do occur, will receive special attention. Methods of offense and defense used by the several Missouri Valley conference teams will be studied. The last half of the course will be taken up by the study of baseball, track, and field sports.

The course was primarily designed to instruct men who plan to take up coaching in high schools or colleges, but any student interested in athletics may enrol.

WATSON WINNER BY FOUR YARDS IN SEMI-FINALS

WINS 5,000 METER RACE IN OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

FORMER AGGIE GRADUATE THIRD

Watson's Place on Olympic Team Is Almost Cinched Now—Will Run in Finals at Boston During July

Tactics go as far in track as they do in other sports, Ray Watson, Kansas Aggie Olympic team aspirant, believes. Having worked out for two weeks on the Aggie track for the mile race he went to Chicago Saturday, June 26, sized up the situation, and switched unexpectedly to the 5,000 meter event.

Wins By Four Yards

The quality of his judgment may be inferred from the result of the race. Watson won first, hitting the tape just four yards ahead of Furnas, his western conference 2-mile opponent. T. F. Forman, '19, of Kiowa, an Aggie track star of last year, ran third in the race. Forman has been in Chicago since his graduation, and ran under the colors of the Chicago Athletic association.

No one in Kansas was more surprised than Watson's Manhattan friends to see him listed in the 5,000 meter race when they read the Sunday morning papers. Even Z. G. Clevenger, Aggie athletic director, did not know for sure what event he would enter until it was all over.

20 Run in Finals

Watson wired Clevenger Thursday, June 24, asking his judgment about what to run. Clevenger telegraphed him to use his own head. C. H. Bachman, Aggie coach elect, now connected with Northwestern university, was there to advise with the Aggie runner. They looked over the field and decided to take a chance in the longer race. His place on the Olympic team is almost cinched now, although he will have to run in the finals at Boston, which are to be held next week.

ANOTHER HONOR IS ADDED TO THE NAME OF WATSON

IS ELECTED TRACK CAPTAIN FOR NEXT YEAR

Election Is Conducted by Correspondence—Coach Clevenger Believes Watson Is the Right Man for the Place

Ray Watson, Aggie track captain. Well, how does it sound?

Of course you like it. Anyhow that is what you are going to hear in the future, for this distinguishing title along with the dozen others he possesses has recently been attached to the name of Watson.

Last week the election was completed and Coach Z. G. Clevenger announced the name of the new captain. Due to the fact that the athletic season ended after the close of last semester, the track team found it impossible to meet together for the election. It was then that Coach Clevenger devised the novel method of selecting the captain by correspondence.

Coach Clevenger sent a letter to each member of the team asking him to send his votes by mail. Last week the last letter was received and the votes counted.

In referring to Watson's election Coach Clevenger said:

"Watson is just the right man to be captain and deserves the honor in every respect."

Dr. Nabours Coming

Word has been received that Dr. R. K. Nabours, head of the zoology department, is on his way home. Doctor Nabours has been on a leave of absence for the last year. His last letter was written while at Paris, and he was then on his way to Bombay, India. He expects to arrive in Manhattan about September 1.

R. W. MORRISH TO FILL THE VACANCY LEFT BY O. E. HALL

IS GRADUATE OF PURDUE UNIVERSITY

Is Highly Recommended by National Club Leader—Has Been Assistant in Animal Husbandry Department at Purdue

R. W. Morrish has accepted the position of state leader of Boys' and Girls' clubs made vacant by the resignation of Otis E. Hall April 1.

Mr. Morrish is a graduate of Purdue university. Before entering Purdue he spent two years at Earlham college. During the past year he has been half-time assistant in the department of animal husbandry at Purdue. He has had three years experience in managing a farm and much practical experience on the farm to supplement his technical training.

Mr. Morrish comes highly recommended by George E. Farrel, national club leader, Otis E. Hall, former state leader of Kansas, and Paul Imel, former pig club leader of Kansas. Mr. Morrish will enter upon his duties about August 1.

MISS BOND IS TEACHING IN UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

HAS CHARGE OF INTERPRETATIVE DANCING COURSES

Will Return the First of September —Attended Wisconsin University Last Summer

Miss Edith Bond, of the physical training department of the college, has accepted a position for the summer to teach interpretative dancing at the University of Chicago.

Miss Bond is a graduate of the physical training department of the University of Wisconsin Last summer she took special work in interpretative dancing from Miss Margaret H'Doubler of the University of Wisconsin. Miss H'Doubler is the originator of the interpretative dancing work.

Miss Bond is teaching the same dancing courses in the Chicago university this summer that she taught to the Aggie girls last semester. Miss Bond will return the first of September to continue her teaching here.

Ralph Foster to Arkansas

Ralph Foster, who graduated with the class of 1920 in industrial journalism, has accepted the position of agricultural editor at the University of Arkansas. Mr. Foster is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, Aggie Press club, Forum, Quill club, and the Athenian literary society. During the past year he has been business manager of the Kansas State Collegian.

MOHLER GIVES FIFTH LECTURE ON CITIZENSHIP

SHOWS VALUE OF UNINTERESTING STATISTICS

JOHN H. CRAWFORD LECTURES

Crawford Reviews History and Work of State Labor Department—Points Out Jokers and Deficiencies in Laws

How statistics that seem dry and uninteresting to the casual reader render an important service to the agricultural, commercial, and industrial interests of the state was explained by J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, in the fifth number of the citizenship course given at the auditorium July 7.

Kansas Has Best Statistics

Kansas has accurate statistics of its agricultural resources covering more than half a century, such a history as probably no other state possesses. Secretary Mohler said this data is found valuable in production studies, in locating precisely where various commodities are produced, in immigration work, in advertising the state's resources, in attracting needed capital for financing farmers and in establishing manufactures, milk condensaries and creameries.

The value of these crop reports and statistics lies in the fact that an unbiased record of the state's growth and increase of wealth is obtained from over 2,000 correspondents throughout the state, and through questionnaires sent to farmers. By the aid of these reports it is possible to determine how much of a certain commodity is available, and where the demand is, in order that sufficient cars for shipping may be provided and an even distribution effected, thus facilitating trade in general. The information is also valuable in production studies, in attracting capital, and in encouraging immigration and manufacturers.

Monthly reports are issued and a detailed biennial report is published every two years, in addition to various pamphlets and press bulletins. An average census is taken annually and a complete census report is compiled every ten years by the board.

New Division Created

A division of irrigation has been created by the board and Secretary Mohler regards the future of irrigation in Kansas as very bright, declaring that there are 5,000,000 acres that can probably be irrigated by the use of the vast underground sheet of water in western Kansas.

There has been some sort of organized board of agriculture ever since the founding of the state, the first society having been formed in 1862.

Watson Runs In New York

To double his chances for the Olympic team, Ray Watson will run today in the Steeple Chase, a 3,000 meter race in the Olympic final tryout which is to be held in New York City.

This gives Watson double chance to place on the Olympic team, as he will also try in the 5,000 meter race which is to be held in Boston next week.

The Steeple Chase is a 3,000 meter race or 239 yards, which is less than two miles. There are five obstacles in every quarter of a mile of the chase.

Charles Bachman, head Aggie coach, advised Watson to try in the race, thus doubling his chances for the Olympic team. Bachman has confidence for Watson's success.

NED, ASSISTANT COLLEGE HERDSMAN IS SEPARATED FROM HIS MASTER

The assistant herdsman of the animal husbandry department is lost, strayed, or stolen. In the institution catalogue, he is not designated by this title, nor is he even mentioned. But 'Jimmy' Ingraham, chief herdsman, who hails from Bonny Scotland, asserts that Ned, throughbred Scotch collie, has fully earned this title, and he furthermore declares that Ned was the most reliable and faithful attendant at the barns, not excluding himself.

Many a wayward colt has been taught to lead with the assistance of Ned nipping at his heels when the colt would throw his gears into reverse instead of forward. Times beyond number, Ned at a word from Jimmie, who was busy, would go out and round up a drove of cattle and bring them to the barns.

Centuries back, an unspoken contract was drawn up between man and dog, in which the party of the second part agreed faithfully to love and serve the party of the first part through thick and thin. Ned lived up to the contract; his chief delight was serving man.

Recently Ingraham, who has accepted a position with a cattle company in Ohio, began making arrangements to move. Furniture and other articles were crated and hauled away. Ned watched these activities with mingled grief and alarm; sensing that some great change was impending, he became restless and worried. When the last truckload started for the station, Jimmie whistled for Ned to come. The dog followed reluctantly, hesitating now and again until he was finally lost sight of.

When he did not show up at the station, Ingraham returned to the house to get him but failed to find him there, neither could he be found at the barns. A diligent search through the day failed to locate the big collie.

Ned was a valuable dog, as dogs go, and it is thought that he was stolen at the last moment. The boys at the barn are confidently expecting that at some future day when chance affords, Ned will break away and return to his old haunts at the barns, in search of Jimmie and the friends and the work he loved.

Before leaving, Jimmie directed the boys at the barn, "If you ever find him, be it next week or two years from now, express him to me at once, for we will be wanting to see each other."

FACULTY WILL HAVE SALARIES INCREASED NOW

AVERAGE 11.5 PER CENT ABOVE PRESENT RATE

BUDGET REQUESTS BRING RAISE

Increases Granted According to Relative Value of Faculty Members —Plans for Salary Raise Not Approved Entirely

Salary increases for members of the faculty of the Kansas State Agricultural college, averaging 11.5 per cent of the present salary rate granted, have been approved by the state board of administration, according to information from the president's office.

The boost in salaries is the result of certain requests made in the annual budget submitted for inspection and approval by the board several weeks ago. The plan for the salary raise was not approved in its entirety, the report states, it having requested a flat rate increase of $500.

The increases of salary are being granted with reference to the relative value of the faculty members in question and the system being used is worked through percentages of the present salary given. It works out as a sort of an equalization process and promises to be generally satisfactory.

The salary increases will be effective as follows:

Deans of divisions, a raise of 5.5 percent; professors, a raise of 9.6 percent; associate professors, a raise of 12.9 per cent; assistant professors, a raise of 12.1 per cent; instructors, a raise of 11.2 per cent; college workers not otherwise classified, a raise of 14.7 per cent; experiment station and regulatory workers, a raise of 13 per cent; office workers not otherwise classified, a raise of 11.3 percent; making a total average percentage of increase in salaries of 11.5 per cent.

The news of the salary increases was received with considerable interest by members of the faculty who were concerned. Of the number of resignations handed in this spring not a few were because of financial considerations and the attention given to the requests for salary increases by other members of the teaching staff was a timely action by the board of administration.

Vacancies made by the resignation of some 40 instructors are being filled and announcement concerning the new appointments will be made at an early date.

Granted National Charter

The Alpha Theta Chi fraternity has been granted a national charter by Alpha Tau Omega. The chapter will be installed early in the fall. The Alpha Theta Chi's have been a local here since 1917, and their organization as a club dates from 1912.

Dr. Helen B. Thompson, dean of the home economics division, attended a home economics meeting June 24 to 29 in Colorado Springs, Colo. Doctor Thompson presented a paper in the science section of the meeting on the "Variability and Growth of Albina Mice."

OF GREATNESS

Most people would like to be great, if greatness could be instantaneous or an inspiration. Few are willing to undergo drudging toil, the anxieties and vexations that come with greatness. That is the reason why so few are great; that, and then there are not enough positions for all. Mark this down: all worth is paid for, without reduction from the market value.

Most men want to be famous that they may be revenged on someone who disregarded their greatness in former times.

Many people hear and see second-handedly; they themselves are only ciphers, and seemed designed only to make others great by following after them.

Many are great. But as men are not capable of following many, not many can receive praise; and as men have too much to do in the present to remember many, few secure abiding fame. Greatness is a quality; but praise and fame are largely accidental.

Perhaps the truest standards for measuring men are those of suffering and trail. Great sufferers have usually learned most of the necessary lessons others have not.

Sometimes sorrow is like the clouds. Little hills do not reach as high as the clouds, nor little men as high as sorrow. Other hills barely enter the clouds, and some grand men are ever enveloped in sorrow. But as the higher mountains rise above the clouds, so the greatest men pass through the sorrows, and at last their silvered heads catch the sunlight of heaven.

The truly great man is so unselfish in his nature he usually fails to provide for himself and his own as well as he does for the world. He cannot work for one, but for all.

AGGIES, YOU TELL 'EM

Americans, it is said are the greatest advertisers in the world. Now after a century of conscientious advertising they are thoroughly convinced that it pays.

If people of a nation can afford to advertise, is it not reasonable that the students of K. S. A. C. can put over an advertising campaign that will prove profitable to their Alma Mater?

Every year millions of dollars are spent by companies, corporations, and schools on simply advertising. Recently New York university and Cornell university have each launched a campaign of newspaper advertising for appropriations. However some of the largest campaigns that have ever been put over by American colleges were by the aid of the tongue, rather than by the aid of the pen. This is the type of advertising campaign that the Aggies have mapped out for the future. It is to be a campaign which will not necessitate the raising of anything but our voices.

One of the things which always brings college nearer to our hearts is talking about it when we are out working or traveling during vacation. Whether we are in California, South Africa, or a Kansas cornfield we will find people who will like to hear about the Kansas State Agricultural college.

To talk about our school does not necessarily mean that we brag about the institution. Simply being able to tell what the school does, what it is, and what it offers, will probably be acceptable to most people. Many people have always misunderstood the college. To them we can offer an explanation that will win their loyalty. To many, especially high school boys and girls, the school has always been surrounded with a glamor of romance. To them we can offer a more practical understanding of what being an Aggie really means.

Before we leave this summer let's find out we can about K. S. A. C., find out what new courses and teachers will be here next fall; what the Aggies are doing in the athletic world; what clubs, honorary fraternities, and social fraternities have chapters here; when school will open in September; these and innumerable other points of information we should have committed to memory and ready to spring at the first prospective customer.

Between the closing of summer school and the opening of the regular semester there are only six short weeks, but a good talker can have converted a multitude of souls to the Aggie cause in that length of time. Let us be ready to each play our own individual part in the Aggie tongue campaign during the month of August.

Let us talk about K. S. A. C. and let us talk intelligently. Let the world know that we are glad that we are Aggies. If each of us play our part of the game we can do as much good for our college as $1,000 worth of printed advertising. Advertise, Aggies, and in a few years from now in every nook and corner of the middle western states someone will be saying "You tell 'em I'm a Aggie.

DR. SIEVER WILL GIVE TYPHOID INOCULATIONS

TO BE ADMINISTERED TO STUDENTS FREE

This Time of Year is Favorable for Contracting the Disease—200,000 Cases Expected This Year

Do you know that during the year 1920, that 200,000 persons may expect to become ill with typhoid in the United States, and that 20,000 of these will in all probability sacrifice their lives to this disease? Can you afford to chance being one of this number?

Dr. C. M. Siever, college physician, reports very little sickness among the students of the summer school, but wishes to emphasize strongly the advisability of every student being inoculated with typhoid vaccine, as a precaution against typhoid fever.

This time of the year, with its flies, and the great amount of food, such as vegetables and fruits, which is eaten uncooked, is especially favorable for the contracting of typhoid.

The vaccine is furnished by the state and is administered free of cost to all students of the college, and causes very little inconvenience to the person inoculated. Students wishing to take advantage of this free inoculation, are urged to apply at Dr. Siever's office, in room 65, Anderson hall.

NINE MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA STUDENTS TRANSFERRED HERE

Will Study Farm Conditions in Mid-West

Nine students from Maryland and Virginia have arrived at K. S. A. C., having been transferred by the Federal board from the Maryland State college for training here.

The objective in sending these men here is to enable them to get a better knowledge of farm conditions as carried on in the great mid-west and to make a study of farm tractors.

The tractor department in K. S. A. C. is a strong one and the Federal board utilizes this institution more than any other in district number nine for giving men training of this particular type.

M. W. Furr of the civil engineering department, has been engaged for the summer as an assistant to the divisional engineer of the Wabash railroad at Springfield, Ill.

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Shirred at the Waistline

Mrs. George Briggs Winton shot her husband to death at their country place yesterday at 6 p. m.

She was attired in a smart tailored suit developed in navy serge, with large reveres and extended pockets embroidered in satin braid. The jacket had double belts and set-in sleeves and was trimmed with numberless tailored buttons.

The skirt was slightly shirred at the waistline and had beautiful ornamental pockets.

Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed. The Madame Yvonne designers are working with feverish haste on plans for the bereaved widow's funeral and court trousseaus.

Caught in Her Mules

Miss Angela Andrews, prominent debutante of the past season, suffered a fracture of the skull and a dislocation of the spine by falling down the marble escalier at her father's home at 1016 North Bond street yesterday morning at ten thirty.

Her chic robe de interior of chiffon over satin with its many rows of ribbon and large bows in some way caught in her pink beaded mules and she plunged headlong from the first landing. Her robe was lined in flowered silk and had white rabbit fur edging on the loose sleeves. A long girdle of ribbon embroidered in wool with streamers reaching to the floor may have been responsible for the unfortunate accident.

Miss Andrews is reported by her physician to be resting easy in a delightful robe de nuit of crepe de chine trimmed with valenciennes lace and colored ribbons.

Affiliation Falls Through

Mrs. Archie Fitzhugh-Borden in addressing the Child Welfare league at the special session called to consider the contemplated affiliation with the Public School Kindergarten club yesterday afternoon spoke feelingly in favor of the use of duvetyns in brown, tan, and tomato red.

Her recent large hat of tan duvetyn, which everyone will recall, was embroidered in small flowers but had no other trimmings. Mrs. Priscilla Wiggins, superintendent of the city schools, complimented her highly on her appeal and her appearance.

Read What Archibald Did!

I am sure that nobody will infer that I am unduly proud of my success when I state in this impersonal way that I am now earning $42,683.10 a year. My wife and family are enjoying luxuries known only to the wealthiest profiteers of our land.

Two years ago my salary was only one or two thousand dollars. Can you believe that? I don't recall the exact figure, for that was before I had learned the profitable art of remembering everything. I was slouching along, making no headway at all. My family was destitute and miserable. We had only a few meals a week.

One evening while I was buying a quarter's worth of stogies at a corner drug store at 58th or 59th and some other street, my friend, Mr. James W. Highpower, came up to me, slapped me on the shoulder, and asked me in his fine good humor how I was coming along.

"Everything is rotten," I muttered. "Luck is going against me harder and harder every day!"

"Tut, tut, my friend," rejoined Highpower, "come for a walk with me. I want to talk with you."

During the next sixteen minutes I learned the secret of the remarkable success of James W. Highpower. He told me how he had been in my plight only five months and thirteen days before, how a friend had interested him in the Yucan Recallet corporation, and how he had learned in four nights to remember everything about everybody he ever meets any where.

The next morning at 9:13 I wired for my course of lessons. By Saturday night my mind was as efficient as a wax record, and I have not forgotten anything since.

My remarkably increased power of memory soon made me the most valuable employee of the great corporation for which I work. In exactly 22 weeks I was its president. I have nothing to do but sit in a richly carved chair for two hours each day and keep my mind on the 6,738 details of our business as they are carried out by our 963 agents and employees. For each one of those hours of excruciating pleasure I receive $58.47. Figure it out and see if I am not right.

Like other graduates of memory corporations, I frequently attend banquets and remember the initials and grandparents of every man there for years and years. I would advise everybody who expects to be a president of something and attend banquets three or four times a week immediately to get in touch with the Yucan Recallet Corporation.

NINE AGGIES TAKE WORK OFFERED AT CAMP CUSTER

CAPTAIN DAVIDSON IS ADJUTANT AT CAMP

Men Are Furnished Transportation, Uniforms, and Subsistence—Perhaps May Be Paid for Time Spent There

The following men of the senior division, R. O. T. C., at the college have gone to Camp Custer, Mich., to take the course in camp training prescribed by the Secretary of War: G. E. Gates, Hay Farree, W. H. Koenig, R. E. Marshall, A. J. Kelley, B. M. McKown, W. F. Sterling, R. C. Rath, and E. E. Hodgson.

The men are furnished transportation, uniforms, and subsistence, and if congress acts upon recommendations submitted, additional pay will be allowed for the time spent during the period of camp training.

Capt. L. C. Davidson, formerly with the college military department, is Adjutant at the R. O. T. C. camp. Training began June 21.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Honoring Dean Potter

Prof. C. F. Baker entertained at a stag dinner Friday evening, June 25, at his country home, in honor of Dean A. A. Potter of the engieering division of the college. Other guests were Professor J. D. Walters, Prof. R. A. Seaton, Prof. L. E. Conrad, Prof. C. E. Reid, Prof. W. W. Carlson, Prof. W. H. Sanders, and Prof. J. P. Calderwood.

Journalism Hike

A number of the students and graduates of the department of industrial journalism of the college hiked to Wild Cat Saturday evening, July 3, and enjoyed a picnic supper there. The party was accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. Albert Dickens and Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Rogers. The hikers were Miss Elizabeth Dickens, Miss Edith Haines, Miss Orille Bourassa, Miss Susan Carmody, Mr. Harold Snell, Mr. Walter Karlowski, Mr. Ralph Shideler, and Mr. V. E. Bundy.

House Dances

A number of inter-fraternity house dances have been given during the month of June by the fraternity men who are spending the summer in town. The dances are given, usually one each week, at the various fraternity homes that are open this summer. The boys have entertained with house dances at the Pi Kappa Alpha house, Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, Sigma Nu house, and the Acacia house.

Alumni Picnic

More than 30 alumni of the college, from the classes of the late eighties and subsequent classes, with their children and grandchildren held a picinc on the farm of W. J. and O. B. Burtis, at the foot of Staggs Hill, on Sunday afternoon, July 4.

The afternoon was spent in "visiting," in reviving memories of old school days, and in enjoying the outdoors. Among those present were Prof. and Mrs. Albert Dickens and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kimball and family, Mrs. A. Q. Perry, Mrs. Effie Harbord, and her daughter, Mrs. Forman; Mrs. Ned Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Browning and family, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Knaus and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bayer and baby daughter, and several others.

New Music Instructor

The music department announces a new piano instructor, Miss Fanne M. Keller. Miss Keller is a graduate in piano and theory from the conservatory of music of Northwestern university, Chicago. She is teaching in the summer school and will teach during the next regular school year. Her home is in Atlanta, Ga.

PRES. ROBERT J. ALEY TALKS TO STUDENTS

GIVES CHARACTERISTICS OF THE TRUE AMERICAN

President Aley Is One of Foremost Educators in This Country—Is President of University of Maine

Robert J. Aley, president of the University of Maine, spoke at the auditorium Friday, July 2, on "The Making of the American of Tomorrow."

President Aley was on his way to attend the National Educational association convention, of which he has been president for the last 10 years, to be held at Salt Lake City July 4 to 10. He has long been recognized as one of the foremost educators in this country.

"The essential characteristics of the true American," said President Aley, "are that he should be educated, should be able to think straight, should know the English language, and be open-minded to new facts presented in the process of evolution, not revolution; he should be loyal to democracy rather than loyal to class, and above all, obedient to the law.

"That every citizen acquire at least an elementary knowledge of the English language, should be compulsory: it is the duty of every American to make English the common language.

"America is still the land of opportunity to the person who will strive to rise, not by what his parents did, nor by the position in society into which he was born; but by personally doing something worth while," was the statement of the speaker. "Opportunity, our representative form of government, and freedom without license, are three of the fundamental ideas of American government."

President Aley denounced the radical soapbox orator and the extremist who assumes to think that everything in America is wrong yet continues to accept the protection and benefits of the government.

"The future American must be efficient in that he is willing to give an honest day's work for an honest day's pay."

In closing, President Aley said, "In the world war, idealism prevailed and materialism went down as it will always go down. The citizen of tomorrow should be an idealist, and he should inculcate in his heart and soul, a complete understanding and application of the principles of truth contained in the commandments of Moses."

HER WORK HERE IS A SUCCESS

Miss Milam First to Develop Contests in Bread Baking—Miss Alene Hinn Is New Assistant Leader

Miss Lottie Milam, assistant state leader of Boys' and Girls' clubs, is attending Chicago university this summer.

Miss Milam is a graduate of the Oregon Agricultural college. She came to K. S. A. C. in 1917 and much of the credit for the building up of the department to its present high standard is due to her untiring efforts.

She was one of the first to develop plans for contests in bread making. Her success in this line of work was so marked that she was appointed in 1918, and reappointed in 1919 to the position of chairman of a committee of five from the 33 northern and western states to work up plans and rules for bread club work.

The sewing club bulletin which she prepared has attracted attention and favorable comment from many other states as well as Kansas.

The new assistant leader, Miss Alene Hinn, began her work here when Miss Milam left in June.

Clarence Jones, B. S., civil engineering class of '13, who, for the last two years has been employed by the Rexroad Engineering company of Hutchinson, has recently been appointed resident engineer on a federal aid project at Meade.

PROF. H. H. FENTON RESIGNS POSITION HERE

Accepts Position with Westinghouse Electrical Company

H. H. Fenton, assistant professor of electrical engineering, has resigned his work here to accept a position with the Westinghouse company at Pittsburg, Pa., in the heavy traction section of the railway equipment engineering department.

Professor Fenton and his family left Manhattan July 6, for their new home in Pittsburg. Professor Fenton has been on the college faculty roll for three years. In 1917 he accepted a place in the home study division. During the past year he has been an assistant professor in the electrical engineering department.

Professor Fenton and his wife are both graduates of this college. Professor Fenton graduated with the class of '13, and Mrs. Fenton, who was Miss Jessie Nichols before her marriage, graduated with the class of '12.

DEAN HOLTON GIVES LECTURES AT PURDUE AND IOWA STATE

Lectures on Making Curriculums for Vocational Departments

E. L. Holton, dean of the summer school gave a series of four lectures at the conference for teachers of vocational agriculture and vocational home making, which was held at the Purdue university, Lafayette, Ind., on Thursday and Friday, June 24 and 25. Dean Holton's lectures were on the subject of making the curriculum for vocational departments.

Dean Holton will give two lectures on the same subject at the Iowa State college on Monday, July 12, when the vocational teachers conference is held in that state.

J. M. ROUTSON OF AUSTRALIA MAKES THE COLLEGE A VISIT

Making Investigations of Irrigation and Wheat in the U. S.

James M. Routson of Victoria, Australia, visited the college this month. Mr. Routson is representing the Australian government and is making investigations concerning chiefly irrigation and wheat in central and northern United States. He is interested in varieties of wheat and it is expected that Kanred wheat will receive his special attention. He is also interested in the American cultural methods, and marketing, especially bulk handling and elevators.

He spent a day at the agronomy farm and accompanied Dean F. D. Farrel, of the division of agriculture-Farrell, of the division of agriculture, on a visit to the Rock Island depot elevators. Mr. Routson left for Colorado, Utah, and California.

J. W. Evans Visits Here

J. W. Evans, '94, with his son visited the college June 25. Mr. Evans has not been here for a good many years. He was therefore much interested in noting the progress of the institution. He is now located at Pocatello, Ida., 1436 North Garfield street, and is proprietor of Hill Crest fruit ranch, King Hill, Ida. He conducts a large business as a jobber in the distribution of fruit. Mr. Evans was looking well and prosperous. He expects to send his son here to college in a few years.

LOAN FUND FOR GIRLS INSTITUTED BY P.E.O.

PAYMENT OF LOAN LIMITED TO FIVE YEARS

Mrs. Van Zile to Have Charge of Application of Fund—Maximum Loan Is $800

Next year girl students in attendance at the Kansas State Agricultural college, when in financial difficulties will be able to avail themselves of a new loan fund. This fund was established by the Manhattan chapter of P. E. O., an organization of women whose purpose is to support and forward sisterhood, education, and philanthropy.

The Manhattan chapter of P. E. O. was installed but a short time ago and the establishment of this loan fund for girl students is its first undertaking.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, is to have charge of the applications of the fund, and women students desiring to avail themselves of its help should apply to her office. The maximum loan is $800 but this sum cannot be withdrawn all in one year. The interest on the loan is 4 per cent and time of payment is limited to five years.

P. E. O., the organization backing the loan fund is nation-wide in its scope and is composed of a group of women in each community who are influential and noteworthy for their interests in the common good. Any girl student in need will do well to consult Dean Van Zile concerning the P. E. O. Loan fund.

MOHLER GIVES FIFTH LECTURE ON CITIZENSHIP

"The board always has kept out of politics," Mohler declared. "It is to this fact principally that it attributes its great success. The personnel of the board is made up of two members from each congressional district, making a total of 16 members. These are elected by the representatives of county agricultural organizations."

LABOR COMMISSIONER SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Explains Industrial Laws of State

"No child under 16 years of age should be permitted to work in any place where power machinery is used, but every boy should work some place rather than run loose," asserted John H. Crawford, state labor commissioner, in the fourth citizenship lecture, Wednesday, June 30.

Mr. Crawford reviewed the history and the work of the state department of labor and industry, and explained the present industrial laws of the state, pointing out the 'jokers' and deficiencies in the laws and suggesting amendments.

"A general understanding of the industrial laws of the state and nation are essential to good citizenship," declared the speaker. In advocating the passage of additional labor legislation, he called attention to the startling fact that the United States has more industrial casuals every year than it suffered during any one year of the late war, and that last year there occured 556 serious industrial accidents in this state alone.

In addition to his duties as labor commissioner, Mr. Crawford is also state mine inspector, state factory inspector, and director of the state free employment bureau.

He referred to the Mothers' Aid laws declaring that it is cheaper to pay taxes to keep the family of the industrial casual together, than to pay taxes to build more correctional institutions. Mr. Crawford commended the work done by the state labor bureau in bringing the jobless man the manless job together.

"While there is a crying need for more and better labor legislation in Kansas, labor unrest will never be really quieted, and labor agitation will never cease to exist, until both employer and employee live up to the teachings of the sermon on the mount," he concluded.

BOOSTER MEETINGS ARE BEING HELD BY AGGIES

FACULTY REPRESENTATIVES SPEAK AT MEETINGS

First Booster Meeting Held at Concordia by Students of Mitchell and Cloud Counties—Professor Dickens and Mrs. Van Zile Attended

Booster meetings for the Kansas State Agricultural college are being held throughout the state this summer by a number of students who interested themselves in the movement toward an increased number of students for the 1920-21 school year. The first of these booster meetings was held Saturday night, June 19, at Concordia, students from Mitchell and Cloud counties in attendance.

In accordance with the agreement made by the student body and President Jardine when the plans were formulated last spring, two faculty representatives attended the first meeting and will attend any meeting held by a group of students who call the group together for the purpose of boosting the state college.

Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women, and Prof. Albert E. Dickens of the horticultural department went to Concordia to attend the meeting and spoke before the group of students and the other young people whose interest in this school is being enlisted by the Aggie boosters. Members of the alumni association were also in attendance at the meeting and spoke before the students and prospective students.

S. Dave Capper, an upper classman who has during his four years as a student here been a leader and a loyal Aggie at all times, presided at the meeting and he with "Shorty" Cowell, also a student here boosted the institution by their talks.

Gratifying results are being anticipated from this student booster plan, for no system of advertising can work as effectively with prospective students as the good words of students who attend a school. The plan will be carried on throughout all the other counties of the state where it is possible and each time the college will send faculty representatives to speak at the meetings.

Jimmie Fallas and Frank Roark are traveling with the Dunbar company out of Chicago during the summer months.

E. A. Martin, instructor in the zoology department, is taking a graduate course in zoology with Professor Guyer at the University of Wisconsin this summer. He has just received the degree of philosophy at the same university. Mr. Martin will be back next September and will hold the rank of assistant professor.

John Wiley and Sons, publishers of New York City, announce the publication of a new work on Thermodynamics by Prof. J. A. Mayer, Prof. J. P. Calderwood, and Dean A. A. Potter. This publishing company states that the book gives promise of being a most excellent text book.

Mrs. Elva Crockett, secretary for Dr. Helen B. Thompson, left last week for Willow Springs, Mo., where she will spend a month visiting with her mother, Mrs. C. A. Cunningham.

Ray Ferree, a junior in the college, has accepted a position for the summer at New London, Mo., where he is working for the Marion County Cow Testing association.

COLORADO ALUMNI HAS CABIN AT ESTES

ALL ALUMNI OF COLLEGE INVITED TO USE CABIN

Six Room Log Cabin Will Accommodate from Six to Eight People—Is Completely Furnished

During the stock show week last winter, the Kansas State Agricultural college graduates now living in Colorado, met at the Metropole hotel in Denver and formed a Colorado Alumni association of the Kansas State Agricultural college.

This alumni chapter decided to rent a cottage in Estes Park for the use of the Kansas Aggie graduates who are coming to the park on a vacation trip this summer. A. E. McClymonds, 15, and D. C. Bascom, '10, were appointed as a committee to arrange for the cabin.

A six room log cabin has been obtained with a fireplace in the living room. This is a big roomy cabin and will accommodate from six to eight people at a time. The cabin is completely and comfortably furnished, from a big rocking chair to a kitchen spoon.

The cabin is located one and one quarter miles from the village of Estes Park, on the road to the Lesters hotel. Signs will be placed so the cabin may easily be found. It is situated in one of the most beautiful sections of the park.

The K. S. A. C. Colorado Alumni association has decided to charge $30 a week "initiation fee" to occupy this cabin. As many as want to may come at the same time and divide up the cost. However, the number should be kept down to six or eight at one time.

Make the reservations, giving dates as to first and second choice through D. C. Bascom, Box 525, Fort Collins, Colo.

Supervises Wiring

Prof. Clarence E. Reid, of the electrical engineering department, is supervising the work of wiring the city of Americus for electricity. He has also secured work for Fred Hall, senior in electrical engineering, Harold May, and Perry Hershey, junior electricals, and Fred McElhinney and Leroy Wurst, freshman electricals, who are proceeding to wire the business houses and residences for the citizens of that town.

Last summer Mr. Hall wired the city of Scranton in a similar manner, and Messrs. May and Hershey wired the town of Alden, Kan.

Prof. R. G. Kloeffler of the electrical engineering department, is spending the summer in Washington state, in the employ of the Washington Water Power and Electric company.

Miss Katherine Kimmel is studying voice in New York City this summer under Prof. Edmund J. Myers.

J. A. Nicholay, B. S., in C. E., class of 13, has been employed since May with Beach and Smith, consulting engineers, Burley, Idaho.

Harrison Broberg, B. S. in civil engineering, is now resident engineer on a federal aid project at Fredonia, Ill.

L. V. White of the civil engineering department, is working on drainage surveys with the consulting engineer, in Charleston, Mo.

G. A. Dean, head of the entomology department, spent last week in the inspection of nurseries in towns of northeastern Kansass. This inspection trip was the annual trip for the inspecting of all nursery stock before being sold.

Harlan Smith, assistant in charge of the office of information, United States department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., spent July 2 at the college. He was interested in work being carried on in the agricultural department.

EASTERN ADVERTISING MEN MAKE VISIT TO THE COLLEGE

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR ENTERTAINMENT

Men Interested in Tractor School—Tour Through Nebraska Is Conducted by Former Aggie, A. C. Kittell

The second "Big See" party of eastern advertising men, chaperoned by men from the Capper organization, visited the college Thursday evening and Friday morning, July 1 and 2.

Special arrangements were made by the college under the direction of Elmer Kittell to entertain the men while they were here. Upon their arrival Thursday evening, arrangements were made with the physical educational department to have the showers ready and the swimming pool filled, in order that the "bunch" might take a plunge after their long dusty trip. The men were placed in the College Club house, the Sigma Nu fraternity house and the Acacia fraternity house for the night.

On Friday morning the party visited the various buildings and places of interest on the campus. The men were especially interested in the tractor school as a number of the party sold tractors and other machinery of this order.

The majority of the party had never before realized that Kansas had such an investment as the Kansas State Agricultural college. They stated that in their opinion it was a school to be proud of.

The tour is being conducted through Nebraska by A. C. Kittell, editor of the Nebraska Farm Journal. Mr. Kittell is a graduate from K. S. A. C. in the department of industrial journalism with the class of '09.

SCURVY BREAKS OUT IN COLLEGE ANIMAL WORLD

GUINEA PIGS ARE UNLUCKY VICTIMS

Disease Attributed to Milk Supply—Cows to Have Ration Changed—Think This will Remove Cause of Disease

Saurvy has broken out at K. S. A. C., not among the vegetarians of the summer session, nor yet among the meat eaters on the hill. It happens to be the guinea pigs, kept in one of the barracks at the college for experimental purposes, who have been stricken. A number of the little rodents have been afflicted recently.

The presence of the disease is attributed to the fact that the cows supplying the milk which has been fed to the guinea pigs, have been fed on a heavy grain ration. It is believed that a ration of green alfalfa fed to the cows will change the composition of the milk and remove the cause of the disease.

The gentleman who has been seen on the campus, cutting alfalfa with a little hand sickle, and stuffing it in sacks, is not weak minded, nor is he old fashioned in his methods. He simply wishes to have fresh green alfalfa each time he feeds the cows. The milk from these cows will be fed to the guinea pigs.

N. A. CRAWFORD ATTENDS CONVENTION IN THE EAST

Left Immediately after Returning from Western Trip

Prof. N. A. Crawford, head of the journalism department, left last week for Amherst, Mass., where he attended the American Association of Agricultural College Editors, which was held there between June 30 and July 2.

Professor Crawford expects to spend two or three weeks in the east visiting various points of interest. He will stop for several days in New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, and Baltimore.

Professor Crawford returned last week from a month's trip in the west, where he installed two runes of the American College Quill club of which he is grand national high chancellor. One rune was installed in Pullman, Wash., and the other was installed in the University of California.

Professor Crawford is expected to return from the east the middle of this month.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING TO BE GIVEN REGULAR CLEAN UP

$500 WORTH OF REPAIRS TO BE MADE

Will Be Completed by September 1—To Have 20 Dormitory Rooms to Rent to Students

Repairs amounting to $500 will be made this summer on the Y. M. C. A. building on the corner of Eleventh and Fremont, according to an announcement made by Doctor Holtz, secretary of the college Y. M. C. A.

It is going to be a general clean up for the Y. M. C. A. The lobby will be painted, the bedsteads enamelled, the floors oiled, and the roof and other parts of the building repaired. It is expected that the repairing will be completed by September, so that the rooms may be in readiness for the students next fall. The Y. M. C. A. has 20 dormitory rooms which the association rents to students. The renters need not necessarily be members of the Y. M. C. A.

"The room situation is severe" says Doctor Holtz. "Many students have reserved rooms and every day enquiries are being sent in regarding rooms. People that have rooms to rent should have their names listed with the Y. M. C. A."

Top K. C. Market

K. S. A. C. topped the Kansas City market three weeks ago when three lots of yearling calves that had been fed here were sold on the open market. One group sold at $16.75 per hundred weight which is the highest price ever paid there for yearlig cattle. They were fed corn, alfalfa, cane silage, and linseed oil meal. The average weight was 814 pounds at 13 months of age.

MAKE APPLICATION FOR A COAST ARTILLERY UNIT

WILL BE ORGANIZED IN MILITARY DEPARTMENT

Sophomores in Engineering Will Be Required to Take This Branch of Training—Elective to Other Students

Application for the formation of a Coast Artillery unit, to be organized in the military training department of the college, has been made to the war department, according to Captain F. B. Terrill, commandant of cadets.

If the application is granted, it is intended that all sophomores in the division of engineering, will be required to take this branch of military training in place of the infantry training. It will be elective to all other students, subject to the approval of the dean of the division in which their major studies occur.

Major-general F. W. Coe, chief of the U. S. coast artillery branch of the service, who received the honorary dergee of doctor of laws at the commencement here this spring, voiced his approval of the plan for the organization of a unit of this kind. He stated that in his opinion all that was required to fulfill the plans, was a formal application to the war department. This application has now been made.

MISS IZIL POLSON RETURNS FROM TRIP THROUGH EAST

SPENT PAST FOUR WEEKS ON EASTERN COAST

Was Accompanied Home by Sister, Miss Mary Polson, '16, Who Joins K. S. A. C. Teaching Staff Next Winter

Miss Izil Polson, instructor in the journalism department, returned last week to again assume her duties in the department after a five weeks' eastern trip.

Miss Polson spent considerable time in Bridgeport, Conn., with her sister, Miss Mary Polson, of '16, who has been doing Americanization teaching and has also been teaching domestic art in the city schools there. Miss Polson's sister returned with her, as she has accepted a position at K. S. A. C. to teach in the department of clothing and textiles this winter.

Miss Polson spent several days in New York City, where she met C. W. McCampbell of '19, who is now head of the advertising sales department of the Gas Age magazine, which is published in that city. While she was there she also met John Tillotson, who is also engaged in advertising work. Mr. Tillotson was in college here the first term of last semester.

In Washington, D. C., Miss Polson met John Gleissner, who taught in the journalism department here in '19. Mr. Gleissner is now with the United Press. During the winter he was stationed as special correspondent in the White House. Mr. Gleissner will arrive in Abilene this month where he will spend his summer vacation with his parents.

Miss Polson, and her sister Miss Mary Polson, after visiting various eastern points of interest returned by the way of the Great Lakes and Chicago.

COLLEGE INSTALLS NEW COAL CONVEYING SYSTEM

SYSTEM WILL COST ABOUT $20,000

May Be Completed by September 1—Shortage of Material Has Delayed the Work

A complete new system for conveying coal to the college boilers, from the coal pit outside, is being installed, and it is hoped that the installation will be completed by September 1, according to Jacob Lund, superintendent of heat and power at the college.

The new system will cost approximately $20,000 when it is complete, according to the present estimates. It will consist roughly of a crane and bucket for getting the coal out of the outdoor pit, and machinery for dumping and conveying it to hoppers inside the building and above the automatic stokers, to which it is fed through chutes, by gravity, as it is needed. The stokers used in the college boiler room are all automatic. The hoppers inside the building, from which the coal will be fed to the stokers will be some 25 feet above the floor level of the boiler room.

The coal pit will be lined with cement, and will have an enormous storage capacity, made necessary by the fact that the college is now no longer able to buy coal regularly through the winter, but must buy and store it when possible.

The new system will replace the old system of handling the coal on small cars, pushed along temporary tracks built from the coal pit to the boiler room. It will eliminate all moving of the coal by hand, and in its labor saving feature, is expected to result is a saving.

The difficulty of getting cement and structural steel has held up the construction of the coal machinery for months. Two carloads of the steel arrived last week, and others are expected. The difficulty of buying and transporting the material makes the problem of getting the installation in working order by the opening of the school year, doubtful.

Lloyd Hamilton and Leonard Morgan are singing in the Robinhood opera with the Dunbar company. The company will travel in the New England states and Canada. The first performance was given this week in Toronto, Canada.

WEST POINT MAN COMES TO MILITARY DEPARTMENT

CAPTAIN J. A. VAN FLEET IS NEW ASSISTANT

Has Been Stationed at Camp Grant—Will Have Charge of Sophomore Classes in Military Training

Notice of the appointment of Capt. James A. Van Fleet, to be assistant professor of military science and tactics at the college, has been received by Captain F. B. Terrill, commandant of cadets.

Captain Van Fleet comes to K. S. A. C. from Camp Grant, Ill., where he has been stationed as commanding officer of the 17th machine gun battalion. Though a new man to the college, Captain Van Fleet is well known to the Commandant, having served overseas as captain of the 16th machine gun battalion, 6th division, Captain Terrill, commanding, for over a year. Captain Van Fleet was wounded by an aviator's bomb shortly before the final phase of the Argonne offensive.

If the present plans of the Commandant are carried out Captain Van Fleet will have charge of all the sophomore classes in the military training department of the college, and also all of the machine gun classes.

Captain Van Fleet is a graduate of West Point, class of '15, and has made an enviable record as a star football player while at that institution. He will probably assist in coaching next year's Aggie football eleven.

DR. MERRILL INSTRUCTS STATE BEE INSPECTORS

Inspectors to Lecture to Beekeepers of State

Seven of the state bee inspectors were in attendance at the office of the entomology department last week. They were receiving special instructions from Dr. J. H. Merrill, of the department, about their work to be carried on during the summer. Suggestions from each of the men toward the betterment of the bee industry were discussed and grouped together for similarity in their work.

Each man of the seven will give lectures in different parts of the state to beekeepers telling and showing better ways of taking care of bees. Their lectures will all be the same so the actual facts may be presented correctly.

Aggies Represented

K. S. A. C. was represented at the National Democratic convention, held at San Francisco, by Mr. David Blatmer.

Mr. Blatmer had charge of the wiring of the auditorium where the convention was held. He also supervised the wiring of the Coliseum for the Republican convention at Chicago. He is a graduate from the electrical engineering department of the college, class of '11, and has been in the employ of the General Electric company of New York City since his graduation.

AGGIE WAR HERO DIES IN THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS

HELPED PLANT FLAG IN BOLSHEVIK STRONGHOLD

Lieutenant Doryland Made Memorable March Through the Swamps During Ussuri Valley Campaign

Lieutenant Earnest Doryland, who died in Manila, P. I., on April 23 and who was a graduate of agronomy with the class of '14, was a member of the company of American troops which participated in the capture of Khabarovsk and which planted the first American flag in the Bolshevik stronghold.

Lieutenant Doryland was serving as a chemist with the insular government when the war was declared. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant and assigned to the 27th infantry in April of 1918.

During August of that year he went to Siberia with his company, where he was promoted to first lieutenant. He was with the 27th during the Ussuri Valley campaign and made the memorable march through the swamps from Sviagino to Ussuri. He went with Company E, the only body of American troops to participate in the capture of Khabarovsk.

Later, while operating in conjunction with Japanese troops in the Zea river region, Lieutenant Doryland was sent with 28 of his men to capture enemy gunboats. On his return he accomplished the greatest march of the campaign. He took his men to Oshumon, a distance of 51 miles, in 23 hours and a half.

Company E rejoined the regiment at Khabarovsk in October, 1918. In November it took over the guard of 2,000 Austro-German prisoners of war at Kresanaya. In November, 1919, Lieutenant Doryland was relived from duty with Company E and appointed personal adjutant, United States troops. He had returned to Manila in March where he died as the result of an operation.

PRESIDENT JARDINE IS AT CONVENTION THIS WEEK

WILL GO TO CANADA TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Will Go to California to Make Study of Land Settlement System and Its Effect in That State

President W. M. Jardine of the college, has gone to Salt Lake City, Utah, to attend the National Educational association convention which was held there July 4 to 10.

Following the convention, the president will go to Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, where he will speak before the Western Canada Irrigation association in session there July 28 to 30, on the subject "Soil Drifting and the Means of Combating It." From Lethbridge, he will proceed to California, but visiting en route agricultural colleges and experiment stations, particularly those of Montana, Oregon, and Washington.

In California he will make an exhaustive study of the land settlement system in effect in that state. California is the first state in the union to adopt the plan of buying land and reselling it to the settlers.

In view of the proposed amendment to the constitution, the Farm Home Amendment, which will come before the voters of the state this fall, all should inform themselves of the plan, declared President Jardine.

President Jardine will be the guest of Dr. Elwood Mead, chairman of the Land Settlement Board of California, during his stay there. President Jardine's family will spend most of their time visiting points in Idaho, Utah, and Montana.

KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE
JUL 28 1920
LIBRARY

Summer Session

THE KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

VOL. XXVI KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, MANHATTAN, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1920 NO. 74

ENROLMENT FOR THE PAST YEAR BREAKS RECORD

LARGEST ATTENDANCE IN HISTORY OF COLLEGE

SUMMER ENROLMENT REACHES 600

Nearly 900 Freshmen Attended—Engineering Most Popular Course—Students Here from Ten Countries

There were more students in attendance at the Kansas State Agricultural college during the past fiscal year than during any other year in the history of the college. The number in attendance including short course and summer school students was 3,352 which is 12 more than the enrolment of 3,340 in 1916-17. This was the highest enrolment in K. S. A. C. history up until 1919-20.

It's A Fact

Printing has been taught continuously at the Kansas State Agricultural college since 1875, the longest of any American college. The journalism department was started in 1910 and has grown from eight students to over 80 during the last ten years. Last year over 300 students took work in the course.

Decades Show Marked Increase

Every decade since 1890 has marked a period during which the enrolment has made rapid increase over that of the previous ten years. During the last decade the enrolment has increased from 2,407 students in 1910 to 3,352 students in 1920, an increase of 39 per cent. Between 1900 and 1910 there was an increased enrolment of 81 per cent and between 1890 and 1900 there was an increase of 122 per cent.

One of the largest increases shown last year was in the number of freshmen in attendance, 894 or 84 more than had ever attended any previous year. Ten years ago the freshman enrolment was only 533 showing a gain during the last decade of 67 per cent.

The goal set for the freshman class this fall is 1,200, almost 300 more than have ever enroled before. At present prospects indicate that the goal will be reached with a few extras for good measure. Large numbers of inquiries are already coming into the registrar and many catalogues, approximately 40 a day at the present, are being sent out to prospective students.

Enrolment Reaches 600

Last week the summer school enrolment reached the 600 mark when Antonio V. Garza, sent here to study by the Mexican government, took out an assignment. This record breaks all previous enrolment records in the history of the K. S. A. C. summer school. It is an increase of 25 per cent over last year and is 14 more than the record enrolment reached in '17.

Summer school at this college is a comparatively new venture, as it has only been in existence since 1910. During this time the enrolment has grown from 31 to the present figure, the teaching staff has grown from 12 to 75, and the number of courses being offered has increased from 25 to 189.

There has also been a yearly increase of foreign students. That K. S. A. C. is known all over the world is proved by the fact that last year students were enroled from 10 different countries. During the past year Armenia was represented by one student, Brazil by three, Chili by two, China by six, Finland by one, Greece by one, Hawaii by one, Mexico by one, the Philippines by four, and Russia and South Africa by one each.

Engineering Most Popular

K. S. A. C. students are often dubbed "The Farmers," a nickname which is misleading. Often people come to believe that agriculture is the only important course taught in the school. Just a glance at last year's enrolment in the various courses would convince even the most doubtful university brother that the Aggies are taught many things, with engineering as the most popular course.

College enrolment records for the past year show that in the division of engineering there were 918 students enroled, 640 in the division of agriculture, 574 in home economics, 503 in general science, 89 in veterinary medicine, 224 in the preparatory school, 180 non- collegiate special students and 415 in summer school.

TWO CONFERENCES ARE IN SESSION HERE THIS WEEK

FIFTY SMITH-HUGHES TEACHERS OF AGRICULTURE ATTEND

Annual Extension Conference Attracts 100 Extension Workers—Prominent Kansas Men and Women Address Meetings

Two conferences of importance to the agricultural interests of Kansas are being held at the college this week. They are being attended by approximately 150 persons representing every section of the state.

The annual extension conference has attracted nearly 100 county agents, home demonstration agents, and other extension workers.

Over 50 Smith-Hughes teachers of agriculture are here attending the annual conference of the vocational teachers of the state.

A two weeks' short course for vocational teachers will follow the conference. Five subjects will be studied in the short course: farm shop, farm mechanics, livestock problems, cost accounting, entomology, and agricultural education.

Among the prominent men and women who will address the vocational teacher conferences are Miss Elizabeth Wooster, state superintendent of public instruction; E. L. Kent, superintendent of the Hays experiment station and till recently state director of vocational education; E. L. Holton, head of the department of education, Kansas State Agricultural college; and C. V. Williams, state director of vocational education.

Governor Allen will be the principal speaker at the extension conference. The program will include addresses, demonstrations, visits to experiment station plots, and round table discussions.

Accepts Position At Reno

Dr. L. R. Vawter of the veterinary department of K. S. A. C. has accepted a position with the University of Nevada, at Reno, Nev., where he will do special research work with the University Experiment Station of that institution. Dr. Vawter was connected with the department of pathology of K. S. A. C. for two years.

FACULTY PLAN FOR A BETTER SUMMER SCHOOL

SUMMER SESSION TEACHERS WANT LARGER SALARIES

LARGER ENROLLMENT SUGGESTED

Propose Opening Later Next Spring After All Schools Have Closed—Summer Athletics Might Be Drawing Card

Plans for a bigger and better summer session of the Kansas State Agricultural college were discussed at a meeting of the summer session faculty one day last week. Better pay for summer session teachers and larger enrolment so that a maximum of efficiency may be obtained from the college equipment were two problems that received considerable attention at the meeting.

Faculty members who are paid on a 9 months' basis receive only one-fifth of their 9 month allowance for their summer session work. The summer session of nine weeks is one-fourth the time of the regular session of 36 weeks.

Discuss Salary Problem

Dean E. L. Holton initiated the discussion of the problem of salaries. He explained that when the summer session was six weeks in length the summer salary was one sixth the regular allowance, but that it was set at one-fifth when the summer session was lengthened to nine weeks. His recommendation at that time was for one-fourth, but this was not allowed.

Several members of the faculty stated that it was embarassing to teach subjects to students who as high school teachers will receive larger pay for the same sort of instruction when they have completed the course.

One thousand students was set as the goal for the 1921 summer session when the board of administration decided upon the plan of offering work during the summer, thus obtaining the maximum efficiency of the college plant. This goal might have been reached but for the war, Dean Holton said. He announced at the meeting that the present summer session with 600 students broke all previous records for attendnace.

May Open Later Next Year

One of the suggestions for increasing the enrolment was later opening. The fact that opening on the first Saturday after the close of the regular session was too early for many teachers who preferred K. S. A. C. to other schools for summer session work was mentioned. Summer athletics was another feature suggested as a drawing card.

The co-operation of the city chamber of commerce for the purpose of showing that Manhattan is a pleasant place in which to spend the summer was suggested.

Somebody laughed and the speaker sat down .

Only the best of reports have come from students about the standard of work offered by the summer session, Dean Holton declared. The summer session faculty was congratulated by their chief for the gratifying results obtained.

Governor Allen to Speak

Speaking on the general topic of "What Kansas Is Doing To Make Democracy safe" Governor Allen will give the final number of the K. S. A. C. summer session citizenship course Thursday evening, July 29, at the college auditorium.

Have Miniature Zoo

The department of zoology, with the assistance of the students, has collected a number of small animals from the nearby streams and woods and placed them in the zoology laboratory. They are experimenting with some of the animals in their class work. In one corner of the laboratory is a large table where all of the creatures are kept. Anything from a tadpole to an alligator may be seen at this "miniature zoo" as it is called. Two animals of especial interest in the zoo are the brown bat and the common frog.

Students Can Vote

Students of both sexes, who are over 21 years of age, can vote at the primaries held here August 3, provided they have made the required registration at the City Hall, are native born, and have been a resident of this state for six months, and a resident of Manhattan for 30 days.

Only the students who have registered before July 23 will be eligible to vote at the primaries and at the general election on November 2.

BIG SISTER COMMITTEE MAKING PLANS FOR FALL

TO OVERSEE HOUSING AND MEETING OF NEW GIRLS

Charlotte Ayers Chairman of Committee—Plan Freshman Girl Mixer the Evening of September 16

"Big-Sistering" under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. will assume even greater proportions this fall than it did last September when the work done by upper class girls, members of the collegiate Y. W. C. A., helped the new girl students learn the ropes at this institution.

Miss Charlotte Ayers, an upper class girl, is to be the chairman of the Big Sister captains who will take care of freshman and new girls this fall. Co-operating with her are Marcia Seeber, president for the school year of 1920-21 and Gladys Bushong, vice president. These three young women will direct the meeting and housing of girls arriving here in the fall.

Thursday night, September 16, the mixer for girls will be given in the college gymnasium under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. At that time an effort will be made to meet every girl in college and to make her acquainted with everyone possible.

Registration day Big Sister captains and their team workers will be on hand assisting new girls to get out their assignments. All trains will be met from the time students first begin to arrive and each Big Siscording to college regulations.
ter captain and team worker will do everything possible to help the new students.

During these last weeks of summer school and through all of the last month of the summer vacation, Big Sister workers are hard at it trying to find rooms for prospective students.

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. are ready to list rooms for inspection and it will be greatly appreciated by both organizations if residents in Manhattan wishing to rent rooms to students this winter will telephone to either of these offices and leave their names in order that the rooms may be inspected and approved ac-

THIRTEEN OLD GRIDIRON MEN TO COME BACK

THIRTEEN FRESHMEN ELIGIBLE FOR THE SQUAD

HOMECOMING GAME WITH AMES

First Game of Season with Hays Normal on the Home Field — Four Games to be Played Here

The Wild Cats are coming back.

Thirteen of the old gridiron squad again take their places on the Ahearn field. The finding of suitable football material in the shape of brawn and experience will not be a problem for the Aggie coach this year.

It's A Fact

The largest experimental farm in the world is maintained by the Kansas State Agricultural college in the experimental station at Hays, where 4,000 acres are devoted to the study of various phases of agriculture under great plains conditions. Many scientists from foreign countries make pilgrimages to this station.

With the return of such men ag Houston, Gatz, Gingery, Cleland, Bogue, Randels, Hinds, Winter, Gallagher, Burton, Quinlan, and the Cowell brothers the Aggie rooters will again take up the traditional war cry "Beat K. U."

But aside from the veteran Wild Cat letter men, the number of whom is large enough for an entire team, there will also be a large number of eligible last year freshmen kittens. Freshmen who will probably try out for the varsity team are: Fletcher, Hahn, Schmitz, Marshall, Blanchard, Price, Schindler, Axline, Yandall, Bryan, Divilbliss, Stauffer, and McGuire.

In athletic history it is a tradition that a new coach, like the beginner in a card game, invariably hauls down a lucky hand and plays it with fated luck. Charles W. Bachman is the new coach, the return of the old gridiron material is the lucky hand, now K. S. A. C. waits breathless for the game.

October 2 brings the opening game of the season, to be played on the home field with Hays normal. On the schedule October 9 has been left open. There is a possibility that the Aggies may get a game with the Army for that date. Ames has been elected as the Homecoming day football rival of the Aggies. The game will be played November 13. Four out of the eight scheduled games will be played on the Ahearn field.

The Aggie schedule for the coming football season was announced by the athletic board as follows:

October 2—Hays Normal at Manhattan.

October 9—Open.

October 16—Emporia State normal at Manhattan.

October 23—Creighton College at Omaha.

October 30—K. U. at Manhattan.

November 6—M. U. at Columbia.

November 13—Ames at Manhattan.

November 29—Oklahoma University at Norman.

November 25—Washburn at Topeka.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1920

A BIRTHDAY TOAST

This week marks the end of the tenth birthday of the K. S. A. C. summer school. With its close 600 students leave the campus with a feeling of satisfaction for the things accomplished during the past two months, and with a word of praise for the work carried on by the summer session.

The K.S.A.C. summer school came into existence for the first time in the spring of 1911 with an enrolment of 31 students. Today at the end of the school's tenth birthday it can proudly take its stand among many of the oldest summer schools of the west.

Just last week all former enrolment records were broken when the 600th student took out an assignment. Then, too, the teaching staff has increased during the, past ten years from 25 to 75 members.

The school has established an enviable reputation. It is known all over the world and has students enroled from ten foreign countries and from 20 different states of the Union.

Few schools have attempted to offer anything as excellent to their summer students as the citizenship course which has been carried out so successfully at this school. Seven of the most prominent Kansas men have talked to the students and the Governor of the state will give the last address of the citizenship series.

K. S. A. C. has not neglected the social side of life, for she has tried in spite of the ever rising thermometer to furnish the students with plenty of recreation in the form of dances, parties, and hikes.

In what other school have the comforts of the students been more carefully provided for? K. S. A. C. has kept the recreational hall open the entire summer, where tired students might always find a cool place to rest and study. The cafeteria has furnished, three times a day, wholesome food at a most reasonable price.

Over 189 courses have been offered this summer in order that the student might have a wide field from which to choose his work. The best teachers of the regular teaching staff were secured to conduct the summer session courses. These courses have been worth while, for what is better proof than the unanimous approval of 600 students.

This college is one of the few schools that print a summer session paper. The Collegian has been able to cover only the most important events of the summer, due to its size and infrequent appearances. This year marks its beginning as a summer paper, but it is planned that another year it may appear twice a week as through the regular college year.

These are only a few of the accomplishments of the K. S. A. C. summer school. These are only a few of the good things it has offered to you, and all that is asked in return is that you speak a good word for K. S. A. C. wherever you go, and that in the spring of '21 as many of you as possible will return.

So we drink our last toast of the summer to K. S. A. C.

Are Authors of Text

Dean A. A. Potter of the division of engineering and Prof. James P. Calderwood, professor of steam and gas engineering, are the authors of a new text, "Elements of Steam and Gas Power Engineering."

The book has been off the press only since the latter part of April and already 23 colleges and universities have adopted it, or signified their intention of adopting it for use next year.

The book has been prepared primarily as a textbook for students in the engineering schools and colleges, in order to familiarize them with power plant equipment before they take up the more abstract study of thermodynamics and design.

J. E. Droege, son of J. A. Droege, who is general superintendent of the operating department of the New York, Nwe Haven, and Hartford railroad, with his offices in New York City, is to be a student at the college during the coming year.

KANRED WHEAT WILL BE GIVEN A TRIAL IN AFRICA

SOUTH AFRICAN STUDENT SENDS SEED HOME

Thinks Conditions There Enough Like Kansas to Warrant Giving the Seed a Test in His Homeland

Kanred wheat, which yields from three to five bushels to the acre more than any variety of hard wheat common in Kansas, is to be given a trial in South Africa. Samples of the grain are to be sent to the agricultural college at Potchefstroom, Transvaal.

So impressed by the record of the new variety developed at the Kansas experiment station was J. F. Mostert, a South African attending the Kansas State Agricultural college, that he obtained enough pure seed to give it a test in his homeland. He thinks that conditions are enough like Kansas in the southern part of the African continent to warrant trying there the sort of wheat that has made good in this state. His brother who visited him here last month took the seed when he returned home.

Kanred has been successfully grown in Nebraska, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Colorado, and Oklahoma, in addition to Kansas. A consignment of Kanred grown in Colorado last year topped the Minneapolis market. It has resisted winter killing as far north as the Dakotas where the problem of winterkilling is most important.

It is particularly adapted to the hard wheat belt of Kansas and the uplands of the northwestern part of the state, and it is there that the Kansas Crop Improvement association hopes to get the new variety into 100 per cent of the acreage. A campaign inaugurated by the association in June has as its immediate goal the disposition of all the pure Kanred seed available this year.

H. A. LORENZ ACCEPTS PLACE IN PENNSYLVANIA

Will Be Director of Athletics in Military Academy

H. A. Lorenz, assistant professor of physical education, has accepted a position as director of military athletics, at the Suffield Military academy at Suffield, Penn. The new position carries with it a substantial increase in salary.

Professor Lorenz is a graduate of the Y. M. C. A. college, Springfield, Mass. He came to K. S. A. C. September 1, 1919.

This will necessitate considerable scouting around, on the part of Coach Clevenger, head of the department, in order that a new man may be found before the opening of the fall semester, to fill the position thus left vacant.

Prof. J. C. Peterson cooperated with the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, in applying intelligence tests to freshman engineering students. The results of his findings will be presented at the annual meeting of the Society for the promotion of electrical engineers, which will be held at Ann Arbor, Mich., June 29 to July 2.

SUMMER SIMMERINGS

BY
H. W. DAVIS

Editorial Note

The extreme heat of last Friday and Saturday seemed to affect the mind of the Collegian telegraph editor. He handed in the following dispatches from the Interplanetary News Serivce.

Abolishes League of Nations

(Interplanetary News Service)

Cooing Villa, Jupiter, July 24.—By a vote of 22 to 1 the nations of Jupiter today abolished the Dove League founded in 1819. The only vote to retain the league was cast by Abcynthia, a small open-saloon principality in the Southwestern Archipelago.

Ugur, ex-president of Grosone and chancellor of the defunct federation for two decades, stated that the absence of war for the past one hundred years had so lowered the morale and the manhood of the peoples on the planet that it had become almost impossible to start an argument, even in the international council.

It is believed that the almost unanimous vote to abolish the league was due to this growing disinclination to disagree about anything. Some of the ultra-radical representatives stated openly that they would devote the rest of their lives to raising a rumpus of some kind or other.

Very little hope, however, is entertained that trouble of a serious nature will break out within the next forty or fifty years.

Ysabel Blushes

(Interplanetary News Service)

Nureno, Venus, July 23:—Ysabel Darling, the most popular movie-talkie star on the planet, yesterday obtained her thirty-fifth divorce in the last four months. This is believed to be a record, not only for Venus but for the Solar system.

When asked if she wanted her maiden name restored, Mrs. Darling declined with a pretty blush, saying that she had really forgotten what it was.

The Prince Returns

(Interplanetary News Service)

Trazdenia, Saturn, July 23.—Prince Levinsky, formerly Czar of Russia, Earth, and now heir-in-waiting to the throne of Trazdenia today returned from his summer vacation on the outer ring.

While on his aerial cruise the Prince did considerable settlement work among the Parlor Bolshevist exiles. He was aided in the noble enterprise by several of his wives and one hundred chorus fawns from the Comedie Saturnia.

MISS CONNIE FOOTE WINS THE $500 SCHOLARSHIP

FIRST YEAR SCHOLARSHIP IS OFFERED

Is Awarded on Basis of Character, Scholarship, Training, and Fitness for Responsibility in Dairy Field

Miss Connie Foote of Downs, a junior in home economics, is the winner of a $500 scholarship offered by Mr. P. M. Sharpless of the Sharpless Separator company.

Realizing the importance of the dairy industry in our national affairs and the desirability of encouraging young women to take a more active part in the development of this industry, Mr. Sharpless has offered a scholarship of $500 each year for a senior girl in the Kansas State Agricultural college. This is the first year the scholarship has been awarded.

The award was made on the basis of character, scholarship, training, and fitness for responsibility in the dairy field.

Miss Foote is a quiet, unassuming young woman, one of the best students in the class in human nutrition. She is one of eleven members of a girls' cooperative club. For three years they have done their own housekeeping. They rent a furnished house and pay all bills as well as rent a piano. The expenses are divided at the end of the month. Two girls do all the cooking for a week, two the dishwashing and two the housekeeping. These girls have in a measure solved the high cost of living and at the same time enjoy the benefits of home.

This experience and the fact that she is already a good student in human nutrition will make her a very useful person when she has finished her college course next year.

Miss Susanna Schnemayer of the division of extension, spent the week of July 19 in Kingman county, giving a demonstration of methods of canning to the women of that community.

Miss Odessa Dow, instructor in chemistry, has asked for a leave of absence for the coming year, in order that she may take graduate work in chemistry at Columbia university, New York City.

Why Are the Wild Cats Wild? That's Easy to Figure Out

Why are the Wild Cats wild?

That the Aggie athletes of this year are not averse to doing "the heavy," is attested in letters received by Coach Z. G. Clevenger from a number of last year's athletic stars.

That the farm still continues to produce some excellent gridiron material is evidenced by the fact that the majority of last year's eleven live on farms and are spending their summer vacation there, or in the harvest fields.

J. A. Bogue, football captain, is making consistent gains against the wheat binders, while I. E| Gatz, captain-elect, is making some beautiful end runs around the corn rows on his farm at McPherson. Cliff Gallagher, half-back, is tackling wheat bundles in southern Kansas, and G. W. Hinds, another back field man, having helped harvest the wheat in his part of the state, is now selling silos.

Instead of practicing kicking tin cans, Huston, famous drop kicker, is writing insurance policies, and H. M. Randell is acting chef for a fine drove of pigs on a farm, but will be back to tote the pig skin again next fall. The Cowell brothers, the only three-letter men of K. S. A. C. are working at Clay Center, as is also R. D. Hann, former freshman star.

H. L. Bunger, captain of the basketball quintet, is tossing fruit-baskets on a fruit farm just outside of Denver. Knostman is in a store at Wamego, and Jennings, center, is topping off wheat stacks in the harvest fields near Winfield.

Jack Evans, track captain of last season and M. S. Winter, another star of the cinder path, are keeping in condition by chasing chinch bugs and cut worms off their farms, and Ray Watson, as every one knows, is on his way to the Olympic games.

Do you still ask, what makes the wild cats wild?

The road materials laboratory of the Kansas engineering experiment station in in charge of the testing of all materials for use on federal aid roads in the state of Kansas. More than 75 carloads of defective cement and bricks submitted for test in the past year have been rejected, thus saving the state many thousands of dollars.

W. C. MARKHAM TRACES HIGHWAY DEVELOPMENT

KANSAS BUILDING ROADS IN 25 COUNTIES

Says Proposed Constitutional Amendment Is Enabling Act—Counties Not Obligated to Build 100 Miles of Road

"Road conditions are the guage of land values, rather than soil fertility," declared W. C. Markham, secretary of the Kansas state highway commission in a citizenship address at the college auditorium July 22.

Mr. Markham reviewed the growth of the public highways built with federal and state assistance within the state, from the first sand road built in Edwards county in 1892 until the present time, when the commission has on hand petitions for the building of roads that would require an expenditure of $17,000,000. He especially emphasized the proposed constitutional amendment which will be voted upon in the fall elections.

"This amendment is really an enabling act," he said. "It gives power to the legislature to provide laws whereby the state may aid to the extent of 25 per cent of the cost of construction, not to exceed $10,000 a mile, nor more than 100 miles in any one county, except in counties having a valuation of more than 100 million dollars. In these counties aid may be extended for 150 miles of road."

This does not obligate every county to build 100 miles of roads, as enemies of the amendment have stated. The counties determine this by a special election or petition.

Kansas, Florida, and Georgia are the only states that did not avail themselves of the offer of the federal government for state aid at the time they, as territories, were taken into the union. In spite of the mistake Kansas is building good roads in 25 counties under the benefit district plan. The total contract price of these roads is more than $9,000,000, Mr. Markham explained.

"The state highway commission has on hand petitions enough to absorb not less than 17 million dollars of federal aid, instead of the 8 million allotted as the state's share.

"If the bill now before congress asking for federal aid to the extent of $100,000,000 per year is passed, Kansas will receive in round numbers $3,000,000 per year," he declared.

"This would assist in building under our plan 200 miles of road per year. Even this plan of construction is faster than present labor and building material conditions will warrant."

Growing Trees For Hays

K. S. A. C. is now growing 40,000 pine and cedar trees for the Hays experiment station. It is found that better results are obtained by growing the trees here rather than at Hays, as there is more moisture and less wind and heat here.

IN COLLEGE SOCIETY

Bruce- McClymonds

Miss Margaret Isla Bruce and Mr. Arthur Erskine McClymonds were married Wednesday, June 16, at Marquette. Mrs. McClymonds graduated here with the class of '16. She was a member of the Alpha Delta Pi fraternity, Ionian literary society, Xix, and of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. Mr. McClymonds was also a graduate of this college with the class of '15. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity, and of Alpha Zeta fraternity. For a time after his graduation he was connected with the extension department of this school. He is now with the extension department of the Colorado State Agricultural college. Mr. and Mrs. McClymonds are making their home at 824 Peterson street, Fort Collins, Col.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSE POPULAR THIS LAST YEAR

MORE THAN 28,000 PERSONS TAKE THE WORK

Five Thousand Boys and Girls Take Club Work—Two Times as Many Papers Read Last Year as in Previous Year

More than 28,000 persons received instruction through correspondence from the Kansas State Agricultural college last year, according to the report for the fiscal year from the home study department just made public. Five thousand boys and girls in club work received lessons by mail from the department. Nearly two times as many papers were read in the department during the last year as in the year previous.

Enrolments in credit and vocational courses for the two years ending June 30 show an increase of 118 per cent over the preceding biennium. A special course for stationary engineers was taken by more than 700 practicing engineers in Kansas.

Accurate data on when, why, and how to spray went out to orchard men at the time when the information was of greatest value. Orchardists of long experience followed the college instructions, stated V. L. Strickland, head of the home study department since 1918.

GOOD POSITIONS OFFERED GRADUATES IN AGRICULTURE

More Men Wanted Than College Can Supply

Inquiries for young men qualified to take up attractive agricultural work requiring college training in agriculture have been received in unusually large numbers by the Kansas State Agricultural college in the last 60 days.

Practically the entire 1920 agricultural graduating class of 80 members had arranged for their occupations prior to graduation in May, the majority going into farming enterprises. There have been many more inquiries than there are available men.

Calls have been received for farm managers, agricultural teachers, investigators, county agents, managers of livestock associations, experts for breed associations, and other agricultural occupations.

The compensation offered has included liberal shares or commissions in farming enterprises, and salaries ranging from $1,800 to $3,000 per year. The calls for farm managers have come from as far away as Pennsylvania and Maryland. Inquiries for teachers and investigators have come from Oklahoma, Missouri, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, North Carolina, Mississippi, Nebraska, North Dakota, and South Dakota.

NEARLY TWO HUNDRED MEN TAKE VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Only One School in District Nine Has More Ex-Service Men

Summer school has attracted 170 vocational men to K. S. A. C. All of whom are disabled ex-service men, who have come to take advantage of the opportunities afforded by the government for re-education.

Last semester there were over 200 ex-service men attending K. S. A. C. Only one institution in district number nine, which comprises: Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska has more men in training under the federal board than this college. Iowa State Agricultural college at Ames has a few more ex-service men enroled than K. S. A. C.

The federal board ranks K. S. A. C. as one of the best vocational training institutions. Men are sent from the eastern states as well as from Nebraska, Iowa, and Missouri to take the tractor and mechanics course.

Sixty-five of the men are taking collegiate work, 60 are taking shop and trade courses and the remainder are enroled in the school of agriculture.

O. W. Price, member of the district training staff, was assigned permanently to the college last March to look after the interests of the vocational men and to handle the board's work in connection with their training. In an interview Mr. Price said:

"The board appreciates very much the hearty cooperation K. S. A. C. has given in helping to perform the big task which the board has to do in successfully rehabilitating these veterans."

KANSAS STATE EXHIBIT TO BE SENT TO TOPEKA STATE FAIR

Same Exhibit Took First Prize at International Farm Congress

The Kansas state exhibit that took first prize at the International Farm congress, held at Kansas City, last year will be sent to Topeka for the Soil Products exhibition, which is to be held at the Kansas State Fair in September, 1920.

This exhbit alson won first prize at Bruce S. Wilson, assistant in charge of the cooperative experiments section of the agronomy department of the college. The exhibit includes a very choice selection of different grains and forage crops grown on the college farm at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

This exhibit also won first prize at an exhibition held at Chicago last December.

COLLEGE WILL SHOW PURE-BRED STOCK AT TWO FAIRS

Exhibits of Various Crops and Grains to Be Sent

The college will have a number of high class pure bred stock on exhibit and in prize competitions at the Topeka Free Fair to be held from September 13 to 18, and also at the Hutchinson State Fair to be held in Hutchinson September 18 to 24 of this year.

The college stock will include about 10 horses, 10 head of cattle, 10 hogs and about 50 head of sheep. Only a few of these animals have previously been shown. Most of the important breeds of sheep and hogs will be represented.

The animal husbandry department faculty is assisting in the management of both fairs' exhibits. Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department, is to supervise the livestock exhibits at Topeka, and to have charge of the horse department at Hutchinson. Professor A. M. Paterson will be in charge of the cattle department at Topeka while C. E. Aubel is to be in charge of the sheep department.

In addition to the livestock exhibits, there will be displays of crops, grains, and other soil products from the college. Work on these displays has been going on for some time in the agronomy department. It is believed that other divisions of the college will also send exhibits.

Attend Conference

F. D. Farrell, dean of the division of agriculture; W. E. Grimes, professor of agricultural economics; E. L. Rhodes of the extension division; and Charles R. Weeks, secretary of the Kansas State Farm bureau, left Thursday for Chicago where they are attending a conference called by the American Farm Bureau federation.

The purpose of the conference is to organize a cooperative grain marketing association to handle all the grain grown in the central states. The conference is being held by representatives of agricultural colleges, and by farmers' organizations from 12 of the middle western states.

HOUSING STUDENTS IS FUTURE PROBLEM

STATE HOUSING COMMITTEE DISCUSS PLANS

Figures Show That Next Year K. U. Will be Unable to Supply Rooms for 550 of Their Girl Students

Housing students at the state educational institutions is a problem which has become increasingly difficult within the last few years since the student enrolment has gone to such large numbers. Today finds the Kansas State Agricultural college second in the list of schools in Kansas badly off for the proper housing facilities for its student body.

At a meeting of the state committee on housing at educational institions, of which Mrs. Mary Pierce Van Zile, dean of women of this school, is the chairman, it was discovered that every school is in dire straits on the housing situation. Kansas University is facing a situation where conservative figures show that next fall will find 550 girl students with no place to room. The situation in Manhattan is but a little better than that, the reports showed. Kansas State normal at Emporia, Pittsburg Normal, and Hays normal come in succesion in their need.

The meeting of this committee was held in the governor's office Wednesday, June 23, and representatives from all state schools were in attendance. The purpose of the meeting held in Topeka was not primarily to discuss the present emergency, but to lay the foundation for a plan of legislative activity to be effected when the state legislature convenes in January of next year.

Acute, was the expression used by one member of the committee in discussing the housing problem at K. U. for the student body at Lawrence suffered even more than the students at K. S. A. C. last fall. Immediate action on the part of the faculty committee at this institution relieved the difficulty here in a short time but students who come to college towns expecting to invest their money in that town for a year, ought not to have to experience the possibility of being homeless or returning to their own homes because they cannot find a room.

Stringent measures will be employed by this statewide housing committee in its efforts to remedy the room question in college towns. Construction of dormitories and other like means of stu the means of solving the problem dent housing very likely will be which will be submitted to legislative approval next January. In the meantime the student body over the state, as well as the state committee on student housing, will observe with interest the action taken by the respective college towns in this time of need.

CRICKET MAY BE PLAYED AT COLLEGE THIS FALL

South African Student to Introduce Game Here

J. F. T. Mostert of Balfour, South Africa, is going to try to introduce cricket, the national game of the British empire, as one of the pastimes at the college. Professor Z. G. Clevenger, head of the athletic department, has given his approval. If material, which is both costly and difficult to obtain, can be bought, it is quite likely that in the near future K. S. A. C. will be able to produce some good cricketers.

Cricket is played by two teams of eleven men on a side, with ball, bats, and wickets, on a pitch 22 yards long. The ball is bowled to the batsman whose duty it is to protect his wickets and make as many runs as possible off the balls.

It is not expected that cricket matches will be played here, but excellent practice will be given in 'nets'. These are so arranged that it is difficult to hit the ball any distance and thus save much time. Cricket is always practiced in nets. It is arranged so that each man gets about 15 minutes at the wickets during which time he is taught the many different strokes that are necessary to master in order to excel in the game. The bowlers, who correspond to the pitcher in baseball, also take turns at bowling and in this way each player gets an equal amount of practice.

Mostert was captain and coach of the Pretoria college cricket team and he was also a member of the Transvaal school's cricket eleven.

PROFESSOR PRICE APPOINTED ON COMMITTEE BY GOVERNOR

To Make Plans for Ter-Century Celebration

Prof. Ralph Price of the history department of the college, has received a commission from Governor Allen, appointing him as a member of the committee to arrange for the ter-centenary celebration of the first American legislative assembly, the Mayflower compact, and the landing of the Pilgrims on the coast of Massachusetts. The object is really to commemorate the three hundreth anniversary of the beginning of self-government in the United States.

Governor Allen is chairman of the committee from Kansas, consisting of 38 prominent men appointed by the Governor.

JOURNALISM GRADUATES OFFERED GOOD POSITIONS

W. Brink Is Editor of the Cotton Grower

Wellington Brink, a graduate of industrial journalism in the Kansas State Agricultural college with the class of '16, has accepted the position of editor of the Cotton Grower, official weekly of the United Cotton Cotton Growers' Association of America. Mr. Brink starts at a salary of $5,000 a year.

Leo C. Moser, a graduate of industrial journalism with the class of '17, resigned his position as editor of the University of Arkansas to become associate editor of the Iowa Homestead, from which Mr. Brink has resigned, and Ralph Foster, an industrial journalism graduate of this year, has taken the position vacated by Mr. Moser.

K. U. Students Here

Because the pre-medic requirements in the medical course at K. U. include 10 hours of physics, while only five hours are offered at the university summer school, a group of seven K. U. students have been taking the work at K. S. A. C. this summer.

These students are lacking in physics only for entrance to the Medical school of the university. The students are: M. Larry Moore, C. Lloyd Blew, Harold Barnes, Harold M. Roberts, Robert W. Divers, Ralph S. Casford, and Miss Helen Nicholsin.

Greenhouse Proves Profitable

Since February the college has sold over $5,000 worth of flowers, cucumbers, tomatoes, lettuce, and plants from the college greenhouse.

Cucumbers have proved to be the most valuable among the vegetables raised. The whole of one wing of the greenhouse is devoted to the raising of cucumbers alone. Already over $400 worth have been sold this season.

The college is growing a new hybrid variety of cucumbers which attains a length of 18 inches.

TOM MCNEAL EXPLAINS WORK OF STATE TEXT COMMISSION

HALF MILLION DOLLARS SAVED BY STATE PUBLICATION

In Next Three Years $100,000 will be Saved on a Geography—Economy and Value of Contents First Considered in Securing Books

More than half a million dollars have been saved the people of Kansas to date by the present law providing for uniform textbooks to be published by the state, Tom McNeal, member of the school text book commission declared in the sixth citizenship address given at the auditorium July 15.

The speaker estimated that the actual manufacturing cost of producing these text books by publishing corporations, is only 40 per cent of the selling price, 60 per cent of the cost to the ultimate consumer being due to overhead and the cost of distribution. The state provides the books at the cost of manufacture plus 15 per cent allowed to the dealers.

"Not less than $100,000 will be saved alone in the next three years on a geography now being published," Mr. McNeal declared. "The book will sell for 50 cents a volume less than the same or similar books published by commercial houses.

"Although the question of cost is not paramount with a great many people, it is important to the poor man with a large family, and it seems that the Lord has blessed the poor people with the most children, while the families of the rich run to dogs instead of children," commented Mr. McNeal.

"While we have saved a great deal, economy was not our first consideration," Mr. McNeal added. "The first consideration has been the securing of good books."

MISS HOOVER CONFERS WITH EXTENSION DIVISION HEADS

Makes Plans for Milk Utilization Work

Miss Jessie M. Hoover, milk utilization specialist of the United States department of agriculture, spent July 19 and 20 at the college in consultation with the heads of the division of extension, making plans for the furthering of the milk utilization work in the state.

Miss Hoover was graduated in home economics with the class of 1905. Since that time she has organized home economics departments in several schools in the United States. In 1905, she installed a department in the Plummer Memorial high school of Idaho Springs, Col. She also organized a department in the school of agriculture at the South Dakota State college. She was head of the home economics department of the North Dakota State college, and also dean of women there, from 1909 to 1912.

From 1912 to 1918 she had charge of the home economics department of the University of Idaho. She was also director of home economics of the United States Food Administration for Idaho during 1917 and 1918. Since this time she has been with the dairy division of the United States department of agriculture.

Miss Gertrude Lynn of the division of extension, spent the week of July 19 in Nemaha county, assisting in carrying on the project of child feeding in cooperation with Miss Fern Jessup, the home demonstration agent of that county.

C. S. Scofield, in charge of the western irrigation agriculture investigations for the United States department of agriculture, spent July 17 and 18 at the college on business. Mr. Scofield is writing a book on irrigation agriculture.

SIX APPOINTMENTS MADE TO HOME ECONOMICS STAFF

MISS LOUISE GLANTON TO SUCCEED MRS. BIRDSALL

Four of Resigning Instructors Go to Homes of Their Own—Cupid Levies Annual Tribute of Home Economics Specialists

Cupid levied his annual tribute of home economics specialists as well as Aggie co-eds this year, taking four members of the K. S. A. C. instructional staff along with many under graduates trained as home makers.

Beside the four instructors who are going into homes of their own, four other members of the home economics staff have resigned, making a total of eight losses in the division.

The instructors who are leaving are Mrs. Bessie Birdsall, Miss Clara Thomas, Miss Florence Hunt, Miss Grace Averill, Miss Vera McCoy, Miss Alice Skinner, Miss Josephine Perry, and Miss Dora Otto, now Mrs. C. E. Aubel.

The appointment of the successors as announced today by Dr. Helen B. Thompson, dean of the division, are as follows:

Miss Loiuse P. Glanton will succeed Mrs. Bessie Birdsall as professor of clothing and textiles. Miss Glanton's experience includes work as supervisor and critic in Speyer School, Teachers' college, New York, and Montgomery, Ala.; supervisor of practice teaching in clothing and textiles, Stout Institute, Wisconsin, and she was also associate professor in Pennsylvania State college during 1919-20.

At present she is doing research work in the Children's Hospital of Washington, D. C., observing the effect of clothing on the recovery of the babies receiving treatment.

Miss Mary Polson will be instructor in clothing and textiles. She holds the degree of B. S. in home economics, 1916, and has done summer school work at Columbia university 1918.

Elizabeth Emily Kirkpatrich, Washburn college, B. S., 1920, has been appointed to the fellowship made vacant by the resignation of Miss Clara Thomas.

Three new instructors in food economics and nutrition are announced, Miss Katherine Hudson, Miss Mildred Ruth Tackaberry, and Miss Mildred Lander. Miss Hudson succeeds Miss Josephine Perry. Miss Tackaberry succeeds Miss Alice Skinner. Miss Lander succeeds Miss Vera McCoy.

Miss Hudson is from the Eastern Illinois State Normal school and is a Bachelor of Science, Wisconsin university, 1918. During the past year she has been assistant dietitian in charge of the Diet School in John Hopkins hospital. She was instructor in dietetics for nurses, having supervision of all the special diets.

Miss Tackberry holds an A. B. from Morningside college, Sioux City Ia., 1916; A. M., University of Chicago, 1920. Miss Mildred Lander holds an A. B. from Wellesley 1918. She majored in chemistry and physics. During the year 1919-20 she took a course in clinical pathology at the School of Public Health at the Institute of Technology at Harvard.

STUDENTS LIKE THE COURSE IN AUTOMOBILE MECHANICS

LIKE WORK IN ELECTRICAL IGNITION BEST

Course Is Conducted by Andrew Winter—Unusually Large Number Enroled in the Classes

Among the various special courses offered this summer at the college, and eliciting favorable comment from the students taking the work, is the automobile mechanics course.

Probably the particular feature of the course, to which the students attach a great deal of importance, is the class in electrical ignition, conducted by Andrew Winter, assistant in shop practice.

Present day ignition systems in general use on motor cars are thoroughly studied and comparisons made. Principles of electricity, magnetos, high and low tension, induction coils, timers, and in short, every phase of the best known systems are fully covered. The various makes of storage batteries receive close attention. Even the complicated mysteries of the Ford are intelligently explained, according to Mr. Winter.

Realizing, perhaps, the importance of ignition problems, as related to the care and operation of all motor driven vehicles, an unusually large number are attending these classes.

TEXAS BOYS ARE TO VISIT COLLEGE SUNDAY, AUG. 8

ARE ON EDUCATIONAL AND INVESTIGATIONAL TOUR

Special Attention to be Given Agronomy Farm, Livestock, and Barns —Visit Nearby Up-to-date Farms

A special train, with 125 Texas farm boys aboard, will arrive in Manhattan on Sunday, August 8. The boys will be entertained at the college, according to arrangements made through Mr. H. M. Williamson, assistant state agent, of the Texas A. and M. college station, with Secretary F. W. Jensen of the local Chamber of Commerce.

The boys are on an educational and investigational tour through the best agricultural regions of the central west, northern, and southern states, conducted jointly by the extension service of the A. and M. college of Texas, and the Texas Chamber of Commerce. The college and several up-to-date farms and ranches are the main points to be visited here.

It is expected that Governor Allen will join the party at Wichita, and that E. T. Meredith, secretary of the United States department of agriculture, will also join them after attending the Annual Farmers' Week to be held in Texas.

They will arrive August 8 at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The period from 2 o'clock until 3 will be taken up by speeches and discussions, after which they will tour the campus. Special attention is to be given to the agronomy farm, the livestock, and barns. After a splash in the college swimming pool, they will have supper at the barracks.

The object of the tour is to get first hand knowledge of the methods and practices of the most successful farmers and agricultural colleges. Stops will be made at all points of agricultural interest. The large produce markets will also be visited, to give the boys an idea as to how the farm products are handled after they leave the farm.

The tour is expected to cover a period of 20 days, and they will travel approximately 4,000 miles.

Coast Artillery Unit Here

Engineering students of the college next year will have an opportunity to prepare for the most technical branch of the army as a result of the establishment in the school of a coast artillery unit of the Reserve Officers Training corps.

The establishment of a coast artillery unit at K. S. A. C. is public recognition of the superior quality of training offered by the division of engineering of the college. Last year almost a third of the students enroled in the college took work in engineering.

Only infantry and machine gun training have been offered in the past.

WATSON SAILS WITH THE AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM

PLACES IN BOTH 5,000 AND 1,000 METER RACES

Only Places Seventh in 5,000 Meter Due to Blistered Foot—Runs Against Furnas for Third Time

> Made place on Olympic team. Wore blood blister on foot after first mile in 5,000 yesterday. Finished seventh. Think I can win from field when feet are O. K. Sail on 26th.—Telegram received by Coach Z. G. Clevenger from Watson after the Cambridge race.

Monday, Ray Watson sailed for Antwerp, Belgium, with the American Olympic team, in which he placed first both in the 5,000 meter race and the 1,000 meter cross country race.

In spite of a blood blister worn on his foot during the first mile of the 5,000 meter race at Cambridge, Watson came in seventh. Running with a blistered foot against some of the best tracksters in the United States, Watson showed by his grim determination not to give up, the real sportman spirit of a true athlete. If Watson had not been handicapped, there is no doubt but that he would have placed among the first four winners.

The race at Cambridge was the third event in which Watson has run in competition with Furnas of Purdue. At the Western conference meet at Ann Arbor, the Purdue man defeated Watson, the Aggie coming back at the Olympic semi-finals at Chicago and defeating Furnas. At the Olympic race at Cambridge, Furnas again came out ahead. Perhaps as the Aggies put it, "It will be Watson's turn to beat at Antwerp."

The team picked to go to Antwerp consists of over 100 men from all sections of the United States. The following men from Kansas and Missouri were picked for the Olympic team:

100 meters, J. V. Scholz, University of Missouri; 200 meters, J. V. Scholz, University of Missouri; 5,000 meters, R. B. Watson, Kansas State Agricultural college; 10,000 meters, A. Patasoni, Haskell Institute; Penthalon, B. Hamilton, University of Missouri, and E. L. Bradley, University of Kansas; Decathlon, B. Hamilton, University of Missouri, and E. L. Bradley, University of Kansas; 400 meter relay team, J. V. Scholz, University of Missouri; 1,000 meter cross country team, R. B. Watson, Kansas State Agricultural college.

ARE NOW REMODELING THE ATTIC OF FAIRCHILD HALL

BUILDING NEW ZOOLOGY AND ENTOMOLOGY LABS

Three Professors to Have Offices on That Floor—Work Will Be Completed September 1

Work is being carried on in the remodeling of and building of a new zoology and entomology laboratory. This is being done on the floor above the present zoology laboratories in Fairchild hall.

The large skylight that used to be set over the natural history museum has been raised in order to give more light for the new laboratories. A large extension window is being made projecting from the roof so as to supply more light and provide ventilation.

Prof. E. A. Martin, assistant W. P. Hayes and Prof. J. W. McColloch will have offices on that floor when the building construction is completed. The laboratory will be completed about September 1.

R. A. Oakley Visits Here

R. A. Oakley, in charge of the seed distribution of the United States department of agriculture, spent July 18 at the college. He left Manhattan the following day for Marysville, where he has a farm.

Mr. Oakley is an authority on forage crops, especially alfalfa. During the war he was chairman of the seed stocks committee of the United States department of agriculture, which had charge of the crop seed supply program of the government. In recognition of his work on the committee, he was given the honorary degree of Doctor of Science by the Iowa State college last June.

He was graduated from the Kansas State Agricultural college with the class of 1903.

K. S. A. C. WINS PLACES IN PUBLICITY CONTEST

AWARDED FIRST FOR BEST AGRICULTURAL FEATURE STORY

Wins Third Place for Best Exhibit on Display—Largest Agricultural Colleges in U. S. Represented in Contest

The journalism department of the Kansas State Agricultural college won third place on actual display, and first place for the best agricultural feature story, in the publicity contest held at Amherst, Mass., at the American Association of Agricultural college editors, held between June 30 and July 2.

The contest was divided into three classes. K. S. A. C. placed third in class one in which the places were awarded for the best acutal exhibit on display. Cornell won first place and New Jersey second. In class two the places were awarded for the best exhibit and excellence of material for extension of agricultural information through print. In this class Ohio placed first and Kansas failed to place. Class three the places were awarded for the story that conveyed agricultural information the most effectively. In this class Kansas placed first and Ohio second.

Over 20 of the largest agricultural colleges in the United States were represented in the contest. K. S. A. C. feels that she is justified in feeling proud of the part she played in the contest, as there was only one out of the three classes in which she failed to place.

The K. S. A. C. exhibit which was prepared by E. T. Keith, head of the printing department of the college, consisted of half a dozen large folders six feet by three which demonstrated the work done by the journalism department and by the students. The folders were so made that they could be hung up in the convention hall.

Each page was devoted to a special line of work such as publicity matter sent out by the college, student stories, work done by the students in the printing shop, and publications such as the Kansas State Collegian, the Brown Bull, a humorous magazine by the Sigma Delta Chi, and the Scandal Collegian issued by the Aggie Press club in winning the Aggie Pop night stunt. Other pages were devoted to stories written by students for outside papers.

Ask At The Postoffice

Sorority pledge pins, pocket knives, keys, notebooks, fountain pens, pocket books, rings, and bracelets, these are only a few of the many unclaimed articles that are jumbled together in a pasteboard box in the care of the college postmistress.

If you have lost any valuables this summer just call at the postoffice on your way through Main and give the postmistress a description of the lost article. She will gladly look through the pasteboard box for your missing possessions.

FORMER K. S. A. C. WOMEN ATTEND N. H. E. MEETINGS

MRS. CALVIN AND MISS ABBY MARLATT ARE THERE

Doctor Helen Thompson and Miss Frances Brown Both Presented Papers Before the Association

Dr. Helen B. Thompson of the home economics division of the college, who has recently returned from Colorado Springs where she attended the meetings of the National Home Economics association, states that there were in attendance at the meetings 10 women who have either attended school or taught at K. S. A. C.

Among the former K. S. A. C. people met by Dean Thompson while at the meetings were Mrs. Calvin, former head of the home economics department here, who is now with the Bureau of Education at Washington, D. C., as a home economics expert, and Miss Abby Marlatt, professor of home economics at the University of Wisconsin. Miss Marlatt acted as chairman of the program committee.

Other former K. S. A. C. people who attended the association meetings were Miss Jane Cape, a former K. S. A. C. instructor who has been teaching at the University of Cincinatti, and is teaching during the summer at the University of Pennslyvania; Miss Anna Williams who is head of the home economics department at Colorado State university; Miss Alice Loomis, who is engaged in vocational home economics work in Nebraska; and Mrs. Floyd Nichols, a graduate of K. S. A. C., who writes extensively along home economics lines for the larger women's magazines.

At one of the meetings Doctor Thompson presented a paper on the subject "Variability and Growth of Albino Mice." Doctor Thompson was acting chairman of the science section.

Miss Frances Brown, home demonstration leader for K. S. A. C. extension department presented a paper on the "Educational Value of Home Economics Exhibits at Fairs," before the extension division of the association.

W. M. JARDINE IS ELECTED VICE PRESIDENT OF N. E. A.

President Speaks Today in Lethbridge, Canada

W. M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State Agricultural college, was elected vice president of the National Educational association, at its convention which was held in Salt Lake City from July 4 to July 10.

In attendance at the meeting there were 45 delegates from Kansas, including Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the English department, who took an active part in the proceedings.

After the convention President Jardine went to Lethbridge, Alberta, Canada, where he will speak today before the Western Canada Irrigation association, which will be in session from July 28 to 30. President Jardine will speak on the subject "Soil Drifting and the Means of Combatting It."

President Jardine will leave Lethbridge this week for California, visiting en route the agricultural colleges of Montana, Oregon, and Washington. In California the president will make an extensive study of the land settlement system in effect in that state.

Offer Prizes

Prizes amounting to $100 each for the best poem and the best short story written by a Kansas author are being offered this year by the Kansas Authors' club of which Prof. J. W. Searson, head of the K. S. A. C. English department, is president.
